Pardon a little digression to relate a personal incident to illustrate this point. 50 years ago the writer was a young man who lived in Chicago, shortly after the great fire there. As a country boy he had few opportunities to hear anything but church music and that only by untrained singers. In 1876 in a great Exposition building on the Lake shore, The Thomas Orchestra, gave a series of summer night popular concerts, frequently giving a program made up of numbers requested by patrons, few of whom were accustomed to high class music. Theodore Thomas spent his life in educating the common people to enjoy high class music. He was a genius in leading them on to want it. He had one of the best orchestras in the country. One night they played "Midsummer Night's Dream" in illustration of a part of one of Shakespeare's plays. It stuck in my mind and from that time on I was a frequent attendant at Thomas orchestra concerts. On a recent visit to Chicago I attended three concerts given by The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, which was a name given the reorganized and enlarged Thomas Orchestra after Theodore Thomas died. This concert was given in a large and beautiful hall erected at great cost, especially as a home for the organization, which Theodore Thomas founded, and was filled by season ticket holders, many of them who were his first Chicago patrons and more, their children and grand children. I do not remember having heard the particular number mentioned except during those summer night concerts, until recently some one put a record on a phonograph in another room from where I was standing and before more than a few bars were played I was able to name it from memory. Can any one who knows the possibilities of Radio service and its rapid development have doubts that such concerts will soon be available for an audience composed of millions of people instead of 1000 to 1500?

But it is not only in the field of music that Radio service is of practical benefit to the people. Police Radiocast descriptions of persons who are "missing" and almost dailiy they are found. Suspected or escaped criminals, among them auto thieves, are "norated" all over the land and advertising in a limited way is put over.

Lectures on timely subjects of interest educationally, are liberally Radiocast. Among those we have recently heard is a talk to mothers of young children on the care of the teeth, giving explicit directions what to do from babyhood to man and womanhood.

There are people who attempt to educate people by Radio who give evidence of needing more education themselves, for instance, a Mr. Brennan, one of the officials of The Bank of America, one of New York's great banking institutions, was Radiocasting information, for public consumption, about the great opportunity of investors to buy stock, incidentally through their bank, in the Super Power company, an organization which is ultimately to cover all Electrical power producing plants within the United States and Canada, which are to be combined under a working agreement whereby one company which for any reason may be short of power for immediate needs may buy of some other company, that may have a surplus. A very sensible plan intended to stabilize power for the whole country and furnish it cheaper to consumers.

Mr. Brennan started in to tell of the field to be covered under this arrangement, and the progress already made on the Pacific slope where from the Canadian border to Mexico, a distance o over 2000 miles the principal power companies are already working under this plan. He then spoke of the unreliability of flow of water, in our rivers, hence the necessity for steam plants to supplement them, when needed. He then told of plans to have steam plants at the mines in western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, which he said comprised practically all of the bituminous l coa fields of this country, and which could furnish unlimited power.

During his whole talk he never mentioned any hydro-electric power development nor steam power plants, or bituminous coal mines in the Southern States. But he did say that investments in the properties he talked about was probably as much as $10,000,000. He might have had a purpose in ignoring development of this industry in the South, possibly their bank is not interested in selling stock in Southern units of the Super Power company. Possibly also he has never posted himself on what is actually doing in our Southland. In any event it struck the writer that as a public educator this man was decidedly narrow and circumscribed in his views on the subject he was trying to elucidate.

FORMER CHILTON CITIZEN WRITES FROM BALDWIN

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to say through your paper that we are doing fine down here in Baldwin County. Our crops are fine.

We had a Children's Day here last Sunday. Judge L. H. Reynolds of Clanton was with us and made a great speech on Sunday Schools.

This country here is building up fast. People are moving here from all parts of the world all the time.

To all my friends in Chilton County, you will make no mistake in moving to this county, for it is 50 per cent better farming country than Chilton County. It is developing into a truck farming country; the soil and climate are well suited for this kind of farming.

Lots of Chilton County folks are here making good. And there is a plenty of room for more.

ALL DAY SINGING AT MARS HILL JULY 27

Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space to announce that there will be an all-day singing at Mars Hill church, 4 miles west of Jemison on the Fourth Sunday in this month. Half of the day is to be spent in singing the good old songs in the Christian Harmony books, and the other half in the new books.

Everybody is invited to come and bring your books and a well filled basket of something to eat and spend the day together singing praises to God.

Also everybody who is interested is invited to meet there on Friday before to help clean off the cemetery. So don't forget the days and be sure and come.

Yours truly,
J. N. SCOTT.

Until one can control oneself it is futile to attempt the control of others. If the Democratic party cannot manage is own affairs better than it did at Madison Square Garden, what could we expect of its management of national affairs?

Alabama poultry club members, warking under direction of the home demonstration agents, produced products worth $596,908 in 1923. This represented $16,583 for each of the 36 counties having a home demonstration agent.

What has become of that law prohibiting children from driving automobiles unless accompanied by an adult? This is a good law with a good intention and would be productive of good results, so why not let's have it looked after and rigidly enforced. A high-powered automobile with the throttle opened and the steering wheel virtually turned lose is liable to result in serious damage and the loss of innocent lives. Such business is very dangerous.

FLOWER O'ER THE PARTY WALL

Commenting upon the "unprecedented surplus" in the U. S. treasury, the New York Times, Dem., says that "none of these considerations obscure the fact that the big theasury surplus represented a high degree of national prosperity in 1923, or the fact that American public finance has been admirably managed."

Splendid! We thank you.

The high degree of national prosperity was enjoyed after two years of full Republican control of both branches of the government and after four years of Republican control of Congress.

The admirable management of the public finance was under the general policies of Harding and Coolidge with expert direct control of the treasury by Secretary Mellon. These officials were aided by Budget Directors Dawes and Lord, and, in Congress, by a House Committee on Appropriations headed by Madden and a Senate Committee on Appropriations headed by Warren.

There we have a team of workers that can't be beat.

UNION-BANNER TAKES AGENCY FOR JOHNSON ROWBOAT MOTOR

The Union-Banner has secured the agency in this territory for the Johnson outboard row-boat motor, which is manufactured in South Bend, Indiana. The Union-Banner will serve as distributor of this machine in this section.

The fact that Chilton County has an immense fresh water lake all across the east side of it, opens up a large field for canoe and boat traveling, many people seeking the distinct pleasure of cranking up their little motor and gliding over the smooth water and viewing the many rustic scenes which abound up and down the old Coosa River. This pleasure cannot be fully realized without the use of a Johnson Motor. Several Johnsons are already in use in this county, and ere long there will be many more installed.

All of the attractive features of the Johnson will be brought out in the columns of The Union-Banner within the next few weeks, so if you are a boater and enjoy out-door sports, read up on this famous little machine.

SWEET DREAMS

REPUBLICAN BUDGET SYSTEM BROVES TO BE BIG SUCCESS

Washington, July 14.—The Republican party has kept faith in its promises for retrenchment in government expenditures, declares Congressman Martin B. Madden o Illinois, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, summing up the work of the Republican adminsitration. So far as Congress is concerned, the Republican regime began in March 1919 but not until March, 1921, did the Republicans get control of both branches of the government. Nevertheless, the Republican Congress began wholesale cuts in the demands for appropriations as soon as it came into power. The Democratic requests for funds were slaughtered to the extent of $3,890,000,000 in three sessions to which the Democrats had submitted estimates. In the course of his address quoted above, Mr. Madden said:

"From the assembly of Congress in May, 1919 to the present date, every effort has been made to manage the affairs of the nation according to efficient, economical, and solid business principles. The results speak for themselves. Appropriations have been reduced, expenditures have correspondingly decreased, taxes have been reduced, the public debt and the interest charge have been lowered, the Budget has been balanced each year and has shown a comfortable margin on the surplus side, the number of employees has been cut, and the country has been given a Budget system.

"There is ample cause for approval of these accomplishments. The past few years have been critical in the affairs of the nations of the world. The present favorable situation of the United States is due in no small measure to the sound financial policy which has governed the management of its affairs. While other nations are struggling with overwhelming public debts that in some cases are as great or greater than national wealth and are crying for relief from the taxes caused by deficits in their budget, the people of the United States are enjoying the economic benefits which arise from sound financing on the part of the Federal Government."

This record has been accomplished by cutting necessary appropriations to the lowest limit consistent with service and by avoiding the creation of new sources of demand upon the public treasury. As Mr. Madden said:

"The appropriations made during the session just closed, aside from the adjusted compensation act, do not provide for any unusual new activities of government. The sums granted have been confined almost wholly to existing activities and within limits of amounts which do not permit any marked expansion, with the exception of the provision for a large number of additional vessels and the necessary personnel in the Coast Guard to enable that service to cope with the 'rum-running' fleets operating in violation of the prohibition laws. The record of the session follows that of the preceding sessions under the control of the Republican party and shows, as have several of the previous sessions, a marked decline in the appropriations."

A PARTY FOR THE COMMON PEOPLE?

The Democrats claim to be a party whose ambition and purpose is the welfare of the laborer and the common man of the nation. But in this case as in many others, we are forced to apply the old straight-edge maxim, "Actions speak louder than words." In their national convention in New York City the Democrats had the chance of nominating a man for president who has placed his whole fight in the interest of labor and the common people. But what did this convention do with him? They snowed him under so deep that he will never see day light again, and substituted in his stead the biggest corporation lawyer in the world, John W. Davis.

But this action of the national convention is no new thing in the Democratic party. Wherever you go, this party is dominated by capital and corporations. The majority of the Democratic executive committee in Alabama are held under the thumb of capital, and the secretary and general manager of the Democratic party in Chilton county is a corporation lawyer. If traced up, this element will be found everywhere the Democratic party is found. The slogan, "A party for the common people," doesn't mean anything so long as that party is controlled by the moneyed men and the big corporations, and the people of the country are beginning to realize that this argument is only a snag on which the Democrats hope to hang a few suckers' votes.

Let's see who is at the head of the Republican party in this country. Calvin Coolidge, although a moderate liver, has never owned a home or an automobile. While governor of Massachusetts he lived in rented rooms. Which would you figure to be on the side of the laborer and the common man, a man who is common himself or a man who is employed by the big corporations of the country?

FARM FACTS

Tent caterpillars or webworms have made their webs on pecan trees. Unless they are destroyed they are certain to do much damage.

If you are feeding hogs, you would like to read "Forage Crops for Hogs and Feeding hogs on Forage Crops," which is a new bulletin published by the Extension Service, Auburn. Each county agent has copies for farmers who request them.

The day of agricultural exploitation has passed. From now on money is not to be made by the increase in farm land values but by hard-handed, intelligent, sound business methods.

No one can deny farmers the right to market their products to best advantage.

The educated farmer is the one who will make progress. College courses in agriculture at State College prepare young men and women to face the big problems which must be worked out.

BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS approved by State & Government Experts

In addition to the use of poison there are numerous other practices which tend to reduce the boll weevil injury to cotton. Even when poisoning is practiced the most thorough attention should be given to the indirect means of control, since they reduce the amount of poisoning which might be necessary and increase the profit which may be obtained.

One of the most important steps toward reducing the weevil infestation is the destruction of the cotton plants in the early fall before the weevils have hibernated. To be of the greatest value, the plants must be plowed under deeply before the firs. killing frost.

It has been pointed out in a previous article that immature stages of the weevils may survive the frosts and cause a continuous development of weevils throughout the winter. This may be checked completely by the destruction of the stalks.

In some districts where it is impossible to practice fall destruction of stalks, somewhat the same results may be obtained by grazing the field with cattle, sheep or goats. Experts declare there is no danger to the stock from poisoning as there very rarely is poison on the plants at that time of the year and the amount on the plants immediately after an application will not injure the stock.

It is often possible to reduce considerably the spring infestation by proper winter clean-up measures around the fields. Since the weevils will hiberante successfully in any trash or rubbish, it is a good practice to burn over or clean up around the cotton field during the winter, especially the fence rows and ditch banks.

Much can be accomplished by the elimination of hibernation quarters. Especially along the more northerly portions of the weevil zone, the most successful hibernation is largely confined to the timbered areas, and as a result serious weevil injury is experienced only in the fields adjoining such timber. Under such conditions it is of the utmost importance to plan all clearing operations so that the open areas for cultivaion are consolidated into as large tracts as possible, thus increasing the amount of land which is sufficiently distant from timber to suffer a minimum amount of weevil injury.

Further information on the subject of boll weevil control may be obtained from the county agent, state college of agriculture or the National Boll Weevil Control Association, Room 220 Whitney building, New Orleans, La.

THE RAILROADS, by constant striving for betterment of service and by the addition of millions of dollars worth of new equipment, are in a better position to move the Nation's crops and the great stocks of winter merchandise and commodities, than ever before in their history; but, as a bank finds it impossible to transact all of its business between the hours of ten and twelve without having some of its customers delayed or disappointed—as popular restaurants are crowded between the peak hours of 12 and 1—as trolley cars and traction lines have more business than they can handle during the rush hours—so the railroads are called on to transport a peak load of tonnage in the months of October and November.

FOR ECONOMICAL TRANSPORTATION

HOW ARE YOUR BRAKES?

For a period of one month we are making a special offer to reline brakes on all makes of cars and Ford transmissions for the cost of material used. No labor charge will be added.

We use JOHNS-MANVILLE high grade brake lining. No inferior lining will be used.

This offer means a saving to you of $2.50 to $3.50 per car.

We are equipped to do all kinds of repair work at reasonable rates—also first-class car laundry.

Let us drain your crankcase and fill with VEEDOL, the highest grade motor oil you can buy.

Our accessory line is complete, including three nationally known makes of tires—Racine, Miller and Lee. The LEE PUNCTURE-PROOF tire is guaranteed for 10,000 miles without puncture or blow-out.

What Service Is

THE FIRST OF A SERIES OF "SERVICE TALKS" BY THE ALABAMA POWER COMPANY

"SERVICE" is a much used and much abused word.

Ten thousand corporations or thereabouts which use advertising space, talk "SERVICE."

In generalities—it is an easy thing to talk about.

As applied to the performance of a Public Utility which supplies indispensable necessities of modern life—ELECTRICITY, STREET RAILWAY SERVICE and GAS—every hour of every day of every year, "SERVICE" is a very definite and tangible commodity which can be measured in specific terms.

In this, the first of a series of advertisements—SERVICE TALKS—which will appear from time to time in this newspaper, it is our intention to talk PUBLIC UTILITY SERVICE—not in generalities—but from the standpoint of:

What Service Is As Applied to the Relation Between a Public Utility and the Public

Alabama Power Company service—as it involves continuous production of electric energy and its transmission to the homes, factories and farms in territory served; the operation of street railways; the distribution of gas; development of Alabama through unceasing efforts to attract more industries; extension of facilities to meet new demands in new localities; study of the growth in the demand for power so that adequate provision may be made for future needs—a thousand contacts at a thousand different points with men and women in the towns and rural sections of this state where Public Utility SERVICE is a daily part of routine life—promotes our bodily comfort and convenience and increases household economy.

GOOD PUBLIC SERVICE IS THE PIVOTAL POINT IN ALABAMA POWER COMPANY POLICIES—PARAMOUNT IN THE DIRECTION OF ITS AFFAIRS

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Chilton County,
Section "A"
Surfacing

Sealed bids will be received by the State Highway Commission of Alabama at the office of the State Highway Department, Montgomery, Alabama, until 12:00 o'clock noon, August 6, 1924, and at that time publicly opened for the surfacing with one course plain cement concrete pavement 17.455 miles of road in Chilton, County, the same being a part of the State Highway between Montgomery and Birmingham.

Contractors in submitting bids on the concrete paving will include in the price bid per square yard all necessary labor and materials with the exception of Portland Cement which will be furnished by the State f. o. b. cars at the various railroad sidings in the vicinity of this project. The contractor will be required to unload and store the cement at his own risk and expense and in addition will be held responsible for the return to the mill of all empty cement sacks.

Contractors in submitting bids for this work will understand that the freight rates in effect at the time of opening bids are the ones that will govern

No pavement will be laid on any grade within six months time of completing said grade unless permitted by the State Highway Engineer.

The successful bidder will probably be required to pave several miles of this project during the fall months. Also he will absorb into the price bid for concrete paving, the cost of the necessary fine grading, within the following limits, six inches above or six inches below sub-grade.

The items of work are approximately as follows:

187,250 Sq. Yds. one course plain cement concrete pavement.

1,000 Lin. Ft. Blind Drains.

23,496 Lin. Ft. 3-4 inch galvanized cable for guard rail.

1,030 Concrete posts for guard rail.

102 End post braces for guard rail.

17,455 Miles of shoulder construction.

Plans and specifications are on file in the office of the State Highway Department at Montgomery, and in the office of the Division Engineer, Lincoln Life Bldg., Birmingham, Ala.

Any additional information may be secured from the State Highway Engineer, Montgomery, Alabama. The right to reject any or all bids is reserved.

Cash certified check or bid Bond for Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000.-00) made payable to the Chariman of the State Highway Commission of Alabama must accompany each bid as evidence of good faith and as a guarantee that if awarded the contract, the bidder will execute the contract and give bond as required.

W. S. KELLER,
7-3-3t-c State Highway Engineer.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE

THE STATE OF ALABAMA,
Chilton County.
Circuit Court In Equity.

R. G. Blewster, Complainant, vs. Cammie Otts Blewster, Defendant.

In this cause it is made to appear to the Register by the affidavit of R. G. Blewster, that the Defendant is a non-resident, and that her place of residence and postoffice address is unknown, and that such address cannot be ascertained after reasonable effort; and, further, that, in the belief of said affiant, the Defendant is of the age of twenty-one years:

It is, therefore, ordered by the Register that publication be made in The Union-Banner, a newspaper published in the County of Chilton, once a week for four consecutive weeks, requiring her, the said Cammie Otts Blewster, to plead, answer, or demur to the bill of complaint in this cause by the 30th day of July, 1824, or, in thirty days thereafter, a decree pro confesso may be taken against her.

Done at office in Clanton, this 28th day of June, 1924.

HIS COURAGE OOZED QUICKLY!

"One of the funniest things that has ever happened in a long time was the other night out by the Country Club," said Dr. Frank Willis Barnett. "A young fellow I know well, but who is six feet, one inch and weighs close in to 200, was slumped way down in his daddy's car, driving. He was setting on his shoulder blades and looked pretty small at first glance. There was a woman driving a car in front of him, and as usual with the women, was wabbling all over the road and he couldn't pass. A car came up behind and began to blow furiously at him. The boy couldn't do a thing, and as the woman in front poked along, so he poked along and the fellow behind was in a perfect frenzy of rage, blowing the horn every minute. Finnally the woman turned off toward Forest Park and the boy was able to let the chap behind pass him. The fellow behind zipped by, looked in and saw this little fellow in the seat, stopped his car instantly and hopped out as belligerent as a cock sparrow. He was a fat and fussy little bird. "Get out!" he bellowed at the young fellow. The latter saw the little fat guy was furiously mad and apparently wanted to open hostilities. He opened the door and unwound out on the ground. 'What do you want?' he demanded, equally truculent, one fist as big as a ham ready for use. "I-I-just wanted to apologize for honking at you so—I diden't see the road was blocked!' bleated the little fat, fussy guy, all the fight gone in the instant he saw what he had stirred up."—Bham. ALL DAY SIGING AT CONCORD CHURCH ON NEXT SUNDAY

There will be an all day singing at Concord Church, 2 miles east of Clanton, next Sunday, July 20th. Prof. J. D. Patton, who is teaching a music school at Collins Chapel, has promised to be there. Also Prof. W. M. Devaughn and other noted singers are expected to attend. Everybody has a cordial invitation.

MRS. EARLE G. McLIN TO APPEAR IN RECITAL

The Philathia Sunday School class of the Clanton M. E. Church will present Mrs. Earle G. McLin, director of the McLin School of Expression of Birmingham, in a recital at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock on the evening of July 22nd, 1924. Mrs. McLin is one of the State's most gifted readers, and her appearance before Clanton people will be a rare treat to those who appreciate really refined entertainment.

The people of Clanton should not miss the opportunity of seeing and hearing this famous artist as well as the chance of doing your bit toward the building of Clanton's new Methodist church.

Mrs. McLin is experienced in Chautaqua and platform work, and is an artist in every sense of the word. She directed the big Methodist pageant put on by the churches of Birmingham this past spring.

The admission will be 35 cents for adults and 20 cents for children.

PROVIDENCE BEAT. 13

Editor Union- Banner—will you be so kind to give us a small space to say a few words in behalf of our community.

First of all we want to say that the health is very good at present, with the exception of Rev. J. B. Price, who has been very sick for the past few days, but is better now. We hope him a speedy recovery.

The farmers of this community are beginning to feel somewhat discouraged, also low spirited, over the crop proposition on account of the long extended drowth.

But we are still in hopes it will rain before it is to late, as we have never seen the righteous forsaken nor his seed begging bread.

Also wish to say that our Sunday School is progressing very nicely under the management of Bro. Wooley, Superintendant.

Also our singing society was a success this past Sunday Evening, under the management of Mr. Berl Martin whom we have just elected President of the society at this place. Mr. Berl Martin, is an intellegent young man, and seemes to be ready at all times to do something that would-be elevating and useful in a community. So we should ever be ready to lend a helping hand and a word of encouragement to Mr. Martin.

Oak Grove, class was welcome visitors at this place Sunday Evening, also rendered some very beautiful quartetts during the song service. We wish to extend to them a cordial and standing invitation.

Rev. Thomas, Pastor at this place is expected to fill his regular appointment the 3rd Saturday and Sunday of this month, also give us an extra Sermon Sunday night July the 20. We hope to have a large turnout as Bro. Thomas, is a good able Preacher full of the spirit and can interest you if you will only come out and listen to what he may have to say. Come where the blood can heal.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wells and sons, J. B. Jr. and "Snooks" of Selma came over last Saturday to spend a couple of days with relatives and friends.

Mr. Lewis T. Dennis of the Graphite Mines was in Clanton a short while Tuesday. Mr. Dennis says that they are making graphite right along now.

VICTORIES that build Firestone LEADERSHIP

Firestone Leads on Speedway with Five Record Breakers

When the race driver selects his tires he does so realizing that his life and chances for success depend upon them. It is significant that all of the ten money winners in the Indianapolis race were Firestone shod. Firestone, using gum-dipping and other special processes, has developed tires to such a high degree of efficiency that at Indianapolis, May 30th, the following drivers broke the world's record for 500 miles over this brick track, making many rounds at over 100 miles per hour.

Never before were tires put to such gruelling service, where it was necessary for every ounce of rubber and every fibre of fabric to work in perfect unison with every other part.

Driver	Time	Miles per hour

Harry Hartz	5:10:44.29	96.85
Bennett Hill	5:11:07.00	96.46

Leadership in Everyday Service

Millions of motorists are profiting by the lengthened service of Firestone tires. Scores of unsolicited testimonials emphasize the long mileage Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords deliver—which builds leadership in service, safety and economy.

Leadership on Cabs, Buses and Trucks

The largest taxicab companies in the five largest cities in the United States use Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords exclusively. One fleet alone, the Yellow Cab Co. of Chicago, uses over one-half million tire miles per day.

Firestone for years has been first to develop tires and rims complete which would meet the heavy trucking loads, great strains and demand for traction. By originating and carrying forward the Ship by Truck movement, and establishing Ship by Truck bureaus in all large cities, Firestone helped to speed up highway transportation and reduce costs.

Balloon Tire Leadership

Firestone's latest contribution to motoring is the low air pressure or Balloon Tire. This, the original full-size Balloon, was made practical by the special Firestone Gum-Dipping process, insulating every fibre of each cord, adding great strength and stamina. Firestone has also simplified the application of full-size Balloon tires to your present car by designing a special unit consisting of tires, tubes, rims and spokes applied by any dealer at a very low cost.

Leadership Against British Rubber Restriction Act

Attacking the unsound and uneconomic character of the British Rubber Restriction Act limiting the exportation of rubber from the Far East, Firestone was the one large tire manufacturer to take up the cause for the car owner. Soon after the agitation was started for America to produce rubber under its own control, the cost of crude rubber was reduced and tire prices brought back to normal.

Dealer Leadership Through Tire Quality and Service

Through Firestone dealers you can obtain organized service and the soundest values on the market, whether you need a Ford 30 x 3½ Fabric, a set of full-size Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords or a 10-inch truck tire.

MALARIA LEAVES A HEAVY MARK

Malaria, unfortunately, does not end with the breaking of Chills and reducing of Fever. Even after the patient is free from actual illness, the marks on his system are plain to see. Vitality is weak, appetite poor, weight fallen off, spirits low. In such conditions Wintersmith's Chill Tonic, a reliable anti-malaria prescription is invaluable.

Wintersmith's Chill Tonic builds up and restores what the malarial fever has taken away. It enriches and purifies the blood, aids the appetite, tones up the system, hastens the return of health and strength.

Taken as you feel Chills and Fever coming on, Wintersmith's Chill Tonic gives prompt and certain relief; and a long siege of Malaria can often be avoided. Its beneficial effects have been proved in thousands of cases, over 56 years of continued use. At your drug store. Popular size, 60c; mammoth size, $1. Made only by the Wintersmith Chemical Co., Inc. YOUTH IS KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT NEAR BESSEMER Machine Overturns When Tire On Rear Wheel Blows Out While Rounding Curve.

Elwood Roy Hand, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hand, of Hueytown, was instantly killed about 6:30 o'clock last Friday night when an automobile in which he was riding was overturned while rounding a curve on the Warrior Road, about four miles from Hueytown.

Elwoo Roy is the son of J. Wesley Hand, former Chilton county man, he having lived on the Garner place across the creek from town, several years ago.

The accident, according to Assistant Coroner J. J. Crowe, of Bessemer, who investigated, occurred when a tire on a rear wheel blew out as the machine was rounding the curve. Though there were no eyewitnesses to the accident, the automobile is said to have been traveling at a high rate of speed.

Hand, together with a young companion, is said to have been en route to Warrior when the accident occurred. The young man who occupied the car with Hand escaped injury.

Hand, according to Coroner Crowe, sustained a fracture of the skull, and was dead before assistance summoned from a nearby house could reach him. The car, a cut-down, is said to have been almost completely demolished.

Funeral services for Hand were held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon from the Hueytown Baptist Church. Burial was in Pleasant Ridge Cemetery, with McCollum, of Bessemer, in charge.

COUNTY FARMERS UNION ORGANIZED ON THURSDAY

A meeting of the various locals of the county met at Shoults School House last Thursday for the purpose of perfecting the county organization of the Farmers Union. There are now five locals in the county—Jemison, Mars Hill, Pilgrims Rest, Randolph and Shoults. Four of these locals were represented in this meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Rev. Littlejohn, county lecturer for the Union, at 10 o'clock. Talks on the benefits of the Union were made by Rev. W. S. Cox and G. C. McElderry, the State president.

County officers of the Union were elected as follows: J. T. Holtbrook, president; W. S. Cox, secretary; W. M. Oden, chaplain. After the election of officers was finished, the meeting adjourned for dinner. A sumptuous dinner was spread by the people of Shoults community. After dinner, the business of the Union having been finished, the meeting adjourned.

It used to be a regulation of the Farmers Union that ten locals were necessary before a county organization could be formed, but that number has been reduced to five, which made it possible for the Chilton County Union to be organized.

Rev. W. S. Cox, the county secretary, says that he is going to push the work of the Farmers Union in Chilton County all that he can. It is hoped that in a short time several new members may be enlisted and several other locals organized. All who are interested in joining the Union or who wish information on the subject may take up the matter with Rev. W. S. Cox, Clanton, Ala., R. 3.

MATTRESS FACTORY LOCATED IN CLANTON

A recent addition to the industries of Clanton, a fully-equipped mattress factory. The concern is brought here by Mr. L. E. Moore of Luverne, Ala., who has been operating a similar concern in his home town. The new concern is located in the new building at the rear of Robinson's Garage, and Mr. Moore says that he has the machinery necessary to renovate old mattresses or make new ones according to order. This is a concern which Clanton has been needing for some time. Numbers of car loads of old mattresses have been taken away from here to other cities and worked over, whereas now, this can be done right here at home. We hope that the people of Clanton will co-operate with Mr. Moore in making his new enterprise here a success.

COMMISSION LETS CONTRACT ON OLD MONTGOMERY ROAD

J. W. Gwin of Birmingham is Given Work of Reconditioning the Road from Roy Bridge.

J. W. Gwin of Birmingham was awarded by the State Highway Commission Monday afternoon contract for reconditioning and resurfacing the 29 miles of road between the Roy bridge in Montgomery and Marbury in Elmore county. The price for the ob under the contract is $55,707.60. It is also stipulated in the contract that the road is to be rolled.

Awarding of the contract carries the condition that rights of way necessary for relocation of certain portions of the road are to be provided by the counties of Montgomery, Autauga and Elmore, which the highway serves, also that these counties will arrange to have an adequate supply of gravel available for the work. The road, when reconditioned and opened to traffic, will provide another connection between Montgomery and the state highway, as this road connects with the new highway at Marbury.

H. W. BOLTON DROWNED NEAR LOCK 12 SUNDAY

A very sad and shocking occurrence happened Sunday afternoon when Mr. Hilry Bolton drowned in a lake on the R. F. Bates place a mile above Lock 12 Sunday afternoon. Reports say that a crowd of children were in bathing in the lake, when Mr. Bolton came up and decided to go in with them. He jumped in and swam half way across the lake when he took the cramp and began to call for help. Two or three of Mr. Bolton's boys were in bathing, so they rushed out to help the old man, but their efforts to save him were in vain. The water was about seven or eight feet deep where he drowned. The body was not recovered until about 6 o'clock Monday morning.

Mr. Bolton was about 60 years old and was well thought of by the people in his community. He has been living in the vicinity of Lock 12 for a number of years. The remains were buried at Blow Graveyard Tuesday of this week.

Gist Estimates Alabama Crop at 880,000 Bales

Production Should be Greatest since 1915 Crop, Says Agricultural Expert.

Montgomery, Ala., July 21.—F. W. Gist, agricultural statistican, in summary of reports on the condition of the cotton crop in Alabama, today stated that Alabama should produce 880,000 bales of cotton this year if there is no set back before harvest. This would be the largest cotton crop produced in Alabama since 1915, according to Mr. Gist, who said that slightly more than one million bales were produced in that year.

The statement of Mr. Gist follows:

"If the cotton chop of Alabama this year continues as good as at present until harvest, the state ought to produce about 880,000 bales of five hundred pounds gross weight each, according to the condition found to exist on July 16, which was 70 per cent of normal. This condition indicates an acre yield of 132 pounds and the acreage now growing is 3,190,000. This would be the largest amount of cotton produced in the State since 1915, when slightly more than a million bales were grown.

Crop Has Improved.

"The condition figure is the same today as on the 2nd instant, but indictates about four pounds more yield per acre, according to the ratios between the average condition and yield of former years. Consequently the crop has really improved in prospect since the 5th of June.

"During the period between the two reports an average of five rainy days has occured, with an average of slightly more than three inches of rainfall. These rains have, however, fallen almost exclusively in the afternoon and following forenoons of intense heat and sunshine. As a consequence, nothing like the number of blooms have fallen as if the rains had come in the forenoon while the blooms were open to catch the fall. Neither has the weevil multiplied as fast as if the remainder of the days had been cloudy and damp, as occurs usually with morning rains.

Few Weevil Complaints

"Only 30 per cent of the reports received for this report mentioned the weevil was present, the usual damage did not seem to be taking place.

"The plant has grown rapidly and fruited heavily; probably the results of more extended and better fertilizing. Fields are fairly clean and in good cultivation. Imperfect stands are still noticeable, this being the only serious drawback to an otherwise bright prospect.

"Midmonth reports also indicate all that other crops are progressing quite satisfactorily, with the possible exception of sugar cane."

Co-operation a Necessary Part of Farming Nowadays

The following significant statement, clipped from the July 12 number of The Union-Banner, deserves the thought of every foresighted farmer: " 'In the beginning when each farmer produced and manufactured at home most of the things that he and his family needed, selling very little, there was no great need for organization. But we are now farming in a different age, and under different conditions. A business organization of farmers managed by capable and constructive leaders is an absolute necessity.'—Prof. Duncan, Director, Alabama Extension Service."

It is now a universally recognized fact that co-operation among the farmers is not only desirable but absolutely necessary if the farmers are to hold their own amidst the highly organized life of today. And in this connection it is an encouraging fact that throughout a greater part of the United States the farmers have established organizations that are sucessfully serving their members.

During 1922 more than one billion dollars worth of farm products was marketed co-operatively. Last year even a larger portion was marketed by the farmers themselves. It can no longer be said that the farmers as a class will not organize and stay organized, though quite naturally the form of the organizations have and will continue to change and farmers in many cases have and will continue to change their membership from one organization to another organization that they are convinced will more nearly fill their need. This is a condition that is found in any field and is not limited to farming alone. When a stage of perfection has been reached in any industry and when conditions bearing on this industry have become fixed then changes in the form and methods of carrying on the business of this industry will be unnecessary. However, growth and development are the laws of life and as long as life continues to exist changes will continue to take place in all fields of human endeavor.

We need not go outside of our own county to find an example of an organization to which its members have "stuck," for the Fruit and Truck Growers Association at Thorsby has been in successful operation for nearly twenty years. This association that is now being established throughout the county is based on the same plan as the Thorsby association and we have equally as much reason to expect it to be successful.

The problem of today and the future is not one of production but of marketing. Farmers have succeeded in producing an abundance of all farm products, many times producing so much that on account of the large amount produced they received in return such small renumeration that they could barely exist.

The farmers are now proceeding to solve the problem of marketing and the first requisite necessary is the establishment of organizations thru which the business may be carried on.

As would naturally be expected under the circumstances, mistakes have been made and failures have occurred. In this respect, however, farmers' organizations have not been alone as can easily be brought home to us by even a casual investigation of the failures of industrial and commercial organizations. In fact, actual statistics show that a larger percentage of private business organizations fail than of farmer organizations. And this, in spite of the fact that the private organizations have been managed by experienced so-called "business men," while the farmers' co-operative organizations were managed by men comparatively inexperienced in business affairs in most cases. Evidently the principle of co-operation is right for otherwise the farmers' organizations would have been unable to overcome the above mentioned handicap with the dedgree of success that they have achieved. Farmers are being forced by necessity to give more attention to the business side of their vocation and their accumulation of knowledge and experience is continually making them more capable of successfully handling their business affairs.

The question then is not, shall the farmers organize, but rather, what plan of organization shall be adopted and what methods shall be followed in conducting the business of the organization? In our letter next week, we will analyze the principles of the Farmers Co-operative Association and will attempt to determine by this analysis whether or not this organization will be able to fill the present needs of the farmers of this county along this line.

At this time we wish to invite everyone to attend the public meeting to be held in the court house at Clanton, Saturday of this week at 1:30 p.m. Mr. N. H. Brown, Chief of the State Bureau of Markets, will be with us and will bring us some information worth obtaining.

Yours for Co-operation,
EXECUTIVE COM., F. C. A.

FINE SERMONS ARE PREACHED AT FRIENDSHIP THIS WEEK

Beginning last Sunday, Rev. Marion W. Mims has been preaching twice daily at Friendship church out a mile and a half north of town. Rev. Mims has been giving the people of that community some real gospel sermons to listen to and think about, which have been received very calmly yet enthusiastically by the congregations. There has been enough pure, sound gospel preached at these meetings to save every sinner in this vicinity, and if it has not fallen upon good ground later to spring up and mature into much good, it will not be the fault of the one who has been doing the preaching.

W. O. W. PICNIC TO BE AT COLLINS CHAPEL JULY 31

Thorsby Camp No. 735 and Collins Chapel Camp No. 636, of the Woodmen of the World, will combine in giving a basket picnic at Collins Chapel School House Thursday, July 31. Everybody come and bring your baskets. L. D. Holloway, State Manager of Montgomery will speak during the day.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE OF GAMES TO BE PLAYED

On Thursday, July 24th, today, Clanton plays Gantt's Quarry team at Clanton. Clanton has won one game and Gantt's Juarry has won one. This will untie the tie.

The game with Columbiana, which was to be played on Friday of this week has been postponed until Tuesday, July 29th. This game will be at Clanton.

On Satuday, July 26th, on the local diamond, Clanton will play the team from Spigner Camp. This team has won one game from Clanton.

On July 31st, Clanton will play Blocton, and on August 2nd Clanton will play Siluria.

These will all be cracking good games. So clip out this schedule so that you may know when the games will be pulled off.

DUSTING COTTON NOW BEING DONE BY THE FARMERS

Should Begin When 10 to 15 Per Ct. of Squares Are Punctured, Says Government Instructions.

Aubunr, Ala., July 21.—Contrary to an opinion which prevails in some sections that it is not necessary to poison boll weevils now if they were poisoned before squares formed, the use of calcium arsenate in dry form is now in order. Frequent rains in many sections of the State since July 1st have helped boll weevils, making poisoning more necessary.

On poisoning the boll weevil a circular published by the Extension Service reads:

"Start poisoning when the weevils have punctured 10 to 15 per cent of the squares. Examine 100 squares and see if you find ten or more with any kind of weevil puncture. Keep your cotton dusted thoroughly until the weevils are under control. This usually means about three applicants at four-day intervals. Discontinue poisoning until the weevils become abundant again. If the weevils become abundant early enough to injure young bolls, make one or two more applicants late in the season. Make another application as soon as possible if you have a heavy rain within 24 hours after dusting. In very rainy seasons continue dusting. It pays best in wet seasons. Even 7 to 8 applications will pay big profits. Use 5 to 7 pounds of calicum arsenate per acre per application."

For best results poising must be done in the right way, at the right time, and with the right kind of machinery, making it necessary to consult the county demostration agent for detailed information.

YOUNG MAN DIES AT HOSPITAL SATURDAY

Ottis, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown of near Liberty Hill, died at the Central Alabama Hospital last Saturday morning, after an operation for appendicitis. It is reported that the patient was brought to the hospital too late to be saved.

The remains were buried Saurday afternoon at Samaria cemetery, Rev. T. J. Deason conducting the funeral.

ROMAN CATHOLICS PLAY PART IN THE DEM. CONVENTION

First Fights and Crazed Rioting Were Familiar Scenes at Democratic Meet.

Washington's wise words were never needed more than now. The chea and disgraceful hippodrome, which the political party convention has become, is a national scandal and byword. No sanction for parties, nor for nominating conventions, is to be found in the Constitution of the United States. The national party organizations, controlled by corrupt bosses, usually representing the lowest elements of the populace in the larger cities, where papal and anti-Christian Jewish immigrants have been colonized, are without legal sanction of any sort.

The Constitution provides that each State, acting independently, shall choose Presidential electors, and these electors, exercising their wisdom and judgment, are to select the President by vote. It was the intention that the highest political office in our land be conferred upon the man best fitted for it; but it would then have been considered an unthinkable breach of decency and propriety for any man to electioneer for the office and attempt to sway public opinion by demagogic oratory and the beating of tom-toms.

Picking the candidates in advance, by boss-controlled party conventions, during which the hand picked politician is "sold" to the electorate with brass bands, fireworks and advertising, like patent medicine or a brand of soap, is a perversion of our fundamental institutions.

This year in Cleveland, owing to the fact that there was but one candidate, the Republican Convention was at least orderly. But at New York the Democratic circus displayed American politics at its lowest ebb. Insincere partisan appeals, sectional sentiment, expediency, jazz bands, galleries full of howling papal hoodlums for Al Smith and booing and hissing the speakers for other candidates, artificial "demonstrations" for nominees, prearranged by stage managers and kept up in intensity with horns, rattles, screaming sirens and confetti, have made a farce out of that which should be a solemn and dignified conclave, governed by reverence, patriotism and devotion to the high ideals of genuine Americanism.

When papist Al Smith's name was put in nomination, as the pope's candidate to govern the United States, the doors of the hall were opened, by a prearranged signal, and hundreds of outsiders, having no right to enter and no business within the convention hall, were admitted by the Roman Catholic sergeants-at-arms and were unhindered by the Tammany Hall policemen. The New York Times reported this scene as follows:

"It was an impressive parade, for if the delegates following the standards might have been more numerous, their places were filled by the thousands of bystanders who had been let into the aisles and beautifully fell in line. Then came an irruption thru the southern door—fifty or sixty

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Now that The National Democratic Convention is past, which took up a lot of my time—life here is void of excitement. I shall have to confine my notes to matters of minor importance, but one does not need sensational stories to interest people who live quietly in country places.

In northern New Jersey, where we are staying at present in a small village surrounded by a farming community and other small villages interspersed, and large cities, several of them within fifty miles, one can always find "Something Doing."

This is the 17th of July. We had New Jersey Strawberries for dinner which we were told would be the last edition of that kind this year. They were much smaller than our Klondikes and deliciously sweet Canteloupes of good quality and at reasonable prices are now plentiful. Last night we had on the table some South New Jersey Celery. I am curious to know how it is grown to such perfection so early in the season. People who are familiar with this succulent vegetable know very well that they are not likely to find it in market much before Thanksgiving time.

This is a native habitat for Cherries, and they are now at their best. And such Cherry trees I never saw, from a foot and a half to two feet in diamater and fifty to sixty feet high with wide spreading tops. Most of them, and they seem to be everywhere around this section, are of the sour red type but some are the deep red luscious ox Heart kind each one a mouthful, sweet and juicy. I saw a "Veteran" of this type that had literally "Been through the war." During 1917 and 1918 The Herclues Powder Co. in whose Experiment Station our son Sereno is now employed, had several thousand employes in their plant near by. They came from far and near, and outside business hours which confined them to the plant, they were a ravaging horde, having no respect for property rights or even decent treatment of people or things they wanted. During two summers this particular tree was an object of vicious attack. Being defenceless, men, women and boys made it a scene of pillage, they not only robbed it of its fruits, but in doing so destroyed its branches, even down to the trunk. Today it stands a bare relic of its former greatness, and yet with its one small limb, all that is left of it, on a decaying trunk it is still valiantly defying fate and bearing that one branch full of its delicious fruit.

What a lesson that tree teaches on propriety in adversity. If we cannot be what we once were or what we wanted to be, let us be the very best of what ever we may be. If with the passing of years come storms and stress that take away much that we prized and leaves us but little of strength and power, let us still bear ruift that will be a blessing to others. Doing what we can to keep abreast of the times without whining or giving up as useless hulks, which is a pretty sure way to become one.

I frequently meet a farmer of this vicinity who is 91 years young. He swings a grass blade or a cradle yet, and I have seen him plowing. This morning I found him in the hayfield, doing such things as he could do to help the work along, and such a hayfield, 11 acres of luscious Timothy grass, all headed out, standing thick 18 inches high, just fit to make the finest kind of hay. I want to take off my coat and get into it myself, but knowing my limitations, I could smile and praise the fellows who were sweating over the job, and tell them what a good job it was.

Wheat harvest is on now here. I have not seen any large fields, but a lot of them which look as if the farmer would have enough to make bread for his family and seed for himself and some to sell to his neighbors.

The trees and grass one sees in this section make one "sit up and take notice." One from Alabama wonders how things can grow here anyway. Two mornings this week the mercury stood at fifty, of course it warmed up some during the day, but to us it seems most always cool. However, vegetation seems to thrive and grow rapidly during the comparatively short growing season.

There is another curious phase of conditions here, although fine farms, hamlets, villages, and cities small and large abound, there is still considerable of wild land, uninhabited, save by wild life, even to deer, which frequently show themselves, especially during the closed season, when they are protected by law. When we were here two years ago, we met a man at a cousin's house where each he and we were visitors. The man was a war veteran who had been desperately wounded, and through long months of convalescence, these people had shown him many kindnesses, making him feel at home among them.

The man was an expert hunter and trapper, whose field of work was in Massachusetts, which like New Jersey, was one of the original thirteen states of the Union. One of the ladies in the family showed us two golden fox pelts which the man had presented to her as a token of his gratitude. He caught the foxes in Massachusetts, which is supposed to be about as thickly settled as any part of the country, and yet has plenty of places that are uninhabitable. These golden foxes are very rare and their skins valuable.

About a mile and a half from our quaters there is a considerable rise of ground called "Mine Hill," which covers quite an extensive Iron Mine which furnishes Iron with which Cannon Balls were made during the Revolutionary war, and still in operation. There are also Sand Pits in the vicinity which afford both sand and gravel, now become of considerable value in building Concrete highways, which have been universally adopted in many states. Highways already built afford a convenient method of transporting the product in great trucks for many miles, cheaper than it can be done in railway car and handled again to get it to destination.

There are many market gardens about there and most of them are looking fine, although their spring was very late. It seemes to be a great country for apples. The trees are very large and where they are properly cared for they seem to be full of good fruit, but many of them are on rented property and have been sadly neglected. If anybody thinks Peaches only grow in the south they are in need of information. The writer saw the first peaches he ever knew anything about, 70 years ago, and they grew within ten miles of this place. Big luscious yellow peaches with a blush on them that rivaled the much quoted "Maidens Blush." They are at their best in August and September, but are so near to a market that they do not need to be picked before they have "Lost their whiskers" and for this reason are more popular for eating than when shipped from long distance. We who have grown peaches, in the south very well know the difference in quality of a peach picked while hard and one from the same tree that has been left to ripen. There are no large peach orchards around here, but over in Connecticut, the Hale orchards were well known long before we commenced to grow them in Georgia.

In my last letter I mentioned something about the limitations allowed advertisers in Radio programs. Having paid more attention to it recently I can tell you more about it. For a consideration, said to be $400 per hour, Mr. Advertiser is permitted to have his name, Business and address announced, and the further fact that the speaker, artist or attraction, whatever it may be that comprises a brief part of the broadcasting program, usually 10 to 20 minutes, is furnished by the Advertiser. For instance, the manufacturer of Gold Dust, a well known Washing Powder, having a pair of Darkey Cherubs for a "trade mark," present for broadcasting, given by a couple of colored artists, named The Gold Dust Twins. One night we heard the Ever-Ready Concert Group, put on by the National Carbon Company, makers of the well known Ever-Ready Electric batteries. Last night it was the Astor Coffee Orchestra, from B. Richards and Company, packers and distributors of Astor brand coffee and rice. In every case the Radio audience are treated to hearing as high quality entertainers as can be heard on any platform or stage. In fact the entertainers in both cases are very likely to be one and the same. In no case is the character and quality or any other mention of the goods, made by the advertiser furnishing the entertainers permitted. They depend wholly on getting their money's worth by announcement of their name and the pleasure they give their audience which will be quite apt to connect up in their mind one with the other.

Sometimes a representative of the company is permitted to make an announcement of a general character that will be apt to be of public interest, as last night, this coffee concern announced that the revolution in Brazil, was assuming such proportions, that it had practically stopped the importation of coffee to the United States, which have been dependent on Brazil for half the coffee they get, hence on account of shortage of supply, prices of coffee were advancing.

It can readily be understood by people who know something of the actual limitations of the possibilities of Radiocasting, that the assertions of national party campaign leaders, that "They will conduct their campaigns by Radio this fall," will have to be considered with many reservations. Long distance Radiocasting is dependent on long distance telephone wires to carry the amplified sounds of speech, to distant Radio stations which transmit it to a Radio audience within the limits of the area, which can be reached from that station. These long distance telephone wires are already burdened with a load of regular telephone business during business hours, hence Radiocasting is chiefly confined to night service. When the great national conventions were being Radiocast there was only the voice of one speaker, the music of one band, or the noise of one multitude to go over the wires at one time, but when you multiply this by all the speakers, all the applause, all the noise, made in fifty or a hundred separate and distinct places at the same hour of the same day, the Radio and telephone facilities of the country are not equal to it, and if they were, it is quite probable that expense of $400 per hour would make managers pause to pick and choose what was really worth while to disseminate in that way.

It is quite certain that Radio will not be used to spread speeches of the ordinary political type by people who understand that a radio audience is made up of people of all sorts of political faith, and for those who do not hear what they like, it is only a matter of a twist of the wrist to cut it out, and find something more agreeable.

Therefore you Radio fans who are hoping to hear the whole show by picking it out of the air, will be doomed to disappointment. You can figure as pretty certain that what you get, in that way, will not be mud-spattered and will be something well worth your consideration, because it will be in no sense cheap.

COTTON CROP PROMISING IN SOUTH ALABAMA

Mr. John T. Ellis went on a trip down around Tuskegee, Wetumpka and Montgomery last Sunday. Mr. Ellis says that the prospects for a bumper cotton crop in that section is good now. He says that especially between Tuskegee and Montgomery there are the finest cotton fields he has ever seen, lots of the cotton being waist high and just as clean as a pin. Mr. Ellis says that there is nothing planted in this section except cotton, there being scarcely any corn, peanuts, peas or anything except the fleecy staple.

OAK HILL

There will be preaching here Sunday morning, July 27, at 11 o'clock, by Bro. Robinson from North Alabama, but the singing in the afternoon is called off on account of the all-day singing at Collins Chapel.

MACEDONIA CEMETERY

Those interested in the cemetery at Macedonia, near Lock 12 in Beat 11, will meet there Friday, July 25, for the purpose of cleaning off same. All are requested to bring sufficient tools to work with.

CHAMBERLAIN'S TABLETS
Never disappoint or nauseate—25c

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S.! Today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. The World's Best Blood Medicine

Blinding Headaches

"For about twenty years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, a well-known citizen of Newburg, Ky., "one of our family remedies has been Black-Draught, the old reliable. . . I use it for colds, biliousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order. I would have blinding headaches and couldn't stoop about my work, just couldn't go. I used and it relieved me.

"About eight years ago my wife got down with liver and stomach trouble. . . We tried all week to help her, . . . but she didn't get any better. One day I said to the doctor, 'I believe I will try Black-Draught, it helps my liver.' He said that I might try it and to follow directions. She was nauseated and couldn't eat or rest. She began taking Black-Draught and in two days she was greatly improved and in a week she was up."

Try Black-Draught. It costs only one cent a dose. Sold everywhere. E-99

William H. Zinn, has filed a bill in probate court at Anniston in answer to the dissent entered by the widow, Mrs. Virginia Clark Zinn, last May.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Gov. W. W. Brandon has received a miniature donkey, about two feet high made entirely of crepe paper, with a card which stated that the token was sent to the Alabama delegation to the democratic convention, which won the pliments of some million radio fans. The donkey will be placed in the department of archives and history, Governor Brandon stated. The gift resulted from the resounding manner in which Governor Brandon cast Alabama's 24 votes for Underwood at the demoratic convention, which won the admiration of radio fans over the country.

A survey of Alabamas' three higher institutions of learning to ascertain their needs, and adequate appropriations to meet these needs, were advocated by Judge W. H. Samford of the court of appeals, president of the Auburn Alumni association, in an address at a recent alumni meeting. He recommended the appointment of a commission by the boards of trustees of Auburn, Alabama college and the University of Alabama, at the call of the governor to make the survey.

Another application of the one mill school tax on all property in Madison county for the purpose of adding to the school funds was recommended at a meeting of trustees and county board of education in the Kiwanis club. Superintendent Butler showed that the funds for schools available now are not quite sufficient and that the reapplication of the one mill tax would furnish enough money to add an additional month to the school term.

The social service workers of Jasper have united in an effort to take care of the needy in that town. At a meeting in the Metnodist church building the community chest organization was perfected and working committees were appointed to carry on the work. The county commissioners are discussing the advisability of appointing a county probation officer and the community chest has appointed a committee to confer with the commission in reference to the matter.

Investigations have been made by the state mining inspectors into the death of Robert Stewart, pumper employed by the Republic Iron & Steel company, who met death by a gas explosion in the Palos mines. Stewart went into the mines at 8 o'clock of the morning of the fatal day, it was learned and evidently his open lamp came in contact with a little pocket of gas and he was killed in the explosion. His body was taken out during the afternoon. He leaves a family.

Announcement has been made by Capt. W. A. Jeffery, commander of the Andalusia units of the Alabama National Guard, that the War department has authorized the formation of a medical detachment of the Fifty-Fifth Machine Gun Detachment. In this connection it was officially announced that Dr. L. B. Underwood will be in command of this new unit with the rank of captain.

Arthur Tubbs, a Walker county truck grower, has just finished selling 6,000 cabbage heads, which were grown off of a half acre plot of land near the Frisco depot. Mr. Tubbs says he sold his cabbage crop at an average of seven and one-half cents a head. At that price he realized $450 on the half acre of land, or $900 per acre.

Smith Batchelor, convicted in Montgomery county, Nov. 27, 1923, of grand larceny and sentenced to a year and a month in prison, was granted a parole by Governor Brandon. Clemency in the case was recommended by the state board of pardons, 10 members of the jury, the solicitor, the trial judge and many others.

The contract has been let for the construction of the John H. Bankhead High school at Cordova. The building is to be of brick and hollow tile, modern in every respect. It will cost $40,000.

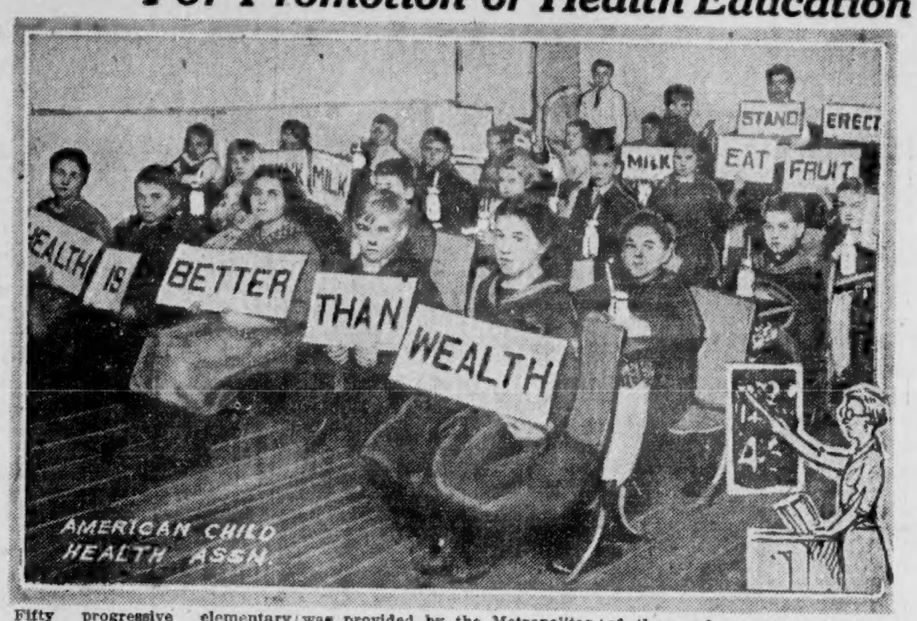
A small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bozeman, who live near Long View in Shelby county, drank a quantity of kerosine from a can. A physician was called in time to prevent serious consequences.

Jody Barton, age 21 years, of Cordova was very painfully injured while working on a car. A sharp piece of steel flew off and hit him in the left eye. The steel pierced the eyeball.

John A. Gallant of Gadsden has been appointed coroner of Etowah county by the governor.

B. L. Cobb of Jemison was in Clanton Monday for a while.

Fifty Teachers Win Scholarships Offered In National Competition For Promotion of Health Education



Fifty progressive elementary school teachers from as many cities will spend the summer or the next school year in studying health instruction for school children, each aided by a scholarship of $500 won in the health teaching contest conducted by the American Child Health Association.

These teachers were awarded the scholarships in competition with more than sixteen hundred elementary teachers who were judged on the health instruction and correctional work they accomplished with their classes from December 1, 1923 to May 15, 1924.

The $25,000 for the scholarships was provided by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. Dr. Lee K. Frankel, head of the company's welfare work, pointed out that it was of vital importance to teach proper health habits to children. He said the best methods for doing this were being developed by individual teachers but still remained virtually hidden away from the great mass of teachers. The purpose of the contest is to reveal these methods as well as to give those who are doing the best work an opportunity for special study at accredited universities to make them even more effective.

Educational authorities, who have reviewed the reports of the work of the winning teachers and of those who received honorable mention, expressed great enthusiasm for their high quality. Many of the reports, they declared, were equal in value to a thesis earning a Ph. D. degree.

The effectiveness of the competing teachers work was measured by the following standards:

1. Healthier children as judged by improvement in growth attested by height-weight records; and by removal of physical handicaps.
2. Healthier children, as judged by right attitudes, and sound knowledge, as evidenced in good health habits and practices.
3. Sound teaching methods as evidenced in teacher's plans illustrated by children's work.

OLD-TIME SINGING AT CEDAR GROVE LAST SUNDAY

The old-time Sacred Harp singing at Cedar Grove last Sunday was a grand success, according to the report on that occasion given The Union-Banner by Uncle Dock Wells. Uncle Dock says that the singing was just splendid, being this old-time fe-so-la kind that carries with it a rhythm that will just make one shed tears whether one wants to cry or not.

The dinner was one of the best parts of the day's program, says Uncle Dock. There were all kinds of chicken there, making it a mighty appropriate time and place for a good old Methodist preacher to do his stuff. Uncle Dock said they didn't have the sore head either.

UNCLE DOCK JONES OF VERBENA DIED TUESDAY

News was received in Clanton Tuesday of the death of Uncle Dock Jones, an old resident of Verbena, Ala. It is reported that death came as a result of tuberculosis, the old man having been very low for some time.

CHILTON COTTON CROP IN FINE CONDITION

The cotton crop of Chilton county indicates that a heavy yield will be made this fall. Slight droughts in some sections seem not to have injured the plant much, but have had a decided effect against the damages of the boll weevils.

J. D. Collins, of near Clanton, reports that his cotton is exceptoinally fine and that he has found but very little signs of the boll weevils. A. F. Childress, of Thorsby, says that the cotton crop in his section of the county is showing up well. People generally have conquered the weeds and grass and where boll weevils have been found they have been kept down by the use of poison. Reports from illingsley, Maplesville and Verbena are favorable in regard to a prosperous cotton crop.

There will not be a great deal of corn made this year. Due to the late rains in the spring, the farmers were forced to give most of their time to their cotton, and for this reason corn was somewhat neglected.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS Of Application For Discharge.

In the District Court of the United States, for the Middle District of Alabama; In Bankruptcy.

In the matter of D. H. Wolfe, postoffice Clanton, County of Chilton, Alabama.

This bankrupt claimed his small assets as exempt and it appears likely that there will be no distribution.

The above named party, who was on the 5th day of May, 1924, duly adjudged a Bankrupt, having filed his petition praying a discharge, the same will be heard before the Judge of said Court at Chambers in the City of Montgomery, on the 28th day of August, 1924, at which time and place creditors or other interested parties may appear and show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of said petition should not be granted, and unless appearance in oposition thereto is filed on or before the 25th day of August, 1924, the same will be granted as of course, and at the same time action will be had before me upon the reports of the Trustee now on file.

The fact that the Democrats in their national convention rejected the League of Nations a place in their platform this year shows that either the League is a poor piece of business or else the Democrats haven't guts enough to stand out for what they believe to be right. They fought for it in 1920 and failed to make a fight for it in 1924.

The first exercise in which students to the citizens military training camps are called to take part is the ceremony of enrollment. In it they make a declaration of allegiance to the United States. The advantages of the camps is not confined to military instructions, physicial exercise, and discipline, but include a course in practical patriotism that is bound to remain with the student all his life.

The Madison Square Garden Convention seems to have been epidemic. After it had been warring for a fortnight a revolt broke out in Brazil and another in Bolivia. "The Democratic party sends to these republics its cordial greetings," says the platform, speaking of Latin Americas. "God has made us neighbors—justice shall keep us friends." After reading of the Democratic delirium in New York it would not be surprising if the Latin American republics established a quarantine.

The Roman Catholics and other aliens have tested their strength in national affairs. And it might be interesting to notice when and where these hyphenated American aliens tried to burst through the stronghold of Americanism and gain power over the "Land of the Free." They selected the Democratic National Convention. Why did they try to enter by the Democratic way? It was because it was here that they had their best and only chance of getting anywhere. The Republican party stands for America first, last and all the time.

LOYAL TO COOLIDGE

The surest proof of successful leadership is the hearty co-operation of subordinates. Never has a chief executive commanded more respect and loyalty among government officials than President Coolidge. The marvelous co-ordination that has featured the Coolidge regime is responsible for the economies that have cut billions of dollars from the cost of government. Mr. Coolidge himself gives full credit to the members of the Government Business Organization for what they have done. "The Business of government," said he in addressing them, "has been estabilished on an efficient basis. You have done this, and for doing it you are entitled to the thanks of the American people. This has been and is their fight." Later in his remarks he said, "I have a firm faith in your ability to maintain this position, and in the will of the American people to support you in that determination."

It is characteristic of President Coolidge to recognize so generously the part played by his hundreds of executive assistants in putting business in government. But discerning citizens will know that co-operation of so many individuals toward the common end could never been attained without consummate ability in pointing the way and commading personality in leading his aids in that direction.

WHY IS IT?

WHY JOHN W. DAVIS WILL BE DEFEATED FOR PRESIDENT

The first and natural reaction on the nomination of John W. Davis by the Democrats in convention in New York is one of relief and satisfaction that after the un-American, riotous and at times thoroughly disreputable proceedings, it finally became possible to hominate a man for the Presidency who rises high above the cunning and the unconscionableness of McAdoo and the appeal to the inordinate appetites of men which, after all, was the big card of Al Smith.

Mr. Davis made no bid for the wet vote of the convention but it will remain of record that he got it. He has wet sentiments; how deep they are and how far he will carry them remains to be seen. If he attempts to carry them at all, or if he allows it to pass without further comment by him that he is a wet, he will never even be in the running. William Randolph Hearst, in his New York American, two days ago said with great truth and percipiency: "A consistant, conscientious dry candidate is what the country demands, and the only kind of a candidate which the country will vote for." Mr. Davis is not that kind of a candidate.

Mr. Davis will not be defeated entirely because of himself. He is a man who has much to commend him. But his party does not have anything to commend it. He must answer for the thing of which it was guilty in convention assembled. The dragging in of the religious question is something that shocked and disgusted the American people because it was, above everything else, un-American. They are going to rebuke that act. They cannot get at the convention next November so they will register their rebuke against that which the convention finally produced—John W. Davis, its candidate for the Presidency.

Mr. Davis cannot rise above the Democratic platform. There it stands with all its hokum, with all its appeal to passion and prejudice and with all its platitudes and heresies. As a candidate Davis must subscribe to the platform. It must be his Alpha and Omega, his commandments, more than ten. He dare not break the tablet upon which they were written for they represented the will of the convention before his nomination represented the will of the convention. In other words the platform takes precedence over him and stands above him.

President Coolidge inspired and shaped the platform upon which he was nominated. He made sure it comported to his views so that it can be truthfully said Coolidge is the platform and the platform is Coolidge. The Republican party stepped back and let Mr. Coolidge have his way. The Democratic platform was brought into being by the Democratic bosses. They nailed the plank in it. Having done this they fought and haggled a few weeks and then, in alarm, put up Mr. Davis to lend the color of respectability to their besotted proceedings. Why did they do this? Because they had to do something to save their own faces and the battered face of their party. At first they would have none of John W. Davis. He represented Wall street and a certain amount of decency and they did not want any decency at all. As for Wall street it is part of their stock in trade to heap anathema on it when ever the public gives them a chance. But this time they were in sore straits and they had to swallow Wall street in public—as they have swallowed it in private almost since the birth of the party. The Democratic crowd curse Wall street until Wall street needs them badly and invite them to come around to dinner to clean linen and go around to see what they can get.

Davis' Wall street connection would not necessarily damn him with the country. The people are getting over looking upon Wall street as a den of thieves. As a woman delegate to the convention said "If there was no Wall street there would be no Main streets." Incidentally it might be said that frequently worse things are found on some Main streets than on Wall street.

John W. Davis will be defeated by possibly ten million majority because he represents a Democratic party that is no longer worthy of being called the Democratic party, as was demonstrated before it had been in convention a week.—Pottsville (Pa.) Journal.

PAYING THE PENALTY OF THE ONE-PARTY SYSTEM

Southern Democratic leaders pay the penalty for the maintenance of the one party system in the Solid South by exclusion from consideration as persidential candidates men of their own party.

No man has been nominated for President or Vice President by either of the great political parties, since the birth of the Republican party, who sails from a sail in which there is not a vigorous party of opposition. Indeed, every presidential nominee of both the great parties since 1856 has been from a state politically doubtful.

The Solid South presents to the Democratic party, without the necsity of making a contest, more than a hundred electoral votes at each national election. It is well known that no matter what the issue or who the candidates the Democratic party can depend upon these votes. Why, then, go to one of these states for a presidential candidate? It has not been done in 70 years, and the South will not have a major party presidential candidate until it permits the party of opposition to have at least a Chinaman's chance, until public questions are debated there upon their merits, until election and primary laws intended to make the success of an opposition party impossible regardless of public opinion, are repealed.

In these states taken for granted by the national Democracy the one party system results in factional differences as a substitute for party controversies, of personalities for principles. With no opposition party to hold the dominant party in check, public educational and institutional progress is halted and popular comprehension of public questions is made unnecessary and therefore nonexistent because only one side of any issue at stake is presented.

As a result of this system the several Southern Democrats who were proposed for the Presidency made a negligible showing in the balloting. This condition will continue so long as the one party system continues in the South. Isn't it about time for Southern politicians who have aspirations to national leadership to abandon the injurious policy responsible for this situation?

ROGERS LAW BOOSTS FOREIGN SERVICE

The enactment of the so-callled Rogers bill by the last sesson of Congress has resulted in an immediate improvement in our foreign service. A general shake-up has been announced whereby 32 of our foreign representives are retired for the reason that they have reached the age limit of 65 years, 21 others are demoted because they have failed to reach the required standard of efficiency, and various others are transfered for the good of the service. In all 60 men are affected by the new orders. Are classification of the personnel of the entire foreign service has been mode under the terms of the new law by a special personnel Board. It is announced that hereafter our foreign representatives will hold their positions solely through merit. The Rogers law makes of our foreign service a profession, and the increased salaries which now apply to it are expected to attract a high class of applicants desirous of making it their life work. The reorganization of this department of government is an accomplishment to which the Republican administration can point with justifiable pride.

FARM FACTS

"After a hen has past her second laying season she should be placed on the market."—John E. Ivey, Auburn.

"Orders for 10,000 pounds of hairy vetch seed to be planted this fall have been placed by DeKalb County farmers."—Glenn E. Riddell, County Agent.

Hope is one of man's greatest assets; but hope without honest effort toward a realization of that hope resolves itself into little more than common ordinary worry.

Sodium Fluoride means death to chicken lice if it is properly applied. It may be dusted on or a solution may be made by mixing one tablesspoonful of Sodium Fluoride in a gallon of water and pulling chickens through it backwards. Mix almost enough to fill a tub.

Apple trees at Auburn are now being sprayed with a solution containing both Bordeaux mixture and arsenate of lead. These trees have been sprayed several times this year and the outlook for a crop of apples is very fine. Late peach trees are being sprayed with a solution containing self-boiled lime sulphur and arsenate of lead, because peach trees will not stand Bordeaux mixture.

Press Clippings

Kingston, (N. Y.) Freeman.—The Republican ticket is the choice of the party. The convention's duties were merely ministerial and the delegates dare not do otherwise than they did. They were bossed—by the people. The other ticket has a good man in it by accident and compromise after bitter fighting over spoils, not principles. Davis was evolved by a condition in the convention. Coolidge was evolved by a demand from the voters.

Doylestown, (Pa.) Intelligencer.—The opinion appears to prevail that, handicapped by the spectacle and the feuds and bitterness engendered at the convention, as well as by the criticisms voiced by members of his own party, Mr. Davis will be a very badly defeated candidate. Democrats freely expressed the opinion in the last moments of the convention that the nomination would be worthless, whoever received it.

Bristol Herald-Courier, (Dem.)—President Coolidge in his budget speech the other day served notice upon government heads that he proposes to protect the integrity of the budget. He declared he was for economy, and after that he was for more economy. That is the kind of talk the taxpayers like to hear.

New York Herald-Tribune.—The American common sense that President Coolidge expressed in his Fourth of July speech holds more truth than all the theories of the doubters. No wonder the voters turn to Mr. Coolidge with relief and admiration and trust.

Columbia Record.—If Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson should return to life and meet some of the gentlemen now parading around as Jeffersonian and Jacksonian Democrats, they'd organize a third party.

Baltimore Sun, (Dem.)—When the delegates get back home they will tell the home papers all about it, and then, for the first time, New York will know what a mess it made of things.

Beaver, (Pa.) Times.—The masses of Americans like the democracy of a Coolidge who lived in a $35 a month half of a New England double house, and is one of the folks.

Lynchburg News, (Dem.)—Under government control, the railroad system would be run by politicians, and it is a sure thing that they would run it into the ground.

Torrington, Conn., Register.—John W. Davis was nominated for President only after the delegates discovered that they couldn't nominate somebody else.

Providence Journal.—The Democratic convention has furnished a splendid illustration of how not to do it.

St. Louis Times.—Trade balance favors U. S. A. $692,000,000 for past ten months. Bad year for Democrats.

August is the Vacation Month
This is the Road to Vacation Land!

A SUCCESSFUL vacation is not simply a week or two's rest. A change of scene, of climate and environment, a getting far away from the things that you're used to—a dip in the ocean—a camp in the deep woods—a wonderful period of fishing in Northern lakes or some secluded little inland stream—horse back riding over the mountains—something different from the things you do during the other fifty weeks of the year. That's the real vacation.

If you're undecided as to where to go, let an L. & N. Passenger Agent help you with information as to accommodations, costs, etc. Mountains, lakes, sea shores, inland watering places—are all reached by the superior train service of "The Old Reliable"—and remember that one of the many points of the superiority of this great railroad system is its excellent dining-car service.

standards, each with a huge picture of Al Smith. Behind them came hundreds of men who had broken thru the cordon at the door—the shock troops of Tammany, there to demonstrate as long as the higher powers decided that demonstration was in order. Bands were with them—three bands—and the march went round and round.

"Accompanying it was such a din as the Garden probably had never heard before. Up in the galleries the faithful Smith rooters had massed more bands. Bands and drum corps. Above all they had a battery of fire engine sirens that made everything else inaudible. The brass bands marching around the hall could not be heard fifty feet away. Fire sirens shrieked from every gallery; horns blared from the floor. Thousands of rattles, whistles and buzzers had been distributed to add to the noise."

Fist fights and other rioting are a familiar element in these proceedings. The whole business is the fruitage of Roman Catholicism in the country. Decency, propriety, dignity and intelligence are words not in the vocabulary of popery, nor of popery's fanatical hoodlum subjects here. Americans cry out for a broom to sweep this trash off the face of the American continent. The degraded and brutalized outpourings of the parochial schools were on display in Madison Square Garden in behalf of Al Smith, a man not fit to vote in America, much less to hold public office, because of the alien allegiance which every Roman Catholic pays to his master in Italy. Even the commercial newspapers of New York, in some instances, rebelled. The New York Evening Post said:

"Nine times out of ten these demonstrations are arranged down to the last detail. They are directed and organized like a play or a pageant. The side best equipped with noise-making devices lasts longest. Collarless delegates fight around State standards and drag each other over the chairs. Bathing girls pose on the platform. Some disheveled maiden is carried around the floor on men's shoulders. Jungle stuff! It is a cheapening of the world's greatest office."

Even the New York World, rank partisan of Al Smith, contained a protest in Heywood Broun's column of comment:

"All this might be funny, if the Presidency were not an important office and democratic government a scheme essential for the dignity and welfare of humanity. It isn't funny; it's shameful."

During the Democratic Convention popery has been brought out in the open, labeled and marked for identification, for Americans to look at and to ponder. The spectacle has shocked and disgusted the country. Millions who have been asleep have awakened, and when Americans are aroused to a real issue nothing on earth can stop them from putting their righteous decision into effect. Ponery in the United States, with its allies; anti-Christian Jewry and the ignorant immigrants and lower racial stocks—has got to go. It has no right to be here. It is a mentality that must get out of America. Christ demands this consummation.—American Standard.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

State Superintendent of Education John W. Abercrombie has announced the establishment by the state board of education for the fiscal year, beginning July 1, of departments of vocational agriculture in the following schools, for whites: Tanner-Williams Mobile county; Flat Rock, Jackson county; Cedar Bluff, Cherokee county; Arley, Winston county; Elmore County High School at Eclectic, Elmore county; State Secondary Agricultural school at Cuba, Sumter county; and has approved the organization of a department at Falkville in Morgan county, effective January 1, 1925. Departments have been recognized for negroes in the county training schools at Coosa and Dallas counties.

With the word "God" on his lips but refusing to the last to join a church, Gordon Fincher went praying to his death at Talladega for the killing of Maybelle McCullough, a 16 year-old friend, on February 23, 1923. A crowd of 2,600 people surrounded the Talladega county jail for two blocks and heard Fincher in a final speech declare his innocence and then turn again into the jail and mount unaided to the death cell where only a few saw the execution. Fincher was the first white man ever to be hanged in Talladega county.

The population of Alabama was increased in April by 4,599 births, the birth rate per 1,000 of population being 22.9. During the same month 2,336 deaths occurred, the rate per 1,000 of population being 11.6. Births in May totaled 4,634, or 22.3 per 1,000 of population. Deaths in the same month aggregated 2,346, or a rate per 1,000 of population of 11.3. These figures compare with 4,620 births in May, 1923, and 2,210 deaths have been compiled by Dr. W. T. Fales, director of the state bureau of vital statistics of the Alabama health department.

Forces of Sheriff Paul Cazalas have seized 90 cases of fine liquor in the hold of the American steamer Sacarappa, in drydock at Mobile for repairs. Robert B. Botts, deck officer and John C. Thompson, seaman, were placed under arrest in connection with the case. The liquor comprised whisky, champagne, sherry and other fine wines. They were brought to the county jail by Deputies Rudoff, Ernest and Rasher, who made the arrest, and stored there. The steamer came here from Antwerp.

Bail has been allowed to Robert M. Chambless, young man charged with the killing of Alonzo H. Graves. Chambless was denied bond at the time of the preliminary but in a habeas corpus hearing before the circuit court evidence was brought out to show that Chambless stabbed Graves in self defense and the court decided that the youth was entitled to freedom under bond. Chambless had no difficulty in making the $7,500 bond.

The semi-annual report of Walter K. McAdory, chief of the state law enforcement department, which has been submitted to the governor, showed a total of 1,077 arrests during the first six months of 1924, with destruction of nearly a thousand stills. Cash fines assessed from cases made by the state officer exceeded expenses of the department over $41,000.

Suit for $100,000 each has been filed by Melvin Hollis against Deputy United States Marshals J. W. Adkins and W. W. Hudson, in the circuit court at Pell City. According to the allegations of the complaint, the plaintiff claims that he was sevrely assaulted and beaten, and was made sick and sore, and his automobile searched without process of law.

Grapes used to trim his mother's hat proved fatal when they were eaten by 9-months-old Huey Fulmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Fulmer, of Morris, Route 1, according to report made to the health department.

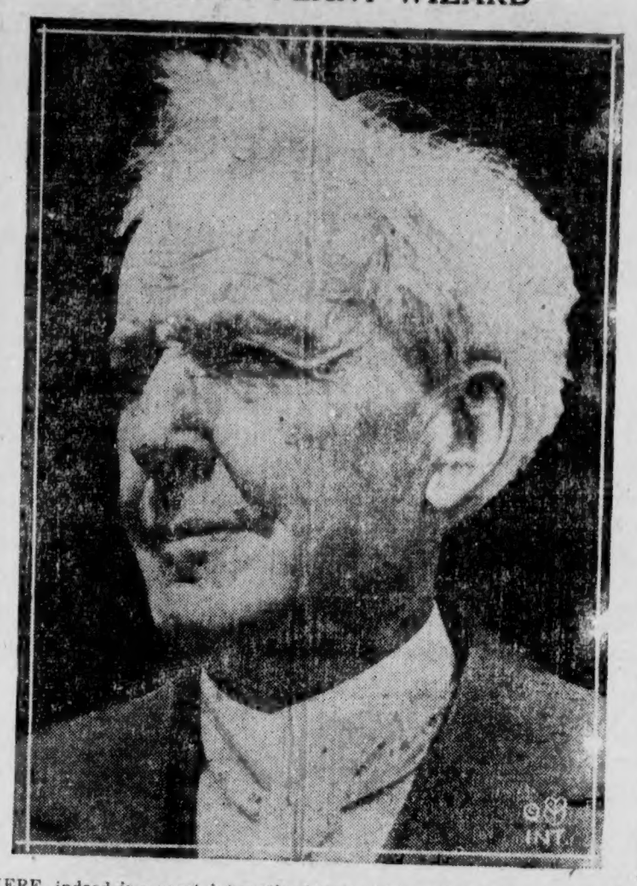
The Civitan club of Florence has announced that a contract has been let for the building of a tourist camp at Jackson Park on Royal Avenue.

Thirteen states are represented in the register of the Summer School students at the University of Alabama.

Walker county farmers are harvesting more oats this year than usual according to reports from various points in the county.

A kiddies camp, for the benefit of the under privileged boys of Gadsden, Alabama City and Attlas is to be held at the fresh air camp of the Etowah County Tuberculosis Association.

A CHARACTER STUDY OF WORLD FAMOUS PLANT WIZARD



HERE, indeed is a most interesting photograph of the world famous plant wizard and horticulturist, Luther Burbank. It was taken at his home at Santa Rosa, Calif. and is the first he's posed for in many years.

The excellent likeness shows Mr. Burbank as he is today, in his 76th year. This picture was made shortly after he had recovered from a serious illness and which, fortunately, left no marked effects on his kindly, characteristic countenance. His great outdoor life amongst his plants and flowers very likely had much to do with his quick return to health.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Claiming to have been tortured for 22 years with the memory of a slaying Oliver Cameron, now 51 years of age, former resident of Jefferson County, tried to drown himself in the Williamette River, near Portland, Ore., recently, and was rescued by police to whom he told a tale of killing, during a quarrel, one U. J. Gay, near Birmingham, in 1902, according to a dispatch.

Considerable development of iron ore properties along the Tennessee, Alabama and Georgia railroad is being planned. The mines at Estelle have already resumed operations and are now shipping five cars daily to the Holt furnace. The Bronco mines will soon be producing 50 cars a week, the output to go to furnaces in Tennessee. It is said mines at Cipco and other places along the line are to resume when the iron market improves.

Miss Virginia B. Handley, director of the state child welfare department, has written employers of child labor over the state, calling attention to amendments to the child labor law, enacted in 1923. The amendments include the raising of the educational requirements necessary for an employment certificate to the fifth grade, effective September 1, 1924.

Asserting that the undertaker who buried her husband put his body in a coffin too small for it and nailed the deceased feet to the bottom, thereby disfiguring his body and transforming it into a gruesome sight, Leona Lawrence filed suit in the Jefferson County circuit court recently against the E. A. Bradford Undertaking Company for $20,000 damages.

A bond issue totaling $485,000 will be voted on by the electors of the city of Mobile September 8 under terms of an ordinance prepared by the city attorney, Frank Yerger, and presented to the commission. The bonds will go for improvements of the city hospital, city docks, fire alarm and police alarm systems and a centralized fire department.

Erskine Ramsay, Birmingham capitalist, industrial leader and philanthropist, whose gift of $100,000 to the Auburn drive two years ago made possible the erection of the Erskine Ramsay Engineering Hall at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, has subscribed $100,000 to the million-dollar fund now being raised for Alabama College at Montevallo.

Gov. W. W. Brandon has issued a proclamation designating August 17 as the date upon which the new Alabama code is to become effective. Ten thousand sets of the code, each containing four volumes, have been printed, more than three carloads of paper having been used for the printing of the 40,000 volumes.

Two hundred members of the Girls and Women's clubs of Lee county were entertained by the chamber of commerce, the Kiwanis club and other residents of Opelika and Lake Caudy. The communities represented were Beauregard, Farmville, Gold Hill, Smith Station, Marshall Lee, Bee Hive, Beulah, Pine Grove and Salem.

Reduced freight rates on fertilizer, prescribed in the order of the Alabama Public Service Commission, issued May 26, will become effective on all Alabama railroads, July 25. Copies of tariffs embodying the new rates have been filed with the commission by the Alabama carriers.

At a meeting of the Sheffield Rotary club a resolution was adopted petitioning the state highway commission to build two lines of highways and a bridge over Bear creek to connect the highway running west from Tuscumbia with the highway at the Mississippi state line.

Harold Blake, 22, of Cincinnati, Ohio, and J. A. Wolford, 25, of Cumberland, walked up to police headquarters in Mobile and surrendered, announcing that they had deserted from Fort Sam Houston, Texas. The men said they had been absent for more than a month.

The Davis-Alcott hosiery mills at Gadsden, which have been idle for two months have resumed operations.

Material is being assembled by Etowah county officials for the erection of a $20,000 alms house at Hoke's Bluff.

With an attendance of approximately 8,000 spectators and perfect weather prevailing the Anniston army horse show which was held at Camp McClellan was acclaimed one of the most outstanding successes of the season.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Who seeks for heavens alone to save his soul,
May keep the path, but will not reach the goal
While he who walks in love may wander far
Yet God will bring him where the blessed are.

Pretty Children's Party.

On Monday afternoon the home of Mrs. L. F. Gerald was the scene of a merry gathering of the little folks, when little Miss Celia celebrated her sixth birthday.

Juvenile games of various kinds were played and a fish pond enjoyed where favors—warbler whistles for the boys and baby dolls were used for the girls.

In the dining room a color note of pink and white was carried out and the cutting of the birthday cake offered lots of fun when only the thimble was found by Miss Sanland Richards. On the cake twinkled six pink tapers.

A refreshing ice course was served to about 40 of the happy little tots.

Card Club Meets.

The regular meeting of the Card club was held at the home of Mrs. Victor Heard on last Wednesday afternoon. The reception rooms were given an added touch of beauty by an attractive arrangement of garden flowers. After a series of rubbers the score prize, cards, was won by Mrs. N. S. Johnson. Afterwards a refreshing ice course was served. Besides the club members, Mesdames Hughes Kennedy, Amzi Gowan and Hugh Jones enjoyed the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Richards and children were visitors here last week from Jackson Tennessee.

Mr. Johnnie Vines from Birmingham spent a few days with relatives here.

RUBEN PRICE DIED AT HOME SUDDENLY TUESDAY NIGHT

Mr. Ruben Price, better known as Uncle Joe Price, farmer of near Lomax, died suddenly Tuesday night about 8 o'clock. The old man was 77 years old, and had been in declining health for some weeks, however, his death was not expected.

Funeral services will be held at New Salem today, Thursday, the Masonic order conducting the burial rites. Mr. Price was a member of the Clanton Masonic Lodge, being one of the oldest members in this lodge.

Mr. Price is the father of Jess and Huston Price, and Mrs. Ike Hicks.

MR. I. W. BICE WRITES ABOUT LETTER IN CHILTON CO. NEWS

Clanton, Ala., July 23, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to reply to the letter I notice in the last issue of the Chilton County News concerning the obligation of people who join secret orders, which I heartily endorse. But my experience in some seems as some fraud or some one or ones practicing fraud for his special benefit destroys more orders than anything else.

One among all orders I ever experienced was the United Farmers, and it was defrauded aud deceived by the leaders worse than any order I ever knew or heard of, and it seems that the other people think so too, from the way they have scattered.

Now, we have a County Union, and want all good, honest people to come up and be with us, for it is a thing we can tell what we are doing. We know where every penny of our money goes, and if some one goes crooked, we have a right to get rid of him it is a strict and honest thing. We mean to run it straight.

Well, as I am in some hurry to go fishing, I will close, and write more about our County Union next week.

I. W. BICE.

MONTEVALLO WORKERS URGED TO WAGE EXTENSIVE CAMPAIGN IN LAST TWO WEEKS OF JULY

Preliminary Work for Alabama College Ends—Enthusiasm Runs High.

Montevallo, Ala.—An intensive campaign for the million dollar equipment fund for Alabama College at Montevallo will be carried on throughout the state during the two weeks between the fifteenth of July and August first. Plans for this drive have been made by the Board of Trustees of the college and the executive and advisory committees of the drive.

During the two weeks of that intensive campaign every active worker in all of the districts of the state will be hard at work canvassing the residents in his particular territory. Even with the careful preliminary work that has been done, however, there will be some people who will not be solicited, and these are urged to make their contributions without being asked, sending them directly to headquarters in their territory.

"Some of the people may miss the canvassers who come to see them, others may miss being included on the list of any canvasser by mistake," said Dean Carmichael. "We want to take this opportunity to urge those who are not solicited for subscriptions to make them anyway, mailing them to the campaign headquarters in their town or district, or handing them to some worker in their particular town. We want the money but we want still more the approval and co-operation of every citizen in the state of Alabama."

Reports from district campaign headquarters throughout the state indicate that the work is going forward satisfactorily. No figures have been tabulated so far and therefore no actual amounts can be given out, but there is every reason to believe, according to the Dean that the full amount asked for will be subscribed by the first of August and that one fifth of the amount will be in the hands of the Board of Trustees, who will have charge of spending it according to the plans for the enlargement and equipment of the college.

Members of the Board of Trustees are: Governor W. W. Brandon, Dr. T. W. Palmer, president, Judge W. H. Taylor, of Uniontown, M. V. Joseph, of Birmingham, A. V. Lee, of Gadsden, W. T. Sheehan, of Montgomery, Dr. J. W. Abercrombie, of Montgomery, Dean O. C. Carmichael, L. M. Moseley, of Union Springs, W. J. Dansby, of Butler, Judge R. B. Evins, of Birmingham, J. B. Ellis, of Selma, Virgil Bouldin, of Huntsville and Landers W. Sevier, of Birmingham.

Mr. T. E. Williams and wife of Albany spent a few days last week with relatives and friends in Clanton. Mr. Williams is still prominently connected with the Bank of Albany and states that he is mighty well pleased with general condition up there. Ernest still enjoys coming down to Clanton and making a friendly social visit with his many old friends here.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Beginning the 7th of August and lasting ten days, the Seventh-day Adventists will hold their annual Conference in connection with their camp meeting, in a beautiful grove in Clanton.

Work has already begun on the camp ground.

Delegates from the different churches in the state are expected to attend, and they will live in tents during the meetings. The meals will be served cafeteria style in the dining tent, which will be in charge of Mrs. J. C. Mitchell of Mobile.

Besides the large pavalion there will be a tent in which meetings will be held twice daily for the young people, the juniors will have a special tent for their meetings, as will also the children in the primary and kindergarten divisions.

The meetings for the children will be in charge of Mrs. K. R. Haughey, state Y. P. M. V. Secretary, assisted by Miss Kathleen Myers, of Mobile.

Rev. Meade MacGuire, who is General Secretary of the Y. P. M. V. Department, with head-quarters at Washington, D. C., will be one of the principal speakers, and Rev. W. W. Eastman, head of the publishing work who has recently made a world tour, will also be in attendance and do much of the speaking.

Rev. G. W. Wells, president of the Southern Union Conference, of Nashville, Tenn., and Rev. C. B. Stephenson, president of the Alabama Conference, will be in direct charge of the meetings.

Other Union workers to be present are F. L. Harrison, secretary-treasurer, Prof. J. C. Thompson, Y. P. M. V. Secretary, and W. R. White, circulation manager of the Southern Publishing Association.

From the local conference Chas. O. Franz, secretary-treasurer, K. R. Haughey, Home Mission Secretary and F. W. Schmehl, Field Mission Secretary, besides the local pastors of the different churches will also be in attendance. Mr. J. G. Mitchell, pastor of Mobile church, will be in charge of the music.

You are all invited. Come!

NOTED WOMAN DIES IN MONTGOMERY TUESDAY

Letitia C. Tyler, Who Hoisted First Confederate Flag Over Confederate Capitol Succumbs.

Montgomery, Ala., July 23.—Letitia Christian Tyler, grand daughter of the tenth president of the United States, who was born in the White House, Washington, D. C., April 3, 1842, died at the home of Mrs. W. A. Johnson, 606 South Perry Street, at 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The funeral services took place at the home of Dr. F. C. Stephenson Wednesday.

Letitia Christian Tyler was the daughter of Robert Tyler, a native of Virginia, lawyer, soldier and journalist, who died in Montgomery in 1877. Owing to the death of his mother, Robert Tyler and his wife took residence in the White House with his father, President John Tyler. The grand child of the president of the United States, who was afterwards to take a large part in the social life of Alabama and the South was thus born in the national White House.

Robert Tyler, her father, was first a private in Colonel Custic Lee's brigade at the opening of the Civil War and afterwards register of the Confederate treasury. He came to Montgomery to practice law after the war and became chief editor of the Montgomery Advertiser through his publication, "The White Man's Issue," which made a strong and successful fight on political conditions crushing southern people. This contest against the federal power controlling the southern elections and politics was continued in The Advertiser until the white men of the State wrested control from the political invaders. In this period Robert Tyler was looked upon as the leading democrat of Alabama and was chairman of the most important political committee organized by the white man's party.

Two of his poems were published by Harper rothers and the romantic and sentimental side of his nature was shown in his sympathy for the cause of Ireland and correspondence with Daniel O'Connell, Thomas Frances Meagher and other Irish patriots during the "repeal" movement in that country. It is worthy of note that the reform in the government of Ireland advocated in correspondence and published writings by Robert Tyler was put into effect by the English government nearly half a century later.

Robert Tyler's wife was of distinguished birth, a native of Pennsylvania and great grand daughter of a supreme court justice of the state of New York, while on her mother's side she came from a north of Ireland family noted for patriotism, wit and artistic ability.

ROAD MEETING AT COURT HOUSE SATURDAY, JULY 26TH

The Commissioners Court hereby calls a mass meeting at the Court house July the 26th, for the purpose of discussing the condition of the public Roads in the county.

We request all Road Supervisers to be at said meeting, and we urge all other parties that are interested in good roads to come.

We would appreciate a full statement from each R. R. Mail carrier of the condition of the roads on their routes, and the needs of their roads.

The purpose of this meeting is to arrange to gravel and work the places in the Roads that get bad in winter.

The meeting will be held strictly at ten o'clock A. M. and we hope to have a representative from each community in the county. We urge each community to get together and see how much help they can get on the roads in their community.

Respectfully,
L. H. Reynolds
7- 17-2t Judge Of Probate.

NOTICE

The Commissioners Court will continue the Road meeting Saturday the 26th until 2 p.m., in order to give all mail carriers a chance to be present and report the condition of their routes.

Remember we will have the Road meeting at 10 o'clock for all other parties.

Respectfully,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
1t. Judge of Probate.

NEW OVERLAND COUPE AROUSES ENTHUSIASM OF FEMININE MOTORISTS

Unusual interest among feminine motorists has greeted Willys—Overland's announcement of its new two-passenger Overland Coupe. Not only is it a light car embodying the manifold advantages of the entire Overland line, but it combines with these a driving comfort and convenience almost incredible in a car of these dimensions.

Nowadays, with the male members of the family requiring the use of the car during the day, there is a definite need for a second car in a good many homes, a car that can be used for shopping and visiting the women folks of the home.

The new coupe has proved itself to be ideally adapted for this purpose. Ventilating Windshields, Dura window regulators, rear window curtains are little touches that appeal to feminine taste. Coupled with these features in the ease of parking, and the unusual riding comfort due to the 136-inch spring base. Its ease of handling in congested traffic areas because of the exceptionally large steering spindles and bearing are decided factors in this new car intended for feminine use.

The new Coupe is equipped with doors that are over 31 inches wide, thus providing easy entrance. The body of exceptionally heavy metal, is sturdily reinforced. Unusual pains are taken with the painting operations, fourteen coats being applied to give the car its lasting durable finish.

The interior of the body is finished in durable, long grain Spanish leather upholstery. The seat cushion is over 45 inches wide, being ample to accommodate three medium-sized people. There are 15 inches between steering wheel and cushion, rendering it convenient for the car to be entered easly from either side.

A roomy rear deck provides ample space for packages, which is an additional convenience for milady's shopping. Its hinged caver is provided with a lock and is protected against dust an leaks.

Bob Vail, the famous news slinger of Bay Minette, and Mr. Jim Carney of Carney, Ala., Baldwin county, were in Clanton a few minutes last Friday afternoon en route to Birmingham. We doubt if they ever reached their destination since they left here in a Ford car just after that big rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Jones left Monday for Kosciusko, Miss., where they will visit the parents of the latter for a couple of weeks. Mr. Amzi Gowan of Brewton came up and accompanied them on the trip.

Child-birth

WHEN the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA-75, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. ACREAGE ADDED TO NATIONAL FOREST IN EAST AND SOUTH

The National Forest Reservation Commission at a meeting held July 7 authorized the purchase of 102,236 acres of forest land, offered by 77 different owners in nine States, at an average price of $4.16 per acre. In addition, the commission approved the extension of the Alabama National Forest so as to embrace 171,140 acres lying to the southward of the present boundary of that forest area, this acreage to be purchased in the future.

The purchases approved at the July 7 meeting of the commission bring the total area which is being acquired for National Forest purposes in the East up to 2,403,553. These purchases are made under authority of the Weeks Law passed by Congress in 1911, which provides for the United States Department of Agriculture to acquire forest land in the East and South mainly for the protection of watersheds of navigable rivers. The provisions of the Weeks Law were greatly extended by the Clarke-McNary Law passed by Congress last June.

Largest Purchase In Tennessee

The largest purchase approved by the commission is in Tennessee. It consists of 47,867 acres of which 41,970 acres are in Monroe County, 4,000 in Unicoi County, and 1,224 acres in Cooke County.

In Pennsylvania the purchase of 2,445 acres was approved. This acreage lies in McKean, Forest and Warren Counties which are located within the boundaries of the newly created Allegheny National Forest designed to protect the headquarters of the Allegheny Rivers, the most important tributary of the Ohio River from the north.

Southern Forests Extended

In West Virginia the purchase of 580 acres on the watershed of the Monongahela River and within the Monongahela Forest was approved. In Virginia 5,454 acres within Rockingham and Augusta Counties are to be purchased. In North Carolina 11,098 acres, consisting largely of a single tract in Transylvania County will be purchased and will become a part of the Pisgah National Forest.

In South Carolina 18,921 acres of timberland in Oconee County will be acquired. This acreage is situated in such a manner that its acquisition will materially promote the solidification of the Natahala National Forest.

In Arkansas 11,501 acres in Franklin, Stone, Pope, Newton, and Crawford Counties were approved for purchase, the largest tract being 9,140 acres of cut-over forest land in Franklin County. In Georgia a small tract in Union County was approved, and in Alabama 4,001 acres in Lawrence and Winston Counties will be purchased which will materially aid in protecting the Alabama National Forest from fire.

T. S. PEAVEY ARRESTED IN CLANTON FOR V. P. L.

Deputies Foshee and Culp and Police Curlee located and arrested T. S. Peavey, negro, in Clanton Saturday night for violating the prohibition laws. The officers were going up through the lumber yard at the rear of McCain's Stables when they ousted the negro, who ran out from between some lumber piles with a gallon jug in his hand. Peavey held on to the jug until he ran twenty or thirty yards, when he threw the jug down and burst it. The negro was chased around through the alleys for a few minutes and was arrested near Mullins and Moore's warehouse.

Peavey was carried and placed in jail, his bond being fixed at $1,000 and which he has failed to make. This is the third time this negro has been arrested on whiskey charges during the past few months.

CLANTON LAWYER IS APPOINTED AS U. S. ATTORNEY

Grady Reynolds Named As Successor To Samford In Middle District.

Washington, July 24.—Grady Reynolds, of Clanton, Ala., was appointed by President Coolidge today as United States attorney for the middle dist of Alabama.

Serves Six Years

Thomas D. Samford, the present United States attorney for the middle district of Alabama, a resident of Opelika, was appointed by the late President Woodrow Wilson on January 8, 1918. With the inauguration of President Harding Mr. Samford resigned on March 5, the day following the inauguration as is customary in the office. He heard nothing from his request for removal and again in November, 1921, he insisted that his resignation be accepted. He was informed that he would be relieved as soon as possible but the matter rested there for almost three years, making a record in Alabama for a Democrat to hold office practically throughout an entire Republican adminstration.

Mr. Samford in a statement to The Journal, Thursday noon, declared that he was glad the successor had been appointed because he had for some years desired to re-enter the private practice of law at Opelika, a lucrative profession he practically gave up when appointed to the United States service here.

The retiring attorney is one of the foremost Democrats of Alabama and has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for governor on several occasions. He has, however, consistently refused to run for the nomination. He is known as one of the ablest lawyers, active prosecutors and universally admired men of his section.

His successor, Grady Reynolds, of Clanton, is a prominent attorney of that place. He is a graduate of the University of Alabama and has been practicing his profession in Clanton for the past several years.

The appointment by which Mr. Reynolds comes to Montgomery is a recess appointment of the president and must be confirmed by the senate at its next session beginning December 4. It is thought that the appointment will take effect immediately.

MRS. W. A. LITTLEJOHN DIED SUDDENLY WEDNESDAY

On Wednesday morning of last week occurred the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Littlejohn, wife of W. A. Littlejohn of Clanton. Although Mrs. Littlejohn had been sick with pellegra for some time, her death was very unexpected. She got up Wednesday morning and attended to the things around the house, after which she died suddenly.

Mrs. Littlejohn was about 47 years old and was the mother of three children—one boy and two girls—all of whom survive her. Her husband is also living.

The remains were buried at Liberty Hill Cemetery Thursday morning, Rev. J. D. Hughes preaching the funeral. Mrs. Littlejohn was a faithful member of the Liberty Baptist Church.

CLANTON STILL BUILDING CONCRETE SIDE-WALKS

The first of this week the Town of Clanton's side-walk crew went to work and built a side-walk across the county's property in front of the sheriff's house on Sixth Street. The side-walk was completed from The Union-Banner office on south to First Avenue.

During the past two months, under the supervision of Engineer B. J. Penter of Birmingham, Clanton has built right around two miles of concrete side-walks in different parts of Clanton. The first work to be done was between the business part of town and the high school. After this was completed, the crew moved on the west side and constructed walks between town and the Grammar school. Now they are working on some small unfinished places in the business section.

It is the intention of the town to put in about two more miles of side-walks under the present program.

POULTRY CULLING POINTERS GIVEN BY J. D. SYKES

How To Distinguish Poor Layers From Good layers Is Explained. Culling Is Now Timely.

Auburn, Ala., July 28.—July, August, and September are the best months for culling farm poultry flocks, according to J. D. Sykes, Poultry Specialist for the Alabama Extension Service.

On culling for high egg production Mr. Sykes says: "To lay heavily a fowl must have a round body. All specimens that are scrawny, weak on the legs, light in weight, excessively fat, or which have deformities should be eliminated. It is well to dispose of birds with long toe nails, over-hanging eye lids, or any defect which handicaps them in their search for food. Long, slender head, or spindling shanks indicates lack of thrift and vigor. Such individuals cannot be profitable producers."

The following are named as distinct characteristics of good layers: Comb: Red, large, silky, full. Vent: White, large, moist. Eyes: Prominent, set well apart. Eyering: White. Ear lobe and beak: White. Face: Lean, from yellow colors. Shanks: White, thin and flat. Pelvic bone: Wide apart, soft and pliable. Pelvic to breast bone: Deep, full across abdomen. Skin: Thin, loose, absence of fat. Back: Broad, carried well back. Body: Deep, both front and rear. Plumage: Ragged, worn, late molt.

Low producers are identified as follows: Comb: Plate, shriveled. Vent: Yellow, small, dry. Eyes: Sunken, turned in toward beak. Eyerings: Yellow. Ear lobe and beak: Yellow. Face: Fleshy, yellow. Shanks: Yellow, round and full. Pelvic bone: Close together, hard and rigid. Pelvic to breast bone: Shallow or full of hard fat. Skin: Thick, underlaid with fat. Back: Narrow. Body: Shallow, round.

A number of people from Clanton attended the musicial concert given by Prof. Patton at Collins Chapel Tuesday night. The rest of the folks went to the Temple.

COMMISSIONERS OF COUNTY MEET AND DISCUSS OUR ROADS

Supervisors From All Beats And Other Citizens Here To Discuss Better Roads.

In connection with a meeting of the commissioners Court of Chilton County, a road meeting consisting of the road supervisors from all the different Beats of the county and the citizens of the county in general was held at the court house in Clanton Saturday. The whole county was represented, and the matter of road building was discussed both as to what has been done and what is the future program.

All the supervisors from the sixteen Beats of the county reported to the meeting what work had been done this year in their respective Beats, and several other prominent citizens spoke regarding the work in their communities. About a dozen of the mail carriers of the county were present and made very favorable reports of the condition of the roads on their routes.

The Commissioners court passed a new law the first of this year whereby the road of the county are being worked by taxation instead of the old system of the men putting in their time on the roads. The people as a whole are mighty well pleased with the new system, and so far it has proved to be a mighty good law.

Mr. J. P. Parrish of Clanton, who probably travels over the roads of the county more than any other one citizen expressed himself in the meeting saying the roads in general were 100 per cent better than they had been for the past thirteen years. Several other citizens said that more work had been done on the roads of their communities this year than ever been done before.

It is hoped by the road management of the county to have all the bad places in the roads graveled before the winter rains begin this fall. Each road supervisor gave the court an estimate of what it would take to finish putting his roads in shape to stand the winter rains, and the Commissioners hope, as much so as possible, to furnish the finincial aid to do this work.

This being a season of the year when the farmers are not busy with their crops, a number of citizens in almost every section of the county have agreed to furnish their labor as well as that of their teams on the roads in their communities at just half price to the county. The Commissioners passed a resolution authorizing the road supervisors to hire work on this basis. By this means lots of work will be done and the expense to the county will not be very heavy.

There are over 1,000 miles of road in Chilton County, and over half of this is now in very good shape. It is hoped that before winter practically all of the places which becomes muddy during rains will be graveled so that they will stand up under the wet weather and heavy traffic.

The people of the county are determined to have better roads. The new law has already proved to be successful and the people of the county are going to help the probate judge and Commissioners Court in making the roads still better. Chilton County is for good roads and they are going to build them.

AN ALA. DEMOCRAT PANS THE TARIFF PLANK IN LETTER

He Flays Platform Committee of Democrats Selected at Their National Convention.

Washington, July 29.—If there was a statesman worthy of the name at New York certainly it was not placed on the platform committee, declares G. T. McElderry of Birmingham, Ala., a Democrat and president of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union, Alabama Division. Mr. McElderry was particulary displeased with the tariff Plank of the New York Platform, and in a telegram to the Manufacturers Record, of Baltimore, in answer to a request for his views, did not mince words in telling what a poor opinion he had of the Democratic convention. He said, in part:

"It has been truly said that donkeys and fools never change." The Underwood low tariff permitted vegetable oils to come into this Country almost free, resulting in the impoverishment of farmers, bankrupting merchants, destroying the cottonseed oil industry and solidifying bank credits. Hundreds of millions of pounds of peanuts, peanut oil, soy bean oil was imported from Manchuria, absolutely destroying our market for cottonseed, peanuts and fats. There was practically no demand, and farms were sold for taxes and the doors of merchants were closed because the farmers could not cash their products to meet their obligations.

"The Fordney Emergency Tariff raised the price of cottonseed to $60 per ton and the price of peanuts to $140 per ton, with practically an unlimited demand, and yet the Democrats at New York were foolish enough to denounce the Fordney tariff, which had saved the South from bankruptcy.

"All credit to the Republican leaders for having patriotism enough to save the South from Democratic bungling and asinine theorists who pretend to represent the South in Congress. All farm tools, farm machinery, shoes, leather goods and harness used on the farm are on the free list, and 64 per cent in value of the commodities imported come in free under the Fordney-McCumber tariff, and yet our Democratic, so-called, statemen would bankrupt our syrup and sugar makers as in 1913, when 40,000 laborers in Louisiana were put up against starvation because of a theory, at a time when sugar could be bought for 4 cents per pound. They would put the rice and tobacco growers out of business, the poultry and hay raisers, the citrus-fruit growers and our entire Southern agricultural population would be placed on a competitive basis with cheap Chinese coolie labor that receives 8 cents to 10 cents as a daily wage. Our laborers in the factories and shops would be placed on a competitive basis with the pauper labor of Europe and forced to live on their low standard, with a wage so low that we farmers could not sell our products at even the present low price, which price is driving hundreds of thousands of farmers annually to the cities to congest the population and raise still higher the cost of living.

"The platform committee, instead of deciding on some definite policy and suggesting a constructive plan to rehabilitate agriculture, contented itself with denouncing the Republican party for its failure to enact a law, and think the farmers will be content to support the Democratic party as in the past on promises. The farmers have decided to look out for statesmen and give the machine politicians, owned by corporations, a little vacation to enable them to study economics.

"The policy of the Eastern Democrats is to have free trade as far as is practicable, so as to get our gold back to Europe, that European nations may pay the loans made by Wall Street banks to European countries."

FIRST MAIL PLANE REACHES CHICAGO FROM SOUTHLAND

Banks Arrange Test Trip From North to South—May be Made Permanent.

Chicago, July 29.—The first air mail from Nashville Tenn., arrived this morning at 8:30 a. m., Chicago daylight siving-time, after a fight of 400 miles by Lieutenants Pincent Meloy and Herbery Fox in 3 hours and 29 minutes.

The experimental flight which Nashville postal authorities and bankers hope to make a regular service between the Tennessee city and Chicago, was made in excellent flying weather and without the slightest mishap and in fast time, Lieutenant Fox said.

The aviators carried $530,000 in banking items on which much time is saved by air mail. The federal reserve bank and the American National bank of Nashville arranged the experimental flight in co-operation with Postmaster O'Callaghan of Nashville and the One Hundred and Third Observation Squadron, Tennessee national guard, to which Lieutenant Fox is attached. Lieutenant Meloy is a regular army aviator.

The plane brought 150 pounds of mail. Postal officials now are obtaining data on the volume of mail between Chicago and Nashville, which normaly is heavy and working out details to be laid bafore the department at Washington in connection with the proposal for a regular service.

Colonel Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general, in inaugurating the trans-continental air mail a month ago, indicated that he expected a network of air mail routes radiating from Chicago over a radius of not more than 1,000 miles to be established eventually. Lieutenants Meloy and Fox took off at 3 p. m., daylight saving time for Nashville on the return trip.

With better lights in the farm home, the city's bright won't seem half so attractive.

MRS. SY WATLEY DEAD AS RESULT AUTO ACCIDENT

Big Car Smashes Into Ford Occupied By Mr. and Mrs. Watley and Baby Near Jemison.

Mrs. Wreatha Watley died in the Central Alabama Hospital Sunday night at 10 o'clock as a result of an automobile wreck which occurred near Jemison Sunday. Mrs. Watley's baby, four months old, is not expected to live, having also sustained injuries in the accident.

It is reported that Mr. Sy Watley with his wife and baby were on the road between Mars Hill and Jemison traveling in a Ford car, when a large car came up behind them and blew the horn for the road. Mr. Watley steered his car to one side of the road. The large car, coming at a fast speed, ran into the rear of the Ford, turning the latter over and pinning the three occupants underneath. Mr. Watley succeeded in getting out, and with the help of some pedestrians lifted the car from his wife and baby. Both Mrs. Watley and the baby were rushed to Clanton to the hospital for attention. Mrs. Watley later died, and the baby is in a very precarious condition.

Reports say that the large automobile never as much as checked up after knocking the Ford out of the road and turning it over. The people in the large car were said to have been headed toward Centerville.

The remains of Mrs. Watley, under the charge of Martin, undertaker of Clanton, were buried at Pates Chapel cemetery near Jemison Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Watley was 20 years old and was the daughter of Mr. J. M. Robinson of Jemison. She was the mother of only the one child which was hurt with her in the accident Mr. Watley was only slightly injured, reports say.

FRIENDSHIP CHURCH

The protracted meeting at Friendship church closed last Friday when four additions to the shurch were baptized. The preaching for the revival was done by Rev. M. W. Mims, who delivered some very fine sermons during the series of meetings.

The Sunday School was reorganized at this church last Sunday. Mr. J. D. Collins was elected Superintendent of the Sunday School.

Prof. Dewey Huett's singing school closed at this place last Saturday. Although not as largely attended as some, Prof. Huett's school was good and served quite an advancement in the singing ability of the young people of the community.

FORMER PASTOR SUPPLIES BAPTIST PULPIT

Rev. P. G. Carter, former pastor of the Clanton Baptist Church, will speak at both services at the Baptist church next Sunday, Aug. 3rd. He is supplying for the pastor, Rev. S. J. Ezell, who is away visiting his parents and his wife's people. Pastor Carter and his newly wed wife will arrive in Clanton Aug. 2nd, and be in Clanton a few days with their many friends.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Since our last letter we had a fine motor trip to and through Berkshire Valley, one of the beauty spots of northern New Jersey. Many people have heard of the Berkshire Hills in western Massachusetts, which we visited two years ago this summer and some of our Alabama friends will remember our description of the beauties of that section. Where there are hills there is quite apt to be valleys, but the Massachusetts hills are much larger than New Jersey hills and they are more attractive because of their cultivation and the greater range of vision over mountain and plain.

The New Jersey hills are smaller, more wooded and so filled with cabble stone and boulders as to make them of little value for farming, but they do furnish dandy sites for camp-Scouts, Girl Scouts, Child welfare organizations, and tourists occupy many of the desirable places on the hill tops or sides overlooking the valley with its picturesque stream and many small lakes.

A large section of the valley has been evidently under the hand of a landscape gardener, who has used his art just enough to emphasize the natural beauty of the scenery asd make it correspond with the rugged style of architecture employed in all the buildings located on the great estate of one of the Ringling Brothers, who are known all over the country to old and young as "The Circus Men."

The large house with its out-buildings, the garages, the great barns, the fences and whatever else has been built on the estate, are made of Cobble stones and boulders taken from the adjacent hills. So perfectly have these assorted and vari colored stones been laid in the walls that their exterior surfaces present an even surface, and the structures are liable to stand 1000 years.

We were told that once a year, in winter, the Ringling family, who reside here, keep open house for a season, when everybody is invited to make them a visit . This being off season for receptions, we were not invited in for refreshments.

We were told that the huge barns and other buildings were used in winter to house many animals which are used in the menagerie which always compose a very interesting part of the great shows.

We have a very lively recollection of a visit to this aggregation made to Chicago about 25 years ago, when Prof. Lockhart who then had charge of the several elephants, invited the writer to attend a private rehersal and make photographs of these unique creatures as he put them through their daily stunts in preparation for the afternoon and evening performances, as we were anxious to secure something attractive to be used in advertising. Having secured about a dozen pictures showing one or more in various poses we concluded we had enough, such as they were. We made our prints and laid them before our prospective customer, Mr. John Hamlin, proprietor of Hamlins Wizard Oil Company. Mr. Hamlin had given us a circular containing a picture of an elephant seated on his haunches holding a bottle of Wizard Oil in his trunk and ostensibly drinking from it. He said it was their trademark which had been in use 40 years, and he would like something as near like it as a live elephant could be made to assume. Prof. Lockhart laughed at it and said it was an anatomical impossibility for an elephant to get himself into any such position. When I showed my picture to Mr. Hamlin he did not like any of them —they were so different from what he had expected. We told him what the man who knew elephants had said. He replied "That cannot be so —I paid a Boston artist $500 to make the original of that picture for me."

We suggested: "If your elephant has been taking Hamlins Wizard Oil for forty years and the stuff is any good he ought to be able to get up and walk."

All right, he said, "See what you do." Next morning when they came out for their street parade with the biggest one at the head of the procession, with a man astride his neck, the elephant swinging along at a good gait with every fiber of his bulky form alive, we snapped a picture of him and got something really good. This we took to an artist, asked him to make an artist's proof in colors, putting a gold bordered red blanket on the beast, and dressing the man up in the garb of a native of India. Then put a Hoodah on the animal's back and pile on something less than a carload of boxes of Hamlins Wizard Oil, addressed to Singapore, Bombay, Calcutta & Co. The artist carried out instructions to the letter.

When we showed Mr. Hamlin the results of our efforts, he was more than pleased and gave $500 immediately, and duplicated it before the first was finished.

He also ordered Electrotypes of it and adopted it as their "Trademark" and in addition used it as a model from which to have a great number of Papier Machie, elephants standabout three feet high, to be displayed in the window of any customer who ordered a certain number of cases of Wizard Oil. Their advertising man told us later it was the biggest hit they ever struck in advertising, sold more goods than any plan they ever had. Do you wonder that we are interested in Ringlings Circus.

Today, we had another ride and a visit to the New Jersey Hospital for Mental Defectives. When I told them we represented Alabama Newspapers, we were most cordially received and shown all the courtesies possible in the limited time we had to stay. This great institution now has 3,300 patients under treatment, 106 of them being ex-service men. In addition to this there are a small army of nurses and attendants. Both male and female patients are received and given the best of care so far as can be done in very crowded quarters. New buildings costing $2,000,000 are now in process of erection, and plans are under way for the expenditure of another million in the near future.

This Hospital is located at Morris Plains, a suburb of Morristown, New Jersey. The grounds comprise several hundred acres of hills and valleys, very picturesque and laid out with extensive lawns, flower beds, driveways and walks amid an abundance of shade trees in great variety. In fact it is a beautiful park, besides an extensive farm and gardens. At the back part of the premises we saw a high and very substantial wire fence, evidently designed as much to keep people out as in, at the front or park side we saw no fences whatever. A small number of guards, in civillian clothes, were in evidence.

We were told that the policy of government in the institution was to employ as little restaint on the patients as was compatible with the safety of themselves and the community. The nurses and attendants always speak to them with a soft voice and in a cheerful manner, that inspires self respect among the patients. Work is provided for every one who is willing to work but there is no compulsion in the matter not even as to the kind of work they shall do. For those who prefer outside work there is the farm, the various gardens, a large dairy besides the new building operations which afford employment for most of the men under competent supervision. Inside working, under a master painter, others were working re-decorating the entire interior of one of the great buildings.

Mental sickness may or may not affect the physical condition of the patient. Most of the people in this hospital are capable of doing some kind of work and congenial employment is considered one of the elements of successful treatment provided the patient is willing to do anything. Forcible employment creates resentment, anger, and reacts unfavorably on the mental condition of the patient, while voluntary work at something they like to do keeps the mind employed and has soothing and healing effect. When a patient becomes so refractory as to require restraint they have a novel treatment that seldom fails to be effective. They have a large room fitted up with a dozen or more of good bath tubs for which the water, at about 90 degrees, just comfortably warm, is supplied from a single station in the room, having an attachment for each tub, and all under the supervision of one attendant, who keeps the water in the tubs at the required temperature.

In each tub there is a large and heavy canvass blanket so arranged that it can be fastened around the patient like a bag leaving only the head sticking out. The warm bath has a very soothing effect and the patient soon quiets down and often falls asleep. So it can be seen that the forcible bath is not a punishment, but a treatment that is good for the patient. One might wonder what kind of work they can furnish that such people can do with credit to themselves or the institution. We were shown a part of their department of "Occupational Therapeutics" in the male section, here were men engaged in making Rugs of various material and sizes, and good ones too. Others made brooms and scrub brushes, still others Cocoa Mats for porch doors, Chair work was in evidence, Cane seats and brick chairs gathered up from homes and furniture stores sent in to be repaired. Split bottom chairs and large rockers with bottom and back neatly renewed. Toys in great variety are turned out at the season when there in likely to be a market for them. Many of them are devised by the patients and show remarkable ingeneuity.

Another interesting feature of their work is woven willow ware in great variety and all of a very substatial character. They make baskets of many kinds, chairs and tables of intricate pattern. The guide we had told us that the patients grow the willows, about six tons annually, cure and peel them, and some of them are split on an ingenious little machine made by one of the patients.

Next comes carpentery and machine work; we saw a very pretentious childs play house made by one of the men who had modeled it from a picture and drawings of a Bungalow he had seen in a book. A marvelous piece of work shown us was a complete working model of a steam yacht, about four feet long and 18 in. wide, made by a patient from scraps of material he had picked up about the premises. The little boiler and engine were all in place, ready for business, the deck was made of two or more kinds of wood inlaid, neately finished and varnished. A neat and tidy little craft that would run all right. Whatever is made is sent to the sales room, if not made on orders. State furnish what is called a revolving fund of $2000 for supplies for this department. Sales are applied to repayment of this fund annually, whatever is received over and above that amount goes to pay for entertainments for the patients.

They have a large hall with a band platform and once a week they have dancing, when men and women are premitted to mingle and enjoy themselves, under the eyes of unobtrusive attendants. At other times they have Moving Picture entertainments, sometimes lectures. Every Sunday afternoon there is a meeting in the large chapel where some minister, priest or rabbi conducts religious service. These meetings are intended to give every one an opportunity to have some religions service conducted under the guidance of one of their own faith. This is as it should be in an institution supported by tax payers.

The ex-service men live in a ward by themselves. They have a Piano, Phonograph and a fine Radio set. The ward consists of long corridors with rooms on either side. The rooms are comfortably furnished, most of them are bedrooms occupied by two or three men each having a cot bed. Each ward has its own dining room. but in the new buildings, prevision is made for congregate, dining rooms. We have said little about the women in the institution. We spent all of the time we had in the men's ward, but were told that the women were similarily cared for.

CLANTON LOSES HARD GAME

The Clanton baseball team met defeat at the hands of the Gantt's Quarry outfit Monday on the latter's ground at Sylacauga, by the score of 3 to 2. Clanton scored first, but a succession of errors soon gave Sylacauga the lead which was never recovered. Lewis, on the mound for Clanton, was brilliant, getting one three-base hit and hitting another which he tried to stretch into a homer and was out at the plate by inches, while allowing the enemy only two hits and striking out eleven men. Clanton had men on bases in almost every inning, getting eight hits, but could not come across when a hit meant a score. The Quarry team did not earn a run, and are not in our class, as we trampled them last Thursday 14 to 1, against their close decision Monday.

Cooperative marketing obtains results not by any magical power but by good business methods through united effort to common problems. This fact points to the importance of observing carefully the requirements for success.

SILURIA WOMAN KILLED BY TRAIN NEAR SILURIA

Teacher Struck By Engine After Seeing Brother Off

Miss Ellen Wooten, age 25, school teacher at Siluria, Ala., was instantly killed at 10 o'clock Sunday morning when she was struck by No. 1, Louisville & Nashville passenger train at a crossing, two blocks above the Siluria railroad station.

Miss Wooten, who lives three miles from town, had come to Siluria with a young brother, who was going to Montgomery. After leaving the boy at the station, she started home and drove across the track in a buggy and directly in front of the fast passenger train. The buggy was carried about 80 feet down the track.

The body was turned over to Walker & Sons, undertakers, at Siluria, and funeral services were held Monday. She is survived by her parents and several brothers and sisters.

TO MY FRIENDS AND PATRONS:

I will be out of my office during the month of August, in Chicago taking a special course in the diseases of children at the Children's Memorial Hospital.

Boils

THERE is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S. S. S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S. S. S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-blood. Fighting-blood destroys impurities. It fights boils. It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It always wins! Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th street, Washington, D. C., writes:

"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows:

"I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed.

CARDUI

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . . she suffered so little pain.

"My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."

Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists'.

CHILTON COUNTY TRAINING SCHOOL BUILDING (COLORED)

THE above is a likeness of the new building erected for the Chilton County Training School by the negroes of Chilton County, with the help of the white people, together with State aid. It is a six-room frame building, cost of building and equipment amounting to around $7,000. It is located on the Ben Brown place, near Highland school house, 4 1-2 miles south-west of Clanton.

The principal of the schiol is I. B. Bryant, graduate of Fiske University and the University of Chicago. To begin with there will be four teachers this year, and it is expected that another will be added. The buidling will accommodate 300 pupils.

The equipment is up-to-date in every respect. The school opens this year on September 29th. A catalog and course of study is being prepared which will be mailed out within a short time.

CLANTON WINS ANOTHER

The Clanton baseball team swamped the Columbiana aggregation to the tune of 12 to 3 last Tuesday on the former's ground. It looked as it were going to be a good game until the third inning when Fulton, pitching for Columbiana, weakened, letting in enough runs to tie. After that the Columbiana pitchers seemed afraid to put 'em across the platter, while the Clanton players got dizzy running in circles. Watkins worked well all thru the game, never weakening. Several Clanton men received free passes to first, five of them coming in succession. These, with several errors and timely hitting accounted for the heavy scoring.

Snuff boxes, as far as one locality in Walker county is concerned, have come back into favor. A rattlesnake, one of the largest ever found in that county, struck at J. D. Riddlesperger, a prominent farmer living near Sipsey river. It hit a snuff box in the farmer's hip pocket.

City manager government for Birmingham is proposed by William M. Lindsay, a well-known figure in city and county politics, as a substitute for the modified mayor-aldermanic type advocated by the forces led by Hunter Armstrong and Judge Horace Wilkinson.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS

Charging that he lost his job with the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company as the result of a garnishment run on his wages by the defendants, B. F. Roberts filed suit in the Jefferson circuit court to recover $25,000 as damages from W. C. McCarty and R. E. McCarty, trading under the name of McCarty Brokerage company. Roberts set out in his petition that he borrowed $25 from the defendants; that he paid back $60, and that they claimed he still owed $25, for which the garnishment was secured. He asks for judgment for an additional sum of $75 with interest for money he alleges defendants received from him in 1923 and 1924.

In a liquor raid made in the vicinity of Bull's Gap, near Talladega Deputy Berry Campbell and Enforcement Officer John H. Draper and H. G. Garrett discovered a double distilling outfit, the only one of its kind ever seized in Talladega county. It was in operation when the officers captured it. DeWitt Harding and Lee Bryant were placed under arrest and four gallons of liquor seized. Mr. Campbell, who has been connected with the Talladega sheriff's office for five years, said that this outfit was the first one making pure doubled distilled corn liquor he has ever seen raided. Harding and Bryant were released under a $500 bond.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Farley and son, Berber, have just returned from Qubec, La., where they visited their daughter, Mrs. E. A. Thimas. They motored through in their car, visiting Meridian, Jackson, and Vicksburg, Miss., and other points of interest. Mr. Farley states the roads are in fairly good condition and lots of miprovements being made. The crops are very giod but need rain badly. They were accompanied home by Mrs. Thimts, who will make them an extended visit.

Watermelons are fine this year. It looks as though some good farmer would take mercy on a one-gallassed editor and present him with a good sample. We have not got a free watermelon this year. Who will start the ball to rolling?

The season for protracted meetings has come. But the season for religious revivals seem to have come and gone. It has been going for several years. People used to hitch up old Jerry and Mike to the wagon and drive miles to big meetings for the purpose of listening to the sermons and getting religion. Now they crank up the Lizzie and drive tens of miles to big meetings just to see the folks and be seen. Men and women used to shout for joy when sinners repented and joined the church. Now it would be a shame to shout even if those steeped in sin should melt to tears and repentance. What has really become of that good, old-time shouting religion?

GREAT SWING TO COOLIDGE AND DAWES

Washington, July 28. — Reports received in Washington from Republican editors throughout the country giving a review of the political situation in their several localities are extremely favorable auguries of a splendid Republican victory in November. The reviews of the political outlook were not given for political effect but as an accurate statement of conditions soon after the three tickets were named. Local public opinion as gathered by editors shows the line of reasoning voters adopt. The fact that Republican editors do not underestimate the possible effect of the Third Party ticket shows that their statements have been made with an effort to picture the situation accurately rather than for the purpose of building up a spirit of optimism.

Briefly summed up, the concensus of opinion gathered from hundreds of letters from editors is that Republicans generally are not only satisfied but highly pleased with the nominees of their party; that there are many Democrats who are dissatisfied with one or the other of their party nominees; that there are many Democrats who will vote for Coolidge and Dawes but no Republican will vote for Davis and Bryan; that there are both Republicans and Democrats who will vote for LaFollette, but that LaFollette will draw far more from the Democrats than from the Republicans; and that the November election will result either in a majority in the electoral college for Coolidge or in no election at all, thus throwing the election into the House of Representatives or the Senate.

The only States in which there is a belief that the third party ticket may prevail are Wisconsin, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Montana. But even in these it is not considered at all certain that such will be the outcome. Not in any Western State is the opinion expressed that there is a possibility of the Democratic ticket winning.

Here are a few excerpts from letters from various sections of the country showing the feelings of voters and the reasons why they take the position they do.

From Missouri. "There is an unusually strong feeling among the common people that Coolidge believes he is right and so believing he has and exercises the courage of his convictions. The rank and file admire that kind of a man though they may at times disagree with him. Such a man can be trusted and officials who do command the public confidence are now in demand."

From Michigan: "I have talked with several Democrats here—men who are not active politicians but have been voting and supporting the Democratic ticket consistenly. They like Davis but they like Coolidge and his reputation better and they like the Republican record at Cleveland better than the Democratic record at New York, therefore, they are going to vote for Coolidge. I take it this trend is quite general and I think the disaffection on the farm has been considerably exaggerated."

From Oklahoma: "The results of the late Democratic National Convention will be a distinct aid to the success of the Republican ticket. The spineless and platitudinous platform, the tumultuous and tedious convention, developing bitterness of a nature which will rankle and will not readily be healed; the nomination of Davis as a result of desperation, and coupling him with a man who is the very antithesis of all Mr. Davis stands for; the palpable and puerile effort to placate the erstwhile 'Peerless Leader' by the nomination of his obscure brother—all must have their effect upon the thinking voters of the country, and we still believe there are enough such to have a considerable effect upon the ultimate result. The Republican ticket represents the spirit of the best elements in this country today who are anxious for a business-like, honest, economical government. Economy is the watchword, and the purpose and administration of Calvin Coolidge in that regard are beyond criticism. Dawes undoubtedly adds strength to the ticket. Predictions of the effect of the LaFollette Third Party candidacy are mainly based on wild guesses."

From Kansas: "The fearless stand of President Coolidge on all public questions has banished all doubt with the people of this country regardless of political affiliation to the extent that I do not believe there is the least question that he will poll an exceedingly heavy vote among the Democrats at the fall election. I have had many life-long Democrats tell me they are going to vote for him in November."

From Nebraska: "Nonimating Governor Bryan on the Democratic ticket will not detract from President Coolidge. It means a split in the pink vote."

From South Dakota: "If public sentiment can be judged by the talk on the streets, Davis will run third in the race. The Democrats can not stomach Davis."

From North Dakota: "The fight in North Dakota will be between Coolidge and LaFollette. The radical element of the Republican Party is strong for the Wisconsin Senator but at that I think Coolidge will have a chance to win. People are beginning to realize that our President is a man of works instead of words and that he is consistant in his efforts at tax reduction."

From Texas: "Within the last thirty days I have traveled in many parts of Texas and everywhere I have heard leading Democrats declare the purpose to vote for Coolidge. I have never known such universal faith bestowed on any national character as seemes to be reposed in Mr. Coolidge by the masses of the people of this State, without regard to party affiliations."

From Nevada: "So far as Nevada is concerned McAdoo was the favorite of the Democracy. The nomination of Davis will I believe, send a considerable vote, mostly from the Democratic ranks to the LaFollette ticket making the prospect of winning the State for Coolidge very good."

From Colorado: "I have been noting in the editorial tone of my Democratic exchanges as they came in the past few days and find very little spontaneous commendation of the result of the New York convention. I have yet to find a conscientious Democrat who believes that their candidate has a chance to win in the coming election. The country seemes to be perfectly satisfied with Coolidge and the success attained by the Republican Administration and I believe Coolidge will poll the normal Republican votes as well as a great many Democrats. The LaFollette movement will draw more from the strength of the Democratic candidates than from the Republicans. Republicans generally are contented. Democrats are disconted and will refuse to get solidly and enthusiastically behind their ticket."

From Arkansas: "Political lines are so plainly drawn that even he with half a mind may easily find natural affiliation, and the coterie of parties and isms make all the more resplendent the candidacy of Coolidge and Dawes as safe and sane leaders of patriotic Americans. In Arkansas there is a surprising sentiment for Coolidge and his policies."

From Pennsylvania: "On the whole we hear that the nomination of Davis and Bryan will throw a goodly percentage of Democrats into the Third Party movement but will not take away a single Republican from Coolidge and Dewes. Unless time produces change now unseen Coolidge and Dawes will be elected by a larger vote than that with which Harding won over Cox, and I believe the stressing of what would happen if the election were forced to Congress would add hundreds of thousands of votes to our party by voters who want to make sure that such chaos can not occur."

From up-State New York: "The feeling unmistakably prevalent is that the Democrats have completely shattered the confidence of the people. There is little loyalty to the party expressed in this community. On the other hand there is a wonderfully composed confidence in the character and ability of Calvin Coolidge. The local Democratic town committeeman thinks Davis is a good man, but that everyone has confidence in Coolidge and that he can not be beaten. I agree with him."

From New Jersey: "There are many Democrats here who are going to vote the Coolidge ticket and many are saying that the party has been all shot to b—. Here in this section of New Jersey the voters are nearly all talking Coolidge and that is a strong and convincing indication that his leadership will carry the Republican party to victory."

From Ohio: "In this section Mr. Coolidge seems to be quite popular, even among the Democrats. The LaFollette-Bryan combination will have the effect of solidifying the vote of the sensible people of the country in favor of the Republican ticket as the possibilities expressed that LaFollette will cary enough States to throw the election into the House of Representatives and place the country at the mercy of the insurgent—Democrats will have a deterrent effect as against both the other parties."

From Ohio: "There is admiration more than party-wide for the silent man who shoots straight and plays fair. I personally know a dozen men who fought the President bitterly in the pre-bonus days who declare they will vote for him because he says what he thinks and thinks what he says. And there is something almost Rooseveltian in the personality of General Dawes that attracts and holds the younger men of all parties. This is an agricultural district, peopled with old New England stock, and they have more faith in a structure built brick by brick than by rubbing any Aladdin's lamp. There is little sympathy here for LaFollette and his principles."

From Iowa: "President Coolidge stands high in the estimation of all the people. They like his honesty and thriftness and his determination to save the people's money. Davis is of good Presidential timber but there is nothing about him to appeal to a Republican above Coolidge."

From Iowa: "Davis is a strong man personally but will not appeal to Western Democrats who will turn to LaFollette in large numbers in the cities and towns. Most Republicans will stay with their ticket as they admire Coolidge for his stand for economy and his courage of conviction. Democrats are not satisfied. Republicans are."

From Wyoming: "The situation could not be better so far as Republicans ae concerned. The Democratic Party is defeated before it starts in. LaFollette has no construtive appeal to anybody that would be with us at election time. The people gennerally are much pleased with Coolidge and Dawes, have every confidence in them, and desire them to be the President and Vice President."

From New Hampshire: "I have had a number of dyed-in-the-wool Democrats tell me they are for Coolidge first, last and all the time, and I think a big majority of the people will be found in line for him on election day in November."

From Connecticut: "In attempting to satisfy all of their widely separated factions, the Democrats seem to have satisfied none. The people want a continuation of the sort of administration that Calvin Coolidge has given them thus far."

From Illinois: "The people feel that both the Republican candidates are honest, capable, loyal American citizens. What more could the vote ask for? The rank and file over the country have a deep-seated conviction that Coolidge is safe and that he will not spend two dollars where one will do the work. I have talked with many Democrats in this section who are going to vote for Coolidge."

Form Montana: "Democrats in number have stated their intention to vote for Coolidge because they consider him a level-headed, conscientious President. Even the ex-service men give him credit for having the courage of his convictions."

From California: "Unless there is a tremendous and totally unexpected reversal of public opinion 'twixt now and election, California will go overwhelmingly for Coolidge and Dawes. Democrats are disgusted. Nothing to worry about in the Pacific Coast States. I hear a world of Collidge and Dawes talk and much favorable comment upon them, whereas I hear nothing but condemnation for the other ticket. Do not think I am basing this on my conversation with my friends who are Republicans, but, on the contrary, have talked with many Democrats, and have based my opinion on this."

From Oregon: "Have yet to hear a Democrat say Davis has a chance."

ATTENDS CHEVROLET MEET IN ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Mr. Sie Foshee, salesman for Polk Brothers, went over to Atlanta last Friday an attended the Convention of Chevrolet Salesmen held in that city. The convention was given by the Atlanta branch of Chevrolet sales to the salesmen and dealers of Alabama and Georgia.

The program consisted of speeches by men of ability on the methods of salesmanship for Chevrolet cars. At the noon hour lunch was served to 86 salesmen and dealers.

Mr. Foshee reports that he had a very enjoyable and instructive trip. He says that he can sell more Chevrolets now, after having attended this convention.

SPENDING THE WEEK ON COOSA RIVER FISHING

Mr. W. M. Wyatt came down to Clanton from Fort Payne last Friday. This week he, together with K. M. Vinson, T. G. Wyatt, J. M. Wyatt and others are spending the week at their camp near the mouth of Walnut Creek fishing. At this writing, we had not heard what luck they were having, but we venture to say that they are having a nice time on the outing, whether they are catching many fish or not. Among their paraphernalia they have a Johnson Detachable motor with them to take them from hook to hook and to glide around up an down the river at leisure times. We are sure that they are having some fun. The editor of The Union - Banner hopes to join them the last of the week.

190 Paid Out by the Railroads every time the Clock Ticks-

Just a few years ago, the expression, "A billion dollar Congress", startled the people of this Nation. It seemed beyond the bounds of reason that this staggering sum of money would be required to run our Government.

Compare this figure with the fact that in 1923 the railroads of America distributed six billion dollars — a sum nearly twice as great as the entire expenditures of the National Government during that year.

Of this sum more than one billion dollars, representing new capital, practically all of which was borrowed, was invested in new equipment, new tracks, and added facilities. Out of the earnings of the railroads, approximately two billion dollars were expended for fuel, steel, lumber and other supplies. More than three billion dollars went for wages; and approximately $336,000,000 was paid in taxes. Brought down to the smallest fraction of time, this staggering sum of six billion dollars represents an expenditure on the part of the railroads in your prosperity, and in the general prosperity of the Nation, of approximately $190 every time the clock ticks.

Reduced to the same unit of time, the Louisville & Nashville Railroad, in 1923, spent in the operation of its properties $3.67 per second, or a total of $317,000 per day—which figure includes labor, taxes, fuel and supplies, but does not include the $31,600,000 invested last year in new equipment and improvements to L. & N. property.

Remember that the railroads put more money into circulation than any other American institution; and that in one family out of every fifteen the bread-winner is a railroad employee.

FREE SPRINGS

Crops are looking much better as we have had several good rains recently.

Messrs. Roy and Phares Raybon, Randolph Cox, Daniel Prim and Truly Brown had a most enjoyable time on their fishing trip last Saturday, they having caught 39 fish. They had fish for their dinner and then brought the largest string of fish home that we have seen in a long time.

Mrs. Bessie Dow of Selma is visiting her mother, Mrs. Sam Watson.

Mrs. T. J. Headley and children are spending several days with her mother and father.

J. W. Prim and family from Weogufka spent several days lately with home folks.

Randolph Cox of Plantersville and Daniel Prim of Randolph are spending several days with Roy Raybon.

Virdie Brown has moved back from Perry County and is sawing lumber for Mr. Tobe Posey.

J. C. Prim and W. H. Raybon motored to Clanton Saturday.

We are looking forward to a good meeting next week; so let's don't forget the time and place.

MR. LANDE GONE TO MARKET TO PURCHASE NEW GOODS

Mr. Maurice Lande of the Leader has gone to eastern markets to buy goods for his new store. Before leaving Mr. Lande stated that he was going to buy goods for the cash and will sell them to the people of Chilton county at prices that make you stop, look and listen.

He said that he was going to scour the market for new, first-class dry goods and ready-to-wear, and will assure you that styles and prices will be the best. Wait and see the values he has up his sleeve when he returns from the market.

FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE ASS'N MOVES TO NEW OFFICES

The office of the Farmers Co-operative Association was moved this week from the second floor of the New Hayes Building, Clanton, to the room recently occupied by Dr. Hayes on the ground floor of the Exchange Hotel building next to Mr. Hugh Jones' store.

This office will be open for business every day from now on and every farmer is invited to come around and get acquainted with us if he is not already acquainted. We will be glad to tell you just how we can help you.

We aim to make this office the business center for the farmers of this county and in the course of time we hope to do practically all of our buying and selling through this office at a very small expense.

Look for our letters in future issues of this paper telling the principles of this our own organization. Then join with your neighbors in the handling of our own business by and for ourselves.

Yours for more profitable farming,
Farmers Co-operative Assn.

NOTICE TO FARMERS

The meeting that had been announced for last Saturday afternoon has been postponed to Saturday of next week, August 9th, at 1:30, p.m. The meeting will be held in the court house in Clanton.

At this meeting Mr. N. H. Brown, chief of the Alabama State Bureau of Markets, will speak on our marketing problems as well as our other farm problems. Also Mr. J. M. Smith of Thorsby and Mr. W. T. Bean of Clanton will speak on strawberry production and marketing.

Remember the date, Saturday, August 9, at 1:30, p.m. Everyone is invited to come.

CONCERT AT WALNUT CREEK CHURCH SATURDAY NIGHT

On next Saturday night, August 2, the music class of Prof. W. M. Devaughn will present for the public's approval a concert at Walnut Creek Church, three miles north-east of Clanton. The program will consist of solos, duets, quartets and choruses. An admission of 25c and 35c will be charged, the proceeds from which will go to the church.

Prof. Devaughn has been teaching a very successful singing school at Walnut for the past few weeks. His enrollment was close to one hundred, and according to reports, the school has been a decided success. The public has a cordial invitation to come out and get a sample of the work that has been done in this school.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

A great family reunion was held last week at Union Chapel, six miles east of Jasper, when the Black family held their annual reunion. This reunion was well attended by hundreds of visitors from every section of the county and some visitors from other counties were present. A feature of the reunion was the picnic lunch served. Several prominent speakers made short addresses.

The Walker County Creamery, one of Walker county's most thriving enterprises, begun making creamery butter last week. This new butter making plant is one of the best equipped in North Alabama. The creamery started with making 75 pounds a day and the business is growing rapidly. According to the officials it will be only a short time before they will be making 250 or 300 pounds daily.

Recent seizure by Sheriff Cazalas of Mobile and his deputies of the liquor amounting to 100 cases aboard the United States Shipping Board boat "Saccarappi" has raised an interesting legal problem. Solicitor Bart Chamberlain announced that he is investigating the matter with a view to finding out whether the state can issue condemnation proceedings against the vessel.

Travel over the Roy bridge on the Birmingham-Montgomery highway can be resumed in about two weeks, according to announcement of Thomas S. Edwards, county engineer. The bridge has been closed to traffic since repairs were started more than two months ago. The bridge will be a free one in the future, it having been taken over by the state and Montgomery county.

The Staples & Cunningham lime works at Limrock have begun operations. The raw material is there in abundance, and this new industry for Jackson county promises to be prosperous and successful. A number of years ago lime was manufactured at that place by F. O. Hurt and this lime was greatly in demand all over the country.

Dr. G. B. Stewart, who owns an apple orchard on Manchester Star Route, near Clar Creek Falls, in Walker county, stated that the outlook for a bumper apple crop this year was bright. Dr. Stewart expects to harvest not less than 4,000 bushels of apples this season, on which he expects to realize upwards of $2 a bushel on an average.

S. V. Bacon and Miss Lillian Held of New York have leased Rahe's lake near Attalla and will convert it into one of the largest pleasure resorts in the state, it is announced. The lake will be enlarged to cover 10 acres and improvements calling for expenditures of $15,0000 will be made.

A petition was docketed with the Public Service commission by the Silver Hill garage, C. N. Anderson, proprietor, seeking permission to establish an electric generating and distribution system in the town of Silver Hill. The petition was set for hearing at Montgomery August 5.

The board of trustees of the Alabama school of trades left Gadsden without having selected a site but will hold another meeting within 10 days to finish the work. It is understood the trustees eliminated all the sites offered except two and one of these will be purchased shortly.

The Chopin club of Mobile, has been busy during the Summer months organizing a symphony orchestra. This orchestra consists of about 30 of Mobile's best musicians. Rehearsals are being held regularly and quite an attractive program will be given the early part of September.

A flag raising ceremony at which Congressman Lamar Jeffers will be the chief speaker, will feature the opening of the annual encampment of the boys and girls 4-H clubs of Cleburne county, which will be held on the Tallapoosa river on August 7, 8 and 9.

The last of the brick kilns ordered built at a meeting of the stockholders of the Alabama Brick and Tile company some months ago at Albany-Decatur, is now completed, bringing the possible production of the plant of the company to twice what it was this time last year.

The Madison county wheel tax, on which something like $11,000 has been collected for the county road fund, has been declared unconstitutional by Judge O. Kyle, in the circuit court, by reason of the fact that it exempts wagons and other vehicles engaged in hauling for the county.

Engineers of the River Falls Power company have been in and around Andalusia this week making a tour of inspection with a view to establishing a substation there.

The Country club, of Centerville gave an elaborate barbecue at Lightsey's lake. This is an annual occasion and was greatly enjoyed by those who were present.

Reports from conservative planters state that the depredation of the boll weevil during the past week is greater than the past five years, in Lowndes

Mr. John C. Hagans of Deatsville was in Clanton Monday. John is a former Chiltonian and he loves to come back home once in a while. While here he subscribed for the Banner so that he can keep up with the happenings back home.

Mr R. N. Roebuck of Maplesville was in Clanton Saturday attending to business.

A "NOBLY" HANDLED CALF

THIS calf, folks, is being "nobly" handled. "Nobly," we said. Not roughly. You see, it's this way. The two fair young maidens pictured with the calf—they had just captured it after a runaway chase—are none other than the Hon. Meriel Catherine Lyttleton and the Hon. Viola Maud Lyttleton, whose mother, the Viscountess Cobham, has just opened a real poultry and live stock business in Kent, England.

It seemes the nobility in England nowadays is shattering tradition after tradition. Some of the ladies of title take their place with the commoners in the House of Parliament while others break loose and try to make a mark for themselves in the commercial world. The action of Viscountess Cobham along the latter line is soon to be emulated by other titled personages it is said.

COUNTY AGENTS ARE IN ANNUAL MEETING

Will Be In Auburn Two Days And Then Go To Farmers Meeting In Montgomery.

Auburn, Ala., July 28.—The county farm and home demonstration agents of Alabama will hold their annual meeting here July 29-30. Heretofore they have spent a week at Auburn at each annual meeting, but this year they will spend two days in Auburn and then go to Montgomery to take part in the annual State Farm Bureau meeting, July 31-August 1.

A special program is being arranged for the county agents while in Auburn. They will make a careful study of experimental work in progress to obtain the latest available information for the farmers in their respective counties. Farmers will accompany the county agents to Auburn to take part in their program, and also to attend the twenty-second annual farmers' summer school which will be in session here during the week.

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Editor

Mrs. Gerald Entertains.

As a special courtesy to her sister Mrs. Horn of Troy, Mrs. L. F. Gerald entertained at a pretty bridge party, on Friday afternoon.

The Gerald Hospitable home was never more attractive than on this bright afternoon. Flowers in a color tone of lavender and yellow gladdened the eye at every turn and an air of cordiality and welcome greeted the guests upon their arrival.

Punch was served by Misses Francis Higgins, and Catheryn Hayes.

Several tables were arranged for Bridge and at the conclusion of the game, Miss Bettie Mullins holding the high score was awarded a Japanese tray, while the honoree was presented a hand-painted salt and pepper stand.

Later in the afternoon a lovely salad plate with iced tea was served.

Party For Visitor.

One of the loveliest bridge parties of this season was the one given by Mrs. Watts Moore and Miss Kathleen Mullins last Thursday morning complimenting Mrs. Amzi Gowan of Brewton. The Mullins home presented a scene of beauty on this occasion with decorations of summer flowers. The living room was attractive with red roses while the other rooms had an attractive arrangement of zenias. Six tables were arranged for the game and the high score prize, score pads, went to Mrs. N. S. Johnson. The guest prize, score pads and talley to match, was given Mrs. Gowan.

At noon a lovely luncheon plate with grape juice was served.

Mr. Arden Allen and Mr. Bootwright from Birmingham were visitors to Clanton last week.

Mrs. Victor Heard and daughter, Mary, are visiting in Opelika this week.

Sam Upchurch and Earle Ellis left Wednesday for a visit to relatives in Dothan.

Card Club Meets.

A very delightful affair of last Wednesday was the meeting of the card blub at the home of Mrs. Hance Alred. Tables were arranged on the spaceous porch, which was given an added touch of beauty by an arrangement of pot plants, wall vases and other cut flowers. During the game the hostess served a refreshing beverage, and afterwards served a tempting salad plate with tea. The club prize, congress cards, was won by Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

Besides the club members, the favored friends were Mesdames Amzi Gowan, Watts Moore, John VanDerveer, Alex Richards, Philip Horn, Toy Parsons, Clifford Mullins and Miss Lurline Harper.

Mrs. Hubert Gardner from Birmingham arrived Tuesday for a visit to her mother, Mrs. Prince.

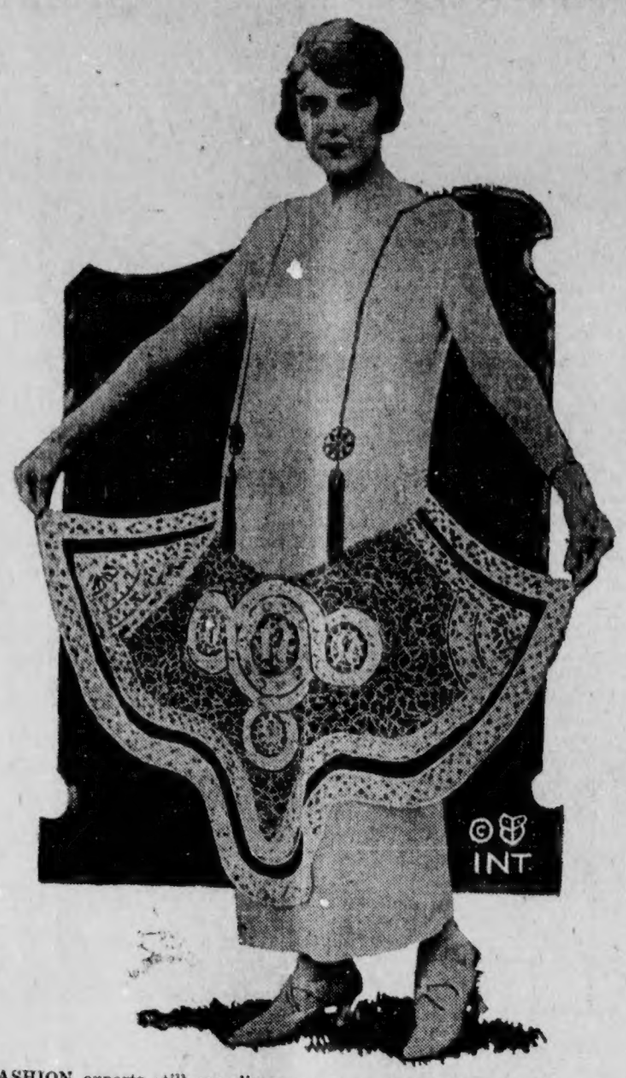
SHOWN AT BRITISH STYLE SHOW



FASHION experts still are discussing the many unsual and novel creations that were shown at the recent Fashion Promenade in London arranged by Princess Galitzine and the Baroness De Stoekl. Photographs of the many charming exhibits have just reached this country.

Amongst them was the one reproduced above. It depicts one of the many gowns which created quite a stir amongst the visitors to the promenade. It's a black and white crepe de chine creation on which red beads were employed as embroidery down the sides. And attached, was the unusual flare skirt of exquisite rich lace—which you see the model gracefully holding.

Quite attractive, dont you think!

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

An educational program for care of children is being carried out in the rural communities by the Jefferson county health department that is proving of great value to the mothers of the various sections. The nurses provided under the Shepherd-Towner bill appropriation makes the educational program possible, and instructive talks are given once every month in each of the populous sections in the county.

After a recent survey the J. B. McCrary Co. has submitted to the town council estimates and plans for a system of water works for Columbiana. One estimate, which includes well, steel tank and pipe lines, places the cost at $29,902.75; while the other, with the well more centrally located, would cost $22,483.19.

The Alabama Public Service commission granted the petition of the Demopolis Telephone company for permission to discontinue its Linden-Old Spring Hill line.

After serving several years as county solicitor of Cleburne county Joe C. Nichols has resigned that post, his resignation having been forwarded to Solicitor James B. Sanford at Talladega.

Grady Reynolds of Clanton, Ala., was appointed by President Coolidge as United States attorney for the middle district of Alabama.

Through the efforts of the Alabama Public Service commission a modification of the decision of the interstate commerce commission in the famous Meridian case affecting rates on cotton, clay, concrete and shale products and gravel, has been recommended in the report of the examiner of the interstate commerce commission who heard the evidence on the request for modification of the original order.

A number of prominent citizens of Columbia, Tenn., visited Decatur to inspect the streets that were put down a dozen or more years ago and which were successfully resurfaced two years ago as well as the construction of the new streets now under way. Members of the party included Mayor Fred Latta, Alderman H. A. Porter and F. M. Chaffin of Columbia.

PRESERVING TIME

NOTICE TO THE PEOPLE OF BEAT TWO

All parties having lumber lying along the right-of-way of the public roads in Beat 2, are hereby notified to remove same so that it may not longer continue to interfere with and obstruct work on said roads. Those who fail to comply with this order will be prosecuted.

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County has authorized me to say to the people of Beat 2 that if any parties or groups of people are interested in graveling and fixing up any of the bad places on the roads in Beat 2, that the county will aid them by paying half the expense of such necessary work to put these places in good shape.

In this connection, I wish to reassert what I have often tried to impress upon the people of Beat 2, that I am ready and willing to co-operate with the public in any way, and at any time, for the betterment of our roads.

E. H. FOSHEE,
Road Supervisor Beat 2.

COMMENTS ON ARTICLE APPEARING LAST WEEK

Editor Union-Banner:

I wish to say that I read with much interest what The Union-Banner said in last week's issue, in regard to Roman Catholics playing a part in the Democratic convention in New York.

I endorse every word in the article. I want to say further that every informed person knows that the Democratic administration from 1912 to 1920 was practically run by Roman Catholics. Woodrow Wilson, in his presidential campaign had a Roman Catholic for his campaign manager; and when elected president, he appointed Joseph Tumulty, a Roman Catholic Jesuit, as his private secretary, and to all appearance delegated to him the privilege of making practically all appointments to official positions under his administration, and as a consequence more than seventy-five percent of all presidential appointees were Roman Catholics and a majority of them were Knights of Columbus, the most ardent band of traitors this country has ever had.

The Roman Catholics dominate the Democratic party nationally; hence it is the duty of every true American to rally to the support of the Republican patry, which has built the greatest nation in the world—the party that will perpetuate the principles of liberty and the maintenance of free speech, and all that pertains to the welfare, pride and honor of this Nation.

Lafayette's warning was this: "If ever the liberties of this country are destroyed, it will be by the Roman Catholic priest."

Beware of the Democratic party, since it has bestowed such honor upon a Roman Catholic as to make him chairman of its national convention, and which also tried to make a Roman Catholic its nominee to be the ruler of this great Nation.

Shame on such principles!

Respectfully,
A. A. JACKSON.

Reducing The High Cost of—"Stockings"

EVERY time Europe springs some new fad you can bet "your sweet life" that if it isn't copied anywhere else in this country, it will be—in Los Angeles, Calif. That is—er—er—by the movie actress there.

Here you see Leatrice Joy, the screen star, having her le-le-lower extremeties all painted up with daffydils or whatever kind of flowers they are that that artist is applying with her nimble brush. And will you look at those movie directors, giving instructions as to how it should be done? 'Tis a hard life, those fellows have —lykell.

One thing about this new European fad, however, is that it's an economical one. The painted decorations take the place of stockings. If it ever becomes universally popular--not that we think it will—husbands will be spending their nights in art schools rather than at the club.

THE TWO EXTREMES

It will be interesting to compare the campaign speeches of Messers. Davis and Bryan. The two men look on many public questions from wholly different viewpoints, and contradictions are likely to be frequent. But, at that, the campaign will be perfectly consistent with the spirit in which the two men were selected. Never was a more complete political somersault turned than when William J. Bryan switched from a denunciation of Mr. Davis to praise of the Davis-Bryan ticket. The reasons that inspired the Commoner to indict Davis and eulogize his brother the day before the nomination was made will move many thousands of other Democrats. Candidate Davis is not likely to stultify himself by altering his principles or habits to accommodate W. J. Bryan, and Candidate Bryan is not likely to depart from the stand that has made him popular with Nebraska Democrats. A lot of intelligent Democrats in the East and in the West are not so facile in their political loyalty as W. J. Bryan has proved himself to be, and will find it impossible to swallow Governor Bryan or Mr. Davis, as the case may be. They are more likely to turn from the whole ticket in disgust and vote for Coolidge and Dawes, whose record they know and whose min s run along together.

CLEANING OFF CLANTON CEMETERY THIS WEEK AND NEXT

We have been requested to announce to the people who own lots in the Clanton Cemetery that this week and next have been set apart for the purpose of cleaning off such lots. WHAT TEN MILLION FORDS MEAN TO THE SOUTHLAND

Close on the heels of the Ford Motor Company's recent announcement of the production of the ten millionth Ford, comes the information that during the first six months of 1924 over a million Fords were built and sold.

Just what this means to the South is strickingly shown by the fact that during the past year the Ford Motor Company purchased in the South materials totaling over $41,300,000.00 while the local plant on Ponce de Leon Avenue buys in Atlanta alone over a quarter of a million dollars worth of merchandise annually.

Cotton, the staple product of the South, runs second only to steel in value, five million dollars worth of woven cotton, and three million dollars worth of raw, waste cotton being purchased during the period mentioned.

Steel tops the list with a figure well over twenty-three million dollars, and other contributions of the Sunny South to this monumental industry range from sulphuric acid to sponges and fire brick.

These figures take into consideration only materials purchased direct by the Ford Motor Company and does not include raw materials purchased by the Company's supplies to be fabricated and put into assemblies prior to the Ford Motor Company.

Another item of interest is the fact that each working day in the year an average of forty-two freight cars are loaded and unloaded at the Atlanta plant, keeping one entire train crew busy practically all the time. In keeping with the high standard of efficiency in other departments, the cars are unloaded on one side and immediately loaded on the other, thus elimating switching and obviating the possibility of delay due to lack of rolling equipment.

PROVIDENCE, BEAT 13

There will be an all day singing at Providence, in Beat 13, Sunday, August 10th. The 1924 new books are to be used. We cordially invite all directors and lovers of music to come that day and lets make this a real enjoyable day in singing praises to God. Thanking The Union-Banner for this space.

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS READY FOR CAMP MEETING

Half a Hundred Tents Have Been Pitched in Clanton for big Camp Meeting of Ala. Conference.

The big camp meeting of the Seventh-Day Adventists begins in Clanton today. About an acre of ground in the Gulledge Grove in the north edge of town has been cleaned off as clean as a pin, and about fifty tents have been erected. The tents are systematically set up in rows with sufficient passage way between them, and the arrangement presents a very neat and attractive appearance.

Thirty-five or forty of the tents are just large enough to accommodate four or five people, and will be used by the different families to live in during the meeting. The lay-out very strikingly resembles an army camp both in size and arrangement—only it is much nicer than amy army camp we have ever visited. The nicest tents available are used throughout. The large tent where the services will be held is in front, being on the corner of the Gulledge lot. One good sized tent is being used to house the books and tracts of the Conference, which will be open certain hours of the day for the benefit of the attendants.

About the most attractive place on the ground is the cafeteria, where meals will be served to those attending the meeting. This place is very beautiful and sanitary in every respect. There are three or four other large tents which will be used for various purposes. In fact, every possible need of those attending the meeting has been amply cared for by those in charge of the arrangement.

The meeting begins on August 7th and will continue for ten days, until the 17th. Some of the best speakers of the Conference will be present to do the preaching and speaking. People of the Adventist faith from all over the South will bring their families here and stay for the camp meeting. Singing and music for the services will be an attractive feature during the ten days.

Following is the daily program:

Rising Bell,	5:30 a.m.
Devotional meeting,	6:00-7:00 a.m.
Young peoples meet,	6:00-7:00 a.m.
Breakfast,	7:15-8:00 a.m.
Family worship,	8:15-9:00 a.m.
Workers' meeting	8:15-9:00 a.m.
Childrens' meeting,	9:15-10:30 a.m.
Bible Study,	9:15-10:30 a.m.
Preaching,	11:00-12:15, a.m.
Dinner,	12:30 p.m.
Special,	1:45-2:30 p.m.
Conference,	2:30-4:30 p.m.
Childrens' meeting,	4:30-5:30 p.m.
Poung peoples meet,	4:30-5:30 p.m.
Lunch,	6:00 p.m.
Song servic,	7:30, p.m.
Preaching,	8:00 p.m.
Retiring Bell,	10:00 p.m.

The first preaching service will be held at 8:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

PASTOR TO OCCUPY PULPIT

We are requested to announce that Rev. S. J. Ezell will be back in Clanton and preach at the Baptist Church Suaday and Sunday night. Rev. Ezell and wife and children have been visiting relatives in Virginia and North Carolina for the past three weeks.

GRADY REYNOLDS FOR DISTRICT ATTORNEY

Last week Col. Grady Reynolds of Clanton was appointed by President Coolidge as District Attorney for the Middle District of Alabama, this appointment, however, being subject to the confirmation of the Senate.

In selecting Mr. Reynolds for this position, the President acted very wisely. The ability of Grady Reynolds so far as law is concerned is unquestioned, he having made an enviable record here as an attorney since graduating from the University school of law ten or twelve years ago.

Also the record of the appointee as a Republican is clear-cut and distinct. He has always stood strictly in line with the party and has worked hard for its success. Mr. Reynolds had the backing of the Republican orginization of Chilton County as well as that of Alabama in the appointment as District Attorney, and the leaders of the party are highly elated over the fact that President Coolidge has seen fit to make this appointment.

Grady Reynolds is the son of Judge L. H. Reynolds, one of the pioneer and leading Republicans of Alabama, and a man who has fought the battle of the party to a fine finish. It is gratifying news and only a just reward to the Judge that his son receive this appointment at the hands of the Republican party in recognition of the loyal and continued support which the party has received from this, its most faithful servant. Judge Reynolds is a true Republican and so is his son, Grady.

THREE IN A ROW

On last Thursday afternoon Clanton baseball fans saw one of the finest exhibitions of the art when Clanton defeated Blocton 5 to 4. The game was hotly contested throughout. In what would have been the last inning Lewis came to bat with two out and needing one score to tie. After letting three balls go by and takifg two strikes he met a fast straight one for a home run. In Blocton's next inning they scored one more. Clanton came in and with the aid of two errors, a hit and a nice sacrifice by Thompson, tallied twice to win a good game.

The second game was a farce, Clanton winning 11 to 2.

On Saturday afternoon the heavy hitting Siulria team came to Clanton, to be trimmed 14 to 3. Walker worked well, although he lived up to his name, passing men in almost every inning. However, a fine strike-out record offset this. Only four safe hits were registered by the Siluria outfit.

Clanton plays Kellerman here today (Thursday). Come and see a good game.

SOLDIERS BONUS PAPERS

The Union-Banner has on hand a limited number of application blanks for Adjusted Compensation for ex-soldiers. If you wish to make application for this adjusted compensation you may obtain the blanks at The Banner office. Mr. Omar Reynolds will assist you in filling out the blank without charge to you.

Mrs. Tom Jones of Birmingham is the charming guest of Mrs. Bob Farley and Mrs. Climma Sorrell this week. She will be accompanied home by her little niece, Miss Myrtle Farley.

DEVAUGHN'S MUSIC SCHOOL CLOSED LAST SATURDAY

A twenty-four days session of Prof. Devaughn's school of music, W. M. Devaughn, principal, was held at Walnut Creek Church, 3 miles east of Clanton, beginning July 7th and ending August 2nd.

Throughout the school, "Work and do Right' was the fundamental law which governed everyone who made up the school.

Prof. W. M. Devaughn is a competent teacher of musical science, who has a store of knowledge which is never exhausted, and a teacher whom we are proud of and are pleased with having had him as our teacher.

At the beginning of the school Prof. Devaughn had no real good singers, but by his unfailing efforts he made the best class in Chilton County. The above fact will be vouched for by everyone who was present at his closing day exercises. Everybody seemed pleased and expressed themselves as being more than pleased with his work in the community.

At the closing Prof. Devaughn was given a unanimous vote to teach for us again next year. He accepted and we welcome his coming.

We, the pupils, desire to take this means of expressing unto Prof. Devaughn our many thanks for his good efforts to make us fit subjects to serve God and humanity musically. We have paid him in dollars and cents but we feel that money cannot pay him, so it behooves us who were subjects of his teaching of the principles of right and musical science to render such service as he has given us to others. Then and not until then will he be paid in full, for words can't express everything he has done for us.

Again, we thank you, Prof. Devaughn, and pray the blessings of God to be with you. We welcome you at any and all times.

HIS PUPILS.

ALBERT ADAMS WRITES REGARDING ROAD WORK

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 5, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to state to the road tax payers of this county, that I think it is time for us to wake up to the discharge of our duties. It looks like to me if our county officers could take your money and hold it till after laying-by time and then hire men and boys who are disabled to work at home, that they could wait with you all till you could bay by and put in your own time when you was not doing anything else. Stop throwing what you have worked for away.

I am not accusing every place of being just like this, for there was men who were able to work and needed to work for the support of their children and could not get a job. I guess it was because they were not any kin to the man who was looking after the road work.

So gentlemen, I think under such conditions as this, we had better get busy and make some change some way or another. There are some little short roads in this country that have not had anything done to them by boys, men nor kin-folks, so please wake up in your minds and let's get rid of such things and get our rights.

MR. BICE WRITES ABOUT THE FARMERS UNION

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 4, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to say a few words more. I promised to write some more about our County Farmers Union last week but I was so busy I could not get to it.

I want to say to the farmers of Chilton county that they should attend our meeting next Saturday. There will be some talks made that will give you the full details of our principles and plans. There won't be any trade cards sold and no fraud practiced like there was in the U. F. of A., and especially the canning factory, and don't let that fraud back you out, for we mean business. There are enough honest people in Chilton County to run an honest business. I am doing all I can to build up our Union but not rob and defraud anyone. I believe everyone who has taken hold has a full intention to be straight and honest in dealing with his fellowman.

We know that the leaders of the United Farmers was fraud from head to foot, but when we see that a man is fraud in our business we should have the power to put him out at once.

There are many people who have asked me what has been done with the canning factory. I want to state to them through your good paper that the plot of land where the house sits has been paid for, but the balance from the back street south is all owned by Dr. Gowan.

If this escapes the waste basket, I will write again, maybe.

I. W. BICE.

IDEAS ON FARMING

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 5, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please let me have space to write a few words as to my ideas about farming. You have noticed in every farm paper articles advising people to stay on the farm. The farm is good for the man who owns his farm and does not have to depend on some one else to help, but if he has to rent and then has to depend on the land owner for help and then live in something that is not fit for a barn, you would be better off at a very small price per day than you would on the farm, for what time you are working your crop you have to live mighty scant, and then after laying by you have got to hunt work and work until gathering time or starve, and then after all have nothing. The man who owns the land gets all the profit if there is any.

A man has to be worth something to prosper on a farm. Men, lets let the man that owns the land farm it himself or sell it, one or the other, or fix it to where renters can live comfortably and give them the chance of having something to live from.

PROVIDENCE, BEAT 13

The farmers are looking and feeling much better after the refreshing showers for the past few days. The corn crop now promises to be much better than was once expected. Also cotton bids fair for a good crop, with little sign of the boll weevil. Also other crops are looking well.

Mr. Leonard Melton of Bessemer was a pleasant visitor to friends and relatives in this community the past few days.

Mrs. Iona Watson of North Birmingham is visiting her parents this week.

Mr. Kermitt Woolley and Misses Ida and Fay Woolley had the pleasure of entertaining the following friends at a chicken fry last Thursday evening: Misses Jewell Martin, Margaret Blewster, Alene McCain, Messrs. Berl Martin, Leonard Melton, Clarence McCain, John Gothard and Verl Samons. The fry was held at the home of Mr. H. L. Woolley.

All the people of this community are looking forward to a great day at the all day singing the second Sunday in August, the 10th. Quite a large crowd is expected that day, and some very noted singers and directors. We especially invite the Thorsby quartet class to be with us; also all other singers come and bring your 1924 song books. Come one and all and lets make this a really enjoyable day singing praises to God. Don't forget to bring a well filled basket.

With much success to the Union-Banner and its many readers.

REV. P. G. CARTER PREACHES AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. P. G. Carter of Geneva filled the pulpit of the Clanton Baptist Church last Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Carter having formerly been pastor of the Baptist Church, and having been largely responsible for the building of the magnificent church building which Clanton now has, the people here received him very enthusiastically. Rev. Carter preached very interestingly at both the morning and evening services. Very good crowds were out to hear him at both services.

Mrs. Carter was here with the pastor. They came up to Clanton last Friday afternoon, and during their stay here were guests of Dr. and Mrs. V. J. Gragg. They remained over Monday and went with Dr. and Mrs. Gragg down to Mitchell Dam, where they enjoyed a very pleasent outing on the River as well as looking over the excellent workmanship and engineering of Mitchell Dam. Rev. and Mrs. Carter returned to their home in Geneva Tuesday morning.

ISAAC BICE OF BEAT 16 BRINGS IN FIRST OPEN COTTON BOLL

Mr. Isaac Lee Bice of Beat 16 takes the prize this year for having brought in the first open cotton boll. He brought into the Banner office Wednesday morning the first one we have seen this year. The boll was well matured and was of a standard variety.

Mr. Bice states that he has about thirteen acres of cotton this year, and it promises to produce him a good crop. He expects to get six or eight bales from the thirteen acres. He says that he has several bolls in his patch which are cracking open right along. He hopes to get out his first bale within two or three weeks, if the weather remains favorable.

Mr. Bce says that his cotton has not been bothered much by the boll weevils this year, however, a few have been found. No poison has been used to extinguish them.

Isaac lives on the Buddie Robinson place four and a half miles east of Clanton on the Providence road.

George Lett of Route 3 brought in an open boll only a few minutes after Mr. Bice brought his. George said he got his boll the evening before.

UNITED FARMERS MEETING

Next Monday, August 11th will be Farmers Day in Clanton. Two sessions. At 11 a.m. all business and professional men as well as all farmers are especially invited to attend. After dinner, every man and woman that has even been a United Farmer is invited to come, whether you have your dues paid up now or not.

M. W. Lamb and other national officials of the U. F. of A. will be the speakers. This will be the greatest meeting of the season. Don't miss it!

MAN ARRESTED WITH PINT OF WHISKEY

The Sheriff's force last Sunday arrested Percy Crumpton, near Ervin School House, in the north-eastern part of the county. Crumpton had a pint of wildcat booze in his possession when the officers took charge of him. He was arrested and brought to Clanton, but was released on bond.

VOTE IS HEAVY IN PRIMARIES BEING HELD IN 3 STATES

Commanding Lead Reported for Senator Capper, Republican, In Kansas.

Kansas City, Aug. 5.—Voters in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma today nominated their party standard-bearers for the fall elections.

The polls closed late in all the states and indications were that the balloting had been heavy. Long ballots were expected to slow up the gathering and tabulating of returns.

Fair weather greeted the voters and the day passed off quietly despite the heat of the campaigns. The Ku Klux Klan bobbed up in all the states and to observers was regarded as the big factor in Oklahoma, where J. C. Walton, deposed governor and Klan foe, sought the democratic nomination for United States senator against a strong field.

A few scattered returns from Kansas gave Senator Arthur Capper, Republican seeking renomination, a two-to one vote over his two opponents.

A heavy vote was reported in St. Louis, which political observers have predicted would be the pivotal factor in the Missouri primary. The gubernatorial race held the spotlight in Missouri with a heated contest in each party.

A SPORTSMAN'S PARADISE

The Coosa River, with its many islands, lagoons, etc., now affords a veritable sportman's paradise. While going down any of the many creeks and branches emptying into the river one may see many kinds of wild birds, game, etc. These tributaries afford the very finest of fishing places.

To enjoy this wonderful spot of nature to the fullest extent, one must have a boat equipped with a motor. This enables one to reach the particular spot he wants quickly and easily. No tiresome rowing or paddling to mar the day's pleasure. With one of these wonderful little machines, one may hunt or fish anywhere from Gadsden to Mitchell Dam, and by going up all the small waterways leading into the river, he has an almost unlimited hunting and fishing ground.

Then, on Sunday afternoon one may take his family or a bunch of his friends to the most pleasant rides. Motor-boating surpasses by far the easiest riding automobile, and with a good boat on the smooth surface of the Coosa, danger is reduced to the minimum.

REVIAL MEETING AT THORSBY BAPTIST CHURCH AUGUST 10

Beginning Sunday, August 10th, Pastor John L. Whorton will preach at the Thorsby Baptist Church. Jimmy Gorman, the boy soloist, will sing each evening. Music will be in the charge of a special director. The public has a cordial invitation to attend these services.

Mrs. Ed Goodgame, Mrs. Bob Farley and Miss Mary Lowe motored to Coopers Sunday afternoon, and report a good rain there. The reason they knew, they were in it all.

TWENTY-TWO YEARS OF SAFETY

The Oldest Bank In Chilton County

BURIED TREASURE

It is estimated that the gold, precious stones and jewelry in Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb would aggregate about $15,000,000. Think what that sum would have earned during the 3,000 years it has been buried!

It may be worth that much now. It was worth more than that when it was hidden away, but for all this time it has done absolutely no good to anyone. It might just as well not have existed at all. Money in circulation makes business better for everybody.

POOR ORIGINAL

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Our people do most of their trading in Denver, a city of about 10,000 population, four miles from our home. Seated in their auto at the street curb we saw three young and lively girles flittering about a childs' express wagon. Presently a small boy emerged from the adjacent store bearing a small snare drum which he manifetly knew how to play. This smallest member of the group between exhibitions of his skill as a drummer, assumed charge of the wagon and monitored a lively discussion as who should ride and who should pull.

It soon became evident that both he and the drum were to have prominent seats in the vehicle and others were privileged to bestow themselves as best as they could. There was semblance of quarreling, but an abundance of chatter interspersed with beating of the drum. Finally one of the girls seated herself in the end of high school age, fine specimens out, another took a likewise position on one side, while the boy and his drum settled themselves in the front and one small girl played horse, when all was ready they started off to the lively music of the loudly beating drum, and the enjoyment of "Happy childhoods hour".

We have mentioned at times some places where wild life abounds, one day last week in one of our rides we were passing through a wooded gulch with a narrow road at the bottom. Just ahead of our car we noticed a commotion in the road which proved to be a hawk trying to get away with a rabbit he had just caught, the approach of the car spoiled his plans and he was compelled to leave his quarry and get out of the road to save his life.

Another pretty picture we saw in Dover was two girls, evidently twins, of high school age, fine specimens of vigorous young life, dessed exactly alike in some shimmering white material which flutterd in the wind accenting their rapid walk. Each carried a book in their hands and they were evidently bound for the nearby public library, for they soon came back, apparantly unconscious of the attention which they attracted, so unlike two other girls we once saw in the same place, who were costumed, bewigged and painted, evidently out for no other purpose than to attract attentoin. The one a beautiful picture to be remembered, the other anything but pleasing to lovers of the pure and good.

One of the recently established institutions of New York is the Sunday afternoon Church Services by Radio, under the auspices of the Greater New York Federatoin of Churches, a co-operative undenominational, or rather inter-denominational, organization of Christain people.

Each Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock representives of one or more of the churches comprising the organization conduct church services at the studio of WEAF Radio station, which means the Western Union Telegraph and quarters in New York.

We do not know to what extent they use the Telephone wires to carry the Radiocasting to a greater distance than other Radio stations, which do not have such equipment can do, but since the whole object of the undertaking is to reach as large a radio audience as possible, and the fact that these services are held at an hour when their Telephone lines are least apt to be busy, we may believe they seek to cover as large an area as possible.

Last Sunday afternoon the preacher was Rev. Eugene C. Carter, associate Pastor of the Park Ave. Babtist Church New York, assisted by the Radio Quartette Choir, Two Tenor Soloist and a Harpist.

All singing was accompanied by the Harp. First the Choir sang "Let The Savior In" and "Shall We Meet". Next there was a trio played by three Trumpeters, the name of this we did not get and the selection was not familiar to us, a Tenor voice sang "Jesus Savior Pilot Me" and was accompanied by Harp and Choir. After the sermon and Bendiction, another Tenor sang "O That I Knew Where I Might Find Him" and the Choir sang "He that Watcheth the Sparrows; I know is watching o'er me."

The portion of Scripture read was taken as a whole by Rev. Carter for a text Phillipians 4-8. "Finally, brethren, Whatsoever things are True, whatsoever things are honorable, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virture, and if there be any praise, think on these things." Without being a stenographer it will not be possible to give a verbatim report of the sermon.

The speaker pointed out how necessary it is to make an effort to find the truth by choosing for our companions thoughts that have Christ like qualities. We cannot contemplate God or anything good if mind is filled with evil thoughts and desires. If we "Give Place to the devil" he is pretty sure to occupy it, to the exclusion of anything good.

When Zaccheus found he was to small to see Jesus amid the curious throng he found a vantage point in the Sycamore tree, where he could have an unobstructed view. He made an effort to see Jesus and put consideration of all other matters aside, and yet he was probably a very much surprised man when jesus stopped and called to him to come down, because he wanted to go home with him.

The trouble with people is that their religion is more theory than practice. No one can take this text as the guiding principle of their life and long remain in doubt as to the reality of the presence of the spirit of Jesus Christ among men.

From beginning to end the sermon was a rational appeal to people to seek the truth by establishing the precepts contained in the text gathered by the ripened experience of one who had tested them, for many years under stress and storm, such as falls to the lot of but few in these days.

This service was unique in that, there was no visible audience save those only who served. And yet it is safe to assume that no church service ever carried the Gospel message in song and story to so many hearers. The conception of the whole affair is something sublime, reminding one of the words of Jesus when he said "There is nothing hid that shall not be revealed, and that which is spoken in the ear shall be shouted from the housetop." Another feature of the service is that very many in the audience are not church goers. All classes and kinds of people are Radio fans, and this hitherto unheard of manner of "Sowing The Seed" will no doubt produce a harvest in unlooked for fields. There is still another feature that no doubt would be pleasing to some, It is a free Gospel. There is no opportunity for a collection. The Preachers, The musicians, the singers and the Radio service are all contributed for the good of the cause. Let us hope their labor is not in vain.

Monday night we were treated to a splended Concert program by the United States Marine Band, located at the Sylvan (outdoor) Threatre, in a grove near the Washington Monument at Washington D. C. This is one of the very finest Bands in this country, and the music came to us perfectly. The program was of a varied character caluçated to be satisfying to a mixed audience. One never ceases to wonder at the marvelous attainments already obtained and we read almost daily of improvement devised.

But with al we are having a lot of real enjoyment with the two babies in Sereno's family, Jean Louise 3½ years old and Robert Goodwin, about 8 months old. There is something in the touch of baby fingers and the feel of their soft bodies. One never tires of watching their development of body and mind. To those long deprived of these pleasures it is indeed a joy to get hold of them.

We heard an interesting account of how some New York babies are cared for. These little ones who come in to the homes of "Cliff Dwellers," as occupants of the great ten to twenty story apartment houses are called. Many of them are welcome to both parents and landlords, but they come and take possession of whatever spaces they need. For many of them there is no place provided in or about these homes, where the little ones can touch the ground or enjoy the beauties of nature. Their only refuge is the city parks, to which they are bundled by the hundreds in baby cabs, carriages, go-carts and express wagons, in charge of young mothers and nurse maids. Here they sleep in the open air or roll on the grass and get close to mother nature.

For many years it has been a practice of several large uptown Department stores to provide a cafetaker, for the babies while their mothers attend the Bargain sales. In order to prevent getting the babies mixed, as they are left outside in whatever conveyance they may be brought in small brass checks are given the mothers and a dublicate attached to the carriage or cart, just as baggage is checked for indentification. This scheme seems to work entirely satisfactory and much trade is secured in this way. Some mothers are timid at first about trusting their little ones to a stranger among a throng of other kiddies, but necessity or the lure of the bargain counter soon overcome their scruples.

"COME VISIT US" SAYS CANADA TO CAL

MAILS are not always reliable, aeroplanes none too safe and you're apt to run out of gas on a deserted country road in an automobile—so Miss Gwendolyn Lazier of Belltesville, Canada, chose a horse to accomplish her mission. You see, kind readers, she was delegated to extend an invitation to Presldent Coolidge asking his attendance at the one hundred and fortieth anniversary of the settling of upper Canada.

In bringing the bid to our president Miss Lazier made the longest horseback ride attempted in more than 50 years. Although only eighteen years of age, she rode the 700 miles from her home to Washington, D. C., alone and in remarkably good time. And people everywhere have been congratulating her since on her daring and adventuresome feat.

In the above photograph, you see Miss Lazier delivering the invitation to President Coolidge Whether or not he will accept, has not been stated.

NEGRO MIGRATION TO NORTH DETRIMENTAL TO ALL LABOR

East St. Louis City Council Passes Resolution Touching on Exodus of Negros From South to North.

The matter of the negros leaving the South and going north hunting high wages and better employment is becoming detrimental not only to the laboror of the South but is stagnating employment in the North as well. The northern cities are becoming aware of the conditions brought about by this exodus and are using their influence to diminish it. Following is a resolution recently passed and adopted by the City Council of East St. Louis, Ill., touching on negro migration:

Resolution

Whereas, It is reported that in the Southern States, especially in the large negro settlements, that statements have been made and circulated to the effect that there is a demand for labor in the North, at high wages, and in some cases inducements of different kinds have been presented to the negro population, which has caused a large immigration of negoes from the South to the North; and,

Whereas, The City of East St. Louis has and is receiving many of these negroes, and a large number of laborers are now out of employment and appealing for work, with no demand for labor of any kind in this vicinity; and, whearas, if the exodus of the negro population of the South continues it will cause great suffering and want during the remainder of this year, especially during the winter months; therefore,

Be it Resolved by the Council of the City of East St. Louis:

That efforts be made to advise the people of the South the true conditions as exist in reference to labor demands, and use consistent efforts to offset and prevent any further misrepresentations that induce the negroes to seek the North for employment.

Be it Furtiher Resolved, That copies of this resolution be printed and distributed through the Southern States to advise and offset the former misrepresentations that have been made to its people that has caused the large exodus of negroes.

Signed: July 14th, 1924.

M. M. STEPHENS, Mayor.

Passed and recorded July 14, 1924.

Attest: John J. Hallihan, City Clerk.

A PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR

Whereas, the President has approved the holding of a defense test in the continental limits of the United States on September 12, 1924, the sixth anniversary of our great victory at the battle of St. Mihiel, and believing thaf the defense of a country in time of war depends upon its volunteer or citizen soldiery who should be properly organized and equipped, and that our country should be prepared to defend itself, and believing in the plan suggested by General Pershing in time of peace to have an organization composed of the Regular Army, the National Guard and the Reserve, properly organized and equipped for defense, and believing that such organization would be less exptnsive to the national Government than a large standing army, and believing that the only way in which to build up this organization is to know from what source we could draw our strength, I heartily concur in the sentiments expressed by Major General David C. Shanks on this subject, and in order to bring this about and have an organization for defense I concur in the plans being prepared and disseminated by the Adjutant-General's Office of Alabama. This movement is not to be of a militaristic character but is merely to represent the requirements of our National Defense policy. The defense test should inform the public of the plans and methods by which American armies will be raised in the event of a national emergency, and it is not intended to encourage war but to prevent war.

Now, Therefore, I, William W. Brandon, Governor of the State of Alabama, do call upon every young man of military age (18 to 45), every religious or patriotic organization, and all true Americans, whether male or female, to lend every effort and assistance in every way possible to make this occasion, our first National Defense Test, a marked success, and I call upon the people of this State on September 12, 1924, at such hour in the afternoon as is convenient in their respective communities where there is established a national Guard or an Organized Reserve Organization, to participate in this patriotic demonstration. The Adjutant General of Alabama will promulgate information as to the ceremonies attendant upon such occasions and I suggest, as indicated by General Shanks, as a part of the ceremonies, to include patriotic music and an invocation for the continued peace and prosperity of the Nation, and a patriotic address by a selected speaker whose theme will be along the lines of the clause of the preamble to the constitution of the United States for the common defense.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of the Great State of Alabama, this the 30th day of July, 1924.

Wm. W. BRADON, Governor.

By the Governor:

S. H. BLAN, Secretary of State.

Gained Ten Pounds

Mrs. George S. Hunter, of Columbus, Ga., says she suffered severely with female troubles.

"I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks at a time," says Mrs. Hunter. "I could not work. My . . . were irregular and I got very thin. I went from 126 pounds down to less than 100. My mother had been a user of and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve. My side hurt less and I began to mend in health. I took four bottles in all during the last ten months. Cardui acted as a fine tonic. . . I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all and my . . . are quite regular. I know that Cardui will help others suffering from the same trouble."

CARDUI
The Woman's Tonic

Take Cardui.

Children's Party Enjoyed.

About forty hand-painted cards were distributed last week urging the host of little friends to attend the birthday party of Cameron McDavid, Jr., when he celebrated his fifth birthday at his home on Saturday afternoon. The little guests were first invited to punch table presided over by Miss Jane Roberts. The punch bowl, placed on the attractive veranda, was prettily embedded in red and yellow zenias. Baskets and vases of the same were attractively arranged on the porch. Numerous juvenile indoor and out-door games were enjoyed. Later in the afternoon the guests were invited into the dining room, which was pretty with a color tone of white and yellow. The central table ornament was the birthday cake holding the lighted tapers and a dainty yellow umbrella suspended from ceiling was caught with crepe papers fastened to the edges of the table, each guest drawing a ribbon that held miniature rakes, hoes and shovels.

The cutting of the birthday cake created much laughter when Miss Ruth Gowan cut the dime, Miss Elizabeth McSwain the button, and Miss Resa Wilson cut the thimble. Favors for the girls were yellow umbrellas, and for the boys come-back balls were used. Cake and cream were served later by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Barney Roberts, Mrs. V. J. Elmore, and Mrs. L. C. Ross. The happy little host was the recipient of numerous gifts and accompanying one was the following:

If wishing and hoping will make things come true,
There's sure lots of blessings
A - coming to you.

Missionary Society Meets.

The Woman's Missionary Society held its regular social and business meeting at the church on Monday afternoon. Mrs. J. C. Jones presided over the meeting, conducting the devotional exercises. The general routine of business was attended to and reports from outstanding committees were heard. Mrs. W. A. Reynolds, superintendent of supplies, reports that the box to be sent was not sufficient and is being held open for future response. No new business, the meeting adjourned and Circle No. 2 served sandwiches and grape juice.

Card Club Meets.

A lovely meeting of the card club was held at the home of Mrs. John Browder on last Wednesday afternoon. The apartments were made bright with garden flowers. After a series of rubbers, the top score was held by Miss Kathleen Mullins, who was given a couple of decks of Congress cards. Late in the afternoon refreshments in two courses were served.

Rev. and Mrs. P. G. Carter from Geneva have returned home after Rev. Carter filled an appointment in the absence of Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of th Baptist church.

Lecroy - Smith Wedding.

A wedding of interest and one that came as a surprise to their friends was that of Miss Lina Belle Lecroy of Longview to Mr. Kenneth Smith of Mitchell Dam, which occurred at Columbiana Sunday evening, July 15. THE GET-OUT-THE-VOTE CLUB

In order to assure organized effort to get out the "stay-at-home vote" next November, there has been organized at Washington a "National Get-Out-The-Vote Club". This organization will assist in the formation of local clubs throughout the country, without regard to party lines, all working to the one end of inducing all voters to register and to vote. Many voters do not go to the polls on election day because they have failed to register and it is either impossible or very difficult to qualify on election day unless previously registered. In order to make its work most effective, this new club will begin its work early and induce citizens to register, thus removing all reason for failing to go to the polls when the ballots are to be marked.

In the statement of its purposes, the National Get-Out-The-Vote Club says: "The purpose of this organization is to aid by all practicable and efficient means a full registration and vote of all qualified American citizens throughout the United States. It is our purpose to enroll members and enlist active workers in state, congressional district, county and local organizations, regardless of political affiliations and to secure the patriotic servic and cooperation of both individual citezins and all classes if social, civic,political and business organizations; to arouse public sentiment by the distribution of data and literature, to secure the service of public speakers and the public press, to cooperate with public officials and civic and political committees, to promote a campaign of national and state education; and, likewise, to engage in an active and direct measures to secure the registration of voters, to get voters out to the polls," etc.

Quoting from a review compiled by Collier's Weekly, the new organization calls attention to the fact that the stay-at-home habit is increasing. In 1896, 80 per cent of the qualified voters cast ballots; in 1900, 73 per cent; in 1908, 66 per cent; in 1912, 62 per cent; in 1920, less than 50 per cent.

In a recent statement on the subject, Mr. Simon Michelet, of Washington, D. C., who is leading the movement said: "The fact stands, that the enormous stay-at-home vote of today is sufficient to change the result of the presidential election in a vast majority of states. The stay-at-home army of 25,000,000 can elect or defeat any candidate. Upon the ability and efficiency of national and state committees in mobilizing the stay-at-homes and converting tnem to active electors hangs many an election." Concluding another statement on the same subject, he says:

"It is the hope of those behind the present campaign that a large number of men and women of all political parties prominent in public life, and of organizations which have taken up the problem in localities, will shortly be affiliated with the movement for the formation of a nation-wide organization. Until organization plans mature the general office of the National Get-Out-the-Vote Club will be at room 719 Albee Building, Washington, D. C."

Tucson Citizen.—A good thing to use in conjunction with self-government is self-control.

Let's Put It Up On a Pedestal Where The Whole World Can See It

NO TIME TO CHANGE PARTY CONTROL

Washington, July 31.—During the fiscal year ended June 30, under a Republican tariff law, our imports and exports were about double those of 1914, nine months of which was under a Democratic tariff. This record disproves the pessimistic predictions of Democratic leaders when the Republican law was framed. In plain figures our imports increased from $1,894,000,000 in 1914 to $3,557,000,000 in 1924, while our exports increased from $2,365,000,000 to $4,312,000,000. The effort to ascribe this to value increases is futile. Volume increases are marked all along the line. Remember that an American dollar has a larger purchasing power abroad than it had in 1914.

The Democratic tariff law of 1913 was framed with a view to "competitive imports." That was frankly asserted by Representative (now Senator) Oscar Underwood, the father of the measure, who declared "there is not a line of protection in this bill." He erred a trifle in that statement. They took care of certain Southern agricultural products, but put Northern and Western agricultural products on the free list. The Democratic platform framed in New York also declares for "competitive imports." They didn't receive lesson enough in 1913-14, and they imagine the people, because of the huge war sales, have forgotten what happened.

During the fiscal year 1924 the balance in our favor in the exchange of merchandise with the world totaled 755,000,000. In the fiscal year 1913, with a Republican tariff in force (the Payne-Aldrich law) our favorable balance was $653,000,000, so th 1924 record was more than $100,000,000 greater than in 1913. The law framed by Mr. Underwood and his colleagues began to show its caliber in April of the following year, when the balance turned against us. In fact, it started sooner than that. The Underwood law was passed October 3, 1913. In November our favorable balance was $97,000,000; in December, $49,000,000; in January the same; in February, $26,000,000; in March it sank to $5,000,000; and for the next five months the balance was against us, aggregating $39,000,000, or an average of nearly $8,000,000. War orders then began to make themselves manifest, and from then up to and including 1920 our balance sheet showed up strong. There was a great deal of buying all over the world for two years after the war, Europe seeking rehabilitation materials, and Asia and the Latin Americas coming here to buy products unavailable in Europe.

It is beyond credence that the American people will deliberately invite repetition of the experiences of 1914, when 4,000,000 men were out of employment and industry and agriculture were paralyzed. Yet 1914 was but a repetition of 1894-97 under the so-called Wilson law. The situation today is aggravated by the fact that the disparity in wage-scales in the United States and abroad is much greater than in pre-war days; depreciated currencies abroad give the American dollar an enhanced purchasing power; our agricultural sections are but just recovering from the slump due to Democratic deflation and can ill afford to encounter the stiff competition in store for them should a Democratic tariff law be adopted; and industry has only recently been getting back to anything like a normal state of affairs. To disturb that would be to curtail the purchasing power of our working men and render confusion worse confounded.

The Republican party has achieved a great deal for the reconstruction of the country—more in the first two years of its control than in the last two, when the majority in Congress was more nominal than real. We are just about getting down to running heat with fine prospects for a long period of prosperity, if it is not interrupted by a complete change of party and policy. The farmers are getting better prices, and industry is accommodating itself to the economic situation. In the face of all this, "Why Change?"

CAMDEN MAN WRITES ABOUT WOMEN BOBBING HAIR

Gentleman With a Duster Admired Her, But Seemes to Be Afraid Of Her.

(From Montgomery Advertiser)

It is not certain where this up-to-date bob-haired fashion originated. Some say in the slums of Paris, some say in New York, but all seem to agree that it was brought into existence by lazy, frivolous women. A woman with beautiful hair who in too indolent to brush it and keep it in the condition the poets raved about, does not derserve to be pretty—and she is not. With some women the hair is the only feature of which they can boast. The Bible says long hair is a woman's glory. There are many references in the Bible indicating that woman should remain as God made her—the most beautiful creature on earth. But women are rebelious and cause more trouble in the world than all the rest of creation.

The bobbed haired woman dates back to the times of Lycurgus, the old Spartan lawgiver, when the hair of the young bride was cut close about her head.

Mother Eve may or may not have had her hair bobbed. At any rate she was the cause of Adam losing his Eden, and Abraham's wife was the cause of his telling his first lie, also his son, Isaac's wife, was the cause of that dutiful son's departure from the truth. All bobbed-haired women, no doubt! Who was it caused Jacob to act the lie to deceive his old blind father? A woman! And the bobbed-haired Rebekah was the cause of Jacob swindling his uncle out of a number of cows besides robbing his brother of his inheritance by profiteering in a mess of hash. And man has not quite robbed his brother until this day.

Did you ever read the distruction of Tyre? Open the Bible at the book of Isaiah and read what that old man has to say of the bobbed-haired women of his day. If the women of that day did not bob their hair, they had the same spirit of the present day women who bob their hair. Tyre was destroyed by this same bob haired spirit—the spirit of pleasure. This same spirit has destroyed more cities and nations than anything in this world.

Take history at the present day and go back as far as it reaches and you will see that the idolators of pleasure and fashion have brought destruction to themselves. The bobbed-haired spirit.

It is said bobbed hair is so much cooler and much less trouble. It is so easy to render an excuse for self. Is it less trouble to smear your face with paint and powder and cold cream, and ruin your lips with the lip-stick than to leave that complexion as God made it? Oh, the bobbed-haired spirit is an abomination. Read First Timothy, fifth chapter and sixth verse.

Oh, shucks! Get your Bible and read the laws, regulations and commandements. All the wealth of information you need is there, and the spirit of the bobbed-haired woman is condemned from "kiver to kiver."

But after all, it may be all right. The old folks of today are but the relics of another generation—like stumps of a once lived forest, and the youth of today seemes to be putting on too much life, going too fast for the older set. They ridicule everything that is of the past. They are enjoying their youth of today, not giving a thought of tomorrow when they will become the stumps of a past civilization. They will condemn as the older set of today are condemning.

All of which cannot be changed except the Divine Power steps in and rules against it. The old heads see danger in the spirit of the bobbed-haired woman, or they believe they do. For they say the bobbed-haired woman is a sister of the flapper, and bobbed-haired bandit, who are slackers in homebuilding and are therefore responsible for race suicide if such a disaster ever comes to pass. Apartment houses are full of these painted flappers and bobbed-haired bandits while there are few homes than ever before, compared to population.

Women Prettier, However.

Women are prettier today than ever before when they leave off the paint, powder and cream, and, oh, mercy; when they leave alone that wonderful glory the Bible speaks about, the golden tresses and raven locks, the prettiest feature that woman can possess. They are trying to be woman and man at the same time. They cannot do it. Just as well try to be pretty and ugly at the same time. Then, too, women dress more becomingly today than in any other age, when they do not go to the extreme. Ye Gods, and little fishes! Give us women with a balance wheel in the upstairs of their heads that they may steer clear of all extremes in the styles of today. Real beauty is soul deep and no paint or powder or dress will ever improve it, and time or wrinkles cannot deface it.

But to return to the bobbed-haired woman. Do you really believe bobbing the hair improves the looks of every woman? Is it more comfortable or more sanitary where it is kept in proper condition? How much time and work does it take to brush it and put it in a becomming shape? Would not Solomon have had a motley crew with the hair bobbed from the heads of his seven hundred wives? No doubt he said their heads were gloriously beautiful.

Did you ever see a pony with its maine bobbed? The pony does not look like a horse or a mule. Neither does a woman look like a woman or a man. Then, what does she look like? Do you think she is some pretty creature hard to name? But probably she does not need a name. Men will love her regardless of how she looks or what she does. Let it go at that.

Forbes Magazine.—A country that can close its year with a treasury balance of more than $400,000,000, that can collect $1,185,000,000 income taxes in one year, and that can reduce its public debt by $5,250,000,000 in five years is not fertile soil for the growth of pessimism. The U. S. A. is O. K.

Fort Wayne Sentinel.—The greatest strides in the perfection of American prosperity have come under Republican administrations — naturally so, for only Republican administrations have adopted policies of tariff protection which is indispensable in the maintenance of American standards of living.

Minneapolis Tribune.—If President Coolidge can not convince the people with a frank presentation of the national case as he sees it, he will at least have maintained his self-respect and kept square with his conscience, and that is a victory for any man.

Omaha Bee.—The New York Times is worried for fear some of the Republican papers will withdraw compliments paid to John W. Davis. No need to. Let them ride, but remember the Republicans offer a man just as good and on a platform that is a good deal better.

Los Angeles Times.—The United States Shipping Board says that there is a British movement on foot to "force" the repeal of the coastwise laws of this country. It is evidently on the wrong foot. That thing was tried in 1812.

Springfield Union.—Hereafter, the Moscow reds inform the world, the official name for Russia is to be Ussr. What they've done to the name is astonishingly like that they've done to the country itself.

Boston Transcript.—Chairman Butler says the Republicans will make it a nation-wide campaign. In other words, there will be no hesitation in arguing a just cause both in the solid South and the radical West.

Marion Star.—Considering the case of Candidate Alton B. Parker, it might be fine political judgment on the part of Candidate Davis to ask Colonel Bryan to support the other fellow.

Fort Wayne Sentinel.—A nearby Democratic organ refers to the Davis-Bryan ticket as well balanced. Yes, just as a minus and a plus quantity are balanced—to the point of cancellation.

Main Street not Wall Street ~owns the Railroads

Fifty million Americans---nearly one half of our total population, and more than twice the number that have ever voted in a presidential election---are directly interested in railroad securities. Read this statement again, and consider the enormous responsibility that rests with the managements of the carriers in handling such a trust fund.

About two million citizens are owners of railroad stocks and railroad bonds; their names appearing on the record books. The remaining 48 million people are no less owners of these securities, tho somewhat less directly.

Two billion dollars worth of railroad securities are owned by the forty million people who compose the life insurance companies; for 25% of the reserve of these companies has been invested in railroad stocks and bonds.

One out of every four Americans has a savings account, and more than one billion dollars of savings-bank funds are invested in railroad securities. The great fire insurance companies, with thirty million policies protecting the property in the United States, are heavy investors in railroad securities.

Remember these things when you hear the railroads attacked by poorly-posted and in some instances vicious people. The welfare of American railroads is your welfare. Help them to continue the splendid work that they are now doing, and remember also that you and your neighbors are the real owners of the railroads.

Credit for some of these figures is given to "The American Ways" Vol. No. 2. of the Bank of Manhattan Company Library.

CENTER HILL NEWS

Our Sunday School at Center Hill is progressing nicely.

Mr. Florence Retherford, who is track-walker for the L. & N. on this section was painfully injured last Saturday morning. He was standing beside the railroad track when a motor car came by. A large wrench flew from the fast-moving car and struck Mr. Retherford's leg, nearly breaking it.

Quite a number of our people attended the old-time singing at Centerville last Thursday. They reported a nice time.

Miss Franklin Cobb entertained quite a number of her friends at a birthday party given at her home last Saturday night.

The old-time singing at Center Hill Sunday afternoon was good. Fair attendance and fine singing.

Something ought to be done to keep automobiles from running so fast over the highways. There should be a law regulating the speed not to exceed 20 miles per hour. If the cars of those caught violating this law were taken and confiscated, so much dangerous speeding would soon be cut out.

MR. ELMORE LEAVES FOR MARKET

ANCIENT METHOD OF PUNISHMENT

CIVILIZATOIN, as many know from reading newspapers accounts, has not made very rapid progress in China. The Oriental country of milliins still adhere to many ancient forms of punishment for its prisoners.

Witness the wooden yoke or "Cangue," as they call it, in which the three Chinese women, pictured above, are "serving their time." This method of dealing out a penalty to women is reminiscent of the manner in which supposed witches were punished here in this country in colonial days.

SUCCESSFUL REVIVAL CLOSED AT NEW CEDRON THURSDAY

The revival service at New Cedron closed last Thursday night. Rev. Marion W. Mims, the pastor, did the preaching, and the meeting was a grand success from every standpoint. Good crowds attended all the services, and a fine spirit was manifest throughout the meeting. Four members were added to the church, two of whom were for Baptism. The ordinance of Baptism will be administered by the pastor the fourth Sunday in this month.

During the protracted meeting three deacons were ordained. They were Mr. Ed. Edwards, Mr. Dock Owens and Mr. Marion Wagoner.

(Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, Asst. Mgr.)

Mr. Aken Mims and his sister, Mrs. Sarah Murray, spent Tuesday at the home of W. H. Goodgame. Mr. Mims, whose home is near Mobile, is spending some time visiting relatives.

Mrs. Louis Robinson and son, Sylvester, visited in Thorsby Sunday. Mrs. Pete Franklin accompanied Mrs. Robinson home for a week's visit.

The United Singing Society met with the Thorsby Society at the Baptist church last Sunday afternoon. A nice crowd was present. The directors for the afternoon were E. L. Glasscock, Gresham Lowery, Akins Cillins, E. H. Foshee and A. H. Glasscock. The Thorsby quartet favored the society with special music, which was highly enjoyed by all. The society will not meet with the Union Grove society the second Sunday, as all the society has been invited to an all-day singing at Providence on the same day.

"MEE-OW!"

IF a person were to walk out in the rain or sunshine with a trick umbrella like the one pictured above, somebody would be apt to call the "nut" wagon. But they get away with it over in London where parasols and sunshades, decorated and fabricated in designs similiar to the above, are considered the latest style.

All sorts of fantistic patterns for this purpose, we are told, are being introduced. Tops of umbrellars are being covered with tigers' heads, cat faces, feathers of Pheasants and artistic floral designs. Some are trimmed with ostrich feathers and ermine.

The umbrella shown here was covered with white and black fur—cat, formed and sewed into a cat's face. The eyes were made of painted glass.

A WANDERING JAZZ BAND

MEXICO, too, has its surplus jazz bands. Here's a wandering outfit that dispense the young-simply-gotta- keep-moving' musical squaks and groans for what alms it can pick up in towns and cities about the state of San Luis Potosi.

These peons are not much on looks but, they tell us, they sure could teach blase Broadway a thing or two about enlivening, shimmying notes. It reminds one of the "hungry six" of pre-Volstead days. People used to give them what coins they could spare just so they would keep moving and loose them selves and their "sour" notes down the street.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Through July 28, 1924, and since Sept. 30, 1923, the office of State Auditor W. B. Allgood has issued 30,592 state warrants totaling $20,505,200.85. There are still two months remaining of the present fiscal year of the state which will end with the close of business Sept. 30. Through July 28, 1923, the auditor's office issued 28,796 state warrants totaling $17,328,445.32. The total amount of money received by the state through July 28 1924, was $20,786,901.73. This was from Sept. 30 last year. The total amount received for the same period in the last fiscal year was $16,522,933.87. The state started its new fiscal year Oct. 1, 1923, with outstanding and unpaid warrants amounting to $1,034,239.77. Through July 28, 1924 outstanding and unpaid warrants have decreased to $507,393.25 with a total of $372,323.86 actually on hand to pay them.

Twenty applicants who stood examinations before the Alabama Bar association early in July were passed. Those who passed the bar examination were: Harold Price, Tuscaloosa; George Mack Oliver, Montgomery; Joel W. Woodruff, Montgomery; Howard L. Foshee, Clanton; Victor H. Carmichael, Dora; Richard M. Smith, Jr., Birmingham; James Turner Gibson, Jr., Pinson; Coral Wood, Birmingham; Benton L. Britnell, Albany; J. A. Huey, Enterprise; Joseph B. Davis, Ensley; William D. Lavender, Centerville; Thomas T. Twitty, Pelham, Ga.; J. Perry Orr, Hartselle; Lucien D. Gardner, Jr., Montgomery; P. C. Gratix, Mobile; W. Gregory Smith, Birmingham; Bolling Craig Stanley, Birmingham; J. A. Posey, Tuscaloosa, and Claude D. Pepper, Alexander City.

That Jasper is growing rapidly is proven by the 1924 school census as well as an actual census of the town taken in connection with the school census. While not official the census of the entire population of Jasper, taken by the school census enumerators on separate books is accurate. While taking the school census Prof. Jones and his assistant have enumerated the number of people in each house visited within the city limits of Jasper, and have found that the present population of Jasper is 4,483 as compared with 3,246, as reported by the United States census of 1920, a gain of 1,237 since 1920.

NO MORE NIGT SESSIONS OF CIRCUIT COURTS IN ALABAMA

There will be no more night sessions in the circuit courts of Alabama in trial of jury cases, except by agreement of counsel. The new Alabama Code of 1923, makes this provision in section 6672. In the former code it was provided that the courts of the several judicial circuits of the state should not be opened before 11 a. m. of the first Monday set for the trial of jury cases, but there was no provision as to what hour the court should ajourn. The section of the new code, already referred to, retains the provision as to the hour of opening court, but specifies in addition that in any event the court shall not engage in the trial of cases later than 7 p. m. each day except by agreement of counsel. This addition was made by the commission, in revision of the code.

The sweet potato, Baldwin county's most promising and consistent crop, is again proving a winner this year. During a season when cucumbers, Irish potatoes and other staple money producers in the county have failed to materialize owing to seasonal conditions and bad markets, the sweet potato has come through again and is proving a very profitable winner. Prices at the various loading platforms in Baldwin county have been one rise followed by another until now an average prevailing price of around $2.50 a bushel is being paid.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Many plans for the agricultural development of Talladega county are being made by the agricultural committee of the Chamber of Commerce, with P. S. Williams as chairman. In an effort to develop the poultry industry, the board of directors will be asked to send a committee to Morristown, Tenn., to investigate the large poultry markets there and the system with which they are operated. The same committee will also be asked to investigate the hog and dairy industries while on the same mission.

Gadsden has done wonders in stamping out the mosquito menace and Attalla is making rapid strides in that direction, according to E. B. Johnson, malaria control expert of the state health department, who has just completed a thorough inspection in the two cities.

A mass meeting of nearly 300 Butler county citizens unanimously endorsed a proposition calling for an election to levy a three mill tax for general school purposes.

Richard Berry Coleman was found dead in Troy. He had reached the age of 90 years. He was a native of Georgia, but had lived in Pike county for a number of years.

At a meeting of the Tri-Cities Central Labor union at Florence, tentative plans were outlined for an all-day celebration to be staged September 1, Labor Day.

REQUIREMENTS FOR SUCCESSFUL ORGANIZATION

All farmers realize that they need to be organized but they are not quite so certain as to just what kind of an organization they should have. In forming the Farmers Co-operative Association the needs and conditions of the farmers of this county were fully considered. This association is founded on the conviction that to fill the present need of the farmers in this county an organization is needed that embodies the features listed below.

We need an organization that:

1. Will market the products of the members and purchase the needs of its members to a better advantage than they could do individually without an organization.

2. Will benefit the members to a larger amount than it will cost them to support the organization.

3. Will be in full control of members at all times.

4. Will be in charge of honest and conscientious men in whom the members have confidence, with all officers handling money under bond.

5. Will keep members informed on all matters connected with the association.

6. Is composed of members who want an organization and will do their individual part in making it successful.

Think these things over. Our only purpose is to have a business establishment of our own for our own mutual benefit and not for the benefit of any individual. If it will help some of us, it will help you and therefore we invite you to think seriously about the six requirements for a successful organization as stated above. Read them several times until you thoroughly understand them. See if you do not think they are the things that are necessary for a successful organization in this county at this time. Compare these requirements to the organizations we have had in the past and you will have at least a partial answer to the question of why they did not measure up to expectations. Of course our organization as at present arranged is not claimed to be perfect but it is under our own control and we can make any changes we find necessary at any time. This is one of its big advantages.

In future letters in this paper we will show how our organization will fulfill the requirements as above outlined.

Elsewhere in this paper you will find an announcement of a meeting to be held in the court house in Clanton Saturday afternoon at 130. The entrance will be free and open to all and everyone will be welcome. Come and bring your neighbors.

Yours for success,

Farmers Co-operative Association.

Facts About Child-birth

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering, pain and dread experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth is entirely unnecessary.

An eminent physician, Dr. J. H. Holmes, expert in this science, first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend," which aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, during the constant readjustment, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth.

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. Three generations of expectant mothers have used it. "Pains disappeared in two days after using 'Mother's Friend,'" writes a user. "I owe my life to 'Mother's Friend,'" declared another. Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did, start today and experience the wonderful comfort it will give you.

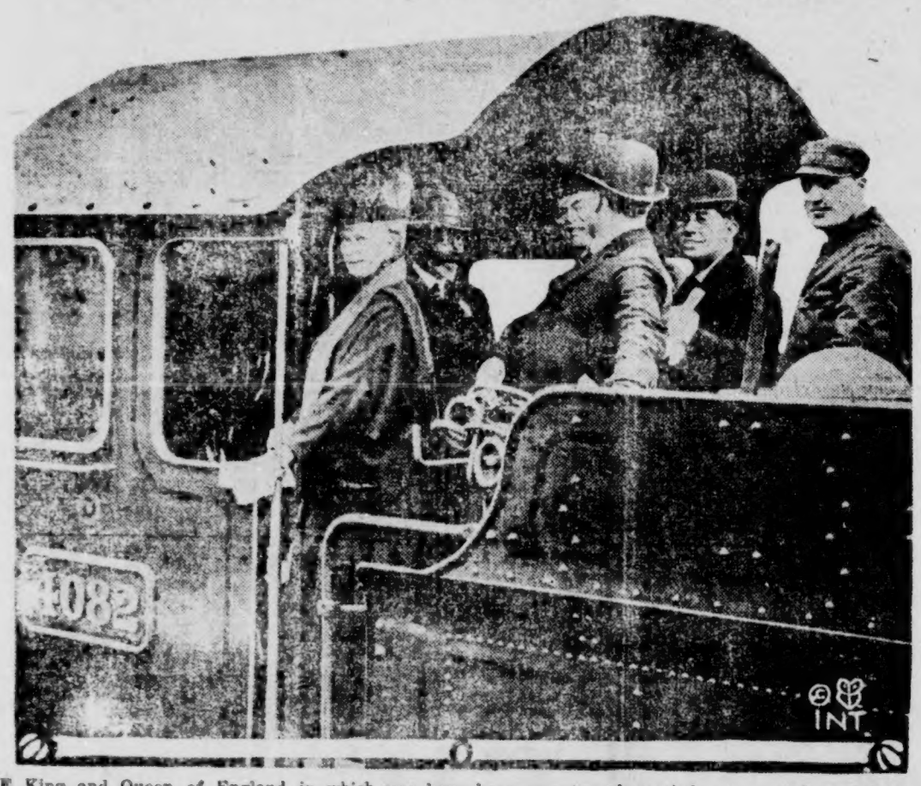
ROYALTY IN A DIFFERENT TYPE OF CAB



THE King and Queen of England are quite democratic people, we assure you. Glimpse them above, pictured behind the throttle and the rest of the intricate mechanism in the cab of a modern locomotive. Somewhat different from the type of cabs in which you have been accustomed to seeing this popular royal couple photographed, isn't it?

At the time this scene was made, the king and queen were paying a visit, for the first time, to the Great Western Railway Works. There they carried out a number of interesting ceremonies, including an inspection of the locomotive that pulls the Royal Special. And, mind you, King George himself drove the big iron monster into the nearby town of Swindon.

MONTEVALLO CAMPAIGN MAKING VERY GOOD PROGRESS IN CHILTON

Mr. Omar Reynolds, local chairman of the committee in Chilton County for raising funds for the Montevallo Million-Dollar Campaign, has been assisted during the past week in the work here by Mr. M. L. Orr, of the Alabama Colledge. Mr. Orr reports that he has met with gratifying success with the campaign in this county.

Chilton County as a whole has donated $2.100 dollars, $1,300 of which has been donated by citizens of Clanton. Of course all of this amount has not been paid chash, but some of it has been pledged to be paid at certain future dates.

Clanton has responded nobly in the Montevallo campaign, in view of the fact that the people have been considerably drained in the building of the two nice church buildings. But Clanton is always willing to come across with her part in any worthy undertaking.

Mrs. Edna Creel has been the guest of her brother, Mr. W. N. Jones and family for the past few days. She returned home Sunday night.

Miss Nan Rogers who has been in the Birmingham infirmary returned home Sunday afternoon accompanied by her brother, Mr. Roy Rogers. We are very glad she is able to be back home again.

Mr. E. D. Crim after spending the week at home returned to Cherokee Bluffs Saturday to again take up a position.

Mr. Rufus Rogers was home last week from Cherokee Bluffs visiting home folks.

Mrs. Joe Foote of Birmingham was the week-end guest of Miss Lutie Jones.

Mrs. Jessie Cox returned home Saturday after spending a week with relatives at Cox, Ala.

Mr. Tom Walker of Anniston was in South Calera Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Robertson and two children of Pelham were visiting relatives here last week-end.

Little Miss Crowder of Birmingham is the guest of Little Miss Olene Chapel for a few weeks.

Miss Hazel Cox enjoyed a week's vacation visiting relatives and friends at Cox' and Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts of Pelham were visitors to relatives in South Calera Sunday.

Miss Dora Campbelle spent the week end at home visiting her mother.

Mrs. Coheley and daughter Ruth left last week for Piedmont to spend the remainder of the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burgess motored to Tallassee Saturday returning Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Burgess of Tallassee is the guest of her son, Mr. J. W. Burgess of South Calera this week.

How Many Shares Have You?

B. C. Forbes, one of the country's great financial writers, says:

"One family in every seven holds utility holdings of an average of 10 shares. . . . Of $17,000,000,000 invested in these utilities more than 30 per cent is in the electric light and power industry."

900,000 BALES OF COTTON IS STATE'S PROSPECT IN 1924

Cotton Outlook Fine Expert Declares; Corn Promise Not So Bright In Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., Auugst 9, 1924. —Certain conclusions are clearly apparent from the report of crop conditions in Alabama as of August 1st which are of interest to the public in the judgement of F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician. These conclusions are presented herewith:

The cotton report, issued on Aug. 8, indicates a crop of around 900,000 bales. The two weeks intervening since the last report have been on the whole favorable for this crop. Rain has fallen on an average of two and one-half days during the period, and has continued its record of falling in the afternoon and preceded by high temperature and bright sunshine. It is reported that the weevil is only about 65 per cent as numerous as a year ago, and only 75 per cent of the crop seemes to have caught up and now stands about equal to the usual so far as dates are concerned. A fair propotion of the prospective crop is reported as safe in the form of mature bolls; the remainder has a fair chance against the present and probable infestation of weevils to materialize after this date. Of course the prospects are not uniform over the state, the Tennessee valley and the black belt counties showing a somewhat poorer condition than the rest of the State. Some individual counties here and there do not present an entirely favorable situation. On the whole, however, the prospects are perhaps at this time better than at any equivalent date since the weevil infested the state.

On the other hand, the corn crop is not in so promising prospect. Some parts of the state have suffered materially from lack of rain during the month of July and these promise a rather poor yield. The south half of the State has a good corn crop but the north runs from fair to very poor. It is evident at present that many farmers will find their corn supply quite insufficient, while others will have a surplus. The question of distribution of the surplus and the purchase of needed corn becomes very important. Pigs are scarcer in that portion where serplus corn is in prospect, and farmers will naturally be thinking about the advisability of either purchasing feeder pigs or getting ready to sell their corn. In the latter case they will have to decide whether to sell on the open market or to supply lacal demands later in the season. The latter might be more profitable if the individual desires and is in position to hold for the local demand.

Hay crop has also fallen off with the approach of droughty weather, and with little more than the usual acreage available for cutting there will be a demand for hay which the local production cannot furnish. Consequently some of the same questions of distribution will be presented with respect to hay.

The peanut crop looks good for fair to heavy yields. Pig shortage in the peanut belt also emphasizes the importance of distribution of that crop. Harvesting Spanish nuts will begin in a few weeks and farmers will be vitally interested in the market price.

COMMISSIONERS COURT IN SESSION HERE THIS WEEK

The Commissioners Court of Chilton County was in session at the court house in Clanton the first of this week. This was the regular quarterly meeting of the Court, and the general business of the county was attended to at this meeting. The regular monthly meeting for disposing of road matters was not held last week but was postponed to this week so that the quarterly and monthly business might be attended to at one meeting. The board met Monday and their business was not finished until Tuesday afternoon.

CIRCUIT COURT BEGINS TUESDAY OF NEXT WEEK

The regular non-jury term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County Convenes at the court house in Clanton next Tuesday, August 19th. Those having cases in this court are requested to be on hand Tuesday morning for the purpose of instituting your case.

OFFICERS GET PINT OF MOONSHINE

Last Saturday the Sheriff's force from Clanton searched the home of Sam Paul Mims, near Refuge and took from his kitchen safe one pint of moonshine whiskey. Mims was arrested and brought to Clanton, where he made bond and was released.

REPUBLICAN IS OUT FOR JUDICIAL PLACE

A Republican aspirant has entered the arena for the office of judge of the eighteenth judicial circuit, comprising the counties of Coosa, Clay and Shelby. Charles W. McKay of Ashland qualified with the Secretary of State Wednesday for this office, as a candidate on the Republican ticket.

Mr. J. E. Ray and family of Dadeville were here the first of the week visiting relatives and attending the revival at Shiloh. Their daughter, Misses Ruby and Deara, will remain here for a couple of weeks visiting friends and relatives.

Later when the runners are ready for harvest or consumption in the field growers will find themselves in need of animals to consume the supply. Hog prices have already advanced, and it might be much cheaper to buy feeders now than to wait until they are needed.

Pastures have kept up fairly well, for the reason that most of the heavy pasture sections have received sufficient rainfall.

Peas, soy beans and velvet beans are in good yielding condition and will furnish additional feedstuffs for farm animals. It is doubtful if large quantities of the seed of these crops will be harvested unless the price is very tempting. Labor is not plentiful enough after cotton picking is provided for.

Syrup crops promise quite sufficient supply for local needs in most sections.

Home gardens have been severely hit by drought and are furnishing very little for the table at the present time.

The cash crops of this state promise good volumes. Farmers are now interested in the price. Food crops are in a spotted condition. The real concern now is the lack of feeders in some sections and the question of buying feeds in others.

FARMERS MEETING AT COURT HOUSE LAST SATURDAY

Meeting Fairly Well Attended and Much Interest is Shown in The Work.

The Farmers Co-operative Ass'n had its first general business meeting at the court house in Clanton last Saturday. Sickness, protracted meetings, etc., prevented quite a few from attending the meeting. However, the meeting was well attended in spite of these facts and a decided interest and enthusiasm was shown in the work.

The events leading up to the formation of the organization were reviewd as well as the co-operativemarketing work in this county during the past two years. It was shown here that this county has been unassisted in this work and that all that has been acomplished has been the result of its own efforts and ability. It was brought out that in view of this fact we have every reason to believe that we will have as much success in the future as in the past. In fact the experience and knowledge gained during the past two years will enable us to do this work even more successfully in the future than in the past.

From the report of the progress made by this, the first "home grown" organization of its kind Chilton County has ever seen, it was shown that during the short time in which it has had to grow, more than 160 farmers have joined, with nearly every section of the county represented in its membership. In many communities there has as yet been no special effort to secure membership on account of the fact that no one has been able to take the time this would require. However these communities will receive attention as soon as possible and the membership roll of the organization will receive numerous additions from them.

The methods to be followed in conducting the business of the organization were outlined and the attention of the members present was called to the fact that orders for fall seed especially vetch, should be placed as soon as possible. Buying fruit trees, seed, feed, fertilizer, windows and doors, flour, salt and other articles was discussed as well as selling cotton, cotton seed, chickens and eggs, sweet potatoes, etc. Members were urged to see what they could do thru the association before doing business elsewhere.

The Executive Committee suggested that every member make it his purpose to get at least one member within the next month. This suggestion was endorsed by several members. The committee has decided to offer a prize to the member who takes most applications between now and September 15, providing this member gets at least three members.

At the afternoon meeting several very instructive talks were heard. Mr. N. H. Brown, who was to have been here was prevented from coming by litigations with some Birmingham Commission House with which his time was occupied. However the meeting was filled with good talks by several others. Messers H. R. Oden and J. N. Dennis reported some of their observatations at Auburn during their visit there week before last. Both parties were very enthusiastic over a demonstration they saw showing the effect of vetch as a soil builder.

Following these talks, Mr Wyatt, formely of Clanton but now of Fort Payne, Ala., reported some of the doings of the farmers of DeKalb County. He spoke very highly of the benefit these farmers are receiving from their County Demonstration Agent that was put on in that county during the past year. Mr. Wyatt stated that he was quite sure that the farmers would never be willing to be without a county agent from now on. He also stated that demdnstration agents are doing much more effective work in recent years than they formerly did.

Following Mr. Wyatt's talk, several people spoke of the need for a County Demonstration Agent in this county and voiced the hope that it would not be long before we have one here.

The talk by Mr. J. M. Smith on strawberry production and marketing was listened to with interest and several questions were asked him, showing that there is a demand for information on this subject. Mr. Smith expressed the opinion that there was every reason to believe that Clanton could do as well with strawberries as Thornby is doing and has been doing for a number of years.

The meeting closed with everyone well pleased with the results of the day's meeting and feeling that it had really been the greatest meeting of the season.

Mrs. J. C. Harris and daughter, Pearl, are visiting relatives in Birmingham this week.

Mr. Russell Brown of Gorgas was a visitor to friends here Sunday.

DEFENDS NAME OF FAIR SEX QUESTION OF BOBBING HAIR

Thinks Article in Last Week's Paper By Mr. Holt is Unfair to Fairer Sex.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 10, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space to say a few words in regard to an article in last week's Union-Banner from the Montgomery Advertiser by H. A. Holt on women bobbing their hair.

I think the article as a whole is very degrading to the fairer sex. As to bobbing the hair, I think our women are making a mistake; I do not approve of the style at all.

The article says that Eve was the cause of Adam losing his Eden. Read the second chapter of Genisis and you will find that the law was given to Adam direct from God before Eve was made. We fail to find where Eve ever received the law of the forbidden fruit direct from God; yet she is blamed for Adam's lost state.

The article also says that Abraham's wife was the cause of him telling his first lie. Now, let's see if this is true. The 12th chapter of Genesis says: "And Abraham journeyed from thence toward the south country and dwelled between Kadesh and Shur and sojourned in Gerar, and Abraham said of Sarah his wife, she is my sister. And Abimelech, king of Gerar sent and took Sarah and God came to the king in a dream and told him she was a man's wife, and Sarah was restored back to Abraham." We find also in the same chapter that Abraham and Sarah were brother and sister; and there was no lie told.

The article further states that women are rebelious and cause more trouble in the world than all the rest of creation. If this is true I think we should do them like we have whiskey—vote them out of our country. If they cause more trouble than all other creation combined that makes them the greatest evil on earth. My past experience with the two sexes has taught me that the women are superior to the men when it comes to honor, refinement and virtue. God made Adam from the dust of the earth and put him in the Garden of Eden to keep and dress it; and it appears that he was a failure, when God said it was not good for him to be alone. So He made Eve, but did not make her out of the dust of the earth, but took a rib from Adam's side and made a woman, which appears to be an improvement on the human being.

In the way of refining of humanity, the woman is much fiher featured than the man. Her refinement in home and society excels the man. She preserves home and society. Mother, the noblest creature on earth, takes the babe from its birth and emplants true principles in its early childhood that it never forgets. I have often heard wicked men with tears in their eyes say what good deeds mother did, and how they wished they had taken mother's advice.

Let us not degrade our good women for what a few bobbed haired flappers are doing. I have been riding the street cars in Birmingham almost daily for more than fifteen years, also come in contact with large crowds of men and women on the streets of the city. I never have seen a woman puffing smoke or cursing or under the influence of strong drink, or insulting men. We have some good women and girls who bob their hair. I think it has come just like styles and fashions. The womens dresses of today are far from what they were twenty years ago; so styles and fashions come and go regardless of what men think or say about them.

What are we men going to do when the women begin denouncing, degrading and placing us with the slums of the earth on account of the way we wear our hair?

Respectfully,
A. A. JACKSON,

METHODIST S. S. CONFERENCE TO MEET IN GREENVILLE

Plans are rapidly being perfected for the third annual session of the Methodist Sunday School Conference which has been announced to meet in Greenville, Ala., during September 2, 3, and 4 with expected attendance of over 1,000 workers from central and southern Alabama and west Florida.

Hon. R. H. Mangum of Selma is President of the Conference and Chairman of the Program Committee. Frank T. Herlong of Greenville is Chairman of the General Entertainment Committee.

Clarence M. Dannelly, Superintendent of Sunday School Work in the Alabama Conference (south Alabama and west Florida), announces that the program will shortly be complete for publication and that all evidence appoints to an extraordinarily large attendance.

PLENTY OF SOLDIER BONUS BLANKS AT CLANTON P. O.

Mr. W. M. Bean, postmaster at Clanton tells us that he has at the Clanton post office a full supply of Adjusted Compensation blanks for ex-soldiers. If you were in the army over sixty days you are due adjutsed compensation under this ruling and should call at the post office and get a blank. Bring your discharge along and Mr. Omar Reynolds will assist you in filling out your blank free of charge, and you can get your finger prints taken at the Banner office. There are enough blanks here now to take care of every ex-soldier in the county, so come and get yours fixed up as early as possible.

MR. I. W. BICE WRITES OF FARMERS ORGANIZATIONS

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 11, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Please give me space in your good paper to write a few words concerning the U. F. of A. I wish every farmer could have been where I was ast Saturday and learned what I did plum up to the head of the concerns. Now boys, when I first began blotting out fraud that was practiced in the United Farmers and so much fraud in the canning factory, that some of my best friends came to me and said they thought I was mistaken and I ought not say so much. Now I see a piece in your paper where it seems that they were trying to call the farmers together again, great and wonderful things to be done and so many great speakers. They are like wolves in sheep's clothing, devouring whom they may, and now the same ones who said that I was saying too much have confessed to me that I was right.

I want to say to you boys, that they just want to get another swipe at you, and now if you go ahead and let them gobble you up you will see that I am right again. There is a widow woman in our community who lost $100 in the canning factory, who raised a good sized family and she is a perfect lady. A good portion of the time she had to go on crutches to work and toil to make a living, and if I were guilty of fixing up tricks to fraud such people I would not want my name to appear in the paper or anywhere else where I was known.

Well, I want to say something regarding our Farmers Co-operative Association. Boys, I think I see a bright side to our organization. If you will all come and help us we will be winner yet. I will close with good wishes to the Banner and its many readers.

I. W. BICE.

REVIVAL MEETING AT PROVIDENCE

We have been requested to announce that the revival meeting at Providence, Beat 16, will begin the fifth Sunday in August. The public has a cordal invitation to attend the sevices.

Some of those who are posing as "liberals" would be liberal in using public money to venture in socialistic schemes if they had the chance.

Mrs. M. C. Rutherford and Miss Minnie Rutherford from Montgomery are visiting friends and relatives here this week.

Mr. Jim Lowe of Selma visited friends in Clanton, Saturday night and Sunday.

LONG HIGHWAY IS PROPOSED FROM ILLINOIS - FLORIDA

New Chicago-Florida Route Would Pass Through Birmingham And Chilton County

Greenville, Ala., August 9.—J. E. Crump, a representative of the new Chicago-Florida Highway, is in Greenville soliciting the highway.

The new highway leads out from Chicago south to Nashville, to Birmingham, Montgomery, Greenville, Evergreen, Brewton, Pensacola and St. Petersburg.

Chicago, St. Petersburg and Pensacola interests are fostering the association which is log, mark and advertise the route. Communities through which the road passes are asked for financial and moral support of the project and this is the purpose of Mr. Crump's visit to Greenville.

It is said that 400,000 automobiles with an average passenger list of three went into Florida last year. Of this number, 92.8 per cent went through Georgia, Jacksonville and Lake City. This association is endeavoring to induce at least 100,000 cars to come over this Chicogo-Florida Highway the comming Fall.

According to estimation furnished it will cost $100,000 to put the project over and of this amount $50,000 has already been pledged. The remainder is asked from the people along the route.

Promoters of the project will conduct motorcades from two to four times a month over the highway, according to present plans.

W. H. WILSON WRITES IN ANSWER TO ADAMS' LETTER

Editor Union-Banner:

In last week's issue of the Banner I notice that Mr. Albert Adams scems to be very much surprised at the way the road money is being spent and as to who is working the roads. He says the hands are not able to work and that the money is just given to kins-folk, and that he cannot get a job. I will ask him to please answer these questions in the paper next week: Have my kins-folk drawn more money than others have? Have I worked many hands who have not given a day on the road? Who have you tried to get a job with, and how many hands did he have? How many were akin to him? Have you either paid road tax or worked the road? Have you given any time on the road so as to have a good road? Who is it that is trying to work hands who are not able to work and how much time have they put in?

W. H. WILSON.

MRS. CLARA MULLINS GONE TO BUY GOODS FOR FIRM

Mrs. Clara Mullins left Saturday, August 2nd for northern and eastern markets to buy goods for the Clanton Mercantile Company, for which firm she works. Mrs. Mullins is an experienced buyer, and when she returns she will have something of interest to tell the many customers of the Clanton Mercantile Company. Watch the papers for further notice.

THE JEMISON CONSOLIDATED CSHOOL EXPECTS TO OPEN SEPT. 1, 1924

Editor of the Union Banner.
Clanton Alabama.
Dear Sir:

I wish to ask for a short space through your colums to say a word in regard to the schools of Chilton county and particularly that of Jemison. I am interested in the schools of the county because I have spent one very pleasant year of teaching in the County High School and because I believe there is as good blood in this county as any in the state. I Therefore, I am interested is the success of its boys and girls. And since I am principal of the Jemison school this year it is my ambition to pave the way to success for the boys and girls under its care.

The course of study arranged and selected for the emison Consolidated School this year shall be taught so far as possible to be of maxium value to the extent pursued. This aim is being pushed forward: because of the uncertainty of the time that pupils are in school; because it will serve as an incentive for good work; and because it will aid the pupils in understanding values they are going to do anyway; reveal higher activities and make them both desired and to an entent possible; and make them realize what is worth learning is worth retaining. The duty of the school has been to a large extent fulfilled, then, the "Getting by" attitude will be cast aside and the seriousness of the job realized.

The school is expecting a large enrollment this year. And since the whole policy of compulsory education rises or falls with the ability to make school life an interesting and absorbing experience to the child, we hope to make a great deal of work off the attendance officer. To do this, we must know: what the child has been internally occupied with; what the predominating direction of this intention is; his feelings and disposition. Through the co-operation of teachers, parents, and pupils this can most easily be accomplished. With such hearty cooperation as the Jemison people have thus far given, and with the new addition to the school building, it is to be hoped that this will be the banner year in the history of the school.

Respectfully,
J. A. PETERSON.

Old Folks' Ailments

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blakemore, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way, assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

CONSERVATION OF WILD LIFE IN ALABAMA

The Conservation, Protection and Propagation of the State's wild life resources are being emphasized more today than ever before.

The sortsman is not alone in his desire to see all forms of protected wild life conserved and increased for his pleasure and benefit.

The State of Alabama takes cognizance of the fact that the wild life resources within its borders have a tremendous economic value, not alone the game birds and animals but the insectivorous birds as well.

Farmers everywhere are begining to realize the economic value of insectivorous birds, and they are ready to co-operate in any reasonable way to secure better protection of those kind that are of proven economic value to agriculture.

In order, therefore, to bring about a more cordial relationship and common understanding among the citizens of Alabama in setting up a conservation program for the future, and assistance in the determination of policeis which should be pursued, I am calling a convention of the citizens of the State to meet in Montgomery September the eleventh to continue in session two days.

It is hoped that every county in the State will be represented at this conference. Each organization should select delegates, and those counties in which game and fish protective associations or conservation clubs have not been organized should organize at once, and select their delegates to attend the convention.

The program for the meeting will be announced later.

I. T. QUINN,
Com. of Game and Fisheries.

WOOD PULP INDUSTRY FOR SOUTHERN STATES

The wood pulp industry is anxious to eztend into the southern states, according to information received by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. Heretofore this industry has been centered chiefly in the northeast because of early accessible supplies of pulp wood and nearness to the center of population. However, the population has extended westward and the requirements for pulp for the manufactue of paper have become spread over a much greater geographical area. The pulp wood of the future must be grown under care and protection. The rapidity of growth is an extremely important factor. Accessibility to market is another. No region in the United States is so admirably adapted to the rapid growth or a large supply of pine pulp wood as the central gulf region, including the state of Alabama. This region also occupies a commanding position from the standpoint of transportation. The only thing needed for an extensive development of the pulp manufacturing industry in this section is assurance that the young timber will be allowed to grow as nature intended. The chief obstacle to its growth is fire. As soon as fire protection is assured, the central gulf region will grow pulp wood at a rate that will supply hundreds if mills. A pulp mill can be operated very economically in connection with a sawmill. The small timber can be thinned out and used for pulp wood while the remaining trees are growing to saw log size. The saw timber grows much more rapidly under such conditions; meanwhile the pulp mill is using what otherwise would be a waste. The State Commission of Forestry regards the pulp industry as one of the greatest fields for development in the entire south.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

A tract of 112 acres in East Gadsden, two miles from the city, has been acquired as a site for the Alabama School of Trades and Industry, according to announcement. It is part of the Paden farm and fronts on the main highway between Gadsden and Anniston. Members of the board of trustees are highly pleased with the location. Dr. John W. Abercrombie state superintendent of education, announced while here that his assistant and engineers of the T. C. I. Co. and of the Alabama Power company would shortly begin work on plans for the building and equipment. The board has $60,000 which is to be put into the main building. It is stated that much of the equipment will be donated by large industrial concerns over the country. It is the intention to get the school started as early as possible.

The full demand of the Southern Underwriters association, necessary to keep Albany and Decatur property as high-class insurance risks, met some months ago by agreement, are now met in fact, with every new water main, every new force pump and all other fire-fighting equipment, including additional fireman, in place and functioning. This news was given out by T. B. Hale, local manager of the Alabama Water company, which furnishes the entire water supply for the Twin Cities, and Mr. Hale's statement was verified by officials of both cities.

Several hundred shopmen of the Central of Georgia Railway company and of the Illinois Central Railroad, of Birmingham and Columbus, held their picnic at Grime's Lake. The families of many of the trainmen attended. The Boys' Industrial School, of Birmingham furnished part of the music. Four extra coaches from Columbus and six from Birmingham furnished transportation for the visitors. In the afternoon Birmingham and Columbus played a baseball game, the Magic City shopment winning easily.

Restoration of depleted oyster areas under provisions of an act of the 1923 legislature, through planting of seed oysters, will be pushed as fast as available funds accrue to the credit of the sea food division of the department of game and fisheries, according to Commissioner I. T. Quinn.

A petition was filed with Alabama Public Service Commission by C. T. Davidson seeking authority to sell his light plant at Helena to the Alabama Power company. The petition was set for hearing September 8.

The Montgomery Chamber of Commerce, through its board of directors called upon the city commission to adopt a traffic ordinance that will relieve the congestion in the down town section. The statement was made that the city had outgrown old ordinances and that one must be adopted that will limit the time for the parking of automobiles in the business section.

Frank A. Vernon, a prominent merchant and farmer of Cusseta, while walking in his sleep stumbled out of the open window of his bedroom and fell to the ground below. In the fall Mr. Vernon landed on his head and shoulders, dislocating one shoulder and sustaining other painful injuries. Fortunately, the injuries are not of a serious injury.

The Birmingham-Montgomery highway, one of the most important roads which will be constructed with state and federal funds, will be ready for use in two years, according to estimates made by W. S. Keller, state highway engineer. Thirty-nine miles are now under construction and contracts for twenty-five miles are yet to be let.

A skilled instructor for the Boy Scout troops of Huntsville and Albany-Decatur has been secured by the Huntsville Rotary club. The instructor, who will report about August 15 will divide his time between Huntsville and the Twin Cities.

The B. and M. Lumber company has closed down its plant at Bay Minette for repairs and enlargement. A new dry kiln, doubling the capacity of the plant, will be erected.

The first bale of new cotton grown in Montgomery county during the present season was sold at 30 cents a pound. It was graded above middling by the warehouse purchasing it.

Engineers of the state highway department are surveying for the Brandon highway between Greenville and Pineapple.

The state gasoline tax for June amounted to $141,036.82. This gives each of the 67 counties $2 1052.62 to be used for road purposes.

LIBERTY HILL

As I haven't seen any news from this place in quite a while, thought I would write a few words.

Our revival meting began Saturday. We have heard some mighty good sermons and expecting more.

The many friends of Mr. Leonard Culp are glad indeed to see him back at Liberty again, as he has been away for some few weeks.

Misses Mattie and Ernest Sansom returned home Saturday after a week's visit to Maplesville, Route 2.

Mrs. John Minor and children were the guests of Mrs. G. W. Sansom Saturday night.

Miss Senora and Mr. Leonard Culp were the guests of Mr. Duncan Wells Sunday.

Misses Frances Lowery and Maggie Rollins visited Misses Meadie and Mae Sansom Sunday.

Good news for Expectant Mothers

WHEN the little one arrives you can have that moment freer from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great rubbing preparation called "Mother's Friend."

Results from the use of "Mother's Friend" are proven by many startling letters of testimony from happy users. "I can almost say my baby was born without pain," writes a young mother who had used "Mother's Friend."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. It has been used by three generations of expectant mothers. Start using it today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., B-A 18, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all good drug stores.

There are said to be some politicans who were sorry to see the price of wheat go up. It causes their stock to go down.

When Bryan and Davis begin to make speeches we shall see a real tug of war. Here's betting that Bryan can pull Davis over to his side.

The difficulty of adjusting railroad rates according to the value of the commodity is illustrated by the recent rapid advance in the market value of wheat. No transportation system could adjust its rates as rapid as that.

To the farmer the increase in the price of grain is of chief interest because of its return to his bank account. But it ought to be of interest, also, because it demonstrates the falsity of the assertion that low prices of wheat were due to Republican policies. Those policies are still in effect.

In the midst of conditions that the Democratic campaigners tell us are something awful, about 500,000 immigrants came into this country by legal methods last year and another hundred thousand were smuggled in. Strange how some folks want to get into trouble.

Several big meetings are going on in the vicinity of Clanton this week—Methodist meeting at Walnut Creek, Baptist meeting at Liberty Hill, Adventist meeting in Clanton, Holiness meeting two miles north-east of Clanton, and negro Baptist meeting in Clanton. Everybody ought to find a meeting of their particular liking to attend this week.

The public roads of Chilton County are in better shape today than they ever have been before, and most of the people of the county appreciate this fact. Of course, there are a few natural-born knockers who are never pleased with anything and are now found kicking against some phase of the road law or against some particular overseer, but by far the vast majority of the populace of the county is mighty well pleased, and justly so, with the work that is being and has been done on the roads of the county.

The question of bobbed hair is commanding quite a bit of newspaper and pulpit space now-a-days pro and con. Some condemn the custom as being ungodly while others hold that it is a woman's privilege. The style which a woman wears her hair is no index to the condition of her inward soul. She can be straight and wear short hair and she can be crooked and wear long hair. A lady will be a lady regardless of the style of her hair. What we need to worry about is the spiritual condition of our women—and men—and not devte too much discussion to the style of their hair.

President Wilson put the League of Nations into politics by demanding a "solemn referendum" in 1920. We had the referendum, it was solemn, it was decisive. But the Democartic convention felt impelled to gratify the Wilsonites by demanding another referendum, which, however, does not satisfy the followers or Wilson to any extent. The convention tried to satisfy the Wilsonites without offending the Democratic opponents of the League, and, as a result it dissatisfied everybody.

WHY IS IT—

COOLIDGE OR BRYAN

The voters might as well understand that the question they are to decide on next election day is whether they will elect Calvin Coolidge to the Presidency or permit the United States Senates Senate to elect Charles W. Bryan to that office. It becomes increasingly apparent day by day that John W. Davis is practically eliminated from the contest and that the race is actually between Coolidge and Bryan. Democrats the country over should look the fact in the face and form their decisions accordingly.

With a third ticket in the field, fighting both Coolidge and Davis, it is almost a certainty that the latter can not hope to poll a marjority of the election votes that would mean his election. The danger seemes to be that the Democratic and the third party tickets together may garner enough votes to prevent Mr. Coolidge from geting the coveted majority. In that event Mr. Davis would have the grim satisfaction of pulling Mr. Coolidge down with him to defeat, for the House of Representatives into which election would then be thrown would never consent to the election f either man. In its present complexion the balance of power is held by men who would tie the House up in a complete deadlock, particularly so as they would know that by so doing they would assure the election of Mr. Bryan in the Senate.

The results of the general election in the choice of a Vice President would be substantially the same as the Presidential election, and, under Article XII of the Constitution, the Senate would proceed to choose a Vice President, precisely as the House would attempt to choose a President. Governor Bryan's election as Vice President would doubtless be announced after the first ballot.

That would be the situation which the country would face on March 4, 1925, if the popular election of November 4, 1924, failed to produce a marjority of the election votes for Presidtnt Coolidge. Our people would then be regarded with the spectacles of Mr. Bryan being escorted to the White House to receive the keys of the Executive Officers from the departing Mr. Coolidge.

Few people in this country would deliberately oust Mr. Coolidge from the White House and install Governor Bryan in control of the executive branch of the Government for four long years. Yet every voter must settle that question in his own mind before he casts his ballot. Mr. John W. Davis is a highminded man, but let not his friends be deceived into thinking that he can get a majority of the electoral votes and win the election. By casting their ballots for him, his supporters are doing Mr. Davis no good, but are really giving material aid toward elevating Governor Bryan to the Presidential chair.

Under the new State Code, which becomes effective August 17th, children under 15 years of age will be prohibited from driving automobiles on the public highways of the State. The owner of such vehicle shall also be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to a fine, and the license tag may be revoked.

In this day, when automobiles are as thick on the highways and public roads as gnats it is absolutely necessary that very strict traffic regulations be enacted and enforced. The law above mentioned is of paramount importance. Already there have been numbers of automobile wrecks in Chilton County due to children drivers, who are not large enough to control a speedy and high-powered automobile. This is indeed a good law and should be rigidly enforced.

TRUE TO TRADITION

As Vice Presidential candidate on the ticket opposed to President Cooliddge, Govenor Bryan conceives it his duty to make national defense a football of politics. He takes it upon himself to answer the letter of the President addressed to notorious pacifists who were unfairly trying to make it appear that National Defense Day is a warlike gestrue. Mr. Bryan thereby arrays the Democratic party in opposition to the plasn which the officers of the Army have worked out, and align himself and the party of which he is one of the leaders with those who are trying to impair our defense system.

In following that course, Governor Bryan is true to Democratic traditions. In 1916 the party made its bid for the Presidency on the slogan, "He kept us out of war." To give that campaign consistency and make it effective there was almost a complete stoppage of all preparations for national defense, even tho it seemed inevitable that the United States would be drawn into the war raging in Europe. The Democrats won the election, and the following summer the people paid the price. The unpreparedness fostered by the party then in power cost billions of dollars and hundreds of lives in the feverish scramble to get soldiers and material together after war was declared in April 1917.

Mr. Bryan and the pacifists who are inveighing against the observance of National Defense Day are doing everything in their power to put the country back into that state of impotence in which our advent into the great war found it. No one of sound mind thinks for a moment that such a policy will reduce the probability of our being attacked. On the contrary, helplessness is a direct invitation to attack. Instead of preventing war, the attitude or Mr. Bryan is provocative of war and of a war in which the defeat and subjugation of these United States would be assured from the start. ow many Democrats will follow their vice presidential candidate in the position he has taken?

WHAT IS EXPERIENCE WORTH?

"History makes men wise" said Bacon. He assumed, of course, that people would read history and observe its teaching. As some other philospher has said, experience is a dear teachers. Reading history, and learning thereby is cheaper than learning by experience. Those who will take the trouble to read history will find that the adoption of the Democratic tariff policy in the election of 1892 brought fear to the hearts of American industrial leaders —which fears were confirmed by the effects of the tariff law which was passed as a result of that election. We had an industrial depression from 1893 to 1896. Industry was scared again in 1912, when the Democrats once more won at the polls, and those fears were also confirmed by the shifting of trade to such an extent that our favorable trade balance became an adverse balance. Will the American people profit by the teachings of history, or must they have some more dear experience?

CHILD AUTO DRIVERS FORBIDDEN BY CODE

The new code of laws of Alabama, which becomes effective August 17, prohibits any child under 15 years of age from driving an automobile upon a public highway, and provides penalties for an auto owner who permits such child to drive a car. Under the new code, any child under 15 driving or operating a motor vehicle on a public highway shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be dealt with as provided for in the juvenile laws; while the owner or person in charge of a motor vehicle who permits a child under 15 to drive or operate an automobile in this State shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and fined not to exceed $500, and may also receive 6 months hard labor, and in addition, his license for the current year shall be revoked.

The Sheriff of Chilton County and the police of Clanton are going to see that this law is recogniztd. The people are warned against letting children drive cars in violation of this law, because it is a statute law and is going to be enforced.

PLAIN PREDICTION

Henry Ford predicts the day will come when airplaines will be built in thousands and millions. There is more reliance to be placed on this prediction than there was on the promise of the Wilson Administration made in February 1918 that there would be 27,000 American airplanes on the battle front by July, of that year. We had no planes there in July, but soon after there was one awful scandal for which no one was punished despite the recommendations of Charles Evans Hughes, who was appointed by Mr. Wilson to investigate and report.

WHAT OF IT?

The N. Y. Journal of Commerce accuses President Coolidge of seeking political advantages in hastening the investigation by the Tariff Commission of the butter tariff and its effect on butter imports. Well, there is nothing particularly wrong or unprecedented in seeking a political advantage by doing justice to the American farmer or to any other class of people. Justice to a part is justice to the whole. Really the advantage comes unsought where justice is done.

FARM FACTS

Don't quit poising the boll weevils as long as it is possible to poison them at a profit. At present prices a few pounds of lint cotton will pay for dusting an acre.

The recent Farm Bureau meeting in Montgomery was an inspiration to every one present and to the tens of thousands of people who read about it. Organization and cooperation are sweeping Alabama.

An announcement from Aburn says that the well-known army worm which severly damaged cotton last year is appearing in various places in the State. If they appear in large numbers the cotton should be dusted with calcium arsenate.

"The greatest crop in Alabama is our boys and girls. Let's give them a chance to become leaders and train them to develop and utilize properly the great resources of our State. Proper education will do it." —Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director, Alabama Extension Service, Auburn.

"The annual appropriation of the State of Alabama for agriculture research and investigation amounts to 11½ cents per farm, or approximately the price of a package of cheap cigarettes."—Prof. M. J. Funchess, Director, Alabama Experiment Station, Auburn.

An Auburn bulletin says: "The Mexican bean beetle is spreading. He plays havoc with beans and certain other crops. Control him by poisoning with a mixture of 1 pound calcium arsenate, 1 pound sulfur, and 4 pounds hydrated lime. Mix thoroughly and allow to stand at least 24 hours before using. Apply with dust gun that will put the poison on the under side of leaves."

THE YOUNG IDEA

A New York boy of 15 has made application for enrollment in the citizens' military camps for 1926 when his age will make him eligable. This summer he saw so many of his friends turned away from the camps because the quotas were filled that he determined to be early enough in the field to assure his own acceptance two years hence. The remarkable popularity of the camps among all the young man of the country bears testimony to the ability with which they are conducted and to the soundness of the idea. Military instruction is combined with recreation and physical exercises in such proportions as to command and hold the student's interest from the moment of his enrollment.

MALARIA LEAVES A HEAVY MARK

Malaria, unfortunately, does not end with the breaking of Chills and reducing of Fever. Even after the patient is free from actual illness, the marks on his system are plain to see. Vitality is weak, appetite poor, weight fallen off, spirits low. In such conditions Wintersmith's Chill Tonic, a reliable anti-malaria prescription is invaluable.

Wintersmith's Chill Tonic builds up and restores what the malarial fever has taken away. It enriches and purifies the blood, aids the appetite, tones up the system, hastens the return of health and strength.

Taken as you feel Chills and Fever coming on, Wintersmith's Chill Tonic gives prompt and certain relief; and a long siege of Malaria can often be avoided. Its beneficial effects have been proved in thousands of cases, over 56 years of continued use. At your drug store. Popular size, 60c; mammoth size, $1. Made only by the Wintersmith Chemical Co., Inc. Gerald Fouke, of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, and four assistants has begun to explore the Indian mounds near Wilson Dam, which will soon be submerged. The mounds are composed of mussels and perewinkles. The experts services were obtained largely through the efforts of the Tennessee Valley Historical Society.

J. D. Marston, former rural mail carrier in Cherokee county, was convicted on every count of an indictment charging him with stealing money orders. He is alleged to have appropriated between $100 and $150. Judge Grubb, of the United States court, sentenced him to five years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta.

Traffic law violators led the arrested persons in Birmingham for the month of July, according to figures compiled by Sergeant C. N. Kicker, of the police department. The report shows that 3,412 persons were arrested during the month of which number 2,988 were for traffic violations. Gamers were said to have run second and liquor law cases third.

The contract for the home economics annex at Alliance High School, Jefferson County, has been let to Holley and Berry for $10,000. The annex is being constructed for special home economics training, and is being supported by state and federal aid. Miss Helen Johnson will be in charge of the department for the school term beginning September 15.

United Confederate veterans will hold an annual reunion at the camp grounds near Hartselle August 15-16, according to Adjutant Denton, of the Friendship camp. The Hartselle band will furnish music for the occasion. On August 16 a basket dinner will be served on the camp grounds to all comers.

The state pardon board will hold its August meeting August 26. The meeting was first set for August 12, but owing to the fact that Attorney General Davis will attend camp at Camp McClellan, and that Auditor Allgood will be on his vacation, the meeting was deferred two weeks.

Actual work of repairing the bridge over the Alabama river at Selma will begin in ten days. Plans have been made by H. H. Houk, of the state bridge department, and have been checked by W. K. Upchurch, who is the engineer placed in charge of the work.

Mrs. Charles Negley, of Florence, announced that the new Jefferson hotel under construction will be made a three story building instead of two, as first planned and will have 150 rooms. Mrs. Negley stated the building, under the enlarged plans, would cost $80,000.

Contracts have been let by the government at Wilson Dam for 129,000 feet of lumber and $6,000 worth of steel shapes for machines, shafting plates, etc. The Gulf States Steel company of Birmingham and the Youngstown Shapo and Tube company of Youngstown, Ohio were awarded the steel contracts. The lumber ordered went to two Mississippi companies, located at Laurel and Hattiesburg.

The Gulf States Steel company will make extensive repairs at Virginia Mines, which will include the construction of a new top house and the making of a new opening into the mine. A number of carpenters are being sought by the company for the construction work and repairs to be made, and a large sum will be spent in improvements at the mine, it is stated.

Claiming that the purchase price of $323,000 for the real estate belonging to the Anniston City Land company, which is in the process of being sold to a new corporation formed by William A. Davis, Jr., C. A. Hamilton and D. W. Pruet, was entirely inadequate, the minority stockholders have filed injunction proceedings against the board of directors of the land company, seeking to prevent the sale.

The high school at Haleyville, Winston county, has been raised to the status of a junior college and Dr. J. O. Hanes, a well known Methodist minister, has been elected the first president of the institution. The school already has some building and equipment, and it is understood that the citizens of Haleyville have raised $10,000 for additional buildings.

With its own paving plant, Gadsden has started to pave Sixth, Tenth and Eleventh streets, and Fourth, Fifth and Hill avenues, the penetration method being used. It is said that residents on those thoroughfares petitioned that something be done to relieve the dust menace and that the officials decided that the only effective relief would be in paving.

The mangled and lifeless body of Ted Robinson, 22-year-old son of Charlie Robinson of Albertville, was found in the railroad yards near Akron, O. He is said to have gone North to look for his 18-year-old brother, George, who had not been heard from for several weeks and whose absence was worrying his mother.

The Alabama Public Service Commission has named Milton L. Cooper, of Selma, as accountant for the commission. Mr. Cooper is the first all-time accountant the commission has employed. Mayer W. Aldredge, of Montgomery, has acted as consulting accountant of the commission in the past when his services were necessary.

The Talladega courthouse annex, which was formerly the old First Methodist church, is rapidly being gotten into shape for occupancy. The board of health has started moving and its new quarters are being put into first-class shape. The board of education is also making preparations for moving into its new home.

"TEMPTATION"

Since seeing an article from the pen of Mr. Holt in our paper, I feel that I want to say just a few words in behalf of my sex, for you see, a one-sided argument isn't so interesting. We want both the affirmative and negative.

When God made man He gave him a law to obey, and told him "In the day thou eatest of the fruits of a certain tree thou shalt surely die." Then He gave him a helpmate (woman) or a co-worker in this Garden of Eden, but to Adam himself was this law given, and it became his duty to take this co-partner into his confidence and love and enlighten her and fortify her against the deceit of the serpent.

But according to Mr. Holt, we guess Adam so busy admiring her long beautiful hair he forgot his duty towards her. So she was beguiled by the serpent and did eat of the forbidden fruit, then realizing what she had done, and because he loved those long silken tresses, he also partook of the fruit. But, lo, when the Lord returned, Adam peeped around from behind those golden tresses and said "This woman thou gavest me did eat and gave to me and I did eat also," showing that he himself placed her ahead of him, and to this day man hides behind a woman to conceal his own guilty conscience.

When Jesus, the Savior was on easth, an adultrious woman was set before Him, it being a custom for such characters to be stoned to death, and these men accused her and brought proof of her guilt. What did Jesus tell them? "Let him that is without sin cast the first stone" at her, and they departed one at a time, then Jesus told her to go and sin no more.

What do we find today? Men stoning woman to death by criticism. The poor little flapper needs a rest. This gossiping and criticism has gone too far. It is time we look around us, search the scriptures and find what God would have us do; not search them to find something to knock the fair sex, for such is nothing more nor less than tempting Christ as these men of old did.

And those good preachers of ours need to take heed also and preach "Peace on Earth, good will to all men," instead of knocking the fair sex about bobbed hair and styles of dressing, thus tempting the Saviour. The house of worship is dedicated to God and those who occupy the pulpit debase the cause of Christ when they stand therein and cast stones instead of preaching Christ, good will to all men, peace on earth.

Quit casting stones at your co-partner in the vineyard, take her to your heart, confide in her and help her to help you, as God would have you do.

Now, I am quite sure some one will want to call me a bobbed-haired woman, but just relieve your feelings, purge your conscience and make yourself comfortable, then read your Bible to find what God would have us do, but to enlighten you, I will say, I have long hair, wear my dresses short enough to keep them out of the mud in rainy weather, have no criticism to offer when a woman or girl wants her hair bobbed. That's her own privilege, for we all get out of life just what we put into it. So now, I say, let each one examine his own soul and conscience. Seek Jesus, whom to know is life eternal, and quit tempting the Saviour with criticising our sisters. Have you found anywhere in the Bible where a woman ever tempted Christ? If you have I want to know who it was and where I may find the scripture recorded.

Yours for peace on earth, good will to all men.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

During the past week we have had a most delightful combination of Auto trips and visiting with old friends from Thorsby. Circumstances enabled us to accept a very cordial invitation to visit Mr. and Mrs. Yancy Kelley, in their Connecticut home at Portland. This invitation contained a sort of codocil from the mother of Mrs. Kelley, whom Thorsby people knew as Miss Emily B. Ellsworth, which read very much like "Marching Orders."

Since the highways in New Jersey, New York and Connecticut are for the most part in fine condition, traveling is easy. Getting an early start and going north and east we came to the Hudson river, 60 miles, in about 2 1-2 hours at the town of Nyack, New York. Here we crossed the river on a big ferry boat capable of carrying 25 or more automobiles at one time, and riding so smoothly that we were about 100 yards from shore, before we realized that the boat was moving.

We landed, after riding about a mile on the water, at Tarrytown, N. Y., one of the many suburbs of New York City. A little later we passed Pocantico Hills, where John D. Rockefeller has one of his homes. Although it was near noon we did not stop for dinner with him, not being in "dinner dress," we went right along for a few miles and had our dinner in the woods near Pleasantville, having covered about 75 miles.

After resting an hour we loaded up again and soon crossed the state line into Connecticut near Newton. The first real live Yankee Town we met up with is Danbury, Conn, population about 25,000. Danbury heads the fur felt hat industry in America. Note we say fur felt, which for hats is fur the best. Many cheaper hats are made of wool or cotton felt, but "the quality" wear Danbury hats.

Next we come to Waterbury population 92,000. No city in the world produces so many articles in metal, for individual use. In 1807 the manufacture of wooden clocks, of the grandfather type, was started here. 30 years later, brass clockworks were made by hand, but Yankee ingenuity soon devised a great variety of machines and tools for making not only clocks but watches.

Many people will remember when the endless winding Watrbury watch, sold at a low price and later improved put out the "Ingersoll" watch and sold at retail for $1.00. More than 35 million of these watches have been made and sold. Besides time pieces there are rings, buttons, buckles, pins, shoe and other eyelets, hooks and eyes, pins, small nails and they even "got down to brass tacks.' They have a slogan, "Waterbury has something on everybody."

22 miles further along we came to Meriden, another phenomenal city, long noted for its manufacture of silverware, of which it is claimed, Meriden produces more than any other city in the world, although the population is but 35,000.

We soon reach Middletown on the west bank of the Connecticut river, population 22,000. Some factories here, Wesleyan University and some State institutions, but it is chiefly a trading center for a large section of the famously fertile Connecticut Valley. Crossing to the east bank of the river we arrive in Portland, our destination, a small town of about 4,000 people and practically a suburb of Middletown. A glance at our meter shows we have come 167 miles and the sun is still well up. A little inquiry enabled us to locate the people we were looking for from whom we received a very cordial reception.

Our "romance in real life," published in an early June issue of The Union-Banner, told of the marriage of Mr. Yancey Kelley and Miss Emily B. Ellsworth both of whom many of our readers know. We are now prepared to give some definite information as to their environment and prospects. Mr. Kelley's life before and after he came to Thorsby were no secret. His life among us was such as to reflect credit upon his home folks, his school, the community and himself.

Miss Ellsworth won the esteem of all who knew her both in the school and out of it. Her attainments and bearing indicated that she was of a fine family. This we found to be true. Her father now upwards of three-score and ten, has for many years been a contracting carpenter, prominent in the business and religious life of his home town. Although he has given up taking large contracts, he still continues to work at his trade, seldom losing a day. He is a fine type of sturdy New England stock. His wife a few years younger was born and raised in Portland. She is one of those kindly Christian women who seem to be a mother to the whole community. These Godly people have three sons and two daughters, all but the eldest son are living in Portland and that one, only ten miles away. The youngest son is president of Portland's only National Bank. About 9 miles from Portland, on a large tract of wild land, there is being built, an enormous building to cost $500,000.00, and used as a factory for artificial silk. The oldest son is chief of construction, the second one a superintendent, Father Ellsworth is employed as an expert for special work, while Mr. Kelley and another young man who lives at the Ellsworth home, are all employed in work on this building. Mr. Ellsworth told us that after having Kelley as his helper for three months on other work, he found him so efficiently and trustworthy, that he took him along in the same capacity for work on the big job, but he soon lost him because he was called away so often to do some job that needed special attention. Mr. Kelley is not considered by his employers or himself as a full carpenter. But he is both studying and working to attain the necessary education coupled with experience, which he hopes to accomplish within the next three years. Kelley is modest, but has a keen sense of the advantages of a thorough knowledge of his chosen profession, and withal the patient endurance to pay the price for it and seek advancement only on his merits.

Already he has sufficient income to meet his expenses and justify the purchase of a neat bungalow with two acres of land adjacent to the Ellsworth homestead, which was owned by a man in New York, and offered to Kelley at a decided bargain. Here we found them and enjoyed two days of delightful hospitality, a blending of the Southern and New England types which we think is a little more fine than either alone. The house is a little gem, just big enough for two, hence Mother Ellsworth provided pleasant sleeping apartments for us.

While in Thorsby Miss Ellsworth gave us to understand that she was not much of a cook, but after taking several meals at her table, we will say we have seldom had better food or more daintily served. These young people are not living just for themselves—they are both active workers in church, Sunday school and community life, and seem to be headed right to make "desirable citizens."

Since all things earthly must have an end, the time came when we must say good-bye, and turn our faces homeward, having greatly enjoyed every hour of our visit.

Our return trip covered much of the road we went on, but we made a detour which brought us to the Hudson river at Garrison, where we crossed by ferry to West Point, New York, Uncle Sam's great military school. We made the round of the driveways, seeing the great buildings and some of the fine views, then drove a few miles north to "Storm King Mountain," a lofty peak facing the river, then turned south on a splendid highway cut in the mountain sides.

At "Bear Mountain" we saw the new suspension bridge under construction to connect a state highway on the east side of the river.

"Bear Mountain" lies at the northern boundary of the Inter-State Palisades Park, extending 35 miles along the western side of the Hudson river and is 16 miles wide. In all this more than 500 square miles there is no private residence. It is owned jointly by the states of New York and New Jersey. It is kept as near in a natural state as possible, except where the work of man will make it more valuable for public use. A fine highway traverses it on both sides, making it accessible for tourists. It is intended as a play ground, and steamers from New York and New Jersey land hundreds of people there daily, some to camp, others just for a day in the country.

From the southern end of this park to our journey's end the route has already been described. We reached home before dark, having in the whole tour just about covered 500 miles by auto.

WEST CHILTON

The drouth was broken here on August 3rd by a fine rain.

Cotton is best here in several years. Corn on the up-lands is considerably cut off; on the low lands is fine.

J. P. Cost of Clanton visited here last week. Mr. Cost was born and raised here. His old friends were glad to meet him.

Mr. and Mrs. Luke McCary of Randolph spent the week-end on their farm here.

A large number from this section attended the great Harmony singing at Centerville on the 31st. It is a treat to hear those boys, girls and old people in Bibb County sing. Judge Pratt made all feel welcome. One of the business men of Centerville distributed a great number of fans out among the singers. Mr. Meggs, one of the business men, provided an abundance of free ice water. Donner was just fine. We never saw better attention given a song service. Those singers are characterized by a spirit of reverence which we believe is largely due to home training and influence. A spiritual atmosphere pervades their singings—just what we need more of in Chilton.

Marion Cofer is visiting in Siluria this week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Crumpton of Six Mile passed through this section last week. Their many friends were glad to see them.

Mr. C. G. Glass, one of our popular merchants, has added saw milling to his business as a side line.

We find "Notes of Travel" an interesting feature of The Union-Banner.

We note in a public journal the death of Goodloe Yancey in Atlanta, remembered by the older people as a brilliant young man at Jemison, Strasburg and Pleasant Grove in the long ago.

We note with approval an editorial in the Banner on the Swimming Pool. It seems almost futile to try to check the young in their career, but wisdom shoud be stressed before them. There is hope for the wise. The great Hebrew law-giver in his farewell address to ancient Israel said, "There is hope down to the latter days."

Pleasant Grove has recently held a revival with several additions.

"Big Business" may not be interested as to which wins, Coolidge or Davis, but a man of the Coolidge type—a lover of the American home, appeals to the little man, the merchant, the farmer, the saw mill man, the physician, the laborer and all the great common weal who need protection to American indostries.

The world renowned Judge Rutherford of the I. B. S. Association has said of those in authority, secular and ecclesiastic, had heeded the warning voice of the past several years, the present order of things would have melted down gradually, but they would not, so the crash must inevitably come

We congratulate Attorney Grady Reynolds on his appointment by President Coolidge.

S.S.S. stops Rheumatism

"MY Rheumatism is all gone. I feel a wonderful glory again in the free motion I used to have when my days were younger. I can thank S. S. S. for it all! Do not close your eyes and think that health, free motion and strength are gone from you forever! It is not so. S. S. S. is waiting to help you. TOM LOCKHART NEEDS HELP

Editor Union-Banner:

On the 18th day of July, Tom Lockhart got his right leg broke and his left knee knocktd out of place in Tuscaloosa County. He is now back at home in Clanton, and is in bad shape, without anything to live on and without friends.

Those who have helped him since he got hurt are: Uncle Tom Taylor, Will Cox, John Cox, John Popwell and J. Mell Martin. The people of Clanton should help a fellow when he is in such need as Tom Lockhart. I feel sure that God will repay those who contribute to such a cause.

WILL COX.

Mr. N. C. Cady, manager of the Western Newspaper Union at Birmingham, was in Clanton a while last Thursday attending to some newspaper business.

Set a New Sales Record

July business of this new and enterprising company set a new sales record for the month of July, which far exceeds that of any past month.

July sales of Woco Pep Motor fuel, Woco Motor Oils and Sunlight Kerosene set a record in July over any past months that is almost alarming. Continuing the enormous increase that has been recorded in the past, the July sales set a new and unexpected peak figure.

According to a statement of John T. Ellis of the Woco Pep Co., they intend to break this July record during the month of August as they will have several new pumps to supply this month over July.

$700,000 OF NEW ROAD CONTRACTS TO LOW BIDDERS

Chilton, Dallas and Washington Projects Awarded By Highway Body.

Contracts aggregating nearly $700,000 were awarded by the state highway commission Thursday afternoon of last week, for three projects, in Chilton, Washington and Dallas counties.

The Chilton county contract which was for the surfacing with concrete of 17.45 miles of road on the Birmingham - Montgomery highway from Shelby county line south, was awarded to the low bidder, J.R. and J.B. Miller of Baconton, Ga., for $271,244.14. W. S. Keller, state highway engineer, recommended that this contract be awarded to the Lawrence Construction Company of Jackson, Mississippi. He stated that the Miller concern had never done concrete surfacing work, and that although the Lawrence company's bid was about $5,000 above the low bidder, it was in his opinion, the best firm to receive the contract by reason of its experience in such work. The commission, however, held that the state would be protected by a bond, and awarded the contract to J. R. and J. B. Miller.

The Washington county project, comprising approximately 22 miles of gravel road from the Mobile county line to Carson, on the Mobile-Selma highway, was awarded as follows: grading, to C. D. Fountain of Hattesburg, Mississippi, $127,964.96; surfacing, E. P Toulmin, Mobile, $159,246.50; bridges, Ed Pettus, Montgomery, $31,842.22.

The Dallas county project, comprising a little less than eight miles between Selma and Centerville, was awarded, for the road work, to E. J. Toulmin of Mobile, for $64,882.15, and for bridges, to Bosworth-Smith of Montgomery for $32,129.46.

The commission heard delegations from Prattville interested in location of the spur to connect Prattville with the main line of the Birmingham-Montgomery highway. An attempt had been made to route this highway directly through Prattville, but it developed at the meeting that owing to refusal of the federal government to approve the longer route via Prattville, the attempt had been abandoned. The main line of the highway will pass east of Prattville on the location approved by federal engineers, and the matter considered Thursday was the location of the spur to connect with the trunk highway. A delegation headed by Judge Posey favored having the spur enter Prattville on Main Street, while J. W. Rice represented a party favoring an entrance at the Wetumpka road.

All the tick eradication cases coming up in the Circuit Court of Chilton County this week were continued on account of the fact that Dr. C. A. Cary, State Veterinarian was not present. There was an attachment issued for Dr. Cary.

W. W. Cameron, Inspector in Charge, states that the county is in good condition and that he has found few fever ticks. He compliments the citizens of Chilton County for their co-operation.

STORE BURNS THURSDAY NIGHT IN EDGE OF CLANTON

Last Thursday night about 9:00 o'clock it was announced that the store of Mr. John Wells, half mile out of town on the Lock 12 road was on fire. Within thirty or forty minutes after the fire was discovered, the store building together with its contents were in ashes. The dwelling houses of Mr. Will Plier and Mr. H.L. Mims were within a few feet of the store building, and it took rather vigorous bucket brigading to save these buildings.

The stock, which belonged to John Wells, it is said, amounted to around $1,500. It is said that $1,200 insurance was carried on the stock. The store building belonged to Mr. Will Plier. In the building Mr. Plier had stored a planing mill, a grist mill, two or three gas engines, a band saw, some lumber and some other machinery. The amount of Mr. Plier's loss was rather heavy.

A gasoline filling station stood under the front edge of the store shed, and a large tank was burried just beneath the surface, but it is said that there was no gas in the tank at the time of the fire.

Just as the fire began to die down, automobiles stood three and four deep from within a few yards of the burning house to the foot of the hill at Joe Gore's. There were at least two hundred cars along the road, rendering it well nigh impossible for a person to walk between them. It took nearly an hour for the cars to get away from their jammed and crowded condition.

NEWS FROM BON AIR

The revival meeting ended here on Friday night. Nine converts were baptized Saturday morning.

A crowd of young people motored to Anniston Sunday. They were Misses Maggie Lou and Missouri Burton, Sadie Leightsey and Johnnie Pound.

Miss Minnie Rhodes spent the day Saturday with Miss Beatrice Proctor.

Mrs. Traywick and daughters, Misses Minnie and Maudie, returned Sunday from Clanton, where they have been visiting relatives the past week.

Mrs. C. E. Johnson of Talladega has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Rhodes for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Leach and Mrs. Rhodes and Miss Minnie Rhodes visited their friends in Sylaiauga Sunday.

Mrs. T. C. Hubbard of Thorsby is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Dealia Traywick this week.

Mr. Duncan and family enjoyed the Holiness meeting at Center Hill.

The young people here are expecting a good time at the show which has stopped here for a week.

STATE WILL USE THREE CARLOADS OF AUTO TAGS

The State of Alabama will use upwards of three solid car loads of automobile tags the next fiscal year, and announcement is made that contract has been made not only for that amount but for even more, if needed.

It is further announced that the distribution of the tags this year will be made from Birmingham, since the greater number of the tags is being used in Jefferson County and this section of the State.

The distribution of the automobile tags is no easy matter. In Chilton County it is done through the probate judge's office and blanks are filled out when application is made and assessments also filed.

Yeah! But Who's That Other Bird Waiting Around The Corner?

TWO BOYS HURT IN AUTO WRECK SUNDAY NIGHT

Messrs. Odis Miller and Winfield Watts were slightly bruised up last Sunday night when the Ford roadster in which they were riding left the road and ran into a stump. The collission of the stump and the Ford occured up near Jackson's Chapel.

Otis was not hurt so badly but that he was able to be on his job at Lawrence's Garage Monday morning, but Watts had to be carried to the Hospital for treatment. The Ford also had to be carried to the auto Hospital for several dislocated joints to be put back in place. The boys state that something went wrong with the steering gear, and when the car struck a sand bed flew the track and struck a stump. The boys went out through the wind shield, Watts sustaining a rather severe cut. Otis got his tongue cut.

OPENING OF THE CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL SEPT. 8

I wish to announce that the Clanton Grammar School will open on Monday, September 8th. The incidental fee will be $3.50 for residents of the districts and $5.00 for non-residents, payable in advance. There will be a complete change of text-books, except in the primary grades. We are also required by law to organize the school according to the 6-3-3 plan, which will give us two years of Junior High School work.

W. E. MARTIN, Prin.

THE BIGGEST MELON YET

Mr. H. T. Littlejohn of Clanton Route 4 presented the Banner force with a watermelon Saturday weighing 63 pounds. The melon was 18 inches from stem to blossom and measured 41 inches in circumference at center. The variety of the melon is a mixture between the Mitchel and the Cleckler. This is by far the largest melon we have seen this year, and the meat of it was something fine. We are grateful to Mr. Littlejohn for this splendid gift.

An experiment in highway work, which is expected to determine whether treatment of sand-clay road surfaces with oil will do away with dust and mud, and at the same time prove as cheap, as renewing a sandy-clay surface, is now being carried out by the state highway department near Banks, Pike county, on the Bee Line highway. At this point oil is being placed on about a mile of sand-clay road. The oil was donated by the Standard Oil company. It may be found that by oiling sand-clay roads will maintain them adequately at less or no greater expense than resurfacing every 12 months, at the same time doing away with dust and mud.

For the first time in her history Alabama has passed the billion-dollar mark in taxable values, according to tabulations made by the state tax commission. This represents a large increase over the 1923 assessment and will result in swelling to the total receipts from ad valorem taxes. Beginning right after October 1 the special agents will start on the quadrennial appraisement of all property in the state, and it is believed that when they are through the present billion-dollar mark will have been largely exceeded.

FIRST BALE OF COTTON BOUGHT BY CLANTON MERCANTILE CO.

The first bale of cotton brought into Clanton this season belonged to Mr. Verge Culver of West End, Clanton. The bale was ginned by Mullins & Popwell, and was sold at auction, Mr. J. C. Jones of the Clanton Mercantile Company being the purchaser. The bale brought 35 cents per pound.

UNCLE DOCK'S OPINION ON GIRLS' BOBBED HAIR

Uncle Dock Wells says that so much is being said regarding women and girls bobbing their hair that he feels disposed to give his verdict on the question. He hands us the following:

Uncle Dock's Rhyme

There was a young lady in Clanton
the other day who asked me what I thought' about the women bobbing their hair. My reply was the following rhyme:—

To the girls bobbing their hair
I am much opposed,
But that ain't near as bad
As the girls wearing men's clothes.

I have never yet known a man
To get any gain or get many riches,
Where he allowed his daughter and wife
To wear the breeches.

Very respectfully,
UNCLE DOCK WELLS.

ALABAMA DIVORCES GAIN LAP ON LITTLE DAN CUPID

The Department of Commerce at Washington announces that, according to returns received, there were in Alabama, for the calendar year 1923, 28,309 marriages performed and 3,392 divorces granted. For the calendar year 1922, 25,496 marriages and 2,620 divorces were reported.

The increase in marriages reported for 1923 over the number reported for 1922 is 2,813 or 11 per cent. The divorces reported for 1923 show an increase of 772 or 29.5 per cent over the number reported for 1922.

The statistics of marriages and divorces for 1923 were furnished by the state board of health.

NEW HARMONY

The all-day singing at New Harmony (Lomax) Sunday was splendid, many singers being present. A fine audience was in attendance.

We were glad to have Mr. T. C. Jackson of Sylacauga, also Mr. Nolian Barnett of Columbiana with us. Directors for the day were, the chairman, T. J. Jackson, J. H. Williams, Mr. Barnett, T. C. Jackson, Era Sanders, T. J. Baker, J. W. Hayes and W. L. Jackson.

It was a good day for all.

Next, we turn our attention to the fall session on the County Convention. It's just around the corner.

THE SECRETARY.

REBUILDING OLD CHILTON HARDWARE STORE HOUSE

Mr. Ed Plier set in early Monday morning building back the old store house of the Chilton Hardware Company, which was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. When the building is put back no partition will be put in but the space formerly occupied by the City Bakery will be used in the one building. We understand that the whole thing will be occupied by the Chilton Hardware Company after it is re-built.

FIDDLIN' JOHN CARSON IS TO PLAY AT COURT HOUSE

Friday night and Saturday night of this week the people of Clanton will be accorded a rare treat of getting to see and hear the famous John Carson, together with his string band. The name of John Carson of Atlanta, Ga., has been made famous the world over by his mastery of the violin and his classic rendition of the old time barn-yard medleys. If you are a lover of this kind of music, don't fail to hear John Carson Friday night and Saturday night at the court house in Clanton. If you have heard him on the Okeh records at Weldon's Music House, come out and hear and see him in person.

ATTEND BIG BARBECUE AT SELMA LAST FRIDAY

Mr. Jasper N. Dennis went down to Selma last Friday to attend a barbecue given by the Dallas County Farm Bureau, and thru his kindness and courtesy Judge L. H. Reynolds, Mr. Jim Grant and T. E. Wyatt were premitted to go with him. In regard to Mr. Dennis' hospitality and the trip in general, the editor of The Banner wishes to say for Judge Reynolds, Mr. Grant and himself that it was a fine treat indeed. The trip together with the courtesies of the berbecue and gathering was very enjoyable indeed.

Leaving Clanton about 8:30 and going by way of Maplesville, Stanton and Plantersville, we reached Selma about 10:45. A few minutes stay in Selma talking with friends and acquaintenances revealed that the barbecue was being held about four miles out from town, and being pointed out the way by officials of the Farm Bureau, we proceeded to the ground. Reaching the location of the gathering we found a beautiful grove with around a thousand people on the scene and in the rear was all kinds of meats and eatables being prepared for the barbecue.

Shortly after we arrived the speakers began to come in and arrangements were made for the speaking. The first one put on the rostrum—the front porch of a little deserted dwelling house—was the president of the Ala. Farm Bureau Federation, Mr. Edgar O'Neal, who spoke very interestingly on farm problems for twenty or thirty minutes. Next Major Lamar Jeffers, Congressman from the Fourth District, came forward and spoke for forty minutes, the principal theme of his lecture being on co-operation.

At this point, it being about 1:30 the welcome announcement was made that dinner was served. A big sufficiency of the very finest of barbecued meats was placed at the disposal of the hungry throng, and they sure made shuckings of it. But even after everybody was filled with good eats and lemonade, there was still plenty left.

After dinner was over and everybody rested and shook hands with friends a bit, the people were called back around the front porch for some more speaking. A representative of the Chamber of Commerce of Montgomery spoke for a few minutes, and was followed by Dr. Frank Willis Barnett, who spoke very interestingly for an hour on the subject of "Egotism." Although Dr. Barnett used the pronoun "I" extravagantly, yet his discourse about his being a doctor, a lawyer, a preacher and an editor, also his European trip, so often listened to by Alabama audiences, was interesting, instructive and amusing. Frank Willis Barnett is a talented man even if he does have to tell the folks about it himself.

In the afternoon a group of farmers was gathered together and taken out on an inspection tour of some of the big farms of that section. Mr. Jasper Dennis went on that trip and came back greatly elated over what he had seen. Mr. Dennis is a fine farmer and he gives the matter of progressive farming a great deal of time and thought. He is a close observer of the methods and plans used by other good farmers, and always profits by going out and seeing how other farmers do it.

The meeting adjourned about 3:30, the announcement being made that another similar meeting would be held by the Farm Bureau next year, the exact date and place to be announced later.

The crops within four or five miles of Selma are about like they are around Clanton. As to the crops between Plantersville and within a few miles of Selma, you will have to ask Jim Grant to find out how they are. Mr. Grant said going on down there it would take a thousand acres to make a bale of cotton. But on the return trip he said he was going to raise it to two thousand. So if you want to know any more about the crops and the trip in general, just ask Mr. Grant.

COOLIDGE SPENDS SIMPLE VACATION AT HIS OLD HOME

Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 16.—Pesident Coolidge, seeking a rest on the first vacation he has had since entering the White House, began it Saturday by getting up at 6 o'clock in the morning.

The chief executive chose Plymouth, the place of his birth and home of his father, because it is virtually isolated. The hamlet has neither telegraph offices nor railroad station. Yet Washington and its cares may follow the president right into his vacation nook for a special telephone and telegraph wire has been run into the old Coolidge store in Plymouth.

Mrs. Coolidge, their son, John, and Bascom Slimp, Mr. Coolidge's secretary, accompanied him.

Mr. Coolidge is in need of rest, a year of devotion to official duties and the loss of his son all having left their mark. A summary of the da's political news and such government business as demands attention, will come and go over the special wire linking the president to the capitol.

Party Visits Old Church

Once during the second day of their visit, the President, Mrs. Coolidge, Colonel Coolidge and young John stepped into the slight drizzle which marred the day and crossed the narrow country road to the humble Plymouth Parish church.

Within the simple structure, Rev. John White, a farmer-rector of Shrewbury, a nearby village, preached to the strange medley of official attaches of a presidential party and the regular congregation of farmers, woodsmen and shepherds. Mr. White is a minister of the old school. None needed to lean forward to catch his wards, and when he led his congregation in song, the volume of sound welled out of the tiny church and into the leafy hills.

FORMER CLANTON TEACHER FOUND DEAD IN HER BED

Greenville Ala., Aug. 14.—Miss Marion Seawright was found dead in her bed early Tuesday night upon the return of her brother from his store. Death was caused by a heart affection which had been giving her some trouble for months, according to her physician.

The above will be sad news to many people in Clanton who knew the deceased. She taught the primary grade in the Clanton Grammar School last year, and had many admiring friends here. Miss Seawright was one of the most popular and cultured young ladies of Greenville.

MEMBER OF FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

ORIGINAL

THE F. C. A. IS A BUSINESS ORGANIZATION

In last week's letter we stated the requirements for a successful orginization in Chilton County at this time. Now let us consider the first requirement namely: The organization must market the products of the members and purchase their needs to a better advantage than they could do individually without an organization.

In order to accomplish this, our organization will have a permanent place of business open at all times and in charge of a manager who is acquainted with marketing work and knows where and how to purchase the needs of the members to the best advantage. The association will be in constant touch with market conditions and prices thus being prepared at all times to sell the product of its members on their actual grades at their full market value. The office will serve as an exchange for the products of its members that other members may want to purchase. Thus the members will be assisted is selling any surplus feed, seed or live stock that they have. Also this will make it easier for those members who are in need of these things to secure them. There will be a blackboard in the office on which will be listed the things members have for sale and things they wish to purchase. Also members having land to rent or wanting to rent land may use this blackboard to assist them along these lines.

We all know that very few if any farmers in this county raise enough cotton to afford to keep posted as to the actual market value of their cotton or its correct grade. And even if he were in posession of this knowledge he does not have a large enough quanity to ship elsewhere and therefore is forced to accept what the local buyers offer. Under this we know from past experience that we do not get advantage of better grades and are forced to take what we are offered right here. Cotton, cotton seed, chickens and eggs and strawberries will be the main articles sold through the organization. As marketing arrangements are perfected other articles will also be handled. Our experience in Co-operative marketing during the past two years has demonstrated the advantage of this system. Tho we have seen where improvements can be made and these matters will be given our strict attention.

Now as to buying our supplies, we are all aware of the fact that we can get a lower rate on a large quanity of goods, especially in car lots than we can on a small quanity. Through our association we will buy our fertilizers, stock and poultry feeds and supplies, seed oats and other seed such as vetch, clover, rye, cotton, turnip, onion sets and other garden seed and plants such as cabbage etc; fruit trees and to a certain extent our groceries, dry goods, hardware and building supplies, paints, tools and emplements

The second requirement for a successful organization as stated in our letter last week was as follows: "Will benefit the members to a larger amount than it will cost them to support the organization." The organization will cost each member $3.00 a year. We can not state the exact amount of benefit each member will receive. This will largely depend on the amount of business the members do through the association. However we know from past experience that the savings on any one of the many items handled through the association will at least pay the members dues and all above that will be clear profit. Correct grading of our cotton will alone be worth at least the amount of our dues. Any member who buys as many as 12 fruit trees will save enough on tham to at least pay his dues. One member of our association has already made a clear profit of more than $3.00 on 20 friers which he shipped through the association. The name of this member will be given to anyone on request,

Any farmer in Chilton County will be absolutely safe in counting on receiving more benefit from belonging to the Farmers Co-operative Association than it will cost him to belong. Many times it is impossible to tell the exact amount of the benefit on account of the fact that the local price is different than it would be without the Association.

The only way for us to retain this advantage is to belong to the organization and support it and thus make sure its continued existance. If we lose the organization we lose the effect it has on local prices.

PROPERTY IN STATE GROWS IN ITS VALUE

Highest Points In Assessment This Year In History of Commonwealth According to State Tax Commission

Assessed value of property for taxation in the state of Alabama will pass the billion dollar mark this year for the first time in the state's history, according to information from the state tax commission.

Last year the taxable value of Alabama property amounted to $975,188,249, an increase over 1922 of $28,938,689. Figures showing the assessment for the present year have not been completed but it was stated from the office of the tax commission that data on hand already shows that the assessment will go above a billion dollars.

It is stated that a considerable amount of property hitherto escaping taxation has been placed on the books through the efforts of the tax commission and its agents, this activity resulting in an increase in total assessments.

PROVIDENCE BEAT 13
(Too Late For Last Week)

We wish to say a few words in behalf of this place and community. The health of this community is good so far as the writer knows, also the crops are still looking more promising than once expected for which the farmers feel very thankful.

Also we wish to say that the singing at this place was most assuredly a success under the management of Mr. Berl Martin, President and Frank Lowery, assistant. The main feature of the day was the beautiful quartetts that were rendered in the p.m. Organist Misses Jewel Martin, Jewel Lowery and Jewel Campbell, and others.

Directors for the day were: Messrs Berl Martin, J. F. Lowery, Columbus Scott, E. H. Foshee, W. F. Cofer, E. L. Glasscock, A. H. Glasscock, Vester Campbell, L. R. Cobb, W. J. Northcutt and Ivy Mathews.

We certainly wish to compliment the different classes that rendered the beautiful Quartets in the p.m. We also extend to them a standing invitation and especially on the 2nd Sunday evening of each month. We wish to say too that good order was observed throughout the day. How easy and how much nicer it is to be ordely and sober than disordely. So Come again boys for the young folks are the hopes of our community and are soon to take the place of the older ones. So come on boys and hold yourselves up in a real genteel way.

We are glad to see Miss Annie Sammons, one of our S. S. Teachers back in Sunday School with her class again. Miss Annie has been visiting relatives in Birmingham the past few weeks; she also reported a very enjoyable time.

With much success to the Union-Banner and its many readers.

PREACHING AT FRIENDSHIP NEXT SUNDAY—THE FOURTH

Next Sunday being regular preaching day at Friendship, Rev. W. W. Robinson will fill his regular appointment both in the morning and evening. At the 11 o'clock service his subject will be "The Constiuttion of the Church," and at night the pastor will preach on "The Chirtian's Duty to the Church." These are vital subjects, this being a time when some people are kindly inclined to divert from the true principles of religion and take off after transitory makeshifts that there is nothing to but noise and confusion. If you want to hear of the fundamental principles of the church established by Jesus Christ on earth, come and hear Brother Robinson.

Sunday School will be held Sunday beginning at 10 o'clock, Mr. J. D. Collins, Superintendent. Come in time for Sunday School and don't fail to hear both these sermons.

COOLIDGE ACCEPTS WITH CONFIDENCE

Has Abiding Faith in Judgment of People on Accomplishments and Purposes.

SEEKS PEACE AND THRIFT

Wants Opportunity for All, No Government Monopolies, Independent But Helpful Foreign Policy.

Washington, Aug. 14.—No single question vital to the people of the United States was dodged by President Coolidge in the first great speech of the political campaign—his speech accepting the nomination as President offered him by the Republican party, and delivered in Washington the evening of August 14.

After outlining the sound foundation of the party system of government, the President said: "Party means political co-operation, not as an end in itself, but a means, an instrument of government. If founded upon a great moral principle and directed with scrupulous regard for its integrity, it cannot fail to sweep onward and upward, advancing always steadily and surely, a mighty constructive force, a glorious bearer of progress.

"That is what the Republican party always has been and is today. In full faith that such it will continue to be, deeply conscious of the high honor it confers and the responsibility it imposes, I accept its nomination for President of the United States.

"In the history of our country is recorded the public services rendered by our party for more than the three-score years. That is secure. I pass on to the recent past and the present."

Progress of Four Years.

The President pointed out the condition of the nation in March, 1921, when the Republicans resumed the reins of government after a lapse of eight years. Though more than two years had passed since the armistice, the nation was still technically in a state of war. No diplomatic relations existed with Turkey, Greece, Russia, Colombia or Mexico, the Far East situation caused "grave apprehensions." Because of the war, "a reckless extravagance had come to characterize the administration of public affairs and was all too prevalent in private life." The national debt had risen to the staggering total of $24,000,000,000, more than $7,000,000,000 of it in short-time obligations without provision for payment. Government bonds were below par. High war taxes burdened the people. Demobilization and liquidation were incomplete. Huge railroad accounts remained unsettled. Transportation was crippled. Unliquidated foreign debts amounted to $11,000,000,000. Banks were filled with frozen assets. Interest was high, capital scarce, and financial distress acute. About 5,000,000 were without employment. No adequate provision had been made for relieving disabled veterans and their dependents. The great powers continued to burden their peoples by building competitive armaments. An avalanche of war-worn people and cheapened merchandise impended upon America from foreign lands, the President pointed out.

Turning to the settlement of these vast problems since the start of the Republican regime, the President pointed out that treaties of world-wide importance have been ratified with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Colombia and Mexico, that 42 other treaties have met with the approval of the senate, while 6 still await action. Friendly intercourse with Greece and Turkey has been resumed. Peace and American rights have been assured in the Far East and the Pacific.

Turning to finance, the President called attention to the enactment of the budget system, and the resultant tremendous savings.

"For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921," President Coolidge said, "our expenditures were $5,538,000,000 and our surplus was $86,000,000. For the year just closed our expenditures were $3,497,000,000, and our surplus exceeded $500,000,000. This was a reduction in the annual cost of government of $2,041,000,000. The public debt now stands at about $21,250,000,000, which is a reduction in three years of about $2,750,000,000 and means an annual saving in interest of more than $120,000,000. The $7,000,000,000 of short-time obligations have all been quietly refunded or paid. The internal revenue taxes have been reduced twice, and many of them repealed, so that during the present fiscal year the tax receipts show a saving to the people of approximately $6,000,000 a day compared with 1921. One government bond has sold well over 105."

The President pointed out that more than 40 per cent of the debt due us from foreign nations has been liquidated, providing funds for liquidating about $13,000,000,000 of the national debt during a 62-year term.

"The finances of this nation have been managed with a genius and a success unmatched since the days of Hamilton," Mr. Coolidge declared.

"A great revival of industry took place, which is spreading to agriculture. Complaint of unemployment has ceased, wages have increased. Capital has become plentiful at a low rate of interest," Mr. Coolidge declared, "and the banks of our country, as a whole, show a high percentage of liquid assets."

Speaking of the generous laws passed to relieve disabled veterans, the President said that more than 71,000 have been rehabilitated, 38,000 of whom are earning more than they did before the war. Compensation is being paid at the rate of about $100,000,000 a year, soon to be increased by $80,000,000 more, $40,000,000 have been provided for hospital facilities, which are open to veterans of all American wars.

"No government," the President declared, "ever provided so generously for those disabled by service in time of war."

Touching the exclusion law and restricted immigration generally, the President said: "Restricted immigration is not an offensive but a purely defensive action. It is not adopted in criticism of others in the slightest degree, but solely for the purpose of protecting ourselves. We cast no aspersions on any race or creed, but we must remember that every object of our institutions of society and government will fail unless America be kept American."

Next the President dealt with the tariff. "By means of a protective tariff," he said, "we have saved American agriculture, labor, and industry from the menace of having their great home market destroyed through the dumping upon it of a flood of foreign products. Under this wise policy we saw an economic revival, and our people as a whole, in marked distinction from the sufferers from the financial distress and depression of other lands, have come into an era of prosperity and plenty. As a source of revenue the tariff surpassed all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $550,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury, while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity, defends itself against any criticism. Its merits are demonstrated by its results. We have protected our own inhabitants from the economic disaster of an invasion of too many foreign people or too much foreign merchandise."

The Washington Conference.

Next the acceptance speech dealt with the Washington conference whereby an end was put to the ruinous competitive naval armaments of world powers, the importance of which has never been fully realized by the people in general, Mr. Coolidge declared.

Turning to the "honest government" issue, President Coolidge pointed out bluntly that in all his studies of political history he could not recall an administration which was desirous of a dishonest government that, to check extravagance, introduced a budget system, cut taxes, purged pay rolls, made enormous reductions in the public debt and laid firmer foundations for the peace of the world.

President Coolidge declared he favored the system of private American enterprise and was opposed to the extension of government ownership and control; that he believed in economy in public expenditures and the practical application of the tehory; that he believed in tax reduction and tax reform; that he favored protection.

Favors Permanent Court.

"I favor the permanent court and further limitation of armaments," the President said. "I am opposed to aggressive war. I shall avoid involving ourselves in the political controversies of Europe, but I shall do what I can to encourage American citizens and resources to assist in restoring Europe, with the sympathetic support of our government. I want agriculture and industry on a sound basis of prosperity and equality. I shall continue to strive for the economic, moral and spiritual welfare of my country. American citizens will decide in the coming election whether these principles shall have their approval and support.

"The domestic affairs of our country appear to me to be by far the chief concern. From this source comes our strength. The home market consumes nearly all our production. Within our own boundaries will be determined to a very large degree the economic welfare and the moral worth of the American people. These are plain facts, but there are others equally plain."

Reaffirming his opposition to entrance into the League of Nations as a surrender of independence, the President favored becoming a member of the permanent Court of International Justice, "as peace means fundamentally a reign of law." Entrance into the so-called World court "would do much to indicate our determination to restrain the rule of force and solidify and sustain the rule of reason among nations," Mr. Coolidge said.

America Helps Europe.

The President reviewed the difficulties of Europe and the unavailing efforts to find a way out until the American plan, proposed in 1922, was finally adopted, under which the reparations commission appointed a committee of experts, whose three American members included Gen. Charles G. Dawes, the President's running mate on the Republican ticket. The appointment of General Dawes as chairman and the report which has met world-wide approbation were pointed out.

When the reparations plan is in operation, the President said, he would consider it time to approach the great powers with the proposal for another conference to limit armaments still further and devise plans for the codification of international law.

"I trust that never again will the women of this nation be called on to sacrifice their loved ones to the terrible scourge of war," President Coolidge said.

Touching Latin America, the President said that we have constantly striven to come to more complete understandings with those nations. He recited the help given Mexico to avert domestic violence there, and the indication of a policy of making it worth while for a government to conduct itself so as to merit recognition. He pointed to the written agreement with Mexico to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce such as has not been in existence since 1881.

Equal Opportunities for All.

Of discrimination of all kinds, President Coolidge said: "This is one country; we are one people united by common interests. There should be no favorites and no outcasts; no race or religious prejudices in the government. America opposes special privilege for anybody, and favors equal opportunity for everybody. It has adopted these conclusions because they are the logical conclusions of our ideals of freedom. Moreover, we believe they contribute to our material welfare. We oppose the artificial supports of privilege and monopoly because they are both unjust and uneconomic. They are not right. They do not work."

The Farm Situation.

Reviewing the situation of the farmer, the President said that one of the first thoughts in 1921 was for the relief and revival of agriculture as a fundamental industry, and touched upon the credits of between three and four hundred million dollars extended through the War Finance corporation, an additional $50,000,000 provided for the relief of the cattle industry, and the formation of a $10,000,000 corporation in the spring which, it was estimated, can furnish $100,000,000 for diversification and relief in the Northwest. He told of the activities of the intermediate credit banks, directly and indirectly assisting 500,000 farmers.

The President commented on the present upturn of prices for agricultural products.

"The government rendered a great deal of assistance," he said, "and private enterprise co-operated, but the fundamental remedy was provided, as it always must be provided, not so much through the enactment of legislative laws as through the working out of economic laws. Because the farmers have thoroughly realized this, they have on the whole opposed price fixing by legislation. While maintaining that sound position, they have seen a partial relief come in a natural way, as it was bound to come.

"We now need in agriculture more organization, co-operation, and diversification. The farmer should have the benefit of legislation providing for flood control and development of inland waterways, better navigation east and south from the Great Lakes, reclamation, and especially relief for those who cannot meet their payments on irrigation projects. But the main problem is marketing. Co-operative effort, reorganization of the freight-rate structure, good business, and good wages in manufacturing, and the settlement of European affairs will all help to provide better market conditions.

"The Republican platform recognizes that agriculture should be on a basis of economic equality with other industries. This is easy to say, but the farmers themselves and their advisers have never been able to agree on a plan to provide it by law. Now that nature and economic law have given some temporary relief, I propose, therefore, to appoint a committee to investigate and report measures to the congress in December that may help secure this result which we all desire. I want profitable agriculture established permanently. I want to see the dollar of the farmer always purchase as much as any other dollar.

"Under the policy of protection and restrictive immigration," he asserted, "no deflation of wages has occurred. While the cost of living has gone down, wages have advanced. The 12-hour day and the seven-day week have practically been abolished. The uninterrupted operation of public utilities with mutually satisfactory and legally established methods of adjusting labor questions have been sought. Collective bargaining and voluntary arbitration have been encouraged. Republican rule has raised the wage earner to a higher standard than he ever occupied before anywhere in the world."

Reduction of Expenses.

President Coolidge then pointed out that the people of the country, because of the war have had to recreate nearly one-fifth of our national resources. We can make up the loss, he said, only by saving part of what we produce each day.

"It is for that reason," he continued, "that the present administration has made every possible effort to cut down the expenses of government. The expenses of the government reach everybody. Taxes take from everyone a part of his earnings, and force everyone to work for a certain part of his time for the government.

"When we come to realize that the yearly expenses of all the governments in this country have reached the stupendous sum of about $7,500,000,000, we get some idea of what this means. Of this amount about $3,500,000,000 is needed by the national government, and the remainder by local governments. Such a sum is difficult to comprehend. It represents all the pay of 5,000,000 wage earners receiving $5 a day, working 300 days in the year. If the government should add on $100,000,000 of expense, it would represent four days more work of these wage earners. These are some of the reasons why I want to cut down public expense.

"Because of my belief in these principles, I favor economy that the taxes of everybody may be reduced. Much has already been done. The bill which I signed will save the people about $1,000,000 each day. I want further tax reduction and more tax reform.

The raising of the revenue required to conduct our government is intimately connected with our economic welfare. If it is done by wise and just laws, the burden will be most easily borne. But if the method of taxation is not sound disaster will follow, reaching even to financial panic. Our first thought should be to maintain unimpaired the activity of agriculture and industry. That tax is theoretically best which interferes least with business.

Asks Just Taxation.

"Only about 3,500,000 people pay direct income taxes. The remainder pay, but pay indirectly, in the cost of all purchases, from a pair of shoes to a railroad ticket. This country has at least 107,000,000 of these indirect taxpayers. I am not disturbed about the effect on a few thousand people with large incomes because they have to pay high surtaxes. They can take care of themselves, whatever happens, as the rich always can. What concerns me is the indirect effect of high surtaxes on all the rest of the people. Let us always remember the poor. Whatever cry the demagogue may make about his ability to tax the rich, at the end of the year it will always be found that the people as a whole have paid the taxes. We should, therefore, have a system of taxation under which the people as a whole are most likely to be prosperous. Our country will be better off if, disregarding those who appeal to jealousy and envy, it follows in taxation and all else the straight path of justice.

For Economical Campaign.

"Economy should be practiced scrupulously in the conduct of a national campaign. I know it is difficult to distinguish between real service to the people and mere wastefulness. Costs have increased by doubling of the electorate, rendering close calculation impossible.

"Nevertheless, I can perceive no reason why the budget system should not be beneficial in a campaign, as it has proved to be in government. It is to be tested by our committee.

"I would make clearly and definitely one other requirement, that no individual, or group of individuals, may expect any governmental favors in return for party assistance. Whatever anyone gives must be given for the common good, or not at all. Contributions can be received on no other basis.

"For the first time after having opportunity fully to organize, the women of the nation are bringing the new force which they represent directly to bear on our political affairs. I know that the influence of womanhood will guard the home, which is the citadel of the nation. I know it will be a protector of childhood. I know it will be on the side of humanity. I welcome it as a great instrument of mercy and a mighty agency of peace. I want every woman to vote.

"The Constitution is the sole source and guaranty of national freedom. We believe that the safest place to declare and interpret the Constitution which the people have made is in the Supreme court of the United States.

"Under our institutions there is no limitation on the aspirations a mother may have for her children. That system I pray to continue. This country would not be a land of opportunity, America would not be America, if the people were shackled with government monopolies.

"Our country has adopted prohibition and provided by legislation for its enforcement. It is the duty of the citizen to observe the law, and the duty of the Executive to enforce. I propose to do my duty as best I can.

For Child Labor Amendment.

"Our different states have had different standards, or no standards at all, for child labor. The congress should have authority to provide a uniform law applicable to the whole nation which will protect childhood. Our country cannot afford to let anyone live off the earnings of its youth of tender years. Their places are not in the factory, but in the school, that the men and women of tomorrow may reach a higher state of existence and the nation a higher standard of citizenship.

"I am in favor of national defense, not merely as an abstract state of mind, but as a concrete mode of action. I favor not merely talking about it, but doing something about it. I do not want the safety of my country to be imperiled in its domestic or foreign relations by any failure to be ready to preserve order or repel attack. But I propose to work for voluntary observance of law and mutual covenants of peace.

Common Sense Greatest Asset.

"We are likely to hear a great deal of discussion about liberal thought and progressive action. It is well for the country to have liberality in thought and progress in action, but its greatest asset is common sense. In the commonplace things of life lies the strength of the nation. It is not in brilliant conceptions and strokes of genius that we shall find the chief reliance of our country, but in the home, in the school, and in religion. America will continue to defend these shrines. Every evil force that seeks to desecrate or destroy them will find that a Higher Power has endowed the people with an inherent spirit of resistance. The people know the difference between pretense and reality. They want to be told the truth. They want to be trusted. They want a chance to work out their own material and spiritual salvation. The people want a government of common sense.

"These, Mr. Chairman, are some of the beliefs which I hold, some of the principles which I propose to support. Because I am convinced that they are true, because I am satisfied that they are sound, I submit them with abiding faith to the judgment of the American people."

Republican Women Start National Campaign

Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican National committee, has just announced the opening of the National headquarters of the women's bureau of the campaign on the second floor of the Wrigley building, Chicago. Eastern headquarters have been opened in New York city.

The Women Voters Speak

The voices of the women of America are making themselves heard. From Maine to California, with a unison which is infectious, they are saying, "We want Coolidge and Dawes."

In the weeks which have elapsed since the Republican party nominated its standard bearers, the women have been weighing these candidates and their respect has gone out to these men, who represent the best qualities in American manhood.

All signs show that the women of the country have been weighing the Republican platform and that its pledges have won their support.

Women know that the running of the nation's business is simply housekeeping on a national scale. They know that there is nothing mysterious about it. They want the government to be managed as simply and as inexpensively as they manage their own homes. The women have heartily approved the budget system which the Republicans have established at Washington. They were quick to endorse the reduction of taxes by $1,250,000,000 per annum and the curtailment of public expenditures without in the slightest disturbing business. When the Republicans stated:

"We pledge ourselves to the progressive reduction of taxes of ALL THE PEOPLE as rapidly as may be done with due regard for the essential expenditures of the government administered with rigid economy," the women knew that the country would be safe if Republican candidates were elected to office.

The platform's promise to continue the party's solicitude for all those suffering any disability as a result of service to the United States in time of war was particularly appealing to the women.

Pledges of law enforcement, the quest to the states to promptly consider the Child Labor amendment, the declaration for high standards of wages, working and living conditions for women workers, and a score of other progressive planks have won the support of the women.

Their minds at rest about the program of the Republican party if elected to run the government for the next four years, the women have started their campaign. They want Coolidge and Dawes and they are working to get a record-breaking number of women to the polls next November.

"JUST TWENTY-ONE"

One of the important factors in the election of the man who is to be the next President of the United States, will be the young men and women who are just old enough to vote.

Some of these first voters are wage earners, others are still in college. They share a common responsibility, that of expressing the views and wishes of the youth of America.

Here and there when a young man or woman can be persuaded to talk about it, they are heard to say that they want to keep President Coolidge on the job at Washington for the next four years. They can do it.

COOLIDGE CHOICE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Mrs. A. T. Hert Praises Child Labor Policy.

"What the future holds for the wage earner and the wage earner's family, is of vital interest to the women of this country." Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the Republican National committee, stated in a recent interview. "Therefore, the promises of the political parties on the subject of labor are of the greatest importance. When we reflect that there are eight and one-half million women wage earners including two million married women wage earners who are directly affected by labor legislation, as well as the wives of the laboring men who are interested in the protection afforded labor, the importance of the question can be plainly seen.

"Every woman in America is interested in the question of child labor and wants to see the children of this country safeguarded during the most important years of their lives.

"A fair deal to labor was assured by the Republican party in its platform accepted by the national convention in Cleveland. The platform pledges continued progressive reduction of taxes, rigid economy in government and promises protection against undue exactions.

"To the Republican party goes the credit of being the leader in the campaign for national legislation to protect the children. It was the party that enacted the first federal child labor law," Mrs. Hert said. "The Republican platform commended congress for its prompt adoption of the recommendation of President Coolidge authorizing congress to pass protective child labor legislation. It also urged the prompt consideration of the amendment by the legislatures of the various states.

"This law, when ratified, will afford nation-wide protection for child workers.

"The average woman of today is worker. She either works to support herself and those dependent upon her or she works to make the family income buy as many comforts for her family as possible.

"The last federal census showed that out of 572 occupations, only 35 did not have women workers. Women have entered the realm of industry and they must be carefully protected. The action of the Republican platform in favoring high standards of wage, working and living conditions among women has received widespread commendation.

"The election of President Coolidge and Mr. Dawes, supported by a Republican congress, will mean continued prosperity for the average home."

WOMEN OUT TO BEAT 1920 VOTE

Women are getting down to the business of voting.

Statistics show that approximately 25 per cent of the women eligible to vote, actually voted in 1920. This means only about one out of every four.

In 1920 one state had 3,462,879 voting citizens, her total vote was 2,090,468. What about the 1,372,411 who did not vote?

The women's bureau of the Republican National committee, with headquarters in Chicago, has just issued an appeal to the women asking them to see that every eligible voter in their families goes to the polls on registration day.

Women are out to round up the "civic slackers," and this means men as well as women.

For Commissioner from the Fourth District —
A. P. VINSON

For Member County Board of Education—
J. M. SMITH

The manufacturer of a "certain type of low-priced car" sold more than a million of them in the first half of 1924. And farmers were among the most numerous buyers. Not so bad, considering that the farmers are represented as on the verge or over the verge of bankruptcy.

WARNING TO COTTON GROWERS

Mr. W. R. Lancaster, sales manager of the Farm Bureau Cotton Association, sends out warning to all farmers calling attention to the serious losses which result from rushing the first picked cotton to the gin as rapidly as it is picked and before it has time to dry out to some extent. It is impossible for green cotton to be ginned without being cut by saws.

This is not the fault of the gin, because no gin can handle green damp cotton in a satisfactory manner, but is entirely the fault of the farmer.

When cotton is green, damp or wet from dew or rain and not properly dried out it cannot be ginned without damage and loss to the farmer, which in some instances amount to as much as $25.00 per bale.

Be sure that your cotton is not green, damp or wet when taken to the gin.

PARLIAMENTARY OPPOSITION

The recently negotiated Anglo-Russian treaties are meeting with strenuous opposition in the British Parliament, and it's little wonder that they should. Apparently the undertaking is a mere surrender to the Soviets. Great Britain guarantees a loan to Russia, while Russia agrees to negotiate the payment of British debts and claims. Everything that the British are to receive under the treaties depends upon the good faith of the Russians, which has been so sadly absent in the past. The Russians also gain the right to trade in Great British courts. The British labor government may have needed the treaties for political effect, but British commercial men will be slow to place any dependance on such undertakings. Fortunately the United States has a government that is ruled by the same sound business principles that control any successful private enterprise.

STATE COMMISSION OF FORESTRY

Insects from cut-over areas are not a serious danger to neighboring tracts left uncut, according to a statement issued by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. Occasionally the owner of a growing stand of pine timber is persuaded that he ought to sell it during the period when it is making its rapid growth because it is alleged that worms from fresh nearby cuttings will invade his timber and injure it seriously. As a matter of fact, there is very little danger of this. Insects from the tops and rubbish left on a cut-over area will very often attack trees standing among the slashing, especially if the tops are lodged against or very close to the standing tree. If the rubbish is pulled away from the remaining trees, however, there is comparatively little risk. There is practically no danger from this source to neighboring stands of timber in which no cutting is taking place. The occasional serious infestations of timber lands by insects usually have their origin in other causes. Even these, however, occur so rarely that on the whole they do not affect the growing of pine timber as a profitable undertaking.

FUNDS FOR CROP MOVING

In September the Federal Land Bank expects to float a loan of about $60,000.000 in anticipation of the borrowings of farmers to aid in moving their crops. It is believed that the interest rate to be charged the farmers by the borrowing agencies, and the amount of funds advanced to the farmers will be the smallest in the history of farm loan aid. It is apparent that natural changes and the wise agricultural policy adopted and followed by President Coolidge are resulting in permanent improvement in the farmers' condition. Financial aid will continue to be extended as required, but the farmers are becoming more independent of such help as the blighting effect of Democratic deflation recedes further into the past, and the inspiration of Republican policies is more widely felt.

A. R. ADAMS ANSWERS MR. WILSON'S QUERIES

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your paper to answer the Rev. W. H. Wilson's questions asked in the last week's issue. Will say that I did not want any argument with anybody, and most especially a preacher. Now I will say that any accusation that gets started, generally the guilty man is the first one to kick out of the harness.

To the first question will say that I never stated in my letter that I ever wanted a job; so please correct that mistake. You ask if your kin folks drew more money than anybody else. You please answer these questions. State in the next issue how many you worked that were akin to you and how many were not and that will tell the tale of that question.

As to who has given a day on the road I cannot tell; but will say that I never give you any of my time and don't expect to put any more time unless I have to to get from home to town, and that is expected very soon if the road goes on like it is now. As to who I have tried to get jobs with, I am like you. If I cannot get the walking job I will not have any. As to how many hands you had on your road I never counted any of them, but every time that I passed by they were scattered for about one-half mile, each time looked like enough to have graded at least one mile of road each day, and if you traveled any nobody knew it.

Now as to who is working men that are too old, the Rev. W. H. Wilson. Will not state anybody else at this time but some one man that only worked his own family. I am yet the same old man I sa_, boys, let's get busy and make some change in the thing and the only way that I see is to put officers in next time that will stick to the poor man. This is twice that we have experienced this way of working the roads, and you can see that this does not suit this county. When they get your money they only work a few straight roads. There is one road running by Uncle Riley Robinson's that is almost impassable, and there are several others, and those men had to pay their money and then do without a road. Let's have all alike. Treat your neighbor as you wish to be treated. Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.

I will close, with best wishes to the Banner and its many readers.

DAVIS DISAPPOINTS

Boston Hearld—Mr. Davis says nothing of the remarkable success which seemes to attend the negotiations in progress in London, Paris and Berlin. If deeds count, and Mr. Davis says they do, then the party he castigates really has been doing things of late.

N. Y. Herald-Tribune—Mr. Davis says either too much or too little. The vauge innuendo referring to "the executive" and "some of those in high places" smacks of an effort to cast suspicion without assuming full responsibility therefore.

Philadelphia Inquirer—The Davis acceptance speech is far from convincing. It is one fault-finding which will get him nowhere. It is one of promises but he offers little of practical value that has not been or will not be undertaken by the present Republican administration.

Duluth News-Tribune—With Minor changes the Davis speech might have been delivered by a Republican orator. As an argument for making a change in administration it approaches absolute zero.

Hartford Courant—Mr. Davis has not aided his chances with the electorate by introducing as his major thesis the same principle—membership in the League of Nations—that swept his party to ignominious defeat four years ago.

Milwaukee Sentinel—It is to be regarded that a clearer note was not sounded in the Davis speech, that a constructive document, instead of mere specious pleading, was not evolved.

Springfield Republican—Mr. Davis seemes weakest where he should be strongest, and that is the constructive side of his campaign.

Detroit Free Press—The people are not thinking much about parties just now. They want to know why they should put Calvin Coolidge out of the White House and put in John W. Davis or any one else.

N. Y. Hearld-Tribune—One can scan Mr. Davis's speech in vain for any acknowledgement of the new prosperity of the American farmer through the operation of natural laws.

Kansas City Star—The Davis address did not rise to the level of the man who wrote the letter refusing to play politics by giving up his clients.

NOTICE TO HUNTERS

I desire to call the attention of the shooting public to the fact that the squirrel season does not open this year until November 1st. The season was changed by Act of the Legislature, which Act was approved by the Governor last year after the 1923-'24 hunting liiense dah been printed.

The Legislature not only moved the date of the opening of the season up to November 1st, but greately increased the penalty for violating the provisions of the game laws.

Very truly yours,
I. T. QUINN,
Commissioner of Game and Fisheries

Moving Six States Sixty Miles

A big undertaking you'll say—transporting every man, woman and child in the States of Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee and Kentucky—but if all the passengers who rode L. & N. trains during 1923 could be gathered together in one great group—more than thirteen million people, or nearly 12% of the Nation's population—it would require a train of 158,536 coaches with every seat occupied. Such a train would reach from Washington to San Francisco, an airline distance of approximately 2,200 miles.

Every day over 36,000 passengers get on L. & N. trains and travel on an average approximately 60 miles; and there has not been a single passenger fatality in a train accident during the past four years.

This is what L. & N. passenger service alone means to you; and it should give the readers of this newspaper a further idea of the importance of the transportation industry, which as a whole is doing a better job than ever before in the history of America—or of the world.

Just Being Happy.

"Just being happy is a fine thing to do;
Looking on the bright side rather than the blue;
Sad or Sunny musing
Is largely in the choosing
And just being happy is brave work and true
Just Being Happy helps other souls along;
Their burdens may be heavy and they not strong;
And your own sky will lighten,
If other skies you brighten,
By just being happy with a heart full of song."

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

Well it seems as if Maplesville is dead again, but we are not; we are all progressing very nicely. The town is, but not all the people, for there are a few cases of whooping cough in town. We are hoping them a speedy recovery.

Well I see in the paper of other communities complaining of the awful drowth and I see where it was broken by a rain, but there has been no rain here in about two months everything is suffering for rain.

Mr. Charlie Jeffcoat, who has been ill for the past few weeks, is improving. We are hoping to see him well in a few days.

Little Jack Pullian, who has been ill is some better now.

Our Sunday School and B. Y. P. U., G. A. S., and R. A. S., are doing very nicely, we are glad to say. Our revival was good; we got only two members for baptism, others by letter. The baptism was held Sunday afternoon, Misses Diecy Latham and Lucy Parnell being the candidates.

Maplesville is growing more every day. There has been three new dwellings put up lately.

Mr. Frank Acthison and family have moved to Tarrant City. We hate to see them leave but hope they will like their new home.

Mr. Clifford Roper and family of Sardis have moved to one mile north of Maplesville. We are glad to have them in our community.

Mrs. C. N. Parnell has returned home from an extended visit to the city of Mobile.

Miss Eula Seals of Selma spent the week at home last week.

Mrs. Evie Crochen of Mississippi is visiting her mother, Mrs. Henry Bearden.

Mrs. Brady McAfee and little son, Leighton, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Seals.

Mrs. Emilill Bankhead and children of Jasper are visiting her mother, Mrs. T. U. Crumpton.

Mrs. Anna Latham spent the week in Montgomery last week.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Seals and son, Cal., and daughter, Mrs. Jessie Bloss motored to Jemison Sunday and spent the day with relatives.

A good many from here attended the meeting at Shoults last week.

Mrs. Cly Rucker and little son, Curtis, is spending a few days in Centerville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Harold of Billingsley were at home Sunday visiting Mrs. Harold's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. King.

MRS. W. P. HICKS WRITES BACK FROM QUINCEY, FLA.

The farmers here have gathered their tobacco crop and have sold it. It was indeed a very quick crop made, and this year a lot of money was made on tobacco here near Quincey.

Quite a lot of traveling people pass through this place going down in South Florida. We see car loads of people every day from different States.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Hicks have just returned from a visit to Bibb and Chilton Counties visiting relatives there. They made their trip by auto going by way of Bainbridge, Ga., Dothan, Troy, Montgomery and Clanton. They say the roads were in good condition most all the way.

Mrs. Lum Hicks of Lawley, Ala., has been visiting here for several weeks.

Mrs. Prime and four children have just returned from a visit to relatives in Mississippi.

If the editor will permit, I wish to say a few words in regard to bobbed hair. We will just ask Mr. Holt if he thinks God looks on the outward appearance? The short hair dosen't have one thing to do with the soul. It only keeps one feeling so fresh and cool that they will be more like they should be.

I do my very best to live a Christian life, and have four children that I am trying to rear as God would have me rear them. But I am not thinking about their hair as having anything to do with their lives.

Now, the men dress as they please, so why not let the women do the same? Especially when the styles are so comfortable, as the low heels, bobbed hair, corsetless dresses and many other of the comfortable styles. Of course, things have always been carried to the extreme, and always will be, by a few narrow-minded. Even our grand mothers will admit that some in her days carried the styles to an extremity.

Now, let Mr. Holt, who thinks that something drastic ought to be done, be sane, reasonable and honest and investigate a condition of affairs he does not approve, looking at all sides of it and every point of interest bearing on it. Some men are always ready to talk about the women—how a certain class is living—and never mention the man, who put them in that class. Yes, the men can go on among respectable society, hold their deceitful heads as high as any of the respectable people, the women bearing all the blame.

Chilton County being my former home county, I could not wait any longer to write. Wishing the home people and the Union-Banner much success.

Willie (Walker) Hicks.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Last week we wrote about a visit to friends in Portland Conneticut, and reference to some places along the way. We believe some account of what we saw during those two days spent in the Connecticut Fiver valley will be of interest.

Mrs. Kelley informed us at breakfast, the first morning after our arrival, that Mr. Kelley's work was so far that he did not get home at noon and therefore she would be able to accompany us wherever we wanted to go to see things that might interest us. So far the most part of this letter, we will include her as a member of our party.

Naturally we wanted to see that big factory building where the menfolks of the Ellsworth tribe were "Doing Things."

During the world war, most of us remember how the Germans were put to it to find substitutes for very many things wherein either the material or finished product was no longer available on account of blockaded ports.

Their knowledge of Chemistry made them proficient in analyzing the component parts of a great variety of articles, among them silk. It has long been known that silkworms feed on certain varieies of vegetation and put it through some process that enables them to form silk thread for their cocoons, which are used in making natural silk. These German scientists have analyzed Mr. Silkworm, inside and out. They have found just what ingredients are found in the mulberry leaf or other food the silkworm uses and just the process by which he changes it into silk thread.

Knowing all this, they search for the same substances in other kinds of vegetation, or the product of other vegetation that will be aviable for the purpose, then they find out what chemical and other things are necessary to form a substance that will artificially make a good quality of silk thread. The entire proceeding is under the head of Chemical Research, of which a vast amount is being done day by day with wonderful results.

Having learned just what they want for material, they send out a force of men to explore this and other lands to locate an accessible source of supply. Whatever help they may have found in other places, they selected for their field of operations this veritable desert place among sand pits in the Conneticutt Valley. Here quite a bunch of money that no doubt should by rights go to pay French Reparations, is being invested for the manufacture of artificial silk thread which may be used for many purposes. Their process is a closely guarded secret, but we prophesy if it proves a success they will not long have a monopoly of it. They made folks think for years that nobody in the world but Germans, could make Analine Dyes. When war stopped their importation into America, our chemist got busy and produced better dyes than the Germans ever made, and today Uncle Sam's dominion not only supplies our own needs but export a lot to other countries.

Having seen all there was to see, and that was considerable, at this mammoth plant in process of incubation, we drove along northward to Cronwell where we found a great industry throughly established. The Pearson Greenhouse, covered many acres and said to be the most extensive in the east. Their product is varied, and their business consists chiefly in supplying Florists and wholesale flower dealers.

One accustomed to think of tobacco growing as only suited for subtropical climates, would be amazed to note the extent of this industry in the Connecticutt river valley. Thousands of acres of it, and a good portion of it grown under cloth. This season for want of rain during July, the crops was much damaged and the growers would stand to lose, estimated, $10,000.000 were it not for the fact that most of them carry insurance on their crop

Much care is needed in growing and curing the crop. Great barns dot the landscape where the stalk with leaves attached are hung to cure, not dry, and when the season is favorable and the curing scientific the product of this section is much sought for cigar wrappers even of the finest cigars.

Many years ago when the writer was a traveling salesman stopping over night at a hotel in a small town, a leaf tobacco salesman from this section showed us his samples of half leaves of tobacco, three feet long, six or eight inches wide, tapering to a point and soft and shiny as a piece of satin. We never forgot it, nor expected to see the field where it was grown.

Next we came to weathersfield, where we had other visible evidence of the fertility of this Conneticut valley soil. A huge Elm tree at the roadside bore the following inscription, "Largest Elm tree in the U. S." 250 years old, 28 feet in circumference, 197 feet high and 147 feet spread. It should be remembered that although we were not exactly on the spot where the Pilgrim Fathers landed in 1620, no place in New England, outside of the state of Maine if far from it, and most of this country has been inhabited by the white man for about 300 years, and many places and buildings bear signs or tables with dates near as old.

A few miles further north brings us to Hartford, the Connecticut's Capital city, population 140,000 and the head of ocean going steamship navigation on the Connecticut river 53 miles from Long Island Sound. There is at least one boat daily each way between Hartford and New York, while others come from other ports. History dates back to 1630 and a cemetery in the heart of the city has headstones marked 1640. Insurance business in the U. S. had its origin here and today employs upward of 10,000 clerks in its Skyscapping Insurance buildings, among them, the Aetna, Hartford, and Travellers with its Tower the tallest in New England.

By the way, we had an excellent dinner at 50c each in a Restaurant on the 15th floor of this building. While waiting for one of our party at the street entrance, we saw the employees of the Insurance companies pouring out at noon. There was literally an army of them filling the sidewalk from street to curb. They did not seem to be a very ferocious army. Most of them were girls and women, seemingly of diminutive size. There were some that would do credit to any community, but the great mass appeared to us decidely puny. We saw nothing reprehesible in their behavior, but seemed to have a jaded air that made one think they needed to be "Turned out to grass."

We visited the Morgan Memorial building, by the late J. P. Morgan as a memorial to his father who was a prominent citizen of Hartford.

The building is filled with Paintings, antique and curious, many of them donated by Mr. Morgan who was a notable collector of rare and beautiful things from all parts of the world.

Among the paintings was one group of the signers of the Declaration of Independence in which one of the figures was William Williams, an ancestor of Mrs. Norton, and we note in passing that Hartford is the birthplace of her father Caleb Goodwin who had many kinfolks in this section, and today one of the show places of the city is Goodwin Park.

Hartford also has several manufactories of inter-national reputation, and a Boulevard and Park system of more than ordinary pretentions for a city of its size. The ladies of our party were of course interested in shop windows and department stores. The Capitol building and some of the churches as well as the old State House from 1796 to 1879 still wears an air of dignity.

Returning to Portland we crossed the great stone bridge, topped by a wide boulevard and headed south on the east side of the river, the first town we struck was Gastonbury, the home of the widely known Williams Soap. At South Glastonbury is the homestead of the noted Hale family, one member of which was a poineer in Peach orchard here.

After supper our party visited Ellsworth Camp, situated 9 miles from Portland and much in favor with the family of roughing it and boating, swimming or fishing in the beautiful lake adjacent to their property.

Next day we visited a large factory in Middletown, where pressed tinware and household enamelware is made. The different processes of sheet metal working are always interesting. In the afternoon we drove over to Long Island Sound 35 miles, walked and drove along the beach, which is really part of the shore of the Atlantic Ocean, and we got at least a smell of salt water.

We returned to Portland by another route a little longer. The roads were mostly good and we made the trip easily. This finished our sight seeing at Portland, and next morning we started on the homeward trip described last week.

FARM WOMEN WANTS RUNNING WATER

Auburn, Ala., Aug. 13.—There is almost a universal demand on the part of the farm women of Alabama for running water in their homes.

Questionnaires sent by home demonstration agents to representative farm women in different counties of the State reveal that running water is the one convenience most wanted. In answer to the question as to what they would do with $100 to spend as they pleased, most replies were: "I would put in waterworks."

Realizing this demand, agricultural engineers here have compiled information regarding different kinds of waterworks. They say that they may be installed at prices ranging from $25 to $800, or more. A $25 outfit would consist mainly of a barrel tank, kitchen sink, and pipes to connect. To this must be added the cost of a pump to pump the water into the barrel.

WRITES LETTER REGARDING WHISKEY

Editor Union-Banner:—

Please allow me a small space in your paper to say a few words regarding whiskey. It has led me to the bad, broken me up and has almost robbed me of my character.

I want to say to the good people of Chilton County that I am through with whiskey. I never expect to drink another drop of strong drink. Young man or old man, if you drink whiskey, make or sell it, let me beg you to quit before you get in trouble. It has ruined me and it will ruin you. It is the worst thing on earth. It is like a rattle snake—if you fool with him he will bite you; if you fool with this drug it will put you to the bad. And that is not all it will cause you to lose your soul.

I am here in jail and will have to go to the State prison. And it was caused by drink. God forbid that this will ever come against me any more. I want to ask the good people of Chilton County to firgive me of the wrong things I have done. I used to have lots of friends, but everybody is afraid to go on my bond now.

When I get out of this trouble I am going to be a better man. Will close by saying to everybody, let wild cat whiskey alone.

TENDERS THANKS TO CENTRAL ALA. HOSPITAL

We wish to extend our thanks to the good folks of Clanton for their kind attention to us in our distress following our auto accident. We have seldom found a people so full of human sympathy, with a desire to be genuienly, helpful, lavish in their attention, with words of comfort and cheer and a profesion of flowers. May every good thing come to each of them in rich abundance.

This community is indeed blessed and should be justly proud of such a splendid establishment as the Central Alabama Hospital with its thorough equipment, right in their midst for the prompt alleviation of suffering. It should receive the loyal support of this entire citizenship. In our expression of gratitude we would not overlook the Hospital nurses who administered so competently and faithfully to our needs. We were especially fortunate in falling into the hands of our brother nobles, Drs. Gragg and Marcus, who proved themselves Brothers in the truest sesse of the word.

Sincerely Yours,
Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Robertson.

ALVERSON BUSINESS COLLEGE

The Alverson Business College of Birmingham has enjoyed an unusual and remarkable growth during the past year. During the past ten months they have enrolled over 300 new students in their school, and during this time they have had over 150 calls for students in splendid positions from firms in the City and all over the State. The usual and rapid growth of the Alverson Business Colledge is no doubt due in part to the attractiveness of the school. It is one of the best equipped and most modern Business Schools in Birmingham, and probably in the entire South.

Another contributing factor to their success is their modern courses of study. They are one of the few Business Schools in the South that have a Credit System and this together with their enthusiastic and capable instructors have made the Alverson Business Colledge almost one of the largest Business Schools in the South

How Hydro-Electricity Is Generated

HYDRO-ELECTRICITY now lights the homes of many thousand Alabamians and turns the wheels of industry in many Alabama towns—and yet a span of only 50 years bridges the gap between the modern hydro-electric generator and its precursor—the old-fashioned, overshot mill wheel.

There is little more complex or difficult to understand in the operation of the modern hydro-electric generator and the old mill wheel which ground the corn for our forefathers.

But in their relative efficiency, the two are as far apart as the smoking pine torch with which our tribal ancestors lighted the dim interiors of their caves and the modern tungsten electric lamp which turns light into day on the streets of our big cities.

HYDRO-ELECTRICITY is generated by the weight of water rushing through a duct to turn a massive steel water wheel, fashioned somewhat on the lines of a ship's propeller.

This wheel is connected to the generator by a vertical steel shaft. The revolution of the wheel, caused by the flowing water, rotates the shaft and in turn, generates the electric current.

The old water wheel could produce but a limited amount of power which extended to the end of its shaft, whereas a single hydro-electric generator, such as one of those installed at Mitchell Dam (27,000 horsepower capacity) can supply the entire light and power needs of four cities the size of Mobile, Alabama, within a radius of 100 miles!

So Are the Forces of Nature Harnessed to the Needs of Man!

Birthday Party.

Little Miss Nell Ross Mullins was five years old on last Tuesday. This epoch in the child's life was duly celebrated on that afternoon with a party that she herself had assisted in planning.

About fifty comrades came to enjoy the birth-day party and a jolly good time was had by all in playing the ever delightful childhood games. Photographs of the group were taken by Mrs. Hosea Downs, then the tots were ushered in to partake of refreshments. The dining room had been made unusually attractive with many pink and white ribbons. The birth-day cake, with its five lighted candles, concealed favors that were connected with each individual plate by suspended ribbons. The usual interest prevailed when ring, button, thimble, needle, etc., were drawn.

Upon departure of the guests the honoree presented each with a parcel of dainty confections. Many exclamations concerning the occasion expressed the utmost delight of little Miss Nell Ross Mullins' birth-day guests.

Mrs. Gerald, Hostess.

At her home on Frist Avenue Mrs. L. F. Gerald entertained last Wednesday the members of her card club and a few other friends. A variety of summer flowers were arranged in baskets and vases were used to brighten the interior, where four tables were arranged for the game of bridge. Delicious grape juice was served upon the arrival of the guests, and after the game a refreshing ice course was served. The club prize, two decks of congress cards, was won by Mrs. Arthur Johnson, while a Japanese salt and pepper stand was given to Mrs. Grady Broadhead as guest prize. The club members and guests were Mesdames Callen, Alred, Simpson, Arthur Johnson, Moore, Hugh Jones, Lyman, Grady Broadhead, Heard, Grady Reynolds, N. S. Johnson, Oscar Jones, John VanDerveer, Misses Ara Mullins, Kathleen Mullins and Adelaide Courtney from Montgomery.

Visitors Honored.

Mrs. Hugh Jones was a charming hostess on Tuesday morning as a special courtesy to her guest, Miss Adelaide Courtney and Mesdames Simmons and Olliff, who are the guests of Miss Kathleen Mullins. The porch where a couple of tables for the game of bridge was arranged was pretty with pot plants and wall vases holding summer garden flowers which nodded a cherry greeting to all the guests.

After a series of games the top score was held by Miss Kathleen Mullins who was awarded a prize of silk hose and the guest prize, a bridge set, fell to Mrs. Olliff. An elaborate plate luncheon was served to the honorees, Mrs. Gerald, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. H. M. Simpson, Mrs. Frank Callen and Miss Kathleen Mullins. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Watts Moore.

Mrs. S. A. Johnson and Mrs. Harry Tarplay from Tuscaloosa were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claud Reynolds last week.

Miss Lillie Hester, who has held a high position as teacher in penmanship in the Connecticut schools, paid Clanton friends and relatives a brief visit Friday, enroute home for a few days' vacation.

Mrs. John Henley and L. C. and Miss Gladys Henley from Naftel were visitors to Clanton this week.

Masters Sidney and Ted Reynolds are visiting in Tuscaloosa this week.

Mrs. R. E. Luckie is spending today in Montgomery with Mrs. Earl Alverson.

Messrs. Joe Luckie and Bill Simpson were visitors to Montgomery last week.

Mr. Lloyd Popwell from Birmingham motored down for the week end with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Middleton were visitors to Montgomery last week.

Mrs. H. Chandler has as her guests her brother, Mr. George Allen, and family from Georgia.

Sheriff's Force Has Very Eventful Week

Two Cutting Scrapes and Two Whiskey Cases Probed by Officers and Six Arrests Made.

During the past Friday, Saturday and Sunday the Sheriff and his Deputies were kept rather busy looking after law violations and making arrests of the guilty parties.

On last Friday evening Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee arrested Robert Jones and Olien Ellison near Mineral Springs. Jones, according to report of the officers, was drunk, and Ellison was drinking heavily. About a pint of whiskey was taken from under the front cushion of Jones' Ford car in which the two boys were riding. The two were brought to Clanton and placed in jail, where they remained until Saturday morning when they were released on bond of $500 each. The Ford is in the custody of the Sheriff awaiting court proceedings. Both the boys are residents of Friendship Community near Clanton.

Last Saturday afternoon at the court house, when Fiddlin' John Carson struck out on the old familiar plantation medley, "Turkey in the Straw" the temptation to take part in the old-time festival was so great that John Ellison of Jumbo, with spirits in his tummy and fiddle music in his feet, just had to get on the stage and cut the pigeon wing a little. In a few minutes Ellison added to his dancing quite a bit of loud singing and talking, which got so noisy that the audience could not tell whether they were being entertained by John Carson or John Ellison. Fiddlin' John tried to get Ellison to go back to his seat and let him do the entertaining. John Carson said, "I am getting paid to act a fool and you are not, so you had better go sit down." But Ellison said that he was in the court house and he had a right to perform the same as Carson had. But about that time Harvey Foshee entered the room. Ellison continued to dance and cut up until Deputy Foshee entered the scene and played the role of putting the hand-cuffs on Ellison and carrying him to jail. Ellison resisted very stubbornly, saying that he was doing nothing out of place, but he was carried and locked up just the same. After Ellison was arrested the officer took from his pocket a half pint bottle bearing the label of Watkins' Pineapple Extract, and the bottle contained about one finger of the 65 per cent solution. Ellison made bond Sunday morning for $300 and was released from jail. The charge was public drunkenness.

At Blow Graveyard last Saturday night Brother Dutton and Lonnie Gore got into a scrap which resulted in Dutton cutting Gore across the stomach with a pocket knife. The knife, it is said, went clear through the wall of Gore's stomach cutting off a piece of his liver. Gore was brought to Clanton to the hospital, where he is said to be getting along fairly well to be in such condition. Lonnie Gore is the son of Monroe Gore. The officers went up Sunday about noon and arrested Dutton and brought him to jail where he still remains under a bond of $500.

Another similar incident occured at Thorsby early Sunday morning when a Jones boy was cut by Chapman Trott. Vester Trott, Chapman's brother, was also a partner to the skirmish. The Jones boy was cut across the stomach, it requiring four stitches to sew up the gash. Deputy Culp was called, who went up and arrested both the Trott boys bringing them to jail. Chapman was placed under a bond of $500 and Vester $200 neither of which have yet been made.

IN REGARD TO ROAD WORKING OF COUNTY

I want to say that I believe there has already been more work done on the roads in this community than could have been done the old way of working during the entire year, or more than would have been done in 3 years.

They did not work the main leading roads and leave the little crossway roads out, but they were worked too. All are in good shape except a few bumps which could be leveled off aud thus help some.

As for this community and especially myself, we appreciate the work that has been done.

MASS MEETING IS CALLED TO SELECT TOWN OFFICIALS

Will Be Held at Court House Friday Night, Aug. 29th, at 8 o'clock; Everybody Invited.

Notice is hereby given that there will be a mass meeting at the court house on Friday, August 29th, at 8 o'clock, p.m., for the purpose of nominating a mayor and five councilmen for the Town of Clanton.

A meeting was held at the court house last Monday night, and at this meeting a committee was appointed to select available candidates for the above named offices, and at the meeting at the court house on next Friday night this committee will make its report, and also at this time the qualified voters present will select available candidates to run as mayor and councilmen.

The public is cordially invited to attend. There will be refreshments and other things to entertain the crowd. We especially invite all qualified voters of the Town of Clanton who are in sympathy with this movement. We also especially urge the women voters to be present, as things vital to their interest will be discussed in the way of schools and our town's welfare in general.

OFFICERS GET CALOP SMITH'S STILL

Sheriff T. J. Littlejohn, Deputy Foshee and Prohibition Officers J. L. Gore went up in the Mars Hill Community Tuesday afternoon and destroyed the lard-can still of Calop (alias Tine) Smith, and brought Smith to Clanton and put him in jail. The still was lacated 280 feet from Smith's house. 60 gallons of beer were destroyed. Smith's bond was fixed at $1,000 which he has failed to make so far.

THE MODERN ATLAS

DAVIS CONDEMNS KLAN OUTLINING CAMPAIGN ISSUES

Democratic Candidate For President Declares Demand For His Views Forced Him to Speak.

Seagrit, N. J., Aug. 22.—The Ku Klux was announced by name here to-Klan was announced by name here today by John W. Davis, the democratic presidential candidate. In a fight addressed to the democracy of New Jersey, Mr. Davis condemned that and any organization raising the stand of racial and religious prejudice. Then he called upon President Coolidge as the standard bearer of the republican party to join him by "some explicit declaration in entirely removing this topic from the field of political debate."

In naming the klan, in this, the second address of his campaign, the democratic nominee again brought into the open an issue which rent the democratic national convention that nominated him and led to the memorable Saturday night battle in Madison Square Garden which culminated in a record vote and a majority of four against denunciation of the klan by name in the party platform.

Having discussed it rather fully in his acceptance address, Mr. Davis apparently did not intend to refer to it again in his address here. He told his audience that since his arrival here from New York last night he had been asked by more than one person as to the views he entertained toward the klan. Decision to state his position clearly once and for all, as he put it, is understood to have crystalized at a conference which Mr. Davis had last night with several party leaders at the home of Governor Silzer. Besides the governor those, reported to have participated included Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, democratic national committeeman from this state; Joseph P. Tumulty, former secretary to President Wilson and Thomas J. Spellacy, director of the eastern head quarters of the national campaign organization.

Apparently few in the audience looked for such a declaration. When the nominee, with out thrust jaw and vigorous gesture, first named the klan there was a hush. But it was only for an instant. Cheers broke from the thousands gathered on the Camp Silzer parade grounds and hats, handkrechiefs and pennants were waved enthusiastically.

Again and again he was interrupted by cheering and there were cries of "good boy, that's the stuff" from his audience. Mr. Davis said at the outset that the issue was one that had no proper place in this or any other campaign and that he mentioned it in the hope that he might dispose of it once and for all so far as he was concerned.

Reminding his hearers that in his Clarksburg acceptance address he had affirmed his "personal belief in the great guarantee of religious freedom and religious toleration which have made this country what it is," the nominee declared he had sought to give his views in terms sufficiently broad to include any and all forms of bigotory, prejudice and intolerance.

"On that declaration I stand," he said. Whenever any organization, no matter what it chooses to be called, whether the Ku Klux Klan or by any other name raises the standard of racial and religious belief as a test of fitness for public office, it does violence to the spirit of American institutions and must be condemned by all those who believe as I do in American ideals.

"Hear me for one further word. I repeat that these matters must not be permitted to divert the attention of the public from the vital questions now before them. To this end and with this end only in mind, I venture, here and now, to express the hope that the nominee of the republican party will see fit by some explicit declaration to join me in entirely removing this topic from the field of political debate."

KU KLUX WIZARD RULES AGAINST THE THIRD PARTY

Evans Declares Order Cannot Support LaFollette; Otherwise Neutral

Huntington, West Va., Aug. 22.—Dr. H. W. Evans, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan in a statement here today said that the strength of the invisible empire would be thrown against the presidential candidacy of Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, while a neutral stand would be taken in the contest between President Coolidge and John W. Davis, the democratic candidate.

"LaFollette is the arch-enemy of the nation," the statement said. "No man who endangered the success of his nation in time of war is fit to hold any office, much less occupy the position through which the country must stand or fall."

HOSPITAL STOCKHOLDERS MEET IN CLANTON MONDAY

Subject to a call by the officers, the stockholders of the Central Alabama Hospital met at the court house in Clanton Monday of this week. The meeting was called to order by the president, Dr. V. J. Gragg at 10:30. The secretary Dr. T. J. Marcus, declared a quorum present and the transaction of business in order. The purpose of the meeting was the election of officers for the ensuing year, but before this was entered into, Dr. Gragg called for any statements which any stockholder might want to make and in response Messrs. F. A. Gulledge, J. Meil Martin, M. L. White and Dr. Marcus made some interesting remarks regarding the past and future program of the institution.

The following officers were elected:—

President, Dr. V. J. Gragg;
Vice-psesident, Dr. N. S. Johnson.
Secretary, Dr. T. J. Marcus;
Treasurer, T. E. Wyatt;

Board of directors:—C. B. Cox, M. L. White, J. Q. Wade and M. A. Gore.

A motion was passed asking the officers of the hospital to furnish to each of the stockholders a written financial statement of the hospital since its organization. It was also officially passed that the remaining stock of the corporation be sold and the proceeds of same applied against the indebtedness.

All of the business being attended to, the meeting adjourned until further business necessitated its being called together.

A splendid spirit of co-operation prevailed throughout the meeting, everyone seeming to be well pleased with the business the institution is doing and has done in the past.

SHAW AND REYNOLDS BUY WADE GIN PROPERTY

Some time ago Messrs. S. P. Shaw, C. N. Shaw and W. A. Reynolds purchased of Mr. J. Q. Wade his gin and warehouse property at West End. For the past few weeks the gin has been being put into running shape for this season's ginning. Mr. Shaw reports that he ginned his first bale of cotton Tuesday of this week.

The Shaw brothers are owners of a warehouse at Jemison, where they have been doing business for the past several years. The above named parties have acquired the gin, the warehouse and the property on which they are located.

ALABAMA POWER CO. GIVEN RIGHT TO BUILD 6 DAMS

10,000 To 50,000 Acres Of Land To Be Submerged By New Dams On Tallapoosa River.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 26.—The Alabama public service commission today granted a revised certificate of convenience and necessity to the Alabama Power company and its subsidiary, the Alabama Interstate Power company, for the Tallapoosa river power development. The development authorized under the certificate will cost $39,000,000, it was estimated.

A certificate of convenience and necessity had been granted by the public service commission in 1922 involving construction of four dams at an estimated cost of $28,000,000 The power company decided after investigation that an enlargement of the original project would better provide for the conservation and development of the Tallapoosa water power, and petitioned for the revised certificate of convenience and necessity, which was granted today, providing for a total of six dams, and an increase in height of the dam at Cherokee Bluff from 120 to 150 feet total estimated cost $39,000,000.

The development so provided for will be higher than that of either Mitchel Dam or Lock 12, it was stated, and will result in submerging 40,000 to 50,000 acres of land. The lake to be so created will, it is stated, be the biggest artificial lake in the world.

Limited To 50 Years

An important feature of the commission's order was that the fact that the term of the certificate of convenience and necessity is limited to fifty years, the same limit is provided for in the license which has been issued in the case by the federal water power commission, and all rights of the state municipalities under the federal water power act are reserved.

So I cannot answer at present.

Davis To Appoint Negroes to Office

Will Draw No Color Line In The Appointments, If Elected' His Letter Asserts

New York, Aug. 20.—In filling governmental positions, John W. Davis, as president, would "consider only the ability of the applicant and his fitness for the position which he wish to occupy" the Democratic candidate for president declared in a letter to Eugene McIntosh, executive leader of the Bronx Colored Voters Democratic Progressive Association, made public Wednesday.

McIntosh, in a letter, reminded Mr. Davis that he had not included the word "color" in his acceptance speech, n which he declared that, in making ppointments, in the event of his election, "he would set no standard of eligious faith or racial origin as a ualification for any office.

The letter continues:

"Since the National Democratic party in the past has not seemed to avor presidential appointment to office of colored citizens, may I not ask you directly the question: If being a colored citizen would be a bar to presidential appointments by you if lected president?"

The Democratic candidate replied: "My acceptance speech meant exactly what it said. In making appointments I shall consider only the ability of the applicant and his fitness for the position which he wishes to occupy."

CHILTON COUNTY MASONIC CONFERENCE AT MARBURY

The Chilton County Masonic Conference which was held at Marbury, Ala., last week, from all accounts, was one of the best ever held in the county. The Masonic spirit, manifest by a large attendance and their interest therein, demonstrates that Chilton County has a large number of men who are interested in building a real fraternal brotherhood, and who are yet interested in the cause of humanity.

The Conference was ably conducted by Hon. J. B. Atkinson of Clanton, who, on account of his able manner of conducting the conferences and his lectures won for him the praise of all present.

Success of the conference was also due to the able manner in which Marbury Lodge entertained the visiting brethren, also to the prompt attendance of the officers of the Conference.

Thorsby, Ala., was unanimously selected for the meeting in 1925, and all Masons have a real treat in store for them at Thorsby.

CLOSING GAMES OF BASEBALL FOR CLANTON THIS SEASON

Clanton baseball season will close Monday, September 1st. There will be four games between now and next Monday.

Kellerman, with the best club they can get, plays Clanton Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. On Monday, the 1st, the L. & N. Pan-American club of Birmingham City League will be here to wind up the season. This promises to be a Jim Dandy game.

THE LEADER HAS MOVED INTO ITS NEW LOCATION

You have been hearing a lot about Mr. Lande going to move. Well, he has moved. He is now located in the old W. A. Kemp stand, next to Alred Drug Company. Mr. Lande never lets an opportunity slip whereby he can become better equipped to serve his many friends in Chilton County, and this change of location is the biggest step forward to this end he has taken since coming to Clanton. He has much more space in his new home and will be much better prepared to serve the trade.

LITTLE CHILDREN DIE

Evelyn Inez, the little 7-year old daughter of Mr. Horace Headley of West End, Clanton, died last Saturday evening. Burial services were held Sunday at Mt. Pisgah.

The infant son of Rev. Buford Lawrence of Jemison died last Sunday and was buried Monday at the Jemison Cemetery.

Sick Headache

"I have used Black-Draught when needed for the past 25 years," says Mrs. Emma Grimes, of Forbes, Mo. "I began taking it for a bad case of constipation. I would get constipated and feel just miserable—sluggish, tired, a bad taste in my mouth, . . . and soon my head would begin hurting and I would have a severe sick headache. I don't know just who started me to taking

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

but it did the work. It just seemed to cleanse the liver. Very soon I felt like new. When I found Black-Draught so easy to take and easy-acting, I began to use it in time and would not have sick headaches."

Constipation causes the system to re-absorb poisons that may cause great pain and much danger to your health. Take Thedford's Black-Draught. It will stimulate the liver and help to drive out the poisons.

Sold by all dealers. Costs only one cent a dose.

PROVIDENCE BEAT 16

Editor Union-Banner:

With your permission, I will write a few lines in your paper. Our Sunday School is progressing nicely, also our singing society is doing fine. We meet every second and fourth Sunday evening.

Bro. W. H. Robinson is teaching a singing school at this place and is meeting with success.

Our crops are fine around here. It seems that some of our people think that we are getting in the back ground in most every way; I am sorry that this is the case. We see in the Bible that Israel, every time they forgot God that they went astray and that God would warn them by His leaders and they would have to come back to God before they got right again. Now, if we have gone wrong, let us come back to God and get in favor with Him and all will be well.

You remember Paul said that if eating meat causes my brother to be offended, I will eat no more meat; so we ought to do the same, let it be men or women.

I want to say for our county officers that I am satisfied with them and I think they are doing all that they can for our county. Our road overseer is doing all he can, and our roads are in as good shape as they ever were. I will admit that we have some bad places, but they will be fixed in a few days. I will say for him that he has treated everybody fair and has done all he could and we are satisfied. If he needs any help from us he can get it at any time. Let's stop looking for something to growl about and try to help. If we see things going crooked, we don't need to agitate this growling spirit. We ought to look for something better; if we can't help, let's don't hinder.

With best wishes to all, I will close.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

The state securities commission has effected a reorganization of its affairs under the new codified securities law of the state, which went into effect August 17. At a meeting of the commission Captain W. C. Oates, who has held the title of executive officer of the securities commission, was re elected, with the new title of secretary-examiner of the commission. Mrs. R. C. Henry, formerly stenographer of the Alabama Public Service Commission, was employed as stenographer of the securities commission.

A big demonstration has been planned for the celebration of Labor Day by the various labor organizations of Florence, Sheffield and Tuscumbia, who will celebrate jointly. A monster parade, several miles in length, composed of floats representing the business interests of the three cities will move from Florence to Sheffield thence to Spring Park in Tuscumbia where the festivities will be held.

Butler county and central Alabama will not produce as much cotton as has been predicted by optimistic forecasters, according to R. A. Beeland one of Greenville's leading farmer bankers. Butler county produced approximately 9,000 bales of cotton last year and according to Mr. Beeland she will produce this year approximately 13,000 bales, or about 5,000 bales less than previous estimate.

Auburn alumni are responding readily to a call sent out by Judge H. W. Samford, president of the Auburn Alumni association, looking to the building up of an alumni fund to be used in aiding worthy young men in getting an education at Auburn. The program of the executive committee of the association contemplates the raising of such a fund, and Auburn alumni have been called on to contribute.

A big increase from the sale of licenses for motor vehicles for the first three-quarters of the present fiscal year, from October 1, 1923 to July 1, 1924 is shown by figures furnished by F. C. Marquis, member of the state tax commission. The state received during the nine months a sum of $1,554,979.65 from the sale of motor vehicle licenses.

Coal production in the Alabama field will show an increase of 25,000 tons over the first week in August according to information given by officials of the Alabama Mining institute. It was stated that the production figures indicated a substantial revival of the coal mining situation which is expected to be followed now by a gradual climb upward.

Birmingham, according to a bulletin just issued by the United States Census Bureau, had 329 industrial establishments in 1920 with a total invested capital of $115,459,258. This statement does not include many of the large plants just outside the city and which would run the total invested capital up to a considerably larger sum.

The Lincoln mills corporation, of Huntsville, has a large force of mechanics at work in the new mill installing machinery and it is expected that the new plant will be ready for operation by the first of October. When the new mill is in operation the pay roll of the Lincoln company will contain approximately 1,500 names, it is estimated.

The Alabama public service commission in an order granted the petition of the Mobile and Ohio railroad for authority to discontinue Lamberti as a flag stop for trains Nos. 1 and 2. A similar request as to the station of Eight Mile was granted in part and denied in part, the railroad being allowed to discontinue train No. 1 at Eight Mile, but not to discontinue train No. 2.

According to the 1924 revision of the rolls of the county medical societies in Alabama, which constitute the Medical Association of Alabama, there are now 2,200 doctors, including surgeons and specialists, practicing in this state, or one doctor to approximately every 1,000 of population.

According to the census recently taken in Tuscumbia, the population has increased by over 500 during the first six months of 1924. Over 75 houses have been built during that time.

The large plant of the Tuscaloosa Lumber company, in East End, Tuscaloosa, was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of between $75,000 and $100,000.

Sam Aaron, a well known farmer of the Sipsey neighborhood, died after suffering two days from hydrophobia.

Louis Gavan, negro, of Smite Mines, has confessed to the shooting of John B. Fancher, proprietor of the Fancher Bonding company, of Birmingham, on the Oxmoor road, according to Assistant Solicitor Jim Long and Chief Deputy Henry S. Hill.

Voters of Muscle Shoals city met at the city hall and nominated the following for mayor and aldermen: Mayor, Robert Houston; aldermen, George Harris, F. J. Gusman, O. F. McGuire, J. F. Green and George Vaughan.

Mobile shippers and exporters are receiving letters from the United States shipping board asking for cooperation in directing foreign shipments by American vessels.

Invitations to the eighth annual convention of the Alabama Merchants' Association have been mailed throughout the state by J. L. Hicks, president of the organization.

Miss Mamie Ruth Davis, of Ramer, Montgomery county, has been appointed secretary to the state superintendent of education.

With a strength of more than 1,600 men at Camp McClellan, Anniston, Alabama national guard has more men in training this year than any year since the world war, it was announced by Captain U. N. James, regimental adjutant of the Alabama guard. The organization of the regiment is working more efficiently and with less friction than ever before, and the morale of the men is at its highest peak, Captain James stated. With all these indications, it is pointed out that this season should prove to be the most successful in the history of the Alabama guardsmen.

Morgan county asphalt has been used for building a short section of the Somerville pike just out of the Twin Cities near the Bee Line highway. In a few hours time, after the raw asphalt had been ground, it was crushed and immediately placed on the pike and ten heavy teams were driven over it. To all appearances, the new product had made a substantial roadway in a few hour's time.

Rodney Thompson, well known young man of Hartselle, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thompson, was almost instantly killed at a point near Lacon when his car in which he and Roy Penn, of Cullman, were headed toward Hartselle, turned over, breaking young Thompson's neck. The other young man was also pinned beneath the car, and was badly bruised.

After thirty hours of search, sheriff's officers have been unable to obtain any trace of Herbert Julias, alias James Dorsey, negro, who is charged with the murder and robbery of William A. Sinnreich, distributor of soft drinks, while the two were returning from Tuskegee to Montgomery on a truck. All clues have been closely followed but have been unavailing.

W. M. Carter was killed and his 14 year-old son severely injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by an Atlantic Coast Line train on the Snowdoun road, near Montgomery. There were no eye witnesses to the accident. The automobile was demolished.

Judge O. Kyle and Judge James E. Horton of the circuit court of Madison county have cleared up a supposed misunderstanding on account of the law as given by them to the special grand jury recently in session here, according to correspondence which has passed between the two officials.

John Milton, ax slayer, apparently has made good his escape and is believed to have put many miles between himself and the scene of his crime, which occurred in Jefferson county, Chief Deputy Henry S. Hill said at the close of the six day searching for him.

Papers of incorporation were filed with the secretary of state by the Montgomery Cotton Oil company, a Montgomery concern with $150,000 capital stock, of which $120,000 has been paid in. John F. Stevens, E. T. Allen and Fred E. Calvern are the incorporators.

Just at the time when everybody began to sit back and congratulate Etowah and adjoining counties on the prospects of an unusually large cotton crop, news came in that the red spider is doing much damage in large areas of the district.

THE ROADS OF THE COUNTY AS SEEN BY ONE CITIZEN

As I hear so much being said about the roads and road work in Chilton County pro and con, and as I have been asked to tell the public what I think of the road work in the county, I will gladly give my idea of what is being done.

Will first say that I am in position to know the road condition in the county, from the fact that I traverse the county each way every week. There might be some short roads that I have not traveled, but every road that I have traveled have been worked and all that I can call to memory just now have been graded with the machine. It might be possible for some conditions to be improved. Some places might be worked different by me and still be worked different by some other man, but as a whole, I will say that there has been some mighty good work done this year in Chilton County.

My opinion is that the roads of the county as a whole are better than they have ever been. Now, my purpose is not to dictate for our county officers or road men who have given their time and thought to road work, but it seems like it would be advisable that when all roads have been worked and all necessary sewers have been installed and before all appropriation for the year has been exhausted, that we ascertain from each community the low marshy places also the soft clay hills that give us trouble in the fall and winter, and all those places be properly graded and surfaced with good soil or gravel; then we will be prepared for the winter rains.

Yours for good roads,

G. C. POWELL.

POSTMASTER EXAMINATION FOR STANTON POST OFFICE

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an examination to be held at Selma, Ala, on September 20th, 1924, as a result of which it is expected to make certification to fill a contemplated vacancy in the position of fourth-class postmaster at Stanton, Ala., and other vacancies as they may occur at that office, unless it shall be decided in the interests of the service to fill any vacancy by reinstatement. The compensation of the postmaster at this office was $699 for the last fiscal year.

Mr. Guy DeShazo of Fort Payne is spending this week and next with his parents on Mulberry and with friends in Clanton. He was accompanied on his trip down here by Mr. Sam Sloane of Fort Payne. Guy is chief custodian for The DeKalb Republican at Fort Payne.

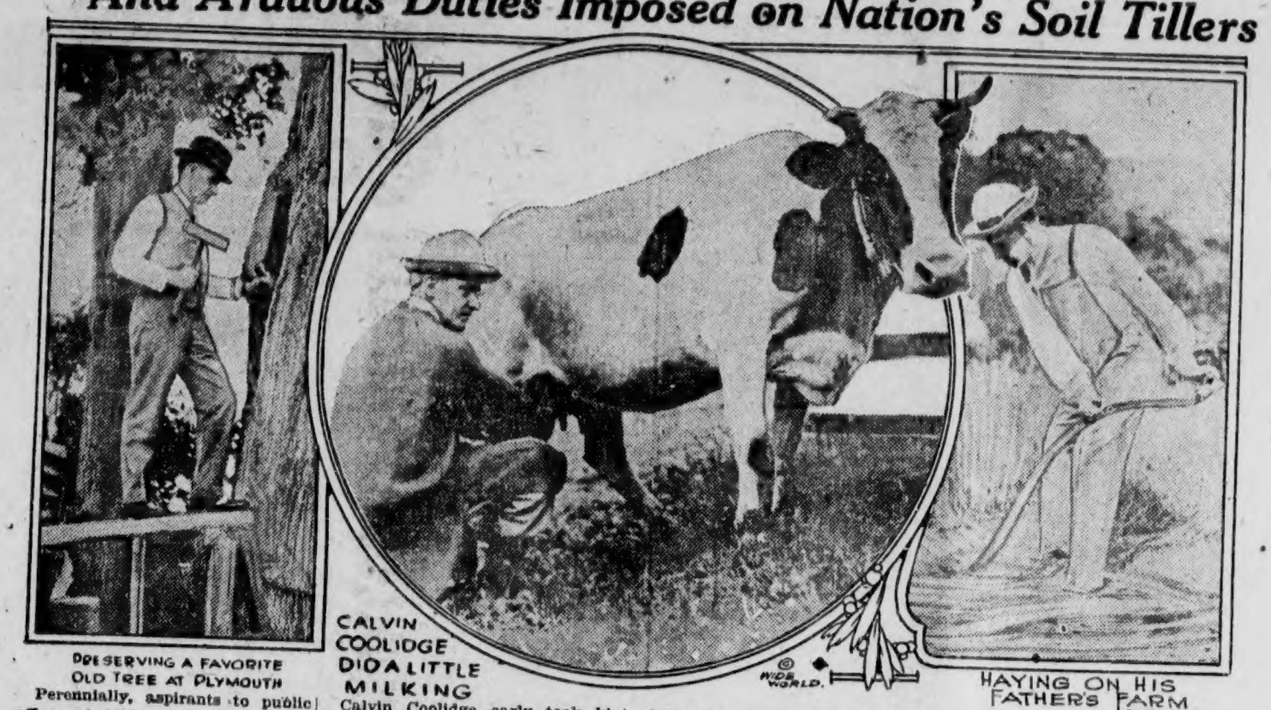
President Coolidge, Son of Farmer, Knows Problems And Arduous Duties Imposed on Nation's Soil Tillers



DOE SERVING A FAVORITE OLD TREE AT PLYMOUTH

CALVIN COOLIDGE DID A LITTLE MILKING

Perennially, aspirants to public office, mindful of the farmer vote, become converts to the cause of agriculture and the farmer and demand justice for the tillers of the soil.

To them there is no significance in the fact that they have been little concerned with this great division of the citizenry during the off-campaign season. The vote's the thing, and one may look from now until November for a veritable deluge of oratory and pictorial evidence that all candidates are for "justice for the farmer." More often than not it is an artificial sponsorship calculated to mislead the Man With the Hoe.

An exception to the rule is refreshing.

Calvin Coolidge early took his place upon the farm. Born in Plymouth, Vermont, twelve miles from the nearest railroad depot, he is the son of a dirt farmer and has experienced all the hardships, reverses and arduous labors that fall to the lot of the farmer boy. One biographer has said of him:

"While many of the boys of today are feverishing putting on the golf green, Cal was happy in pursuing to its native lair the sportive potato. He early and always has been an artist in mowing and he early became an adept in divorcing the lowing herd which winds slowly o'er the lea from the raw material which makes for butter and cheese."

He took the oath of office in the Coolidge farm house.

And, as the biographer has pointed out, the bovines of Plymouth, Vermont, have enjoyed a rare distinction. It is not every cow that can be milked by a President of the United States, any more than it it every President of the United States that can milk a cow. President Coolidge not only is "at home" on a farm. A farm is home to the Chief Magistrate of the land.

Ergo, his must be a natural understanding of the farmer and his problems, and a consequent deep sympathy with him that, is not prompted by campaign expediency or vote seeking.

President Coolidge did not have to pose for the above photographs, either. They were taken years ago, when he was Vice-President and before there was any intimation that he was destined to hold the highest office in the land. It was during a vacation on his father's farm that the photographer snapped him as he raked the new-mown hay, started for the cow pen at milking time and essayed a bit of surgery on one of his favorite old shade trees.

The same farm smock and boots he wore when the pictures were taken still repose in the hall closet of the old family home and await his pleasure. He knows how to wear them, and, what is of more interest to his fellow farmers, what to do after he puts them on.

"He has always adorned a hay rake with as much facility as a reviewing stand," the afore-quoted biographer declares.

That would appear to make him eligible, at least, for consideration by the farmer.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

The following officers of the Alabama division of the Farmers' Union have been elected for 1924-25: G. T McElderry, Talladega, president, second term; J. C. Hicks, Centerville vice president; second term; Mrs. E A. Painter, Birmingham, secretary treasurer, third term; W. O. Washburn, Falkville, doorkeeper, and W S. Cox, chaplain. The executive committee is composed of M. A. Peek Mrs. W. B. Edmundson, third term; L. O. Cox, R. C. Hicks, second term and Duvan Dobbins This committee will meet September 15 at the office of the Advance, Birmingham newspaper, devoted to farm interests, at which time they will outline the work of the union in Alabama during the coming year. The committee will hold monthly meetings throughout the year as usual.

Many communities in Morgan county are looking forward to the harvesting of a number of crops planted in an effort to ascertain the value of certain kinds of fertilizer for certain soils and certain crops in Morgan county. In association with the county farm bureau, importers of nitrate of soda and the state agriculture department. County Farm Agent J. C. Ford early this spring had demonstration plots planted at Trinity, Rockyford, Danville, Massey, Eva, Rhine Somerville, New Centre, Hartselle and the Twin Cities. Mr. Ford said the different fertilizers used were showing remarkable results. Each member of the different communities where the experiments have been tried are to share alike in the financial return.

A new cotton disease has appeared in Alabama. It is known as "cotton blight" and is caused by a fungus, ascochyta gossypii. Information as to its appearance reached Auburn in the form of a specimen from a Houston county farmer who said that it had spread over an area of a quarter of an acre in his field. Examination of this specimen by Dr. L. E Miles plant pathologist for the extension service revealed that it was cotton blight, and a recent examination of the property confirmed this diagnosis.

Leon Tremmer, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Tremmer, of Atmore, was badly shaken up when he fell 24 feet from a second story window, while walking in his sleep. Leon's explanation of the accident is that he dreamed the family was eating watermelon and that his mother told him to get some salt. He unlatched the window screen and walked out, escaping serious injury by landing upright, 24 feet below.

Reduced rates on logs, carloads, from local station Alabama on the lines of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad to Montgomery, will result from authority granted in formal order issued by the Alabama Public Service Commission. The order is based on a petition of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad for authority to revise rates on this commodity between the points named and request for a ruling on the correct present rates.

The Alabama Public Service Commission granted the petition of the Alabama Traction company for permission to discontinue its street railway service in Albany and Decatur, effective September 1, and to dispose of its properties and cease to do business. The petitioner was allowed to continue the service after September 1, as heretofore or to a limited extent, if it cares to do so.

Four hundred persons attended the annual picnic of the Etowah county farm bureau at Noccalula Falls. The speakers were L. N. Duncan, director of extension service at Auburn; E. E. Binford, field agent for the service, and J. E. Kernachan, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau.

Despite permission to do so from the Alabama public service commission, the Alabama Traction company may not discontinue its street car service in the Twin Cities September 1, according to Charles H. Eyster, attorney for the company.

The Davis-Alcott hosiery mill at Gadsden has gone on full time after being operated four days a week for several months. The Attalla hosiery mill has resumed operations after being idle since the first of June.

The new $65,000 Baptist church at Fayette is nearing completion. The pews are expected to arrive soon. The house will be dedicated as soon as completed.

Walter Wiley, 36, employed as a riveter on the new Shoal Creek bridge near Florence, fell 25 feet to his death.

The graphite plants, constructed in Clay county during the war, have been sold to Canadian interests and the equipment shipped to that country. Dan Martin, of the McClary-Jemison Machinery company, said that he had purchased about seventeen of the plants and sold them to various companies in the Birmingham district for purpose other than making graphite, and two to Canadian interests. The statement was also made that the dissembling of the plants was expected to continue until all of the forty-one plants built for graphite manufacturers were removed.

Many accidents have happened on the approach to the Cahaba bridge on the Marion Junction road, near Selma, but none equalled in sheer pluck a Louisiana woman driving several tourists to Selma. Her car collided with a truck driven by G. R. Rentz, of Marion Junction and plunged down a twenty foot embankment, but by a marvelous balance landed on all four wheels and was driven back to the road. The lady asked "Is any one hurt?" The Louisiana car then drove on to Selma and bought a new wheel for the Rentz truck.

Dangerous ONLY to the Careless—

Safety is not a one-man job! Despite the precautions that the railroads have employed to safeguard the public against accident, and death, thru warning signals, watchmen, crossing gates, etc., preventable disasters continue to occur.

Do your part in the great safety campaign being conducted by this and other American railroads. Let the trains have the right of way; the tracks were made for them and they cannot change their course to prevent an accident. Wait until the train stops before you attempt to get on or off. Do not use railroad tracks as a passageway or a loitering place. They are dangerous only to trespassers. Help us save life and protect against accident.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad spends nearly a million dollars a year for the single purpose of maintaining constant supervision over the condition of its tracks—850 track walkers are employed and every day they walk every mile of the main tracks of the road; inspecting rails, trestles, bridges, etc. When you are on the train, every precaution is taken for your safety. Do as much to protect yourself when off the trains.

Common sense—Caution—Cooperation—will pay big dividends in health and happiness.

DO YOUR PART.

That which is brief, if it be good, is good twice over.—Proverbs of Spain.

The Democratic candidate for President recently made known the fact that no color lines would be recognized if he should be elected to the president's office. This means that he will appoint negroes to federal offices when he gets ready. Also read who has lined up behind Davis' campaign—Joseph P. Tumulty, the Roman Catholic ex-secretary to President Wilson. Democrat, negro and Catholic have come to be synonyms to each other—they all mean about the same thing.

John W. Davis has declared against the Ku Klux Klan. The Ku Klux Klan has denounced LaFollette. President Coolidge has shown himself broad enough to play off the question either pro or con. What is the only conclusion? Coolidge is the only one of the three who is big enough to cope with the responsibilities of the chief executive's office of this great country. The Ku Klux, like other fraternal and religious questions, should be held foreign to politics, and anything other than this is a tendency toward union of church and state. America will never stand for this kind of stuff.

COOLIDGE'S HOME COMPARED WITH DAVIS' AND LAFOLLET'S

The National Republican, under date of August 23rd carries pictures of the homes of the three candidates for President. The home of LaFollette, the Socialist candidate, who has lost so much sleep over giving the poor people an equal chance with the capitalists, is located in the city of Washington and resembles very strikingly the old Greek and Athenian types of architecture, which looks more like a king's palace than it does a common man's home. The cost of LaFollette's home would daze the imagination of any man of common means.

The home of John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, in Clarksburg, W. Va., appears from the photograph to be large enough and fine enough to house the capital of the United States. Mr. Davis has another home on Long Island Sound where he spends part of his time worrying over the people's rights and the sad state of affairs in a nation where the struggling young lawyers and others find the gate of opportunity closed to them.

The humble farm home of Col. John Coolidge, father of the President, where the President and his family are spending their vacation, is a small wooden home which a few thousand dollars would build. Also the house in Northampton, Mass., half of which the President now pays $34 a month rent for is shown in the picture.

A comparison of the homes of the three candidates shows more explicitly than ringing oratory who is the friend of the common man. President Coolidge is a comman man himself, and certainly would be the best friend to the other common men. Of course President Coolidge is too great a man to discriminate against any class—either poor or rich. He is president of all the people, and seeks to give justice to every man regardless of his financial standing.

WHO SAYS SO?

COMMENT ON COOLIDGE ACCEPTANCE SPEECH

New York Herald-Tribune—The calm simplicity of Mr. Coolidge's speech of acceptance is a refreshing draft after the rhetroical exciations of Mr. Davis, emulating the governor of New York and endeavoring to be rough. For inaccuracy there is careful precision, for vauge and rhythmical generalities, there are hard specific fact for loose promises of undefined projects there are clear plans for action. Principles, not personalities, are its subject matter. The whole speech breathes that lucidity, moderation and homespun dignity which he could not forget if he would.

Buffalo Express—The American citizen must experience relief to find that there is one Presidential candidate who is content, calmly and dispassionately, to tell them in plain language where he stands. President Coolidge tells what he and his associates have been doing and what they propose to do.

Chicago Tribune—"The people want a government with common sense." In this closing paragraph, Mr. Coolidge sums up the faith that is in him as a political leader and as responsible administrator of the affaris of a great nation.

Wilmington, (Del.) News—Mr. Coolidge's speech is a powerful appeal to American citizens. It is a convincing statement of facts and deductions, deeply concerned with the welfare of the average American, contains nothing sensational, but plenty of sound judgment.

Indianapolis Star—The President reasserted his adherence to unyielding support of the Constitution and all its amendments. He is for equal opportunity and treatment for all citizens and for the enforcement of all laws because it is law. The people want a government of common sense, and that is exactly what he proposes to give them, so far as it is within his power.

Kansas City Star—The President conceives it to be his duty to bring the largest possible freedom from the exaction of government to the families of America. His record backs up his word.

Wheeling Intelligencer—With all his amazing appreciation of practical values, his unswearing determinations to serve the whole people of the nation and his ideals derived from and wholly consistent with the natural genius of the Ameriean people, President Coolidge attacked every major problem now confronting our government and stated in exact terms his ideas for their solution.

Los Angeles Times—President Coolidge's speech of acceptance is a reaffirmation of the faith of an American citizen in America institutions. It is not a political utterance, for it contains no appeal to passion, prejudice or class consciousness. There are none of the apt phrases with which the demagogue baits his emotional appeal.

RETURN TO LAND OF FLOWERS

Mrs. A. W. Powell, Sr., returned to her home in Pensacola, Fla., Sunday after a four-weeks' visit in Clanton. She says she had a wonderful time with relatives and friends. She loves her southern home, but has a love for her old home in Alabama too.

SOME DEMOCRATIC "HIGH YALLERS" LEADERS.

For the benefit of those timorous Democratic brethren who yell "Nigger" every time they hear somebody say he is a Republican, we take pleasure in keeping history straight by publishing the following authentic list of "Leaders in Democratic Ranks at Convention in New York," as a full-page headline spread across the portraits of twelve negro Democratic gentleman and one lady-bug announces them to be in The Chicago Defender, page 1, of Saturday, June 28, 1924: Here is the list, or "Key to Pictures at Top of Page," as the Defender calls it; with their official titles.

1. Dr. Paul A. Collins, alternate from 21st. Congressional district.

2. Ferninand Q. Morton, Big Chief of Great New York Tammany Hall politics and at present a civil service commissioner (before whom every white Southern girl who happens to want a political job in New York must be examined if she gets appointed of course).

3. James D. McClendon, Assistant District Attorney the "kid" of the "gang." "Jimmie", as he is familiarly known, is Chairman of the Committee on Rules of the Tammany Hall United Colored Democracy.

4. William Banks, Executive Member 19th. assembly district, and treasurer of Tammany Hall United Colored Democracy.

5. Cornelius M. Brown, President of the Essex County, Newark, N. J. Colored Democratic Association, and founder of the Democratic party's interest among the New Jersey high yallers where Joe Pat Tumulty, Woodrow Wilson's former chief, is one of his political brethern.

6. Mrs. Emma T. Wood, Executive member of 16th. assembly district, sheriff's office attendant and widow of the late Democratic leader, Robt. N. Wood.

7. Garry W. Hall, President of the Fifth Assembly District Democratic organization, Brooklyn.

8. Everett T. Campbell, Executive member of the 13th. assembly district.

9. Dr. Rogers W. Griffin, Executive member of the Fifth Assembly District.

11. John Williams Smith, Alderman from the 21st. district, and said to be first of the Negro race to be honored with such a plum by the Tammany Dems.

12. Edward W. Lee, Founder and first leader of the United Colored Democracy back in 1897. Lee is officially described in the record as the "favorite lieutenant of the late Richard Croker, who paved the way for our Race in Democratic ranks".

And the Democrats have been telling us all along that the unterrified Wilson-Cox-Davis party was for the white man, bag and baggage.

Fellow Reader, the next time you hear a Southern Democrat yelling "Nigger", pull the above record on him and watch him turn pea-green behind the gills.—Yellow Jacket.

EXPRESSES THANKS

Edtior Union-Banner:

I want to thank the people of Oak Grove and Providence communities and of Jemison, and especially Drs. Johnson and McNeill, for the great love and respect shown to me while in my sad hours of trouble when the death angel took my wife from my home.

Respectfully,

For less than $50.00 thousands of farm women in Alabama could have running water in their kitchens, and then a great burden, and drudgery would be removed. Get your county agent or your home demonstrator agent to show you how.

"Farming has never offered greater reward than it offers today to the farmer who farms intelligently; but, on the other hand, it promises practical poverty to those who farm indifferently and carelessly. Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director, Extension, Service, Auburn.

At a community meeting of farmers in Coosa County L. E. Ward surprised his neighbor by taking down his neatly kept books which showed that his surplus cream, after supplying milk and butter for a family of four, from four to seven cows had been netting him an average of $39.70 a month. He pointed to a field of fine corn which manure from his cows largely made. It pays to milk a few good cows.

"In the main the production of big and profitable yields of crops can be done very easily by having rich land and keeping weeds from growing. The best and cheapest way to make land rich is to grow hairy vetch on it in the winter and early spring. Well, folks

Don't mention it.

That's that. See where some authority on animals write:

"The best way to keep a goat from butting you is to get as close to the got as possible so he can't get a running start."

We were always taught "vice versa." That is, to give our be-whiskered dumb friend as "wide a berth" as possible. If we had to come close, we tried to beat the goat to getting "the running start." Most of the times, the goat won.

Along about this time of year, Johnny starts hidin' his football togs in the wood shed. He comes home almost daily with a closed eye, a scratched nose, decorated beautifully with mud and wearing a silly grin. And then—he tries to convince Ma he was playing "drop the handkerchief" with the neighbor's children.

Then, they claim we display it too lavishly. And—darn it—now they say we're "eatin' it." That's going too deep. No, thank you. We'll stick to the good ol' corn fritters and syrup or corn beef and cabbage.

WOODWARD - WILLIAMS

A beautiful wedding of much interest to the many friends of the bride throughout Alabama and to the Southern Baptists was solemnized in the Baptist Church at Maplesville on Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock, when Miss Mabel Williams and Rev. Frank T. Woodward of Statesville, N. C., were married. The bride's sister, Mrs. James Davis of Birmingham, was matron of honor and Rev. B. R. Justice of Frankfort, Ky., acted as best man. Rev. W. T. Edwards officiated, assisted by the bride's brother, Rev. Grady Williams. Before the ceremony, a violin solo, "Oh Promise Me," was rendered by J. W. Gwin, Jr., and a vocal solo, "I love you Truly," by Miss Beverly Hester of Clanton. Mrs. Chas. N. Parnell accompanied and played the wedding march. During the ceremony, "Angels' Serenade" was softly played on violin and piano.

The church was artistically decorated with ferns and potted plants. The bride was becomingly attired in a beautiful fall model of poiret twill with gray accessories. She carried a Bible, from which fell a shower bouquet of fragrant clematis.

Immediately after the ceremony, Rev. and Mrs. Woodward left for Raleigh, N. C., from which place they will go to Statesville, N. C., for a visit with the groom's parents, then via Chicago to Seattle, Wash.

Mrs. Woodward is an accomplished young woman of lovable personality and strong Christian character. She is a graduate of Judson college and of the Baptist Training School located at Louisville, Ky.

Mr. Woodward is a young man of sterling worth and high ideals. He is a graduate of Wake Forest College in North Carolina and of the Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville.

On September 5th, Rev. and Mrs. Woodward will sail from Seattle for China, where they will spend their lives as missionaries. They go out followed by the love and prayers of their many friends and relatives.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

Announcement was made in Gadsden that Otto Agricola, of that city, and the Hammond Byrd company, at Birmingham, had sold their interests in three soil pipe plants, the Coosa, Gadsden and Agricola plants, for a consideration of approximately $2,000,000. The purchaser is the Anniston Pipe and Foundry company, which was recently organized to take over several pipe shops at Anniston. It is owned and officered by former Gov. T. E. Kilby, C. A. Hamilton, W. F. Johnston, Whitfield Clark, of Anniston, and William Byrd, of Chicago. The sale also includes the Talladega Pipe company and the Imperial Pipe company, of Bessemer. The anniston concern now has 13 plants, their purchase representing an investment of about $4,000,000. Mr. Agricola will retire as manager of the local shops.

Fishermen arriving in Mobile from the lower bay at the entrance of the Gulf, reported observing a large school of devil fish or giant stingrays, the number being estimated at probably 300. A party headed by ex-Senator Jonathan L. Pourne, of Oregon, captured one of the sea mammals, measuring 12 feet across and weighing nearly two ton. The fishermen drove two harpoons into the fish which towed their launch for five hours the big ray being shot a number of times before it could be pulled up alongside of the launch.

Announcement was made that the state highway department is about to enter into contract with Montgomery county, whereby the state will take over the Carter Hill road and Mount Meigs road and make them a part of the state highway system. The county will agree to put the roads in condition acceptable to the state for which it will be paid $25,000 by the state. The mileage of the two roads is forty-three.

Bankruptcy petitions for the Interstate Casualty company, of Birmingham and St. Louis, have been filed in Montgomery and St. Louis and A. W. Briscoe, former state insurance commissioner of Alabama, has been appointed receiver to take charge of a $$250,000 deposit in a Montgomery bank, and former Supreme Court Judge Revel, of St. Louis, to direct affairs in Missouri.

Plans for "governor's day" at Camp McClellan are being completed rapidly. Governor W. W. Brandon, of Alabama; Governor Whitfield, of Mississippi, and Governor Fuquay, of Louisiana, will be present at the camp on August 23, and review the members of the 31st division. Many other noted visitors from over the South will be present on that day.

J. H. M. Nunnelly and Sam Otwell, well known citizens of the Ranburne section of Cleburne county, have been appointed as additional road overseers for Beat 9 in the county, a decision to use four overseers to handle the 101 miles of road in that beat having been made by the court of county commissioners.

Recent action of the city school board at Heflin has stirred up a hornet's nest among the people living just outside the city limits, the board having made a ruling that these pupils will not be permitted to attend the city school session because of a limit in the appropriation.

The board of health of Morgan county has passed a resolution which will be presented to the Morgan county board of revenue, requesting the last named body to rescind its action approving Garth Heights, west of Albany, as the site for a new cemetery.

An injunction suit looms as the next step in the fight by a group of Birmingham property owners to block tentative plans of the city commission and the railroads to erect viaducts at Eighteenth and Twenty-fourth streets.

Contracts for the paving of two additional streets of Huntsville have been awarded by the city council to Lasley Brothers, of Chattanooga.

Diversion through Prattville of the Autauga County link in the Montgomery-Birmingham highway has been finally and definitely refused by the United States Bureau of Public Roads, according to Chairman John A. Rogers, of the state highway commission.

Nearly 800 members of the Madison County Farm Bureau and their friends made an inspection trip to Muscle Shoals on a special train.

The store of M. A. Morrow was robbed of between $300 and $400 worth of merchandise at Guntersville.

Mr. J. N. Dennis is building a large warehouse at his gin in Clanton to take care of the cotton that comes to his gin.

THE F. C. A. IS DEMOCRATIC AND CLEAN

Last week we discussed two requirements of a successful organization. This week we will discuss the third, fourth and fifth standards that we have adopted for our association. As both the third and fourth are closely related, we will discuss them together. As previously stated, our third requirement is for the organization to be in full control of the members at all times, and the fourth is that it shall be in charge of honest and conscientious men in whom the members have confidence, with all officers handling money under bond.

At the annual meeting each January the members of the organization elect the officers and members of the Board of Directors for the ensuing year. The manager is selected by the executive committee but if someone is selected who is unsatisfactory to the members, they may remove him and have someone else put in his place. Article 5 of the Constitution of the association places the members in full control of the organization at all times. This article reads as follows:

Article 5.—Recall of Officers.—To remove any officer from office, it will be necessary to have a petition requesting the removal of such officer signed by ten per cent of the members of the organization. The question will then be voted on at the first regular or special meeting held after the petition has been delivered to the Executive Committee. If a majority of the members present at the meeting uphold the petition, the removal of the officer in question shall be declared and the vacant office shall be filled in regular manner.

Having the members in full control of the association with all officers responsible to them will mean that the organization will be in the charge of honest and conscientious men in whom the members have confidence, for if any other kind of men should happen to get into office the members would soon find it out. In this case they would not have to petition someone else to remove the officer but would themselves remove the officer when they saw he should be removed and that without delay and without asking anyone's consent.

Our constitution requires that all officers handling money shall be under bond and makes the board of directors responsible for seeing that this is done.

The fifth requirement which we feel is necessary for a successful organization is that it will keep members informed on all matters connected with the association. This requirement has been well provided for in the F. C. A. All records and books of the association are open to the members at all times and in addition to this the Constitution requires that "The manager-Treasurer shall give a correct annual report to the Association and a monthly report to the Executive Committee.

From the above we can see that our organization is throughly democratic and the members can keep it running clean and honestly. All it will take now for it to prove profitable to us is for us to belong to the association and do our business through it. It is here to use it if we will. If we will not use it we should not blame anybody if we do not get what we think we should for what we sell or if we have to pay too much for what we buy.

Yours for more profit,
FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE ASS'N.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

"How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood", etc., brought to mind by a recent visit to a village intimately connected with incidents that are among the earlist recollections of the writer.

Last Sunday we planned to attend church at Stanhope,New Jersey, about six miles from our temporary home, but when we arrived we found that the church was closed for the month of August.

This custom become quite prevalent among churches of this section, as a means of allowing pastor and people to have their vacations. However we found the aged pastor of this church quietly reading at his home, across the street from the church.

Having informed him that under the pastorage of the father of the writer, he had attended that church from 1852 to 1854. The present pastor informed us that he had, a few years ago, written a history of the church as a preface to a Cook Book which their Ladies Aid Society were published, for sale, and he remembered that there had been an Oliver W. Norton, pastor of the church at one time.

When we asked if we might see the interior of the church, he got the key and we entered the sanctuary. The church was established and the building put up about 1835. It has since been somewhat changed as to interior, to conform to modern needs of a church with 150 members at the present day. A basement has been converted into a prayer meeting and Sunday School room, and from what we were told we imagine that social gatherings were considered an important feature of their church life. We were shown a commodious and well equipped kitchen under the front end of the building, in a space occupied, when the church was built, and for many years afterward, by a huge rock that pretty nearly filled the space. This rock had been blasted into bits and its space converted into this church kitchen.

Just how it was done our guide could not say as he made it his business to be otherwise engaged during the performance.

Can one estimate the potential value of a religious organization of this nature "Carrying On" for 90 years without interruption. Children who came under its influence, grown to man and womanhood becoming parents, grand parents and great grand parents, of an ever widening force of exemplary Christian citizenship, many of them leaders of thought and benificient action in any community where their lot might be cast.

Feeding the preacher chicken, and other dainties is by no means confined to southern hospitality. The hospitality of some of the ancestors of the people who now compose the membership of this church, made a lasting impression on the memory and a mighty good feeling in the stomach, of at least one small boy. The first sleigh ride we ever remember was when some kindly man loaned father a horse and cutter, on Thanksgiving day into which he with Mother and two kiddies were bestowed and whisked away to the music of sleigh bells, some four or five miles to the home of one of the good deacons of the church, where amid warmth and jollity we were served to such a Thanksgiving dinner as one reads about but seldom sees in these times.

Another small boy impression I got in that little town was Indians. No made up caricatures, but sure enough Honest To Goodness Indians of the Tippacanoe Tribe. In the Presidential campaign in the fall of 1852 when Gen. Wm. Henry Harrison, who had won some fame in wars with Indians, had been dobbed "Tippacanoe, was candidate with Tyler for running mate, they had a slogan: "Tippacanoe and Tyler Too." Some of the campaign managers secured the presence of a band of Tippacanoe Indians with their ponies and accoutrements, Tomahawks, Bows, Arrows, Paint, Feathers, etc. to give exhibition to draw crowds. Well, as remembered we got mighty close to those Indians, for they made our house their headquarters for the day, and put their traps under the bed in our spare room, where a small boy might be trusted to investigate pretty thoroughly while most of the family were absent. And then the riding, the yelling, and the antics they performed, make a Wild West Show, only a feeble imitation.

It is a pleasure indeed to recall these mental pictures that have so long been hidden in some corner of our brain, and live again the scenes they bring before us.

The march of time brings many changes in the landscape, especially in a thickly settled section of country.

Canals were at one time considered of great value as a means of transportation, and many a time have we seen these artficial waterways in the full tide of their usefulness, the low lying substantial boats, in the rated ditches, half filled with water. These floating "Ships" of Main-land, drawn by one or more mules at the rapid rate of four to six miles per hour.

One of these "Highways Of Commerce, that has been, meanders in a sinuous course from Jersey City where it connects with the Hudson Ocean, from where it extends entire river, and thus with the Atlantic ly across the State of New Jersey. The Railroads for long hauls, and Motor Trucks for short hauls, have so far impaired its usefulness, that for several years past it has been operated only just enough to hold its franchise until expiration, as it involved the use of valuable dock property in Jersey City. The franchise has now expired and the property revoters to the State. It will probably be used as a route for new State Highway, as the one now in use has about reaches its capacity.

Many Highways and country roads have bridges for which the approaches are made very steep, in order to shorten the bridges. Many of these are now considered very dangerous as an auto driver can never see a car approaching from the opposite side, on account of the height of the grade.

Quite recently the water has been all down off from this canal, now upwards of 100 years old, and the bridges are being demolished, the grade cut down and the canal bed filled up to grade at the road intersections.

We have been interested to watch operations at one of these crossings. With derricks and steam shovels the masonry is soon removed after being shivered to bits by dynamite.

Yesterday was moving day with our folks at Kenvil. We were commissioned to keep the babies from underfoot and see that meals were not interrupted, leaving our son and his wife to manage the rest of it. The arrangement worked fine, and before bed time we all were in a new home, larger, lighter, and more comfortable in many ways.

MISS ETTA FOSHEE TO TEACH AT THORSBY SCHOOL

On Monday morning The Banner office was greeted by a pleasant visit from Bro. A. L. Foshee and his daughter, Miss Etta Foshee. Miss Foshee just a few days ago returned from Howard College, where she completed a twelve-week summer course in normal work. She graduated from Thorsby Institute last year, and has accepted a place on the faculty of the Thorsby Public School for the coming session which begins next Monday.

Miss Foshee is a splendid young lady and an accomplished student, having attained high standing in her classes both at Thorsby Institute and Howard College. She is well fitted for the position she is to hold at Thorsby, and no doubt will make a very valuable adjunct to the Thorsby Public School.

Nation's Farmers Turn to Coolidge, Real Son of Soil, For Sympathetic Understanding of Their Problems

OVERHAULING THE COOLIDGE MOWER

No history of the farming folk of Vermont would be complete without reference to the Coolidge family.

Not only was the President's boyhood spent on the farm at Plymouth, his birthplace, but since and before that time his father has been a tiller of the soil—a practical dirt farmer.

The early environment of Calvin Coolidge has asserted itself annually ever since his rise to high places in the public service. Each year he has visited the old home, donned the smock and cowhide boots of the calling and gone about doing the hundred and one chores that fall to the lot of the farmer. There is no job on a farm with which he is not thoroughly familiar or which he hesitates about carrying out. As one biographer has aptly said:

"He always adorned a hayrake with as much facility as a reviewing stand."

The upper photograph would appear to bear out this statement.

There have been few dirt farmer Presidents, so that in recent years the photographs of Calvin Coolidge showing him in the smock and boots handed down to him by a worthy grandsire who served in the Vermont Legislature, have aroused more or less comment. The more sordid have been quick to suspect and have looked upon this raiment as a costume affected for its effect on the voters.

"These suspicious ones do not know Cal," this same biographer says, "for his essence is simplicity and sincerity. He is as much himself at work in a smock frock and boots as the sometimes effete children of Beacon Street are when they loll in dinner jackets, or decollete and lapis lazuli."

In his boy hood young Coolidge was not, in the vernacular, a "mixer." He was overly shy and diffident, but when he did form an attachment for a man, woman or child it was an affection as lasting as the years. He has never forgotten the devoted aunt who nursed him as a baby. Each time he visits Plymouth, no matter what the press of official business, he finds ample time to sit with her and chat of his boyhood.

The lower photograph shows him preparing for a session on the business seat of a mowing machine, an art with which he is just as familiar as he is with his official duties.

IN MEMORY OF SISTER MOLLIE WILSON

On August 19th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, in the morning, it was a bright and shining home, but at last in the evening, a dark shadow was cast over the home, an angel came and visited this home and carried away Brother Wilson's dear companion. The Angel came so quick she never spoke after she was called but the way she had lived I am sure you can meet her in the great beyond where no tears shall ever dim the eyes.

To The Children

Mamma ever seems as a flower that bloomed and in August was taken away. She was a mother that always loved and cared for her children. She is now transplanted far away whert all is joy, peace and love. Oh, to think that mother is dead, where can we go to tell our woe? Are calm our troubled mind? Oh, Father we at thy feet emplore we will try to cease our grief for we know she nas found a tweet relief, we miss her every way, at the home, around the table and to think that Mother is dead, a precious one from us is gone the voice we love is still, the place is vacant in our home which never can be filled. Our dear mother, she was tender, kind, and loved all, we praise God for her sweet name, she was ever just the same. She is gone but not forgotten, her work on earth is done, her life crown has been worn; our loss is her eternal gain. Our mother is an Angel robed in white walking in light, so good by. Mother, for a little while, soon we shall meet you around the beautiful throne and we shall know you as before, where parting comes no more, no tears shall dim the eyes, we can meet mother in Heaven if we trust in Jesus. So our farewell to Mother is but for a while. We have but to follow in the foot steps of our Master as she has done, and in the final gathering of his the Glorified sainted face of Mother.

Pimples

BLOOD impurities are pumped by the heart into the face. That is what causes that grainy appearance, that muddiness, sallowness, pimples, blackheads, acne, red spots, and that impossible "something" which no face cream, massage, or face powder can cover up or beautify! The foundation for a beautiful skin simply is not there, and no face treatment can give it to you. But increase your red-blood-cells,—and quickly the ruby tint of purity begins to glow in the cheeks, the complexion becomes venus-like and immaculate! Try it. It will do it every time. S. S. S. builds the red-blood-cells you need for a beautiful complexion. Begin using S. S. S. at once, and give yourself what you have been working for, for years.

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. R. E. Luckie, Editor

Mrs. Johnson Entertains Card Club.

At her home on Second avenue, Mrs. Arthur Johnson entertained the members of the Wednesday Card club and a few other friends, on last Wednesday afternoon. A variety of summer flowers effectively brightened the entire enterior. Score card in floral design echoed the predominating color note of yellow and white. Bridge was played at five tables and afterwards a salad and ice course was served. The club prize, cards was won by Mrs. N. S. Johnson, while the guest prize, two dainty hand-made handkerchiefs fell to Mrs. Oliff. The club members and guests were Mrs. H. Alred, Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Willis Lyman, Mrs. G. Reynolds, Mrs. Simpson and Miss Kathleen Mullins, Mrs. Olliff, Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Watts Moore and Miss Lurline Harper.

Visitors Honored.

Paying special courtesy to Mesdames Oliff and Frank Simmons who were her house guests, and Mrs. W. K. Mullins from Birmingham, Miss Kathleen Mullins was a lovely hostess on last Friday afternoon at a Bridge party. Six tables were arranged amid baskets of cut flowers and pot plants for the game, and after a series of rubbers Mrs. Hosea Downs was holder of high score and awarded a pretty flower basket while Mesdames Oliff and Simmons were presented Congress cards and Mrs. W. K. Mullins an attractive wall vase. During the game a delicious iced beverage was served and afterwards a tempting salad plate. Invited to meet the visitors were Mesdames Gerald, Browder, Frank Callen, Hosea Downs, Eric Hart, Oscar Jones, Stoddard, G. Broadhead, Percy Pitts, Guy Roberts, T. C. McSwain, N. S. Johnson, Arthur Johnson, H. M. Simpson, Hance Alred, Misses Madelyn Orr, Lurline Harper, Adelaide Courtney, Bettie Mullins, Lessie Reynolds and Beverly Hester.

Miss Dewey Branch returned home Friday from a visit to friends in Birmingham.

After a visit of several weeks to Miss Kathleen Mullins, Mesdames Oliff and Simmons returned to their home in Statesboro, Ga., Wednesday.

RAINER-HIGGINS WEDDING

Elba, Ala., Aug. 23.—A marriage that came as quite a surprise to their many friends, was that of Miss Gussie Rainer and J. Burton Higgins, which occurred on Monday evening, August 18.

The couple motored to Enterprise, where the ceremony was performed at the Methodist parsonage by Dr. Threadgill, in the presence of only a very few close friends. They came immediately back to Elba, motoring to Troy, from which place they left for Pensacola and other points in Florida.

Birthday Party Enjoyed.

Miss Lurline Minor was a lovely hostess on Tuesday evening, celebrating the 15th birthday anniversary at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Minor. Baskets of summer flowers decorated the rooms and porch. Numerous games were played and music was enjoyed About thirty of the younger set were present. Late in the evening a refreshing ice course was served.

Miss Cuba Keith from Birmingham spent a few days in Clanton with Miss Dewey Branch.

Mr. Jack Wade is home from Russellville for a few days.

THE HELL-BOUND TRAIN

Tom Gray lay down on the bar-room floor,
He'd drank so much he could drink no more;
So he fell asleep with a troubled brain
And he dreamed he rode on a hell-bound train.

The engine with blood was red and damp
And brilliantly lit with a brimstone lamp,
For fuel an Imp was shoveling bones
And the furnace rang with a thousand groans

The boiler was filled with large beer
And the Devil himself was the engineer;
The passengers made such a motely crew,
Church members, Atheists, Gentile and Jew.

Rich men in broadcloth, beggars in rags,
Handsome young ladies, withered old hags;
Yellow and black men, red, brown and white,
All chained together! what a terrible sight!

The train dashed on at a terrific pace,
And hot wind burned the hands and face;
Wilder and wilder the country grew,
And faster and faster the engine flew.

Louder and louder the thunder crashed,
Brighter and brighter the lightning flashed,
Hotter and hotter the air became,
Till clothes burned off each quivering frame.

Now in the distance arose a great yell,
Ha! ha! said the Devil, we're now nearing hell;
Then oh, how the passengers cried in pain,
And begged of the Devil to stop the train.

And he capered about in all his glee,
And laughed and joked at their agony;
My faithful friends you have done my work,
And the Devil can never a pay-day shirk.

You've bullied the weak and robbed the poor,
And starving ones turned from your door;
You have laid up gold where canker rusts,
And give free vent to your fleshly lusts.

You have justice scorned, corruption sown,
And trampled the laws of nature down;
You have drank and rioted, murdered, lied,
And mocked at God in your hell-born pride.

You've paid full fare so I'll carry you thru,
It is only just you should get your due;
Why, the laborer always expects his hire,
So I'll land you safe in the lake of fire.

Where your flesh'll roast in flames that roar
And my Imps torment you forevermore;
Then Tom awoke with an agonized cry;
Was wet with sweat, his hair standing high;

And he prayed as he never prayed before,
To be saved from drink and the Devil's power;
And his vows and prayers were not in vain
For he nevermore rode on a hell-bound train.

REV. J. N. HUNT, Street Evangelist.

Miss Ruth Prince and mother left Friday morning for Detroit, Mich., for a visit to Mr. J. F. Prince.

Miss Margarite Smith from Columbiana is visiting friends in the city this week.

Editor Union-Banner:

I notice in last week's issue of The Banner that the writer from Bon Air made the statement that Mr. Duncan and family enjoyed the holiness meeting at Center Hill.

I wish to say to the people that there has not been any holiness meeting here. This is strictly a Baptist church The above mentioned meeting was here. This is strictly a Baptist church.

Will thank the writer to correct said error.

Respectfully,

PUBLIC ROADS OF COUNTY IN BETTER SHAPE THAN EVER

Representative Citizens Commend Work of Commissioners Court And Effect of Road Law.

When the Commissioners Court of Chilton County put into effect the new road law the first of this year, all sort of predictions were made regarding the future results of the law. Some foresaw ruination to the roads and bankruptcy to the county treasury. Some phases of the law were disagreeable to some people, and the test of the law was used in an attempt to invalidate some part of it. But what do we find today? Our roads have been improved from one to five hundred per cent, the county is not bankrupted, and citizens from all parts of the county are praising the work done on their roads. The people better results could be accomplished? The probate judge and commissioners court deserve the most hearty commendation from the citizens of the county for the splendid and unparalleled work they done on the roads of the county.

If the work that has been done this summer can be kept up next year and the next, there is every reason to believe that Chilton County will be among the foremost in the State when it comes to good roads. And it will not be just one or two highways through the county, but it will be all of the main roads traversing the county from every direction. The county has the machinery to work the roads with, and with just a little encouragement from the people of the county, it will be continually pushed until the results can be throughly appreciated.

Below we are publishing a list of letters from citizens from different communities of the county expressing their opinion regarding the road work. As you will see from the signatures, these are all representative and reliable men from their respectative sections, and what they say regarding the roads may be depended upon:

COMMEND COMMISSIONERS FOR WORK DONE ON ROADS

Mr. W. N. Thomas of Jemison Route 3, was in Clanton last Friday He was here on business, but he made it a point while here to congratulate Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners Court of Chilton County for the splendid work they have done on the roads of the county for the past few months. Mr. Thomas came to the Banner office and asked ... to publish a letter for him publicly commending this work. Mr. Thomas says from his point of view, the new road law is the best thing that has come about toward good roads for the county. He says that roads have been worked in his community that have never been worked before, and they are now in fairly good shape. Mr. Thomas is mighty well pleased with the big machines which the county is using to work the roads with.

Sheriff Littlejohn and his force of deputies also have the praise of Mr. Thomas. He says that they are performing their duty well in looking after the whiskey heads and other law violators. It is the duty of all good citizens to help the officers in locating and expelling the lawless of our county.

REV. M. J. PARRISH SAYS THE NEW ROAD LAW IS FINE

Editor Union-Banner:

I feel that when a citizen of the county sees that the county officers are doing something good, that he ought to congratulate them and try to push the good work along all possible. With this in view, I wish to say that so far as I have been able to ascertain, the commissioners of our county deserve the hearty praise of the citizens for the splendid work they have done on our roads under the new road law. Beyond a doubt, the plan is working much better than any previous system we have ever had.

Those big tractors and scrapes are the ticket to work the roads with. I believe that I can truthfully say that a force of men with one of these machines can do more and better work on a road in a day than forty men can do in the same length of time with the old tools and the old system of working. It is not only much better for our roads but is a great deal cheaper than it could be done under the old system. The probate judge and commissioners court have my compliments on the splendid work they are doing on our roads.

Very respectfully,

REV. M. J. PARRISH.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE CALLED TO MEET SATURDAY, SEPT. 13

The Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County is hereby called to meet at the court house in Clanton, at 2:00 o'clock, p.m., on Saturday, the 13th day Sept, 1924, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the County Board of Education of Chilton County to succeed Hon. L. A. Calloway.

All members of the Executive Committee are earnestly requested to be present at this meeting, as this is an important matter and the presence of every member will be necessary.

This 2nd day of September, 1924.

W. G. CULP,
Chm. Republican Ex. Comm.
J. Z. MIMS,
Secy. Republican Ex. Comm.

OFFICERS FIND 10 GALLONS OF WHISKEY IN CLANTON

Last Thursday afternoon, Sheriff Littlejohn, Deputy Culp and J. L. Gore took from under the south end of the Reese Mullins bridge in North Clanton two five-gallon jugs of moonshine whiskey. The whiskey was hidden behind some large sills under the bridge. The officers have the party who owned the whiskey located, but no arrest was made on account of the lack of an officer to issue the warrant of arrest. Since the county court was abolished it is a question of legal complexity as to who has the authority to issue warrants. The question has not been definitely settled as yet.

Judge Reynolds and J. O. Middleton attended the road meeting and barbecue near Pletcher last Friday. Both the Judge and Mr. Middleton spoke on the occasion, and it is reported that a splendid interest in better roads was manifest throughout the meeting. The barbecue was also fine, according to those who attended.

REPUBLICANS CALLED TO MEET AND ADVISE NOMINATION FOR CO. BOARD

Republican Executive Committee Met Tuesday And set Saturday, September 13th Day for Mass Meeting.

The Republican Executive Committee met at the court house in Clanton Tuesday of this week, subject to a call by the Chairman, Mr. W. G. Culp. With the exception of one or two, all the members of the committee were either present of represented by proxy. In the organizing of the committee Mr. W. G. Culp was re-elected chairman and Mr. J. Z. Mims was re-elected secretary. After the organization was completed the committee passed a resolution calling a mass meeting of the Republican voters of the county at the court house on Saturday, September 13th, for the purpose of advising with the County Executive Committee in selecting a candidate for member of the County Board of Education to take the place of Mr. L. A. Calloway, who has moved away from the State. Mr. Calloway moved from this county to Florida some time about Christmas last year, and it is reliable information that he will reside out of this State for about five years.

In substance, the law says that at the time a member of the county board of education leaves the State to be away for any length of time, his place on the Board becomes vacant and is to be supplied by the remaining members of the Board electing a membr to fill the vacancy until the next general election, when a member is to be elected by the vote of the people. A letter from Mr. L. A. Calloway to Mr. W. C. Robinson of Clanton states that Mr. Calloway sent in his resignation as member of the County Board of Education in the early part of this year.

The members of the County Board of Education and the County Superintendent are asked to attend this mass meeting and the meeting of the Executive Committee to be held on September 13th, and help in selecting a nominee for this vacancy. Also the members of the Board and the Superintendent are asked to explain to the meeting and to the Committee why a successor to Mr. Calloway has not been elected by the Board.

This meeting is of vital importance to the voters of the county, and every Republican, both men and women, who possibly can are urged to attend this meeting at the court house on Saturday, September 13th at 2 o'clock and advise with the Executive Committee in selecting a nominee for this office.

It is expected that Republicans of state-wide reputation will be here on that day to address the meeting.

NEW TICKET FOR CITY ELECTION ON SEPT. 15

On the 25th day of August, 1924 a number of citizens of the town of Clanton assembled at the court house and a committee was appointed to select available candidates to run in the coming city election on September 15, for Mayor and Councilmen for the town of Clanton. This committee had a subsequent meeting on August 30, and nominated the following persons for Mayor and Councilmen: Dr J. P. Hayes, Mayor; J Lee Smith, F. R. Woodyard, T. H. Neighbors, J. Watts Moore and J. Z. Mims as Councilmen. At this meeting a committee was appointed to go before the town council and request that these names be entered on the official ballot and that managers be appointed as provided by law.

This committee accordingly appeared before the town council and filed petitions with the council signed by 25 citizen voters requesting that these above named candidates be entered on the official ballot. There was also filed a petition with the present council suggesting the names of three persons as election managers as provided by law. The council, however, refused to place these candidates' names on the official ballot and also refused to appoint the three names suggested as election managers. This committee then reported back to the mass meeting on the night of Sept. 2, and another committee was appointed consisting of five persons authorized to take any legal action to have our candidates' names placed on the official ballot or to have election managers appointed.

At the mass meeting held on Sept. 2 the citizens of the town who met passed a resolution that this action of the Mayor and Town Council was to be regarded as reprehensible and also with an added spirit of interest, resolved that every voter in the town of Clanton would be acquainted and familiarized with this arbitrary action of the Mayor and Council and their method of perpetuating themselves in office when good and honest citizens had nominated candidates to oppose them. Before the election arises every voter, man and woman, will be instructed in the proper way to cast their ballot, and every voter will receive a ballot properly prepared showing the legal way to vote for the candidates who are now opposing the present Mayor and the Town Council.

At the meeting on August 30th a set of by-laws was adopted by the mass meeting and also at the meeting on September 2nd each of the above named candidates, except Mr. J. Watts Moore, who was not present, approved of and adopted the platform set out below.

We ask every voter, man and woman, to read this platform and consider the action of the Mayor and Town Council in thus attempting to perpetuate themselves in office and prevent othr citizens from running in the election.

Therefore, we are appealing to every good citizen, if you believe in the freedom of government and in the utmost publicity to all official acts and if you oppose one man running the entire town, we ask you to vote for the above ticket. We know that every good citizen will oppose a Kaiseristic, tyrannical form og government even in our city management.

At the proper time every citizen will be called upon in person and the entire matter will be explained openly and frankly, and also you will be instructed as to the legal way of voting this ticket.

The Platform.

1st. We believe that the duties appertaining to the Mayor and five councilmen of the town of Clanton should be apportioned among the respective officers as provided by law and that no officer should perform the duties of the office except that which he was elected by the people.

2nd. We believe that the Mayor should perform the duties of his office except when sickness or other providential causes prevent.

3rd. We do not believe in one officer acting in the several capacities of Mayor, Recorder, Councilman, Clerk and Treasurer and thus destroy the benefit of a general survillance over the town's affairs by all of the respective officers.

4th. We advocate that at least semi-annually the receipts and disbursements of the town of Clanton be published in the county papers published in said town, showing as nearly as possible an itemized statement of all the receipts and an itemized statement of all the disbursements of said town, and also that an expert accountant should be appointed at least once a year to make an examination in detail of all books and accounts of the city officials and to make full report thereof in writing as is now provided by Section 1053 of the Code of Alabama of 1924.

5th. We do not believe that "dummies" should be appointed to office but that the person appointed should attend to the duties of said office.

6th. We believe that our town should be improved in a manner consistent with the finances of the town and also in conformity with the wishes of the people as a whole, and that at all times the wishes of the people should be complied with as is consistent with law

7th. We advocate an improvement of the city school, and better facilities for the school children and a total elimination of the incidental fee and liberal donations to the other schools of the town.

8th. We willingly and conscientiously concede and advocate that the women of the town should be accorded equal rights in all matters appertaining to the town's management and control and that their demands as to the needs of the town should be liberally granted in a manner as provided by law.

9th. We recommend that the Mayor and town council liberally attend to the needs relating to the churches, charity, the progress and general welfare of our town.

Therefore, we urge every good man and woman to go to the polls on Sept. 15th and vote for Dr. J. P. Hayes for Mayor and J Lee Smith, J. Watts Moore, J. Z. Mims, T. H. Neighbers and F. R. Woodyard as Councilmen, and thus be accorded an open and public city government instead of a government by one man. Also every tax payer and voter will have the right at all times to know the exact status of the city receipts and disbursements and financial standing and will be granted the right to examine the city's books at any and all times.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

Mr. G. O. Foshee is preparing to put him up a nice building on the corner of Fourth Street and Second Avenue, just in front of Mr. Dewey Rockett's home. Mr. Foshee's house will be different from anything in Clanton when it is finished.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY, SEPT. 8

The Clanton Grammar School will open on Monday, Sept. 8. The incidental fee will be $3.50 for residents of the district, and $5.00 for non-residents. You may get your receipts for the incidental fee at the Alred Drug Store. Please attend to this matter promptly, as the incidental fee is strictly payable in advance. Let me suggest that you wait until school opens to buy books, as we have a new course of study this year, which will require a little time to work out. If there is anything special about your child's grades in any way, please try to see me about it before Monday as it will be almost impossible to have time to attend to all such matters on the opening day.

CLANTON CLOSED A SUCCESSFUL BALL SEASON SATURDAY

Clanton Closes 1924 Baseball Season With Shutout Against Fast Pan-American Club Of B'ham.

B. Lewis, pitching for Clanton, allowed only five hits and one man to get as far as third base, while Hobert Henderson, pitching for the visitors allowed 12 hits and 8 runs. Thompson with three hits out of four times up, Parrish with one of two, Hayes with two out of four and R. Lewis with two out of four, lead with the stick for Clanton. Henderson with two out of three and Clark with two out of four, got most all the hits for the visitors.

The feature of the game was three fast double plays by our boys: Sewell to Hayes to Jones, Sewell to Jones and Parrish to Sewell to Jones. A double play being made to put the last man out and closing the season.

Clanton has been represented by one of the very best amateur teams in the South and has enjoyed the most successful season, having won 28 games and lost 10. The players have conducted themselves as gentlemen, always ready and willing to work hard both in practice and in the games. They never gave up whether we were in the lead or behind. Our home boys, of course, did the same, either playing for the love of the game or practically no pay. We have all enjoyed the games and Clanton as a town has received much good advertising. A very small number of our citizens backed the ball club this season and lost more money than they should be called upon to have to pay.

Why can't we organize a club of 100 citizens of Clanton and surrounding community who will pay two dollars each per month the year around, begin now, and when the season opens next year we can have a team to go up against the very best, in fact, with an even brake of luck we can beat them all. And the best part will be, nobody will be in the hole financially. A good ball team is the best advertisement the town could have. If we get together we can put it over.

MRS. W. Z. HODGES WILL WRITE SOCIETY NEWS

The services of Mrs. W. Z. Hodges have been procured to serve as social reporter for The Union-Banner. The society and club notes of our paper are a very distinctive asset, and it is hoped that the public will co-operate with Mrs. Hodges in making this column still better. Any news items for this part of the paper may be phoned her or a report of same may be left at Mr. Hodges' store. If you are hostess to a party or some other social function, tell Mrs. Hodges about it so that she can write it up.

Weak Nervous

"I was weak and nervous and run-down," writes Mrs. Edith Sellers, of 456 N. 21st St., East St. Louis, Ill. "I couldn't sleep nights, I was so restless. I felt tired and not in condition to do my work. I would have such pains in my stomach that I was afraid I would get down in bed. . . My mother came to see me and suggested that I use

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

I felt better after my first bottle. I had a better appetite. It seemed to strengthen and build me up. I am so glad to recommend Cardui for what it did for me. I haven't needed any medicine since I took Cardui, and I am feeling fine."

Nervousness, restlessness, sleeplessness—these symptoms so often are the result of a weak, run-down condition, and may develop more seriously if not treated in time.

If you are nervous and run-down, or suffering from some womanly weakness, take Cardui.

INDIAN GRAVE

We have just closed one of the best singing schools at this place that has ever been taught, and it was taught by one of the most prominent men of Chilton County, Prof. G. C. Weldon. We are inclined to say that we know our school was a benefit to our community. We enrolled forty-one pupils; but everyone seemed to do their very best in trying to learn something about music. The school lasted only sixteen days. It was to be a term of twenty days, but every body had to go to picking cotton and it was cut short four days. The closing day was Saturday, August 30, and in the morning Prof. Weldon had a nice little program arranged for his class, which lasted about one hour and a half, then he adjourned for dinner. There was plenty of dinner and the crowd certainly enjoyed it. At 1:30 we went back in the house and invited all singers in the class, after which the committee arranged a program for that afternoon. The following directors sung three songs each: Prof. G. C. Weldon, Furnice Sheppard, Olen Williams, Prof. J. W. Cagle, and then we had a quartet by Prof. Cagle, Funice Shtpard, Hudson Williams and W. F. Limbrick. Then the directors were Dudson Williams, Alonza Askins, D. M. Jones, Blalie Billingsley, Rev. J. H. Limrick. The organists for the afternoon were Mrs. Cagle, Prof. Weldon, Hudson Williams, Miss Katie Limrick.

We adjourned, hoping to have another school like this next summer.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Officials of the East Alabama Fair Association, at Alexander City, are making preparations for the fourteenth annual fair, October 21, 22, 23, 24 and 25. A carnival company has been secured, free acts are being booked and plans are being laid to make horse racing a feature of this year's entertainment. County Agent Day reports that splendid progress is being made in securing community agricultural exhibits. He states that he has already reserved space for more communities than have ever before exhibited. Interest is being manifested in the poultry department since it has been learned that Mrs. Florence Forbes, vice president of the American Poultry association, is to be a judge of the poultry show. Competition at the fair will be open to all. New coops have been bought to replace the old and an expert will have charge of the feeding of the birds exhibited.

The case charging five prominent Mobilians with conspiracy to bribe a federal officer who continued indefinently when two of the defendants failed to appear in court. The indictment charging William H. Holcomb, Jr., former sheriff and member of the legislature, Dr. A. G. Ward, member of the board of revenue, Percy H. Kearns, Frank Boykin and H. M. Cochran with conspiracy to bribe Aubrey Boyles, federal district attorney, was taken out of the call of court when attorneys asked for a severance for Boykin and an indefinite continuance was granted to Holcomb because he is ill with an attack of ptomane poising.

More evidence of returning prosperity was seen in Gadsden when it became known that the Dwight Cotton mill at Alabama City had cancelled the notice to its 1,200 operatives of a two weeks shut-down. It is understood this action was due to a better tone in the textile trade and increase of orders for the local plant. It is now running on a schedule of 50 hours a week, which is expected to be increased shortly. Announcement also was made that the shops of the Gadsden Pipe company and the Agricola Pipe company, which were shut down August 15, will resume on September 3.

The Civic club and the Commercial club of Moulton have completed plans for the community fair to be held this fall. The dates are Oct. 10 and 11. The Civic club is to have oversight of the flower, fruit, garden, needlework and cooking exhibits for which departments directors were appointed last spring. The Commercial club will look after grain, hay, cotton and farm exhibits, while both will co-operate in arranging for the prizes. It is planned to make the fair more than a mere community fair by asking exhibits from all parts of the county.

A. J. Harris, attorney for the Morgan county board of revenue and Judge L. P. Troup, ex-officio chairman of that board, are arranging the details of a loan of $180,000 from the state highway commission, to be used in building the courtland and Moulton pikes. They are to be built of gravel and each mile is to cost about 10,000.

The regular fall term of the Chambers county circuit court has been postponed one week on account of the paving of the streets of the town. Court will be held beginning on Monday, September 8. Judge N. D. Denson will preside.

The school census of Tuscumbia has just been completed. The school census of 1922 showed the number of children to be 1,338. The 1924 census shows 1,535. The 1924 school census gives Tuscumbia a total population of 6,140.

Dr. Thomas E. Cochran has returned to Marion after spending the summer in North Carolina with his family. Dr. Cochran will assist in getting the business of Judson college in shape for opening in September.

DIVIDENDS

Are Necessary to the Progress and Development of any Business

Invested money must earn money, or there will be no new capital forthcoming with which to take care of increased volume. This theory is elemental and the statement is trite; yet it is interesting to know that nearly one half of America's second largest industry pays no dividends on its capital stock. Three billion dollars worth of stock in railroads (of the approximately seven billion dollars outstanding) is not earning or paying a dividend.

What is the reason for such a condition existing? How long can this continue? How long will investors be willing to put their money into such non-profitable securities?

The first question is easy to answer: "Increased operating expenses without proportionate increased revenues." The second and third questions cannot be answered until the American people, through their lawmakers, evidence a keener appreciation of the railroads' problems, and in some quarters a fairer and less radical attitude toward the carriers.

In order to serve the Nation with adequate freight and passenger transportation, the railroads must have new capital to take care of needed improvements and extensions. New capital will not come when capital already invested is not paying a fair return.

THE OLD RELIABLE

AMERICA'S GUEST THIS MONTH

EASTERN social circles are all agog over the visit to the United States this month of his royal highness, the Prince of Wales. Traveling under the name of Baron Renfrew, he will be here to witness the polo matches between the American and British teams at Meadowbrook Club, Westbury, L. I.

The above picture of the popular young prince shows him in rather democratic attire. It was made on his Canadian ranch at the time he forgot his many royal ceremonies and receptions and chose to live the carefree life of a cowboy for a brief period. The serious look on him we can't explain but, inwardly, we'll wager he's feeling a lot more comfortable and happy in those ranch clothes than if he were parading in one of his many gorgeous uniforms.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

The Piedmont Chamber of Commerce was reorganized with the following officers: A. S. Edwards, president; T. C. Cowan, vice president; George Kass, secretary; J. H. Morgan, treasurer; Dr. G. B. Sharpe, C. L. Morgan, R. V. Webb, C. R. West, P. W. Roberts, directors.

J. E. Searcy, tax assessor of Henry county, has completed his assessment rolls for 1924 taxes and the abstract has been made up and forwarded to the state auditor. The abstract shows that the total value of taxable property in Henry county is $5,223,456 as compared with $4,779,809 for 1923.

Mrs. R. A. Mitchell, wife of Col. R. A. Mitchell, vice president of the Alabama Power company, died suddenly at her home at 917 South Twentieth street, Birmingham. Mrs. Mitchell suffered a ruptured blood vessel, and died a very short time afterward.

Cotton picking has commenced in Chambers county. The crop prospect is not so promising as it was two or three weeks ago. Reports from farmers in different parts of the county say the dry weather has practically destroyed the top crop of cotton.

The Episcopal church steeple, the highest structure in Huntsville, is being repainted. The work is being done by Brown & Isham, a West Huntsville firm of steeplejacks. The steeple is about 200 feet high.

Work has begun on the new school building to be erected at Verbena. This building when completed, will be modern in every particular and will represent an expenditure of about $30,000.

Preparations are being made by Prof. F. D. Dowdy for the opening of the Walker county high school on Sept. 19.

The oil well drilling operations at Spring Valley have been abandoned. Tuscumbia and Sheffield people were large financial backers of the well.

Because all of the three bids submitted were considered too low, the Alabama city council refused to sell the $50,000 bonds which had been voted to retire the floating indebtedness of the town.

Two indictments were returned against Hardie C. Harris, ex-prohibition agent, by the federal grand jury at Birmingham.

The plant of the Lehigh Portland Cement company, at Tarrant City, now has a daily capacity of 5,000 barrels of cement.

Gives advice to Expectant Mothers

"I HAD an awful time with my first baby," writes Mrs. Theo. Willey, 451 E. Ohio St., Indianapolis, Ind. "They had to give me chloroform and use instruments. They thought I would die. But before my second baby came I used 'Mother's Friend' and baby was born with only a few pains and before a doctor could arrive. I also used 'Mother's Friend' with my third baby. I was only sick a little while and she also was born before the doctor arrived. I cannot praise 'Mother's Friend' enough. I tell every one I see who is expecting to become a mother about 'Mother's Friend.'"

FREE BOOKLET

Write Bradfield Regulator Co., B-A 14, Atlanta, Ga., for free booklet (sent in plain envelope) containing valuable information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all good drug stores. Full directions for using it will be found with each bottle. Begin now and you will realize the wisdom of doing so as the weeks roll by.

MR. AND MRS. R. E. LUCKIE MOVE TO FLORIDA

Mr. R. E. Luckie and family left Clanton last Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Luckie and children will visit relatives in Montgomery for a few days, after which they will join Mr. Luckie in Florida, where they will live in the future.

Mr. Luckie has been telegraph operator at the depot here for the past several years and has made numbers of friends here who will regret to learn of his departure. Mrs. Luckie has been correspondent for The Union-Banner for the past three years, and it is with regret that The Union-Banner gives her up. Mrs. Luckie has served us very faithfully and efficiently as our social reporter.

It is not too early to plan early destruction of cotton stalks.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. BURNETT

On the evening of August 22nd at five-thirty o'clock the death angel visited the home of our brother and took away our loving mother, Mrs. James Wells. She had been in poor health most all the year with cancer of the mouth, and was confined to her bed five weeks before the end came. Her sufferings were great but she bore them with all patience and said that she was ready to go when the Lord saw fit to call her away.

Our father has already gone on before, and now our mother has gone to meet him on that happy golden shore. She leaves four children and ten grand children besides a great host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss, but we feel that our loss is heaven's gain.

She lacked only fifteen days being 82 years old; she had lived to a ripe old age. She was a member of the Missionary Baptist church of Elmore. It is hard to have to give up mother, for we feel that when we have to give up mother we have given up our best friend on earth. But we are all satisfied about her. We know that she is better off.

The remains were laid to rest in Mount Hebron cemetery Saturday evening at 3 o'clock, funeral services being conducted by Brother Ernest, her pastor. Two of her favorite hymns were sung—"Savior more than life to me,' and "Shall we Gather at the River?"

We now wish to thank the people in and around Elmore for their kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our mother. May God's blessings rest upon each and every one is our prayer.

Her Daughter,
MRS. W. T. WELLS.

MIMS - COOK MARRIAGE

An event of interest occured Thursday afternoon, August 28th, when Miss Delene Mims became the bride of Mr. Festus M. Cook. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mims of Clanton, by Rev. M. W. Mims of Verbena.

The bride was very becomingly attired in a dress of midnight blue with gray accessories. Mrs. Cook has through her charm and manner gained a host of friends throughout the state. Since graduating from the Florence Normal School she has been successfully teaching in Birmingham. Mr. Cook is a graduate of Birmingham Southern College and is a very progressive young man of Birmingham, where he holds a responsible position.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Cook left for Chattanooga and other ponits of interest before returning to Birmingham, where they will make their home for the next few years.

Mr. J. R. Rucker of Pletcher was in Clanton Monday to meet the Commissioners Court on road matters. Mr. Rucker is a supervisor in his Beat.

Work on the Chilton Hardware Company's new home is moving along rapidly. It will be ready for occupancy before many more days.

Will Undo Much Evil

By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analyses and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "An-uric" (anti-uric-acid) Tablets, which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney backache, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from excess of uric acid in the blood.

"An-uric" can be had now at all the drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and a little "An-uric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be watched for and quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

It's Economy to Trade Your Old Tires For FULL-SIZE Firestone
BALLOON GUM-DIPPED CORDS

BECAUSE Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords reduce your repair bills and lower fuel costs, increase tire mileage, car life and the resale value of your car.

These are strong statements but are backed by actual facts.

Balloon-equipped test cars and taxicabs have now been driven over 5,300,000 miles, under Firestone supervision and show reduction in fuel consumption, and less delay, because of fewer punctures and quicker starts and stops.

Many leading automobile makers have standardized on these full-size Balloons—pioneered by Firestone and made practical and economical through the special Firestone gum-dipping process.

Over 100,000 motorists are today using and enjoying the satisfaction of genuine, full-size Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords.

In fact, in three months the sales of Firestone Balloon Gum-Dipped Cords increased 590%.

Have your car equipped now—for comfort and for the safety of driving this Fall and Winter. Be prepared for mud holes, frozen ruts, dangerous snow and ice. We can equip your car immediately at the new low prices now in effect.

SIGN YOUR NAME TO LETTERS

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a splendid letter this week, dated at Clanton, Ala., regarding night meetings and those who attend. The writer failed to sigh his or her name, therefore the letter could not be published. It is not absolutely necessary that names be published in the paper, however letters dealing on questions of public interest would be better if the name were carried. But if the writer especially requests it, we will not publish the name, but the name must accompany the letter. If the writer of the above mentioned letter will send us their name and address, we will publish the letter next week, leaving off the name, if requested.

We wish that all our correspondents would remember to sign your name to your letters. We will not publish your name if you so wish, but sign it so that we may know who it is from; also give your full address.

Respectfully,
EDITOR.

"INTERESTED CITIZENS" CALL MASS MEETING FOR SATURDAY

In last week's issue of The Union-Banner, a notice of a mass meeting to be held at the court house Saturday, September 6th, was carried. The notice carried no name to it but was signed "Interested Citizens." "All the good citizens of the county" were invited to attend, "regardless of political affiliations." In order that no one may be misled by this announcement, the people of the county should be informed that these "interested citizens" are two or three Democrats who hope to get out a ticket at this mass metting to run against the nominees that were selected by the people of the county in August. Why could not these "interested citizens" have signed their names so that people could have known who they were and what they were up to? People who amount to very much these days have got to come out in the open and explain to the people who they are and what they propose to do.

GEDDES PRAISES PROTECTION

Sir Auckland Geddes, until recently the British Ambassador to the United States, was a keen observer and student of the American system. He was recently quoted as saying:

"I say without hesitation that the workers, the wage-earners of the United States, are man to man, woman to woman, better off, better housed, better fed, better clothed, and have better opportunities for recreation, than the workers and wage-earners of any other country, with the possible exception of Canada. I can tell you that the Americans with whom I have discussed this matter say that in their opinion it is because they have a large measure of security for the home market through a Protective tariff."

Sir Auckland has been prominently identified with the Free Trade party of Great Britain. He retired because of blindness. As his sight failed his vision clarified.

DECADENT DEFENSE

Gen. Harbord is for a peace preserved by arms. However altruistic the United States may be, it must not forget that other peoples are not actuated by the same high motives. A decadent defense is but an invitation to mercenary nations to attack. It is merely a prelude to war.

THE MEANEST MAN IN THE WORLD

NO WAY TO ARREST A LAW VIOLATOR

On Thursday of last week ten gallons of wild-cat whiskey was found under a bridge in Clanton by the officers. It is reported that sufficient proof was in the hands of the officers to accertain who the whiskey belonged to. Upon attempting to get a warrant to arrest the party, the officers found that no one here had the authority to issue the warrant. The Circuit Clerk has been issuing warrants of arrest since the county court was abolished, but the Attorney General has ruled that such officer has no authority to issue warrants of arrest. G. C. Walker, county solicitor, rules that justices of the peace have no authority to issue warrants over cases that are out of their jurisdiction. This being the case, no warrant could be procured by the officers and no arrest could be made. So the matter will have to be left as it is till the grand jury meets.

When one comes to think of it, the above condition in our county is a serious one. As it now stands, a man could put him up a stand anywhere in the country, outside of an incorporated town or city, and sell all the whiskey he wants to, and there is no county or state officer who could arrest him, because there is no judicial to issue a warrant. It is very regrettable that such condition has come to exist in our county, and it has come for no other reason than to satisfy the prejudices and hatred of a few sore politicians. When we had a county court no such condition existed. The county judge had authority to issue warrants to cover such violations, and it only required a few minutes for an officer to procure a warrant. Now an officer has to run all over the county trying to find some one to issue him a warrant, and after consulting with a lawyer finds that no one in the county is clothed with such authority. So no arrest can be made. What will this condition result in if it is allowed to continue?

When the question of abolishing the county court of Chilton county came up before the State Legislature last summer, our representative from Chilton county, realizing the danger of such a proceeding, fought it to a finish, but through the influence of our Senator, political prejudice and hatred of a few men in Clanton was brought to bear against the Democratic legislature, which resulted in the passage of the bill. Now, the thing, which was conceived in iniquity is bearing its fruits of corruption. The condition is a lamentable one, and the lawyers of the town and the good people who believe in the enforcement of our laws should get together and try and devise some means whereby the condition can be remedied. We have our circuit court, it is true, but what good is it if there is no way to get a case into it? The result can be nothing short of disaster to law and order if the present condition is allowed to continue. Let's get together and devise some relief some way.

RUM-RUNNER TREATIES

Secretary of State Hughes has completed the negotation of a treaty with The Netherlands similar to that recently ratified with Great Britain government the control of rum runners off the coast. American enforcement vessels are given the right to take rum ships within one hour's sailing distance of our shores. The Dutch agreement is the ninth of that character that has been consumed. The other countries that have signified their assent are Germany, Denmark, France, Norway, Sweden, Italy, and Panama. All of those treaties have not yet been ratified by the Senate, but Senatorial approval of the treaty with Great Britain indicates that there will be no opposition to the others.

In his speech of acceptance President Coolidge said he was doing his best to enforce the prohibition law, precisely as he is enforcing any other law that Congress places on the statute books. One of the most effective means for making the provisions of that law effective are the rum running treaties that the State Department has been so successful in negotiating. Presently the Coast Guard will be reinforced by some 20 destroyers borrowed from the Navy and about 300 motor speed boats that are now being reconditioned and constructed. With the greater radius of actions that the treaties provide, there should be little difficulty off New York and other points.

FARM FACTS

Farming is a profession if you do it right.

Is your school building ready for the opening of school? Steps, windows, desks, and doors may need repairing.

Common table salt sprinkled on the outside of the discolored aluminum pan and rubbed with a damp cloth will cause it to shine.

No self-respecting bale of cotton likes a warehouse with the sky for the roof and the ground for floor.

If you had to "tote" water every day for a family you too would want running water in your home. This is what most farm women in Alabama say. It is no wonder that they want waterworks.

The danish farmers are the richest farmers in the world. Incidentally they are the best cooperators in the world. They work, play, produce, and sell cooperatively.

Don't forget to cull the hens during September. John E. Ivey, Poultry Specialist at Auburn, says that half of the hens in Alabama are being kept at a loss. Good feeding would change half of these money losers to profit makers but the other half are unable to lay well.

BON AIR CORRECTS MISTAKE ABOUT HOLINESS MEETING

Bon Aair, Ala., Aug. 29, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

I see in last week's issue of the Banner that I have been called on to correct a mistake concerning Bon Air news. I shall be very glad to have the mistake corrected, but I think it was on Mr. Cobb's part and not mine. All the news sent from here was strictly correct. Mr. Duncan and family did enjoy the hoiness meeting at Center Hill. But perhaps Mr. Cobb did not take into consideration that there could be two Center Hills. The Center Hill I reftrred to is a community about three miles from Bon Air in Talladega County, an entirely different church from Center Hill near Jemison in Chilton County.

Sincerely,
(Mrs.) Maudie Traywick.

CONCORD—BILLINGGSLEY NEWS

Here we come again, after a long absence. Although we are all backbroken from picking cotton, we will try and give the news of this community.

Mrs. Emma Williams and two daughters, Gertie Mae and Eula Belle, spent the week end with her brother, Mr. E. B. Popwell of Thorsby.

Mr. W. W. Williams made a business trip to Selma Saturday.

The singing school closed at Indian Grave Saturday. A few from here were present and reported a real nice time. We are glad to learn that the school was a success.

A truck load of young people from here attended the all day singing at Pleasant Grove Sunday. While there we were indeed glad to meet two old acquaintances—Prof. James Franklin and daughter, Miss Nora. Prof. Franklin has just closed a singing school at Pleasant Grove.

Thorsby Institute will open next week, Wednesday, Sept. 10, at 10 a.m. An interesting program is being prepared and everyone is cordially invited to attend the opening exercises.

Mrs. G. W. Horsley of Birmingham, daughter of Mrs. Aaron Littleton, is spending a week in Thorsby with her mother.

CO-OPERATION, OR ELSE WHAT?

In issues of this paper during the past few weeks, there have appeared letters explaining in some detail the basic principles on which the Farmers Co-operative Association is built. At this time, in bringing this series of letters to a close, we wish to review briefly these basic requirements. As previously stated, the F. C. A. was formed and is being carried on with the conviction that the farmers of this country need an organization embodying the following features:

We need an organization that:

1. Will market the products of its members and purchase the needs of its members to a better advantage than they could do individually without an organization.
2. Will benefit the members a large amount than it will cost them to support the organization.
3. Will be in full control of the members at all times.
4. Will be in charge of honest and conscientious men in whom the members have confidence, with all officers handling money under bond.
5. Will keep all members informed on all matters connected with the association.
6. Is composed of members who want an organization and will do their individual part in making it successful.

In our recent letter appearing in this paper, we have shown why these are the primary requisites for a successful organization in this county at the present time and have also shown that the F. C. A. is so organized and constructed that the first five requirements are bound to be carried out in this organization if the sixth requirements is met. We make that statement frankly and with the relization of the fact that upon this question hangs the life of the organization. The organization is built upon an economical, safe and profit making plan for its members, and is in a position to save money and make money for the formers of this county. If enough farmers in this county want this help enough to become members and do their individual part in making it successful it will be a permanent establishment, increasing each year in efficiency and helpfullness. On the other hand if the farmers of this county refuse to support the organization it is destined to have a short life.

The success or failure of this organization is in the hands of the farmers of this county. It is a question for each individual to decide. Before making your decision, we suggest that you remember that unless you give your support to the organization, you are giving your support to those who are fighting the organization.

Ask yourself these questions: How many bales of strict middling cotton did you sell before co-operative marketing was established here in the fall of 1922? Were the local cotton buyers able to set their own price on cotton previous to this time? Yes! Did you have any choice between letting them have it at their own price or not selling it at all? No! Did you know what your cotton was really worth on the market? No! Are you able to buy your fertilizer, flour, seed, feed, fruit trees, etc., at wholesale prices without an organization? Nine times out of ten, no!

All of the benefits of the F. C. A. can be had for the small sum of $3.00 per year. How many times this amount would we lose each year if we were without a co-operative buying and selling organization in this county? Of course you will receive much of the benefit of the association if you do not belong but if you are not a member you are making it harder for it to succeed.

It is a question of co-operation or else—letting the other man get the profit of our labor.

"Think on these things" and then act—join the F. C. A.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

The outstanding event of the past week was a four days visit with a cousin of the writer, Mr. Sereno N. Ayres and his wife and married daughter, Mrs. Woodhouse, whose husband is a traveling salesman and seldom at home.

These people live at Plainfield, New Jersey, 45 miles from Kenvil, where we make our headquarters.

Mr. Ayres is an expert watchmaker, who for more than fifty years has worked at his trade, preparing fine watches, clocks and jewelry. His shop is in his house, but he has office room in New York City, about twenty miles from his home, where he spends one or two days a week to receive and deliver his work, most of it coming from wealthy New York people, who use only the best.

Since he was able to work and talk at the same time our visiting with him was for the most part in his workroom, while he was busy at his bench. He has a wonderful equipment of machines and tools, mostly devised and made by himself, and can do almost any kind of difficult repair work, or even entirely build a fine watch.

One day he showed us a small watch he had made. The works were in a case about the size and thickness of a half dollar piece. The post for the hands were encased in a small cylinder attached to one side of the watch case and having a cap about the size of a dime in which the dial and hands were set. The whole contrivance looked like an exaggerated collar button, and was called a button hole watch.

One may wonder what value such a contrivance could have, but we must remember that size, in watches and jewelry, does not determine its value. And for such a watch, since there never was another like it, many a wealthy man or woman would readily give $100 just to have something different.

He occasionally gets to repair what is called a "repeater" watch, which, by pressing a spring can be made to strike the hour, the half, the quarter, and the minute. These watches are of great service to blind people, many of which have long been in use. They are so complicated in their mechanism that they are very expensive, often costing from $250 to $500 each.

One day Mr. Ayers had one of these watches to repair. The spring that operated the striking mechanism was broken. So few of these watches are made that supply houses do not carry such parts, and only watch makers who are prepared to make them can handle such jobs. We were particularly interested in the way he tackled this proposition. It was a delicate piece of work and apparently nothing on hand to begin with. Having made a thorough search for a piece of steel suitable and failing to find it, he proceeded to make it. Selecting an old file, which everybody knows is as hard as glass, he broke a piece off the end of it and proceeded to draw the hardness out of it by heat under a plow pipe. When sufficiently cooled in the air, it was soft enough to file down to proper width and thickness to work on. The thing was too small to hold in vise, fingers or pliers, so he attached one end of it to a larger piece by a screw and two steady pins to prevent any wobble, then put it in his vise and filed it down to size and shape, which had to be very exact, as the one spring had to operate several parts of the mechanism of the watch at the same time. Finally came the polishing and tempering, another delicate operation, as the spring would be useless if too soft or too hard, but he only had to try once to get it just right, and when completed and in place in the watch, it looked and worked as good as the old one ever did.

Mr. Ayers is over 75 years old and still has good eyesight, and is almost indefatigable in his work. He talks of letting up some, but judging by the work that is piled up before him and what he is still able to accomplish, we do not see that he is likely to get out of it so long as he is able to work. He has one advantage that comparitavely few can have. Beyond the joy of accomplishment, which is the reward of any competent worker, since hands and eyes are chief instruments of his employment his ears are free to afford him pleasure and a lot of information whenever he cares to don a head set attached to his radio. He is also at liberty to enjoy conversation with very little hindrance to his work, and we spent hours together in delightful talks of old times when we were boys together.

Mrs. Ayers, whom we remember as a beautiful country girl, is still good to look at. A refined and dignified "lady of the house" crowned with a wealth of silvery hair which when let loose falls below her knees. Quiet in manner and shy among strangers, she is a gifted home maker. She is an adept in culinary art and whatever comes on her table, in both cooking and service is the work of a master hand. Her home is dainty in all its appointments, yet its furnishings are selected so judiciously as to combine beauty with use. As a hostess she has the rare faculty of making her guests wholly at ease as members of the family. One feels that her hospitality is genuine and dispensed with an easy grace that is simply charming. She is of the type who grow old so gracefully that she is always young.

Mrs. Woodhouse is a daughter worthy of this delightfully efficient couple. She is of medium height and full figure, but not fat; she can be either jolly or serious as occasion requires. Being an only child has not spoiled her. She has been enough of a girl to acquire about all of the feminine accomplishments worthy of her sex, and withal enough of a boy to be a delight to her father by her capacity to do so many useful things mostly done by boys and men.

In the first place, whatever she does is done well. "Good enough" is not in her vocabulary—only her best is satisfactory, and one seldom meets a woman who can do so many things well. Cooking or scrubbing, music or dancing, painting pictures or repairing old furniture, garden work or embroidery, photographing, cleaning watches, making all her own clothes and many for her husband, both of whom appear to be well dressed. She took an unfinished attic in their home and made it a veritable ladies' boudoir. She drives her own car and understands its mechanism. But her crowning achievement is her new house, now about completed, at a cost of $16,000 which she has completely designed, made sketches, lists of material, working drawings and blue prints, which her contractor said were all right for any builder to work by. Her only instruction in these matters of correct architectural engineering she got from reading and study of styles and detail plans found in good magazines. She has superintended every detail of construction from cellar to garrett and has had it all done by the most competent builder and tradesmen in a section where fine homes are common, all just as she had planned, and now she says there is not a thing about the whole proposition she would change if it were to be done over again.

We examined the work in detail and found no flaws in it, apparently nothing requisite for comfort or convenience had been forgotten. Outside there was a pleasing arrangement of trimming that gave an air of quiet dignity instead of just bare walls punctured with windows and doors. The lot, 75 x 150, will be graded and decorated to harmonize with the building.

We have been impressed with the idea that some people are worthy of description as scenery and incidents encountered in our travels. We record whatever makes for our enjoyment and we assure our readers that we had a feast of pleasure in our visit with these good people who DO THINGS.

WEST CHILTON

Weather hot and dry here. Cotton opening rapidly; seems premature.

Miss Bevie Smith of Birmingham spent last week with her mother here.

H. H. Davenport and family of Randolph spent Sunday here.

People over here seem well pleased with the way the commissioners are working the roads.

We note the great improvement in the road from Pleasant Grove to Cedar Grove, always bad before, now it is fine.

Mrs. Dorthulia Gibson of Thorsby visited here last week.

Mr. Luke McCary of Randolph is erecting a saw mill here.

Rev. June Hodgens' family of Shelby are visiting here.

Mr. Durwood Jones and wife attended singing at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

Green Cofer and family of Siluria came down Saturday.

Isaac Waldrop and son went to Centerville last week.

L. G. Posey visited in Perry county Sunday.

The opening of the schools is here. What responsibility is resting on teachers, to train the young mind in usefulness, to be real men and women, to be gentle, kind, temperate, attentive to business; good citizens, honest, true, noble, unselfish; to lead the young away from the foolish, the intemperate, the profane; to lead them to revere their Creator and the Book of Books; to pity the poor and ignorant; to be wise, to love truth, to shun lying vanities, to be what men and women are intended to be; should have the close attention of both teacher and parent.

F. B. GOODGAME SAYS ROAD WORK IS FINE

Editor Union-Banner:—

I have been asked to express my opinion of the work the county is doing on our roads. In reply to this request I will gladly say that I am mighty well pleased with the work the county is doing. I do lumber hauling over the Higgins Ferry Road through the east half of Beat 4 and through Beat 16, and will say that this road is by far the best that it has ever been. I can haul bigger loads of lumber than before, do it much quicker and with much less damage to my trucks. This road, generally speaking, is better than the average streets. Those big tractors and scrapes are the thing to work the roads with.

Yours for good roads,
F. B. GOODGAME.

FOREST FIRE HAZARD

The forest fire haggard due to the natural accumulation of inflamable forest litter is much less than often supposed, says the Alabama Commission of Forestry. It sometimes has been thought that unless the woods are burned annually there will be a large amount of dead grass, pine straw and dead leaves that will cause fire to do far greater damage than usual. The Commission of Forestry, however, has investigated these conditions in various parts of the State and it has been found that the forest litter lying on the ground decays so rapidly underneath that there is seldom more than two years' accrument that is readily inflamable. This is particularly true of the loblolly and short leaf pine regions. In the long leaf pine belt there may three years' accumulation of surface litter that will burn easily. In all cases, however, experiments and observation have shown that this source of danger has often been greately overrated. Investigations into the histories of severe fires in the southern pine region have shown that the greater damage to previously unburned stands was due more to the character of the season and to the fact that there was more timber to be harmed than to the presence of an unsual amount of grass, pine straw and leaves upon the ground.

GLAD SISTER ESCAPED OPERATION

"Phyaicans had given my sister up to die; they wanted to operate for gall stones, but she was too weak and could only talk in whispers. I got her a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and in 3 weeks she was able to get about and walked a mile to church." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convence or money refunded. Sold and guaranteed by Alred Drug Co., and druggists everywhere.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Arrangements are being made by a committee of the Alabama League of Women Voters to have a "Get Out the Vote" luncheon on September 17, at the Tutwier Hote, at Birmingham. A etter of invitation is being sent to the presidents of every organization of a statewide character in Alabama, whether it be religious, secular, business, fraternal, political, civic or educational. It is the purpose of this luncheon to get the representatives of these diverse interests to formulate some joint plan by which Alabama's qualified voting power may be increased.

To Jasper will probably belong the honor of being the first city in the state to form a Davis-Bryan Victory club. W. S. Childers, president of the Jasper Trust company, received notification a few days ago of his appointment as representative in Jasper of the national democratic executive committee and local president of the Davis-Bryan club. Immediately upon notification Mr. Childers started to work and in a few hours had more than 30 members.

"God's Acre," a plot of ground so called because its products will be sold and the proceeds used for advancement of religion, is without a boll weevil on it Robert Blackwell, switchman of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, at Albany, decided he would utilize leisure time to plant 10 acres in cotton here, one of the acres to be reserved for God. There is not a weevil on any of the cotton, it is stated.

Joseph M. Walsh, chairman; George J. Sullivan, vice chairman; John A. Hughes, secretary, and J. H. Fermier, treasurer, have been named to head a committee on arrangements for ceremonies in connection with the consecration of Rev. Father Richard O. Gerow, of Mobile, as the bishop of Mississippi to succeed the late Bishop Gunn.

Emmett W. Baskette, manager of the Montgomery establishment of a chain shoe company, too his own life by drinking carbolic acid following the arrival of the district manager of the company. It is stated that small discrepancies had been found in the accounts of the local store and this discovery was given as the cause of the suicide.

John F. Morton, for 25 years in the United States postal service, 23 years of which have been spent in the employ of the Tuscaloosa office, has received notice of his appointment as postmaster for Tuscaloosa, succeeding Ernest A. Townsend, whose term has expired.

NOTICE TO LAND OWNERS

And Tenants Sustaining Damages Along the Birmingham and Montgomery Highway.

Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners Court will meet at Lomax on the south end of the newly constructed Birmingham and Montgomery Highway on Friday the 12th day of September, 1924, at 9:00 o'clock a.m., for the purpose of inspecting and adjusting the damages claimed by the different parties to their crops and other damages.

We urge all interested parties to meet the Court on their premises along the Highway after 9:00 o'clock on this date. The property damaged will be looked over as it is reached along the Highway and we will probably reach the Chilton County line about 12:00 o'clock.

No cases where compensation was assessed for damages under the condemnation proceedings will be reopened, and only damages to the crops and other property which was not condemned will be considered.

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. W. Z. HODGES, Editor.

Mrs. Johnson, Hostess.

Mrs. Napoleon Johnson entertained the members of the Wednesday Card Club and a few other friends on last Wednesday afternoon. A variety of summer flowers effectively brightened the entire interior. Bridge was at four tables, and afterwards cream and cake were served. Mrs. John Browder won the club prize, a set of Congress Cards.

The club members and guests were Mrs. G. Reynolds, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Lyman, Mrs. H. Jones, Mrs. W. L. Johnson, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. H. Aired, Miss Kathleen Mullins, Miss Beverly Hester and Miss Lurline Harper.

W. M. U. Meets.

The Woman's Missionary Union of the Clanton Baptist church was called to order by the president, Mrs. J. P. Hayes. The roll call was answered with "The Task that has helped Most." The regular business of the society was carried out and a committee was appointed to have new year books with the year's work planned for 1925. The ladies will spend one Monday afternoon in each month studying the Bible. Interesting talks were made by Mrs. Hester, Mrs. Broadhead and Mrs. Ezell on the subject, 'Our Opportunity and Responsibility in Clanton."

Mrs. Hayes Entertains.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. J. P. Hayes entertained the Y. W. A. Society. A very interesting program was rendered, and plans were discussed for the next year's work. After the business meeting a tempting ice course was served.

Miss Hattie Jones, who is employed by J. Thomas Heflin, has been visiting relatives and friends here for several days. She left Monday for LaFayette, and will be there until Congress meets in Washington, where she will spend the rest of the winter.

Mrs. L. F. Gerald spent Thursday in Birmingham.

Miss Lumner Rasberry of Birmingham is spending a couple of weeks on Mulberry visiting relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Prince have moved into the Luckie House on Second Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. McDavid and little son, Cameron, Jr., spent a few days in Birmingham last week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Luckie, who have lived in Clanton sixteen years, moved to Montgomery last week

Mr. Moore and his mother of Luverne, moved to our city Monday and will occupy the house vacated by Mr. Prince.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollard from Atlanta, Ga., and Mr .English from Florida, who are shipping tomatoes to dofferent markets from Clanton, are very much thrilled over catching so many fish at Lock 12.

Mr. Bernard from Roanoke is spending several days in our city.

The Chilton County High School opens next Monday. The Grammar School opens the same day.

Mrs. Victor Heard's mother and sister are spending some time with her in Clanton.

Birthday Party.

Quite a happy celebration was held in the Gardner home on the 31st, ult, when eighteen guests assembled to pay homage to Mr. B. F. Gardner on his 82nd birthday. Mr. Gardner's birthday fell on Sunday, and he had not anticipated spending the day other than in the usual quiet way. When group after group of felicious kindred had assembled, Mr. Gardner's delight knew no bounds—his surprise was complete. There were eighteen children and grand children to spend the day—a few were unavoidably absent. Six of ten children remain in life to comfort their father.

The home had been made attractive with blooming plants placed to advantage here and there. The very large white birthday cake with its embossed ornamentations in pink and its delicate roses from the hearts of which burned many waxen tapers, formed a beautiful center-piece for the principal dining table. This cake was designed and executed by a local artist.

Many friends called during the day to extend congratulations and to express the best of wishes to Mr. Gardner. The guests from elsewhere included: Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gardner and family of Montgomery, Mrs. M. Tate and family of Montgomery, Mrs. Thompson and family of Prattville, Messrs. N. L. and J. B. Gardner of Verbena and their families

We do not want our government harnessed up with the Protestant Church of the country, and we certainly do not favor the remotest connection of our laws with the Catholic church. The government, although founded upon the solid rock of the Creator of the universe, should not hanker to any particular religious sect, either Catholic or Protestant. The distinct separation of church and state has preserved the nation established by our pilgrim ancestors, and it is on this principle only that we can function very long in the future.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE TOWN OF CLANTON, ALA.

The American government, from its institution until the present day, has always proudly boasted that it is a government of the people, by the people and for the people, and intermingled with this idea runs the legal right of every man, and lately the women, to be a candidate for, if the legal requisitions are complied with, any office from president to justice of the peace. No man has ever successfully opposed this idea and probably never will. To make elections fair and to secure the expression of the majority of the people for its candidates and office holders, our legislature has modified certain laws and regulations to better accomplish this purpose.

With this thought in view, the writers of this article, composed of five men and five women, resident citizens, tax payers, and voters of the Town of Clanton, appointed by a mass meeting of citizens of this town, have determined to inform every voter in the town of Clanton the facts leading up to this election as we honestly see them. A committee of five appeared before the town council and mayor on the night of September 1, fourteen days prior to the election, and requested that the names of six of our citizens be entered upon the ballot in the coming city election, which the mayor and the town council refused to do. Their reason being that the committee was too late as a matter of law, the law requiring the petition to be filed twenty days prior to the election. However, it will be interesting to the voters of the town to know that this same mayor and councilmen who are now serving, 4 years ago, were nominated less than 20 days before the election, which occurred on Sept. 20. We are printing below a news item from the Union-Banner, under date of Sept. 9, 1920, which is self explanatory as to this fact. In it you will see that 11 days before the election no official ticket had been prepared:

Candidates for Mayor and Town Council

The names of Dr. V. J. Gragg and Hon. F. B. Collier have been announced as candidates for mayor of Clanton, to be voted on in the municipal election Sept. 20. For councilmen we have heard mentioned the names of M. L. White, Tom Kemp, Dr. T. J. Marcus, J. B. Atkinson, J. B. Downs, Eric Hart, Dr. N. S. Johnson, V. J. Elmore, and T. C. McSwain. The time is short from now till election day, but there will probably be others to get into the race before it is finally consumated.

As stated above, it is interesting to know why the council should on one hand escape the mandate of the law and on the other solicit its aid. It can be nothing more nor less than an attempt on the part of the mayor and council to prevent anyone except their own ticket from running in the city election. This committee on the same date also requested election managers to be appointed as provided by Section 442 of the Code of 1923 and this committee was met with the flat refusal that election managers had already been appointed on the 18th day of August, which is about 27 days before the election, yet Section 437 of the Code of 1923 clearly grants the right to suggest election managers not later than 15 days before the election. Thus it is clear that the election managers were appointed at least twelve days before the law required or authorized and thus again refusing our candidates the clear right which the law granted. It is also interesting to know that the returning officer for this election is G. D. Retherford, the city police, who by Section 3936 Code 1923 makes it a crime not under $50 fine and not over 12 months hard labor for any city official or employee to act as returning officer or election manager at any city election. Section 429 of the Code of 1923 provides that in case that the officers are candidates then the law deems them disqualified to appoint election managers and that they shall certify this to the register in chancery, which was not done in this case. Section 1891 of the Code of 1923 makes it a misdemeanor for any alderman to have any private or personal financial dealings with the municipality under which he is serving, and to render any service or do any work or supply any commodity, for financial compensation, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall also vacate his office. We ask you if this law is not daily and repeatedly violated, yet Dr. Gragg in his refusal to place our candidates' names on the ticket based his refusal upon the protection of the law? We cannot understand the inconsistency of enjoying the protection of the law on one hand and flagrantly violating its provisions on the other.

It would seem to any fair minded man or woman that if Dr. Gragg and the five councilmen were going to conduct an election fair and square in every detail, they would not object for our candidates having at least one clerk out of six election managers, in the polls to see that we get a square deal. Pursuing this same action, it would be natural to suppose that after the election the present mayor and his five councilmen will determine which side was elected and would it be natural to presume that our candidates will get justice in this kind of a procedure? In brief, we have been confronted with this fact: Dr. Gragg, the present mayor, and his five councilmen refused to place our candiates' names on the ballot, and refused to give us representation in the election managers, but instead appointed their own allies and supporters and even employees of the city, and now have it absolutely in their control to pass upon a voter's qualification, to challenge our votes and even reject our ballots, and finally Dr. Gragg and these same councilmen are to pass upon the question of the successful candidates in this city election. It is apparent to any citizen that this is no the law and is not within the spirit of the law, and every man and woman should rally to the polls on September 15th and reject this kind of conduct and action by an overwhelming majority for our candidates.

As tax payers and voters we ask you if you know the amount of taxes and license this town receives and what amount is spent back for this town and what amount is now in the city treasury. Have you ever seen printed an itemized statement of the receipts and disbursements of the finances of this town? You have a right to know these things and the candidates we are offering to you have pledged themselves to keep you informed publicly twice a year of the exact financial status of the town. Also the books of the town, according to the law, are public property and the action of the mayor and councilmen should be public(yet some of our committee were not allowed to see the minutes of the town relating to the council's meeings. We are not alleging wrong-doinng on the part of anyone, but why should any citizen be refused the right to know and inspect the town's financial conditions at any and all times. It is your money and your town, and you should know.

Our candidates believe that the town should progress, but they do not believe that tax payers should be made to expend great sums of money unnecessarily and especially when a majority of the tax payers are objecting. It is our town and if our will is not to govern and if our wishes are not to be considered, then we ask what will is to control?

In conclusion each voter will be instructed either personally or by mail the exact way to cast your ballot and you may rest assured that if your ballot is not counted legal action will be taken to see that it is done and also to protect your right of franchise and freedom as an American citizen. If you would overturn unheard of autocracy in government as we have experienced in the last few days, and if you would escape the tyrant's blow in our city government and if you would proclaim and perpetuate your right as a free American citizen, we ask you and your friend, your husband and your wife to come out on Monday, Sept. 15 and vote for Dr. J. P. Hayes for Mayor and T. H. Neighbors, J. Z. Mims, J. Lee Smith, J. Watts Moore and F. R. Woodyard as councilmen.

PUBLICITY COMMITTEE.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE CALLED TO MEET SATURDAY, SEPT. 13

The Republican Executive Committee of Chilton County is hereby called to meet at the court house in Clanton, at 2:00 o'clock, p.m., on Saturday, the 13th day Sept, 1924, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the County Board of Education of Chilton County to succeed Hon. L. A. Calloway.

All members of the Executive Committee are earnestly requested to be present at this meeting, as this is an important matter and the presence of every member will be necessary.

This 2nd day of September, 1924.

WHERE THE REAL SHOW IS THIS YEAR

Republicans, Demand Your Rights as Citizens of County

Don't Fail To Attend Mass Meeting at Court House Saturday at 2 O'Clock And Select Member For County Board Of Education

Under the law the people of Chilton County have a right to elect a member of the County Board of Education to take the place of Mr. L. A. Calloway, who moved away from the county and resigned as member of the county board six or eight months ago. The Republican Executive Committee will meet at the court house at the above named time and place to select a nominee to run in the general election in November to fill this vacancy, and a mass meeting of citizens of the county is called at the same time for the purpose of advising with the committee in this election.

This is the business of the people of the county. There is nothing more important to the people than the most careful and most considerate management of their school matters. The people have a right to a voice in the management of their schools and the only access they have to school matters is through the County Board, therefore too much care cannot be observed in the election of the members of this Board. So it is hoped that every Republican in the county will meet with the Executive Committee and help them to get a man suitable for this place.

The people of the county have been laboring under the impression that there was no vacancy in the Board, but through the energetic and vigilant efforts of some of the leading Republicans of the county, the fact has been exposed that Mr. Calloway sent in his resignation several months ago, but that same has been kept a secret by the county board. Mr. Calloway's son, Raymond was in Clanton a few days recently and stated that his father sent in his resignation as member of the County Board of Education about last Christmas, and was totally surprised and indigant when he learned that his successor had not already been appointed by the remaining members of the board. According to the law, this should have been done as soon as the vacancy occured, and the office was vacant just as soon as Mr. Calloway went away from the State to reside.

It is indeed hoped that a representative gathering of citizens from all over the county will be present at this meeting at the court house Saturday afternoon. This matter should not be treated lightly, because it is directly of interest to every citizen of the county. Everyone who possibly can, come and advise with the Executive Committee in selecting a nominee for this vacancy.

CHILTON COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

The Chilton County high school opened its 1924-'25 session last Monday with an enrollment of about 200. The principal this year is Mr. T. C. Stephens. The other members of the faculty are: Mr. C. S. Matthews of Florence, S. C., Miss Jennie Clark of Abbeville, Ala., Miss Marjorie Ormond of Birmingham and Miss Abbotte McKinnon of Talladega Springs. The prospects are that the school this year will be the best we have ever had in Clanton.

FOUR MEN ARRESTED FOR VIOLATING PROHI LAW

From the reports of the Sheriff's force, things around Union Grove were pretty well stewed up last Sunday. At the home of George Headley near Union Grove several were gathered together, and upon an investigation by Sheriff Littlejohn a small quantity of whiskey was found on the persons of Eugene Marcus and Melvious Collins. The two were arrested but succeeded in making their bonds.

Also Andrew Chandler and Ben Varden were arrested for violating the prohibition law in the vicinity of Union Grove. These two men were brought and placed in the county jail, and they made bond Sunday afternoon.

KLAN TERRORIZES ALABAMA, UNDERWOOD TELLS MAINE

Rockland, Maine, Sept. 4—Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama, speaking here today in interest of William R. Pattangall, democratic nominee for governor, assailed the Ku Klux Klan, declaring the issue involved one of the gravest that has ever confronted a free people.

"It walks on the streets with you, confronts you at your doorstep and threatens your very destiny and the future happiness of your families," he said. I come from a state where men and women shudder at night when a knock comes at the door, where men do not dare assert freedom of thought, because an invisible hand may fall. The south and the west have felt its blight. Free government is at stake. The government of the invisible empire is taking its place. Justice has miscarried in the courts that prejudice may pass judgment on the destinies of men.

"Women have been dragged from their homes and whipped, men's lives have been sacrificed, and little children have been orphaned that the invisible empire might have its way."

The Klan has never been in the majority in any state but by organization it has elected judges and sheriffs, Senator Underwood asserted.

JUDGE REYNOLDS OPENS CAMPAIGN POST IN BIRMINGHAM

Judge L. H. Reynolds has accepted the appointment as State Campaign manager for the Republican party, and has opened up offices in the Moulton Hotel, Rooms 802-4. Mr. C. A. Weigand is secretary.

Judge Reynolds reports that he finds the sentiment for Coolidge and Dawes in Birmingham much stronger than has been expected. Nearly every leading business man in the city wants to see Coolidge re-elected as president. The Republicans of the State and nation are united solidly behind Coolidge and Dawes.

MRS. LATHAM ELLIS ENTERTAINS AT PARTY

On last Monday evening, Mrs. Latham Ellis entertained for her husband at a surprise stagg party in honor of his birthday. Their home was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being rose and white.

A lovely four-course dinner was served to the following: Messrs. Donald Merchant, Jno, T. Ellis, Jr., Bill Murphy, Otto Jones, Lucien Duncan. Jno. T. Ellis, Jr., was toastmaster for the occasion.

After many clever speeches and music, a deed to two beautiful lots for their future home was presented to the host by his father, Jno. T. Ellis.

Messrs. John Edwards, E. C. Powell and George Culp motored up to Birmingham last Monday to attend a meeting of the Edwards Estate Corporation.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sims have returned from a two months visit to Colorado Springs, mountain of Denver Colorado.

Mrs. W. D. Duff and Mrs. Ada Damfries, have returned to Birmingham, after spending their vacation with Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bruce.

Mrs. Mann and neice Miss Mildred Sims of Birmingham are visiting relatives at Clanton.

REPUBLICANS CARRY ENTIRE TICKET IN ELECTION IN MAINE

Brewster Maintains Early Lead—G. O. P. Congressmen Seeking Re-election Are in Lead.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 8.—Returns from 593 precincts out of 633 in the state, including all but one precinct of the city of Portland, gave for governor: Brewster, republican, 136,648; Pattangall, democrat, 103,273.

An apparently safe lead for Ralph O. Brewster, republican, for governor, was shown in returns from today's election from 515 precincts out of 633 in the state, which gave Brewster 104,534 to 69,714 for William Pattangall, democrat. Pattangall late tonight conceded Brewster's election.

In the same precincts United States Senator Bert M. Fernald, republican, seeking re-election, had 101,692 votes to 61,627 for Fulton J. Redman, democrat. These returns included 10 of the 20 cities of the state but did not include Portland, the largest city, which gave the republican candidate for governor large pluralities in 1922 and 1920.

The four republican congressmen seeking re-election were well in the lead of their democratic opponents on partial returns. In the first district, where the first returns had shown the vote was running very close, returns from 53 of the 92 precincts gave Congressman Carroll N. Beedy, republican, a vote of 16,338 to 11,729 for William M. Ingraham, democrat.

Klan Was Issue

Pattangall made the Ku Klux Klan the leading issue of his campaign for governor. Because Brewster had the klan indorsement in his primary campaign, the democrats asserted that Brewster represented the klan. Brewster, who had previously denied that he had sought klan support, made no reference to the klan in his election campaign and his speeches dealt chiefly with state issues but republican speakers sent into the state by the national committee declared that indorsement of the Coolidge administration was involved in the election.

Two years ago the republican plurality for governor was 28,457 and four years ago it was 65,346. In the senatorial election in 1922 Senator Frederick Hale, republican, was elected by a plurality of 26,366 over Oakley C. Curtis, democrat. During the campaign General Charles G. Dawes, republican nominee for vice president, delivered an address in Maine in which he spoke openly regarding the klan, declaring that he was opposed to its methods.

In the congressional contest in the first district, Ingraham injected the prohibition issue by declaring for radical modifications of the Volstead act.

1924 COTTON CROP EARLIER THAN 1923.

From the ginning record of Chilton County it appears that the cotton crop is about two weeks earlier this year than last. On September 6th last year Mr. J. N. Dennis had ginned 299 bales. It is generally estimated that Chilton County will produce quite a bit more cotton this year than it did last year.

SAYS NIGHT MEETINGS LEAD YOUNG PEOPLE INTO SIN

Clanton, Ala., Aug. 25, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

Will you please give me a small space in your good paper to speak just a few words in regard to a Holiness meeting which I have been permitted to attend almost every night for the past three weeks out about 2 1-2 miles north-east of Clanton.

Of course I enjoyed the meeting and believe that there are some good people out there trying to serve the Lord, but oh, my good friends, have you ever stopped to think about the awful woe and misery of the wickedness of the many ones who are standing on the out-side looking around the camp, walking to and fro up and down the earth seeking whom they may devour? While you are all in there praying, shouting and praising the Lord, you don't have the least idea what is going on outside. Well, you may say that we are not looking out for those that are without but are just attending to our business within. It might be well enough to think that, but people are people and they are all God's creation. He made them all and is able to save them all, according to His holy will. The Saviour said all that the Father gave Him He would lose nothing but would raise them all up at the last day. His command is to love one another.

My dear friends, we ought to love the souls of sinners as well as the soul of the saint. Not that we should love sin—no, no, but everyone has a soul, and God is no respecter of persons. He loves all with a pure love, even before they ever know to love Him in a true sense of the spirit. We know that the dead sinner can't know God in a true spiritual sense until they are born of the spirit. The natural man discerneth not the things of the spirit of God, neither can he know them, for they are spiritually discerned.

I am afraid my letter is too long, but what I wanted to impress on the minds of the brethren and sisters is this: Don't you think it would surely and certainly be much better to have our meetings in the day-time and not so much at night. I know there are larger crowds at night, but oh, my friends, when we are drawing the multitudes of people together in the darkness of the night, we are causing more sin to be done by our dear young people whom we love so much, than we can do good. We may not ever get forgiveness for giving them so many opportunities of going out at night taking so many car rides.

I don't want to offend anyone, but where there is no sacrifice there is no blessing or might not be. If we can't lose a little time to go to meeting in day-time, we ought not go so much at night. I write this with respect to all. I have been a reader of the dear old Banner for many years.

Change of Life

"When change of life began on me," says Mrs. Lewis Lisher, of Lamar, Mo., "I suffered so with womanly weakness. I suffered a great deal of pain in my back and sides. My limbs would cramp. I didn't feel like doing my work, and there are so many steps for a woman to take on a farm. I was very anxious to get better. A friend recommended to me and I began using it. I certainly improved. I went through change of life without any trouble. I can highly recommend Cardui."

CARDUI

At the age of about 40 to 50 every woman has to pass through a critical time, which is called the Change of Life. At this time, great changes take place in her system, causing various painful and disagreeable symptoms.

If you are approaching this period, or are already suffering from any of its troubles or symptoms, take Cardui. It should help you, as it has helped others.

LITTLE VIRGINIA CLECKLER

On the morning of August 20th, the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Cleckler and carried away from them a beloved little baby for them to weep and mourn over. The little baby was five months old the day it died and she had suffered as long as the Master had seen fit. For seven weeks it was confined to the bed with whooping cough and other troubles.

We kindly thank the people around Coopers for the help and kindness shown us during the sickness and death.

The remains were laid to rest at Providence at the side of its little brother and sister which we all hope to be ready to meet when we are called for. Rev. M. J. Parrish conducted the funeral.

Mr. W. J. Lindsey and son, Ode Lindsey and wife of Montgomery came through Clanton Tuesday enroute to their home.

PRESIDENT IS HOST TO "BIG THREE"

President Coolidge relating the history of a sap bucket which was the property of his great grandfather. This bucket was presented to Mr. Ford by the President. The picture, taken at the home of the President's father in Vermont, shows left to right: Mr. Firestone, the President, Mr. Ford, and Mr. Edison.

Washington, Sept. 9.—One of the outstanding features of the vacation trip of President Coolidge, who has just returned from a two weeks' stay at his father's farm in Vermont, was the visit of Henry Ford, Thomas A. Edison and Harvey S. Firestone.

On their annual camping trip, these three geniuses of industry and invention called upon the President on an automobile tour through New England, and for several hours discussed with him various problems and conditions. All three of them assured him of their hearty support of his candidacy for election.

The chief topic of conversation was the future prosperity of the country. The three camping companions assured the President that in their opinion the continued improving prosperity of the country depended upon the condition of the farmers. Agriculture must prove profitable for America to continue prosperous, they said.

"I think times are getting better, and for sound agricultural reasons," said Mr. Ford.

Interviewed during his call upon President Coolidge, Mr. Edison said: "We'll have great prosperity if the corn does not get nipped and crops in general are good."

Mr. Firestone declared that the farmer was the keystone of American prosperity.

"Conditions in this country will continue to grow better so long as the farmer is prosperous," he said. "He is the barometer by which to judge conditions. His is the basic industry of the country, and the one upon which our prosperity depends."

After leaving the President's farm Mr. Ford, Mr. Edison and Mr. Firestone continued their tour through the Green Mountains, stopping now and then to talk with the people of rural New England and view the countryside. They spent the early part of their vacation at Mr. Ford's Wayside Inn, at South Sudbury.

Before visiting the President, Mr. Ford played host to 5,000 New England farmers at his Wayside Inn estate at South Sudbury, Mass. With Mr. Edison and Mr. Firestone he supervised a plowing and agricultural demonstration, and invited the Farm Bureau Federation to use his grounds for its annual gatherings. On the same day the Holstein-Friesian Association gathered at Mr. Firestone's old homestead in Columbiana county, Ohio, for its annual picnic, as the guests of Mr. Firestone, who sent his son, Harvey, Jr., to welcome them in his absence.

CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY, 291 ON ROLL

The Clanton Grammar School opened for its nine months stretch on Monday morning, with an enrollment of 291. The opening was very enthusiastic, and the promise is for a good school this year.

The teachers this year are: Principal, Walter E. Martin of Clanton, 2nd year junior high school; Miss Nettie Lou Graham of Anniston, 2nd grade; Miss Vera Mae White of Maplesville, 1st grade; Miss Eddie Patience Watson of Clayton, 3rd grade; Miss Minnie Cheshire of Opelika, 1st year junior high school; Miss Exa Jones of Highland Home, 4th grade; Mrs. C. D. Thomas of Clanton, 5th grade; Miss Leona Stanley of Wetumpka and Miss Eva Cheshire of Opelika, utility teachers.

CHANGE OF SERVICE HOURS

Begining next Sunday night the sevice at the Clanton Baptist Church will begin at 7:30 o'clock instead of 8:00, as has been the custom during the summer. Prayer meeting also will be held at the same hour during the winter.

THE OLD CHURCH BELL

Years ago my old father used to sit a great deal on the front porch of his home at Verbena and many a time on Sunday morning when the church bells began to call attention to the service hours I've heard him say, "Thank the Lord—the country is safe." The bells suggested to him that the worshipping of God fortified the country against the rule of evil and danger.

This is what the notes of a church bell should mean to every person with a normal mind.

By chance I was present when the Masons placed the corner-stone of the new Methodist church in Clanton some months ago. Just near where I stood in the street, was a pile of building sand and almost covered with the sand was the old church bell which for scores of years has called to worship residents of Clanton who loved God and which reminded others of the existence of a Supreme Being.

It caused me a thrill of sorrow to see this bell, after having served as a voice of God so long, lying there in the dirt, dishonored and unappreciated. In other days the bell has announced to many a clean, true bride, her wedding hour. And then in tender tones of sympathy, it has proclaimed the last service for many a noble man and woman. In every instance, its peals have stood for purity, truth, safety and God.

I am informed there will be no bell in the new Methodist Church. What a shame that Clanton should abolish such a godly custom and hush a voice which symbolizes everything worthwhile.

There are thousands of other noises all over the earth every hour and every one of them signify commerce, material profit, pleasure and gain and these noises are more or less offensive to the ears of peace-loving persons who faithfully listen for sounds of God and who have something else to live for besides dollars and self.

Shall the church bell, the one and only sound and signal of the existence of a living God, be stilled and heard no more in Clanton?

God pity a country or community which has become so modern and up-to-date that a church bell on Sunday morning is no longer needed or is "out of style."

I truly hope I shall never spend a Sunday morning without hearing a church bell ringing, the only earthly sound that proclaims and broadcasts to all men of every station the fact that God is good and worthy to be praised.

POOR OR

HURRAH FOR THE GOOD ROADS

Editor Union-Banner:

We can now go from Mims Cross Roads to Sawyer's Cove in high where as, one year ago it took four good oxen to pull within five hundred feet of any thing, for I tried to haul some my-self and absolutely, it would have taken a pretty good mule to pull an empty wagon.

Now, I have traveled all the roads north of Clanton, and I think I can safely say that they are at least 90 percent better than they were last year. I think I know a good road when I see it, I have worked out my road days on the roads and most of them as apportioner and overseer and traveling the roads behind the splendid machines now being used on the roads, show a decited emprovement over the old system.

The comparison of the old system with the new is like drinking milk from a ticky cow when we diden't know any better.

So I say, hurrah for our commissioners and probate judge. We thank them for the betterment of our public roads and for the way of working them, for I certainly am, and always have been in favor of good roads.

So, I will stop now and ask the Editor if he will print this for me I will call again some time.

STATE COMMISSION OF FORESTRY

"The Alabama Commission of Forestry has received many inquiries from owners of small forest areas, regarding recommendations for the sale of standing timber from their lands," according to a statement just issued by the commission. "Information regarding market prices of standing timber is most often the particular item of knowledge sought. Stumpage prices offered by saw mill operators are extremely variable due to many factors, the most potent of which are: species of the timber; size, quality and quanity available; nearness to a railroad or other transporation facilities; ease of logging (which principally depends on the topography of the landd); local market conditions; labor supply and availability of saw mill operators in the immediate vicinity. At present the prices offered for both pine and hard wood stumpage, especially the latter, are very low. However, since our timber supply is rapidly becoming exhausted, stumpage prices offered are bound to increase constantly in the future. It is therefore an excellent policy for owners to hold their timber that is not fully mature, for future advances in stumpage prices, and in so doing take advantage of a threefold increase in value due to growth in price, quality, and quantity of the timber. Forest land will produce a valuable crop of timber every ten or fifteen years if the cutting is done properly and the area is not burned over. The land owner should aim to make his tract concontinuously productive by practicing the principles of forestry.

8% of the Soft Coal Mined in the United States

Or a total of over a half million cars, was transported during 1923 by the Louisville & Nashville Railroad. With 5,038 miles of track, as compared to a total of 251,175 miles of track in the United States, this figure of 2% of the total trackage, as against 8% of the total amount of coal mined, demonstrates the importance of the L. & N. as a coal-carrying road.

From the mines in Kentucky, Illinois, Tennessee, Virginia and Alabama, this road transports this immense tonnage of "black diamonds"; bringing prosperity to the communities in which the coal is produced, and adding to the comfort and prosperity of the sections in which it is consumed.

Taking things from where they are plentiful to where they are scarce, to the financial and social benefit of both the shipping and receiving communities, is one of the great tasks which the American railroads are capably performing. Don't hamper them by hurtful legislation.

[illegible] as if cane and potato crops will be short.

[illegible]. Coker visited in Selma Saturday.

We had the pleasure of hearing Dr. Edwards lecture Sunday. He is a Chilton county boy, raised in the Mulberry community; a forceful and lucid speaker. The audience gave him close attention. His subject was "The Church at War, the Nations Divided, but Millions Now Living Will Accept the Overtures of Mercy and Never Die." He first called attention to the division now existing between "Modernists" and "Fundamentalists" in church circles, showing the correct position to be back to the Bible, closing with the announcement that the church, (all the Christians), is nearing her reward. Then millions will repent, and, while not sharing the church's reward will live forever—never die. The doctor is quite interesting; a fine young man. He left for Clanton Sunday afternoon and Sawley Sunday night, three lectures in one day.

ANNUAL METHODIST S. S. CONFERENCE

The third annual Sunday School Conference for the Methodists of central and south Alabama and West Florida came to a close on Thursday, Sept. 4, in a most successful gathering. There were 769 workers from 84 schools.

The meeting voted to accept the invitation of Selma for 1925 and will meet the latter part of August rather than early in September.

J. W. Andrews of Pensacola was elected president. Other officers include R. H. Mangum of Selma and S. H. Blan of Montgomery, vice presidents; F. T. Herlong of Greenville, secretary; Miss Mary H. Jones of Montgomery; E. G. Branch of Montgomery, treasurer.

The speakers include some of the best known churchmen in Southern Methodism, among them Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon, Hon. John R. Pepper of Memphis, Tenn.; several of the General S. S. Board staff and others.

Mr. Ellis Mims of Route 6 was in Clanton Monday attending to business.

Clears Complexion

"Oh! how clear and beautiful your complexion is today, my dear!"

THERE is a certain joy—a certain pride—in knowing you are admired, whether it be from father, brother, husband or sweetheart! And back of that joy is the satisfaction of knowing all is well.

Men are fascinated by the charms of beauty. Women gaze with envy, secretly jealous, perhaps, wondering—hoping—praying for that attractiveness which is not theirs. But why the wondering — the hoping — the praying for that craved for attractiveness—that clear skin—that beauty. A clear skin—is the barometer of one's condition. A healthy skin radiates beauty. Pure, clean blood means a clear skin.

S.S.S. is waiting to help you. It will rid your blood of its impurities and give you that clear complexion. Since 1826 S.S.S. has been ridding people of blood impurities, from pimples, from blackheads, boils, eczema and from rheumatism, too. Because S.S.S. is made from fresh herbs and barks, it may be taken with perfect safety. Try it yourself. You will not only look better, but you will feel better, too.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

REPUBLICAN TICKET TO BE VOTED ON IN CHILTON COUNTY ON NOVEMBER 11, 1924

For President of U. S.—
CALVIN COOLIDGE

For Vice-President U. S.—
CHAS. G. DAWES

For County Treasurer—
MISS GENIE COLLINS

For Commissioner from the Third District—
J. L. BURNETT

For Commissioner from the Fourth District —
A. P. VINSON

For Member County Board of Education—
J. M. SMITH

Preliminaries leading up to the city election next Monday have put on quite a warm and enthusiastic political aspect. Dr. Gragg, Mayor, together with the present council, are bidding to hold on to the management of the city government, while there is a rather strong element behind a new ticket with the desire to make a change. The tale will be told at the polls Monday. It is hoped that everyone in casting his ballot will have the interest of the town and the whole citizenship of the town in view paramount to anything else.

You can't tell who a Klansman is when you see one, and generally speaking, when you see a citizen on the street you don't know but that he may be a Klansman. But we venture to say that we know one man who does not belong to the hooded order, and that is our Senior Senator from Alabama. Judging from the way Senator Underwood lambasted the Klan in his speech up in Maine, he hasn't got much sympathy for it. He went so far as not only to reflect on the Klan but he cast a dark shadow upon the whole of his home State. There is no use for a fellow to go nutty over anything.

The good Republicans of Chilton County have a duty to perform at the court house next Saturday afternoon. The right of the people to elect their county superintendent of education is no longer theirs, but they still are allowed by the law to elect the members of the county board. Some even prefer to take from the people the right to elect the members, but that has not been accomplished yet. So every Republican who believes in the voice of the people being heard over the will of any one individual, be at the court house next Saturday afternoon and help in selecting a man for member of the county board of education to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of L. A. Calloway.

That mass meeting of "Interested Citizens" at the court house last Saturday, according to reports, was a short and sweet occasion. It is reported that there were present at this meeting "of all good citizens of the county regardless of political affiliations" three Democrats and four Republicans. Who these seven were we do not know. For some reason, the philanthropic intention of the gathering to get out a Democratic ticket to run in Chilton County, was thwarted, probably because there were not enough present to "get up steam," or probably it was because someone "put a bug in their ear" as to the illegality of such a concocted convocation. Any way, no ticket was put out.

MacDONALD VS. HUGHES

Neither at home nor abroad can the MacDonald regime in Great Britain get any enthusiastic commendation of its treaty with the Soviet Government. And it gets lots of condemnation from all sides. The Hughes policy has almost universal approval in the United States.

WHY IS IT—

REPUBLICAN CONCORD DEMOCRATIC DISCORD

Washington, Sept. 11.—The widespread spirit of harmony in Republican ranks at the same time that there is disunion among Democrats, constitutes one of the strong assurances of Republican success in November. Not since the nomination of Roosevelt in 1904 has there been such universal satisfaction with a Republican ticket as there has been with Coolidge and Dawes in the campaign of 1924. This satisfaction was forecast by the overwhelming endorsement of Coolidge in the direct primaries in the spring and summer.

On the other hand, there has been epually widespread dissatisfaction with the Democratic ticket, which instructed delegates for various candidates except the one nominated for President. There is not even a semblance of popular government in the Democratic Party if one may judge by the manner in which the wishes of party members were ignored.

Republicans are united not only on the personnel of their ticket but on the principles enunciated in their platforms always have, for a protective tariff. It stands for encouragement of individual initiative and against paternalism. It reasserts the policy of keeping the United States free from European entanglements and in a position to decide for itself what its action shall be upon all international problems as they may arise. It stands for economy in government and for reduction of taxation. It is true that there are some who have classed themselves as Republicans who are not supporting the Republican candidates, but since their support has been undependable in the past this does not constitute a division in the Republican ranks today.

On the other hand, hundreds of thousands of Democrats are dissatisfied not only with the personnel of their ticket but with the principles as set forth in the Democratic platform or advocated by the Democratic candidates. Throughout the Nation there is extreme dissatisfaction with the attitude of the Democratic Party on the tariff question. Leading Democratic business men have joined in forming independent organizations for the fostering of protective tariff sentiment. There is also disagreement with the attitude of the Democratic Party on the subject of the League of Nations, hundreds of thousands of Democrats who left their party on that issue in 1920 indicating their intention to pursue the same course in 1924. Equal and perhaps more vociferous protest is made against the attitude the Democratic candidates have taken on the observance of Defense Day. This feeling was expressed by the letter written and given to the public by Mrs. Clem Shavers, wife of the manager of the Democratic campaign, who vigorously criticized the position taken by Mr. Bryan and endorsed by Mr. Davis. Such a public protest would not have been made by the wife of the Democratic campaign manager unless she felt deeply on the subjest and knew that she was voicing the sentiments of hundreds of thousands of other women of the Democratic faith. A similar embarrassment has confronted the Democratic candidates because so eminent a Democrat as former Ambassador James Gerard has felt impelled to protest against the criticisms that have been aimed at Secretary Hughes because of the treaty affecting Armenia.

It is apparent that the Smith and McAdoo forces will give only half hearted, if any, support to the Democratic ticket.

A RABBI'S VISION

Pacifists mark ministers of the gospel as easy victims of their anti-defense propaganda. Some of them are probably convinced by it, very likely there is just as large a proposition of men of the cloth who combine patriotism with common sense as among any other class of our citizens. The spirit of national defense is not in conflict with any creed, and no religious leader of whatever faith does violence to his tents when he advocates a defense commensurate with American territory, population, and wealth. Vigorous independance is the only assurance that the United States can continue to exercise its great influence toward world peace and harmony.

A Baltimore rabbi declined an invitation with a protest agtinst National Defense Day. His reply indicates a loftiness of thought that should be commanded to all who profess to see something inconsistant between religion and preparedness. "My picture of America," said that Jewish leader, "is of a nation great in wealth and men, but great, too, in character and idealistic purpose; not jealous of other peoples, ready always to help them, but ready to defend its own interests and its honor. Such a nation will merit and receive the respect of the world. Only such a nation can assume a position of material and spiritual leadership among the peoples. To such a leadership I believe we have been called, if we have the vision to see it and the national stamina to achieve it.

FARM FACTS

States having the greatest number of livestock per farm also have the greatest farm income.

When 75 per cent of the cotton produced in the South each year is sold cooperatively a new era will be ushered in for southern farmers.

A good farm garden, a home orchard, and a farm flock will supply over half the needs of a well-filled table all the year.

The Alabama State Fair will be held in Montgomery, November 3-11. It will be one of several big agricultural events of the year.

The poultry department at Auburn has bought and planted 30,000 cabbage plants to produce green feed for chickens during the approaching winter. These plants covered 2 acres, and along with them 5 acres have been planted in rape. Green feed increased egg production.

The Farm Bureau Cotton Association averaged for the 1923 crop 28.69c per pound for middling white cotton. With the exception of war periods this is the highest average price ever received for a cotton crop of Alabama cotton. If cooperative marketing association had not been active in twelve states it is a cinch that the general price level would have been much lower.

In 46 poultry culling demonstrations last year county agents and poultry specialists of Auburn culled 2290 hens. Of this number 1290 were pronounced "culls." In one week these 1290 hens laid 157 eggs while the remaining 100 good hens laid 4,795 eggs. This answers the question: Does poultry culling pay?

25 YEARS AGO

News Items As Published in The Banner in Its Issue of September 7, 1899.

On Wednesday of last week Mr. W. C. Edler of Thorsby was placed in jail at Clanton to serve a term of one year for not being able to furnish a peace bond. It is generally considered the prisoner was tried by a court of injustice.

The youngest child of Mr. Alex Latham of Lawley died Monday evening; burial was at Rehoboth.

Judge S. M. Adams has been appointed vice-president of the Alabama State Fair Association.

The building lot opposite the court house was bought last week by Mr. Evans M. Pinckard for $450. He will build a store house on it.

Married Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. E. C. Jones and Miss Willie Phillips, Rev. S. W. Williams officiating.

Miss Glennie McMorris will leave next Tuesday for Athens, Ala., to attend the Athens Female College.

Whit Gullahorn died in Beaumont, Texas last Sunday.

Married this week—J. W. Harrell and Miss Sara Hawkins, S. R. Thackston and Miss Mary Kelly, John Smitherman and Miss Dovie Dutton, Jesse C. Clemons and Miss Era Skipper, James Alford and Miss Clemy Varden, E. C. Jones and Miss Willie Phillips.

THE DOMINANT ISSUE

The Democratic candidates are trying to create issues instead of discussing the issues that are really before the country. The dominant issue in the minds of the people is tax reduction, and, because there can be no tax reduction unless there is first expense reduction the country is interested in limitation of expense. The Republican Congress, during the last two years of the Democratic Administration, made enormous cuts in the Democratic demands for appropriation. Since then further reductions have been made through the cooperation of the legislative and administrative branch of the Government. Mr. Davis and Mr. Bryan are not willing to go back over the record and make a fair and honest statement of facts as to Democratic demands compared with Republican appropriations. They do not want real issues discussed at all.

THE SAME McADOO

Now the Democratic campaigners are beginning to praise McAdoo evidently in the hope of getting the McAdoo supporters busy in the campaign. But the effort is likely to have an opposite effect. The McAdoo people are likely to say, "If you now find Mr. McAdoo such an able and honorable man, why didn't you nominate him?" After taking 103 ballots to beat McAdoo, it comes with poor grace for the victors to begin to praise him now.

Mr. W. F. Deshazo returned Tuesday from a few days visit to friends in Fort Payne. Mr. Deshazo says everything up there is all right except mighty dry and dusty.

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. W. Z. HODGES, Editor.

Mrs. Heard Entertains.

At her home on Sixth Street, Mrs. Victor Heard entertained the members of the Wednesday Card Club, together with a few friends. The apartments were made beautiful with zenias, pot plants and cut flowers. Score cards in floral design echoed the predominating color note of yellow and white. Bridge was played at four tables and afterwards a salad plate was served. The club prize cards were won by Miss Kathleen Mullins. The club members and a few friends were Mrs. Hance Alred, Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Heard, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Oscr Jones, Mrs. Willys Lyman, Mrs. G. Reynolds, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Frank Callen, Mrs. Carrie Mullins, Mrs. Eric Hart, Mrs. Bill Lanier, Mrs. Kyle, Mrs. Brown and Miss Kathleen Mullins.

Mrs. Jones Entertains.

Mrs. Hugh Jones entertained the members of the Study Club and a few guests last Thursday afternoon. The porch was artistically arranged with vines, cut flowers and pot plants placed here and there. A very interesting program was rendered as the club is studying the "Short Story" this year. A salad plate was served to Mrs. McSwain, Mrs. Gerald, Mrs. Lyman, Mrs. Heard, Mrs. J. P. Hayes, Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Mrs. Hester, Mrs. Gowan, Mrs .Grover Harris, Mrs. Chandler, Mrs. McDavid, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Carrie Mullins, Mrs. Guy Higgins, Mrs. Bill Lanier, Miss Madelyn Orr and Miss Jennie Clark.

Middleton - Longshore Wedding.

A pretty, quiet wedding was that of Mrs. Jatie Middleton and Judge Will Longshore of Columbiana, which occured at the home of Mrs. W. W. Wallace. Mrs. Middleton is a talented musician, being well known in Clanton and Chilton County. Judge Longshore, formerly Judge of the 18th judicial circuit, is one of the leading attorneys of the State.

The groom is the daughter of Mrs. John T. Ellis of Clanton and the niece of Mrs. E. E. Upchurch, and is prominently known here as a most accomplished musician and lovable lady.

The entire community unites in wishing her and her husband many happy years of marital happiness.

The card club will meet with Mrs. Oscar Jones next Wednesday afternoon on First Avenue.

Miss Sophie Mullins gave a dance Friday evening at the Wilson Hotel. Punch was served throughout the evening to about twenty of the younger set.

Miss Ruth Prince and her mother, who have spent two weeks in Detroit, Mich. ,with Mr. J. F. Prince, returned Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Julius Reynolds and little daughter returned home after several weeks' visit to relatives and friends in Clanton.

Miss Margarite Smith returned to her oome in Columbiana last week, after a very pleasant visit to her many friends she made while in school here last year.

Prof. and Mrs. Caldwell of Isabella who are teaching in the agricultural school at that place were in town on Thursday.

Miss Sarah Luckie of Montgomery is spending the week end with Miss Lurline Minor.

Miss Mary Monk of Birmingham, who has spent several days with relatives in Clanton returned home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Prince are receiving congratulations this week over the arrival of a bouncing baby boy, weighing 10 1-2 pounds.

Mrs. Bill Lanier of Birmingham, who has spent some time with her sister, Mrs. Eric Hart, left for her home last week.

Mrs. Brown, who has been visiting her sister, left Friday for her home in New Orleans.

Mrs. Phillips left last Friday for Prattville, where she will spend some time with her daughter, Mrs. Duncan.

Messrs. Joseph Hester and Raymond Roberts left for Auburn Monday to be in school for the next year.

Mr. John Ellis, Jr., left Wednesday for Howard College.

Miss Sallye Johnson went to Danville, Va., Monday, where she will be in school for the next year.

Mr. Rucker Sims will attend school at Auburn this year.

Mrs. J. A. Dubose and daughters, Myrtle and Hellen Frances, of Birmingham are visiting the formers sister, Mrs. G. M. Wyatt. They left on Monday for Montgomery to visit friends a few days before going to New Orleans.

Mr. Tommie Patterson from Bessemer spent the week end with his sister, Mrs. Monroe Wyatt.

Dr. Langston of Birmingham visited our town last week.

Judge Sally of Ozark, was in our city last week on business.

Mr. Ralph Garner of Ozark, who married a Clanton girl, Miss Emit Matthews, stopped over for a couple of days.

It is correctly reported that Mr. John W. Stanfield and family are to return to Clanton in the near future to make their home here again.

Mrs. E. A. Matthews spent several days in Clanton on her way to Florida to spend the winter.

Miss Sophie Mullins will leave Monday to enter school at the University of Madison, Wisconsin.

Miss Mary Sue Mullins has left for New Orleans, where she will resume her studies of medicine. Enroute she will stop over at Fort Worth, Texas to spend a while with a friend.

Mrs. Kyle, who has been spending some time with her daughter, Mrs. Victor Heard, returned to her home in Decatur last week.

Mr. J. C. Jones spent two days in Montgomery this week.

Mr. T. R. Price of Montgomery, who is employed by the Alabama Power Company, was in town this week investigating plans to run a sub-line out a few miles north of town up the Lock 12 highway.

MAPLESVILLE DOTS

The weather is hot and dry here, although the drouth was broken here by a very good rain. The fields are white with cotton; the cotton crops are all good.

Our Sunday School, B. Y. P. U., G. A. S., and R. A. S. are still very good, we are glad to report.

Next Sunday, September 14th is our regular preaching day at the Methodist church. Everybody come.

A truck load from here motored to Lock 12 Sunday and spent the day.

Misses Rena and Gladys Blount have just returned home to Tampa, Fla., after the summer's visit in Ala.

Mrs. Ila Shoults and little son, Charles of Shoults spent a few days last week with her sister in law, Mrs. Anna Latham.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Jeffcoat, who has lived here about 15 years, have moved to Birmingham. We hate to see them leave, but we are all hoping they will like their new home.

Mr. G. C. Kemp and Mr. Cleveland McGee of Birmingham spent the week end here.

Mrs. Charley Seals and little son, Van, are spending a few days in Montgomery with her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Henderson.

Misses Brady McAfee and Davis Bearden of Fremont were visiting here Sunday.

Mr. Wheeler Walker has returned home after a few day's visit to Quincey, Fla., visiting his sister, Mrs. Willie Hicks.

Mrs. Ocell Powell of Troy spent the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Clemon last week.

Mrs. R. R. Seals and son, Kelly, have returned home after a week's visit to Lathrop, Reform, Manchester and Birmingham.

Mr. Leighton Parnell, who has been off to school has returned home for a visit.

Dr. Fred Cobern of Birmingham spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clint Cobern.

Mr. Clyde Cobern of Birmingham has moved back to Maplesville.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

We have company! Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chase, who live near Five Points in Birmingham, Ala. Mr. Chase is superintendent of The Aetna Powder Plant at North Birmingham, a unit of The Hercules Powder Company, by whom our son, Sereno G. Norton is employed in their experiment station at Kenvil, New Jersey, where we are visiting. Mr. Chase was superintendent of the Bacchus, Utah, plan of the Hercules Company, where our son was employed for about two years and both he and his wife became intimate friends and close neighbors of the Chase's. Before he went to Bacchus Mr. Chase held an important position with The Hercules Company at Kenvil, he then lived at Dover, N. J., about four miles from Kenvil. There he met and married his wife who with their little son are visiting with her parents at Dover, and many other friends in the vicinity. They will leave for home in a few days, going via steamer from New York to Jacksonville, and by rail to Birmingham, where they expect to arrive at the end of their two weeks vacation. They are delightful people, whom we hope some day to welcome to our Thorsby home.

Ten Weeks To Grow a Crop! Can our Alabama farmers beat it? Many of our readers will remember our detailed description of preparation of the soil and sowing a field of millet near our temporary home during the last days of June. Today we passed the field and saw that it had been mowed as hay, and was already raked and piled into Hayvocks. We stopped to examine it and found that the stalks and leaves make splendid hay, something between Johnson grass and Timothy hay, while the head of each stalk, three or four inches long and more than 1-4 inch diameter is filled with seed, which many people use to feed their pet birds and is rich grain for horses, mules or stock. All grown in ten weeks and upwards of a ton per acre. More than this, there is a good root growth and the stubble to plow in for fertilizer for the next crop which might well be winter wheat. As we ride about we see many fields of Buckwheat, another short time crop, now in full bloom. Buckwheat makes a superior kind of griddle cakes, when properly ground as most any northern person will tell you, or it would be profitable to let hogs and chickens harvest it and trample down the straw to plow under.

Our Alabama soil needs deeper plowing, with ore power, horse, mule or tractor to do it, and more humus, rotting vegetation, to hold moisture and prevent leaching out of the commercial fertilizer used. Short-time crops will help a lot in this matter.

After 21 years residence in Thorsby, we know right well that we have farmers who practice these essentials in their work, but they are still so few that it makes but little difference with our aggregate annual output.

We wish our Alabama farmers could see some of these New Jersey farms. Nowhere will you find scrub stock. Dairying is one industry very prevalent here, and as we ride around we see their herds of Holsteins, great big cows with their peculiar black and white coats, and bags as big as a bushel basket. When in full milk these cows give down two to four gallons at a milking, and good milk too as we know from daily use of it on our table. They are probably the best general purpose bovine stock a man can grow. For milk, butter or beef, they are superb. No farmer here has any use for a 900-pound horse; mules are seldom seen on farms here. We have seen one yoke of oxen, big fellows, not runts. Their teams can pull a 12-in. plow cutting six inches deep, all day long, and they turn the soil upside down, not set up on edge. Their growing season is not more than half what Alabama farmers have, and yet they live well in comfortable houses. Their big barns are filled to overflowing, their stock is well cared for, and when they have something to sell it is usually high-grade and brings the best market prices. They do not depend on one crop farming; their farms are not large, while land is worth from two to three hundred dollars per acre, and taxes are around five dollars per hundred, he must work his land for all there is in it, to make money. While the Alabama farmer buys and almost wholly depends on commercial fertilizer, the New Jersey farmer is manufacturing tons of the very best kind, by growing crops he can feed to cattle, sheep and hogs or chickens, building meat and eggs for cash, and putting his home made fertilizer back on the land. By his method his farm grows more fertile each year, because he does not rob the roil, but makes deposits in his soil bank that he can draw on to carry on his business.

In one respect the New Jersey farmer has a great advantage. His market is close at hand for anything he can produce that humans can use. We are daily served by truck growers with vegetables they raise. Even in winter, since most of them have frost-proof cellars for storing apples and vegetables. Our milkman has a big route he serves with milk from his own herd and bottled on his own premises under state supervision.

We see but small change for improvement for any Alabama farmer who cannot cultivate a wider vision, and for self-protection, be willing to co-operate with others not only in marketing what he produces, but in getting top prices for what he grows by having an interest in factories that will turn it into finished products. That's where the money is made. All over this northland, be it city or village, you find factories, many of them buy the products of Southern farmers, turn it into finished products and send it back for him to buy at many times what he received for it.

Here is an illustration from our own experience. We bought from one of our Thorsby merchants a shirt. It appeared to be of good quality and we paid $2.00 for it. We wore it until it became soiled and had it washed. We noticed it had lost so much of its weight that we were curious to know just how much it did weigh anyway. Having a postal scale which weighs very accurately, we put it on, and found we had exactly four ounces of cotton in the shirt. $2.00 for four ounces is $8.00 per pound, $800 per 100, $4000 per bale. Of course we must deduct from this a liberal allowance for transportation, waste in working it up, interest on capital invested, expenses in salaries and labor, incidentals such as insurance and taxes, costs of selling and whatever else should be drawn from it, in order to successfully conduct the business, but against this we must consider what can be gotten out of about 1000 pounds of seed which belongs to every 500-pound bale of cotton, and it is by no means a small item.

In a recent letter we said something about the manufacture of artificial silk. We have since learned from a reliable source that the material used for this purpose is the fuzz left on cotton seed as it comes from the gin. We still have the oil and oil cake, or perhaps the cotton seed meal.

After considering all these factors, does it not appear entirely probable that there is still a big margin for net profit for every item of manipulation in turning this raw material into finished product.

Nature has endowed Alabama with untold wealth in raw material, but comparatively few of her citizens have availed themselves of the benefits to be derived from converting it into finished products, hence the poverty of most of them.

Having spent upwards of thirty years in a manufacturing business we know whereof we speak, or write, and we fully believe the day is coming when either her own citizens or others, if they fail to grasp their opportunities, will reap the harvests waiting to be gathered.

A sojourn in this land which has profited by using the gifts which God has placed within the reach of mankind and endowed him with power to use, creates within us an intense desire and an earnest prayer that our home folks may secure to themselves these God-given bounties.

GIFT FOR PRINCE

HERE we have Pete Vandermeer, an American cowboy, pictured on the dock at Wembley, England with a special broncho—a splendid specimen of horse flesh which he later presented to his majesty, the Prince of Wales. Pete was a member of the American Rodeo squad which contended for honors in the recent International Rodeo held in the English city.

At the time this picture was made, Pete and the peppy-looking broncho in his tow, had just stepped from the ocean liner to stretch and recover their "land legs." That broncho sure is a beauty but the way it holds its ears back, we fear the Prince of Wales is going to have many hair raising experiences on its back. Reports, however, have it that this majesty is very much pleased with the "hoss" and appreciates the generosity of his American cowboy friends.

SHILOH SINGING

I wish to announce that the singing at this place will be on next Sunday, P. M. September, 14th instead of September 21, on account of the county singing convention meeting at Sardis on the third Sunday.

Professors W. M. DeVaughn, I. D. Huett and O. L. DeVaughn will be present. Also a number of other visiting singers.

Everybody come out and bring your 1924 song books and do your best to make this singing one of the best.

Singing will begin at 2:30 o'clock. Come out and help make it one that is really worth while.

PLEASANT GROVE

There will be a singing at this place Sunday afternoon, Sept. 14th.

The church is about seven and one half miles Southeast of Clanton, on the Clanton and Billingsley road.

This is the first meeting of the society since it was organized, and the writer is indeed glad to know that the people of Pleasant Grove Community have seen fit to organize a society.

It was my pleasure and happy privilege to stand before the swift little class at this place, for twenty days as teacher this summer, and I know I can safely say that more interest was shown by both the young and old than I believe I ever saw manifested before at any place.

It was the first school to be held at that place in several years and from that we know that the cause of singing and also the society at this place are yet in the earliest stage.

So let's everybody that can try to be over there next Sunday afternoon to help them get started off, and to prove by our presence that we are interested in them and are wishing the, "God speed" with the noble work of singing.

Very truly yours,
A. D. HUETT.

The Fall Opening of Fine Apparel

So much of the enjoyment of life depends upon the loveliness and correctness of apparel; so thoroughly does it enter every event, that the ingenuity and talent devoted to its perfection are repaid in full measure.

The beauty of the Autumn mode is richly exemplified in our displays of new apparel. The character of new fashions is well defined in the fine artistry of design and in the emphasis on handsome fabrics seen in models for both day and evening wear.

BATTLEFIELD OF ANTIETAM VISITED BY LOCAL MARINE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 9.—Viewing the old battlefield where the armies of McClellan and Lee fought for supremacy in the Civil War, Russell Clarence Peterson, son of Mr. Martin C. Peterson of Thorsby, Chilton County, Ala., is with the U. S. Marines who traveled afoot and by motor truck 125 miles from their barracks at Quantico, Va., to hold field exercises at Antietam.

On this historic spot near Sharpsburg, Md., the Marine Corps Expeditionary Force, commanded by Brigadier General Dion Williams, is reenacting some of the incidents of the famous battle, using modern military weapons while skirmishing over the ground where the blue and gray soldiers fought in 1862.

Field exercises, reviews, parades and visits to nearby points of interest form a lively program of events, which will end when the force returns to Quantico late this month, after an absence of nearly 4 weeks. The Marines will encamp overnight at selected places along the route.

Russell is 19 years old and was born at Thorsby. He joined the Marine Corps at Birmingham several months ago, and is now with the 20th Company 5th Regiment. Several young men from Alabama are taking part in the exercises.

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH.

Under an ad for gasoline
The village smithy stands;
He's agent for the Jinx machine
And several other brands.
He hasn't shod a horse for years
For fear he'd soil his hands.

Hewears a gold watch on his wrist,
A pearl pin in his tie;
His links are made of amethyst—
The finest he could buy.
There's not a thing the smithy wears
That dosn't please the eye.

Week in, week out, from morn to night
He sees the autos come,
With brakes that are not working right
And axles on the bum,
With gas, repairs and grease and oil
He makes a tinty sum.

He has a staff of skilled men
That numbers twenty-four,
Who toil from 6 a. m. 'till 10,
And sometimes even more.
The smithy never does a stroke—
He thinks that work's a bore.

The children coming home from school
Look in at the open door,
And laugh to see some city fool
Set up an awful roar,
When called to pay a whooping bill
The smithy has soaked him for.

He goes on Sunday to the Kirk,
His mind quite free from cares,
Because his men are hard at work
With punctures and repairs.
And if the weather's fine and warm
The smith says grateful prayers.

Oiling, refilling and repairing—
Onward through life he goes.
And never once despairing
So long as his income grows.
Each night the thought of some one
Augments his sweet repose.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager.)

(Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald, Asst. Mgr.)

One of the most delightful events of the season was a miscellaneous shower, given last Friday afternoon at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Each in honor of Miss Lorena Graham, the charming daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. M. Graham. Miss Graham is to be married September 18th.

The house was prettily decorated the scheme color being yellow and white. As the guests arrived each was asked to register in the Brides Book. Mrs. C. R. Foss presided at the piano and as the music began Miss Graham, accompained by Misses Edith Robinson and Mary Ellen Gerald, marched to the seat of honor under an arch in yellow and white, Mrs. Ethel Lovelady gave a very touching and yet humorous address, composed in ryhme, telling of Miss Lorena's courtship extending over several years and how despite the "social rules" of Thorsby Institute Miss Graham was about to wed John Ford. Masters Leonard Boseworth and Carl Foss, two little three year olds drew in a well loaded "Ford" wagon of gifts and placed it before the bride to be. After the gifts were opened and admired, delicious refreshments were served to a large number of guests.

The following taken from the Laporte, Ind., Hearld will be of interest to many Thorsby friends, Mrs. Palmer being formerly of Thorsby:—

Palmer - Peterson

A pretty home wedding took place at 8:30 Saturday evening, when Miss Ruth Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Emily S. Peterson, became the bride of Albert L. Palmer. The single ring ceremony was read before an altar of palms and flowers, arranged in the living room, by the Rev. A. M. Nelson, pastor of the Bethany Lutheran church. Miss Naemi Turnquist of Thorsby and Miss Florence Thorson of Maseca, Minn., sang a duet "I love you truly" by Carrie Jacobs Bond preceding the ceremony. Miss Turnquist played Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the entry of the bridal party. The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Carl Peterson, wore a charming frock of pondre blue canton crepe with lace of white roses. She was attended by Miss Ruth Siljestrom of Chicago as maid of honor. Miss Siljestrom wore blue beaded georgette and carried pink roses. Clarence Patriquin served as best man.

A four-course wedding dinner was served following the ceremony. Appointments were made for 21 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer left Saturday night for an automobile trip to Washington, D. C., and other eastern points of interest, after which they will make their home here. The bride groom is employed at the J. C. Perry store, and Mrs. Palmer was employed at the U. S. Slicing Machine Co.'s office.

Miss Alma Lefstead left Sunday morning to take up her work as a teacher at Myrtlewood, Marengo county, Alabama.

Miss Mabel Howard gave a party at her home last evening. The following guests were present: Misses Rosa and Anna Nelson, Mary Ella and Iola Gerald, Beatrice Johnson, Esther Johnson, and Messrs. Waldemar Lefstead, Palmer Lefstead, Martin Nelson, Varner Carlson, George Johnson, Varner Carlson and rnold Soberg. Refreshments were served late in the evening.

Thorsby Public School opened on Monday morning with the following teachers in charge: Prof. C. M. Williams, principal; Miss Lena Franklin, grammar grade; Miss Jessie Mims, intermediate; and Miss Etta Foshee, primary. A large attendance is expected for this year.

Misses Mary Ella Gerald and Margaret Butler left Tuesday morning for Demorest, Ga., where they will attend Piedmont College.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Adams and little daughter, Elizabeth, were visitors at the C. M. Williams home last Sunday.

Mr. Nels Nelson left Monday for Auburn, where he will take up his school work as a student.

Mrs. A. E. Reagan and two young nieces, Kathryn and Edith Foss were visitors in Birmingham last Friday and Saturday.

Rev. J. C. Whorton and Jimmie Goeman were visitors at the home of Wm. Billingsley last Friday.

Mr. John Ford of Binghampton, N. Y., arrived in Thorsby Monday and spent two days here. They will go on to Montgomery for a short visit.

Miss Anna Werness and Mr. Carl Langville and family were visitors at the home of Mrs. Martha Grothy.

Mr. Carey Martin moved into the Gulledge Hotel building last week and will run a boarding house.

Mr. Tom Leslie spent last week in Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lucas of West Blocton visited at the home of their sister, Mrs. Ed Piper, last week.

Mrs. Harry Thompson, now of Birmingham, is spending a week in Thorsby at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Paxson.

Miss Naemi Turnquist and little niece, Ruth Foss, returned home last Saturday after having spent a month in LePorte, Ind., and Waseca, Minn.

Mr. P. W. Peterson of Texas was a visitor in Thorsby last week.

Miss Eunice Parnell, sister of Mrs. C. S. Wood, is spending some time visiting her sister in Thorsby.

At a meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association held at the theatre building, the following officers were elected: Mrs. C. H. Howard, president; Mrs. J. H. Goddard, vice-president; Mrs. C. E. Bice, treasurer and Miss Etta Foshee, secretary. The association voted a loan of $200 for use in completing the new school building.

Misses Jennie and Edith Robinson left Wednesday to attend Cumberland University at Lebanon, Tenn.

Miss Elizabeth Gilbert of Miami, Fla., arrived Tuesday to enroll as a student at Thorsby Institute.

Don't forget the town election to be held Monday, Sepember 15th, at which a mayor and five aldermen will be elected.

Miss Esther Johnson, who has been spending the summer in Birmingham and Louisville, Ky., arrived home last Friday. She expects to leave again in about a week to take up college work.

An experiment in highway work, which is expected to determine whether treatment of sand-clay road surfaces with oil will do away with dust and mud, and at the same time prove as cheap, as renewing a sandy-clay surface, is now being carried out by the state highway department near Banks, Pike county, on the Bee Line highway. At this point oil is being placed on about a mile of sand-clay road. The oil was donated by the Standard Oil company. It may be found that by oiling sand-clay roads will maintain them adequately at less or no greater expense than resurfacing every 12 months, at the same time doing away with dust and mud.

For the first time in her history Alabama has passed the billion-dollar mark in taxable values, according to tabulations made by the state tax commission. This represents a large increase over the 1923 assessment and will result in swelling to the total receipts from ad valorem taxes. Beginning right after October 1 the special agents will start on the quadrennial appraisement of all property in the state, and it is believed that when they are through the present billion-dollar mark will have been largely exceeded.

Mr. W. D. Duff, Joe Alois and Edd Boiles of Birmingham spent Sunday as guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bruce.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY OF CLANTON COUPLE

Many friends over the State will be interested in the fact that last Sunday marked the golden anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh W. Foshee of Clanton.

The date falling on Sunday, would not really have deterred them from celebrating the event. The chances are there would have been no celbration any way; for these substantial folks enjoy one another fully and are not given over to idle demonstration. Mr. Foshee loved the "slip of a girl" whom he made his wife fifty years ago. Parental objections had amounted to naught. The newly-weds fled to a distant State, established a home and sought prosperity. Fortune favored. Efforts of those years bear the fruit that alleviates the discomforts of age.

The Foshee home was blest with two children. The son grew to manhoow, became married, and shortly thereafter died. Blanche Foshee was wed to Renfro Mullins of Clanton. There are three children of this household, a daughter and two sons. These are the grand children of Mr. and Mrs. Foshee. They attend school in Montgomery. Marzelle Mullins is of the 1925 class of the Womans College.

On the morning their golden anniversary, Mr. Foshee made his accustomed trip to the post office, then spent probably an idle hour planning a minor fishing trip. Mrs. Foshee attended her church services. He is a big-hearted fellow, who ever responds to the needs of the less fortunate. She has ever been a leader in any work for the promotion of church and public welfare.

During Sunday afternoon, friends called on the bride and groom of fifty years to extend congratulations and to express best wishes. These friends listened with interest to the rehearsal of old time experiences.

Mrs. Foshee was induced to read "Retrospection," a poem that she lately composed, from which the following lines are taken:

A maid and her lover embarked on Hyman's Sea;
Light-hearted, hopeful and happy was she.
Though the journey was clouded by the farewell scene;
Fond parents were cold, and stern was their mein.
Young Lochinvar embraced his fair and girlish wife;
He swore that she would ever be dearer than life.

The Reaper came one dismal day—
Angels took our precious son away.
We are grateful for the daughter, who with us remains,
Brightening the remnant of our life as it wanes.

Our grand-children! How precious are they,
Affording more and more comfort on each succeeding day.
Till in fancy, life's panorama gleams with a roseate hue,—
But Lochinvar calls! Yes, dear, I knew 'twas you.

SPECIAL PROGRAM TO BE HELD HERE BY BAPTIST S. S.

Missionary Program to be Put on by Students on Sunday, September 28th, 1924.

The year's work of the Canton Baptist Sunday School, under the superintendency of Mr. G. C. Armstrong and the present corps of teachers, will close in a few weeks, and Mr. Armstrong and his teachers are planning to present the pupils in a special missionary program on Sunday, September 28th. The classes will assemble at the usual hour, 9:45, and the special program will begin at 10:20. The special program of the pupils of the school will last about 40 minutes, after which Dr. Ezell, the pastor, will take charge and make a talk along the lines of the mission idea.

Mr. Armstrong especially requests the parents of his pupils and members of the church to be present at this hour. He is winding up this year's work as Superintendent, and he and the 27 teachers of the school want you to come out and see what your children have been doing at Sunday School the past year. These 27 faithful teachers and the devoted Superintendent have done lots of hard and conscientious work in training over 200 pupils in all classes. The average attendance of the junior department, in which there are 13 teachers, for the past year is 109. The average attendance in the senior department is less, although there are more enrolled in this department than in the junior.

One can readily see from the above figures that the teachers and superintendent have had a tremendous job on their hands, which has required lots of tedious and persistent work. So, every parent is urged to show your appreciation by coming out and witnessing this program on Sunday, September 28th. The public has a cordial invitation to attend.

WHISKEY, BEER AND BRANDY CAPTURED BY LAW OFFICERS

Sheriff Littlejohn, with the help of W. H. Gillespie, Harvey Foshee and Law Enforcement Officers Smith and Tranum poured out five 60-gallon barrels of beer near the home of Hamp Foshee, between Adams and Stanton last Wednesday morning. The still had been removed.

On the same day the officers went up near Waldrop School House in the north-west part of the county and destroyed part of a still together with ten barrels of beer. While they were making this raid the officers heard some guns shoot a mile or two away, which they took to be signals from a spy to the operators of another still. The officers rushed over there and found that the operators had just taken off part of the still and left seven barrels of peach and apple beer and three gallons of peach brandy.

On Saturday afternoon the sheriff caught Walt Smith in the swamp between town and Uncle Lige Parrish's with about a quart of whiskey. There was another fellow with Smith but he got away. As Smith was running from the officers he broke his bottle of whiskey and thoroughly saturated the front of his clothes with it. Smith was arrested and made bond.

COMMISSIONERS AWARD POOR HOUSE CONTRACT

At the special session of Commissioners Court last Thursday it was decided that the same old houses on the county poor farm be rebuilt and used for the present. A new house will be built for the keeper, and a dining hall will also be built.

The contract for keeping the paupers for the next 12 months was let to Mr. W. C. Burnett of New Salem, the consideration being $11.00 per month.

THANKS TOWN OFFICIALS

The Civic Improvement Club wishes to take this opportunity to thank the town officials for the nice thorough clean-up of the Clanton Cemetery. The walks and the enclosures and in perfect shape, and the removal of some unsightly trees and shrubbery makes quite an attractive appearance. The Club also wishes to thank Mrs. Kicker, the general chairman, who has given generously of her time and effort for weeks superintending and assisting in this work.

STORM DOES BIG DAMAGE THROUGH STATE OF GEORGIA

Whole Village In Georgia Is Wiped Out by Wind; Nine Inches Rain Falls In One Hour

Macon, Ga., Sept. 16.—Two persons were dead and a half dozen or more others injured as a result of the storm that has been sweeping through southern Georgia.

In Nashville, Ga., tonight, an electric wire that had been torn loose last night, crippling the electric light service, fell when the current was turned on and killed R. M. Crism, 65, proprietor of a general store.

The storm reached the proportions of a tornado in the vicinity of Browntown, 25 miles from Brunswick and killed one person and injured a half dozen others. The five-year-old daughter of William Penn, timekeeper for the Hercules Powder Co., was killed instantly.

The Penn home was demolished. Mrs. Penn was badly injured as was an infant daughter. A half dozen other homes near the Penn residence were wrecked.

Three negroes were caught under the debris of one building, all of them sustaining injuries.

The tornado struck the village about 10 a.m., and lasted only a short time. Physicians from nearby towns hastened to the scene to render aid. They reported tonight that every building in the little town had been blown down.

In Thomasville a record rainfall was reported, nearly nine inches in 24 hours. Similar reports were received from Valdosta and other towns along the Florida line.

No one was injured in other cities in southern Georgia, so far as can be ascertained tonight though many of the towns are cut off from the outside world, wires being down. The roads are impassable.

TUSCALOOSA G.O.P. PUTS OUT A TICKET IN THAT COUNTY

Effort will be Made to Elect Members of the County Board of Revenue.

Tuscaloosa, Ala., Sept. 15.—Dr. J. H. Cooper, chairman of the Tuscaloosa County Republican Executive Committee, announces that a ticket in opposition to members of the county board of revenue nominated in the Democratic primary will be placed in the field in the Novmber general election. It was also announced that Allison P. Scogins, Republican, has qualified as elector from the sixth congressional district in the presidential election. Members announced for the board of revenue are C. M. Ayers, M. L. Franch and J. E. McCorry. Alison P. Scogins was chosen to make the race as a member of the county board of education.

SUGGESTION ABOUT ROADS

I would suggest that each road supervisor report to his commissioner in his district the number of public roads in his Beat, also the number of miles of roads and bridges in his Beat, the number of miles of roads that is on record not correct. There has been a number of roads discontinued and some new roads added on. This can be done without any cost to the county.

Yours truly,
C. T. WALKER.

DR. GRAGG AND OLD COUNCIL RE-ELECTED BY CITY MONDAY

At the municipal election in Clanton Monday, Dr. V. J. Gragg was re-elected mayor over Dr. J. P. Hayes with a majority of 30 votes. The same council was also re-elected by big majorities over those of the new ticket. The councilmen, who were re-elected were: J. B. Atkinson, Dr. N. S. Johnson, J. Watts Moore, J. P. Lawrence and M. L. White.

This election was the culmination of quite a heated little political campaign between the present city administration and the new ticket headed by Dr. J. P. Hayes.

TAKES BALE OF COTTON AWAY FROM MAN'S FIELD

Last Monday night, Mr. W. O. Deloach left a bale of seed cotton piled up near the highway on his place below town. He went there the next morning to get the cotton only to find that someone had come there with a truck and hauled it off during the night. So far as we could learn, no trace can be made of the thief.

UNION GROVE

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words of this place.

Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching days. Two interesting sermons were delivered by our pastor, Rev. W. P. Lowery.

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon with a very good crowd, considering the weather, and we had a good singing. Directors for the afternoon were E. L. Glasscock, Gresham Lowery, O. B. Robinson, Enoch Foshee, Akins Collins and A. H. Glasscock. Organists were Misses Emma Campbell and Myrtle Dorminey.

We had with us Rev. Robert E. Massey of Tarrant City, who made a very interesting talk after the directors had sung. Bro. Massey has been helping in a revival at Oak Hill for the past week and we were glad to have him with us.

The society will meet with Collins Chapel next Sunday. Let's every body go and help keep our society going and growing.

Miss Myrtle Dorminey of Birmingham spent the week end with home folks.

Misses Pearl Chandler and Vergie Cost spent Sunday with Miss Delene Collum.

Misses Mollie and Hattie Vinzant of Siluria spent Sunday with Misses Iris and Edna Robinson.

Messrs. Arthur and Bernie Chandler spent the week end with home folks.

Miss Eunice Harris and mother, of Calera spent Sunday with Rev. and Mrs. T. W. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Martin and family of Siluria was visiting in this community Sunday.

Misses Rebecca Dorminey and Amy Robinson dined with Misses Florence and Lula Cofer Sunday.

Mr. Leonrd Martin and Misses Euna Davis and Eunice Harris motored to Lock 12 Sunday afternoon and reported a nice time.

Miss Annice Davis spent a while with Miss Amy Robinson Sunday evening.

Mrs. Greene Dorminey spent Saturday afternoon with Miss Edna Robinson.

Miss Pearl Chandler visited Miss Lessie Vinzant Saturday afternoon.

ONE DAY'S COTTON RECEIPTS BREAK PREVIOUS RECORDS

Twelve Hundred Bales of New Crop Received by Alabama Farm Bureau; Better Prices Predicted.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 16.—12 hundred bales of new cotton were received by the Alabama Farm Bureau Cotton Association Monday, making a new high record for one day's receipts in Montgomery.

Allen Northington, manger of the association, stated that four times as much new crop cotton had been received up to Monday as in the same period of last year. This statement was verified by President J. S. Kernachan and Treasurer H. S. Houghton of the association.

Mr. Northington added that he had just returned from a trip through Limestone, Madison, Marshall, Etowah, DeKalb and Cherokee counties and that the members of the Cotton association there were feeling very much satisfied over the prospects. The association will get considerably more cotton from these counties than last year, but will not be "dumped" on the present market, he said.

W. E. Ellsberry, well known planter of Montgomery county, who has been doing field work for the cotton association in ten counties of this district, reported Monday that the farmers are well satisfied with the work of the association and that all the cotton of the members will be pooled again this year. In addition many new members have been obtained throughout the district.

Better Prices Predicted.

The cotton association officers are not alarmed by the drop in cotton prices during the past ten days. They say that no power on earth can keep many farmers from rushing their cotton to market as fast as ginned in the fact of a forecasted 13,000,000 bale crop, and that there is no hope for better prices as ong as this dumping continues. While buyers in the country districts can get all the cotton they want at practically their own prices, the market is in a slump, but the volume of cotton offered is going to drop off in October, according to the best authorities, and later in the year the prices will be back to normal.

The fact that other states have suffered from prolonged drought and that the drought in Aabama has played havoc with the expected big production, is taken to indicate that cotton prices will be on the upturn after the next government estimate is published. Men close to the cotton farmers do not now look for a crop of 13,000,000 bales, in fact, thep say that if the other states were hit as badly as Alabama, they will be surprised to see the season wind up with 12,000,000 bales.

In view of the early restoration of European trading on a big scale and the probable demand of the world's consuming centers for twelve million bales, cotton association officers look to the future without any misgiving and they figure that good prices will be obtained by the time the association's cotton is marketed.

SOUTH CALERA

Miss Dora Campbell is now at home visiting her mother, Mrs. C. Campbell.

Miss Ruth Mooney of Columbiana come down Sunday to be ready to take up her school Monday morning. We are glad to have her back again in the community this year as a teacher.

Mr. E. D. Crim returned to Cherokee Bluff Thurgday to take up his work there.

Little Miss Aileen Crim returned home on last Sunday after a three week's visit to her aunt, Mrs. Badie Watts of Birmingham.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Busby of Pelham were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Saturday night and Sunday.

Mrs. John Roberts of Pelham and Miss Inez Roberts spent Monday with Mrs. Vader Roberts of South Calera.

The revival meeting at the Methodist church in Calera closed Sunday night. Rev. Steil assisted Rev. Thornburg in the meeting.

Mrs. Jessie Cox spent last Thursday with Mrs. H. L. Foshee in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Badie Watts and children of Ensley were down last week visiting Mrs. Watts' mother, Mrs. E. D. Crim.

Mr. G. T. Lee and daughter, Olene, went to Birmingham to spend a few days this week.

MUSIC TEACHING

I am giving piano lessons Tuesday and Friday of each week across street from high school building in the Ed Plier residence. If interested please see me and arrange for lesson period. Examination and credit units will be given.

CLANTON SECTION IN BIRMINGHAM NEWS

Last Sunday a full page of buildings, people and natural scenes of Clanton was run in the gravure section of The Birmingham News. These pictures were very beautiful and showed very strikingly some of the beauty of our little city.

The Birmingham News is to be commended for the spiendid work it is doing in placing before the public the beautiful side of the towns and cities of the State. Their gravure section is quite an attractive adjunct to that great publication.

FORD TURNED OVER

Last Saturday morning Allie Easterling, son of Lewis Easterling, brought his father to town in their Ford car. As the boy was returning something went wrong with the car in front of the home of Mr. John Parrish and it turned over. The top and wind shield of the car were demolished, but Allie was unhurt. It hurt Lewis worse than it did Allie, although he was in town when it happened.

PAUPERS FEWEST IN LAST 20 YEARS IN UNITED STATES

Number Drops from 84,198 in 1910 to 78,090 on January 1, Last Year.

Washington, Sept. 16.—There are fewer paupers in alms houses in the United States than there have been in the last 20 years and the number per 100,000 of population is smaller than it ever has been in the history of the country as far as the government's records show.

There were 78,090 paupers in alms house on January 1 last year compared with 84,198 in 1910, when the last census of the kind was taken the census bureau announced today. The number per 100,000 of population was 71.5 as compared with 101.5 in 1910 and 130.0 in 1880.

WM. R. BAKER PETITIONED FOR COUNTY SCHOOL BOARD

At the mass meeting last Saturday at the court house, there were more than one hundred Republicans present from every beat in the county. As announced, the purpose of the meeting was to consider and advise regarding the filling of the vacancy on the school board caused by the resignation of L. A. Calloway. A petition was drawn up at this mass meeting and unanimously signed by those present requesting that the name of Wm. R. Baker be entered on the official ballot next November.

Mr. Baker was a candidate for the county board of education in the Republican primary election in May, this year, he having stood second among the four candidates for this office. In the primary election Mr. Baker received 212 first-choice and 7 second-choice votes. The meeting expressed itself as being very much in favor of Mr. Baker being the candidate for this vacancy.

CHICAGO-FLORIDA HIGHWAY TO PASS THROUGH CLANTON

Representatives of the Association Were In Clanton Last Thursday In Interest of Road.

Representatives of the Chicago-Florida Highway Association, A. B. Steward, the assistant manager, and B. D. Robinson, special correspondent for the Pensacola News, in a talk with the editor last week, stated that it is the intention of the association to include Clanton on the route of this cross-country highway.

They arrived in Clanton and remained here over night last Thursday. Mr. Steward is driving the Pathfinding Car of the association north to Nashville on a logging trip. The Route, or Log Book which they are compiling will contain write-ups of all the towns and cities along the way, as well as detailed tourist information concerning roads, hotels, garages, etc. The mention of hotels, garages and tourist camps along the way will compose the Log Book's nearest approach to advertising, as the Chicago-Florida Highway Association will defray the expenses of compiling and distributing these books by the thousands.

The aim of this association is, of course, the directing of tourist travel from the Middle Northern and other states north of the Ohio through the towns along their route during the fall and winter season of tourist travel to the peninsula of Florida. The association is composed of influential men in the towns along the way who see no reason why this, the most direct route from Chicago to Florida, should not be made to pay large returns in traveling expenses paid out by tourists on their way south.

The highway is being adequately pathfound, posted with signs, and extensively advertised in those sections where the traffic originates and it is confidently predicted by the traffic experts sponsoring the highway that at least fifty thousand cars can be routed south over this route during the coming season.

The state of Alabama will be crossed from its northern to its southern boundary by the highway, and every possible means of co-operation with the association should be taken advantage of by the towns and people along the way.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE CENTRAL ALA. HOSPITAL

GOD'S PROVISION FOR MAN'S NEED

Editor Union-Banner:

It has been in my heart for some time to write a few lines to your paper in regard to God's provision for fallen man. God has provided thru His son, Jesus Christ, salvation for every man. We see in Genesis, man is created in the image and likeness of His creator. We see him disobeying God; we see him outside of Eden fallen in sin.

We see him in Exodus not only out side of Eden but we see him fallen into the hands of an awful enemy. Now, how is he to escape? How is he to be justified and redeemed? How is he to be brought back into Canaan? Only God could answer such questions, and this he did in the blood of the slain lamb, which was a type of the lamb of God that taketh away the sin of the world in the person and work of our Lord Jesus Christ. There is an infinite fullness in the blood of the everlasting covenant. Heaven's highest claims are met; man's deepest necessity is met, both as a sinner and as a worshiper through the precious shed blood.

God is glorified, man is redeemed, saved, justified and brought into fellowship with God to be kept near His wounded side. Man in himself is guilty, unclean and sinful, and he needs a sacrifice to remove his guilt, cleanse him from his sins and to fit him for the holy presence of God. Man finds all in the precious shed blood of the Son of God. Without the shedding of blood, there is no remission. In order to approach God we must have our sin cleansed and by that shed blood we are cleansed from all sin.—1st John 1:7. God is holy and man must be made like God to come into his holy presence; so we see in the blessed son of God that He provided redemption for man by his precious shed blood. He purged our sins, and being purged of our sins we can come into His holy presence and worship him in spirit and in truth.

After we have come and worshiped Him in his own way, we can go with out the camp witnessing to the world of His mighty power to save and to ceanse us from all sin.

May the Lord put His blessing upon this little message, and may somebody's heart be moved to seek the Lord, for there is redemption for all through the provision that God has made. Jesus accomplished all on the cross and went back to heaven, there to appear for us. And it won't be long until he appears in glory with us. May this lead you to seek Him. Amen.

W. P. MIMS.

Blinding Headaches

"For about twenty years," says Mr. P. A. Walker, a well-known citizen of Newburg, Ky., "one of our family remedies has been Black-Draught, the old reliable. . . I use it for colds, biliousness, sour stomach and indigestion. I was subject to headaches when my liver would get out of order. I would have blinding headaches and couldn't stoop about my work, just couldn't go. I used and it relieved me.

"About eight years ago my wife got down with liver and stomach trouble. . . We tried all week to help her, . . . but she didn't get any better. One day I said to the doctor, 'I believe I will try Black-Draught, it helps my liver.' He said that I might try it and to follow directions. She was nauseated and couldn't eat or rest. She began taking Black-Draught and in two days she was greatly improved and in a week she was up."

Try Black-Draught. It costs only one cent a dose. Sold everywhere. E-99

CANDIDATE GETS ELECTED

Editor Union-Banner:

You know that we have got several candidates out for office, but little is being said about them. None of these candidates will know what their fate will be until November. But we have had one other candidate out up in this part of the county who has been kept very quiet. He has been a candidate for marriage more than a year and his companion for a running mate has been very eagerly sought. He has extended his canvassing through Bibb County, Autauga, Jefferson and Chilton.

He continuously announced that he stood for woman suffrage, but had almost given up the campaign. But finally he succeeded in locating one in Jemison; so on last Sunday morning about 8 o'clock Mr. O. P. Scott and Mrs. Sallie Reynolds were quietly joined together in matrimony in the presence of several friends, by Rev. J. N. Scott at his home. At 9:20 the bride and groom left on their honeymoon to spend a few days in Jefferson County. Of course their friends wish them much happiness and joy in their last days.

A FRIEND.

MISS MARION SEAWRIGHT

Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom saw fit to take from us, on August 12, 1924, a beloved member and co-worker in our Sunday School and church, Miss Marion Seawright, and whereas, we, the members of the Methodist Sunday School of Clanton, Ala., wish to make a public expression of our love and appreciation for her faithful services while with us and pay tribute to her cherished memory; be it threfore resolved:

First. That, in her death the Public School, Sunday School and church have lost a useful, esteemed and trustworthy friend, member and teacher, and that we mourn her loss.

Second. That we shall remember her with love and loyalty; that we may be convinced by her life and example that in a Christian life, death is but the passing from finite to eternal life; that we may draw a lesson from her noble character that Christian service is the outward expression of an inner life consecrated to the Master; and may be reminded that while to us the spare of her years was incomplete, to God her task was finished, so he called her to the fulfillment of the blessed promise, "Enter thou into the Joys of thy Lord.'

Third. We, the members of the Clanton Sunday School wish to extend to the family our deepest sympathy, hoping that it may comfort and console them in their bereavement.

Fourth. That a copy of these resolutions be read before the Sunday School, one sent to local papers, and another sent to the Alabama Christian Advocate, for pubication.

Respectfully submitted,

J. D. ATKINSON,
Mrs. BARNEY ROBERTS,
Mrs. R. C. McDAVID.

OLIVER - MANNING

A beautiful wedding of much interest to the many friends throughout this and Jefferson County was that of Mr. Cecil Oliver and Miss Bertha Manning, which was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Manning, last Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. Buford Lawrence officiated.

The hall was artistically decorated with ferns and potted plants. She was becomingly attired in a beautiful fall suit of bue, and carried a large bouquet of roses at her left side. The groom wore a beautifu suit of blue, and also the little flower girl, Floritta Edwards, wore a beautiful dress of blue.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride put on a beautiful fall suit of gray, and they left for thir honeymoon. They will go to Monegomery and on to New Orleans and Miami, Fla., and back to Birmingham, where they both take up their same positions nd make their home.

Mrs. Manning is an accomplished young lady of this county and is loved by all who know her. She holds a position with the McCormack Bros. Motor Co., of Birmingham and has been there several years and has made lots of friends there.

Mr. Oliver is a fine young man of Mississippi. He is holding a high position with the First National Bank in Birmingham. He has been there several years, and after he went, his father and mother moved there.

The many friends and relatives of the couple wish them a long and happy life together.

Smilin' Charlie Says-

W. A. Ruffin is the new entomologist for the Alabama Extension Service, with headquarters at Auburn. In extension work he succeeds Dr. W. E. Hinds who resigned last April to go to Louisiana.

SHILOH NEWS

In spite of the unfavorable weather the singing at this place Sunday afternoon was quite a success and enjoyed by a large crowd.

The society was called to order by chairman J. I. Bice who directed one song, led by prayer and appointed a committee to arrange the program.

The directors for the afternoon were: Misses Sela Hayes, Minnie Bice, Ila Mae Owens, Prof. F. I. Popwell, Charlie Carter of Clanton and Olen Bice. Organists for the afternoon were: Misses Josephine Vinson, Lela Hayes and Prof. F. I. Popwell.

We were very glad to have so many out, especially did we appreciate the presence of so many visitors from Clanton, Billingsley, Sardis and various other parts of the county. Here is hoping you will come again and bring your friends. You will always find a hearty welcome among these good people.

This society will meet on the third Sunday afternoon of each month at 2:30 o'clock. Everybody is invited.

FIELD SELECTION OF SEED CORN PAYS

Is the Only Place Where Seed Can Be Selected Intelligently; Rules Stated.

Auburn, Ala., Sept. 16.—Contrary to general practice, the proper time and place to select seed corn is in the field in the fall of the year rather than in the crib just before planting time in the spring, says Frtnk E. Boyd, Extension Agronomist.

There is no easier way to increase the yield per acre of corn than by selection of seed in the field. In this way ears from high-producing plants are selected. After all the crop is gathered and thrown into the crib it will be impossible to select choice ears from vigorous plants.

To insure a good stand of vigorous plants in the spring the best method is to lay away a good supply of fall selected seed. Any surplus on hand when planting time arrives can be disposed of at a fancy price as there is always a good demand for choice seed corn.

The following are six important points that should be heeded in selecting seed corn:

1. Select only from stalks having two good ears.
2. Select strong vigorous stalks which are neither broken, leaning, weak, nor diseased.
3. Select from hills having no missing hills adjoining.
4. Ears should be borne not too high on the stalk, and preferably hanging downward at maturity.
5. Make an effort to secure ears with long, close-fitting shucks.
6. Avoid excessively long or short shanks.

OAK HILL.

Rev. R. E. Massey, pastor of the First Methodist church of Tarrant City, Ala., assisted by the pastor, Rev. Thornburg, has just closed one of the most successful revivals ever held at this place. Bro. Massey preached the old time gospels so forcefully that he kept his hearers almost spell bound throughout all his discourses, and it had its effect on both old and young alike. Many hearts were moved to rejoice in so much that they shouted praises to God in the old fashioned way. Souls were born into the Kingdom of God, back-sliders were reclaimed and the spiritual strength of the church greatly increased and wonderfully built up. Not only this particular church but all mmbers of other denominations who attended resolved by the grace and help of God to live closer and do more for Him than ever before.

An old time love feast took the place of Sunday School Sunday morning which was enjoyed by all present. It made us think of our childhood days when our fathers and mothers would go for many miles in wagons drawn by oxen to attend such services, for they were very much interested about the salvation of others as well as themselves. But how different it is now, for some people living in sight of the church will not go. They say they work so hard in the week days they don't feel like going on Sundays and by so doing bury the talents the Lord gave them. Others will not go because they have no automobile, and some who have automobiles do not have time.

It was our intention to run the meeting ten days or two weeks, but Bro. Massey had to go back and prepare for the annual conference which meets at his church soon. But he has promised to come back again some time in the near future and preach for us. Come and be with us; it will do you good.

WILL SING AT FRIENDSHIP ON FOURTH SUNDAY P. M.

THE FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION AND POLITICS

A few weeks ago there appeared a letter in this paper under the heading: "The F. C. A. is Democratic and Clean." Unfortunately some people missunderstood the way in which the word "democratic" was used and for the benefit of these people we wish to make this explanation. In the first place let us state there was no thought whatever of politics when the above mentioned heading was used. In stating that this organization is democratic, we mean that the members of the organization have full control of the organization instead of its being controled by any one person or only a few persons. It was used in the same sense that we would use it when we say that our church or school or lodge is democratic, because the members of these various bodies manage their own affairs.

We were very much surprised to learn that anyone thought we had ny reference to politics, for the idea had not occurred to us. We believe that if anyone will carefully read the letter in question they will see that the manner in which the word "democratic" was used is explained in the letter.

For the benefit of everyone let us state that this association is not in any way connected with any political party and that it has not and will not take sides with any political party, but leaves that up to each member for himself. This is purely a business organization having for its purpose the marketing of farm products and buying of supplies for its members.

Thousands of Americans Are Earning Their Living From The Railroads

Yet their names do not appear on the railroads' payrolls. General prosperity comes and goes as the railroads make or fail to make money.

Look at these figures and you will probably have brought home to you more forcefully than ever before the danger of the enactment of any destructive form of railroad legislation.

One miner out of every four gets his entire living from the railroads.

Three out of every ten men employed in the steel mills are supported exclusively by the railroads.

The railroad is the only visible means of support of one-fourth of those employed in the lumber industry.

Of every 100 gallons of crude petroleum produced from American wells, the railroads purchase 11 gallons.

Think of the importance of these four great industries to America. Read the above figures again; and remember that when the railroads prosper, everybody prospers.

THE OLD RELIABLE

—to have a good APPETITE!

"Yes! thank you."

A GOOD appetite means a cheerful disposition.

You may have a good appetite if the blood that goes constantly to your vital organs is pure. S.S.S. purifies the blood—a good appetite follows and you will have a clear complexion and will be strong, cheerful and healthy.

Don't go on feeling up one day and down the next—hardly sick but never well—losing "pep," punch and ambition. Hearty eaters are the red-blooded men and women. Enjoy your food! Get back your strength and energy! Reclaim yourself before it is too late! People in a physically run-down condition are an easy prey to disease.

S.S.S. is what is needed. Your blood needs purifying. Your blood-cells supply the energy which keeps your body well and fit. S.S.S. aids Nature in supplying new red-blood-cells,—the spark that rejogs your system. Carefully selected, scientifically proportioned and prepared herbs and barks make up S.S.S.—the great blood purifier which gives Nature a helping hand.

Get back the lost appetite, the missing vitality, the keen, sparkling eyes, that look of determination. S.S.S. will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Senator Hale, Republican of Maine, got 27,000 majority in 1922, and Mr. Fernald, also Republican, got 50,000 plurality over his Democratic opponent in the recent election, yet the Democrats say in percentage they are gaining in Maine. We fail to see how they figure it.

How did Bob La Follette acquire the title, "fighting?" It must be because he has always fought to keep from fighting. When we were in war with Germany Mr. LaFollette refused to support his country in order to retain his support of foreign constituency. That does not sound much like fighting to us.

The spirit manifest at the meeting at the court house last Saturday afternoon shows that the Republicans of Chilton County have a deep interest in the general welfare of the county from an educational standpoint. There were men here from every nook and corner of the county to participate in the proceeding. The Republicans believe in the rights of the people being recognized, and they demand that same be done.

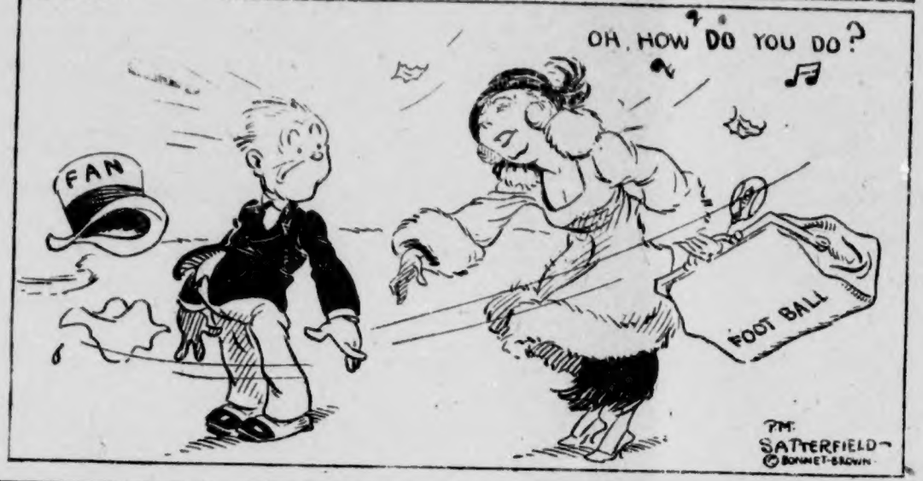
The Democratic national convention and the nominee which it finally had to accept to head its ticket has been trying to force President Coolidge to assert himself one way or the other regarding the Ku Klux Klan. The Republican National Convention deemed it wise to leave the Klan question alone; Coolidge has followed suit, which is the only wise thing to do. Religion and politics won't mix and there is no use trying to mix them.

Since the Republicans came into power on March 4, 1921, the United States has concluded no less than 58 international treaties. On that date "It would be difficult to imagine a worse tangle in our foreign relations than that with which the Republican administration was required to deal," in the opinion of Secretary Hughes. Those 58 treaties solved the tangle while maintaining American independence of the League of Nations, and fully protecting Amrican rights without sacrificing the good-will of Europe.

It is gratifying news that the Alabama Power Company has come under complete control of American interests. It has been a political handicap to this great company that a big percentage of its stock was owned by Canadian and British interests, but it has all been taken over by American capitalists and the company is now all-American. Most of the property of this great public utility is located in Chilton County, and we are indeed glad to know that it is all owned by our own American people.

A few weeks ago Mark Sullivan allowed that if the election should come off then, neither Coolidge nor Davis would get elected, which would throw the choosing of the president to the House of Representatives. But now he concedes that Coolidge is in the lead. Of course, Coolidge is in the lead. No man can ever see the White House, who caters to any religious or fraternal faction. The president of the United States is president of all the people and to attain this high position a man has to be broad enough to cover the whole country. No man in the race today can even approach such a breadth except Calvin Coolidge, and he will be our next president.

GOOD-BYE—AND HELLO!



GENERAL DAWES DEFENDS KLAN'S PROTESTANT IDEALS

The antics, attitude, and posturings of the several candidates for the Presidency are a proof of the manner in which alien influence has corrupted the dignified standards of Washington and Jefferson.

John W. Davis, Democratic candidate, is disclosing himself as a straw man through whom the Roman Catholic political machine is expressing itself. Since the convention of his party refused to take papist Al Smith as its candidate, and also voted against a condemnation of the Ku Klux Klan, the enraged Roman Catholic subject of the Vatican enrolled in the Democratic Party have been exerting their peculiar mental suasion and hyponotic will-power over Mr. Davis. He failed to condemn the Klan in his speech of acceptance, thus conforming to the policy estabished by the action of the convention held in New York. But the justice have given him no rest; they have threatened him with loss of their votes, and have cajoled, frightened, or mesmerized him into taking a position suitable to them. In his recent speech at Sea Grit, N. J., candidate Davis denounced the Klan by name, and this maneuver, together with his hint that he will appoint plenty of Papists and Jews to office, is evidence that he is responding to "His Master's Voice."

Candidate La Follette, representing a constituency largely German Roman Catholic in complexion, had previously attacked the patriotic movement of the native American Protestants. His third party includes the Bolshevik and Socialist allens who march under the red flag, working for revolution and for the overthrow of the Constitution of the United States. Mr. La Follette has announced his desire to make numerous fundermental changes in the Constitution. His egotism sees within himself a wisdom beyond that of Washington, Jefferson, Franklin, and Hamilton. He embodies the desire of the Jewish Bolsheviks and other alien Socialists to change radically our form of government, with its inspired safeguards against autocratic human tendencies.

President Coolidge, conservative, careful, and deeply imbured with reverence for traditional Americanism, so far as he understands it, has behind him a sound American ancestry and an excellent record of material achievment. How much real understanding of the Roman Catholic question, and how much courage he may have to act for Americanism against Romanism, when the issue comes to a climax, remains to be seen.

His running mate, General Charles G. Dawes, made a statement in Maine regarding the Klan issue, which has been interpreted by the bigoted Romanists as a defense of the Protestant fraternity, or at least a sympathetic attitude toward the patriotic movement. For this he is being bitterly scored in such papal organs as The New York World, which screams out the worlds liar and coward. The hand of priestcraft, in The World's editorial page, writes:

Openly and unblushingly Mr. Dawes volunteered for the defense of the Klan. . . He gave the Klan his endorsement by saying that "if there could be an excuse for law-abiding citizens to band themselves together in secret organizations for law enforcement, it was in Oklahoma." After praising the members of the Klan as "brave men," he said that "if a secret organization to uphold law and order is justifiable any-where in our county, it was justifiable there" (in Herrin, Ill.) In this campaign there has been nothing approachingshamelessness in Mr. Dawes' praise of the Klan as representing "only an instinctive groping for leadership, moving in the interest of law enforcement."

General Dawes has greatly honored himself by incurring the fanatic hostility of The New York World. To be opposed by the newspapers which worked 24 hours per day in the vain effort to "put over" Al Smith is a badge of character and a certificate of merit. The leading journalistic spokesman of Rome in America has assailed General Dawes for showing even a lukeworm and guarded sympathy for Portestantism.

The General has the reputation of being a plain-spokesman and courageous American. If he and President Coolidge will abandon the guarded attitude and come out squarely and openly for America Protestant ideals, THE AMERICAN STANDARD predicts that they will be elected by an overwhelming majority next November. If they will cast away entirely the Wilson-Tumulty policy of meddleing in Europe will adopt the sound, traditional policy of Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Adams, Jackson and Cleveland, of "no entangling alliances," and will take the political leadership in the protection of our country from the Roman Catholics, protocol Jews, and other aliens, they will go down in history among the great patriots whose memory is enshrined in millions of grateful American hearts.—American Standard.

WELL VOUCHED FOR

"Both Coolidge and Dawes are economically sound and are a wonderful balance wheel for this country." That is the opinion of Thomas A. Edison. His view is shared by Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone. They have been traveling around the country together and find that the people are wholly satisfied with the Coolidge administration. The opinion of such men is worthy of special notice. They are all employers of labor on a huge scale, and have the reputation of having great solicitude for the welfare of their workers. They view public affairs both from the standpoint of business and of the wage earners. They believe the Republican ticket meets the best interests of all concerned.

CUTTING THE INTEREST

The Treasury is selling $350,000,000 worth of temporary certificates to aid in the operation of refunding and paying the national debt. The rate of interest is 2 3-4 per cent, the same as the last issue. It is a return to the prevailing rates of the pre-war period, made possible by the drastic economy and sound business management of the Republican administration. On March 4, 1921, when the Democratic administration ended, the Government was paying 6 per cent for its short term loans. That was the peak of the cost of government borrowings. It forthwith began to drop and has fallen steadily ever since.

EATING MORE MEAT

During the last fiscal year there were about 80,000,000 animals slaughtered in this country for food. That is 6,000,000 more than were killed in any previous fiscal year. The fact points to a higher standard of living, more money with which to buy meat and other foods, and greater prosperity among our stock raisers. Why change the administration under which all this has been possible?

THE FIGHTING GAME

An interesting article appears in this week's issue of Collier's weekly, regarding the prize fighting game.

Since Jack Dempsey has been the world's champion boxer, he has actually fought only 117 minutes three minutes less than two hours, and has received well over a million dollars for his work. When figured down he received approximately $179.00 per second of fighting. Less than twenty years ago the world was astounded when it heard that two men had fought twelve rounds for a purse of $10,000.00. Jack Dempsey's last fight guarantee, at Shelby, Montana, was for $100.000. Over a hundred thousand fans paid over a million dollars ao see Dempsey and Firpo less than fifteen minutes and when the fight was over, not a single one of them complained of being skinned.

REMOVE UNCERTAINTY

In order to avert throwing the election into the House of Representatives thereby possibly creating a long deadlock in the choice of a President, the New York Times declares that "The hope of sensible citizens will be that one candidate or another will receive a majority in the electoral college." And all sensible citizens must perceive that the pre-election standing of the three candidates shows Coolidge first, Davis second, and LaFollette a poor third. Any candid observer concedes that President Coolidge will get more votes than either of his two opponents. It is the evident duty of sensible citizens to turn a certain plurality into a majority and not permit the efforts of third party supporters to nullify the popular election and create a state of affairs where a small radical minority can dictate the result.

(Hattie M. Gerald, Assistant Mgr.)

Mr. Foster Williams, wife and two children are visiting with relatives in Thorsby for a couple of weeks.

The Lutheran Ladies Aid will meet this week, Thursday, with Mrs. Dyrhood.

Mr. Earl Meade of Birmingham spent Sunday with parents.

Mr. C. R. Foss was a visitor in Birmingham last Thursday and Friday.

Miss Esther Johnson left Monday morning for Demorest, Ga., to take up her studies at Piedmont College.

Mrs. S. P. Kelly and son, Coy Gibbons, left Tuesday for a visit to Mrs. Kelly's son, Ivan Gibbons, at Eldorado, Kansas.

Mr. John Johnson of Birmngham spent the week-end with his family.

The Ladies Guild will meet next week, Thursday, Sept. 25, with Mrs. E. F. Mead.

Mr. Nels Peterson and Miss Nell Shannon motored to Miss Shannon's home at West Point, Ga., last Saturday. Mr. Peterson returned Sunday, bringing his wife and children, who have been spendng several weeks visiting in West Point.

Mr. M. Bostrom died September 12, at his home in Thorsby. Mr. Bostrom was one of the oldest settlers of this community, having come here about 28 years ago.

Mr. K. Lander and family of Ensley were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson on Sunday last. Mr. Lander returned to Ensley while his family remained for several days' visit.

Mrs. E. M. Hall and Mrs. Shimmel, daughter and grand daughter and two little great grand children of Mr. and Mrs. David Paxson, were visitors at the Paxson home for the week end.

Rev. J. M. Graham will occupy the pulpit of the Congregational Church next Sunday evening, Sept. 21. Mr. Graham and family expect to move the arly part of next week to Montgomery where they will make their home.

Mrs. Wm. Billingsley spent several days last week at Billingsley, with her father, who has been quite seriously ill.

Miss Lois Abernathy of Birmingham is spending several days with her friend, Miss Lorena Graham. She will remain for Miss Graham's wedding September 18.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Harper were visitors in Birmingham the latter part of the week. Their little grand son, Hermon Harper, accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Aldrich were visitors last week at the home of their aunt, Mrs. E. Piper. They and Mrs. Piper made a trip to Montgomery on Wednesday.

Mr. Waldemar Lefstead left Friday for Columbia, S. C., where he will take up a three-years course in the University and Theological Seminary located there. Mr. Lefstead expects to receive two degrees when he has completed his work.

Mr. F. E. Gronquist of Birmingham was a visitor in Thorsby Tuesday.

At the town election held Monday the following were elected to serve the city for the next two years: J. D. Cleckler, Mayor; C. C. Peterson, J. W. Littleton, G. L. Foshee, C. R. Foss and W. C. Martin, aldermen.

Mr. Carl C. Peterson and wife will leave Friday for a trip to Chicago and Kenosha, Wis.

Mr. W. C. Martin, who has taken over "Thorsby Inn," appears to be making a success of it, as he already has worked up quite a little business. Mr. and Mrs. Gorman, who are to be the teachers at Pate's Chapel the coming year, are located with him and will go back and forth from their school. Mrs. Gorman was a teacher in the Public School of Clanton last year.

The boarding students of Thorsby Institute enjoyed a social given in the dining room of the girl's dormitory. This was sort of a get-acquainted social, and a general good time was enjoyed. Games were payed in which all could participate.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby will give their annual reception Saturday evening, September 20, promptly at 7:30 at Bates Hall, to which are invited the teachers of Thorsby Institute, its students, the trustees and families, the alumnae, all former pupils and contributing patrons. A pleasing program will be rendered.

LIBERTY HILL

The singing society will meet at this place next Sunday, September 21 at 2 p.m.

All singers and lovers of music are invited to come and bring your Showalter and Ganus song books.

THORSBY INSTITUTE OPENS

Thorsby Institute opened on September 10th at 9:30 with the principal, Miss Jenkins, presiding. After the opening hymn, Rev. Joseph Each read the scripture and offered prayer. It was expected that Rev. W. P. Lowery would be present to read the scripture but he was detained, so Mr. Each kindly consented to do this. Mrs. Loveland and Miss Fairbanks, from the faculty, made appropriate remarks for the opening of school, after which the alumni were represented by a vocal solo by Miss Esther Johnson and remarks by Mr. H. R. Maddox, who is also a teacher this year at Thorsby Institute. After the singing of the Alma Mater song, Mr. Butler made the principal address, after which the faculty were introduced, there being only one new member, Mr. Maddox. The exercises closed with the Lord's Prayer.

After a short intermission the school was called together and the registration began under the supervision of Mrs. Loveland, who is Registrar. The enrollment is 81, and more are expected.

The only new member of the faculty this year is Mr. H. R. Maddox, who is English and history teacher and also athletic coach. Mr. Maddox is a graduate of Thorsby Institute and of Piedmont College. He taught one year in Chilton county before entering Piedmont. Mr. Maddox won this spring the medal given by the College to the one who writes and delivers the best oration.

It may be interesting to know that according to a letter from the State Department of Education that Thorsby Institute is one of the six private schools of the State whose graduates did not fail in their Freshman year at college the past year.

FARM FACTS

Let us never forget that the cultivation of the earth is the most important labor of man.—Daniel Webster.

The next farm income in cotton and tobacco areas ranks lowest, yet we call them "the great money crops."

Fire in the buildings destroys present wealth; fire in the woods is worst—it destroys present and future wealth.

If you want rich land next year plant hairy vetch seed this fall. Your county agent will tell you how if you will ask him.

Don't forget to bring all machinery in from the field and store it in a dry place. Negligence here is very expensive.

A good way to make larger yields next year is to select seed in the field this fall. They should be stored in a dry place where rodents and insects cannot get to them.

It is a significant fact that farmers who have adopted co-operative marketing as a practice are the most prosperous farmers. Notable xamples of this are found in the United States and in Europe.

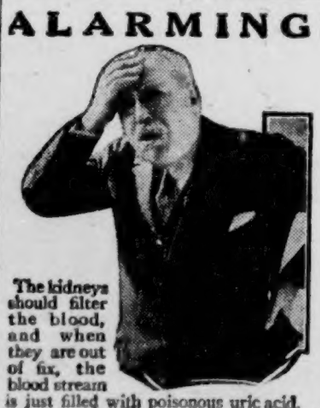
ALARMING!



The kidneys should filter the blood, and when they are out of fix, the blood stream is just filled with poisonous uric acid.

Carried to all parts of the body, this poison causes backaches, headaches, rheumatic pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability or depression and distressing bladder troubles.

But that isn't the worst of it. In chronic neglected cases, the excess uric acid is apt to form into gravel or kidney stones, and to cause gout, sciatica, dropsy and even Bright's disease.

Let the first pain in the back be your warning. Get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's new An-uric tablets (anti-uric-acid). Your druggist can tell you about this new discovery for bad kidneys. Or, send 10c for a trial package to Dr. Pierce, Pres., Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

WE SHALL SLEEP

We shall sleep but not forever;
There will be a glorious dawn.
We shall meet to part no never
On the resurrection morn.
From the deepest covers of ocean,
From the desert and the plains;
From the valley and the mountain,
Gauntless throngs shall rige again.

Jesus, the very thought of Thee
With sweetness fills my heart,
But sweeter far thy face to see
And in thy presence rest.
But when darkness came on
And the earth seemed wrapped
Beneath the dark curtains of gloom,
My mother would sing
And lull me to sleep;

But now she lies cold in the tomb.
Her sweet, soothing words
And kind loving face
Were always consoling to me.
In reverence to God
I was taught to pray,
While kneeling at mother's knee.

When we see a precious blossom
That she tended with such care,
Rudely taken from our bosom,
How our aching hearts despair.
Round its little grave we linger
Till the the setting sun is low,
Feeling our hopes have perished
With the flower she cherished so.

We shall sleep but not forever
In the lone and silent grave.
Blessed be the Lord that taketh,
Blessed be the Lord that gave.
In the bright eternal city
Death can never come.
In his own good time he calls us
From our rest to home sweet home.

PLEASANT GROVE

The singing society at Pleasant Grove met for the first time Sunday afternoon with a full class and a nice crowd of visitors, considering the threatening weather. Following Sunday school a committee was appointed to arrange a program. The following directed one song each: Mrs. Nettye Mims, Eula Culp, Callie Culp, and Misses Lucile Culp, Gladys Jackson, Vergie Henley, Ruth Cox, Kathryn Headley, Ora Dell Wilkins, Ruby Cox, Ruth Williams, Susie Huett and Master Albert Headley.

We were indeed glad to have with us our teacher, Prof. A. D. Huett and wife and sister, also other visitors from their community.

Last but not least, we had Prof. Boswell of Coopers with us, who very interestingly sung one song. We also had Uncle Will Williams of Route 7 with us. Come again, Uncle Will; we were glad to have you.

Our society will meet the second and fourth Sundays in each month. We especially nvite all singers and lovers of music to be with us.

Safeguarding Continuous Twenty-Four Hour Power Service in ALABAMA

Never in the history of Alabama Power Company operations in Alabama has power been curtailed to industry or the service of the people.

Adequate — continuous — uninterrupted 24-hour service has been consistently maintained by Alabama Power Company to all of its customers and at all times.

This remarkable record has been achieved in Alabama through maintenance of—

EIGHT Reserve Steam Plants
WITH A COMBINED CAPACITY OF 128,200 HORSEPOWER

Strategically located to supply deficiencies in water power which sometimes arise as a result of drought such as we are now having in consequence of reduced stream flow. The present dry period is almost unprecedented.

These eight plants located at Gorgas, Gadsden, Montgomery, Selma, Huntsville, Tuscaloosa, Decatur and Marion were built at a cost of many millions of dollars to safeguard continuous power service for Alabama.

In emergencies, Alabama Power Company may also use the power stations of certain customers. These available stations will produce 23,700 additional horsepower.

The company also leases from the United States government the Sheffield Steam Plant with a capacity of 80,000 horsepower, giving Alabama

A STEAM POWER RESERVE OF 231,900 HORSEPOWER

Which is probably the greatest steam reserve maintained by any American Power Company in proportion to its hydro-electric generating capacity.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Believing that public schools as conducted in New Jersey, and something of New York City schools would interest many readers of The Union-Banner, we have spent considerable time during the past week visiting class rooms, talking with teachers and principals, and reading official literature giving detailed and definite information on school matters.

We wish to state emphatically at the beginning that is it not the purpose of the writer to make comparison with Alabama schools, which would be unjust, because conditions in these two states are entirely different.

As near as we can learn, New Jersey devotes just about the same proportion of her receipts from taxes to support education in the state, as Alabama does. But New Jersey has an area so small, that it would take six and a half New Jerseys to cover Alabama, and yet within this small area New Jersey has about four times the population of Alabama, mostly white folks, and a wealth per capita. The latest statistics available are for the school year 1921-22, 10 months ending June 20th, 1922.

Enrollment in public day schools in the state, which means from kindergartens, commencing at four years old, but not compulsory, at five pupils may begin the first grade, but compulsory attendance begins at seven, and continues until fourteen years of age and until sixteen if the pupil has not completed the 8th grade. Attendance at high school is elective, but these are a component part of the free public school system of New Jersey.

The total enrollment for the school year ending June 30th, 1922, in all the various departments was 678,734, requiring 20,874 teachers, at an average salary of—average salaries per month, for day school teachers, men $176.40; women $142.61. The average cost per year for each pupil, runs from $75 to $100 per year, and includes tuition, free text books, paper, pencils and transportation for those living within the district, and more than two miles from the school. If pupils living nearer want to ride they pay 3c each day. For pupils living outside the district, as many high school pupils do, the tuition, transportation and other expenses are paid by the district from which they come.

It is the purpose of the State that education shall be free of cost to all pupils from kindergarten through high school. To offset this the State demands that each child between the ages of seven and sixteen, if physically able, shall be in school every day the schools are in session, unless they have finished the 8th grade and have a certificate to that effect. Attendance officers are employed, at a salary of $2500 per year and expenses, to see that the compulsory education laws are enforced. These laws deal not only with the pupil, but any person resopsible for them who permits absences from school without the statutory reasons, is liable to heavy fines or imprisonment. As a consequence few are absent.

The total expenditures of the Ntw Jersey board of education for the school year 1921-22 was $42,856,-195.63, an average of upwards of $5 for every man, woman and child in the state.

The New Jersey department of education is a big business organization, controlled by a board of education, consisting of ten members, appointed by the governor, half from each of the two leading political parties, two of the members are to be women. The appointment is for eight years, and no two of them can be residents of the same county. This board control all educational matters pertaining to public instruction, and are responsible only to the governor in their acts and decisions. The board employs an educational expert as commissioner of education to carry out the plans and orders of the board. The commissioner in turn employs assistant commissioners, having supervision over various departments. Then come county superintendents, who are under the direction of the commissioner of education, or his assistants. Next they have district boards of education for each district, or if districts become consolidated there is one board having jurisdiction in the consolidated district. These boards have control of school matters in the district, under state laws and rules and regulations of the board of education. They employ a district supervisor, a medical inspector, principal for each school in the district, and all regular or special teachers. No person is employed as a teacher who has not graduated from a high school and taken a normal school course of three years, or its equivalent except, that special teachers may be employed who give satisfactory proof of thorough qualification, for the work for which they are employed.

To get down to specific cases, and know just what is being done in what may be termed rural schools of the state, we have visited more than once the Roxbury Township Consolidated school, located within a few hundred feet of our temporary home. This district comprises the township of Roxbury, with an area of 85 square miles, and a population of 3500. Mr. Will G. Atwood is supervising principal, a genial man and a live-wire. He took pains to show us what they have and how they use it. There are two or three grade schools in the district that have as yet, not joined this consolidated school, though they are under supervision of Mr. Atwood, but all high school students in the district, and quite a lot from adjoining districts, having no high school, attend this school.

The total enrollment, in all departments of the Roxbury consolidated school, is about 700. 23 teachers are employed, exclusive of Mr. Atwood and his assistant. The buildings and grounds are worth approximately $200,000, and aside from school purposes, are used as a community center, for lectures, movies, athletics, dancing, public meetings and whatever may tend to promote the welfare and enjoyment of the community. There is no large town within the district, and the auditorium of this school, which is beautifully furnished, will seat 500 to 600 people. No other auditorium in the district so large. The money collected for admissions to movies or other entertainments, for which admission is charged, goes for furnishings or expenses for other entertainments. The movies, the dancing, or whatever may be the attraction are all under the supervision of some reliable person or people, and are conducted in a respectable and orderly manner and closed at a reasonable hour.

The class rooms are superb for the purpose intended. Nearly one whole side of each of them is filled with big windows, having just the right shades to diffuse and soften any glare of sunlight, and yet fill the room with a soft even light, very pleasant to the eyes. High grade black board extends around the three remaining sides of the room, while above and below them the walls are finished in a soft shade. Ventilating fans, run by electric motor, force fresh air into each room and draw off the bad air. No need to manipulate the windows for ventilation during winter. Water is provided from a well on the grounds, with electric power pumps, shower baths are provided and dressing rooms for the boys and the girls. Inside sanitary toilets and lavatories are a part of the equipment.

The teaching force are young men and women who are trained for their work, and keep the children interested. They have a system of tests by which they are able to determine who among the pupils are what is termed sub-normal, which means that they are of slow development mentally, not necessarily fools, but below par, intellectually and apt to be a drag on normal children, if kept in the same casses. So they are put in a department by themselves. Don't think for a minute, that they are neglected here, they have a teacher specially trained for such work, who draws a higher salary than any teacher in the school, below the principal. We were convinced that New Jersey is making great progress towards having an educated citizenship. We had an opportunity to look over the list of graduates from the Roxbury high school from its organization, to 1924, 17 years. This list gave the present address of nearly all of them and we find that very few of them have left the state, or even the county. In other words, they have not been educated AWAY from their homes or at least their state.

We had intended to say something about the great public school system of New York City, but since that is another story we will not begin it now.

WALKER CHALLENGES DORMINEY IN RAISING CORN

Commissioner C. T. Waker of Lawley says that until it is proven to the contrary, he has the Governor of Stumps Hills "skint" when it comes to raising corn. As evidence for his statement Mr. Walker left at the Banner office a stalk of Hastings Prolific corn with seven good sized ears. Mr. Walker states that there were two suckers at the root of this same stalk and each of them had a full grown ear, which makes a total of nine ears of corn grown from one seed. He says that Mr. Dorminey will have to play "hookey" from several sessions of commissioners court before he can pull down a corn record equal to this. What do you say, Governor?

Mr. Walker states that he has a field of corn which will come up to this average, and not a bit of fertilizer was used under it. Although the ears are not as large as some we have seen, the amount per acre will show up mighty well.

Next Sunday the Men's Bible Class of the Clanton Baptist Church will conduct the devotional exercises of the Sunday school. All the members of this class are urged to attend Sunday school next Sunday.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Evidence of the activity of the state law enforcement department was furnished in the report of Chief McAdory for the month of August, submitted to Governor W .W. Brandon. The report showed a total of 305 arrests during the month, destruction of 144 stills, 79,850 gallons of beer, 1,480 gallons of whisky, 105 gallons of wine and 1,411 bottles of home brew. Twenty-six automobiles, one house boat, one mule and one wagon were confiscated during the month. Of cases made by the state officers tried during the month, 156 resulted in convictions, 16 were nol prossed and 13 acquitted. Cash fines assessed amounted to $17,966.80, while expenses of the department were $8,833.27. A total of 14 prison sentences were imposed. Of the arrests, 56 were for distilling, 6 for possessing a distillery and 134 for violating the prohibition law.

Judge Ben D. Turner, of Chatom, of, the first judicial circuit, has been appointed by Chief Justice John C. Anderson of the supreme court to preside at trial of a legal action involving title to certain property in Mobile county to be utilized in the Mobile seaport development. All Mobile circuit judges are out of the city. The hearing will take place on Sept. 26 in Mobile. The appointment was made at the request of the state docks commission. The property in controversy is that upon which the tracks of the L. & N. Railroad Company will be located, when they are moved from their present location to make room for the docks development.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Anniston, it was decided that it would be impracticable for the Junior Chamber to attempt to stage the county fair, which had been planned for several weeks without the protection from circus and other tent show competition by the city council. Formal action was taken to stop all activity pertaining to the fair after the directors had expressed their keen disappointment at the failure of their plan to materialize and the failure of the council to pass the circus exclusion ordinance.

After wandering about for the best part of a year, Dewey Wynn, escaped convict, was recaptured at Phenix City, in the same county where he was convicted. On April 8, 1921, Wynn was convicted in the Russell circuit court, of grand larceny and sentenced to from 2 to 3 years. In 1922, he made his first escape but was apprehended within a short time. On Jan. 30, 1923, he and another prisoner, Howard Ivey, Tuscaloosa county convict, made their escape from Speigner prison. Ivey was caught in May of the same year and returned to prison.

The Alabama Conservation Association was organized at the Exchange Hotel, in Montgomery, with E. F. Allison, of Bellamy, first president. Other officers of the association chosen at the night session, which took the form of a banquet, were R. J. Goode, of Gastonburg, Wilcox county, first vice president; Dr. W. B. Holmes, of St. Clair county, second vice president, and John M. Goudelock, of Jefferson county, secretary and treasurer.

The oldest stove in Walker county still in use is at Marylee, according to Jim Ryan. It is a heater which was brought to South Lowell by Col Woolhouse 50 years or more ago and has been in use ever since. It has been owned and used by the Masonic lodge at Marylee for a number of years. It is not known how long this heater had been used before it was brought to Old South Lowell in 1872.

C. A. Cary, state veterinarian, was elected president of the Southern Cattlemen's Association at the closing session of its 15th annual convention at Montgomery. C. B. Heineman, of Atlanta, Ga., was elected secretary treasurer of the association. Atlanta was chosen as the convention city for 1925.

At a meeting of the Etowah County Post of the American Legion Kennett McDonald was elected scoutmaster of the Boy Scout Troop being supported by the post.

Colonel Pegram Whitworth is expected to arrive at the state university within a few days from Portland Ore., to take charge of the military department at the university.

Decision to foster a junior writers conclave was voted at the third day's session of the annual Alabama Writers' Conclave at Florence.

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. W. Z. HODGES, Editor.

Children's Party Enjoyed.

Mrs. Percy Pitts entertained in honor of her little daughter, Jane Pitts, on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Reynolds. The little honoree met each guest with a smile as she received the numerous gifts. Many juvenile games were played on the lawn. Later in the afternoon the guests were invited to a beautifully decorated table, with the color tones of pink and white. The central ornament was the birthday cake holding four lighted pink tapers, each child trying to blow out the candles furnished much merriment. The cutting of the birthday cake created much excitement, Bill Hodges being the first to cut the cake.

The favors were baloons of pink and white. Cake and cream were served later by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. W. A. Reynolds and Mrs. Guy Roberts. The little guests were Olive Rainer Elmore, Helen Roberts, Jane Neighbors, Nell Nighbors, Nell Ross Mullins, Sophie Courtie Jones, Peggy Page, Gertie Will Vinson, Calen Alred, Bill Hodges, Jane and Myrtle Pitts.

Card Club Meets.

A lovely meeting of the Card Club was held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Jones on last Wednesday afternoon. The apartments were made bright with garden flowers. After a series of rubbers, the top score was held by Mrs. Hugh Simpson, who was given a deck of congress cards. Late in the afternoon a salad plate was served to the club members and guests.

A business deal that included the transfer of large bodies of timber to the south and west of Tuskegee has been closed. The Sinclair & Ridenhour Lumber Company, of Harris county, Ga., bought all the Segrest Milling Company interests at, Liverpool and now are moving five sawmills from Georgia to their timber near Tuskegee. This company will operate about 10 sawmills and will run something like 25 trucks to put the lumber on the market. The Mitchell Lumber Company has started to place timber on the plot of ground selected for its new plant, and in a few days 100 men will be employed in the erection of the houses and the construction of the mill foundation. Already a crew of men is busy opening the right of way for a track from the Rich plantation to the mill site at King's Ridge, on the Eufaula Creek.

HARRY J. WALKER IS SHOT BY B'HAM OFFICER MONDAY

Alleged Bootlegger who Killed little Watley child near Jemison Recently was shot Monday a.m.

Harry J. Walker of Birmingham, who was tried a few weeks go in Clanton for the killing of the little child of Mr. Sy Watley near Jemison on July 27th in an automobile smash-up, was shot by a Birmingham policeman early Monday morning. This same fellow was tried in Clanton a few days ago for the alleged killing ob the baby of Mr. Sy Watley and the injury of Mrs Watley, however, Walker came clear of the charge preferred against him.

It is reported that Policeman Derrick of Birmingham has previously arrested W. R. Henderson, a close friend of Walker, on a charge of violating the prohibition laws, as a result of which Walker is said to have attempted to assault the officer, but was interrupted by the approach of a police car. A man by the name of Dovel was with Walker at the time the assault was attempted.

Police stated that they believed Walker and Dovel continued to cruise about throughout the night looking for Derrick. They finally located him at 5:30 Monday morning and asked him to get into the car. This, he refused to do. With this they attempted to drag him into the car. A fight followed, during which Derrick fired a shot in an attempt to scare his assailants. Being unsuccessful, Derrick then fired at Walker, hitting him in the right temple. Dovel, according to reports, disappeared during the skirmish and Derrick took the wounded man to the Norwood Hospital, where he later died.

Walker is said to have had a police record and had been arrested on a charge of vagrancy and violating the prohibition laws.

SEE MIDDLETON AS DISTRICT ATTORNEY

J. O. Middleton of Clanton will be the next assistant district attorney to succeed Lee Clayton if a rumor heard at the federal building Tuesday is correct. It is reported that Mr. Middleton has been recommended for the place by District Attorney Grady Reynolds of Clanton.

Mr. Reynolds was not in his office Tuesday. Assistant District Attorney Clayton said he had heard nothing to indicate who his successor would be.

Mr. Middleton is well known in Republican circles in Alabama. He has taken a leading part in Republican politics in the state for a number of years. He is regarded by lawyers as an able attorney.—Montgomery Advertiser.

FOOTBALL GAME AT HIGH SCHOOL GROUND FRIDAY

On next Friday afternoon the foot ball team of the Fourth District Agricultural School of Sylacauga will play the Chilton County High School team at Clanton. The game will begin at 3:00 o'clock. This is the first foot ball game of the season, and you should come out and see it. Chilton High has a team with the appearance of "fighters," so come out to this game and see what they are going to do.

WORK STARTED ON PAVING CHILTON SECTION OF ROAD

Concreting Link In Montgomery Birmingham Route Begins Tuesday

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 20.—Special.—Col W. A. McCalla, a state highway engineer, said Saturday that the contractor, Miller, has the forms laid at the north end of the project, for placing the concrete surface on the Chilton County link in the new Montgomery-Birmingham highway.

A full line of equiptment is on hand, it is stated and a camp has been established at Wessington, where a siding has been put in for the receiving of materials. Placing of the concrete will begin Thursday. Starting at the Chilton County line the work will be carried south as rapidly as possible.

W. T. Taylor Const. Co., which is building the Shelby County link in the new highway, is now engaged in laying asphalt pavement near the Jefferson County line working south. Four miles of pavement have been completed near Calera and a portion near Siluria. Two crews will be put to work on this job next week, it is announced.

Mr. C. B. Cox reports that the surfacing of the highway through Shelby county will be finished by Christmas. Mr. Cox has the job of putting on the stone and the other fellow does the packing down and finishing of the surface.

REPUBLICANS CERTIFY LIST OF CANDIDATES

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 20.—Names of Republican candidates for several Alabama state offices and Republican electors were certified last Saturday by the Republican state executive committee.

ATOP THE ELEPHANT BOUND FOR THE WIRE

PROPHESIES, handed the press from the various Republican campaign camps throughout the country, run along about the same line. "It's all cut and dried. Cal will win in a walk" they say. And, satisfied that there's not a questin of doubt about it, the campaign managers are content to sit back and wait the mere formality of voters going t othe polls on Nov. 4 to confirm those predictions.

The Republican leaders point to Pres. Coolidge's activities in office since the death of the late Warren G. Harding as positive proof that he not only is capable of filling that esteemed position but that he has actually won the approval of all citizens. In his acceptance speech, he left no issue untouched and stated definitely then and since then, just where he stood on important questions of the day. And, his backers say, the judgment of the American people will put him back in office.

The above photo shows the president with his campaign manager, William M. Butler; and his running mate, Charles Dawes, Republican candidate for the vice-presidency. The picture was snapped after one of their many conferences of the campaign.

RADCLIFFE CHAUTAUQUA TO BE HERE OCT. 6, 7-8

Fourteen Educational and Instructive Attractions on Program For These Three Days.

To those who enjoy first-class, clean, refined, instructive and interesting entertainment, it will be good news that the Radcliffe Chautauqua is coming to Clanton again to entertain for them. The programs will consist of lectures on vital topics of the day, musical features, and performances of different kinds by artists. The Radciffe promoters place especial emphasis on their lectures, which are very fine indeed. Dr. Wirt Lowther, nationally known as one of America's greatest and most brilliant orators, will deliver some vital messages. Dr. Guy Morse Bingham, eloquent educator, well known to Chautauqua audiences from coast to coast, is booked to lecture also. Mr. Charles A. Horr, a dynamic young lecturer of "personality plus," will impart his clear-cut ideas to the audiences.

For the past several years Clanton has been the dump-heap for dirty, trashy, immoral and unrefined shows of low character. These questionable people have come here and carried our good money away by the thousands of dollars, and have left the dirty stain of their immoral jokes and stage attractions on the minds of our people to gradually grow into shame and disgrace against their lives. Young people and old ones as well are going to have some kind of entertainment, and when they can't get wholesome and refined pastime they are going to get whatever kind they can. The general trend of morality among or people is on the decline, in which dirty shows has played its part. We need to cultivate moral and religious refinement among our people, and one of the best ways in the world to do it is through wholesome entertainment. The Chautauqua is just this kind of entertainment. No smutty jokes are pulled, and no immoral scenes are staged in the Chautauqua. So, it behooves the good people to do all they can to promote this kind of refined entertainment for our people, and thus instill in their minds the desire for things uplifting and elevating instead of things degrading and immoral.

Let's everybody do all we can for the success of this Chautauqua. There have been one or two Chautauquas pulled off here which did not measure up to the specifications all the way around, but it was not this one. Several who have seen these programs put on in other towns speak very favorably of them. So, we need not fear to lend the Radcliffe Chautauqua our whole-hearted support. It will do our people good to hear its splendid lectures and to see the refined entertainment which it offers. Lets accord these entertainers good audiences and thus show that Clanton as a whole is still willing to support right and justice as against the onward approach of immorality and shamelessness. The date is October 6, 7 and 8, which is Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, week after next. Set your stakes now to attend these programs.

COTTON GOES UP $10 BALE AFTER THE GOV. REPORT

Report Estimates Yield of 12,596,000 Bales—21,400 Bales Less Than was Expected.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 23.—The cotton market experienced a very exciting time in today's session after the government issued its report making condition of the crop as of Sept. 16th, 55.4 per cent of normal, indicating a yield of 12,596,000 bales exclusive of linters. Prices which had been as low as 20.88 for October and 21.02 for December early in the morning shot up 100 points immediately and within about seven minutes, the March position which had traded as low as 21.37 reached the 200 point limit at 32.37 and the nearer months gained 195 points, October advancing to 22.83 and December to 22.97.

After the first rush of buying and covering prices eased off and December, the most active month in the list at one time, receded 70 points from the previous high to 22.27. Later in the day and particularly in the afternoon another buying wave struck the market being helped in a meaure by private reports of a tropical disturbance east of Cuba. Prices advanced rapidly and in the last few minutes of trading October, December, January and May successively reached the limit of 200 points and March finally also reached the limit for the second time in the session. The close was at the top showing net gains compared with yesterday's close of 170 to 178 points.

The advance was helped by the total ginning to September 16th providing only 2,900,000 bales or more had been expected.

The reason the government condition and estimate produced such surprise and led to such a drastic advance was that the trade generally had looked for a crop of 12,800,000 bales or more and a condition average in the neighborhood of 56. Moreover a very considerable short interest had been created in both the trading markets. Frantic efforts were made to cover this interest but the market advanced so rapidly it is very doubtful if the feat was successfully accomplished. It was the eagerness to cover that forced values up so rapidly both immediately after the report was issued and in the afternoon when all months were forced to the limit of 200 points allowed in a days trading.

NEWS FROM LAWLEY

Farmers over here are busy picking cotton. There is a very good supply of cotton made over here, but corn crops are not so good.

On the second Sunday and Saturday before, Rev. C. H. Littlejohn, pastor of Pleasant Grove Baptist Church, filled his regular appointments, and we want to commend him for the good sermons he delivered.

Mrs. Clyde Bearden of Montgomery is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Henderson.

The little five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bearden happened to a severe accident last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Bearden's parents. He fell out of a peach tree and broke one of his thighs.

MERRELL IS GIVEN 20 YEARS IN PEN FOR KILLING MAN

Shelby County Jury Finds Calera Man Guilty of Second Degree Murder Last Saturday.

Columbiana, Ala., Sept. 20.—It took about three hours Saturday afternoon for a Shelby county jury to decide that Bob Merrell killed N. L. McElroy, of Calera, and to give him 20 years in the penitentiary for second degree murder.

The jury, by its verdict of guilty of second degree murder, doubted the statements of Merrell, who charged Reggie Lucas with the actual killing. Lucas in his testimony had accused Merrell of the crime, the testimony of the death of McElroy thus being exactly contradictory. The balance was swung against Merrell by other evidence.

An appeal of the verdict was announced by attorneys for the defense.

The case went to the jury at 2:00 o'clock and the verdict was brought in shortly after 5 o'clock.

Lucas was never indicted for the murder, but has been held under bond as a material witness.

In the arguments of the case, Solicitor John J. Haynes compared the case with that of Leopold and Loeb, of Chicago. He said the widow of the dead McElroy had no money to hire good lawyers, as the defense had, to assist the state in obtaining justice. The statement provoked objections and finally Judge Lyman ordered that part of the speech ruled out.

R. C. RIGGINS IS FINED $250.00 IN BAD CHECK CASES

R. C. Riggins Faces Charges in the Court of Common Pleas on Tuesday.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 23.—R. C. Riggins, charged with issuing "fraudulent checks" amounting to $304 in connection with the purchase of an automobile from the Hobbie Motor Co., was given an aggregate fine of $250 and sentenced to 10 months at hard labor in three cases by Judge J. Winter Thorington Tuesday in the court of common pleas.

During the trial he admitted signing the checks, but stated that his name was G. G. Riggins, and that the initials "R. C." were assumed. The case is among the first to come up since the new Alabama code making fraudulent cases a misdemeanor, became effective August 17th. The court of common pleas now has the authority to pass a hard labor sentence and maximum fine of $100, whereas before only a fine could be assessed, the maximum amount being only $30.00.

AL SMITH LIKELY WILL BE NOMNATED BY N. Y. DEMS.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Renomination of the entire Democratic ticket was generally accepted tonight as being assured, and the scores of the party chieftains included Governor Alfred E. Smith. An anti-Klan pronouncement and a plank seeking the modification of the prohibition laws are to be included in the program.

FORESTALL DREADED CHILLS AND FEVER

No one need suffer the seasonal recurrence of Chills and Fever, with its terribly weakening effect. Wintersmith's Chill Tonic will kill your Chills and take all the Malaria out of your system. If you are subject to Malaria the best plan is to take Wintersmith's Chill Tonic beforehand. It will often prevent development of the disease. It puts rich, red blood into your veins, giving you the strength necessary to ward off Malaria.

Fifty six years of continued success have made this the standard tonic in thousands of homes throughout the malarial districts of the United States, Central and South America and elsewhere.

The system easily assimilates Wintersmith's Chill Tonic and there are no bad effects on the stomach or nerves. You should have a bottle in your home. Popular size, 60 cents; mammoth size, $1.00. All drug stores. Wintersmith Chemical Company, Inc. Louisville, Ky. —Adv.

EXPLOSIVE READY FOR ALA. FARMERS

Auburn, Ala., Sep. 25.—Farmers of Alabama now have an opportunity to get an explosive at a very low cost. Through the county demonstration agent the Federal Government has allowed 150,000 pounds of pyrotol, a war salvage explosive, to land owners and occupants of land in Alabama at cost of distribution and cartridging plus freight from Gibbstown, N. J.

Conditions of the offer are outlined in a statement by L. C. LeBron, Agricultural Engineer of the Extension Service. By pooling their orders and buying a carload (minimum 16,000 pounds) farmers may obtain pyrotol at a cost of $7.00 per 100 pounds, f.o.b. Gibbstown. If they purchase in less than carlots the cost will be $9.50 per 100 pounds, f.o.b. Auburn, Alabama.

Alabama has been allotted also 92,000 of No. 6 blasting caps which will be distributed at the rate of one cap to each pound of pyrotol. The cost of the caps will be 50 cents per shipment regardless of the size of the shipment.

Under the rules laid down by the Government not less than 50 pounds and not more than 1,000 pounds of pyrotol can be allowed to any one land owner or occupant of land either individually, partner, corporation, or association.

Pyrotol is a powerful explosive and is very practical for ditching, stumping land, and for other purposes for which dynamite is used.

ENGINEERS of the Automotive Power Plant section of the Bureau of Standards at Washington, D. C., have just completed the above pictured apparatus for obtaining data on the road performance of autos.

The periscope-like contrivance shown near the front of the car is to be used for measuring the relative air speed the car travels. In front of the rear seat is a device with 18 automatic pens in its workings for recording any incidents that occur while the car is in operation. The unique outfit also has a camera in it for photographing the flow of gasoline on the carburetor. Quite an invention!

AUBURN ALUMNI

Plans are being made at Auburn for a big home-coming of alumni and former students on October 4 when the Auburn football Tigers will clash with Clemson Colledge. The game promises to be one of the best of the season and all Auburn men are urged to be on hand.

Prior to the game the alumni will enjoy a luncheon together and discuss ways and means for being of greater service to their Alma Mater. Judge W. H. Samford of Montgomery, president of the Alumni Association, will be master of ceremonies.

REJOICES DAUGHTER CAN RESUME STUDIES

"Everything my little 12-year-old girl ate distressed her; even a glass of water would cause her to belch gas and she was unable to go to school for nearly a year. FARM FACTS

Cooperative thinking among farmers is as important as cooperative marketing of farm products.

If you want poor land next year don't plant vetch seed this fall. —Frank E. Boyd, Auburn.

If you are looking for a buyer for something on your farm try an ad in your local paper. It will reach hundreds and perhaps thousands of people at a very small cost.

The farmer who has produced an outstanding crop of some kind or a good animal and then fails to show it at his community or county fair is hiding his light under a bushel.

Long winter nights are approaching and all the family will have more time for reading. You will want your local paper, a daily paper, a good farm paper or two, a magazine for the wife, and one or two for the children. Your local editor will assist you in selecting and subscribing for them.

The following food rules, issued by the Extension Service of Auburn for school children, are good enough for all.

Drink at least one glass of water before berakfast; drink 4 to 6 glasses daily.

Drink a quart of milk each day.

Do not drink tea or coffee.

Eat one vegetable in addition to potatoes each day.

Eat meat only once each day.

Eat some fruit-fresh, dried, or canned-each day.

Eat candy only immediately after meals.

Do not eat between meals.

MR. THILO FIERING OF CHICAGO IS HERE

On last Monday morning The Banner man was pleased to have our friend, Mr. Thilo Fiering of Chicago, Ill. call to see us. We had never met Mr. Fiering before, but his name was very familiar to us, he having been a subscriber to The Union-Banner for many years. Mr. Fiering is a former resident of Chilton County, he having left here a number of years ago. While spending a few days back in his old home county he is visiting Mr. Ben Edwards of Clanton Route 6. We were indeed proud to meet this distinguished gentleman and talk with him.

Facts About Child-birth

IT has been proven conclusively that much of the suffering, pain and dread experienced during expectancy, as well as at child-birth is entirely unnecessary.

An eminent physician, Dr. J. H. Holmes, expert in this science, first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend," which aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily, during the constant readjustment, month after month, right up to the climax of child-birth.

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. Three generations of expectant mothers have used it. "Pains disappeared in two days after using 'Mother's Friend,'" writes a user. "I owe my life to 'Mother's Friend,'" declared another. Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did, start today and experience the wonderful comfort it will give you.

—to build up Weight!

ANY WOMAN, any man, can now have a well-developed face and form. The whole, simple secret of a well-developed form is in the number of blood-cells in your body. You can now forget all the theoretical talk about diet, exercise, fad treatments, food-fats and fat-foods. Nothing is of any use, after all, except blood-cells!

Thin, run-down men and women, with bony necks, sunken cheeks, bony shoulders—all these are suffering from one thing—too few blood-cells. Science has proved that S.S.S. helps to make the rich red-blood-cells, which you need. Your blood is starving for these new blood-cells! Give your blood the blood-cells it needs—take S.S.S. the great scientific blood-cell maker. S.S.S. has done marvels, too, in making beautiful complexions, clearing the skin, making lips rosy red, the cheeks full and plump—because it rids the blood of impurities which cause pimples, blackheads, acne, blotches, eczema, tetter, rash and rheumatism, too. As the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. This is why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Start taking S.S.S. today and your great problem, that of your personal appearance, can be solved.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

W. J. Bryan to Davis, July 10, "I am at your service."

There are fifteen hundred people in Clanton who do not attend Sunday school anywhere. Let's have a good attendance at the Baptist Sunday school next Sunday. A special program will be rendered. You should attend it.

Judge L. H. Reynolds is away from his office a good portion of the time now attending to the duties of State campaign manager for the Republican party. It is quite a large task to manage this campaign in Alabama, and the duties of that job together with his office duties here keep the Judge on the run pretty well all the time.

The further President Coolidge and Mr. Dawes run, the faster they get, and the longer they run the further they get. The indications now are that Coolidge will get about as many votes this year in the presidential race as Harding did in 1920. The country knows where Coolidge and Dawes stand, and it does not know where the aspirants on the other tickets stand. Consequently, Coolidge and Dawes are going to poll the votes.

Clanton always has a plenty of dirty, immoral street shows, which serve to tear down morality and Christian refinement among our people. The Chautauqua is just to the contrary. Its programs are just as entertaining, and the object of such entertainments is to build up Christian character and the desire for things moral and inspirational. Let the good people of Clanton boost the Radcliffe Chautauqua to be here in a few days, and give our people a chance to see some entertainment that will be an inspiration to them instead of a degredation.

WORTH READING—THE BIBLE

The Bible contains the mind of God, the state of man, the doom of sinners, the way of salvation and the happiness of believers. Its doctrines are holy, its precepts are binding, its histories are true, and its decisions are immutable. Read it to be wise, believe it to be safe, and practice it to be holy. It contains light to direct you, food to support you and comfort to cheer you. It is the traveler's map, the pilgrim's staff, the pilot's compass, and the soldier's charter. Here paradise is restored, heaven opened, and the gates of hell disclosed. Christ is its grand subject, our good its design, and the glory of God its end. It should fill the memory, rule the heart, and guide the feet. Read it slowly, frequently, prayerfully. It is a mint of wealth, a paradise of glory, and a river of pleasure. It is given you in life, will be open at the judgment, and be remembered forever. It involves the highest responsibility, rewards the greatest labor, and condemns all who trifle with its holy contents.

After reading the above, set your plans to come to the Clanton Baptist Sunday school next Sunday. A special missionary program will be rendered, and it is hoped that a good attendance will be present.

FRIEND OR FOE?

SCISSORETTES

Public Ledger.—Since the Versailles treaty the two great steps taken have been the Washington Conference and the Dawes plan. This has come to be the considered opinion, not of America alone, but of the world. In assailing these actions John W. Davis is writing himself down either as a bemussed partisan or as being no more than an amateur in both statesmanship and practical diplomacy.

Fort Wayne Sentinel—One cannot read the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States without realizing that the nation's founders did not separate "human rights" from "property rights", as the Red demagogues of the present are seeking to do.

Los Angeles Times.—General Dawes told his old neighbors at Lincoln that the Republican Party could not promise any miracles. Others are not so conservative. The Democrats and the La Follies promise miracles of all kinds—even to turning water into wine.

Burlington (N. J.) Enterprise—The Democrats had hoped to advocate radicalism in the West nd conservatism in the East to play both ends against the middle, and now General Dawes exposes their hand, and no Democrat knows how to answer him.

Jacksonville (Ill.) Journal—It is said that the particular task assigned General Dawes in this campaign is to eliminate the bunk. That's a job for which the General is qualified. His whole record shows how much he despises sham and inefficiency.

Philadelphia North American.—It was of Senator La Follette that Colonel Roosevelt said in 1917: "He is acting in such fashion as to make him one of the most potent enemies of this country and a sinister enemy of democracy."

Dubuque Times-Journal.—Senator Wheeler now claims that one of his star witnesses is a liar. It generally turns out that way when several patriots conspire together to bunco the public for their personal advantage.

Somerset County (Pa.) Star—The farmer needs from the Government none of the quack remedies which half-baked, vote seeking politicians advocate. What he needs is just simplified, economical government.

Omaha Bee—All the vociferation of the opposition fails to draw out the noise of the wood sawing being done down in Washington by one Calvin Coolidge.

Buffalo Commercial—Dawes is himself a personification of a campaign of "brass tacks" as opposed to "bombast".

Albany Journal—No nation can gain by buying abroad and closing down its own production in the process.

Wilmington Journal—Republican economy made possible the Treasury surplus and tax reduction.

Drop in today and see one of those beautiful Pearl Necklaces at Clanton Mercantile Co., to be given in exchange for each $100 worth of coupons.

WHAT OTHERS THINK

N. Y. Herald-Trbune—Some of Mr. Davis' friends ought to remind him that the deflation policy of the Federal Reserve system, which he blames for all the ills which befell the farmer, was not entirely a Republican scheme. Mr. Davis himself gives as the date upon which this policy was initiated June 30, 1920. It really started earlier than that. But even on June 30, 1920, the Federal Reserve Board was exactly 100 per cent the creation of President Wilson. It was presided over by W. P. G. Harding, a Southern Democrat appointed by President Wilson, and it included, as ex-officio member, Mr. Wilson's Secretary of the Treasury and his Comptroller of the Currency.

Christain Science Monitor.—The duty of every voter is plain. It should be regarded as a privilege, rather than as a task to record this expression of one's mature judgment at the polls. The temptation is to believe that one vote or a half dozen votes will not change the result. But the grand totals are made up of single votes cast. One can speak as emphatically and as decisively as another, and the result, if there is a full and free expression of the popular will, can never be forecast.

St. Louis Times.—The country wants a constructive administration. To be constructive the executive and legislative branches of government must work in harmony. We must have a Republican President and a workable Repubican Congress or we shall have a repetition of what we have had at the two ends of Pennsylvania Avenue in the last year.

Omaha Bee.—The American people have experimented with but four Democratic administrations since the Civil War. Each of them brought deflation to the farmers—stoppage of work and low wages to labor.

Waterloo Tribune.—No matter what we did to help unravel the entanglement in Europe, we would not be thanked. If we settled all their debts and started them off clean, we feel they would "tell the world" they had it coming to them.

Marion Star.—Senator Wheeler still sort of clings to Roxie as being quite all right but then the Senator is running for public office and we'd like to know what Roxie really thinks of the Senator, confidentially.

Kansas City Journal.—The pleasing feature of the greeting extended to his royal highness is that it is not founded merely on snobbery and the desire to see a prince of the blood, but upon a genuine administration for a young man who in his own right appeals to popular regard. His wholesome and unaffected democracy is proverbial and Americans have accepted him as a "regular fellow."

Dubuque Times Journal.—Everywhere today the call is for the man who can make himself busy in ne ways to reach old ends. The burden of civilization is he who means well, but means well feebly.

Minneapolis Journal.—If Republican legislation and administration had been responsible, as Brother Charles Bryan charged in his acceptance speech, for the spell of agricultural depression, it would be only fair to assume that the same nefarious agencies have brought about the present prosperity-promising prices.

A MUTE INGLORIOUS END

Two hundred and eighteen ships of the Government's wooden fleet have been sold to ship breakers and will be burned in one great bonfire in order that the metal they contain may be more profitably extracted. The boats cost the taxpayers $235,000,000. They have been sold for $262,000, about one-tenth of one per cent of their cost.

Thus is "finis" marked over one of the most monumental prices of Democratic stupidity and extravagance of the many that featured the efforts of that party in the world war.

Not a single wooden ship carried a soldier or a piece of munitions to France. Not one of them ever made an overseas voyage, and but few attempted to engage in the coastwise trade.

Practical men freely predicted that such would be the outcome when the wooden shipbuilding program was entered upon. But Mr. Wilson had confined his shipping policy to the tender care of political supporters totally innocent of any special knowledge along that line. Sharp disagreements prevented the adoption of any program for many months, but in the end the politicians prevailed, and the ridiculous wooden fleet was the result. The boats will soon be but a memory, but let us hope that that memory will persist and prevent the return to power for all time of the pernicious influences that saddled such a totally unnecessary burden upon the people.

TANGIBLE EVIDENCE

Such demonstrations as those that took place in all of our cities and towns on Defense Day not only aid the Government in formulating plans for the National Defense, but are tangible evidence to our patriotic citizens tht the schemes of the pacifists amount to little. The columns of publicity that are accorded the pacifist movement from time to time are all out of proportion to its importance. They may be accounted for in much the same way as the quantity of news matter that followed the discovery of dinosaur eggs in the Gobi Desert and of white Indians in Darien. The people want to know all about anything unique or abnormal. And those words exactly desribes the pacifists. Practically all of our people are entirely natural, normal, patriotic citizens, always ready to respond to the call of the Government and to rush to its defense in time of need.

IT IS SALESMANSHIP

It is said there is likely to be a deficit at the British Empire exhibition at Wembley near London. But it is reported that 10,000,000 people have already visited the exposition, with two months more to go, and the information that they have absorbed and will transmit to others, of the vast resources of the Empire will be well worth the cost to those who backed the project. It would be worth a substantial appropriation if a similar exhibition of our own resources could be arranged in this country. Few people have a conception of the almost unlimited variety of products that come from America territory. While not the products of the British Empire.

The Road To Better Health

PROTECT THE SCHOOL CHILDREN AGAINST DISEASE

BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

A healthy child will usually get plenty of exercise and have a good appetite. It is up to those who are responsible for the child's welfare to see that it gets plenty of rest, has a proper diet, and is suitably clothed according to the season and the weather.

Habits that are likely to result in either spreading or contracting disease should be corrected. In this respect it is important to remember that much disease gains entrance to the system through the mouth.

The prevention of disease as far as possible, and the detection and removal of all such defects as may handicap the child in its ability to learn, and later to work, are very important matters deserving serious consideration at the school age. Those are amongst the many problems that come with September and the opening of the schools.

Very in Precaution

Different communities vary considerably in the amount of precaution that is taken to prevent the occurrence and spread of disease among the school children. The result is that the amount of preventable disease occurring among the pupils of different schools shows considerable variation.

Aside from the ordinary measures of hygene that are practiced more or less widely, certain specific disease preventive measures have been instituted in many schools. These measures generally consist in rendering the individual pupil immune to certain infectious diseases. And, in overcoming conditions that favor the development of others.

Diptheria is a dangerous disease that occurs too frequently among school children. It causes too many deaths each year in spite of the fact that it can now be classed among the preventable disease.. Not only can diphtheria be prevented, but it is also possible to determine susceptibility by means of the Schick test, a harmeless procedure causing no inconvenience.

The Schick test is crried out by injecting a small amount of diphtheria toxin into the skin of the foreman. Within a day or two a slight redness and swelling appear at the point of injection if susceptibility exists. In those who are not so readily susceptible can be made resistant, or immune, to diphtheria by the administation of toxin-anti-toxin.

Iodine for Goiter

In those regions where the drinking water and the food are deficient in iodine some degree of goiter occurs aming a large number of the people, particularly children. Its frequency of occurrence can be considerably lessened by the scientific administration of small amounts of iodine, as prescribed by the physician or school authority.

Regular medical inspections of the school children are carried out in an increasing number of communities and offer much protection against the wholesale exposure of large numbers to dangerous contagious diseases. Such inspections also make possible the early detection and removal of many defects that may retard the child's progress. The sooner defective eyesight, adenoids, diseased tonsils, bad teeth, faulty posture and constitutional disturbances are detected and remedied, the better it will be for both the health and the education of the child.

Vaccination against small-pox continues to be strongly advisable even though it may not be compulsory. The number of severe cases and the high death rate among the un-vaccinated in some of the recent epidemics occurring in the western states and in Windsor, Ont., leaves little doubt as to the value of effective vaccination as a preventitive.

It is foolish for parents to object to having their chidren protected against small-pox, which has produced as many as one death in each three cases occurring among the unprotected in some of the outbreaks of recent years. Modern vaccination is clean and safe, and is the only thing that prevents small-pox.

Many communities have carried out some or all of these measures with excellent results. The means of disease prevention that are accepted throughout the scientific world should have a more widespread application in the schools.

HEALTH QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ringworm

C. L. B. asks: "What causes ringworm and what does it look like? Is it contagious?"

Ans.—Ringworm is caused by a parasitic fungus called the trichophyton fungus. It may affect the scalp, the beard, the general body surface, or the nails. Ringworm begins as one or more rounded or irregular, reddened, scaly patches. It spreads around the edge in the form of a widening circle while the center has a tendency to heal, so the fully developed patches are usually ring-shaped. The margin is usually slightly elevated.

Ringworm is contagious, and may be transmittd from one person to another. Affected animals, such as dogs and cats, may also be the source of infection.

Styes

T. M. asks: "What causes styes? I am troubled with them quite often."

Ans.—"A stye is an inflammation of one of the little glands on the margin of the eyelid. It usually results in the formation of a small amount of pus. Some of the common causes are: eyestrain from some defect of vision; anemia; constipation; irr-i tation of the eyes by dust, wind and smoke.

Have your eyes tested to find out if you shoud wear glasses. Try to get your bowels regulated by attention to your diet, drinking enough water, and getting enough exercise. Eat vegetables, laxative fruits, cereals, bran; eat agar or take mineral oil if necessary.

Bathe your eyes with a warm boric acid solution, and put a couple of drops of a 10 per cent argyrol solution into the eye, night and morning. But be sure to have your eyes examined. It would also be a good idea to be examined by your doctor to make certain that you have no constitutional disturbance. Unless you remove the underlying cause you are likely to continue to have styes.

Ford - Graham Wedding.

A pretty wedding was that of Miss Lorena Ruth Graham of Thorsby and Mr. John W. Ford, Jr., of Binghamton, N. Y. The wedding took place at the Congregational church of Thorsby at 9:30 Thursday morning, September 18th. The church was beautifully decorated with green and goldenrod and chrysanthemums. White tapers burned in antique brass candelabra on each side of the altar. Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. C. R. Foss at the organ and Miss Eram Griffin of Montgomry at the violin, offered appropriate selections. At 9:30, as Mill Naomi Turnquist played the wedding march, Rev. Arnold W. Hayes, a returned missionary from Brazil, S. A., and brother-in-law of the groom, took his place at the altar. He was followed by the groom and the best man, Mr. Robert Ford, brother of the groom.

Miss Eloise Abernathy of Birmingham, maid of honor, entered alone from the opposite direction. Miss Abernathy wore a light blue silk and georgette dress with a large picture hat and carried a bouquet of roses. She was followed by the two little flower girls, Martha Ford Hounchell and Elizabeth Ford, nieces of the groom. They were daintily dressed in dresses of apricot and lavender, colored voile, and carried baskets of roses. Then came from the vestry room the bride, who entered with her father, Rev. J. M. Graham, and took her place at the altar beside the groom. he bride wore a white charmuse dress and tulle veil with a bandeau of orange blossoms. Her flowers were bride's roses. The ceremony was wonderfully bautiful and impressive. A reception followed the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Graham, for the out-of-town guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford left on No. 1 for Montgomery for a couple of days stay, from whence they will leave for Savannah, Ga., and take the steamer for their future home at Binghamton. Mr. Ford's traveling costume was a three-piece suit of brown vel-a-seude with muskat trimming and a brown hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Ford spent several years together at school attending Thorsby Institute. Mrs. Ford afterwards graduated from Piedmont College, Demorest, Ga., and then taught two years at Enterprise, Ala., where she made many friends. Mr. Ford is a graduate of Cornell University and is engaged in the floral business in Binghamton, N. Y.

The out-of-town guests were: Mr. John W. Ford, Sr. and wife, father and mother of the groom, of Montgomery, Mr. Frank Ford and family from Tennessee, Mr. Robert Ford of Mississippi, brothers of the groom, Mrs. Paul Hounchell and two little daughters, sister and nieces of the groom, Rev. Arnold Hayes and wife and little son from Brazil, S. A., Mrs. Chas. Ford of Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Graham and wife of Anniston and James A. Graham of Montgomery, both brothers of the bride, the Misses Eram Griffin and Edna Alexander of Montgomery, Miss Fletcher Jacobs of Scottsboro, Miss Eloise Abernathy of Birmingham and Mrs. Bertha Abernathy of Montgomery. There were about 200 guests present at the ceremony.

School News.

Largely through the efforts of Miss Mae Stoddard, a former teacher at Thorsby Institute, enough money has been secured to finish putting new single desks into the assembly hall. These will be ordered at once. The double desks that are now in the assembly hall have been sold to one of the schools in the county.

The halls of Thorsby Institute and one of the recitation rooms have recently ben given two coats of paint and look very nice. A part of the money that the senior class gave to the school has been used to purchase black boards for one of the recitation rooms.

The Institute library, which as all know, is open free to the public, as one of the best libraries in the State outside of the cities, is being patronized more and more. It has a wide collction of reference books, histories, biographies, etc., as well as fiction for old and young.

Mrs. M. C. Post, who was connected with the school a few years ago as a volunteer worker, has again come to Thorsby Institute to help in various ways. The school is very glad to have her back with us again.

Mr. C. R. Foss and Mr. C. E. Lucas motored to Montgomery Tuesday on a business trip.

The Congregational Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. E. W. Butler Thursday, October 2.

Mr. C. A. Norman, superintendent of concrete work on the new highway has moved to Thorsby and is occupying Mrs. Villadsens green bungalow.

Mr. M. E. Willis of Billingsley is one of our new comers. He is in the green house belonging to Mr. Gulledge south of Thorsby Inn. Two of Mr. Willis' daughters are students at Thorsby Institute.

Rev. J. M. Graham moved his family to Montgomery Tuesday. We are sorry to lose this good family and expect to see them returning to Thorsby sooner or later. Mr. Graham's son, James A. Graham, has a position there with the Durr Drug Co.

Mr. Herbert Peterson and family spent Sunday with relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Graham of Anniston, spent the past week with Mr. Graham's parents Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Graham and, took in the Ford-Graham wedding.

Mr. L. H. Johnson, who was formerly employed on the highway here, returned with his wife last Saturday. They will be located here for some time and Mr. Johnson will continue his work on the highway. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson are stopping at the Thorsby Inn.

Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Bentley are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby daughter, born Sept. 16th.

J. Scott Caverno, an old resident of Thorsby, has been on the street the past week. It is hard to forget Thorsby.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan entertained the Ford-Graham bridal party at their home the night before the wedding, after the rehearsal at the church. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mr. Willie Scott spent several days in town last week.

Mr. O. C. Jackson visited last week with her sister, Mrs. Milliken at Talladega.

Mr. Carl Peterson and wife and little Jack, left last Friday for a visit in Illinois and Wisconsin.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen was a visitor in Clanton last Monday.

The Ladies Guild gave their annual reception to the students, faculty and others last Saturday evening. A very interesting program was rendered.

Rev. J. C. Whorton has left the work here at Thorsby and will take up his new field at Leeds, Ala.

The rally day service at the Congregationl church was largely attended and was represented by all the Sunday School workers from the cradle-roll class to the Bible class. An inersting and pleasant program was given to the audience. Rev. J. M. Graham occupied the pulpit in the evening.

LIBERTY HILL

Our singing society met Sunday afternoon with a large crowd and had good singing. The president, Mr. Leonard Culp, being absent, Prof. J. W. Lowery acted as chairman. The directors for the afternoon were: Prof. J. W. Lowery, Mr. Zack Lowery, Mr. Harrison Hayes, Misses Neacie and Claudie Smith. Organists were Miss Bonnie Littlejohn and Mrs. Paul Littlejohn. We had several special songs for the afternoon.

This society will meet with the Cedar Grove society next Sunday afternoon. All singers and lovers of music are invited to come and bring your 1924 song books with you.

NEW SALEM

The ladies social club of New Salem church will give a weight supper at the home of Mrs. Ernest Porter one-half mile south of Thorsby on Saturday night, September 27. Also a new quilt will be given away, so come and buy a chance on the quilt. Chances will sell for 10c, and lucky number will get the quilt. Everybody come.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

While "Listening in" on the Radio last night, we heard a man giving a story of a "Tour by Radio," in which he told of an automobile trip from New York city to Saranac Lake in the Adirondack Mountains in the north-eastern part of the state of New York.

Having at one time in the past covered practically the same route in a more interesting way, and spent nearly three months amid the beauties and wonders of that region, we can give an account of it that will be quite as interesting to readers of The Union-Banner, as the story we heard last night was to the vast audience of Radio Fans.

One interesting feature of such a trip is the fact that although one may take it, he still leaves it for as any as choose to come afer him to enjoy! Modes of Travel may change and the puny efforts of men may make some slight changes in the landscape as time goes on, but the glories of nature in mountains, valleys, lakes and streams will endure for centuries.

In the summer of 1911 the writer with his wife and 11 year old son Edwin, were invited to become the guests of our brother Edwin Norton, of New York, for a sojourn in the Adirondack Mountains where he had 1000 acres as a play ground Mrs Norton was so ill as to scarcely be able to sit up or travel, but we felt that such a chance would be beneficial and chose to go by water, as much of the way as possible, going by rail to Savannah, and by steamer on the ocean to New York. One who enters New York harbor early on a clear summer morning, gets a view never to be forgotten; In this setting one obtains the best and most picturesque view of a scene equalled nowhere else in all the world. Coming up the ever narrowing shores of the outer bay lying between Long Island and Governors Island until we reached "The Narrows" where the channel is about half mile wide, but soon opens out again to view of the fast receding shores covered by the city of Brooklyn on the right, and the great forts and government buildings at the left. The ever growing Statue of Liberty in the foreground and lower New York nd the New Jersey shores for a background, we thread our way through an armada of water craft of all shapes and sizes, from all parts of the world and finally dock at one of the great piers lining the Hudson River.

As we land on the pier we are met by our brother H. N. Norton, who escorts us to the New York Central terminal station, where we take a train for his suburban home at Mount Vernon, 20 miles out from New York. It being Sunday we spend the day quietly visiting with the family, all of whom were then at home, the brother his wife and oldest daughter, we were never to see again, they have all passed away. After a good night's rest we got an early start back to the city, to embark on a daylight trip up the Hudson River. Two magnificent River steamers are used alternately for these daylight trips up and down the river. One of them is named Robert Fulton, in honor of the man who invented the Steamboat and first ran it on the Hudson River. There are no scenic water routes in this country, and few in the world, that are more picturesque, or filled with so many historic objects along the way. As a consequence this trip is taken by tourists from all over the world, and there is never any lack of passengers, when the weather is suitable for outdoor travel.

Leaving New York about 8 a.m., the river banks on either side seem to be sliding past in an endless panorama of exquisite landscapes and important cities, villages and historic places that keep one who cares for them always busy, yet unlike train travel there is scarcely any perceptible motion of the steamer, and there is plenty of time to get a good look at any object before it vanishes. In other words one has more time to take in th passing show.

At 5 P. M. we reached Albany, the Capitol city of the state of New York, where we were to spend the night, but having sent no notice that we were coming, it looked for awhile as if we would have to sleep on the grass in the park. Some convention was on at the time and the hotels were running over. However, at one of the best ones we finnaly found a suite of rooms so swell that ordinary people would not pay for it, but as it was getting late they let us have it at a big reduction and we had a good nights rest.

Next morning we took a train for Westport, N. Y. away up on the shore of Lake Champlain near the Canada line where we arrived about 2 P. M. and took a stage about twenty miles back into the mountains, to a hotel named Hunter's Home.

One might judge from its name that it was not a Tutwiler, or a Gay-Teague, but it was good of its kind. In the arrangement made for us we were given our choice to stay at this hotel or go to a camping bungalow, which our brother had prepared, on his land further up in the mountains, for a daughter recently married he entertained a lot of her friends at a camping party.

We stayed one night at the hotel, then got a pony and Buckboard and went up to see the camp Bungalow. Although Mrs Norton had stood the trip pretty well she was still too ill to sit up long at at a time or do much walking. We found the place ideal and completely furnished for camping comfort. After Mrs. Norton had looked it over, we got her an easy chair for her out on the porch, where she could see the mountains and valleys and breathe the health giving air. After taking in what she could of the situation she said in a weak voice "You may bring up the trunks, I'm Not going back to that hotel".

We had no trouble to get supplies, the groceryman visited us regularly and we got fresh butter milk and eggs from farmers in the vicinity. The writer was camp cook, and we lived well. Mrs. Norton began to improve from the first and in three weeks time she was climbing over the mountains with us. There were no roads to most of the places we wanted to go, and our little Edwin was a good scout to follow a trail, even when there was no path, but only blazed trees to mark the way. Here we could see floating below us and once we saw a thunder storm from the top side.

One time we climbed a steep and long trail and came out on a level tract where there were great flat rocks some of them very comfortable seats. Here we saw what we found by climbing everywhere we went. We got views of other heights beyond and hitherto undreamed of beauties in valleys we had never seen. Always our labor was rewarded by new and beautiful scenes or objects. Once we discovered a charming small lake nestled in one of these mountain valleys, with Edwin for a guide we found a trail over the mountain, to this lake and afterwards made several fishing trips to it. In another direction the Boquet river comes tumbiing down over rocks and waterfalls adding its scenic beauty to the landscape. This is one stream on which the Government has so far permitted no dam to be built. At flood times it becomes a raging torrent. And the safety of the people living along its lower reaches must be considered. It is also a stream that abounds in Brook Trout and other toothsome fish, as it has not been polluted by refuse from factories, like many of our New England streams.

Had our Edwin lived we should probably have returned to visit these scenes more than once. For we know of no more delightful and health giving place on earth. Our summer there was one long season of rest and recuperation. When the September days and nights began to wax too cold for comfort, with such facilties as we had for heat at the camp, we moved to a farmhouse lower down, where we had all we needed to be comfortable, here we staid until October, when with nerves and health restored, we turned our faces toward our Southland home. We had no desire to experience a winter in a locality where the mercury goes to 35 degrees below zero, as it did in this very place the winter before our visit there.

The scenes, the trip and incidents are as fresh in our mind as though a glimpse of the fascinating picture stored in our memory we shall be glad of it. One of the joys of travel is the pleasures of memory. Somehow the things that may annoy for the moment, are forgotten, but the beautiful and the good, "NEVER".

MUNCHER-JACKSON WEDDING

On last Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jackson of Lomax, their daughter, Miss Jessie Jackson, was married to Carl Muncher of Bessemer. There was a large crowd present to witness the ceremony, which was performed by Judge L. H. Reynolds.

The bride was dressed in a beautiful traveling suit, and Mr. Muncher wore a black tailored wedding suit. A ring was placed on Mrs. Muncher's finger, and she was told that her love should be as binding and as endless as the ring.

After the ceremony a splendid supper was set for all. The wedding cake was cut by Judge Reynolds. Mrs. Muncher, the bride, cut the ring. Everybody enjoyed the occsion very much. Shortely after they were married the couple left for Birmingham, whre they will make their future home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Jackson are prominent citizens of this county and commnd the respect and admiration of a large host of friends, all of whom wish for their daughter and her husband a long and happy life together.

MRS. JEFFERSON ENTERTAINS AT PARTY

On last Saturday evening Mrs. T. W. Jefferson of Lawley entertained for her husband at a surprise birthday party in honor of his birthday.

He had not realized that it was his birthday until all the guests had gathered in and they were ready to serve dinner.

The home was beautifully decorated, the color scheme being pink and white.

A lovely four-course dinner was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Latham, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Gentry, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cleveland, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gwin, Mrs. J. M. Collins; also a number of young people.

Afterwards music was rendered by Mrs Gwin and Miss Cornelia Jefferson. Then the guests began to leave. Everyone seemed to have enjoyed the party to the fullest extent.

SARDIS CONVENTION

The county convention of the Harp and Harmony met at Sardis Saturday and Sunday. It was a great gathering and an enjoyable occasion.. Attendance was extremely large. Many singers were there from different parts of the county. The dinner was a bounty, rich and free for all, which was enjoyed by the great concourse of people.

Sardis sure did her part. The kindness of the people was unbounded. Our visit there will be remembered with pleasure all through life. We never can say too much in praise of the good people of Sardis.

The convention was pleased to have as visitors Mr. J. A. Deason and daughter, Miss Yuell, and Mr. M. C. Holmes of Talladega. All good singers. Miss Yuell nicely directed several selections. The convention on learning of the illness of Mr. W. J. Morris, as a token of sympathy, joined in singing one of his favorite old songs, "Angel Band." It was a very touching occasion.

Mr. Hayes, chairman of the Sardis modern singing society, has our many thanks for his great kindness.

The next session of the convention goes to Cedar Grove in May, 1925.

THE CHAIRMAN.

What is the Value of the Railroads

In order that the reader may have a clearer idea as to the real value of the railroads, and whether or not legislation should be enacted which would reduce their valuation, to the great detriment of the carriers, the following figures are presented:

There are approximately 400,000 miles of track, including switches and side tracks. It is certainly not unfair to figure the value at $25,000 a mile (the cost to-day to build a mile is about $50,000), which would make this one item alone total	$10,000,000,000
There are about 70,000 locomotives in use. The value of these at $30,000 each (the 6,600 or more locomotives bought in the last two years have cost on an average of about $60,000 each for freight and $50,000 each for passenger) totals	2,100,000,000
There are nearly 2,400,000 freight cars which, valued at $1,200 each (the average cost of a freight car to-day is about $2,000) would total	2,880,000,000
There are some 60,000 passenger-train cars which, valued at only $15,000 each (all-steel passenger cars now average $35,000 each) would bring this item to	900,000,000
These four items of roadway and equipment give us an extremely conservative valuation of $15,880,000,000. Yet they do not take into consideration many important items, chief of which are as follows:
Value of terminal yards, often located on highly valuable city property—of all stations, roundhouses, shops, terminal freight and passenger stations, general office buildings, countless section houses and other buildings—of all equipment employed by the railroads for maintenance, such as work cars and locomotives, machinery, tools and derricks—of a vast quantity of current supplies needed in the operation—of telephone and telegraph lines and equipment. Certainly the value of these countless items would amount to at least	4,120,000,000
Bringing the total valuation to not less than	$20,000,000,000

The tentative valuation of the railroads, at the end of 1919, was found by the Interstate Commerce Commission to be $18,900,000,000. This valuation was based on cost and prices up to 1914, and therefore includes no war-time inflation of values. The subsequent investment of nearly $2,000,000,000 makes the valuation for rate-making purposes more than $20,000,000,000.

With the above figures before you, do you consider a reduction to $13,000,000,000 in the valuation of American railroads, now being attempted by certain interests, fair; or does it not appear to you that such a confiscation of values would, in effect, be a denial to the railroads of their chief means of keeping pace with the development of the country?

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. W. Z. HODGES, Editor.

Card Club Entertaind.

At her home on Tenth Street, Mrs. Willis Lyman entertained the members of the Wednesday Card Club and a few other friends on last Wednesday afternoon. A variety of autumn flowers ffectively brightened the entire interior. Bridge was played at four tables, and afterwards delicious refreshments were served. After a sries of rubbers the top score was held by Mrs. John Browder, who was given a couple of decks of congress cards. The club members and guests were: Mesdames H. Alred, Browder, N. S. Johnson, Hugh Jons, Oscar Jones, G. Reynolds, Simpson, Frank Callen, Arthur Johnson, Hosea Downs, Guy Higgins, Bowen Jones, and Miss Kathleen Mullins.

Mrs. Jessie Chandler and Mrs. Claude Jones organized a Junior Missionary Society last Wednesday afternoon, at the new Methodist church. A very interesting program ws planned. The society will meet once a month at the homes of the different members on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. After the work was planned for the society, the members were invited to the home of Mrs. Chandler, where different games were played. Afterwards an ice course was served.

Miss Lucile Calloway is visiting Clara Calloway this week.

Mr. John Fox is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Fox.

All the members and teachers of the Baptist Sunday School are requested to be present next Sunday.

Miss Roberta Curry, who has been spending some time with her sister, Mrs. Clint Jones, in Ashville, N. C., came home last week.

Mr. Clarence Evans from Birmingham spent a few days with his mother recently.

The Baptist and Methodist ladies met Tuesday afternoon to make arrangements to sell tickets to the Radcliffe Chautauqua, which will be in Clanton October 6, 7 and 8.

The members of the Philathia class are urged to meet at the home of Mrs. Mallie White next Friday afternoon.

You will find the very newest thing in sweaters for the whole family at Chicago Sales Co., next to First National Bank.

"HOW DREAMS COME TRUE"

The women of the W. M. U. S. of the Baptist Church wish to extend a cordial invitation to all interested in this cause. Quite a unique way has been devised for drawing the members for the circles for another year.

A beautiful pageant of clear-thought and deep spiritual insight illustrating the title "How Dreams Come True," will be put on at the church on Tuesday afternoon, September 30 at 3:30.

A treat is in store for all who attend as the pageant has been very painstakingly worked out by Mrs. Ezell, and is a subject so vitally a part of that cause for which she has so patiently and faithfully labored during the two years of her wonderful leadership. We feel that it is not only a child of her brains but the child of her heart as well, and it therefore expresses that inward touch of love which draws us closer to the work of the Master.

This pageant will be very beautifully depicted by the girls of the Young Womens Auxiliary, whose efforts we should feel it our duty to encourage.

MRS. HAYES.

LAWLEY NEWS

I am glad to say that Lawley is improving. Mr. H. C. McKinney of Centerville has located here and has started the old gin, that people will remember as Mr. J. M. Collins', and he is now putting in a planning mill.

Mr. J. N. Mitchell has put up a garage here.

We are glad for anything new to start here for we feel that it will help the place.

We have had visitors here from Quincy, Florida, for the last week, Messrs. Eddie Hawkins, Austin Frazier, C. B. McGee and Irvin Johnson motored through in a car. They will start back to Quincey this morning and we hope they will have a successful trip.

Miss Olivia Latham leaves this morning for Montevallo, where she will enter the Alabama College. We regret so much to see so many of our young people leaving for school for we will miss them so much. Miss Latham will be missed in our B. Y. P. U., where she has served as president so long; also she has had charge of a S. S. class almost a year.

Mr. Charley Collins, who holds a position as barber in Tuscaloosa, spent Sunday at home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Collins.

Mr. Moody Collins, who has been in Quincy, Fla., since Christmas, came home Sunday. We all welcomed him back. He says he is going to stay in Alabama for a while.

The school here opened up last Monday morning and we feel that it will be a successful school with Mr. J. W. Cleveland, Misses Lexie Jones and Virginia Mount as teachers.

On Wednesday night, Sept. 11, a most delightful party was given by Miss Cornelia Jefferson at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Jefferson. The guests were ushered into the living room by Miss Jefferson where they were entertained with some games and music. Afterwards they were carried into the dining room, where it was beautfiully decorated with ferns and flowers and was served with cream and cake. Everyone reported a mighty good time.

We are glad to announce that the people of Maplesville, who have just given a minstrel down there for the benefit of the school, will bring the same minstrel to Lawley Thursday night, September 25th, and have it for the benefit of our school. We think it will be mighty nice of them to help us out, and hope that they will have a large crowd out to greet them. We are going to entertain them as best we can while they are in our community.

Eight men were arrested in Montgomery when state law enforcement officers raided two stills in Shelby County. Nine hundred gallons of beer and 32 gallons of whisky were destroyed.

Morgan County Kiwanis Club members at a recent meeting discussed plans for aiding school children who need assistance to remain in school this year. Several reports were made on cases which are thought worthy and plans made to render such assistance.

In the proportion of counties of the state with fully organized county public health units, and in the percentage of people served by public health organizations, Alabama is second in the United States.

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows:

"I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed.

CARDUI

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . ., she suffered so little pain.

"My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."

Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists'.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE HELD AT CO. HIGH SCHOOL THIS WEEK

150 Teacher Attend One of Most Spirited Institutes Ever Held In Chilton County.

The Chilton County Teachers Institute, under the supervision of Miss Dannylu Belser, State Supervisor of Elementary Education, was held at the high school building in Clanton Monday and Tuesday of this week. there were only two or three teachers of the county unable to attend the institute, there being 150 present. Reports say that the institute was very fine in every respect, all the teachers as well as the visiting speakers taking considerable interest in the work.

On Monday, after the opening exercises and enrollment, introductory remarks were made by the Conductor, after which the subject, "How to reorganize Schools on the 6-3-3 Plan was ably discussed by Miss Belser. Prof. A. W. Shelton of Jacksonville Normal School, was present and addressed the teachers Monday. Dr. H. W. James of the Alabama College, Montevallo, also spoke.

Tuesday morning the opening exercises were conducted by C. M. Williams, Miss Evelyn Beck and Mrs. J. A. Peterson. "How to Use the Course of Study, was discussed by W. E. G. Sutton, H. A. Harris, and T. C. Sephens. "Health and Physical Education with Demonstration of Exercises and Games," J. A. Peterson. "Testing Achievement in Primary Reading" was spoken to by Miss Belser, after which came Primary, Intermediate and High School Departmental Meetings.

Great importance was attached to the discussion of "Silent Reading" by Dr. Sherrell. Other speeches were heartily received from Dr. Palmer of the Alabama Educational Association, Dr. H. W. James from the Alabama College and Prof. A. W. Shelton of the Jacksonville Normal School.

The session was closed about 1:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon with some pointed remarks by the County Superintendant of Education, Prof. H. L. Foshee.

CLANTON CHAUTAUQUA HERE MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY

The Radcliffe Chautauqua opens in Clanton Monday of the next week, and will exhibit twice daily for 3 days. The plan of the arrangement committee are to locate the Chautauqua on the vacant lot just below the Lawrence Garage on Sixth Street. This phase has not yet been definitely settled, but it is almost sure that this is where the Chautauqua will be held.

The good citizens of Clanton who are sponsoring this Chautauqua deserve the hearted support of the entire citizenship of our town. They have gone to lots of trouble and expense in getting this series of wholesome entertainment for our people, and all the people should appreciate their efforts enough to make the thing a decided success.

The numbers on every program will contain ideas that will be uplifting and inspirational to the populace, and this fact alone should warrant its support from all. One needs not look far away to perceive the dire need for things that will tend to inspire and elevate the morality and rectitude of people in general, and nothing will afford this much desired effect more than good, clean and refined entertainment, such as is afforded by the Chautauqua. So, let all good citizens line up with those who are pushing the Chautauqua and make it a success, thus doing our bit toward the betterment of our community in general.

The price of season tickets for adults is $2.00. Season tickets will be furnished to students attending any school in the county for $1.00. There will be fourteen performances by the best talent in the country. Remember, Chautauqua opens at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoons and 7:30 at night.

CHILTON COUNTY NEGRO TRAINING SCHOOL OPENS

The Chilton County Training School opened its fist session Monday, Sept. 29th, 1924, with a packed auditorium of bright-faced boys and girls. Many parents were present to greet the faculty, county and state supervisors. Our principal's advocacy for a goodly number of students and better work will deter many piessing cries of knwledge-stricken pupils entering in this term.

Among the spekers at the opening xercises were: Miss: Mary Foster, State Supervisor, Miss Creagher, Co. Supervisor, and Rev. N. C. Shepard, pastor of the Hopewell Baptist Church, Clanton, Ala. Miss Foster expressed her congratulation upon having a school of this kind in the county. She spoke many encouraging words concerning the marked progress that the Negro Training Schools are making in the various counties of the State. This is the first event that she or anyone else has witnessed where the children in a town were transported to the country for the purpose of getting a higher education. The first school in Alabama where public funds have been given for the transportation of Negro boys and girls.

Let us all look forward to a most successful school termt with the prospects looming brighter each day.

LOUISIANA HIT BY DESTRUCTIVE FOREST FIRE

Families Living Near Swamps are Forcer to Flee for their Lives.

Ponchatoula, La., Sept. 30.—Families living near the swamps a mile south of here and on small farms to the east were forced to flee from their homes yesterday and last night when forest fires, fanned by hign winds, were raging in those sections. Valuable timber and farm possessions have been destroyed.

Several members of a logging train crew were severely burned when their train was stalled and hemmed in by the fire near Rathborn. They were rescued by a relief locomotive which dashed through the fire to where the men nad been trapped. Loaded cars of the stalled train were burned.

The fire started four days ago but made slow progress until yesterday when the high winds caused it to spread rapidly.

3-CENT SLASH IN GAS PRICES IS ANNOUNCED

Gulf Refining Company Effective In Five States Yesterday

Reduction of the price of gasoline from 21 to 18 cents was announced Tuesday by P. H. Acosta, Birmingham manager of the Gulf Refining company, effective Wednesday. This reduction takes effect in Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Alabama, he said.

D. H. Bohler, district manager of the Standard Oil company, stated that if the cut by the Gulf Refining company, goes into effect, the price will be met by the Standard. He stated, however, that he had not received any price of 18 cents a gallon, it is said.

THREE BOYS ENGAGE IN CUTTING SCRAPE FRIDAY NIGHT

As a result of a fuss between three boys, Posey Williamson of Pinedale was rather severely whittled up last Friday night. The racket occurred in front of Sam Littleton's home near Macedonia church. The other two boys engaged in the affray were Robert Cleckler and Horace Mims. It is not known how the racket started, but reports say that there was whiskey in the affair.

Williams was cut so severely that he was brought to the Central Alabama for treatment, but was released in a short while. The officers went out and arrested Cleckler and Mims and brought them to jail. They made bond Monday for $500 each and were released.

SAVINGS DEPOSITS IN U. S. SHOW A GREAT INCREASE

Growth for August in 909 Banks of Nation is More Than $18,000,000.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Savings deposits in 909 banks distributed throughout the United States increased nearly $18,000,000 during August, 1924, according to reports to the federal reserve board. Increases occurred in all federal reserve districts except Chicago but amounted to less than 0.5 per cent, in all expect Cleveland, where an increase of 1.5 per cent followed an increase of 2.5 per cent in July.

Total savings deposits were 0.2 per cent greater on September 1 than on August 1, and 7 per cent greater than on September 1, 1923.

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS SOWELL ARRESTED WITH SOME WHISKEY SATURDAY

On October 12, 1492, Christopher Columbus made a great discovery, so history tells us. But on Saturday, September 27, 1924, Christopher Columbus Sowell, negro explorer of Clanton, attempted a "wet" expedition, but he did not meet with the encouragement which the fifteenth century Columbus met with.

Deputy Will Culp arrested Sowell at Popwell's Gin last Saturday with two soda water bottles of whiskey in his pockets. Sowell was brought to jail but made bond and was released the same day. He will be tried at the circuit court.

AN ADDRESS TO THE PEOPLE OF ALABAMA

On another page of this issue of The Union-Banner, is carried an address by L. H. Reynolds, chairman of the State Republican Campaign Committee, directed to the people of Alabama. This address contains information of vital civic interet to the people of our entire State.

The unspekable way the last Democratic Legislature messed up its business, the tactics of Senator Underwood and his cohorts to control the Alabama delegation to the Democratic national convention, and more recently, the crazy and disgusting manner in which the Democratic national convention was conducted at Madison Square Garden, has caused some of the good heretofore "Solid Democrats" of Alabama to open their eyes. The Democratic party has functioned in Alabama and propagated its poisonous political tactics, playing upon the prejudices of the people, for many years, but the day is dawning when the people of "Here we Rest" are going to demand their rights as citizens of a free country. Our people have lived here in political slavery for a long time, but they are gradually waking up to the situation, and ere many years, they are going to revolutionize political conditions in the State.

The argument used to hold forth that one political party could do more good than two. Of course, this kind of propaganda has never been spread by anyone except those political tarleeches who had the reins and knew that with any opposition at all they would lose out. The people are fast becoming educated along this line. No political party will render its best service unopposed. If we had a reasonably strong Republican party in Alabama, even though we never succeeded in electing a candidate to office, you would see the Democratic office-holders give more service to their constituents. Yes, indeed, Alabama needs two strong politcal parties, and the day is dawning when we are going to have them.

Turn to this address by Judge Reynolds and read it. It will do you good whether you are a Democrat or a Republican. It contains some vital facts that every vote in the State ough to know.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 25.—Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the Navy, was nominated for Governor by the New York Republican state convention here Thursday. The choice was made upon the first ballot.

Colonel Roosevelt had a majority over the combined votes for his three competitors, Col. William Hayward of New York, District Attorney Guy B. Moore of Buffalo, and Justice Arthur S. Tompkins of Nyack. The vote was Roosevelt, 563; Hayward, 187; Moore 101; Tompkins, 134.

H. ALLEN MIMS DIES SUNDAY AFTERNOON

On last Sunday evening, September 28th at 7 o'clock, the death angel visited the home of Rev. and Mrs. W. P. Mims of Temple Community and wafted away the spirit of their son, Allen. The young man was born August 14, 1900. He had been in bad health for the past few months, but the stroke and death came as a great surprise to his many friends.

A short while after arising on Saturday morning, he was stricken with something like paralysis, and lay unconscious for 37 hours before death laid its relentless hand upon him.

Before he passed, his father and several others testified to having received an assurance that he was going to a place of rest.

Interment was made in Temple Cemetery, with Martin, undertaker, in charge. Rev. G. B. Golden of Walnut Creek conducted the funeral ceremony. That his friends were many, was proved by the throngs who visited during his short illness and attended the funeral.

The young man leaves a father, mother, one brother, and three sisters to mourn his death.

Always, generous, gay and fun-loving, he leaves a vacancy never to be refilled.

NOTES OF TRAVEL
(By S. E. NORTON)

Most people have very hazy ideas of the origin of a lot of things they commonly use in their day's work. Newspapers and magazines seldom give descriptions of manufacturing process. This cannot be, that there is nothing interesting about it, but it is possibly accounted for, by the fact, that few men or women, who through experience are competent to tell the story for the press. That is not in their line. However since my "Notes of Travel" are usually descriptive of things we see enroute, and knowing that people who are alive are very much like children and always want "another story," I will tell you this time what we saw in a factory at Middletown, Connecticut, during our visit to Mr. and Mrs. Yancey Kelley, at Portland, Conn., which is just across the Connecticut river from Middletown, which has a population of 15,000.

Nearly everybody uses more or less enamel ware about their homes, with no thought of "how come." But the New England Stamping and Enameling Company, at Middletown makes a great variety of such ware.

First, we must consider the material used—sheet steel. Many of The Union-Banner readers have visited the blast furnaces and rolling mills at Birmingham and vicinity, where the iron ore is melted and run from the furnace in a molten stream, into crude molds made in sand on the floor of the building—when cooled it is taken up in pieces of triangular shape, about four inches across each face and thirty inches long, each weighing upwards of 50 pounds. These ingots are called pig iron, and they are made in many places in this country and other parts of the world. Being the base of all iron and steel products, they constitute a very important article of our commerce.

The next process is the conversion of the pig iron into steel. This is also done in a blast furnace of a different type called puddeling furnaces where certain chemicals and minrals are melted together, in just the proper proportions, with the pig iron, to make the particular grade of steel desired for the purpose intended. For the work we are considering a very soft or malleable steel is required. When properly melted and thoroughly mixed it is drawn from the furnace through a series of heavy rollers which form it into bars of different shapes and sizes. For our use we want material that will make sheet steel, and the bars must be of just the desired width and thickness, to make a given number of sheets of the required number and thickness and of the size wanted. A process which in the beginning can only be determined by test because no one can tell jus how the metal will work in the processes to follow. When once the sizes of bars are determined, each to make a given number of sheets, of a required size, a record is made for future use and becomes a part of the formulae for the pieces into which the steel bars are cut which are called "blooms," varying in size and weight to make the size and thickness of sheets wanted with a minimum of waste of labor or material.

These "blooms" are also an article of commerce, being the product of rolling mills, which make steel bars and shapes. The "blooms" next go to sheet rolling mills where they are again subjected to intense heat, but not melted. As they reach a proper stage, they are quickly removed and put through heavy rollers which reduces the thickness but increases the width and length. While still very hot they pass through one or two more sets of rollers, set closer together. Before they become too cool they are doubled end wise, again it is heated, and put through other rollers and again doubled end wise between each passage through the rollers, until it forms a bunch of sheets called a "pack," somewhat longer than needed on account of the folded ends, which are cut by heavy power shears to exactly the length wanted, the width has been obtained in the process of rolling, which also makes the sheets very hard like tempered steel. To draw out this temper and leave the sheets soft and pliable, these packs are piled on big hand trucks made entirely of metal and rolled into a room called an annealing oven, where they are subjected to a slowly increasing heat until the whole mass becmes almost red hot. The heat is then shut off and left to cool down until the lot, in the oven, is entirely cold, when the sheets are ready for the next operation, pulling loose from the pack. Rolling under pressure makes them stick together more or less, one corner is turned up enough to grasp it with a pair of pliers and it is then pulled off with a sound very much like that made in tearing a piece of cloth.

Rolling in packs does not make all sheets the same thickness, as they must be, approximately to work properly in the process of manufacture of the various articles to be made from them. Hence they have to be sorted, putting sheets of about the same weight, in separate piles, when they are ready for boxing up, and the manufacturer buy those best adapted, by weight, for his purpose.

If you go into a blacksmith shop you will see every time the man heats his iron or steel, and begins to pound it on his anvil, it gives off a shower of sparks, which means that thin scales of the metal have become oxidized in the air, and are jarred loose. Repeated heating and cooing leave just that kind of scale on the sheets of steel, which must be removed before the sheet is ready to use either for tin plating or for enameling. Otherwise blisters would be formed. To remove these scales the sheets are placed in iron racks and submerged in a bath of sulphuric acid, properly diluted with water. This is called pickling, and removes all scale, leaving the sheets smooth and bright. Tinning and the use of tin plate is quite another story from this point on and we will leave that for another story.

We now have the material we must use for enamel ware. Suppose we are making enameled coffee pots. The flaring body is made of our pickeled steel. Also the bottom, the handle, the spout, the cover and the hinge, each is cut and formed with a set of dies made for the purpose and used in a press of suitable size and make. The body takes the biggest and most complicated one. A combination of dies in this press, cuts from the sheet a piece the proper size and shape. Other parts of the die are operated to draw or form the body, upside down, and the top is punched out when the die reaches the bottom of the stroke, as the revolution of the press mechanism is completed the disk made from the bloc in the top falls out below the press, and the coffee pot body is lifted and falls out at the back of the press. All is done at one revolution which takes about as long as to wink your eye twice. Another quick operation with a die punches the holes for the spout. The body is then put in a machine having rollers which trims the bottom of it smooth and turns up a narrow flange. In the same operation a flange left standing inward where the hole for the top was punched out, is rolled inward and looks as if it had been wired. Each of the other parts are made of one piece of metal in their respective dies, all except the hinge for the cover, which requires two pieces. If the knob of the cover is not a separate piece, it is made an integral part of the cover. Next comes the attachment of the various parts to the body. The bottom is cut and formed with a small edge turned up and is just of a size to slip on over a flange standing out from the bottom of the body; it is then put into a machine which neatly rolls it into a double seam, very strong and smooth as a button. The spout, handle and hinge are held firmly in place and welded, or fused, on by a process known as electric welding. No rivets are used. We have described the process of making one coffee pot, but in actual manufacture thy are made by the thousand.

We now come to the enameling. Silicate of soda (liquid glass) with certain pigments for white or colors is the material used and it is usually painted on with a brush, when it sets, which it quickly does, the ware is put on racks and goes into the electrically heated enameling ovens, where it is subjecteed for two minutes, to 1600 degrees of heat when it is taken out left to cool, inspected, wrapped in paper and packed for shipment.

We have selected a coffee pot for our illustration because it is more complicated than any other ware we saw, but the processes are practically the same on dish pans, soap dishes, slop jars, kettles, pails and other articles too numerous to mention.

It is truly a great industry in which large capital and many workers are employed.

JOINED FOR LIFE—UNTIL DEATH DO THEM PART

WASHINGTON, D. C., has in its midst two youthful Filipinos—Lucio and Semplace Godino—who are attracting no small amount of interest and attention. You see, the pair was born together—joined for life by a large segment of backbone which can never be severed. Doctors, who have examined the twins, say they must stay attached, for, were an operation to be performed, neither one could survive it.

The twins, who are sixteen years of age and weigh 260 pounds between them, are musically inclined and are now furthering their education along that line at the capital. Previous to their coming to his country, they were students—and very bright ones, at that—at the government school in the Philippine Islands.

JAPAN REJECTS LEAGUE PACT

DELEGATION GIVES NOTICE THAT JAPAN IS UNABLE TO ACCEPT PROPOSED ARBITRATION IN PRESENT FORM

Geneva.—The Japanese delegation has notified the League of Nations first commission that Japan is unable to accept the proposed arbitration, security and disarmament protocol in its present form.

The announcement Friday followed the refusal of the first commission to accept a Japanese amendment to the protocol that would permit the Council to endeavor to conciliate disputes arising from domestic legislation, such as the immigration legislation in the United States.

Japan's attitude resulted in the most critical situation yet encountered in the three weeks' negotiations over the arbitration project.

Through M. Adachi the Japanese withdrew the amendment. This is interpreted to mean that Japan will refuse to sign the protocol.

The amendment would have permitted Japan to carry the immigration dispute to the League Council if The Hague Court declared it to be a purely domestic question. It is predicted that The Hague Court would certainly make this ruling in this dispute.

Sir Cecil Hurst, of Britain, together with representatives of Australia, Brasil and France, opposed the Japanese amendment, declaring that it would make the League a super-state.

Following Adachi's announcement, M. Louis Loucheur of France, requested Adachi to confer with him, together with Sir Cecil Hurst, in an effort to reach a compromise before the commission is obliged to report the final text of the arbitration, securfity and disarmament protocol to the assembly Monday.

The League of Nations' project for the control of international traffic in arms will be submitted immediately to all governments, including the United States, and the governments will be asked whether they are disposed to participate in a conference on the subject to be held in April or May, 1925.

This decision was reached Friday by the League disarmament commission which has been studying the question of international control of arms traffic. General De Martins, of Italy, president of the commission, said the project has been prepared with special reference to the question of permitting the United States to accept the plan.

The League assembly Friday passed resolutions ordering the League Council to appoint a special committee of experts to perfect a workable basis for the Italian project of international assistance to calamity stricken nations.

Liquor Piracy Exposure Threatened

Brest, France.—The case of Max Jerome Phaff, New York, charged with piracy on the high seas, is likely to develop some sensational relations concerning the wholesale smuggling of liquor into the United States, it was learned when the defendant arrived here. The defendant, who faces death on the gallows if found guilty, declares he is "willing to be made the goat," and says he will implicate men "higher up" in America as well as reputed reliable firms in Great Britain. The charge against Phaff, who is a German-American, grew out of the boarding of the French freight steamship Mulhouse, off the Canadian Coast, last July by alleged pirates who held up the crew and robbed the cargo of nearly 36,000 cases of whisky.

Divides Estate By Lottery Plan

Falls City, Neb.—Putting eight slips of paper which called for "chances" on property worth more than $400,000, into a box, George W. Fisher, wealthy farmer, portioned to his six children and two heirs of two deceased daughters a majority of his land, 1,700 acres in Nebraska and 500 in Illinois. It took less than ten minutes to dispose of the property, which Fisher said had become burdensome in his advanced age.

U. S. Seizes $7,000

Chicago. — Postal inspectors have seized $7,000 in currency from a safety deposit box in Kansas City, Mo., on the supposition that it may be part of the $2,000,000 loot of the mail train robbery at Rondout, Ill., last June. The money was found in a vault held in the name of Miss Helen McNeil, a niece of Herbert Holliday, one of the men held in connection with the robbery.

Train Kills 27 Cows

Totteridge, Eng.—A passenger train ran into a herd of 27 cows and all of the animals were killed.

Plane Race Called Off

Baltimore.—With the plane to which Great Britain pinned her hopes damaged during a trial flight at Felixstowe, recently, and the Italian entries withdrawn, the flying club of Baltimore announces that the Schneider Cup seaplane race, scheduled for October 24 and 25, at Bay Shoe Park, near here, will not be held.

The hunting season for squirrels comes in November 1st.

TEN DAYS' STUDY BY ANTI-CHRISTIANS OF "WHAT IS GOD"

London.—What is God? Representatives of religions other than Christianity and Judaism have begun a ten-day study of that age-old question here.

The adherents of their many faiths number more than a billion souls. Here are a few of them, and the followers they claim:

Buddhism	488,000,000
Mohammedanism	300,000,000
Hinduism (largely Brahminism)	217,000,000
Sikhs	3,238,803
Jains	1,178,596
Parsis	101,778

India alone is represented by Sikhs, Jains, Parsis and smaller and newer Brahmo-Somaj and Arya-Somaj faiths. Other religions, or branches of religions included in the study are Sufism, found everywhere in the world of Islam; Bahaism, which originated in Persia and has spread widely to the United States and other Western countries; the Chinese religions based on the teachings of Lao-Tze and Confucius, and the primitive faiths of the Maoris, Bantas, and East and West Africans.

It is said to be the first conference of its kind ever held, inasmuch as a native or actual adherent of each religion will himself explain the tenets of his belief and what they mean to him and the life of his people. It is being held under the auspices of the school of Oriental studies and Sociological Society. A distinguished list of native lecturers will discuss the biological, anthropoligical, geographcal, psychological, historical, scholarly, and synthetic approaches to religion.

Credit for Wives Withdrawn

London.—Many natives of Pondeland, South Africa, are likely to lose wives purchased on extended credit during the last three years, because they claim to be unable to complete their payments. The purchase of wives on credit is not usually allowed among the natives, as there is too much inclination to return the wives in lieu of the purchase price, but a matrimonial moratorium has been in effect during the period of mourning for the death of a paramount chief. This perod is now over and the natives who obtained wives on credit must pay up or return the women to their parental kraals. A mysterious shortage is reported in cattle and horses, with which such payments are usually made.

Liquor To Philippines Banned

Manila.—Instructions issued by the State Department at Washington ordering all foreign Consuls to refuse to issue bills of health to vessels carrying liquor to the Philippine Islands for beverage purposes, were received here, it was stated officially. The ruling of the State Department, based on an interpretation of the Eighteenth Amendment by the Department of Justice last June, was contrary to the interpretation placed upon the Volstead Act in official circles here. It was believed the dry law of the United States did not apply to unorganized territory, in which category Manila falls.

"Terrible Ten" Murder Plot

Rockyford, Colo.—A murder pact in which 10 youths ranging from 11 to 13 years of age, had bound themselves to slay W. A. Wiley, truant officer of Rockford, has been discovered here. Bill Staley, 13, leader of the gang, was arrested after the plot had become noised about and admitted that the only point of difference in his gang was "how to slaughter" their intended victim. After spending a night in jail, Staley agreed to guarantee safety to the truant officer. Butcher knives, bandanas and a revolver are said to have been seen on members of the "terrible ten."

Denby To Testify

Cheyenne, Wyo.—The Mammoth Oil Company and Harry F. Sinclair will use the testimony of Edwin Denby, former Secretary of the Navy, in their fight in United States District Court here in next month against annulment of the lease of Teapot Dome naval oil reserve to the Mammoth Company, as sought by the Government, according to information made public.

News Advertising Best

Atlantic City, N. J.—Charles W. Meyer, director of trade relations, Armour & Company, Chicago, who came here to address the American Bakers' Association and the National Association of Wholesale Pie Bakers, stated that the outstanding successes in the baking industry were the result of continued use of newspaper advertising.

Off To Oxford

Troy, Ala.—Hugh Bradley, winner of the Rhodes scholarship for Alabama, and 32 other Rhodes men sailed from New York Saturday for England. They will spend three years at Oxford University, Cambridge, Eng. studying nine months and traveling on the continent in vacation.

Parley Suspended

Berlin.—The German foreign office has issued a statement explaining that the Anglo-German commercial negotiations had not broken down, as reported, but only had been postponed. They will be resumed shortly, the statement adds, with every prospect of a satisfactory conclusion.

Death Due To Fear

Chicago.—Shock due to fear of an operation caused the death of 13-year-old Mathilde Mendel in a local hospital.

Winston Mims of The Banner force was in Birmingham last Saturday.

QUESTIONNAIRE ON COTTON TARE IS SENT OUT TO COTTON MILLS

Montgomery, Ala.—Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries J. M. Moore has directed a questionnaire to the cotton mills, from Alabama, Georgia and Tennessee, asking if cotton reaching these mills, from Alabama, complies with the provisions of the Alabama law as to tare on baled cotton.

If it does not, he asks that the mills report the private mark of each bale, and the origin of the cotton. This information, the commissioner states, will assist the Agricultural Department in putting an end to unnecessary expense of excess tare absorbed in the price paid to the farmers, and will enable the mills to purchase cotton on the basis of a uniform tare.

Bank President Routs Robbers

Kincaid, Ill.—President Bruce Shaw, of the Kincaid Trust and Savings Bank, drove bank robbers away from his bank with a revolver. They escaped empty-handed. President Shaw suffered a gunshot wound in his hand. One tall, blond robber led the band of four men, President Shaw reported. He forced Shaw into the vault, but failed to secure the vault door, whereupon Shaw slipped out while the robber was occupied looking for loot, and started firing at him. The robber ran, returning the fire. The bank president was struck in one hand. Three men waited for the blond outside, in an automobile, in which they made their escape.

Steamship Line Consolidation

Washington.—The Carolina Company, of Charleston, was designated by the Shipping Board to operate the Consolidated Service from South Atlantic ports to the United Kingdom and Continental Europe. The service will be known as the American Palmetto Line. Disposition of the South Atlantic Consolidation wound up the program of the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation for combining services traversing the same ocean routes to increase economy and efficiency. Fourteen consolidations have been affected.

"Hands on Wheel," Order

New Orleans.—Both hands on the steering wheel and eyes to the front. That, in effect, was the order issued to the traffic squad of the local Police Department. "Several complaints have been received of automobile drivers keeping their right arms around their female companions while driving," said the formal order. "This constitutes reckless driving and the safety of the public is endangered by this practice. You will break it up by making affidavits against the guilty parties."

Captive Given Reward

New Orleans.—Herman Moose, 23, a patient at the United States Veterans' Hospital at Algiers, who was arrested as a fugitive from justice from Fort Meade, Fla., was given the reward offered for his apprehension by the detectives who made the arrest when they learned he was ill and without funds. The detectives are veterans of the Spanish-American War. Moose is wanted in the Florida town to answer a charge of forgery.

Radio Damage Suit

New York.—Suits charging conspiracy and wholesale infringment and applications for injunctions and an accounting involving millions of dollars were filed at Philadelphia and Wilmington by the De Forrest Radio Telephone & Telegraph Company against the Radio Corporation of America, the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company, and the Westinghouse Lamp Company, according to Samuel E. Darby, Jr., of Darby & Darby, this city, counsel for the DeForest interests.

$1,000,000 Hotel Fire

Del Monte, Cal.—The Hotel Del Monte, center of a playground known internationally to tourists and sports men for its beauty and golf links, was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin which started in a tower in the front of the building. The fire alarm sent 600 guests scurrying from the building in scant belongings to gather outside and witness the destruction of the main structure, valued at approximately $1,000,000 by Carl S. Stanley, the manager.

The Kaul Lumber Company is considering making extensive improvements at its plant at Kaulton and an engineer is making preliminary plans. The output of the plant is now 175,000 feet of lumber a day and instead of increasing the output the company desires to refine the product and add a higher grade of material. If the improvements contemplated are made it would require, it is said, a large appropriation.

WM. R. BAKER

Business conditions in Chilton County have put on new life during the past two weeks, due to the fact that the large cotton crop has been mostly put on the market. The farmers of this county as a whole, have made a fair cotton crop this year, and with the good price they have received, quite a bit of money has been put into circulation.

THERE'S A REASON

What's the matter with Russelville?, nigger once said of his church. "De church am all right,—hit's de doggone people." Any community that is not making the progress that it should, can always find the source of its troubles in the "doggone people." And now listen, Bo, let's you and I not forget that we are one of 'em, and maybe the "doggondest" of the bunch. Let's get right. — Franklin County Times.

COTTON CLOTH IMPORTS

The Democratic candidates say they want more competition for the American producer. They want more foreign goods imported, so that the American producer will have to cut his production, his prices and his wages. Cotton textiles are mentioned as an illustration of commodities in which the Democrats think more competition is needed. But they overlook the fact that in the year ended June 30, 1924, we imported nearly 200,000,000 square yards of cotton cloths as compared with 43,000,000 square yards in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1913, which was also under a Republican tariff. If the present tariff permits an importation of nearly five times as much cloth as we imported in 1913, how can the tariff be called prohibitive or unduly high? If that quantity can be imported under a Republican tariff, what would become of the home industry if the tariff were reduced and foreign iportations further encouraged?

$50,000,000 PROFIT FOR FARMERS OF NORTHWEST

The farmers of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana are expected to make a profit of $50,000,000 on their 1924 spring wheat crop. That is five times the amount loaned them by the Agricutural Credit Corporation. This corporation, by the way, was formed as a result of conferences with President Coolidge at Washington. It has a capital of $10,000,000 contributed by commercial, industrial and financial interests, and has been granted the authority to borrow ten times its capital from the War Finance Corporation. It was one of the instrumentalities through which the Republican administration extended aid to the sorely pressed wheat growers. That aid was given at the right time and in the right form, as attested by the experience of the farmers of the Northwest. How can the voters of that region cast their ballots for the third party, with its specious appeal to the farmers, when they all know that Republican policies have given them such subsantial support?

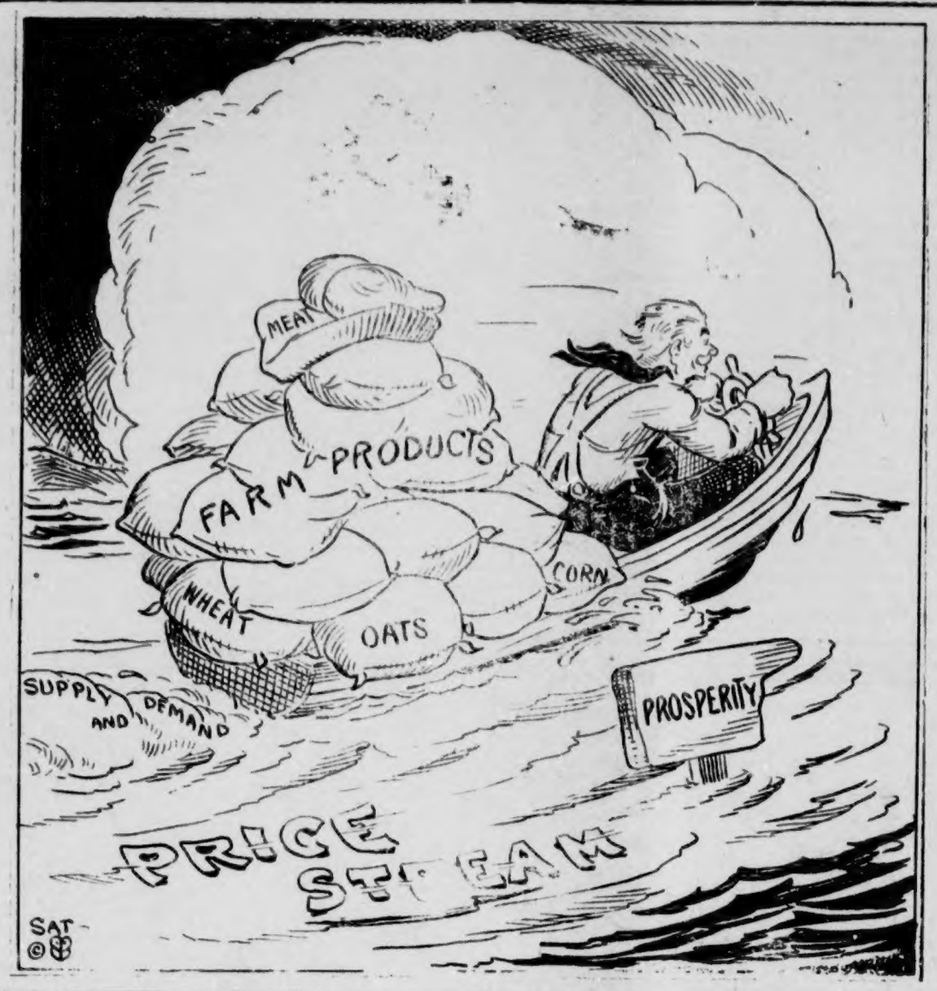
GOING UP STREAM AGAIN



Press Clippings

Huntington, (W. Va.) Herald-Dispatch.—The West Virginia miner and factory worker and the West Virginia farmer will not be found eagerly embracing "effective competition' from Germany, Italy, China, India and the rest of the world, where wages are as nothing compared with wages paid here, and where caste is still depicted by the graduated standards of living., which leaves the masses in poverty.

National Republican. — President Coolidge has a standing with the great body of the American people almost unprecedented in the history of his high office, because he embodies in the average mind the thing which his Democratic opponent for the Presidency says is his issue in this campaign, namely common honesty.

New Bedford Standard.—In 1912, in the course of his attack upon Theodore Roosevelt, Senaor La Follette said: "No party was ever successfully organized about a man." We expect to see further confirmation of that statement in November.

Kearney (Neb.) Hub.—Two red letter dates on the Democratic campaign calendar stand out as follows:

July 9.—"Davis is impossible."—W. J. Bryan.

July 10.—"I am at your command."—W. J. Bryan.

Los Angeles Times.—The cost to the taxpayers of government operation of railroads is still so fresh in mind that it makes an advocate of government ownership more of a Bourbon than a real progressive.

Albert Lea (Minn.) Tribune.—President Coolidge said "I believe in the American Constitution." We want a President who BELIEVES in the Constitution—not one who wants to frame a new one.

Houston Post-Dispatch.—Some 50,000 people attended the Davis barbecue in Missouri. Lord, if we could only get our patriots to rally at voting time as they do at eating time.

Newcastle (Ind.) Courier. — The Coolidge-Dawes campaigners do not care whether the issue be common sense or common honesty—the Republican candidates are unsurpassed in both respects.

Omaha Bee.—The one way to make certain that the government of the United States will move orderly along its appointed way after March 4, 1924 is to vote for Calvin Coolidge. The alternative is chaos.

Wellston (Ohio) Sentinel.—Under the Republican budget system, the government has used less money than was provided for it, which in turn was less than was sought from Congress.

Spencer (W. Va.) Times-Record.—When the Democratic speakers cry out "corruption," they must certainly hearken back to the Wilson administration and the cost plus contracts and the airplane scandals.

Atlanta Constitution. — The New York Evening Post says "there never was a time when money was so abundant and so cheap in the United States as today." (Now will you just cheer up?)

DO YOU LIKE THIS PLAN?

Democratic and Third Party leaders see their best hope of success in throwing the Presidential election into Congress, where they can fight it out among themselves after mutual agreement on the elimination of Coolidge and Dawes. What do the people think of that plan? There is not the shadow of a doubt that a big plurality of the voters favor the Republican ticket, and it is highly probable that a substantial majority will vote that icket. Were either the Democrats of the Third Party to withdraw from the field there would be no question of the victory of the Republicans. That means that if the popular election could take the form of an elimination contest, Pres. Coolidge would certainly stay in the White House. Very few Democrats or Third Party supporters will dispute that assertion.

On th other hand, if the election is thrown into Congress for want of a majority for any candidate in the popular vote, President Coolidge and Mr. Dawes will certainly not be elected, and the fight will rage around Davis, La Follette, Bryan and Wheeler. Or possibly they may all be eliminated and an individual who did not get a single popular vote may be chosen. No patriotic citizen can contemplate such a prospect with equanimity. Loyalty to country comes before loyalty to political parties. The test of patriotism will come on November 4, when the voter can choose between continuing the present highly efficient administration or inviting pollical and economic chaos.

DEER TO BE GIVEN AWAY BY THE FOREST SERVICE

The United States Department of Agriculture, through the Forest Service, has some thousands of deer to give away, according to an announcement made today. These animals are part of the large herd of mule deer, estimated at over 30,000 head, found on the Kaibab National Forest in northern Arizona on the northen side of the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. This area was set aside as a national game preserve by President Roosevelt in 1906 in order to preserve the deer herd which at that time was threatened with total extinction because of illegal hunting.

Under the protection of forest rangers, however, the deer have increased in numbers to a point where the entire herd is threatened with starvation and prompt efforts must be made to reduce it to a number that can be supported by the vegetation on the Kaibab Plateau.

To accomplish this the Forest Service desires first to give away as many deer as possible. The expense to the applicant will be crating and transportation charges, a sum estimated to be about $35 per animal. Young animals only will be shipped. The estimated weight of one animal crated is 250 pounds. These figures are only approximate. Final figures must be secured from the Forest Service.

Shipments will be confined to east of the Sierra Nevada and Cascade Mountains as the introduction of mule deer into regions already inhabited by a sub-species would result in a herd very inferior to native stock.

The Road To Better Health

AVOIDING HEART DISEASE

BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

One of the pamphlets distributed by the Association for the Prevention and Relief of Heart Disease makes the following classification of the causes of heart disease:

1. Infectious diseases.
2. Intoxications and poisons.
3. Improper modes of living.

Rheumatism is the infection most frequently causing damage to the heart in the young, though other infections also have a considerable part in the production of such damage.

Under the heading of intoxications and poisons, alcohol and obacco are mentioned. It is only fair to state that there are some who do not believe that either of these are noticeably injurious when used in moderation by healthy individuals. The "rub" is in what is meant by their "moderate use."

Opinions Differ

There is no difference of opinion about the evil effects on the body of excessive usage. Oliver T. Osborne, in his book on Disturbances of the Heart, says in regard to tobacco —"No rule can be laid down as to what is enough and what is too much. Theoretically, two or three cigars a day is moderate. Anything more than five cigars a day is excessive. Even one cigar a day may be too much."

What is a moderate amount for one person may be an injurious excess for another. But whether or not alcohol and tobacco are always harmful to the heart, they are not regarded generally as being of any benefit to it. Athletes do not use alcohol or tobacco when training for "good wind." And, having "good wind" is largely a matter of having a sound heart.

Improper modes of living include lack of fresh air, insufficient exercise, food of the wrong kind and in the wrong amount. The wrong amount is generally too much rather than too little. Food taken in an amount beyond the requirements of the body adds to the burden of work thrown upon the heart and blood vessels. It causes an accumulation of fat that is unfavorable to the continued health of the whole body, and —consequently, the heart. Excesses of any kind are injurious.

How To Avoid It

The logical way in which to avoid heart disease is to avoid those things that are known or supposed to cause it. Among the causes mentioned—Infection is probably the most important. It often gains entrance to the system through diseased teeth, tonsils and adenoids. These are often found closely associated with attacks of rheumatism, the disease very frequently causing injury to the heart.

Growing pains in children are usually symptoms of rheumatism, and should not be neglected. Diseased teeth, tonsils, and adenoids should be treated or removed. Condition that favor the development of rheumatism, such as getting wet and chilled, should be avoided. Whenever infecions do occur, they should be promptly treated so as to eradicate them as soon as possible and lessen the chance of damage being done to the heart.

A well regulated life favors the development of a healthy body, including, a sound heart. The heart muscle, like other muscles, is kept in good condition by getting enough exercise, by plenty of fresh air, and by living on a diet that is well balanced and not in excess of the needs of the body. Sufficient rest is necessary.

Heart disease is now one of the most frequent causes of death. Many of the cases of heart disease could be prevented by efforts to avoid the causes, and prompt treatment to remove any of the causes when they are present. Many people with damaged hearts learn to live hygienically within the limits of their capacity. By taking precautions to avoid additional damage they live long and useful lives.

HEALTH QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Vaccination Always Advisable

Mrs. R. B. L. writes: "My little girl is four years old. Is it advisable to have her vaccinated before she goes to school? Is the vaccination likely to do her any harm by making her blood impure?

Ans.—It is strongly advisable to have your little girl vaccinated because you never can tell when she may be exposed to small-pox. She may be exposed before she goes to school. There has been quite a high death-rate among the unvaccinated in some of the recent epidemics of small-pox. Vaccination does not make the blood impure; its one effect is to confer a considerable degree of immunity against small-pox.

Suspenders or Belt?

W. N. asks: "Which is healthier, a belt or suspenders?"

Ans.—Anything that exerts pressure upon the abdomen would not seem to be healthy. If the belt is not tight, perhaps it does no harm. Something probably depends upon the construction of the individual. It appears to me that a fat man with considerable abdomen should not wear a belt.

I would answer your question directly by saying that a tight belt may do harm to the abdominal viscera; a loose belt or suspenders will not. The more the clothes are supported from the shoulders instead of from the waist, the healthier it is.

Foods Containing Iron

M. B. S. asks: "What foods contain the most iron?"

Ans.—Red meats, spinach; oatmeal; apples. Wheat, rye, beans, peas and eggs also contain a fair percentage of iron.

POOR O

AN ADDRESS
To The People of Alabama

—By—

Judge L. H. Reynolds
Chairman Republican State Campaign Committee.

How Long Will the People of Alabama Continue to Vote a Dead Tradition and a Living Fear?

True Americanism Demands Repudiation of the Democratic Party and the Election of Coolidge.

TO THE PEOPLE OF ALABAMA

The election in November, 1924, will be the most nportant we have had in years. The voters have an nparalleled opportunity for genuine patriotic service. ur country is rapidly recovering from the effects of e world war, the most demoralizing the world has ver experienced.

Mr. Wilson insisted upon the program which he rought back from Versailles, stubbornly refusing to cquiesce in the changes proposed by the Senate and onsored by the American people. On this issue, the mpaign was fought out in 1920 and the Wilson poliies met with a positive rebuke by the votes of the ople.

arding Administration

Mr. Harding, upon taking office in March, 1921, mmediately began to devise ways and means to revenate business, and to give stability to Europe. By e election of Harding, this country decided once and r all against entering the League of Nations. Four onths after his inauguration, President Harding sumoned the world powers to meet in Washington on rmistice day, 1921, to discuss the limitation of armaents and kindred subjects. This conference proved be the most practical step ever taken towards the tual elimination of war. Six treaties were submitd and signed; practical steps were taken eliminating val competition, thereby saving to the people of this untry millions of dollars in the construction of war ips and other preparations for war. No other agency s ever contributed so much to the peace and contment of the world.

Secretary Hughes has made wonderful strides in inging about peace and understanding among the tions of the earth.

neral Dawes

General Dawes, our candidate for Vice-President, th his associates, worked out a financial program ich has been accepted not only in Germany, but all Europe. This one accomplishment, within itself, is complete and sufficient answer to all Democratic ticisms of the foreign policy of the Republican rty. Political history records the fact that the Reblican party is a party of construction and a friend all the American people.

mocratic Party, One of Factions

The Democratic party is a party of factions and is, of varfous ideas and inclinations, and this fact s forcibly illustrated at the last Democratic Nation- Convention, where the biggest men in the Demotic party spent days and even weeks, forgetting the untry's interest, wrangling and abusing each other, their own and their country's injury.

The Republican Party is united and believes in the icy of protection. The Democrats stand for free de. Our country has never prospered under a Demratic tariff law.

untry Prospers Under Protection

The Birmingham district has advantages in miner- beyond that of any place on earth. Steel rails can bought in Belgium and shipped to Birmingham as ap as they can be produced in Birmingham district. t for the policy of protection advocated and pressed the Republicans, the Birmingham district would t be able to cope with the Belgian producers and result would be that the steel indusry of Birmingn would be paralyzed, plants closed and thousands workers thrown out of employment and the city of mingham wrecked by financial panic. What is true Birmingham district is true of every section of our intry and of every kind of business.

Our country is enjoying an unprecedented prosper- ; capital is receiving a just return upon its investnt; labor is employed everywhere at the highest peace-time wage yet known. Business of every kind is in a prosperous state, and all over the land is heard the busy hum of the whirling wheels of industry.

Does the country really desire a change in the administration of its affairs?

Coolidge, the Man of the Hour

When Calvin Coolidge succeeded to the Presidency, it can be truly said that the man and the hour met. The country is fortunate in having Calvin Coolidge to take the place of the loved and lamented Harding. The first act of Mr. Coolidge, upon being sworn in as President of the United States by his father in the little New England farm house in the sturdy hills of Vermont, was to announce that he would carry out the policies of his dead chief. Business men rejoiced at this proclamation, and the laboring people knew it meant continued peace and prosperity for them.

President Coolidge does not believe in government by any class; he does not stand for a government by corporations, nor for a government by any particular bloc; but he stands for a government of common sense, for all the people, and within the limits of the constitution.

A former distinguished Governor of Alabama has made famous the word "environment," and we do know that character is duly influenced by environment. It is interesting in this regard to make character study of the three presidential candidates. The National Republican in a recent issue carried photographs of the homes of the three candidates. The Washington home of LaFollette, the Socialist candidate for the presidency, looks as if it might have been built especially for the Kaiser, or some other crowned head of Europe. The ancestral home of John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, looks as if it might have been built for Pierpont Morgan, or some other money baron of Wall Street. Then there is reproduced the little five-room farm house of Col. John Coolidge in Vermont, where Calvin Coolidge was born, and where he received the oath of office as President, administered by his father; there is also reproduced the unpretentious, humble cottage at North Hampton, the half of which for more than fifteen years was occupied by Calvin Coolidge as a home and for which he pays $23.00 rental per month. He lived in this apartment while Governor of Massachusetts, and he maintains it now, as President, as his home. Truly environment is a powerful influence. It is evident from the picture of these homes that the Socialistic and Democratic candidates by their environment are far removed from the common people of America—from those who earn their bread by the sweat of their brow. The environment of Calvin Coolidge, by birth and by inheritance, is such as to make him one with the common people. Reared, as he was, on a little farm surrounded by the rugged hills of Vermont, he has locked in his heart the interests and traditions of the common people, and they are his forever. It was here on this farm that Calvin Coolidge, already second in command of this great nation, was engaged in a farmer's toil when he received the sad intelligence that his great chief had fallen. It was here on this farm, within this humble farm house, lighted by the dim rays of a kerosene lamp, that this great man of the people became President of the United States, and assumed the leadership of the Republican party.

Democratic Party Stifles Education

The South, in spite of itself, has been made the beneficiary of Republican rule. The most pitiful thing in all political history is the slavery and serfdom of the South to the Democratic party; but the South pays the price by being fifty years behind the progress and advance of the other sections of the country. Time and space precludes any adequate discussion of the treachery of the Democratic party in Alabama toward the people. More than twenty years ago, the Democratic platform begun to declare for better schools and longer terms. In a statement by Governor Kilby on April 13, 1922, we have figures showing money appropriations for schools as follows:

From 1903 to 1906	$ 5,254,000.00
From 1907 to 1910	9,309,000.00
From 1911 to 1914	11,798,000.00
From 1915 to 1918	13,287,000.00
From 1919 to 1922	19,000,000.00

It will be seen from these figures that each succeeding legislature increased the appropriations approximately $3,000,000.00. The last was an increase of nearly $6,000,000.00. Has the length of the schools been increased in proportion to the increase in taxes? Mr. G. T. McEldery says in a letter Sept. 3, 1923, which was published, that 42% of the appropriations for education is for overhead expenses and increases in salary. In 1902 the average length of common schools was about four and a half months with from eight to ten hours per teaching day; now with the vast increase of money, we still have about four and a half months with about six hours to a teaching day, and sometimes three hours of this time is spent in athletics. And the parents of Alabama school children are now paying a most onerous tax—the excessive price of the required text books, and this evil has grown to such an extent that many poor parents are in the painful situation of keeping their children out of school because they cannot meet this outrage that is being heaped upon them.

The appropriation for the higher educational institutions has been increased about the same proportion as the common schools and yet it takes about two years longer to educate a man or woman now than ten years ago. Hon. Sidney J. Bowie was appointed in 1919 by the Governor to investigate the educational conditions of Alabama, and in his report he made the astounding statement, that there was more illiteracy in Alabama among the white people today than there was in 1860.

Democrats Increase Taxation

Our State taxes have increased about 300% in twenty years, and yet we do not get any more out of our government now than we did twenty years ago.

For the last sixteen years Democratic platforms have pledged the party to give the people relief from this excessive taxation, and each administration has pledged to abolish the tax gatherers. Although each administration was pledged to this reform, all they did was to change the name of the machine and increase its powers and make it possible to burden the people with greater taxes.

For years and years the Democratic platforms have pledged the party to take the convicts from the mines, but the convicts are still in the mines, and will continue there as long as the Democratic party remains in power.

A Dead Tradition and a Living Fear

Will the people of Alabama and the South never wake up to a proper realization of their political duty? Will they always be slaves to prejudice and the Democratic party? How long will they continue to vote a dead tradition and a living fear? For sixty years with characteristic faithfulness, the South has given its electoral vote to the Democratic party; during this time, two voting generations have passed into the great beyond, bowed and warped with faithful service to the Democratic party, and yet, during all this time, and now, the South has no more influence in the councils of the nation than if it were a mere province instead of an integral part of this great nation.

Paucity of Democratic Influence

Distinguished Democrats are without influence in national affairs. Southern statesmen, by reason of character and ability, are the peer of any, but the solid South constitutes a political barrier over which they cannot pass. The only hope of the South is to break up its solidarity and resort to the two party system. The Montgomery Advertiser in its issue of September 14, 1922, in an illuminating article on the "Statesmen in Alabama and Ohio," pointing out the number of Ohioans who were at that time occupying high offices, including William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, and Warren G. Harding as President, the Advertiser said among other things:

> "But what we started out to say is that if Alabama occupied Ohio's position, not less than a dozen of our public men within the past 25 years would have been seriously considered for the presidency. We have produced the men equal in character, brains and leadership to the men who usually bid for the Presidency, men in fact who were, and are, equal to the best in the country. But with the exception of Senator Underwood we have not put them forward in Presidential years for the reason that they were politically unavailable, owing to their geographical situation.

The Price of Democratic Loyalty

> "In a state like Alabama, when a Governor is nominated the best he can hope for is an ultimate promotion to the United States Senate, or a seat on the bench. * * * *
> "It is a big price which the statesman pays to live in Alabama. But of course there are unmeasured compensations for the deprivation. We could write two columns on that, but for the moment we are thinking only of the comparative Presidential prospects of the average statesman in Alabama and Ohio. Ohio produces no bigger men than Alabama, but it produces a greater possibility for candidates in national elections."

Action of Democratic Committee

And yet in the face of these conditions and in the teeth of this remarkable editorial, the Alabama Democratic Executive Committee a few days ago, passed a resolution providing if any voter in Alabama voted for any other Presidential electors in this election than the Democratic electors, such voter could not participate in Democratic primaries, nor counsel with the party for a period of four years thereafter. The Democrats know that their party robe is beginning to hang loosely all over Alabama, and they fear that if the voters in this election are given political freedom that they will vote for Republican electors.

The Women Voters

The women voters in Alabama have a great opportunity of service. Let them profit by the political serfdom of the men in our State, and not permit their hands to be manacled by the political chains of Democratic slavery.

Republican Organization in Alabama

The Republican party organization in Alabama compares favorably with any other political organization. In 1920, from the Official Count, the writer polled 77,337, as against 154,666 for Oscar W. Underwood, for the United States Senate. We believe in the freedom of the ballot box, and the untrammeled right of franchise, to vote for whomsoever the dictates of conscience would direct, and the desire for good government would demand. And thus we open our doors to every voter, and extend to you the glad hand of welcome, even though you might have been expelled from the Democratic party, and we sincerely assure you and concede you the same freedom, without any penalty or punishment whatever. And should you become dissatisfied, or desire to vote for another candidate we gladly concede this right as being the salvation of good government, and we shall not brand you a traitor, but bid you God speed on your way. Truly no political party could offer less.

The President of the American People

Mr. Coolidge is president of all the American people; he favors no faction, sect or religious organization, and he denounces none. Being a Christian man, and an honest servant, he feels that the mighty and the low, the rich and the poor, should be governed by the same standard of justice and the same sense of honor.

A Plea For Patriotism

We plead for a patriotism in peace as well as in war. Let us not merely have that patriotism which burns in the souls of men only when their country is in the dangers of war, but the patriotism of good citizenship, in low places, high places, in season and out of season. Let us have the patriotism which moves men to make their country's welfare their highest business, and in times of peace interest themselves continually in the politics of their community. Good government is certain in no other way. What we need in this country is not less politics, but more attention to politics. There must be two great political parties in Alabama and the South and the nation, and both should be strong and virile. If a political party cannot stand for those things which will bear the severest scrutiny, it is not entitled to succeed and it will not endure. Let a political party determine its acts by how it can contribute most to the country's good. Let the individual membership give attention to party affairs, which is the one instrument through which all individuals can apply their patriotism.

Party Not Condemned by Individual Wrong

Occasionally a bad man will slip into office in either party, but the party as a whole for that reason cannot be condemned. A few years ago, a high Democratic official in Alabama, in broad daylight, walked off with one hundred thousand dollars of the peoples' money, securely packed in a pine box,—yet, it cannot be said that all Democrats in Alabama are bad simply because this one man proved to be a thief. Even now, an investigation is being made as to who stole the money in Birmingham,—yet, it cannot be said that all the people of Birmingham are dishonest because some one has gotten away with the money. But there is no zone of twilight in politics; right is right and wrong is wrong, and the same standard, righteous conduct, must obtain as in any private business or professional matter. With our politics entirely on this basis and living our patriotism daily, we will do a citizen's full duty, and not until then.

Republican Party, Party of the Future

The Republican party is the party of the future. It was born a national necessity, and from that hour has been a party of patriotism with its loyalty measured only by its possibilities. And now, with our eyes solely on the country's welfare, we will measure our steps by the movement of the new needs of the nation, continuing to be the instrument to apply to changing conditions, the wisdom of experience and the efficacy of honest, valiant service. With a determination for an execution consistent with our record squaring our performances with our promises we will proceed to the fulfillment of the party's mission under the leadership of Calvin Coolidge and Charles G. Dawes.

Citizens' Duty to Vote

The exercise of the right of franchise is the highest duty and noblest privilege that devolves upon the citizen. It is the duty of every man and woman, of voting age, throughout the length and breadth of this Union to qualify themselves for the privilege of the ballot; it is the solemn duty of every qualified voter beneath the flag to go to the polls on election day and exercise this privilege.

In conclusion, let me earnestly appeal to all Republicans to see that our friends go to the polls and vote, and make the most vigorous campaign we have ever made in Alabama, and I trust you will feel free to discuss and advise with me freely and frequently, in this campaign. If we can be instrumental in relieving Alabama from the disadvantages of one party rule, and thus advance our State industrially as well as politically, we feel our efforts will have been repaid.

HUNTERS REQUIRED TO OBTAIN HUNT LICENSE

Probate Judge Gives Notice of Open Season on Game in Alabama.

With the open season on birds and other game beginning within the next new weeks, sportsmen who expect to spend a few days hunting this Fall and winter must provide themselves with licenses. These are issued by the probate judge and are for the season beginning with October 1. No license is required for fishing.

Under the law, ownership of all wild birds and game vests in the State and it is only by permission of the state that any person may kill or possess any of these. This permission is given in the form of a license. The fee for a hunter's license is $3 a year for residents and $25 for non-residents. The open season for the different wild birds and game, as fixed by law, follows:

Deer, male, Nov. 1 to Jan. 1; squirrl, black, gray, fox, Nov. 1 to Jan. 1; wild turkey, gobbler, Dec. 1 to April 1; quail, partridge, bob white, Nov. 20 to Feb. 20; ruffled grouse, pheasants, introduced pheasants or other imported game bird, protected to Sept. 1; turtle dove to Jan. 31; duck goose, brent, black bellied and golden plovers, Wilson snipe, yellow legs, coot, mudhen, Nov. 1 to Jan. 31; rail and other coot and gallinule, Sept. 1 to Nov. 30. The game laws prescribe that not more than one buck a day or five in a season, may be killed by the same person; not more than one gobbler a day, or 10 in a season, and not more than 15 quail a day.

Heavy penalties are provided for violation of the game laws.

STATE GAME COMMISSIONER TO SPEAK IN CLANTON OCT. 4

On Saturday, October 4th, three cases of violating the State game and fish law will be tried at the court house in Clanton by Justice of the Peace, J. W. E. Gulledge. The trials will be held in the morning part of the day, at which trials Mr. I. T. Quinn, State Commissioner of Game and Fish will be present.

Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Mr. Quinn will make a speech at the court house on the subject of conserving the game and fish of the State. As the season will open before many weeks for killing wild game, it will be of interest to several of our people to come and hear what Mr. Quinn has to say on the subject.

Drop in today and see one of those beautiful Pearl Necklaces at Clanton Mercantile Co., to be given in exchange for each $100 worth of coupons.

Grand Dragon of Alabama Issues Official Statment Regarding Votes Of Klansmen for President U. S.

Numerous requests have come to my office relative to the Klan's attitude toward the Presidential nominees, Messrs. Coolidge, Davis and La Follette. As an organization, we have no attitude toward these gentlemen who are seeking the highest honor that can be bestowed upan any American citizen. We are trying to educate you as Klansmen in order that you may know how to vote intelligently. The Klan is not supporting any particular party, but the Klan has members in all parties; and I say here and now that we need two great political parties in this country, as we have, and the Klan is not seeking to form any new party, nor is it attempting to dictate the policies of those that are already formed. These Presidential candidates do, from time to time, publicly advise all citizens of their attitude in public affairs as well as their attitude toward the Klan. Messrs. Davis and La Follette have both openly declard themselves as opposed to the Klan. Mr. Coolidge has made no declaration. I am not, and will not attempt to dictate to any Klansman how he shall vote; but all that I do ask is that he remember his oath of allegiance and let his conscience be his guide.

All Klan By-Laws or amendments thereto must first be sent in duplicate to the office of your Grand Dragon and approved by him before they become operative. This, however, does not apply to resolutions which are adopted at open Klonklave.

GRAND DRAGON.

CHILTON DEFEATS SYLACAUGA IN FOOT BALL GAME RRIDAY

The foot ball season opened in Clanton last Friday afternoon when the Chilton County High School Tigers defeated the Sylacauga Aggies by a rather decisive score of 18 to 0. The Aggis never got in a really scoring position during the entire game, since the thirty-yard line was never reached.

The whole Chilton team played in mid-season form, performing as if they had been practicing together for months.

Clanton plays the Marbury High School team on the local gridiron on next Friday afternoon.

MERCHANT FINANCIAL WRECK

"I am a financial wreck because of the expense of doctors and medicine for my wife. She has been a chronic sufferer for 10 years. Some pronounced it gall stones, some gastritis and some intestinal inflammation. I happened to read an ad of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy and from the first dose my wife has steadily improved." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intstinal tract and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Alred Drug Co., Clanton, Ala., and druggists everywhere.

How the Railroads Helped You to Stand the Hottest Summer in Years!

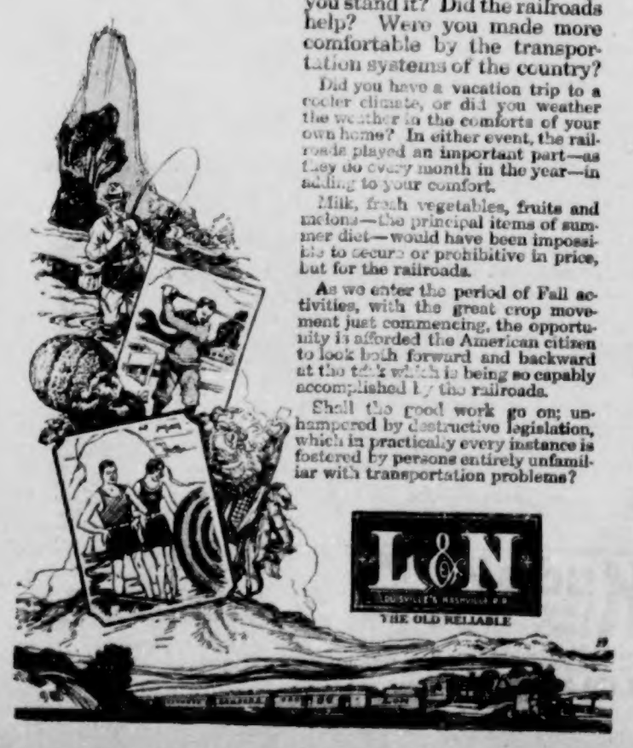
Vacation days are over and the hot spell has broken. The weather bureau tells us that the summer of 1924 brought to the South more intense heat and a longer heated period than any in years. How did you stand it? Did the railroads help? Were you made more comfortable by the transportation systems of the country?

Did you have a vacation trip to a cooler climate, or did you weather the weather in the comforts of your own home? In either event, the railroads played an important part—as they do every month in the year—in adding to your comfort.

Milk, fresh vegetables, fruits and melons—the principal items of summer diet—would have been impossible to secure or prohibitive in price, but for the railroads.

As we enter the period of Fall activities, with the great crop movement just commencing, the opportunity is afforded the American citizen to look both forward and backward at the task which is being so capably accomplished by the railroads.

Shall the good work go on; unhampered by destructive legislation, which in practically every instance is fostered by persons entirely unfamiliar with transportation problems?



STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Certificates of election and award of a contract for construction of a new storm sewer were the principal objects of business before the Albany council at its regular meeting. The official tabulation of ballots cast last week, in the election, showed little change from the unofficial count. The council awarded to C. E. Malone the contract for construction of the new storm sewer on Sixth Avenue, West.

The State Normal School of Jacksonville, was opened with a very large enrollment and more students are arriving on every train.

Robert McCormick, who was locked up at Gadsden on a warrant sworn out by his wife, Mrs. Allie McCormick, charging him with non-support, has been released when it became apparent that he is unable to work. The man had a convulsion after his arrest and another soon afterwards. Sheriff Leath reported the incident to Judge Gilliland, who ordered the man released and ordered Mrs. McCormick to take him back to their old home in Marshall County and nurse him back to health.

Further proceedings in the Alabama Power Company's application for the extension of the availability of the service transportation D have been postponed by Alabama Public Service Commission until Nov. 5. This classification carries rates for feeding and lighting service which it is proposed to extend to domestic consumers. Objection to the application has been raised by the Tri-City Gas Company, of Gadsden, and the Huntsville Gas Company, of Huntsville.

Denial that she was lured from her home at Anniston has been made by Myrtle Bland in a letter published in Anniston Star in reply to a report from Gadsden a few days ago to the effect that J. O. Haynie and his brother had been jailed on a charge of luring Miss Bland from her home. The girl declared that neither men had anything to do with her leaving home and that she left of her own accord.

The Tuscumbia fish hatchery now has close to 200,000 minnows. Seventeen cans of fish have been received from the government hatcheries, including bass, rainbow trout, blue gills and croppies. Game Warden Dr. G. W. Brown has received notice that the sun fish he recently asked for will be shipped soon.

W. J. Buffington, former well known resident of Gadsden, has been surrendered by his bondsmen in a prohibition case, having been brought to Gadsden from Tuscaloosa. On his arrival he was served with two warrants, charging him with passing worthless checks, one at Birmingham and one in Newton County, Miss.

By a compromise agreement between counsel representing the two parties, an increase of $15,000 in the real estate assessment valuation for taxation of the Anniston City Land company has been made, ending a suit which was being tried in circuit court here between the State of Alabama and officials of the land company.

That Joe DeMarco, young white man held at Anniston on a charge of using obscene language in talking with a girl, is abnormal and not responsible, is the opinion expressed by Dr. E. L. Curles, local physician, at the trial of the youth in circuit court here. DeMarco will be sentenced or freed by Judge S. W. Tate next week, it is announced.

Mrs. Kate Stephenson, of Danville, was given a judgment in the circuit court at Decatur for $3,000 against Mrs. Euria Stephenson, her mother-in-law, in a suit alleging alienation of the affections of Mrs. Kate Stephenson's husband, a son of Mrs. Euria Stephenson.

The Tuskegee Normal Institute opened with about 1,300 students registering. Dr. Moton is confident that he will have a student body of 1,400 when all the late comers have registered. This opening compares favorably with the openings of other years.

A group of 150 radio fans at Selma will attempt to form an organization at an early date to adjust interference from local sending stations and to standardize the methods of operating sending stations will be the chief aim of the club.

After Sheriff Blair and Deputy Sheriffs Leath and Reed had arrested F. D. Moore, a traveling salesman at Cedar Bluff, on a charge of carrying a concealed pistol, residents of the town swore out a warrant charging Deputy Reed with the same offense, and the sheriff arrested him.

An explosion of naptha and other chemicals used in asphalt flooring in the department store building of the Beeland Brothers Mercantile Company at Greenville, which is in course of construction, caused a disastrous fire recently, with a loss of approximately $25,000.

A new lumber company, capitalized at $20,000, is making preparations to establish a large planing mill and lumber yard on West Nineteenth Street, near Phillips and Stanley's warehouse, at Jasper.

Tom Johnson, charged with the killing of Deputy Sheriff Ed M. Aldridge at the former's home in December, 1923, was acquitted by a Fayette county jury recently.

Alabamians turned on on National Defense Test Day in a manner which surpassed estimates of their performance, according to figures furnished by Major S. C. Phelps, regular army instructor of the 31st infantry division. Figures compiled by Major Phelps for submission to corps at headquarters showed a grand total of 66,997 persons participating in the parades and assembles, exclusive of spectators, which exceeded the estimation by about 7,000. The number of one-day volunteers in particular was ahead of what was anticipated for the day.

Announcement of the arrival of $300,000 at Mobile as the first proceeds from the $10,000,000 port bond issue, the expenditure of over $30,000 for property owned by John T. COMMUNITY SINGING AT VERBENA SUNDAY

The Verbena Community Singing, inaugurated last Sunday evening by Mrs. Sam Scott and Mrs. H. B. Oliver at the Verbena Community House, drew one of the largest audiences seen in this neighborhood in some time.

Mr. Lee Robinson, widely known for his musical attainments as a singer and organist, had charge of the singing and after leading several numbers he called upon Mr. Creighton Norris and Mr. R. Miller, who also ably conducted several selections.

The song leaders were assisted by Miss Sarah Maude Patillo at the piano and S. L. Gibson with the violin. The service was opened with prayer by Mr. J. C. Pattillo.

Almost every one of the large audience took part and enjoyed the music. The local audience was augumented by music enthusiasts from Mitchell Dam, Coopers and other nearby places.

Just before the closing prayer by Mr. Phil Mitchell, it was decided to make a permanent institution of the Verbena Community Singing, with Mr. Lee Robinson in charge. The "sing" will be held at the Community House the third Sunday evening of each month at 7:30 o'clock. All are invited to attend.

Good news for Expectant Mothers

WHEN the little one arrives you can have that moment freer from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great rubbing preparation called "Mother's Friend."

Results from the use of "Mother's Friend" are proven by many startling letters of testimony from happy users. "I can almost say my baby was born without pain," writes a young mother who had used "Mother's Friend."

"Mother's Friend" is applied externally. It has been used by three generations of expectant mothers. Start using it today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., B-A 18, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all good drug stores.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

The State Department of Archives and History has received from Mrs. Joseph E. Aderhold, of Anniston, State Historian of the Alabama Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy, a number of lists of Confederate soldiers compiled by historians of the U. D. C. chapters in the respective counties. The information was collected from various sources, including the records of United Confederate Veterans camps and from the memory of those who lived during the stirring days of the sixties. The lists received comprised those from Dale, Talladega, Pike, Fayette, Mobile and Calhoun Counties, as well as a history of the Fourteenth Alabama Infantry.

The banner for the highest percentage of thrift among the school children of Anniston, as shown by their savings during the summer months was presented by the six award school at Oxanna by W. P. Acker, Chairman of the City Board of Education. The Glenn Addie school took second place. Before the presentation was made C. R. Bell, President of the Commercial National Bank, delivered an address to the large audience of school children and townsmen.

The survey of Selma's postal routes is nearing completion by Inspectors Yates, of Selma, and Rittelmeyer, stationed at Mobile. The results of the survey will lead to a change of schedule and possibly bring about improvement. The recent addition of a motor truck for the parcel post department has been of benefit to this branch of the service.

When the North Alabama Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church meets in Talladega October 29, recommendations made unanimous by the hospital board of the two conferences that a children's addition be made to the Montgomery Memorial Hospital will be placed before that body.

Reduced rates for water service in the Bessemer, Brighton and Lipscomb territories in Jefferson County, provided for in a schedule agreed upon by the Alabama Water Company and representatives of citizens to be served, were approved in an order issued by the Alabama Public Service Commission.

Dr. Roland M. Harper, of the Alabama Geological Survey, has made two botanical discoveries in Elmore County. In the bed of the Coosa River, near Wetumpka, he has found an entirely new species of flowering grass. He also discovered in Elmore County, a species of hickory tree never before reported from a point so far South.

The new school building for Decatur negroes is nearing completion and will be ready for occupancy soon. It will have four rooms and is built with the idea of additions as they are needed later. The building is of brick and stands on a tract of land given by the City of Decatur from its park area.

Miss Ethel Sudlow, secretary of the Child Welfare Association, is spending several days in Morgan County in connection with the work of the Association. Miss Sudlow plans to take several children of that county to Birmingham headquarters, later to be placed in homes.

Frederick Henderson, Jr., the 8-year-old son of Fred Henderson, of the Farmers and Merchants' Bank, of Troy, was seriously injured when he was struck by an automobile. The car which struck the boy was driven by Ray Davis, connected with the Williams Produce Company.

At the funeral of Mrs. Mattie Parker, 86 years old, who died at Gladstone, in Madison County, after a long illness, there were two sons, 31 grandchildren, 32 great-grandchildren and two great great-grandchildren. The pallbearers were grandsons and great-grandsons.

Miss Emma Mathis, of Gadsden, is suing the Western Union Telegraph Company for $1,300 damages, alleging delay in the delivery of a telegram offering her a position as teacher at Emberton, Ga. It is claimed that the delay caused her to lose the place, the salary of which was $1,300 per session.

Cleburne County Baptist Association will convene at Old Hopewell Church for a three-day meeting Friday, October 2, instead of October 17, as previously announced. Rev. William Barr, of Bell Mills, is moderator and expects a large attendance.

The public school at Pelham is to be remodeled. Part of the building has been torn away and new wings will be added. School will be held in the Baptist Church until the work is completed.

It is announced at Gadsden that certain insurance companies are now insuring automobiles against confiscation if captured in the act of rum running.

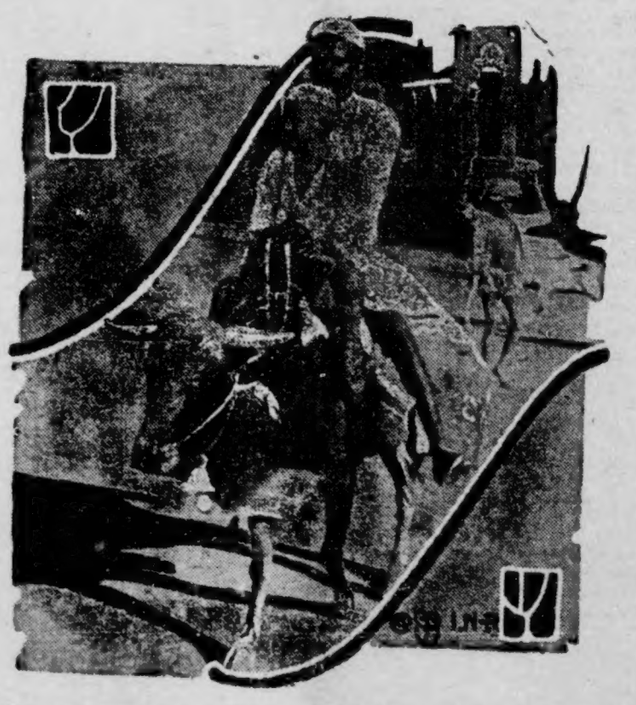
"OX-BACK" RIDING IN INDIA



OXEN still play an important part in the life and customs of natives in the ancient city of Gwalior, India. Not only for plowing and hauling purposes but equestrian activities, too.

The photograph here shows an Indian with his son astride a docile ox. Of course, it's not what you would call "rapid transit" but then—the people over there have all kinds of time and they get there just the same.

One consolation, at least, in this method of transportation. It may be slow, but you're safe from reckless drivers in crossing the streets. Then too, there's no "high cost of gasoline."

At a meeting of the County School Board last Friday, they approved and appointed two members of the Town School Board, J. D. Cleckler and J. C. Pate, who were nominated by the people of Thorsby.

Mrs. S. P. Kelly and son, Coy Gibbons, returned last Friday from a 2-weeks trip to Kansas. Mrs. Kelly's oldest son, Ivan Gibbons, and family returned with them for a visit in our town.

Mrs. Palmer Dahl and Gladys Flummer were week-end visitors at their respective homes last week.

Mr. R. A. Turner left for Birmingham last Friday night and will be gone several weeks.

Marion, Ill.—Confession that she had poisoned her former husband, Joseph Herrington, 34, in a plot with Robert Tate, whom she married twenty days after Herrington's death was made by Mrs. Ruby Herrington Tate, 30, in the Williamson County jail here.

The date by which time C. W Whiteside, Tax Collector, of Calhoun County must furnished a bond of $50,000 required by the State for the office was set by Probate Judge Thomas W. Coleman, as October 6. If Mr White does not furnish a bond within 15 days after the date set by Judge Coleman he must vacate office, it was stated. The American Surety Company through its attorney, H. D. Logan, filed a petition in the Probate Court asking to be allowed to withdraw its $50,000 bond furnished for Mr. Whiteside when he took office several years ago.

F. F. Tidwell, of Albany, has in his possession an old day book used soon after the Civil War, which shows butter then sold at 25 cents per pound, eggs at 15 cents, "two wool hats for $1.75," calico at 15 cents, four gallons of whisky for $6.50 and one box of paper collars for 40 cents.

Determined to have at least the nucleus for a library at the Gadsden High School, Superintendent C. A. Donahoo announced that a drive will be made for books. The classrooms will contest for prizes to be offered for those bringing in the largest number of books.

"If Your Pain Is There, What You Need Is a Good Tonic For the Kidneys"

The kidneys are the scavengers and they work day and night in separating and the poisons from the blood. Their signals of distress are easily recognized and include such symptoms as lumbago, backache, depressions, drowsiness, irritability, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic twinges, dropsy.

People are realizing more and more every day that the kidneys, just as do the bowels, need to be flushed occasionally. The kidneys are an eliminative organ and are constantly working, separating the poisons from the blood. Under this continual and perpetual action they are apt to congest, and then trouble starts. Uric acid backs up into the system, causing rheumatism, neuralgia, dropsy and many other serious disturbances. It means that you are a victim of uric acid poisoning. Then ask your druggist for Anuric (anti uric acid) and you will very soon become one of hundreds who have been helped by this powerful enemy to uric acid.

Dr. Pierce manufactures Anuric (kidney-backache) tablets and you can obtain a trial pkg. by enclosing 10c and addressing Dr. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

FLIERS REACH END OF WORLD FLIGHT

LEFT SEATTLE LAST APRIL 6, MADE COMPLETE CIRCUIT OF THE GLOBE, RETURNING SEPTEMBER 28

Seattle. — The American army around-the-world fliers completed the circuit of the globe Sunday afternoon, landing at Sand Point Field at 1:36 p. m., Pacific time. They started their flight here April 6.

Lieutenant Smith was the first to land. He was followed by Lieutenant Wade, then Lieutenant Nelson. The commander landed at 1:36, the others at 3:37:50 and 1:38:35.

The conditions on landing and aloft for the fliers were ideal at the Sand Point Field. The sun was shining brightly as the airplanes came down and the weather was warm, approaching sultriness.

One of the first to greet the three famous airmen and their three mechanics, Lieutenant Leslie P. Arnold, Lieutenant Henry H. Ogden, was Major Frederick L. Martin, the original commander of the flight, whose airplane met disaster in the Aleutian Islands.

A family reunion took place on the field a few minutes after Lieutenant Arnold got out of his airplane. He was hugged and kissed by his mother, Mrs. Cora Arnold, and his sister, Mrs. Frances Cole, of Spokane, Wash., who had not seen him since he started on the flight that made aviation history.

The airplanes on landing taxied in a large circle to the reviewing stand with the Chicago at the left, Boston II in the center and the New Orleans at the right.

Ropes were strung around the famous machines and the Reception Committee gathered to greet the flyers.

Lieutenant Smith stepped from the cockpit of his craft and made a short address to the assembled committee. The crowd that gathered around the roped-off airplanes was so great that the reception at the landing field was curtailed to merely a shaking of hands of the fliers and expressions from the Reception Committee of "glad you are here." Each of the fliers received at the field a large bouquet of dahlias which they took with them to a private luncheon aboard a yacht.

A huge welcome sign one hundred and fifty feet long spelled in letters twenty feet high greeted the aviators as they circled over Sand Point. On the field hundreds of automobiles, whistles from scores of boats and yachts anchored on Lake Washington off Sand Point and cheers from the thousands of spectators contributed to the noisy return.

Among the vessels in the lake awaiting the fliers' arrival was the Canadian destroyer Patrician. The officers aboard had been delegated by dominion officials to extend the greetings of the Canadian government officials.

The world circles were accompanied on their flight from Eugene by Lieutenants J. A. Brookhurst and George W. Goddard who made a photographic record of the flight across the country and Lieutenant Burdette Wright and Sergeant J. F. Kennedy. Lieutenant Wright acted as advance officer of the flight and he was the first of accompanying airplanes to arrive at 12:55 p. m.

Following informal ceremonies immediately after the landing, the fliers were taken to Madison Park and greeted by approximately 50 000 persons. From here they went by automobile to Volunteer Park for a formal reception. Lieutenant Smith rode in a car covered with flowers. His name was spelled out with dahlias in front.

Reservation for Waterway Banquet

Chicago—Delegates from numerous cities in the Mississippi Valley have made reservations for the Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico waterway banquet here October 6, and more than 2,500 persons are expected to be in attendance. William Hale Thompson is in charge of the arrangements announced.

Friedrichshaven, Germany—Preparations for the trans Atlantic flight of the ZR-3, the Zeppelin-built giant dirigible which is to be turned over to the American Navy after its voyage across the sea to Lakehurst, N. J. are under way in anticipation of beginning the long air journey October 5 or 6.

Big Steel Orders

Birmingham.—More than $5,000,000 worth of Ensley steel rails were ordered during the week-end, following the announcement of the Louisville & Nashville that the company had bought a total of 62,129 tons of rails from the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company.

Drowned Man's Watch Running

New Orleans.—A cheap watch found in the clothing on the body of a white man picked up in the Mississippi River here was still running. The body apparently had been in the water only a few hours. Police could not identify the man.

Killed by Stingaree

Moss Point, Miss.—Charles Stauter, 38, of this city, died from the effects of being stung by a stingaree while fishing. Poison set in and he lingered several hours.

Vanderstyle, campaign manager for the Baldwin County Kiwanians, who have assumed the task of raising a fund of $30,000 for the State Normal School at Daphne, is making visits to the several towns and communities in Baldwin County. At a recent meeting at Bohemia a large crowd was present and pledged its active support Meetings have also been held at Bell Forest and several other places.

The Athens College for young women was opened with a good attendance and many yet to enroll.

Invitation has been extended to Gov. W. W. Brandon by the city commission of Birmingham to deliver the formal address at the opening of the auditorium on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 19, according to information at the city hall.

Eczema

OH! The joy of a peaceful, restful night. What a wonderful "up and going" feeling follows such a night of undisturbed slumber.

Oh! What tortures — what agony —what despair—goes with the nights where eczema and other skin diseases hold power and drive away rest and peaceful slumber. For under the cover of darkness like crafty beings of the underworld these eruptions work their most serious havoc.

S.S.S. is the established conqueror of these annoying skin diseases. S.S.S. drives these ever disturbing elements from your system—elements that carry in their wake—lack of energy—undermining health! You may try in vain to get rid of them by using salves, lotions, washes, all to no purpose. You can't do it that way—the seat of the trouble lies deeper—impure blood trying to throw off poisons through the tender skin.

S.S.S. purifies the blood. It aids Nature in creating new red-blood-cells by the million! Blood-cells that send new rich blood coursing through your system. Red blood that drives away eczema—drives away pimples, blackheads, boils and rheumatism, too. An increase in red-blood-cells means added strength, added vitality and renewed vigor. Because the medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable, it may be taken with perfect safety. Start taking S.S.S. today and watch it rout that annoying, skin destroying, health undermining army that holds your system in its grasp! Learn again what it means to enjoy peaceful, restful nights of slumber.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

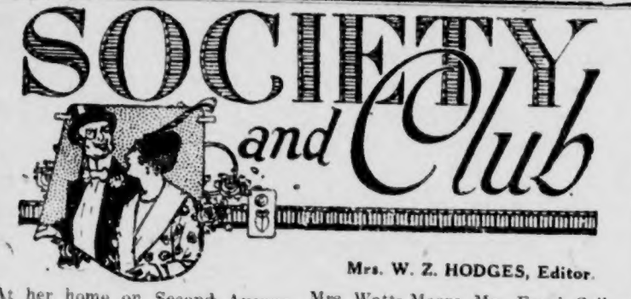
SOCIETY and Club



Mrs. W. Z. HODGES, Editor.

At her home on Second Avenue, Miss Kathleen Mullins entertained the members of the Wednesday Card Club and a few friends last Wednesday afternoon. The dining room was made beautiful with dahlias and cut flowers. Bridge was played at four tables, and afterwards delicious refreshments were served. The club prize, a couple of decks of congress cards, was won by Mrs. Arthur Johnson, while the guest prize, two dainty hand-made handkerchiefs, fell to Miss Bettie Mullins. The club members and guests were Mrs. Hance Alred, Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. Gerald, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Hugh Jones, Mrs. Lyman, Mrs. Grady Reynolds, Mrs. Oscar Jones, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. Frank Callen, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Miss Roberta Curry and Miss Bettie Mullins.

Mrs. Claud Jones took the Junior Missionary and Chrisian Endeavor Societies on a hike Tuesday afternoon. They were all girls, but looked like boys, as they were dressed in knickers.

Sunday, October 5th, is the beginning of the Sunday School work for 1925. Pupils will be promoted and diplomas will be given, so all the children are urged to be present.

Mrs. Latham Ellis is visiting Miss Polk at Columbiana this week.

Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, Mr. McDavid and Watkins are attending the Ford convention in Atlanta this week.

Mr. Herbert Davis returned home Saturday from Texas, and left Sunday for the University, where he will be in school for the year.

Miss Roberta Curry, after a brief visit to her parents, will leave the latter part of this week for New York, to resume the study of voice under her former teacher, William Stickles.

Mrs. Curry Thomas was operated on for appendicitis Tuesday morning at the Central Alabama Hospital, and is reported to be doing nicely.

Miss Ruth Jones of Jumbo is visiting friends in Clanton this week.

FARMER NOT AID IN ORGANIZATION OF THIRD PARTY

International Labor Unions Excluded From LaFollette Convention All Except Own Followers.

RADICALS IN POWER BAN SOIL TILLERS

Blacklist Includes Their Defenders in Congress.

LaFollette was entered in the race for President by an aggregation of national and international labor unions. The public, and particularly the farmer, had no voice whatever in his so-called nomination. There has existed for over three years an organization known as the Conference for Progressive Political Action, composed of 16 or 18 national and international labor unions, the majority of them railway labor organizations.

The officers of this Conference for Progressive Political Action are on the whole the national and international officers of the labor organizations composing the conference. The chairman or president of this conference is William Johnston, president of the International Machinists' union, and the director of the railroad strike in 1922. Mr. Johnston was recently candidate for governor of Rhode Island on the Socialist ticket. The headquarters of this conference is in the Machinists' building, Washington, D. C., a building owned by the International Machinists.

This conference held its annual meeting in St. Louis in February, 1924, adopted a platform, pledged itself to launch a third party, and adjourned to meet in Cleveland July 4 for that purpose. The convention in Cleveland on July 4 was therefore nothing but the adjourned meeting of the Conference for Progressive Political Action. The delegates to the Cleveland convention were merely delegates from the labor organizations comprising the Conference for Progressive Political Action, plus a few scattering delegates from the Socialist party and a few radical organizations such as the League for Industrial Democracy. The Conference for Progressive Political Action established its own rules regarding whom it would admit as delegates and these rules were so framed that no one not in hearty accord with the views of the labor organizations comprising the conference was admitted. Out of approximately 1,000 delegates, less than 25 were farmers or representatives of alleged farmer organizations.

The officers of the Conference for Political Action were the officers of the convention. William Johnston, Socialist leader, was the temporary and also the permanent chairman. After organizing the convention, a resolution was drawn up and sent to Senator LaFollette asking him to lead in a fight for a third party. Not a single farmer or representative of a bona fide farmer organization signed this petition.

The funeral services of "Aunt Polly" Douthard were held by the Methodist minister at the county almshouse at Jacksonville recently. Aunt Polly was a coolred woman, 107 years old. She remembered as far back as 1818 and talked quite frequently of the Indian tribes in Talladega, where she was born.

Mississippi leads the list outside Alabama, with 34. Florida is second, with seven students; Texas, third, with five; Virginia has three; Georgia and Pennsylvania, two each; while Minnesota, Arkansas, Wisconsin, New York and Tennessee each are represented by a single student.

An attempt on the part of the state highway commission to have the state of Alabama pay the traveling expenses incurred by W. S. Keller, state highway engineer, on a trip to the Democratic national convention at New York has been formally disapproved by Attorney General Harwell G. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haynes, owners of a cafe at Talladega, owe their lives to the plaintive meows of two pet kittens. It was the crying of the pets that awakened the couple early in the morning when their cafe was destroyed by fire. They escaped through a window, but the kittens were burned to death.

and she knew what a good medicine it was for this trouble, so she told me to get some and take it. I sent to the store after it and before I had taken the first bottle up I began to improve. My side hurt less and I began to mend in health. I took four bottles in all during the last ten months. Cardui acted as a fine tonic. . . I am well now. I have gained ten pounds and am still gaining. My sides do not trouble me at all and my . . . are quite regular. I know that Cardui will help others suffering from the same trouble."

ELECTION NOTICE

The State of Alabama,
Chilton County.

I, T. J. Littlejohn, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, in conformity with Section 357, page 329, of the Political Code of Alabama, (1907), hereby give notice that a General Election of the qualified voters of Chilton County, Alabama, will be held in the several election precincts of said county on Tuesday, the 4th day of November, 1924, for the election of:—

Twelve Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States; one United States Senator from Alabama, two Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of Alabama, one Associate Judge Court of Appeals of Alabama; State Commissioner of Game and Fisheries of Alabama; President Alabama Public Service Commission; Representative in Congress from the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama; County Treasurer of Chilton County, Alabama; Commissioner from the Third District of Chilton County, Alabama; Commissioner from the Fourth District of Chilton County, Alabama; two members of the County Board of Education of Chilton County, Alabama; two Justices of the Peace for each precinct in Chilton County, Alabama; one Constable for each precinct in Chilton County, Alabama;

Also whether the following amendments to the Constitution of Alabama shall be adopted, viz:

Proposed Amndment No. 1.

Shall the following proposed amendment, Section 194 1-2 of the Constitution of Alabama, be adopted?

"No person who honorably served in the military or naval service of the United States, between January 1st, 1917 and November 11, 1918, shall be required to pay the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama; such persons shall be exempt from the payment of all poll taxes which have accrued or may hereafter accrue. This section shall be self-executing and retroactive. The Judges of Probate shall issue certificates of exemption from the payment of such poll taxes to the persons entitled thereto under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Governor."

Proposed Amendment No. 2.

Shall the following be adopted as Article XXI of the Constitution of Alabama?

Section 1. "The Legislature may form of provide for the formation of districts for establishing and maintaining a drainage system; for the building and maintaining of public roads, and for building and maintaining a seawall or other protection against waves, storm or flood therein; and provide for the assessment of the whole or part of the cost of such improvements against the land in such districts to the extent of the increased value of such land by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements, and may provide for the issuance of bonds by such district with or without any election. Provided the provisions as to road and seawall shall apply only to Mobile and Baldwin Counties."

Proposed Amendment No. 3.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

"The County of Mobile, through its constituted governing authorities, may levy and collect for public school purposes, a rate of taxation, on the property situated therein, not exceeding the total of any one year, one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum of the value of such property as assessed as provided by the Constitution of Alabama and the statutes now or hereafter enacted pursuant to the said Constitution of Alabama, which said one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum shall be in addition to taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to the authority of Section 215 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, which Article XIX was added to the said Constitution by Amendment; and existing laws attempting or purporting to authorize, empower and direct the said constituted authorities of the County of Mobile to levy and assess such a special tax in addition to the taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution as aforesaid and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution as aforesaid are hereby validated and confirmed."

Proposed Amendment No. 4.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of Alabama?

"The municipalities of Thorsby, Piedmont, and Greenville, and Roanoke, and Greensboro and Calera, Florala and Opp, Evergreen and Fayette, and Clayton and Clio in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for State taxation for the tax year ending on the thirteenth day of September next succeeding the levy; provided that for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness which may be issued or incurred after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected; provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1-2) per centum in any one year. Alabama City shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of three-quarters of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for State taxation. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, or authority or right of either of said municipal corporations to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them, under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of the city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law Number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337, each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For .....excess rate of taxation for the year (or years).....;" and "Against.....excess rate of taxation for the year (or years)....." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to appiy to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years.. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and such proposition is defeated no second election for the same shall be held in one year thereafter."

Proposed Amendment No. 5.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

Proposed Amendment No. 290. "Mobile County man become indebted and may issue bonds for the construction or improvement of concrete or better than concrete surfaced public roads, and concrete or better than concrete public bridges in said county, and for the construction of bridges and roadway necessary to provide a public road for vehicular travel between the highlands of Mobile and Baldwin Counties, in an amount not to exceed six ane one-half per centum of the assessed value of the property situated in Mobile County. To pay said indebtedness and the interest thereon, Mobile County may levy and collect an annual tax on said property not to exceed one-half of one per centum of said value. The indebtedness, the bonds and the tax authorized hereby shall be in addition to those authorized by the Constitution of Alabama prior to the adoption of this amendment. But no such additional indebtedness shall be created, and no such additional bonds shall be issued, and no such additional tax shall be levied, until each improvement or construction proposed to be built thereby, its approximate location, estimated cost and time of completion, and the amount of the proposed increase, shall have been determined upon and made public by the Board of Revenue and Road Commissioners of Mobile County, and the proposed increase of indebtedness or issue of bonds or tax therefor shall have been first authorized by a majority vote by ballot of the qualified voters of Mobile County voting upon such proposition."

Proposed Amendment No. 6

Shall the following be adopted as Article.....of the Constitution of Alabama?

Section 1. "The County of Walker, State of Alabama, shall have power to levy and collect a special road tax not exceeding fifty cents on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county in addition to that now authorized or that may hereafter be authorized for the erection, construction or maintenance of the necessary public roads, bridges or ferries and in addition to that now authorized under Section 215 of Article XI of the Constitution, which special county tax so levied and collected shall be applied exclusively to the purpose for which the same was so levied and collected; provided, that the rate of such tax, the time it is to continue and he purpose thereof shall have first been submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of the county, and voted for by a majority of those voting at such election." Section 2. "Twenty-five per centum of all moneys derived from property lying within the municipalities and arising from the tax proposed herein shall be paid to such municipality and shall, by it, be expended for upkeep of its streets." Section 3. "The Court of County Commissioners, Boards of Revenue, or other governing body of said county may, or upon written petition of ten per centum of the qualified voters of Walker County, shall call and submit said election provided for and authorized by Section 1 hereof to the qualified electors of Walker County either at the time of the general election or at a special election called for that purpose; proivded that said election shall be called and held in accordance with the law now or that may be enacted governing county bond elections, and in conformity with the general election laws of the State."

Proposed Amendment No. 7

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

"Town Creek School District No. 59, Landersville School District No. 23 and Moulton School District No. 28, in Lawrence County, Alabama, shall each have the right and power by vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such district at an election held fir that purpose to levy and collect for the purpose of acquiring, constructing or repairing of school buildings in such districts or paying for school buildings already built, a tax of not over five mills in any one year, in addition to all other taxes now authorized by law. The election in such district to determine whether or not such tax shall be levied shall be called, held and conducted as now provided by law for calling, holding and conducting of elections to determine whether or not a three-mill district school tax shall be levied and collected."

Dated at Clanton, Ala., this the 7th day of October, 1924.

T. J. LITTLEJOHN,
Sheriff Chilton County, Ala.

The Chilton Tigers took the Marbury High School in tow on the former's field last Friday afternoon and defeated them 20 to 0. The game was an easy one for the Chilton boys, who completed forward passes almost at will. The sensation of the game was a pass, Hayes to Thompson, followed by Thompson's forty-five yard run for a touchdown. This makes two victories for Chilton this season, in as many games, and Chilton's line has not been crossed .

RADCLFFE CHAUTAUQUA ENTERTAINS CLANTON FOLKS

Musical Numbers and Lectures by Artists and Orators Proves Best Ever Witnessed Here.

Those good citizens of Clanton who were instrumental in bringing the Radcliffe Chautauqua here this season deserve the whole-hearted commendation of the people of this section. And judging from the way the people responded in attending the various programs, due appreciation has been shown for these noble efforts on the part of the local committee. Two performances were put on each of the first three days of this week, and good crowds were present each time. There was not enough seating room in the big tent to take care of the crowds even from the first appearance of the Chautauqua. More seats were brought in for the Monday night appearance, but still everybody could not be accommodated.

The people were promised plenty of fine, high class entetainment, and they were not disappointed in the least. The musical numbers and the artistic stunts were fine, and the lectures which were given at every performance were inspiring and elevating to the highest degree. The musical concert given Monday and Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. Gerl and Miss Gerl, Swiss Alpine Yodlers, was greatly enjoyed by everyone.

"That Something Within" Monday afternoon and "Broken Barriers" Monday night, by Dr. Guy Morse Bingham, were lectures worth anyone's time and deep consideration. Mr. Bingham spoke for about an hour each time, and none of his time was lost. He was saying something fruitful and inspiring every second he was on the floor.

Mr. Russel O. Berg, the crayon artist, displayed rare talent in drawing pictures in record time Tuesday afternoon and night. The concerts were also splendid as well as the lectures, "The End of the Rainbow" and "The Dawn of Civilization" by Dr. Wirt Lowther.

On Wednesday afternoon, a three-act comedy, "A Complicated Affair" was put on by the Pelletier players, which was sentimental as well as entertaining and interesting. "That Old Gang of Mine" and "The Better Tomorrow" were the subjects handled by Mr. Charles A. Morr Wednesday and Wednesday night. The closing number of the Chautauqua, a three-act drama, "Betty's Accounting" by the Pellitier players was well taken by the audience. This play is really and truly a masterpiece, and the Pelletier players depicted its plot and climax in a very striking manner.

It will be only a faint report of the Chautauqua to say that is was a success this year, because it was much more than a mere success. Dr. Ezell says that the only word to fully describe the numbers and the lectures is "wonderful," and most of those who attended the performances fully agree with him. The Chautauqua was just as fine as could be asked for, and the people responded nobly in coming out and witnessing it. It is hard to estimate the amount of good that has been done our community by this Chautauqua. Its numbers possessed the entertaining qualities of the best city, theatres, and they offered the inspiration and elevation of a religious revival. These two qualities embodied together make a very fine combination.

We have not learned what the proceeds from the sale of tickets were, but we are sure that all expenses have been paid and a nice little sum left over to be divided between the two churches of Clanton.

ALABAMA'S SCHOOL FUND APPORTIONED FOR 1924-25 TERM

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 7. —Apportionment of the general education fund of Alabama, to the counties of the state, for the year beginning Oct. 1, 1924 and ending Sept. 30, 1925, was submitted Monday to State Auditor W. B. Allgood, by State Superintendent of Education Dr. John W. Abercrombie.

The total amount of the fund is $ 3,500,805.32. Chilton County's share is $32,952.88.

These figures represented a slight increase in the fund over last year.

This does not mean however, it is stated, that every county will receive a larger amount than last year. Losses by some counties in school population as shown by the 1924 school census, will offset the amount gained by the increase per capita.

Compared with the census of 1922, it is stated, the 1924 census shows a gain in the state of 9,275 white children between 7 and 21 years of age, and a loss of 1,901 negro children.

T. R. Jr., MAKES NINE SPEECHES IN ONE DAY

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., began his three-week up-state speaking campaign Monday with nine speeches, the last to a huge meeting here.

Mrs. Roosevelt sat with her husband on the platform after having climbed with him into motor trucks to speak beside the railroad in the afternoon. When State Senator J. Griswold Webb introduced her, the crowd applauded, but Mrs. Roosevelt merely said:

"I thank you very much but I shall leave the speaking of the family to my husband."

The colonel discussed national issues chiefly during the early meetings, dwellings on state questions at Poughkeepsie.

"I honor my father and try to follow his ideals," he said, "but I don't want any of you to vote for me on account of who my father was."

BAPTIST REVIVAL.

Beginning Sunday morning, Oct. 12th, at 11 o'clock, a revival will run for 10 days at the Clanton Baptist Church. Services will be held each day at 3:30, p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

Dr. David M. Goldner of Bessemer is the preacher, and Mr. Thomas H. Pharr of the Home Board will conduct the singing. Everybody is invited and will be welcome.

Sunday night at 7:30 will be given a pageant by the G. W. A., "How Dreams Come True."

HOSPTAL NOTES

Mrs. C. R. Moates went home from the Hospital Wednesday.

Mr. Briggs Crumpton was operated on for appendicitis Monday.

Mr. J. Q. Sanders was brought to the hospital Sunday night as a result of being bored by a cow.

Mrs. Curry Thomas is now rapidly convalescing and will soon be in her school work again.

Mrs. F. A. Ellison was discharged the latter part of last week, on the road to complete recovery.

Master Bill Mahan went home last Saturday.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION COURSE

The University Extension Group will meet at the high school building here on Saturday, October 25th at 9, a.m. Dr. Thomas will be the instructor and the course will be given in "Socially Significant Literature." This course will give you credit in either the Department of Education or in regular college of arts and sciences. The course is primarily for teachers but any citizen will be admitted to the course that may desire to take same.

Clerk & Treasurer.

Mr. Amherst Powell of Providence has taken up a job in a garage in Evergreen, Ala. He likes his work fine and will move down there later.

AUTOMOBILE RUNS OFF YELLOW LEAF BRIDGE

No, it didn't run off the end of the bridge either, but it went through the railing and fell head foremost into the creek forty or fifty feet below. The accident happened some time early Sunday night at the high bridge over Yellow Leaf Creek between Lork 12 and Clanton. The automobile, a big Premocar, driven by Dock Evans of Lomax, carried three other men besides the driver, when something went wrong either with the steering gear or the steerer, and the car went off into the railing on the side of the bridge. Several feet of the railing were torn down, and the attempt to turn the car back on to the bridge was of no avail.

One of the passengers, it is said, jumped out of the car and stayed on the bridge, while the other three went off with the car. Enroute between the bridge and the creek two other of the men detoured, while the other one remained in the car and was pinned under it among the rocks and water in the bottom of the creek. Of course, the creek was nearly dry, so the three men outside got busy and lifted the fragments of the old car off the one man underneath, and all four came out with only slight injuries. The car was battered up considerably. We could not learn for certain who the other three men were, but it is said that two of them were Smitherman boys.

NEW YORK EVENING WORLD ON DEPRESSION OF 1914.

Free trade papers have been very free in claiming that there was prosperity under the Underwood tariff, but the American Economist, in showing the absurdity of these statements, quotes from the New York Evening World of December 16, 1914, the following as showing the condition in that city.

"Long bread lines in this city grow longer. Municipal lodgings and mission-houses are filled to the door each night. Recreation piers heated with big stoves have to do what tey can for the overflow. Efforts to find work for the unemployed are still behind the increasing army of the jobless."

This condition had been growing steadily since the introduction of the Underwood Tariff bill. It had brought forth more failure than the county had ever before known, and the only thing that saved the business interests of the nation from ruin, with not 2,000,000 only, but many millions of men out of employment, was the coming of the European war, which brought about in 1915 a purely war prosperity.

CHILTON HARDWARE CO. OPEN FOR BUSINESS

The Chilton Hardware Company, which was destroyed by fire a few months ago, has rebuilt and is now open again with a full line of hardware and furniture. The store has been enlarged from what it was before the fire, it now taking in the space formerly occupied by the City Bakery.

Mr. Oscar Jones, the proprietor, is a hustling young business man, and will not be discouraged but will try again. He has a fine store now, and is in position to serve his friends well in his line of goods. Read his big opening adv. in this paper.

Lack of use is in fact abuse. This will apply to money, to grain, to human energy. If you keep, you will never reap. It is use—or lose.

Money in the bank goes into circulation, helps make business better. Money hid away about the house, locked in deposit boxes, buried in the cellar, does no good and is likely to be lost. The safe place for your money is in a reliable Bank, like ours.

The first meeting of the Helen Keller Literary Society met Friday afternoon, October 3rd, at 3:10. The meeting was presided over by the president, Plato Deason. As the custodian nominated for this year did not return to school, Payne Bryan was elected in his stead. After the roll call by Iola Gerald, the secretary, Mr. E. W. Butler gave a short talk on parlimentary law and served as critic when motions were made. A new division has been made of the Literary Society this year. The Juniors and Seniors are in one division and the rest of the school in the other. They are to meet separately once a month and to have a union meeting once a month. These meetings will be held for the most part in the afternoons. There will be during the year a number of programs on Saturday evening, open to the public. Other events will be planned for Saturday evening from time to time.

There was a Parent-Teachers Association held at the Public School on Friday afternoon, October 3rd, in the charge of the newly elected officers: Mrs. C. S. Howard, President; Mrs. John Goddard, Vice-President; Miss Etta Foshee, Secretary; Mrs. J. E. Each, Treasurer. Funds in hand of the Association were reported to be $265.00, of which a certain sum was donated for very necessary equipment of the Public School. An interesting program was given. The Association has an enrollment of 40 members and will welcome all others who are interested in our school.

Thorsby Institute library is open to the public on school days from 9:00 to 11:30 in the forenoon and 2:30 to 4:00 in the afternoon. About six thousand good books of fiction, history, biography, science and many others are available. Patrons are permitted to keep a book two weeks without charge, when they may be renewed except in special cases. Now that the evenings are growing longer you should get these books from the library, which is run on ordinary free library rules.

The Christian Endeavors held a social on last Saturday evening at the home of Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Butler. The social committee, with Miss Parker as chief assistant, planned the games which were played after the business session. Refreshments of lemonade and cakes were served. Everyone seemed to have a fine time.

Thorsby Institute is planning to have a Lyceum course of three numbers this year. The school is guaranteeing the numbers and they are to be of especially high grade. More will be announced later about the numbers and cost of tickets. The first number will be the first part of November.

Miss Helen Jenkins, principal of Thorsby Institute, entertained the teachers of Thorsby Institute and assistants at a party on Tuesday night in the living room of the dining hall. The room was decorated with pot plants and carnations. Various games were played, after which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Norton returned from their summer vacation in New Jersey last Tuesday evening, Sept. 30th, and they take this opportunity to extend greetings to their Union-Banner readers.

Prof. C. M. Williams, principal of Thorsby Public School, is reported to have sold his farm south of Thorsby and is also expected to bring his family into town early in November and have rooms in the Gulledge House.

From such reports as we have received, it is evident that the cotton crop in the vicinity of Thorsby has been unusually good this season. Most of it is being sold for higher prices.

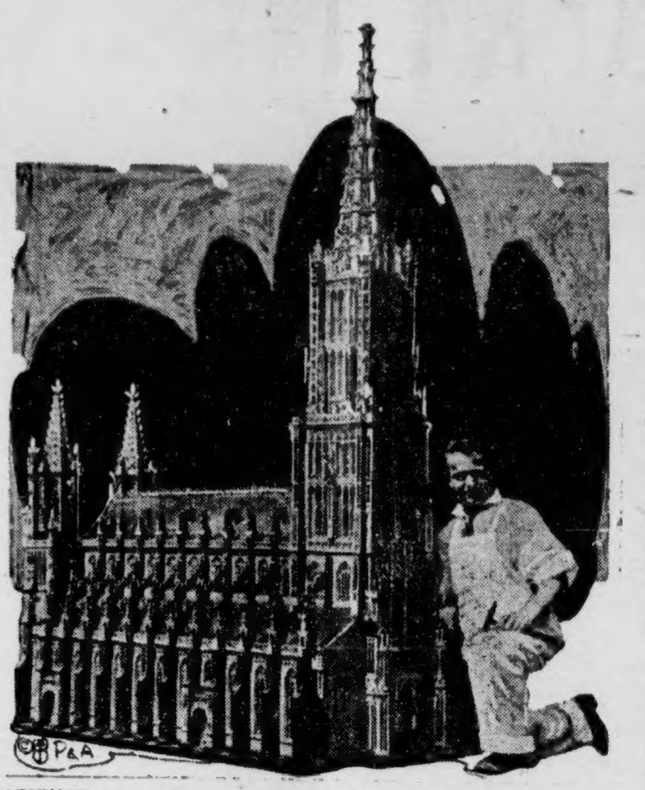
A WORK OF ART



PATIENCE, an artistic eye, and unusual skill in manipulating a small hand scroll saw—the personal qualities of Michael Moltz of Los Angeles, Calif.—were responsible for the marvelous wood carving you see pictured above. It is a reproduction, said to be perfect in detail, of the highest towered church edifice in the world—the famous Ulm Cathedral on the border between Bavaria and Wurtemburg in Germany.

Mr. Molz, who is shown kneeling beside his wonderful model, built it in proportion to the dimensions of the original cathedral. It stands nine feet in height. Scores of visitors to Los Angeles have viewed it and pronounced it as, truly a wonderful work of art made possible by no small amount of painstaking labor on Mr. Moltz' part.

Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Martin of Montgomery are visitors of Mrs. Aaron Littleton.

Mrs. Littleton had a fall during the past week, from which she is now slowly improving.

Mrs. G. W. Horsley is spending a week with her mother, Mrs. Littleton.

Miss Agnes Leary, who has been employed for several months in Birmingham has returned to her home in Thorsby, where she expects to remain for some time.

Mr. J. O. Johnson sold his farm last week to Mr. Robert Jackson. Mr. Jackson and family expect to move into town next month and have rooms in the Gulledge House.

Mr. H. L. Bradford is very ill at his home in Thorsby, with little prospect of recovery.

Mrs. Magne Anderson is again visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ivey Horn in Boyles.

One of the Miller brothers, who have the contract for paving the north half of the highway was a visitor in Thorsby Tuesday.

Mrs. Anna Villadsen is spending two weeks in Birmingham.

Mrs. James Mims, who has been seriously sick for some time, was removed last week to Dr. Stable's hospital at Greenville.

Mr. Ivan Gibbons and family of Colorado, Kansas, returned home last Friday, after having spent a couple of weeks visiting his mother, Mrs. S. P. Kelly.

Mr. Carl Meade of Birmingham visited here last Sunday and Monday, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Meade.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno Villadsen and children autoed to Montgomery for the day Saturday.

Mr. Willie Scott of Montgomery was a week end visitor with his parents in Thorsby.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

At a conference at the State Highway Department October 13, between State Highway Commissioners, the State Highway Engineer and the four maintenance supervisors of the Highway Department, placing of markers and signs on the highways of Alabama will be discussed. The kind of markers and signs to be employed will be decided on at this conference, also the method of placing them most advantageously. These markers will indicate to those using the roads the name of the road they are traveling over, distances between principal points, road intersections and dangerous curves to be negotiated.

Grady Hale, of Murrycross, was in Gadsden hunting for the man who drove a Ford automobile against his grist mill, completely wrecking the plant. He said one whole side of the mill was torn out and a corn crusher torn from its foundation. Some broken bits of glass from a windshield was all that could be found of the automobile. Parties living in the neighborhood say the Ford was racing to pass a large car, left the road and dashed into the mill, 50 feet away. It was able to continue on its way after the accident.

Mining and metallurgical engineers from various parts of the country, members of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, one of the largest organizations of its kind in the country, will, on the occasion of their one hundred and thirteenth meeting, to be held in Birmingham October 13, 14 and 15, be shown some of the activities of Birmingham and the immediate district, including natural resources and what is being brought out of it.

W. L. Smith, of Gadsden, and associates are opening coal mines at Altoona which will soon be producing from 400 to 500 tons daily. A tipple 65 feet high is being completed and a spur track on the top of the mountain runs back to the opening, a distance of 2,300 feet. A new system of mining is being employed, it is claimed, which reduces the cost. The Underwood seam on the property is four feet six. The blue gem is also to be worked.

Thomas G. Riddle, prominent Madison business man and former vice-president of the Bank of Madison, which failed and has since been liquidated, is now in Kilby Prison, serving a term of from eight to 10 years, to which he was sentenced after he had been convicted by a jury on a charge of forgery. Conditional upon Riddle's acceptance of the term in prison, it is understood that other cases on the docket against him relating to Madison Bank transactions will be quashed.

A warning to warehousemen against carrying insurance on cotton stored with them, with unauthorized companies, has been issued from the State Department of Agriculture. N. H. General M. B. Houghton, commander of the Alabama Division of the United Confederate Veterans, will wield a gavel, made from the keel of the Confederate battleship, "Merrimac," at the opening of the annual reunion in Mobile October 22. The gavel was presented to Jacob D. Bloch, of Mobile, general chairman of the reunion committee in 1910, by the late General J. W. Whiting.

"The Blind Tiger," another humorous publication soon to be added to the already long and ever growing list of college humorous productions, will issue its first number October 15, it was announced by the editor-in-chief.

The Alabama Traction Company will discontinue its street car service in Albany and Decatur on October 11, according to official announcement.

The payroll of the L. & N. Railroad shops at Albany, was largely increased October 1 by the addition of a large number of car builders, according to announcement. The total number of men now employed is nearly 1,800. The machine shop, roundhouse and boiler shops are now running on day and night shifts.

As our old friends throughout the South now, this is one of two STORE-WIDE sales in the whole year!

Of course every section of the store offers good values all the time—extremely special values more or less often—but this one week is the only time the WHOLE STORE puts its best foot forward to do a record volume of business in six days. But great as other October Record Weeks have been—

No other sale will hold a candle to this one!

Fifty seasoned buyers have worked months and months to get the goods together. More than a million dollars' worth of fresh, new merchandise at prices we can't even approach but twice a year.

October Record Week is worth coming miles to share. Especially as—

We pay your fare!

To purchasers of goods (at wonderfully low October Record Week prices) to the amounts given below, we'll gladly refund railroad fares up to the mileage given in the table.

[for example, if you live as far as 100 miles from Birmingham, we'll refund your railroad fare on a total purchase here of $150.]

Unhappy the candidate who must defend his war record.

Now comes the news that there are more automobiles than telephones in the United States. And yet our Demo-rad friends would have us believe that this nation is in a terrible condition of depression and want.

A man is known by the company he keeps. That is why practically all of the Roosevelt Progressives have refused to keep company with the motley crowd of extreme radicals who compose the Third Party.

The world looks on a pessimist with scorn, and we had much rather see a smile than a long face. But a fellow has to possess an awful stiff upper lip to face all the mean, immoral, licentious, loose and rakish practices that some people perpetrate now-a-days, with a smile and say that the world is growing better. We are sure that there are plenty of good people in the world today, but it is also a fact, a lamentable and deplorable fact, that there are also those here who care as little for decency, virtue and moral refinement as have ever lived in any generation, even since the dark ages.

The Roman Catholic hierarchy, although existing under the guise of a religious sect, is the greatest political organization in existance. This arch enemy of popular government has shattered to the ground practically every great power that once flourished in the old world, and its poisonous and deadly tentacles are slowly but surely closing up on this great commonwealth of America. Unless those in charge of our national government stay away from the alluring and deceptive political tricks of Rome's allies, this government of, for and by the people is going to be only history ere long. Rome is playing her cards presistently and cautiously, and unless our American citizens unite against the adversity, it will be only a matter of time until it will be too late.

THE PRICE IN MEN

In his last public address as an officer on the active list of the Army, General Pershing reminded us that every war we have entered, without exception, has found us totally unprepared. In every case we have paid the price in men and money unnecessarily sacrificed. It is to avoid those losses in possible future emergencies that Defense Day was observed. It is hoped that its observance may be made an annual event, that through it we may maintain an organization ready to leap to the national defense with a minimum of loss and delay.

CO-OPERATION AT LAST

Mr. Owen D. Young, temporary agent general for reparations payments under the Dawes plan, reports that he has met the most earnest good will everywhere in Germany. The members of the allied reparations commission also express themselves as well satisfied with what is being done. The Dawes plan has accomplished what for years seemed impossible, a means for winning the approval of all the contending factions in Europe. We have a Dawes plan in this country. It consists of hearty support of President Coolidge and the policies of the Republican Administration. Let us hope that it will receive a support no less widespread than the Dawes plan in Europe.

DAYS WE'LL NEVER FORGET

THE NON-PARTISAN TICKET

In last week's issue of the Chilton County News, was carried the announcement of five Democrats of Chilton County for the five county offices to be filled by the general election in November, under the heading "Non-Partisan Ticket." The Editor of The Union-Banner is personally acquainted with most of these men, and they are all fine men and good citizens. So far as the men themselves are concerned, we would be far from attempting to offer aught against them, but there are a few things in regard to the "Non-Partisan Ticket" to which we wish to call the attention of the voters of the county.

In the first place, we notice that, although the ticket is called "Non-Partisan", all of the candidates are life-long Democrats, who have always been loyal to the tenets of the Democratic party. So the question at once arises, why the caption "Non-Partisan", instead of just plain "Democratic Ticket" which it really is? What is the use of "Whipping the Devil around the stump?" There must evidently be a catch in the business somewhere.

Upon being questioned as to what the Democrats would do regarding the primary election last May, the ring-leader of the Democratic party in Chilton county, Prof. J. L. Johnson, stated that he and his few close followers in Clanton could select a ticket later on that would be more satisfactory than one which might be nominated by the Democrats of the county. So no ticket was nominated by the Democrats in the primary. Now Prof. Johnson and his hand-full of cohorts in Clanton have "selected" their ticket, which job was "too intricate" for Democrats of the county to do in a primary. In other words the few Democratic ring-leaders in Clanton concluded that they were more competent to select the candidates to run in the general election than the people were, hence, the Non-Partisan ticket. Do such manipulations as this carry out the idea of popular government? No, indeed it does not, but it is exactly to the contrary. We believe that the people of this county have sense enough to select their own candidates for office, and that all the people can do the job better than any one man or any one set of men. We do not believe in just a few men ruling a whole county or a whole party, but that the matters of government should be submitted to all the people.

If such a thing should happen that one or more of these "Non-Partisan" candidates should be elected to the office to which they aspire, they would owe absolutely no responsibility to the people of the county, but they would be responsible to the men who put them out, namely: Prof. J. L. Johnson and a few other ring-leaders in Clanton. No matter how good a man is, he cannot render his best service without the backing of the people. If the people put out a man for office, it is natural to conclude that he will serve the people, but if he is put out by a "ring" it is also natural to assume that he will stand out for the "ring".

The Republican party announced it's primary andallowed anyone to announce for the various offices who wished to. After all who wished to had announced, their names were placed on the ballot and every Republican in the county was urged to come to the polls and cast his ballot for his choice. The results was the nomination of a county ticket, and no one was denied the privilege of saying whom he wished to be the nominee for the particular offices.

It is not a hard matter for anyone to see which of the two tickets now before the voters is a product of the people, and we feel sure that the good people of Chilton County are going to weigh the actions of the two parties when they go to cast their vote in the general election. It is a clear-cut matter of popular government against demagogism. Which appeals to you most as a citizen of Chilton county?

WHAT INDUSTRIES DOES DAVIS INTEND TO DESTROY?

Washington, Oct. 6.—Challenging John W. Davis to specify the industries he proposes to put out of business if his party gains control of the government as a result of the coming election, the Republican Publicity Association, through its president, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., says:

"In his speech at Des Moines the Democratic nominee for President denounced the Republican tariff law because it has 'tended to divert labor and capital from beneficial and profitable enterprise into industries ill adapted to American conditions.'

"That means, if it means anything at all, that if Mr. Davis and his party control of the government, they will enact a tariff law which will put an end to those ill adapted enterprises to which labor and capital have been diverted.

"Presumably Mr. Davis would not mention a matter of this kind unless it is of sufficient magnitude to be of national interest. He would not discuss trivial matters in a great national campaign campaign.

"Since, therefore, in Mr. Davis's opinion, the Republican tariff has diverted a considerable amount of labor and capital to a considerable number of industries which should be abandoned, it will be of interest to know what particular industries he has in mind. What enterprises does he wish to close down? What employees does he desire to throw out of their jobs to seek employment in other occupations which he deems adapted to American conditions?

"The mention of one or two industries will not suffice to justify his broad assertion. The laborers and the capitalists who are to be put out of business under the proposed Democratic tariff are entitled to fair warning of the impending cessation of their activities."

COOLIDGE WILL WIN

The present political campaign offers three distinct attitudes for the peoples's thought. One is an attack on industry and every form of success, on the theory that Big Business means the Money Power. Of course it does not. Another attitude attacks a dead administration, but the present one, and raises the slogan of "Honesty in Government," as if all the rascals were in one party and all the saints in the other. Of course they are not. The third attitude is that of counting straight along the common-anse road of America progress, extending the usefulness and prosperity of the American shop, enlarging the advantages of the American home, holding fast the established ideals of American liberties. This third attitude will win.

Ten purebred cows averaging 8000 pounds of milk each, return as great a profit as will 60 scrubs averaging 4000 pounds, investigators have found.

A farmer who does not know if he won or lost at the end of a year's work cannot be expected to win much. It pays to keep a record of all incomes and expenditures. It's the business way.

A man cannot do his best work with his feet in bad shape, but many horses are expected to. It pays to keep horses' hoofs trimmed and well cared for, as often a horse is as strong as his feet.

YOUR TEETH AND YOUR HEALTH

BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

Visit your dentist every six months!

You will have less expense in the way of dental bills, less pain, and your health will be better safeguarded. Many people already do this, but there are still too many who are driven to the dentist only by the pain of a toothache.

If you suffer from neuritis, neuralgia, attacks of lumbago or wry-neck, do not overlook your teeth as a possible cause of your ailment. As a source of infection of the system the teeth are almost, if not equally, as important as the tonsils. And they should receive the same attention in searching for the cause of your trouble.

Cause Many Ailments

Dental infections may also be causing your stubborn rheumatism of the joints, your increased blood pressure, or those early symptoms of heart disease or disturbance of the kidneys. An X-ray examination may reveal infection or pus sacs at the roots of one or more of the teeth—even though you may not be aware of their presence because they are causing you no pain.

If you have any dental infections that can be dealt with successfully only by sacrificing some teeth, sacrifice them. Whenever teeth can be saved with safety, this should be done. But they should not be saved when their continued presence in the mouth is a menace to the health. It is much better to part with some teeth than to take chances of developing incurable diseases of such important organs as the heart or the kidneys.

Dead teeth especially, whether filled or crowned, will bear watching. They seem to be more liable to infection and should be regarded with suspicion whenever a focus of infection is suspected of being in the body.

Your teeth are intimately associated with your health, not only as organs of mastication, but as a possible cause of disease.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Enlared Glands of the Neck

Mrs. L. F. P. writes: "My little girl is seven years old and has some swollen glands on the sides of her neck. What do these come from? She has had no sore throats for a long time."

Reply

A safe guess would be that your little girl has chronically inflamed lymph glands or lymphadenetis, as this condition is called. The cause is almost always some infection or irritation occuring in one of the areas that drain into these glands.

Among the causative conditions are: tonsillar infections, inflammation of the pharynx, mouth, nose or ears, adenoids, dental troubles, and certain affections of the skin such as boils, eczema, and head lice. During the course of some infectious diseases the lymphatics of the neck are frequently enlarged. Tuberculosis is also a cause of such enlargement.

The cause of the trouble should be located and remedied. The condition of the glands will determine how they should be dealt with. Sometimes their complete removal is necessary. If they break down, they should be opened and drained. When no surgical treatment is necessary, general hygienic and tonic treatment is called for. This consists of an abundant nourishing diet, fresh air by day and night, sunlight, and the administration of such tonics as codliver oil, arsenic and iodid of iron.

The proper handling of a case of this kind requires the services of a physician.

Corns

A. S. F. asks: "Is there any way to get rid of corns?"

Reply

Since corns are caused in the first place by improperly fitting shoes, the first step in the treatment consists in the wearing of properly fitting shoes. Properly fitting shoes do not crowd the toes together, nor do they exercise pressure on any part of the foot. They are not so loose that they rub and cause irritation. Shoes that hurt when they are new, do not fit.

You may try painting the corn with a solution of salicylic acid in collodion. Apply this only to the corn, and whenever it wears off, paint on some more. Here is a time honored formula:

Salicylic acid	30 grains
Extract of cannabis indica	10 grains
Collodion	1-2 ounce

After using the preparation for several days soak the foot in hot water and scrape away the corn.

Pressure on the corn can be relieved by wearing a perforated felt protector with an adhesive side.

Second Attacks Are Rare

Mrs. A. H. asks: "Is it possible to have scarlet fever more than once??"

Reply

Osler says, "An attack as a rule confers immunity. In rare instances, there have been one and even two recurrences."

This seems to be the generally accepted opinion: It is possible to have more than one attack but it very rarely happens.

Small-pox

C. M. F. asks: "How long after exposure to a case of small-pox does it take one to develop the disease? What are the symptoms?"

Reply

Small-pox develops within 9 to fifteen days after exposure, if you are going to get it. Most cases develop about the twelfth day.

The early symptoms are chill, headache, vomiting, fever, and rather severe pain in the back and limbs. The rash usually occurs about the fourth day of the disease.

FIVE ARRESTS MADE BY SHERIFF AND DEPUTIES

During the past few days Sheriff Littlejohn and his Deputies have made five arrests of parties for various law violations, but none of them were very serious ones.

On last Sunday Willie Bowman was taken up near Coopers and arrested under the charge of driving a car while intoxicated. He was brought to jail by the Sheriff and Deputy Foshee, but was later released on bond. Arthur Brown was also arrester near Cooper, charged with public drunkeness. He also was brought to jail and was later released on bond.

On last Thursday near Mt. Creek, Monroe Patterson and Lige Brown were arrested in connection with the stealing of some cotton in that vicinity. Both were brought and placed in jail, where Brown still remains. Patterson made bond and was turned loose to await trial.

Erby Webb of Center Hill was turned over to the Sheriff Friday night, a warrant having been issued against him for disturbing public worship by Justice of the Peace, W. H. Killingsworth. Webb was lodged in jail, where he still remains. He has not disturbed public worship since he has been in jail, but the only reason that he has not is because there has been no public worship in reach of him. He has kept up some kind of fuss almost all the time.

Mr. J. R. Rucker, the road man of Maplesville was in Clanton Monday transacting business with the Commissioners Court.

MALARIA LEAVES A HEAVY MARK

Malaria, unfortunately, does not end with the breaking of Chills and reducing of Fever. Even after the patient is free from actual illness, the marks on his system are plain to see. Vitality is weak, appetite poor, weight fallen off, spirits low. In such conditions Wintersmith's Chill Tonic, a reliable anti-malaria prescription is invaluable.

Wintersmith's Chill Tonic builds up and restores what the malarial fever has taken away. It enriches and purifies the blood, aids the appetite, tones up the system, hastens the return of health and strength.

Taken as you feel Chills and Fever coming on, Wintersmith's Chill Tonic gives prompt and certain relief; and a long siege of Malaria can often be avoided. Its beneficial effects have been proved in thousands of cases, over 56 years of continued use. At your drug store. Popular size, 60c; mammoth size, $1. Made only by the Wintersmith Chemical Co., Inc. THEY ARE SAFE

Sweetly 'neath the flowehs
In the City of the Dead,
Sleep my little darlings
In their narrow beds.
The pines they softly whisper
Their murmurings at eve,
While o'er their little graves
Their flickering shadows weave.

'Twas years ago, long years ago
I gave them back to Him,
Who took them in His arms,
And kept them free from sin.
Their little feet never to sttray—
They walk bright streets of gold.
Their little fingers tune the harp,
They sing sweet songs untold.

Oftimes in my searching
Find a little sock and shoe
A little cap and dress
Tied with a ribbon blue.
And as with gentle care
I place and fold away
The treasures of my darlings,
I only sigh and say—

'Tis better my darlings
Are where they are today.
If they had been left with me,
They might have gone astray.
And I believe, believe some day
I'll hold again upon my breast
My little darlings
That have entered into rest.

THREE MEN FINED FOR VIOLATING GAME LAW

On last Saturday morning J. W. E. Gulledge, Justice of the Peace, tried three men, Rube Jones, Dago Ellison and Frank Paschal, all charged with violating the game law. All three of the men were found guilty of the charge and each fined $25.00 and cost. Hon. I. T. Quinn, State Game and Fish Commissioner of Montgomery, was present at the trial.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. Quinn spoke at the court house on the subject of conserving the natural resources of Alabama. Mr. Quinn made a mighty fine lecture on the subject, and quite a number of people were present to hear him.

ATTENDING ASSOCIATION AT SAMARIA CHURCH

Last Tuesday morning the list of delegates from Providence Church stopped off in Clanton on their way to the Unity Association which was in session at Samaria Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The Providence delegation this year consisted totally of the good old hoary-headed pioneers of the religious cause in that splendid old community. The delegates were: Rev. M. J. Parrish, Riley Robinson, Henry Ribinson, Jack Powell, Moses Robinson and Wiley Bice. Rev. W. W. Robinson was going with the delegation, he being the pastor at Providence.

Chester Mims and T. E. Wyatt enjoyed a pleasant motor trip over to Sylacauga last Sunday via Lock 12, Quincey, Weogufka and Stewartville. While in the Marble City, visited Mr. Comer's cotton mill village, the Wisconsin-Alabama Lumber Company area and the Gantt's Marble Quarry. The trip was very enjoyable and interesting.

BUSINESS IN CLANTON GOOD SAY VARIOUS BUSINESS MEN

Yes, this Republican prosperity is very noticeably felt even by the merchants and business men away down here in Clanton, Ala. During the past few weeks the merchants of Clanton, and especially those who have been advertising, have been wearing smiles as broad as their faces. "Business is the best ever," is a common expression. Even the Democratic newspapers admit that prosperity is prominent everywhere.

And even the dear old Union-Banner has felt the result of prosperity among the people of Chilton county. During the past week, besides a good line of advertising from the local merchants, we have been accorded a good subscription business from our friends over the county. Below we are publishing a list of the subscriptions that have been written up during the past week:

A. B. BAXLEY IN FAYETTE

Mr. A. B. Baxley, State Manager of the United Farmers of America, was in Clanton the first of this week, after having been up in Fayette County for about a month. Mr. Baxley went back to Fayette where he will remain until the present cotton season is over.

The Unied Farmers in Fayette County, says Mr. Baxley, is in a very thriving condition. For the past few weeks a membership has been put on up there, and gratifying results have come from the efforts of the officers. Some of the national speakers of the organization have been helping Mr. Baxley in the drive.

Mr T. L. Robinson of Verbena was among the visitors to Clanton Saturlay. Uncle Till does not come to Clanton very often, so his many friends here were glad to see him. Mr. Robinson told the editor that he had four and one-half acres of cotton this year from which he had gathered four bales. This is a rather good record, considering the unfavorable weather conditions and the boll weevil.

Cotton
Is Going to Market.

All over the cotton belt, loading platforms are piled high with "the staple of the South"; ready for shipment to the mills. The 1924 crop will bring millions of dollars to the growers, and the distribution of this money will benefit everybody.

Just at this time it is interesting to remember that U. S. Department of Agriculture figures for last year show that the average farm price paid to the producer for 100 pounds of cotton, was $27.80; whereas, the railroads received an average of 66c for hauling each 100 pounds to market.

These figures indicate that in cotton, as in all other commodities, the freight rate represents a relatively small percentage of the cost, and is not a controlling factor in the determination of prices.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad directly serves more than half of the cotton-producing states; its tonnage during 1923 totaling approximately 9,000 cars.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

EGG LAYING RACE WILL BEGIN NOV. 1.

Nearly 1,000 hens will be in national at Auburn for one year.

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 6.— The stage is all set here for the opening of he first Alabama National Egg Laying Contest on November 1. Forty-eight houses are now complete and fences built. Each house is divided into two sections, each of which contains room for one pen of ten hens. Room is provided, therefore, for 96 pens of 10 hens or a total of 960 hens.

The houses are built of concrete with running water in each section. A lot 20 x 50 feet connects with each pen and these lots are now green with oats ready for the hens when they arrive to begin the contest.

J. E. Ivey, Poultry Specialist, says that hens should reach Auburn about the 15th or 20th of October in order to be in condition for the opening of the contest, November 1. All hens will be fed and managed exactly alike. Jazz scratch feed and laying mash, manufactured by the W. M. Cosby Flour & Grain Company, Birmingham, will be fed during the entire contest which will end October 30, 1925.

Contrary to an impression which has gone out, the contest is not for the purpose of winning prizes. The real objects re to stimulate a greater interest in poultry production and to impress on the minds of the people the importance of proper housing, feeding, breeding, and management of poultry. A few certificates and prizes will be awarded as announced, but these are negligible as compared with the educational value.

Each county in Alabama is expected to have one or more entries. Already a large number of the counties are represented and others are coming in almost daily. Nine states outside of Alabama have made entries.

Boils! Ouch!

S.S.S. will rid you of boils, pimples, blackheads and skin eruptions!

DON'T CLOSE your eyes to the warning which Nature gives when angry, painful boils appear on your neck, face or other parts of your body. Boils, pimples and so-called skin disorders are the result of an impoverished condition of the blood and are not to be trifled with.

It is nothing more than folly to expect to get absolute relief from the use of local treatments, such as ointments, salves, etc. Such remedies may afford temporary relief but you want more than relief; you want a remedy which will rid you forever of the torturing disorder. And the one remedy which has no equal is S.S.S.

S.S.S. stops boils and keeps them from coming. S.S.S. builds blood-power! That is what makes fighting blood. Fighting blood destroys impurities. It fights boils! It fights skin eruptions—pimples, blackheads, eczema! It always wins! S.S.S. has been known since 1826 as one of the greatest blood builders, blood cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today and clear your skin of those blood disorders!

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. W. Z. HODGES, Editor.

Wednesday Card Club.

Mrs. Grady Reynolds entertained the members of the Wednesday Card Club and a few other friends on last Wednesday afternoon. Dahlias, zenias and pot plants were attractively arranged throughout the apartment. After a series of rubbers, the top score was held by Mrs. Frank Callen, who was given a couple of decks of congress cards, while the guest prize, too dainty hand-made handkerchiefs, fell to Mrs. Elizabeth Higgins. Late in the afternoon a salad plate with hot coffee was served to the club members and guests: Mrs. Hance Alred, Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. Lawrence Gerald, Mrs. Willis Lyman, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mrs. Frank Callen, Mrs. Oscar Jones, Mrs. Higgins, Miss Kathleen Mullins and Miss Roberta Curry.

Mrs. Hugh Simpson will entertain the club next Wednesday afternoon.

Missionary Society Meets

The Missionary Society of the Methodist Church held its regular business meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. C. Jones, with Circle No. 4, as hostess. The devotional was led by Mrs. Wilkerson. The subject was "The Steward and the Community," with Bible reading from saiah and Luke. After the various reports were made, the members discussed and made plans for their annual Christmas Bazaar.

Study Club Meets.

On last Friday afternoon the Study Club met at the home of Mrs. Macy Jones. The election of officers and plans for the next year's work were effected. "Civil Government" will be the subject for the year 1925. Mrs. Victor Heard was elected president; Mrs. J. P. Hayes, vice-president; Mrs. Willie Lyman, secretary; Mrs. T. C. McSwain, treasurer.

Missionary Society Meets.

The Womans Missionary Society held its regular social and business meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. Jones on last Monday afternoon. The general routine of business was attended to and reports from outstanding committees were heard. Late in the afternoon refreshments were served.

The Halloween decoration was effectively carried out, also predominating in the dining room where the idea was very suggestive. A salad plate with ice course was served to Mesdames Ruth Gowan, P. D. Wilson, John VanDerveer, Willis Lyman, Grady Reynolds, Victor Heard, Barney Roberts, N. S. Johnson, John Page, Hugh Jones, Jessie Chandler, G. Broadhead, Thad McSwain, Bessie Harris, J. P. Hayes. The guests were Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. Wilkerson and Mrs. Ezell.

On Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock Mrs. Watts Moore will entertain the Civic Improvement Club. At 4 o'clock a reception will be tendered the faculty of both schools. "That which we are we shall teach, not voluntarily but involuntarily."

Dr. Neighbors, Victor Heard, S. C. Mathews, Ed Callen and Dick Hayes motored to Auburn Saturday to see the foot ball game between Clemson College, South Carolina, and Auburn. Also it was home-coming day for the Alumni of Auburn.

Miss Eloise Rasberry spent Sunday with her uncle at Jumbo.

Dr. N. S. Johnson and Mr. Gerald spent several days in Washington attending the World Series.

Mrs. T. L. Chandler of Douglas, Ga., is visiting her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Chandler.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Johnson will make Clanton their home for quite a while. Mr. Johnson is civil engineer for the State Highway. We are glad to have them in our town.

Miss Marjorie Murphy and Miss Mae McElvee, who are teaching in Jemison, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Pat Murphy.

Dr. N. S. Johnson, on his way from Washington went by Danville, Va., to see his daughter, Sallye Johnson, who is in school there.

Mr. Raymond Marcus is spending several days with his parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Marcus.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelton of Montgomery spent several days in Clanton this week.

Mr. J. C. Jones went to Montgomery Tuesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lanier of Birmingham spent the week end with their sister, Mrs. Eric Hart.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Dunn from Montgomery are visiting their sister, Mrs. Sallie Kicker this week.

Mr. Will Bean, who has been in the mercantile business for about 5 years, is closing out his stock of goods. He is now in school at Auburn, but was at home Saturday.

STOP!

GO!

It is dangerous to Go, when the signal says Stop! To heed warnings is to save life.

The Stop! signals for health are such warnings as backache, shooting pains, recurring headaches, chilliness, dizziness, drowsiness, irritability, moroseness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

These signals warn you that there is a "traffic jam" in the kidneys, and the "Go" signal can't be utilized until the clogging poisons (uric acid, mostly) are flushed out.

Drinking a glass of hot water each morning is effective and before each meal take an An-uric tablet (anti-uric-acid).

Step into any drug store and obtain An-uric tablets, discovered by Dr. Pierce, Pres. and made at the famous Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. Or, send Dr. Pierce 10c for a trial package.

Old Folks' Ailments

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blakemore, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way, assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

COOLIDGE TO WIN OVERWHELMINGLY IS THE PREDICTION

Political Expert, Arthur Searls Henning, Finds President Will Have 115 Majority.

Chicago, Oct., 11.—Not only a decisive but an overwhelming victory for Coolidge and Dawes at the polls three weeks from last Tuesday is now the clearly indicated outcome of the presidential election, in my opinion.

The possibility of the election being deadlocked in the electoral college and projected into Congress has become extremely remote.

If the exhibited tendencies of the voters in the various States continue as now disclosed up to election day the result will be not far from the following:

	Electoral Votes
Coolidge	323
Davis	170
La Follette	38
Total	531

That would mean an electoral college majority of 115 votes for Coolidge.

I have toured the West finding Coolidge stronger and La Follette weaker than I had supposed was the case and finding the Democratic party virtually wiped out. I am now setting out upon a survey of the States east of Illinois.

How States Stand.

On the basis of my own survey of the West and of the information I now possess in conditions in the East I classify the States, with their respective electoral votes, as follows:

For Coolidge—Maine, 6; Vermont 4; Rhode Island, 5; New York, 45; Pennsylvania, 38; Michigan, 15; Iowa, 13; Colorada, 6; Utah, 4; New Hampshire, 4; Massachusetts, 18; Conneticut, 7; New Jersey, 14; Ohio, 24; Illinois, 29; Kansas, 10; Wyoming, 3; California, 13. Total, 262.

Doubtful but leaning to Coolidge—Maryland, 8; Indiana, 15; South Dakota, 5; West Virginia, 8; Minnesota, 12; Oregon, 5; Nebraska, 8. Total, 61.

For Davis—Virginia, 12; South Carolina, 9; Florida, 6; Alabama,12; Arkansas, 9; Texas, 20; North Carolina,12; Georgia, 14; Tennessee,12; Mississippi, 10; Louisiana, 10; Total, 126.

Doubtful but leaning to Davis—Deleware, 3; Missouri, 18; Kentucky, 13; Oklahoma, 10. Total, 44.

For La Follette—Wisconsin, 13; North Dakota, 5. Total, 18.

Doubtful but leaning to La Follette—Montana, 4; Nevada, 3; New Mexico, 3; Washington, 7; Arizona, 3. Total, 20.

New York's Swing.

I may revise this estimate considerably after studying the situation in the East and taking note of future changes in conditions in the West. But at this writing the foregoing is, in my opinion, a fair presentation of the political outlook.

Whether I am justified in placing New York in the Coolidge column may be questioned ,but I have done so in the light of information from authoritative Democratic sources indicating that the Davis managers practically have abandoned hope of carrying the Empire State for the national ticket, though they are confident Gov. Smith will be re-elected. That Davis is not strong enough to make the grade all by himself is conceded by the Democratic leaders. His only chance to win New York, according to the more optimistic Democratic managers, is to ride through on the Smith wagon.

It will be noted, however, that even if the President should lose New York he still would have an excellent chance of winning, providing he realized expectations materially in the group of States classed as doubtful but leaning to Coolidge. With New York, he would be on easy street and would need not more than one of the smallest of doubtful States leaning his way in order to go over the top.

BEAUTIFUL PROGRAM AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

Last Sunday night the Clanton Baptist Church building, auditorium, gallery and aisles, was filled to capacity. The occasion, was the persentation by the Baptist Sunday School of a pageant, "How Dreams Come True" vritten and arranged by Mrs. S. J. Ezelle. This little play, forming the beginning of the annual revival which is to continue for 10 days, was very fine indeed. In the beginning of the pageant, "Ignoranre, "Indifferenre" and "Worldiness" represented by three girls dressed in bladk and wearing horns, entered and bound the arms and hands of the pastor, played by Rev. Ezell, with a strong rope. These three characters exerted their influence all through the play against the church and the progress of its auxiliaries. But representatives of the Women's societies, the Sunday School and the other auxiliaries of the church came forward and offered their assistance to the pastor, freeing him of the fetters and aiding him in the advancement of the cause.

The idea of the play was very fine and approproate, and the way it was presented made it very impressive upon the huge audience. Mrs. Ezell is certainly to be commended for her good work in composing the pageant and arranging its presentation.

REVIVAL AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH THIS WEEK AND NEXT

Beginning last Monday, Dr. David M. Gardner, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ensley, is preaching twice daily at the Clanton Baptist church. Mr. Theo. H. Pharr, singer from the State Board, arrived last Sunday, and is conducting the singing for the revival. Both the preaching of Dr. Gardner and the singing of Mr. Pharr, are being well taken by the people of Clanton and vicinity. Some great truths are being presented both in song and in story by these men of God.

Dr. Ezell and the members of the Everybody seems to be enjoying the all to come out and be with them in these services, which are held at 3:00 o'clock each afternion and at 7:30 each night.

ANNUAL W. M. U. TO MEET AT MARBURY

The annual meeting of the Womans Missionary Union of the Unity Association will meet at Marbury on October 28th. Dr. Ezell of the Clanton Baptist Church will speak at the meeting, and the pageant, "How Dreams Come True," which was presented by the Baptist Sunday School last Sunday night, will be played down there. The public has a cordial invitation to co-operate in the work.

PROUD OF AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL AT MULBERRY

Old Mulberry is feeling proud of her agricultural opportunities through the Vocational Agricultural School that has been placed there by the Federal Board, State Board and County Board of Education and that community cooperating. They feel that they have been greatly benefitted by the efforts of Dr. H. W. Caldwell, their vocational teacher through his efforts in the all day school classes, and the pupils follow up projects of corn and cotton and winter cover crops. His night school class, with their produce from their projects and the community at large just feel like they have something to show the farmers of Chilton County if they will come out and take a good look around their school Friday, October 24th. They are going to have a large time out there. Yes, they are going to have a barbecue dinner and also a supper. The exhibit hall will be opened at 9:30 and stay open till 11 that night, and every person is cordially invited to come.

There will also be several agricultural talks from men from the State department of Education and Auburn. A good time as well as a profitable one is expected.

The school opened at Isabella this year with more agricultural boys than they had last year, and are expecting to have another good year at Isabella and are laying their plans now for a larger exhibit and even more fun another year. Everybody go out and see what they are doing and carry some good points home with you.

AUTOMOBILES AND PROSPERITY

Recent advance in price of farm products which will increase the agricultural incomes approximately one billion dollars is cited by R. H. Grant, vice-president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, as one of the most optimistic signs of a steady staple demand for motor cars during the fall months.

"The cotton producing sections are assured of a large money return on this year's crop," he states, "and while a considerable part of this money will be used by the farmer and cotton growers to liquidate past debts and restore their credit, they will gradually be in the market for motor cars. A gradual but nevertheless steady recovery in general industrial activity puts a rosier complexion on the coming months for business.

"Two other factors in the motor car industry will make for stability for both dealers and manufacturer. The manufacturers are watching carefully their production, after having reduced the surplus of cars produced last winter and early spring, and the prices of cars are on the upgrade.

"During the last few months 20 manufacturers have raised the prices of one or all of their models.

"Despite the fact that total sales will run behind those of last year, still 1924 will be the second greatest production year in the motor car industry. Production statistics for the first eight months of this year make a much more favorable showing than is generally recognized. In this period output amounted to 2,537,517 cars and trucks, only 6.5 per cent smaller than for the corresponding period of 1923—yet representing an increase of 51.5 per cent over the same months of 1922, (the second previous best year in the history of the industry.)

"On the basis of present production there will probably be 3,250,000 motor vehicles this year. This would not only be second best to the 1923 record but would exceed the average of the last three years by about 700,000 motor vehicles."

BOX SUPPER AT COOPERS

There will be a box supper at Coopers, (Cross Roads) school house about 1 1-2 miles from Coopers, on Saturday night, October 18th. Every body is cordially invited to come. The proceeds will go to the school.

QUANTITY OF WHISKEY TAKEN FROM REYNOLDS BLDG.

On last Friday morning Judge Reynolds carried some parties over to show them some rooms up stairs in his building on the west side of the railroad, with the intention of renting them some rooms. Upon entering one of the rooms which was supposed to be unoccupied, the Judge noticed some bottles there and also got the whif of whiskey. Upon a closer examination it was found that it was real whiskey in the bottles. So Judge Reynolds called Sheriff Littlejohn, who immediately went over and took the matter in hand. On investigation of two or three of the unoccupied rooms, about three and a half gallons of corn whiskey was found. There was one five-gallon glass jug about half full, two half-gallon fruit jars each about half full, one quart bottle and four or five pint bottles full.

Little clew was had by the Sheriff as to who the whiskey belonged to. Two parties of Clanton had one room rented which adjoined the rooms in which the whiskey was found, but these parties denied knowing anything about the whiskey being there. So far, no arrests have been made.

FRIENDSHIP CHURCH

The members of Friendship church met last Sunday and elected delegates to the Chilton County Association, which meets this week at Oak Grove. This was not the regular preaching day, but Rev. Robinson was present and presided over the conference. At this meeting Rev. W. W. Robinson was re-elected pastor for the coming year, and Dudley Collins was re-elected church clerk. The letter to the Association was arranged, and a collection of a little over $11.00 was taken to send to the Association.

The Fourth Sunday being regular preaching day, there will be service at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. There will be singing in the afternoon, and it is promised that Prof. W. M. Devaughn and others will be present to sing. It was intended to have this singing last Fourth Sunday, but it was postponed on account of rain. Everybody has an invitation to come to preaching and the singing next Fourth Sunday. Also come to Sunday School every Sunday at 10 o'clock.

Mr. Henry Ford has withdrawn his bid to the government for Muscle Shoals. He says that now he will let the government make its bid. Probably the government will make Mr. Ford a bid and probably it will not. Mr. Ford says that he is going to turn his attention to the development of power and chemicels from coal in clean mining towns "in our own way and outside of political meddling." Mr. Ford owns about 160,000 acres of coal lands up in Kentucky, which he says he is going to develop for the interest of the South.

Mr. C. L. Rhyne of Benton, Ala., Lowndes County, has been in Clanton for a few days. Mr. Rhyne is one of the Rhyne Brothers, who own a big farm down in Lowndes. The farm was very poor a few years ago when these two brothers purchased it, but by the use of hairy vetch, this soil has been built up to a very efficient state. The farmers in Chilton County would do well to adopt Mr. Rhyne's method.

CARD OF THANKS

Editor Union-Banner:—Please allow us space in your paper to thank the good people of Cedar Grove community for their help and sympathy shown us during the death and burial of our little son, Howard. We especially appreciate the kindness and help of Bro. Each, who conducted the funeral sevice. May God's richest blessings be with each of you, is our prayer.

Mr. W. G. Culp, chairman of the Republican County Executive Committee, gives out the announcement that a speaking in the interest of the Republican party of Chilton County will be held at the court house on Saturday, October 25th. Hon. C. B. Kennamer, United States Attorney, of Birmingham, will be the speaker. It is expected and hoped that a good crowd will be here to hear Mr. Kennamer.

Reynolds and Middleton to Speak

Judge L. H. Reynolds and Hon. J. O. Middleton will address the voters of the county in the interest of the Republican ticket at the following times and places:—

Enterprise, Tuesday, Oct. 21, 7:00 p. m.

Union Grove, Thursday, Oct. 23, 7:00 p.m.

Clanton, Saturday, Oct. 25, 2:00 p. m.

Mars Hill, Monday, Oct. 27, 7:00 p. m.

Cane Creek, Wednesday, Oct. 29, 7:00 p.m.

Culps School House Friday, Oct. 31, 7:00 p.m.

Thorsby, Nov. 3, 7:00 p.m.

The people of the county are invited to attend all these speakings and hear the issues discussed. They will all be of interest to you. People from all over the county should hear Mr. Kennamer at the court house on Saturday, October 25th.

W. G. CULP, Chairman.

C. C. H. S. FOOTBALL TEAM PLAYS PRATTVILLE

Last Friday afternoon the Chilton Tigers journeyed to Prattville to play Autauga County High School. The game was full of thrills. Hayes, Thompson and Gore were the stars for Chilton. Gore looks as if he has the makings of a good end, in that he caught two forward passes in succession, netting more than twenty-five yards. In the third quarter Thompson intercepted a forward pass on Prattville's 30-yard line, carrying it to the fifteen yard line. Four bucks put the ball on the goal line, but the referee seemed a little inclined to lean, and would not allow a touchdown. By the rule book, this is a touchdown, and application has been made to the State High School Athletic Association to have the decision reversed. Prattville never got within Chilton's 30-yard line.

Next Friday, (tomorrow), Chilton plays the Aviation Corps from Montgomery and a good game is expected. Go down and see it.

WILLIAMS—BOOCKHOLDT

On last Sunday morning at 9:30, Mr. Robert Williams and Miss Maggie Boockholdt were happily united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Boockholdt, Rev. S. D. Deloach performing the ceremony.

Both of these young people have a host of friends who wish them well.

CHILTON IS AMONG COUNTIES DOING A LOT SCHOOL WORK

County Receives $5,780 from State In Addition to Regular Appropriation.

Many new State school buildings are under course of erection throughout Alabama. During the month of August applications for aid in the erection, repair and equipment of 182 buildings were approved by the State Superintendent of Education. 97 of these were for new buildings, 40 for the reqairs of old buildings and 45 for the purchase of equipment. These new buildings represent an expenditure of practically half a million dollars. The facts given indicate that there is renewed interest on the part of rural and village communnities to provide better educational advantages for the children in the erection of more modern buildings.

Chilton is among the 31 counties that have consumed the full amount of the State appropriation for the erection, repair and equipment of buildings, and have received from the other counties that failed to consume all of their appropriation, the amount of $5,780, which was in addition to the regular appropriation of $3,341.

Chilton, together with these other 30 counties, are carrying out excellent building programs and have qualified under the law for the large amounts of State funds.

These counties, representing every section of the state participated in this fund. Six counties, viz: Elmore, Walker, Dale, Cullman, Talladega and Chilton received more than $5,000 each. The largest amount was received by Elmore County.

County boards of education, county superintendents and good citizens in each of the 31 counties sharing in this fund are to be congratulated on the excellent building program being carried out.

ALABAMA STATE FAIR

It is announced by the management of the State Fair of Alabama to be held in Montgomery, Nov. 3-11, that everything is in readiness for the opening on Monday, Nov. 3rd. The Fair will be officially opened by Governor Brandon at 1:30 p.m., to be followed by the regular afternoon program which is made up of horse racing and big free acts in front of the grand stand. This entertainment program, says Manager Mort L. Bixler, will be the best ever seen at a Fair in Alabama.

There are several important special days as follows: Tuesday, School Day, when any one who attends school or teaches will be admitted for ten cents. Thursday is Shrine Day, and Saturday is Press Day. Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 10th and 11th, will be featured by Auto Racing and Auto Polo and there will be a Society Night Horse Show at night. Tuesday, Armistice Day will be featured by a program in which the Maxwell Field Aviation Corps will have prominent part.

The railways of Alabama have made a reduced rate for the occasion and preparations are being made to take care of thousands of visitors from all parts of the State.

GIRLS WITH BOBS CAN'T STAY IN MY CHORUS — ZIEGFELD

Famous Theatrical Producer of N. Y. Insists Shorn Tresses Destroy Personality

New York, October 13.—Florenz Ziegfeld, producer of the "Follies," and international authority on feminine pulchritude, has declared war on bobbed hair, it was learned today, following his rejection of a number of applicants for chorus places.

"Papa" Ziegfeld last night nailed a bulletin in the chorus dressing rooms. It said that since bobbed hair was soon to be out of style, every Follies girl must immediately start letting her hair grow long, or wear stylish transformations.

"Members of the company who fail to comply with this order will soon find their places taken by young women who have let their curls grow," warned Mr. Ziegfeld.

"Personality Killed by Bobs

"There is more to my objection to bobbed hair among my chorus than the fact that it's becoming out of style," he declared today. I always did hate barber work on a girl's hair, and have fought it consistently.

"Bobbed hair has 'prussianized' American womanhood. It has made them all alike as two peas in a pod. It has destroyed that elusive and priceless quality which the woman of charm must have — personality.

"Bobbed hair is a symptom of that sheep-like imitateveness which distinctive women abhor.

"I first permitted bobbed haired girls to enter my chorus several years ago when I was seeking a slim, boyish type for a particular feature number. But in my tableaux I have always insisted upon truly feminine women with luxurious, uncut hair—because they personify the finest in American womanhood.

Oh, my dear! Dishonest!

"Bobbed hair is dishonest. It advertises to the world that a girl or married woman wants you to believe she is youthful. If a woman is really alive with youth—mentally and physically—she need not resort to the standardized, artificial mob-habit of hair mutilation."

Bobbed hair may be alright, according to Mr. Ziegfield, on the day time tennis court or in the swimming pool. But in the evening, at social gatherings, the immaculate woman of fashion insists on a charming coiffure that no bob can provide.

"Observe the distinctive women of allure and charm at fashionable events these days", he went on. "Almost invariably they have uncut hair—done in graceful fashion that harmonises and brings out their individual attractiveness, or else they have adopted graceful, pleasing transformations to hide their bobs.

"So I have told my girls that they cannot stay in the Follies chorus unless they let their hair grow. Bobbed hair will soon be out of style. My chorus must always be leaders in fashionable appearance."

MOBILE PREPARING TO WELCOME CONFEDERATE VETERANS AT REUNION

Mobile, Ala., Oct.13.—Confederate Veterans and their families visiting Mobile for the state reunion, October 22 and 23, will be taken for a ride on historic Mobile Bay aboard the largest steamer that carries passengers to the eastern shore. They will be shown the Confederate barriers and what remains of Batteries Gladden and McIntosh. The site of the State Docks Commission's activities will be visited, where General William L. Sibert is preparing for the construction of Alabama's $10,000,000 port terminal system.

Automobiles will be provided for those Veterans who desire to make a pilgrimage to the tomb of Father Abram Ryan, the Poet Priest, Admiral Raphael Semmes, Naval Hero, and other illustrious Confederate dead.

The first event of the reunion will be a reception by the Sons of Confederate Veterans, to the members of the U. C. V. and their families, Tuesday night, October 21, at the Elk's Home. A bivouac has been established in a spacious building on Royal Street for the Veterans to meet informally at all hours and more than a hundred Mobile homes have been listed where Veterans will be made to feel at home during their stay in Mobile; where they will be provided with room ann breakfast—the other meals being served by hotels and restaurants in tickets furnished by the Reunion Committee.

PLEASANT GROVE

Our singing society met Sunday afternoon, with a very large crowd, and had some good singing. We had several singing visitors with us. We were glad to have them with us and ask them all to come back again.

Directors for the afternoon were Miss Gladys Jackson, Messrs. Albert Headley, Furniss Sheppard, Olen Williams, Horace Williams, Hudson Williams and the two Boswells from Coopers. Organists for the afternoon were, Mr. Hudson Williams and Mr. Boswell.

We were very glad to have the Concord Quartette with us. They sang some pretty songs and we invite them back again.

Our singing society meets every Second and Fourth Sundays. Everybody is invited to come.

We also have good Sunday school every Sunday P. M. excepting the First Sunday which is preaching day we have it before preaching.

Everybody is invited to come, and let's make our Sunday School one of the best.

MR. A. A. JACKSON WRITES INTERESTING LETTER

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 10, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

As our National election is near at hand, I wish to say a few words in regard to the several political parties that are trying to get the reins of our great government.

Today we have the best government in the world, and in this government we have two historical political parties, the Republican and Democratic parties, and each party has a record that shows what they have done for our country.

We have had sixteen years of Democratic rule in the past sixty years which was detrimental to the welfare of our country. The Cleveland administration was too bad to talk about, but what happened in 1913 when the Demorratic administration repealed the protective tariff law and brought about the return of free trade? It brought soup houses, the employment situation became serious, the operation of the law prostrated industry, the railroads laid off thousands of workmen their yards became filled with empty cars; factories and mills closed down; and at the close of the administration in 1921 when the Republican Administration took control of the government there were four and a half million unemployed.

Industry and commerce were stagnant; agriculture was prostrate; business was depressed; bonds of the government were selling below par; there was a lack of faith in the administration of government resulting in a growing feeling of distrust in the very principals upon which our institutions are founded.

Today industry and commerce are active; the door of opportunity swings wide open in our country; American wage earners now recieve more money, and more of the things that money will buy, for their work than any other wage earner in the world. We have here in the United States not only the best paid workers in the world but the best paid workers that ever lived in the world.

I have been closely associated with many lifelong Democrats of the Birmingham district, and many of them have told me that they could not support their party on account of its un-American policies, and that if they voted at all they would vote the Republican ticket.

The Democratic party cannot be a real American institution since it is mixing and co-operating with the most un-American institutions in the world.

There appeared an article in the Birmingham Age-Herald of Oct. 7th with large headlines: "Catholic-Protestant Club, a gathering of K. of C. and Masons." The new organization is to be a non-secret, non-sectarian, and non-partisan organization; I suppise something like the "Non-Partisan" ticket in Chilton County.

If there ever was a time in the history of our great country that voters should consider well before casting their votes, it will be on the 4th day of November, 1924; on that date the destiny of our country will be decided. To have a continuance of prosperity and a free and independent America, elect the whole Republican ticket. If you want depression, millions of people out of work, high money, cheap labor, cheap products and a government domineered by Roman Catolics and Knights of Columbus, elect the Democratic ticket.

Respectfully,
A. A. Jackson.

VETCH PLANTING UP TO FORECAST

Farmers Have Bought 530,000 Lbs. Through Ala. Farm Bureau; Acreage Doubles 1923.

Auburn, Ala., Oct. 13.—In line with a forecast early this fall, Alabama farmers have set a new high record in the acreage planted in hairy vetch in one season. They have bought 530,000 pounds of vetch seed through Farm Bureau channels, and the amount purchased outside of the Farm Bureau will probably increase this to more than 600,000 pounds, or nearly double that of 1923 when the total planting of the State amounted to 315,000 pounds.

Leaders in agricultural work in Alabama attribute this enormous increase to the low price obtained by the Farm Bureau, to the activities of the county demonstration agents, and to Frank Boyd, of the Extension Service, who has lectured to farmers in most counties urging them to get started with hairy vetch this fall.

Dallas leads with vetch. Farmers in this county alone bought three carloads or over 90,000 pounds of seed through the Farm Bureau. Perry County is second with 30,000 lbs, and Calhohn is third with 21,000 pounds. Hale and Lee are tied for fourth place with 20,000 lbs., each.

Talladega, Pike, Tallapoosa, and Randolph rank next in order named. Talladega bought 17,000 lbs., and Randolph 12,000 lbs. Barbour, Cullman, DeKalb, Marshall, Lauderdale, Shelby, and Montgomery each bought 10,000 lbs. Not one of the 60 counties buying on the co-operative plan bought less than a ton.

Planting began late in September and will end by the last of October.

CEDAR GROVE

The singing society met at this place Sunday afternoon, Oct. 12th. There was a large attendance and also good singing.

Directors for the afternoon were: Mr. Zack Lowery, Leonard Culp, Claudie and Neacie Smith and Etta Foshee. Organists for the afternoon: Bonnie Littlejohn and Claudie Smith.

Two ladies' quartettes were sung by Claudie Smith, Lillie Smith, Frances Lowery and Neacie Smith. Also a sextette by Mr. Zack Lowery, Wilburn Ward, Leonard Culp, Alpheus Littlejohn, Herschel Lowery and Claudie Smith.

We appreciate the help of the Liberty Hill class as a number of them were present. We are requested to meet at Liberty next Sunday afternoon to organize our singing society. We would be glad all would attend that can do so.

POOR O

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Mr. Hal Thompson Bradford, aged 54, died Sunday night, Oct. 12th, in Dr. Stabler's Infirmary at Greenville, Ala., having been carried there on Tuesday of last week as a last resort in the efforts of his friends to save his life.

Funeral services were held at Thorsby Congregational Church at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, Oct. 14th, Rev. Joseph E. Each, pastor of the church, officiating.

Burial was at Thorsby Cemetery, under auspices of Woodmen of the World Fraternity, of which deceased was a member.

The floral decorations and emblems were profuse and beautiful. Mr. M. Martin of Clanton, was funeral director. Business houses in Thorsby were closed during the funeral hour, and the citizens of Thorsby in large numbers attended the funeral.

Mr. Bradford came to Thorsby several years ago, and engaged in the drug store business, which he successfully conducted until compelled by failing health to relinquish it. In May, 1920, he married Mrs. Ida J. Meroney, a widow living in Thorsby, who has faithfully attended and cared for him during a long and losing fight for his life.

Mr. Bradford leaves two grown sons and a daughter, by a former marriage. These sons were present during the funeral.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees of Thorsby Institute was held in the parlor of Thorsby Institute dining hall at 9:30 a.m., Thursday, Oct. 9th. Rev. Frank E. Jenkins, D. D., president of Piedmont College, at Demorest, Ga.; also president of Thorsby Institute board of trustees, and Rev. Neil McQuarrie, Congregational Home Missionary Superintendent for Georgia, Alabama and West Florida, were the only out-of-town members of the board who were present.

Friends of Thorsby Institute will be pleased to know that steps are being taken to finish the exterior of the dining hall. An appropriation was made for this purpose and the buildings and grounds committee, consisting of Mrs. Gerald, Mrs. Norton and Miss Jenkins, were authorized to proceed with the work promptly. Other minor improvements are also contemplated in the near future.

Dr. Jenkins reported that eight graduates of Thorsby Institute are now enrolled as students at Piedmont College, and one other, Sumner Gerald, has taken their full college course and after teaching for a year in their preparatory department, has been promoted, and is now in sole charge of their senior class in sciences. Another Thorsby boy, Rascoe Maddox, after graduating at Thorsby Institute, took the full college course at Piedmont College, and is now an honored member of Thorsby Institute faculty.

Piedmont College has an enrollment of upwards of 600 students, and they report at frequent intervals that our Thorsby Institute graduates are among those who stand highest in scholarship and deportment.

On Friday, Oct. 10th, some of the many friends of Mrs. Martin Petersen gave her a surprise party on the anniversary of her birthday. Among those present were Rev. and Mrs. Joseph E. Each, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Goddard, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mesdames Soberg, Norton and Miss Skinnis.

Messrs. R. A. Turner and Earl Meade spent the week-end at their respective homes in Thorsby.

The Berean Sunday school class of the Baptist church gave a moonlight social Saturday evening on the church lawn, the decorations being in pink and white. Punch was served.

Mr. Gresham Lowery, a 1924 graduate of Thorsby Institute, entered Howard College last Thursday.

Mr. E. F. Meade and Mr. Clyde Meade and wife made a business trip to Prattville Monday.

Misses Ella and Sue Simpson of Jemison spent last Thursday with Mrs. W. Tagg.

The Ladies' Guild social for October, will be held with Mrs. David Paxson, on Thursday, Oct. 23rd.

Mrs. Ruth and Elizabeth Deramus of Verbena, were week-end visitors at the home of Mr. Ben Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson returned last week (Tuesday) from Wisconsin and Chicago, after nearly a three weeks trip. While in Chicago they visited with Mrs. Larson and children, Olaf, Thoswald and Dagmar, formerly of Thorsby.

The monthly praise service, singing, at the Congregational church, will be held Sunday night, Oct. 19th, immediately following the Christian Endeavor meeting. Everybody welcome. Come and help sing.

Mr. E. F. Mead spent a couple of days last week in Birmingham with his son, Earl, taking in the Kamram parade and doings, and visiting cement plants. Mr. Meade believes in progressing in the cement work.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Meade made an auto trip to Birmingham last Wednesday, returning Thursday evening.

WEST CHILTON

Everybony seems to be enjoying the present wave of "Coolinge prosperity" now sweeping over the South Land.

Mr. Pratt Crumpton of Childersburg recently spent some days here on business.

Miss Mary Clements has secured the school at Freeman School house for another term.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson of Thorsby visited here the 4th.

A young lady from Jacksonville, Ala., is teaching at Macedonia.

One of the twin babies of Herbire Smitherman was buried Sunday.

The address of Judge Reynolds in a recent Banner was a fine document, appealing to common sense, simple enough for a child to understand. It appeals particularly to farmers and business men.

Rev. Dykes has closed his pastorate at Macedonia. Rev. Lowery has been called to that church for next year.

Through private correspondence we have recently learned of the death of Prof. Neal A. Logan, well-known at Thorsby and other parts of the county. He died at his home in northwest Georgia September 22. To know him was to admire him. He was a student of phrenology, an excellent music teacher, a polished gentleman, one of the finest Bible scholars we ever met, a truth seeker on all questions. He lived in the highest realms of life. His friends will regret his passing.

Josheph Smith Sr. was burried at Macedonia a few days ago, he was a veteran of the Civil War, and carried an empty sleeve, a token of service in the lost cause.

D. G. Cofer and family came down from Siluria Saturday for a week-end visit.

James Franklin Jr. and family of Pleasant Grove visited here on the fifth.

Mrs. Clyde Champion and children of Pleasant Grove have been spendinf some days here.

On the fifth inst, we had the pleasure of attending an all day singing in Dry Valley, at Enon church, near Montevallo, it was quite an enjoyable day. Quite a number of singers were there. Among them the skilled Prof. Blankenship of Calera, who enlivened the occasion with his wit and song. Such a bounty of good eats was wonderful to behold. The Dry Valley people were so kind it was a pleasure to be among them. The music was the Christain Harmony, sweet and inspiring, enroute, reminiscence occupied our thoughts as we viewd the scenes of former days, with nature covered with the tints of autumn, those of the past in that territory, the Holditches, Brantleys and others, a few of whom linger this side the sitting sun, come vividly to mind.

Mr. Baily protracted his last service at Union Springs receiving two members.

Let the Mars Hill singing class remember their singing appointments third and fourth Sunday afternoons.

Rockett and Pate were over here the other day assessing and collecting taxes, they are model officers.

LIBERTY HILL

On account of the bad weather, and our directors being sick or away from the community, the singing society has been unable to meet as often as it wished. But if the weather is favorable, we shall meet Sunday afternoon, October 11th at 2 o'clock. We invite all singers and lovers of music to come and be with us.

REPUBLICAN TICKET TO BE VOTED ON IN CHILTON COUNTY ON NOVEMBER 11, 1924

For President of U. S.—
CALVIN COOLIDGE

For Vice-President U. S.—
CHAS. G. DAWES

For County Treasurer—
MISS GENIE COLLINS

For Commissioner from the Third District—
J. L. BURNETT

For Commissioner from the Fourth District —
A. P. VINSON

For Member County Board of Education—
J. M. SMITH
WM. R. BAKER

The probate judge of Chilton county entered the names of the Non-Partisan candidates on the ticket to be voted on in the general election, although there was a technical error in the petitions filed with him. In the recent municipal election, the Mayor and Council of Clanton declined putting the names of the opposing ticket on the ballot on account of a technicality in the filing of the petitions. Note the different view taken by the parties in charge of each of the different tickets.

The National Republican says: "Eternal Vigilance is the Price of Liberty." We wish to emphasize the truthfulness of this statement. And one of the questions on which we should be most vigilant is the question of Roman Catholicism. Some say they favor religious tolerance. We do too, that is the reason we are against Romanism. Rome stands for anything else but religious tolerance. They believe in and would perpetuate religious bondage, and therefore, we have no use for them in free America.

A man gets a little too much wildcat whiskey, gets to feeling too good and mutilates his neighbor's property. Said man is arrested at once and has to pay a fine. This is perfectly all right, except he ought to have to pay more. But a beast with the clothing of a man seduces a young girl or probably a man's wife into shame and misery for the rest of her life, probably throwing a dark shadow on a dozen good families, and gets away with it without the least punishment. We are not talking about New York or Birmingham, but we are referring to Clanton and Chilton County, Alabama. We need some laws and them enforced, protecting the morality of our people, and unless we have it, morality will be a lost jewel ere many years.

THE SPIRIT OF THE LAW AND TECHNICALITIES

In filing their petitions with the Probate Judge of Chilton County asking that the names of the Non-Partisan candidates be entered on the ballot for the general election, the committee in charge of the arrangement of the petitions made a technical error, which, if considered from a technically legal standpoint, the probate judge could have declined entering at least one and probably two of the Non-Partisan candidates on the ballot. According to the petitions, the candidates for Commissioner from both the third and fourth districts were filed as of the fourth district, which would have made the candidates running against each other, and one not being a resident of the district from which he was seeking office.

Of course, Judge Reynolds did not take advantage of the technicality, but went ahead and entered the candidates on the ballot as from the third and fourth districts, which he knew to be the intention of those filing the petitions. Thus is demonstrated the spirit of the law prevailing over technicalities. The election laws of Alabama are made more or less elastic, so that so long as the law in substance is followed, small matters like the above may be overlooked. Of course there are statutory regulations governing elections, but they are so numerous and so complicated that the average qualified voter cannot comprehend all of them, hence, the adherence only to the spirit and general intentions of the law in election matters.

DAYS WE'LL NEVER FORGET

Press Clippings

Houston Post-Dispatch. — The greater efficiency of the railroads under private management is evidenced in the report that there are now 8 1/2 per cent fewer people employed by the roads than when the roads were under government control. And yet the roads during the past year have handled considerably more business than during the last year of Federal control.

Clarksburg (W.Va.) Telegram.—Mr. Davis has been worrying himself about the vehicle in which the Government should ride along for four years and, being desirous of riding in it, urges a change. Well, it is all right to change a vehicle, just as millions of Americans trade in or buy new motor cars, but when a man finds the make of car he likes he usually sticks to the same make. The American people should do likewise.

St. Louis Times.—It will be difficult for even good rock-ribbed Democrats to reconcile Davis' atack on "special privileges" and "big business" with his recent success as attorney for the Bell Telephone Company in getting telephone rates raised in New York City.

Leavenworth (Kan.) Times.— The people approve of what President Coolidge has done, and he will have no trouble in retaining their confidence by merely sticking to his desk and keeping to the high standards he has set.

Chicago News.— Considering how little he thinks of the Republican party nowadays, Mr. La Follette must have had frightful qualms of conscience during the forty years or so he held public office as a Republican.

Boston Transcript. — Gaston B. Means finds that one way of keeping in the lime light is to make statements on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays and repudiate them on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays.

Pocatello Tribune. — This administration will go down in history as the one that established practical transcontinental air mail service. But that is only one of innumerable accomplishments of the administration.

Providence Journal. — Mr. La Follette will have a hard time proving to Western farmers that his seeds of discontent will produce a crop that sells for $1.30 a bushel.

Boston Transcript. — General Dawes's "Coolidge or chaos" simply means that we all have to choose between clam Calvin Coolidge or Chaos W. Bryan.

Boston Transcript. — President Coolidge makes few speeches, but he says many things well worth remembering.

Omaha Bee.—The market quotations are depriving the Democrats of most of their political thunder.

Marion Star.—Up to a late hour this afternoon the "Gold Star" mothers had not come out with an endorsement of the La Follette candidacy.

REPUBLICAN RETRENCHMENT RECORD

Washington, Oct. 6.—As an illustration of "getting down to brass tacks," there is nothing more impressive than the mathematical demonstration of Republican economy as set forth by Congressman Martin B. Madden, Chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations. If the American people want public money saved, as most of them do, they can find plenty of encouragement in that direction in the past record of the present regime. In his statement, Mr. Madden goes back to 1919 when the Republicans took control of Congress and began to cut the Democratic demands for appropriations. He says:

"The financial record made by the Republican Congress during the two years from 1919 to 1921, while the administration was Democratic, and by the Republican administration in full control of the executive and legislative branches of the government since 1921 is not surpassed in any period of history of the country.

"Upon assembling in extra session in May, 1919, the new Republican Congress was confronted with the duty of passing, before the commencement of the fiscal year on July 1, 1919, eight of the largest of the supply bills which the Democratic Congress had failed to enact into law before it went out of power. Those bills at the time of their failure were all pending in the Senate. The amounts carried in them at the time of their failure aggregated $3,768,000,000. The total of the same eight bills after their re-passage was $2,828,000,000. The first legislative action of the new Congress resulted in the passage of these bills before the fiscal year began and in the decrease of the appropriations proposed by the Democratic Congress for the fiscal year 1920 by $940,000,000. The estimates for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1921 and 1922, respectively and deficiency estimates for prior years, were prepared by the Wilson administration and submitted to the Republican Congress. The reductions made by the Congress in these estimates aggregate slightly more than $2,950,000,000.

"The total reductions which the Republican Congress effected in the amounts proposed to it by the Democratic administration for the fiscal years 1920, 1921 and 1922, reach $3,890,000,000."

Mr. Madden then shows that following these drastic cuts made by the Republican Congress in the demands of the Democratic administration, the Republican administration continued to reduce total appropriations, which reductions made possible two revenue bills reducing taxation. Along reductions of taxes there was also a reduction of the national debt to the extent of more than $5,000,000,000. Of this record, Mr. Madden further says:

"The Republican party has kept faith in its promises for retrenchment in government expenditures and financial reform. Its record is complete and unanswerable. From the assembly of the Congress in May, 1919, to the present date, every effort has been made to manage the affairs of the nation according to efficient, economical and sound business principles. The results speak for themselves. Appropriations have been reduced, erpenditures have correspondingly decreased, taxes have been lowered, the public debt and the interest charge have been lowered, the Budget has been balanced each year and has shown a comfortable margin on the surplus side, the number of employees has been cut, and the country has been given a Budget system. There is ample cause for approval of these accomplismments. The past few years have been critical in the affairs of the nations of the world. The present favorable situation of the United States is due in no small measure to the sound financial policy which has governed the management of its affairs. While other nations are struggling with overwhelming public debts that in some cases are as great or greater than their national wealth and are crying for relief from the taxes caused by deficits in their budgets, the people of the United States are enjoying the economic benefits which arise from sound financing on the part of the Federal government."

COUNTY BUYS NEW 10-TON CATERPILLAR ROAD TRACTOR

To the road-working machinery of Chilton County has this week beed added by the Commissioners Court one ten-ton Taterpillar tractor. The county already had two 5-ton tractors, besides two or three army trucks which were given by the federal government. With the new big tractor, the road working machinery will be geting somewhere near adequate to take care of our county roads.

It takes improved machinery to work the roads with now-a-days when there is so much traffic by motor cars and motor trucks, and our court of county commissioners are awaks to this fact.

The Road To Better Health

WHAT ARE YOUR BABY'S PLAYTHINGS?

By Dr. W. J. Scholes

Are you careless about leaving pins, safety-pins, coins, buttons, corks or other small objects where babies or small children can get hold of them?

Dr. Russell S. Rowland of Detroit, says that cases in which such objects are swallowed or sucked into the air-pasages are more common than is generally supposed. Such accidents are often readily recognized because of a fit of choking or strangling occurring after a foreign body is known to have been placed in the mouth.

But it sometimes happens that babies or small children aspirate small objects into the windpipe and that no one knows about it. The symptoms at the time of the accident may not be noticed or are soon forgotten. After a period of apparent freedom from trouble, symptoms resembling those of certain diseases may develop, according to Rowland.

Other Disease Suspected

He states that croup, diptheria, tuberculosis asthma, pneumonia and more less common diseases have been suspected when the trouble was caused by a foreign body lodged in the windpipe, bronchial tubes or lungs. Objects lodged in the esophagus for any length of time may cause ulceration which is dangerous.

Attention is called to the danger of babies playing with powderboxes, and spilling some of the powder on the face. It may get into the bronchial tubes and lungs and cause serious trouble or even result in death.

Dr. Chevalier Jackson of Philadelphia, says that about 90 per cent of the cases of this kind are due to carelessness that is avoidable. Extreme care should be exercised to keep objects of such size that they are easily put into the mouth away from babies and small children. The bad habit of putting things into the mouth should be corrected as soon as possible.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Neurities

Mrs. C. E. E. writes: "For over a year I have had a pain in one arm and shoulder. Different doctors have told me that I have neuritis, but I do not get any permanent relief. What causes neuritis? Is there any cure for it?"

Reply

Neuritis seemes to have many different causes. The list includes: Infections of the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, appendix, gall bladder and pelvis. diseases such as diabetis, anemia, tuberculosis, syphilis, and Bright's disease; chronic poisoning from lead, arsenic, alcohol, and tobacco; and the effects of strain, injuries or pressure on the nerves.

The way to a cure lies in finding and removing the cause. This may require a careful examination including laboratory tests of the blood and urine and X-Ray examinations.

Applications of heat, the therapeutic lamp, and massage often give some temporary relief.

Has A Floating Cartilage

A. M. writes: "Every little while my right knee gets 'locked' and causes me a lot of pain. I have been told that I have a floating cartilage in the knee joint. Is there any way that this can be cured without an operation?"

Reply

The only way that the cartilage can be removed IS by operation.

Chalazion

Mrs. W. B. H. writes: "Our three year old son has a swelling on one of his eyelids. When it first started we thought it was a stye. It has gradually gotten larger but does not seem to hurt him. Is there anything we can put on it to take it down."

Reply

The eyelid contains some small glands, the ducts of which open onto the lid margin. If one of these ducts becomes stopped up, the retained secretion results in a distention of the gland, which causes the swelling on the eyelid. This condition is called a chalazion, and is probably what your son has.

A small chalazion is sometimes treated by massage; a large one will require removal. Do nothing with it except on the advice of your doctor.

Has Asthma

L. A. G. writes: "I have suffered from asthma for two years. I have taken a lot of medicine for it, both from doctors and patent medicines, but keep on getting attacks. Some of the powders that you burn give me some relief during the attacks. Is there any cure?"

Reply

A permanent cure depends upon finding out just exactly what is causing the asthma in any individual case. This can often be determined by a series of skin tests which will show to what substances you have become sensitized. Pollen, dander of animals such as the horse, animal hair, bacteria, and the protein of foods are among the frequent causes.

When you have determined the cause, you can either avoid it, or undergo treatment to produce desensitization.

Foods to Increase Weight

T. L. S. asks: "What are the best foods to eat when one wishes to put on more weight?"

Reply

Bread, potatoes, sweet potatoes, milk, butter, cream, cereals, rice crackers, and things made with flour such as biscuits or muffins.

Be sure to try to build muscles and not merely accumulate fat.

Cancer Not Contagious

Mrs. F. G. asks: "Is cancer contagious, I am caring for a relative who has one."

Reply

Cancer is not regarded as contagious.

FINE PEARS

Last Saturday Mr. W. M. Poole of Route 2 brought into the Banner Office a rather exceptional display of pears. Mr. Poole had one little twig about six inches long on which hung seven full-developed pears, the whole weighing 2 3/4 pounds. He had another bunch which contained four pears. Both bunches were left at the Banner office for display. Mr. Poole told us that as the pears ripened and fell off, we could eat them. So if you doubt the truthfulness of this story, come to our office and we will show you the stems.

The State of Alabama,
Chilton County.

I, T. J. Littlejohn, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, in conformity with Section 357, page 329, of the Political Code of Alabama, (1907), hereby give notice that a General Election of the qualified voters of Chilton County, Alabama, will be held in the several election precincts of said county on Tuesday, the 4th day of November, 1924, for the election of:—

Twelve Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States; one United States Senator from Alabama, two Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of Alabama, one Associate Judge Court of Appeals of Alabama; State Commissioner of Game and Fisheries of Alabama; President Alabama Public Service Commission; Representative in Congress from the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama; County Treasurer of Chilton County, Alabama; Commissioner from the Third District of Chilton County, Alabama; Commissioner from the Fourth District of Chilton County, Alabama; two members of the County Board of Education of Chilton County, Alabama; two Justices of the Peace for each precinct in Chilton County, Alabama; one Constable for each precinct in Chilton County, Alabama;

Also whether the following amendments to the Constitution of Alabama shall be adopted, viz:

Proposed Amndment No. 1.

Shall the following proposed amendment, Section 194 1-2 of the Constitution of Alabama, be adopted?

"No person who honorably served in the military or naval service of the United States, between January 1st, 1917 and November 11, 1918, shall be required to pay the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama; such persons shall be exempt from the payment of all poll taxes which have accrued or may hereafter accrue. This section shall be self-executing and retroactive. The Judges of Probate shall issue certificates of exemption from the payment of such poll taxes to the persons entitled thereto under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Governor."

Proposed Amendment No. 2.

Shall the following be adopted as Article XXI of the Constitution of Alabama?

Section 1. "The Legislature may form of provide for the formation of districts for establishing and maintaining a drainage system; for the building and maintaining of public roads, and for building and maintaining a seawall or other protection against waves, storm or flood therein; and provide for the assessment of the whole or part of the cost of such improvements against the land in such districts to the extent of the increased value of such land by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements, and may provide for the issuance of bonds by such district with or without any election. Provided the provisions as to road and seawall shall apply only to Mobile and Baldwin Counties."

Proposed Amendment No. 3.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

"The County of Mobile, through its constituted governing authorities, may levy and collect for public school purposes, a rate of taxation, on the property situated therein, not exceeding the total of any one year, one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum of the value of such property as assessed as provided by the Constitution of Alabama and the statutes now or hereafter enacted pursuant to the said Constitution of Alabama, which said one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum shall be in addition to taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to the authority of Section 215 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, which Article XIX was added to the said Constitution by Amendment; and existing laws attempting or purporting to authorize, empower and direct the said constituted authorities of the County of Mobile to levy and assess such a special tax in addition to the taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution as aforesaid and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution as aforesaid are hereby validated and confirmed."

Proposed Amendment No. 4.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of Alabama?

"The municipalities of Thorsby, Piedmont, and Greenville, and Roanoke, and Greensboro and Calera, Florala and Opp, Evergreen and Fayette, and Clayton and Clio in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for State taxation for the tax year ending on the thirteenth day of September next succeeding the levy; provided that for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness which may be issued or incurred after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected; provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1-2) per centum in any one year. Alabama City shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of three-quarters of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for State taxation. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, or authority or right of either of said municipal corporations to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them, under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of the city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law Number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337, each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For .....excess rate of taxation for the year (or years).....;" and "Against..... excess rate of taxation for the year (or years)....." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a

Proposed Amendment No. 5.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

Proposed Amendment No. 290. "Mobile County man become indebted and may issue bonds for the construction or improvement of concrete or better than concrete surfaced public roads, and concrete or better than concrete public bridges in said county, and for the construction of bridges and roadway necessary to provide a public road for vehicular travel between the highlands of Mobile and Baldwin Counties, in an amount not to exceed six ane one-half per centum of the assessed value of the property situated in Mobile County. To pay said indebtedness and the interest thereon, Mobile County may levy and collect an annual tax on said property not to exceed one-half of one per centum of said value. The indebtedness, the bonds and the tax authorized hereby shall be in addition to those authorized by the Constitution of Alabama prior to the adoption of this amendment. But no such additional indebtedness shall be created, and no such additional bonds shall be issued, and no such additional tax shall be levied, until each improvement or construction proposed to be built thereby, its approximate location, estimated cost and time of completion, and the amount of the proposed increase, shall have been determined upon and made public by the Board of Revenue and Road Commissioners of Mobile County, and the proposed increase of indebtedness or issue of bonds or tax therefor shall have been first authorized by a majority vote by ballot of the qualified voters of Mobile County voting upon such proposition."

Proposed Amendment No. 6

Shall the following be adopted as Article.....of the Constitution of Alabama?

Section 1. "The County of Walker, State of Alabama, shall have power to levy and collect a special road tax not exceeding fifty cents on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county in addition to that now authorized or that may hereafter be authorized for the erection, construction or maintenance of the necessary public roads, bridges or ferries and in addition to that now authorized under Section 215 of Article XI of the Constitution, which special county tax so levied and collected shall be applied exclusively to the purpose for which the same was so levied and collected; provided, that the rate of such tax, the time it is to continue and he purpose thereof shall have first been submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of the county, and voted for by a majority of those voting at such election." Section 2. "Twenty-five per centum of all moneys derived from property lying within the municipalities and arising from the tax proposed herein shall be paid to such municipality and shall, by it, be expended for upkeep of its streets." Section 3. "The Court of County Commissioners, Boards of Revenue, or other governing body of said county may, or upon written petition of ten per centum of the qualified voters of Walker County, shall call and submit said election provided for and authorized by Section 1 hereof to the qualified electors of Walker County either at the time of the general election or at a special election called for that purpose; proivded that said election shall be called and held in accordance with the law now or that may be enacted governing county bond elections, and in conformity with the general election laws of the State."

LETTER FROM PITTSFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

The Union-Banner, and those who remember me as Lettie Walker:—

I've been thinking of writing from this part of the earth for some time, at least it seems a long way from old Chilton, anyway, I have my Banner once a week and beleive me I always look forward to it.

October is here and soon we shall have snow, loads of it. I shall always remember my first winter here and how I used to sit at the window and gaze at the beautiful snow. We had no rain from October until April. It seemed to me it snowed every day. We had fifteen feet of snow in front of the house, had a tunnel dug from the porch to the street. I could imagine I was in Eskimo land. Honestly, I never dreamed there was so much snow this side of Greenland, and I dared not get out; if I did I would either slip on ice or go under. I had always wanted to see lots of it, but before my first winter was over I was entirely satisfied. I often wondered why people did not freeze to death. They didn't seem to mind at all. The children were out all day with their sleds and snow shoes.

Now that I am accustomed to it, I like it. We have all kinds of winter sports and it is very healthy in the Berkshires, which by the way, our little city is surrounded by. And then our three months of summer and the beautiful drives, and lakes for swimming. Pittsfield is a summer resort and we have people from all over the States here for vacations.

I should certainly miss the mountains now. There is something friendly about them. Mt. Greylock is our highest and my husband and I chaperoned a bunch of young people up there one night to watch the sun rise. We climbed for five miles (I thought it was ten), but believe me, I was repaid for my sore limbs; the sunrise was gorgeous. It was in July and I almost froze from the cold, but I shall always feel glad that I went. One can stand on the tower and see into eight different states. I saw the Catskills very plainly. Most school children have read the story of the great stone face. I have been fortunate enough to see that and so many other places of interest. The roads are so good here that anyone can travel about 200 miles and take in all these places and get home in good season.

Next summer I am planning on seeing Niagara Falls, which is only about three hundred miles from here.

I hope anyone from Chilton county, who wishes to take a vacation, will come to Pittsfield and look me up. I should do everything in my power to assist them in enjoying the beautiful Berkshires.

With many good wishes to The Banner and my friends.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotab are sold only in original sealed package price ten cents for the vest-pocket size thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

For weak
Run-down Condition!

THE DOOR of opportunity flings wide its portals only to the man who is up and doing—who is filled with pep and punch—with rich, red blood tingling through his system. Mountain size obstacles dwindle to ant hills and ambitions become accomplishments to these sort of men.

Where is the employer who seeks the man who is physically run-down? The man without stamina to withstand the knocks and gaff of the hurrying, scurrying world of business?

S.S.S. is the long established and time honored creator of red-blood-cells. You cannot expect to get very far up the ladder unless you are equipped with a body that is strong and vigorous. S.S.S. will start you on your way. Don't allow the "Door of Opportunity" to be closed to you because you have not the stamina to withstand the gaff — because your nerve power is lacking. Build up your system!

S.S.S. made of carefully selected and scientifically prepared and proportioned herbs and barks makes you fit! Get back that old time punch! When opportunity knocks be ready to answer the call!

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Mrs. W. Z. HODGES, Editor.

"How Dreams Come True."

On Sunday night, October 12th at 7:30 o'clock at the Baptist church, the Young Women's Auxiliary presented a pageant entitled, "How Dreams Come True." The exercises were prepared for and given before the Woman's Missionary Society a few weeks ago. After numerous requests, the pageant was adapted to the general church service and given again. The crowded house attested to their expectations, and they were not disappointed.

The appeal of the pageant was for the loyalty on the part of the church to our great Captain, Jesus Christ, in the fight against Ignorance, Indifference and Worldliness. The young ladies did their parts in a very creditable manner. The music by Miss Kathleen Mullins and the singing behind the scenes added greatly to the effectiveness of the whole. A great deal of the credit is also due to the faithful work of Mrs. J. P. Hayes.

This superb delineation of the trials and crosses that dog the footsteps of the devoted pastor and his flock, was conceived, written and dramatized by Mrs. S. J. Ezell, the most accomplished and zealous wife of the pastor, Dr. S. J. Ezell. In its development almost every phase of the daily opposition that it met with in the effort to spread the gospel and to point the footsteps of humanity into the better way, was strongly portrayed and most effectively brought out. One young man remarked to us that he got more out of that wonderful and beautiful service than out of all the sermons he had ever listened to. t was indeed a masterpiece in its spiritual conception and sublimely wonderful in its appeal to all that is best in the human heart.

The gifted authoress of this inspirational service should be humanly proud of its success and divinely elated over the spiritual influence it exerted. With the very greatest respect we extend to her our sincere thanks and warmest congratulations.

Mission Study.

The Mission Study Class held its regular meeting on Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the new Methodist church building. The subject of the study was "The 18th Amendment and Law Enforcement." Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Joe Calloway as leaders for the afternoon, gave splendid talks on "Save America.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jones spent Sunday and Monday in Birmingham.

Mrs. Upchurch Entertains.

Mrs. E. E. Upchurch gave a miscellaneous shower on last Saturday afternoon, October 11th, in honor of Miss Warrene Spigener, a bride-elect. The beautiful home was decorated in a variety of fall flowers and Southern Smilax, and the colors of the auxiliary, pink, white and green, predominated in the entire apartments. The guests were met at the door by Mrs. Watts Moore, then Mrs. Ellis introduced them to the receiving room. Those receiving were Mrs. Upchurch, Miss Warrene Spigener, Mrs. Spigener, Miss Madelyn Orr and Miss Della Latham. Then the guests were shown into the sun-parlor by Mrs. Hayes and Mrs. Jasper Calloway, where they were served punch by Mrs. Latham Ellis. Mrs. Mallie White kept the bride's book, where the guests registered. While Mrs. Percy Pitts played the wedding march, the dining room was thrown open, where Miss Spigener was seated on a white throne. Four attendants dressed in white stood by the bride-to-be. Little Ollie Rainer Elmore and Cameron McDavid Jr., were dressed as privates and presented the "Chest O' Gild" to the queen. Before the chest was opened Miss Mary Ellis gave an appropriate poem setting forth what Warrene would find and the good wishes accompanying. While the chest of gifts of silver and hand-made presents were being opened, Miss Kathleen Mullins entertained with several selections at the piano. Delicious cake and cream were served to about fifty guests.

Civic Club Meeting.

The Civic Club met at the home of Mrs. Watts Moore on last Thursday afternoon. The home was made beautiful with fall flowers which were effectively arranged throughout the entire interior. After the business meeting a reception was given in honor of the faculties of the two schools of the city. The guests were met by Mrs. J. C. Jones and Mrs. John VanDevveer, and introduced to the receiving line, who were: Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. McDavid, and all the teachers of both schools. The guests were shown into the dining room by Mrs. Hayes, where they were served punch and sandwiches by Mrs. Oscar Jones, Mrs. Eric Hart and Mrs. Grover Harris. Afterwards a beautiful musical program was rendered by Miss Alma Robinson, Miss McKinnon, Miss Watson, Mrs. John Armstrong and Mrs. Elna Roberts.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

The League meets every Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Methodist church. A cordial invitation is extended to the boys and girls. A missionary program will be rendered Sunday afternoon, October 19th, Sam Gowan, leader. Subject, Walter Russell Lambrith, World Christian; song, by League; League yell, by all; scripture reading, Acts 26:14-20-22, by leader; reading, "A Hero Passed," by Courtland Retherford; Training and Preparation, by Reese Mullins; song; "Work at home and in the Field," by Arthur Broadhead; "Gathering the Best Sheaves," Elwyn Gore; song, all standing; League Benediction.

Come on boys, and lets beat the girls in putting on the best program.

The Bible Study will meet on Monday, October 20th, at the Methodist church, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Wilkerson, the teacher, urges a large attendance. The time of meeting has been arranged so that those who wish may attend the afternoon revival services at the Baptist Church.

Be at church Sunday morning. Every Sunday is "Go-to-Church Sunday." There will be a special two-minute talk on the "Absentee Member" by Mr. McDavid. Come hear this, and a good sermon by your preacher. Come to the Methodist church Sunday.

Card Club Meets.

A lovely meeting of the Card Club was held at the home of Mrs. Hugh Simpson on last Wednesday afternoon. The home was beautiful with dahlias and late fall flowers. Bridge was played until a late hour, after which a salad plate with ice tea was served to the club members and a few guests.

Miss G. L. Chandler, who has spent some time with her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Harvie Chandler, left for Montgomery Monday, where she will spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. Morgan.

Mrs. C. B. King of Pelham will spend some time with her father, Mr. W. A. Kemp in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haire of St. Claire County stopped in our town for a while, enroute to Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jones and Miss Sarah Jones motored to Montgomery Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Royal from Birmingham spent several days in Clanton last week. Mr. Royal is selling the Buick car.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robinson of Birmingham spent the week end in Clanton with relatives.

Mrs. Clara Jackson of Evergreen is spending some time with her mother and sister, Mrs. W. A. Mullins and Miss Bettie Mullins.

Mr. Charles Moore, who is in school at the University of Alabama, spent the week end with friends and relatives in Clanton.

Miss Kathleen Mullins went to Montgomery Wednesday, where she will spend the rest of the week. She will also attend the fashion shows while in the city.

ROBINSON CIRCUS TO BE AT MONTGOMERY

John Robinson's Circus, The Greatest Trained Wild Animal Circus On Earth, the oldest, the biggest and the best; now on it's 101st anniversary tour of the North American Continent, will pay a visit to this territory in the near future, being scheduled to appear in Montgomery on Monday, October 20th.

The mention of the John Robinson Circus and Trained Wild Animals arouses the light of fond memories in the eyes somewhat dimmed by advancing years, as it is the show of our grandfathers, and fathers, and the oldest white top organization on the face of the globe.

With more elephants, more jungle beasts, more clowns, more clowns more spangled folks, a three-ring-two steel arena performances, and a longer street parade—so read the posters—the old favorite, in new garb and with an entirely new offering of aerial and arenic displays, as well as wild animal numbers, will be with us soon.

Throughout the city and adjacent countryside, gay posters meet the eye, for the one hundred agents, billposters and lithographers, have done their work well. All is arranged for the gala day's activities under the big top—railroad accomodations for the long trains, supplies for over 700 people, five hundred horses and the big augmented menagerie, and the other thousand and one details necessary for the arrival, parade and the performances.

Minneapolis Tribune—The farmer of the Northwest has no desire to put the railroads into the hands of the Government. He can clearly foresee higher wages, shorter hours and more employees, the payment of which will come out of his pocket.

Marion Star.—Mr. Wheeler is so inclined to think that just about everybody is crooked that we are bound to wonder if at times he doesn't feel inclined to suspect himself.

ONLY 12 MORE DAYS UNTIL BIG ELECTION

People Should Begin Now to Set Plans to go to Polls on Tuesday, Nov. 4th and Vote.

Next Tuesday week, November 4th. is the day on which the people of the United States will choose their president for the next four years. This is the most important office which the people of our country have to fill, therefore all qualified voters should set their stakes to go to their respective voting places on that day and cast their ballot. The destiny of the nation depends on the choice the voters make for the man to fill the position of chief executive of this great republic, so we cannot afford to pass the matter up lightly. The political conditions of Alabama and the South have denied the people down here the privilege of knowing very much about what the three candidates for President stand for, but we all know from past experience what we may expect from either of the party's candidates. We have experienced Democratic administrations, and we know what they will bring us. We are now experiencing a Republican administration under Mr. Coolidge, and we know without a doubt what we may expect if he is retained as chief executive. Of course, no one knows what La Follette would bring if he were elected, but no one who has the interest of the country at heart and who has given the matter due thought can afford to go into such an important matter blind-fold. This is where we would be should La Follette be elected. Let's go to the polls and vote for the electors for the man for President whom we have tried and know to be sound and capable of handling the affairs of our national government. This man is Calvin Coolidge, the names of whose electors appear under the elephant on the big ballot.

The nominees for the county offices on the Republican ticket stand for the same things that the party as a nation stands for. These candidates were nominated by the people in the primary election, and are therefore a product of the choice of all the Republican voters of the county. We all know Miss Genie Collins, our nominee for County Treasurer. She told us before the primary what she stood for and what she would do if elected. Mr. Vinson has served as Commissioner from the fourth district before, and he made as good commissioner as we have ever had. We may expect the same thing from him again. Mr. Burnett from the third district is a new man so far as county politics is concerned, but he carries the commendation of his many friends over the county. He is a staunch Republican and he does not deny it. He is a Republican and he comes out as a Republican, therefore, we know what to expect from him. Mr. Baker and Mr. Smith for members of the County Board of Education are tried and true Republicans. Mr. Smith was chosen by the people in the primary and Mr. Baker was petitioned by a number of Republicans a few weeks ago. Both men are well known.

If a man comes clean with the voters before the election, we have reason to believe that he will stay with them after he is put into office. If a man dodges the question and will not come out face to face with the people and tell them what he is and what he stands for before the election, we can only justly expect that after he is elected he will still be deceptive and uncertain about the people's business. The Republican candidates do not hide behind any false face and tell you to vote for them. They are Republicans and they pose as Republicans. They endorse the past records of Republican officials of our county and nation, and they are not ashamed to say who they are. We cannot afford to entrust the duties of our public offices to men who will not tell the people where they stand but who hide behind a smoke screen and attempt to decieve the people as to their politicl coloring. The men on the so-called Non-Partisan ticket claim here of the last few days to totally disregard all party lines, but never have they voted anything but the Democratic ticket, and never have they used their influence to help any man except a Democrat. There is something dead up the branch as sure as you are born, so the voters of the county should not be decieved by such equivorations but should vote for the nominees for county officers who are not ashamed to face their past political records and who come out plainly and call a spade a spade. Public offices are places of trist and should be filled by men who are not afraid to come out in the open and tell who they are and what they represent.

You can make no mistake next Tuesday week if you make only one cross mark in the circle under the elephant, thereby voting for every Republican nominee on the ticket. In this case you will know who you are voting for, otherwise you will be casting your ballot in doubt.

THE WIREGRASS JOURNAL WELCOMES REPUBLICAN MEN

Democratic Paper of Dothan Speaks Well of Reynolds And Street, Who Were to Speak There.

Below we are reproducing an article carried in The Wiregrass Journal of Dothan regarding Hon. O. D. Street and Judge L. H. Reynolds, who were to speak at Dothan Wednesday. The Journal gives these two men a fine send-off:

Two of the most prominent speakers in Alabama will be the leading speakers at a meeting which is scheduled to be held at the City Auditorium Wednesday October 22.

Mr. Oliver D. Street is chairman of the National Republican Committe of Alabama and Judge Reynolds is chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee of the state and both of these gentlemen are speaking in the interest of their party in the present campaign.

Mr. Street is one of the most prominent men and Masons of the state and a speaker who has earned a reputation for energetic and fearless adherence to his principles and has won many friends wherever he has appeared.

Judge Reynolds is Probate Judge of Chilton County and one of the best known speakers in the state and his address, "True Americanism" has earned him the reputation as a forceful and direct thinker and speaker.

The meeting in this city is the only one to be held in this county and a large crowd is expected to be present to hear these two most able speakers.

PHILATHEA CLASS TO MEET

The Philathea Class will hold it's social and business meeting with Mrs. Nabors Friday afternoon, 3 o'clock. All members urged to be present.

JUDGE REYNOLDS MAKES FINAL APPEAL TO THE VOTERS OF ALABAMA

This week Judge Reynolds is making a number of speeches in south Alabama in behalf of the Republican campaign in Alabama. The Judge has been very royally received by the people in several of the south Alabama towns where he has carried the campaign. He is mighty well pleased with the spirit of the people generally in regard to the Republican party in the State. Next week the Judge will go up in DeKalb County and make several political speethes. The good Republicans of that county are mighty anxious for Judge Reynolds to go up there and speak to them.

The campaign committee of the State with headquarters in Birmingham is sending out this week their final appeal in letter form. This letter contains some very pertinent facts which the voters of the State are facing, and which every person in the State should give their careful attention before casting their ballot on November 4th. Below we publish the letter in full:

Final Appeal to Voters of Alabama

The campaign is rapidly approaching it's close, and with it's closing I want to make one great appeal to every voter in Alabama regardless of party affiliations. As chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee of Alabama, I have not catered to any faction or clique, but have solicited the assistance of all the Republicans of Alabama and every voter who would by his or her vote foster the interest of our nation and State.

A study of political conditions reveals a peculiar political situation from a Democratic standpoint in Alabama. The leaders of the Democratic party do not seem to credit the average voter with the ability to do their own thinking, for they have not sent a single speaker into our State; not one single page of literature has been distributed, and not the slightest attention has been paid to the voters of Alabama. Why? Hitory for the last half century gives the answer, because Alabama has been a political serf of the Democratic party for the last fifty years or more, giving it her vote with characteristic faithfulness and getting nothing in return. Will the voters of Alabama not throw off the hoodwink of political bondage and do their own thinking?

What has Alabama to gain by delivering her vote to John W. Davis? Win or lose, Davis will not return the appreciation, as history has shown. What would Alabama gain by delivering her vote to Calvin Coolidge? It is almost a foregone conclusion that Coolidge will be elected, and then Alabama will have gained favor with the administration and the party in power for the next four years, and will be in position to ask for political favors, as only a politically free State could demand. If Alabama should throw off the mantle of Democratic suppression one time four years from now, we may rest assured that both parties will send their best speakers to our State, and in the meantime will be doing all in their power to win Alabama's favor.

America is in the midst of an era of prosperity, and the future even looms brighter. There are no soup houses, no strikes, no labor troubles, no employment shortage, farmers have made a fair crop, and thanks to protective tariff, are getting fair prices. Everywhere prosperity and good will prevails. Then we ask the question, Why change?

Mr. Coolidge has expressed himself as the president of all the American people, and has denounced none, and thus in the future there will be no discriminations. But Mr. Davis has denounced part of the American people and thus can cater to a part only in the way of political favors or otherwise. Davis will have to listen to his dictators, while Coolidge as president has shown that he does his own thinking.

In conclusion, let me make this final appeal to get our voters out and work for our cause until the last minute. Alabama is on the verge of asserting her political freedom. Will you do your part? Our State ticket compares favorably with any other, and when you cast your vote, remember that your taxes have increased from $2,198,420.00 to $19,676,053.00 in 1923, an increase of 795 per cent. Look at your tax receipt; remember the school book trusts, and vote for our State ticket and for Coolidge and Dawes, and keep prosperity.

L. H. REYNOLDS
Chairman Republican State Campaign Committee.

BIG COURT SETS IN CLANTON MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3RD

The Sheriff and his deputies have been mighty busy for the past week handing out and delivering subpoenas to the regular fall term of Circuit Court, which convenes at the court house in Clanton the day before the election, Monday, November 3rd. The grand jury will be in session at this time to make their usual investigations. It is anticipated that there will be several days of very busy courting at this term.

C. B. KENNAMER TO SPEAK HERE OCTOBER 25.

Mr. W. G. Culp, chairman of the Republican County Executive Committee, gives out the announcement that a speaking in the interest of the Republican party of Chilton County will be held at the court house on Saturday, Oct. 25, 2 p.m. Hon. C. B. Kennamer, United States Attorney, of Birmingham, will be the speaker. It is expected and hoped that a good crowd will be here to hear Mr. Kennamer.

Reynolds and Middleton to Speak

Judge L. H. Reynolds and Hon. J. O. Middleton will address the voters of the county in the interest of the Republican ticket at the following times and places:—

Union Grove, Thursday, Oct. 23, 7:00 p.m.

Clanton, Saturday, Oct. 25, 2:00 p. m.

Mars Hill, Monday, Oct. 27, 7:00 p. m.

Cane Creek, Wednesday, Oct. 29, 7:00 p.m.

Culps School House Friday, Oct. 31, 7:00 p.m.

Thorsby, Nov. 3, 7:00 p.m.

The people of the county are invited to attend all these speakings and hear the issues discussed. They will all be of interest to you. People from all over the county should hear Mr. Kennamer at the court house on Saturday, October 25th.

W. G. CULP, Chairman.

COME TO SUNDAY SCHOOL AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH

There were 371 present at Sunday School last Sunday. Let's make it 500 next Suuday.

Sunday School begins at 9:45, and there will be special song service. Devotion will be conducted by Mr. H. S. Shaw, after which a duet will be rendered.

Meet your friends at Sunday School next Sunday.

G. C. ARMSTRONG, Supt.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY CHANGES LOCAL MANAGER

One day last week the local management of the Standard Oil Company was changed from Mr. Frank Culpepper to Mr. J. P. Lawrence. Mr. Culpepper has been handling the Standard's business in this vicinity for ten or fifteen years and probably longer, and under his management the business has grown to be one of the best in Clanton.

The new manager, Mr. J. P. Lawrence, is a splendid man as well as a business hustler. Since coming to Clanton six or eight years ago, Mr. Lawrence has built up one of the best garage and automobile businesses in Clanton, and by his careful and business-like management has made hosts of friends and loyal customers. We feel sure that he will handle the business of the Standard Oil Company here in such a way that the business will continue to grow and the public will receive at his hands the best of service.

STATE AMENDMENT

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 21.—Official, civic and business organizations of Mobile are conducting a vigorous campaign in behalf of Amendments 3 and 5, which will be on the general election ballot November 4, and are making an effort to show that the measures affect Mobile only and may be the means of building a bridge across Mobile Bay to connect Baldwin county, a system of paved roads and saving thousands of dollars of funds which are essential to the educational system of the county.

The campaign committee is attempting to show to every voter of the State that neither amendment affects any other county, and this is the strong point in the arguments.

It is shown that Mobile county has reached the limit in the issuance of bonds. The legislature has submitted an amendment, which, if ratified, will permit Mobile voters to say whether they should be taxed for construction of a bridge and paved roads. The amendment will be of no effect until bonds and taxes have been voted in the county. Organizations want the opportunity of asking Mobile people whether bonds should be issued for the bridge as a connection to the rich county of Baldwin and for paved roads. The amendment has no opposition here, but has the endorsement of the Board of Revenue, City Commissioners, Rotary, Kiwanis, Optimist, Lions and Civitan clubs, labor unions and business and professional men.

No. 3 amendment is designed to validate a two mill school tax which has been collected fifteen years. It develops there is some question as to its validity, and only a constitutional provision can remedy the defect. It has been stated that schools will suffer if the tax is taken away.

"This is a personal request that you assist the people of Mobile in their efforts to support their schools, construct permanent highways and build a bridge to Baldwin county, at their own expense, and without obligating any other city," says a statement of the campaign committee.

DAWES MOVES HIS FIGHT INTO EAST

Leaves Battleground of Middle West With Two Weeks of Campaigning Ahead

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Beginning the final two weeks of the campaign, Charles G. Dawes, Republican candidate for vice- president, will leave the middle western battle grounds temporarily tomorrow to carry his party's campaign into the East.

The republican nominee will depart on an eastern speaking tour that will take him into Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Delaware, New Jersey and New York, a twelve hundred mile trip lasting a week. It will be his first stumping trip into the East as his only previous visit to that section was for a single address at Augusta, Maine, at the opening of the national campaign.

The first speech to be made by Mr. Dawes will be in Philadelphia Tuesday night and this will be followed by a noon address Wednesday in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Dawes since returning from his middle western tour Wednesday has been resting at his home in Evanston and today declared himself in fine condition.

REVIVAL AT CLANTON BAPTIST CHURCH CLOSES

The revival at the Clanton Baptist Church, which has been in progress for the past ten days, came to a close Wednesday night. On Tuesday night there had been 36 additions to the church during the meetings.

The meeting as a whole has been very satisfactory. Dr. Gardner has preached very forcefully at every service, and his messages were well received by the congregations. The church has been greeted with good crowds all the time, and there have been lots of people coming from miles out in the country to hear the sermons.

It would be altogether amiss to fail to commend the singer for the splendid work he has done. Mr. Pharr is a natural born singer, and more than that, he is a man of God. His splendid service to the revival has been inestimable. His work in organizing both the junior and senior choirs, and the way they performed under his management required not only tedious and careful management, but skill in the art of music directing. His solos at every service were beyond verbal description.

DEMOCRATIC-THIRD PARTY PLOT SEEN

Chicago, Oct. 20. — Conferences with "some 150 state and district leaders" the past week have convinced Chairman William M. Butler, of the Republican National Committee, of the "open alliance" between Democratic and third party leaders in a statement Monday.

"The open alliance," Mr. Butler's statement said, "of the Democratic and third party leaders in certain states to throw the election into Congress and thus deprive the voters of their right to elect a president at the polls, has stiffened the determination to block this plan by voting for Calvin Coolidge.

"The program of the third party for the destruction of the constitution, the virtual abolition of the supreme court, and the public ownership of the railroads, has aroused the people to the gravity of this election and the importance particularly of their individual votes."

REPUBLICANS INVITE DEMS. IN DEBATE

Reynolds Hurls Challenge at Evins For Joint Debate in Birmingham.

A challenge to joint debate between representatives of the Republican and Democratic parties has been sent to R. B. Evins, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee by Judge L. H. Reynolds, probate judge of Chilton County and chairman of the Republican State Campaign Committee for Alabama. The challenge was sent at request of the Republican League of Women Voters of Alabama, it was announced, and requested that the debate be held in Birmingham some night next week.

Judge Reynolds was in Montgomery Tuesday enroute for an invasion of south Alabama. He was scheduled to speak at Abbeville on Wednesday morning, Headland Wednesday afternoon, Dothan Wednesday night and Geneva Thursday.

Following is Judge Reynolds' letter to Mr. Evins:

"Mr. R.B. Evins, Chairman Democratic Executive Committee of Ala.

"The Republican League of Women Voters of Alabama have requested me to arrange a joint debate between the Republican and Democratic parties in Birmingham at some place to be selected, the debate to be some night next week, October 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, or November 1.

"An equal division of time and the expenses to be paid by both parties.

"Please select some speaker to represent the Democratic party and let me know what night will suit your speaker. Write me at Clanton, Ala., or call me over the phone at once. Be sure and let me know in time so that we can advertise the meeting.

"We are anxious that you select this speaker and meet us in joint debate as the voters of Alabama are entitled to hear the issues in the coming election discussed.

Yours truly,
L. H. REYNOLDS,
Chairman of Republican State Campaign Committee of Alabama."

STATE HIGHWAY TO COME THROUGH CLANTON SOON

Late reports from the State Highway Department say that the bids for the construction of the south half of the Chilton County portion of the State Highway will be advertised for within the next few days. Engineers have this week been surveying thru Clanton for the purpose of determining definitely on which street the highway will come through Clanton. Two ways are under advisement, one to come into the head of Sixth Street at the Renfroe Mullins home, which will necessitate the moving of Mr. Mullins' house. The other plan is to come down Seventh Street, which will necessitate the building of a long fill across the creek south of town. It is not known which course will be followed yet.

MUSIC TEACHING

I am giving piano lessons Tuesday and Friday of each week across the street from the high school building in the Ed Plier residence. If interested please see me and arrange for lesson period. Examination and credit units will be given.

USE—OR LOSE

Lack of use is in fact abuse. This will apply to money, to grain, to human energy. If you keep, you will never reap. It is use—or lose.

Money in the bank goes into circulation, helps make business better. Money hid away about the house, locked in deposit boxes, buried in the cellar, does no good and is likely to be lost. The safe place for your money is in a reliable Bank, like ours.

CHILTON HI TRIMS AVIATION REPAIR DEPOT

Chilton Hi trimmed the football squad from the Montgomery Aviation Repair Depot Friday.

The final core was 23 to 3, Chilton's part being made by three forward passes, Hayes to Jones, each of the three resulting in a touchdown. Hayes booted a field goal also. One lone field goal was all Montgomery could put over although they played good football in the last quarter, and drew near Chilton's goal twice, to be held for downs.

Chilton Hi's line has not been crossed this season.

CHILDREN'S WEEK TO BE OBSERVED BY THE METHODISTS

Do we believe that both preaching and teaching are essential? The church needs every member in its Sunday School services. The church needs its whole constituency in the preaching services. Let every officer and teacher attend preaching services and encourage the pupils to do the same. Let every church member attend the teaching services and encourage others to do the same. "Two hundred nd fifty thousand new Sunday school members during September October, November and December.

Let Canton Methodists do their part in putting over this great program.

The aim set forth for this local school observance is as follows:

To present an opportunity by the means of which the parents, with the Sunday School officers and teachers, may consider together certain needs of the children, and determine ways of meeting these needs.

Following is the special program to be rendered on Sunday evening, Oct. 26th, at 7:30 o'clock: 1. Special Music by choir: 2. Hymn, "Love Divine, all Loves Excelling;" 3. Prayer, by pastor; 4. Solo, Miss Madelyn Orr; 5. Talk, "Home Atmosphere," Mrs. J. Q. Wade.

SHILOH SINGING

On last Sunday afternoon the people of Shiloh enjoyed one of the best singings of the year. A large crowd was present including a large number of visitors from Sardis, New Cedron and other communities. The singing was opened by the usual method, one song followed by prayer, the song being led by chairman J. I. Bice and prayer by M. S. Deason. A very interesting program was then arranged by Messrs. Hayes and Bice.

Directors for the afternoon were: Misses Lela Hayes, Anther Ratliff, Era Klinner, Minnie Bice and Era Headley, Messrs. Ervin Short, Olen Bice, Clem Billingsley, and Alonza Hayes.

We were very glad to have with us Profs. F. I. Popwell and I. D. Huett, who were very instrumental in adding more real life to the occasion. These men are making a great progress in their teaching career. Prof. Huett taught a very successful school here this summer.

Organists for the afternoon were: Profs. I. D. Huett, F. I. Popwell, Mrs. Gladys Short and Miss Lela Hayes.

The society will meet on the third Sunday afternoon of each month. Everybody invited to come.

ANNUAL W. M. U. TO MEET AT MARBURY

The annual meeting of the Womans Missionary Union of the Unity Association will meet at Marbury on October 28th. Dr. Ezell of the Clanton Baptist Church will speak at the meeting, and the pageant, "How Dreams Come True," which was presented by the Baptist Sunday School last Sunday night, will be played down there. The public has a cordial invitation to co-operate in the work.

Uncle Dock Wells has returned to Clanton, after spending some weeks with his children at Sylacauga. His many friends in Clanton are glad to have him back with us.

Pimples

You will be startled how quickly and thoroughly you can stop skin eruptions and beautify your complexion with S. S. S.

PIMPLES are the first thing one notices in another person's face. It is too often cruel in its misjudgment. It judges from what it sees on the outside. Pimples are easy to get rid of. More red-cells! That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Red-cells mean clear, pure, rich blood. They mean clear, ruddy, lovable complexions. They mean nerve power, because all your nerves are fed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples, from blackhead pest, from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions; from that tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in the world to each of us. S.S.S. will aid Nature in building them for you! S.S.S. has been known since 1826 as one of the greatest blood-builders, blood-cleansers and system strengtheners ever produced. Start taking S.S.S. today. Its medicinal ingredients are purely vegetable.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

REPUBLICAN TICKET TO BE VOTED ON IN CHILTON COUNTY ON NOVEMBER 4, 1924

For President of U. S.—
CALVIN COOLIDGE

For Vice-President U. S.—
CHAS. G. DAWES

For County Treasurer—
MISS GENIE COLLINS

For Commissioner from the Third District—
J. L. BURNETT

For Commissioner from the Fourth District —
A. P. VINSON

For Member County Board of Education—
J. M. SMITH
WM. R. BAKER

Don't fail to attend the speaking at the court house next Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the interest of the Republican campaign. Hon. C. B. Kennamer, United States Attorney of Birmingham will be the principal speaker. Don't fail to hear him, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The subject of "Shooting Alibis," discussed by Dr. Gardner at the Baptist Church last Sunday afternoon was well handled. Although only announced a short while before, there was a good crowd of men and boys present to hear Dr. Gardner discuss this subject. As pointed out by Dr. Gardner, it is amusing to notice how proficient people are in manufacturing excuses for not doing their duty. The speaker said that a man well experienced in manufacturing excuses is practically worthless, and this statement is full of truth. A man who does his duty never has to figure up an alibi.

Up until a short time ago, the Chilton County News was always splitting it's shirt in support of the dear old lily-white Democratic party and all those who held that party dear to their hearts. But overnight it has changed, and now comes out and advises it's readers to lay aside party lines and vote as they please. It is amusing to notice the political tacties of the News The people of Chilton County have seen too many Democratic tricks played to fall for such as this one at this late day. Our people are too wise to jump into political darkness and chaos just in order to get to follow a few fanatical Democrats who pose as Non-Partisans. The voters of Chilton County were not born yesterday.

TRIED AND TRUE

The independent voter—the man or womn who takes pride in voting for the man rather than the party—has a splendid opportunity this year to cast a ballot for a man who has been many times tried in public service and always found equal to his tasks and faithful to his trusts. In his home life, in his neighborhood associations, in his service in city and state offices, Calvin Coolidge won a reputation for spotless integrity and devotion to duty. He is the type of man every father and mother would like to have a son emulate. He is a man of industry and thrift, successful in his private undertakings, yet not avaricious for wealth nor ambitious for power. There can be little doubt that the so-called "independent vote" will go overwhelmingly for that typical American, Calvin Coolidge.

CASH OUTGO

It is a common argument set forth by Democratic campaigners that we cannot hope to sell abroad unless we buy abroad in corresponding degree, and, therefore, it is contended that we should let down the tariff bars in order to encourage more buying abroad. There might be some degree of truth in the Democratic argument if merchandise trade were all there is to our international financial transactions. But that is far from all of it. Every year many thousands of Americans go to Europe for pleasure, for health, for education, for visits to old homes. Those travelers spend hundreds of millions annually in Europe. Moreover, aliens who reside here and engage in business or in wage-earning occupations are in the habit of sending their savings abroad to aid their less fortunate relatives. These and other important items of cash outgo are not counterbalanced by any income to America from similar sources. Therefore, if we broke even on our sales and purchases of merchandise, the balance would be against us to the extent of the money spent abroad in the manner stated. That is a statement of business facts so plain that anyone can understand it. And it is proven by records kept under a Democratic administration.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Press Clippings

Boston News Bureau—The government estimates that the farmer is receiving 20 per cent more at the farm gate for grains than he received a year ago. That this farmer prosperity is being translated into buying is shown by the rapidly mounting sales of such conserns as Sears, Roebuck & Co., and Montgomery Ward & Co., the latter Company's sales for September were 36 percent greater than for the same month last year. These economic figures of fact mean much more than many political figures of speech.

Clarksburg, (W.Va.) Telegram—One of the mysteries of the present campaign is why anybody with recollection of the enormous cost to the taxpayers entailed by political operation and manipulation of the railroad should ever want to have the railroads thrown back there again.

Los Angeles Times—The average American farmer netted only about $900 in cash last year, but he made his dollars go farther than the man in the city and therefore fared proportionately better. There are said to be 7000 worse things in the world than being an American farmer.

Pottaville, (Pa.) Journal—Straight and fair and open in everything he does the President stands so high above his opponents that the people are fast losing sight entirely of the pigmy forms of those with mean and miserable methods try to arouse feeling against him.

Portland, (Ore.) Spectator—Among the many things that endear President Coolidge to the merican people is his infinite capacity for minding the business of his high office and permitting them to attend to their own affairs.

Albert Lea (Minn.) Tribune—Berger isn't entirely satisfied with La Follette as a socialist, but thinks him good enough to use in safe blowing the other parties. The political yeggs are willing to use La Follette as "soup".

Jersey City Review—The farther the campaign progresses, the less the Democratic candidates discuss the tariff. They are hearing from the working men of America, who like a full dinner pail.

Oskaloosa (Iowa) Hearld—In no year since the Canadian government has operated the railroads of the Dominion have the roads had a surplus. The deficit has been carried by taxes on the people.

Washington Post—Irving Cobb comes out for John W. Davis. There's nobody in America today who can appreciate a joke better than he can.

Boston Transcript—As Chairman Butler explains it, the slush is in the La Follette oratory.

CONGRESS AS A COURT

Anyone who will stop to think a moment, and most people do, will see that the radicals have supplied the answer to their own attacks on the Supreme Court. In objecting to a 5 to 4 decision, they call the decision a one man decision. They propose that Congress shall have the power by vote to overturn a decision of the court.

There are 531 members of the House. A majority of that number is 266. It is very seldom that a full attendance of the entire membership of so large a body can be had. But whether a full attendance and full vote be had or not, it is perfectly obvious that if a decision of the court were submitted to the House for review, the vote in the House might show a margin of only one majority—in which event we would have a one man decision in Congress as well as in the Supreme Court. In fact, we have often had one-man decisions in legislative bodies as well as in judicial tribunals.

From a practical standpoint, it is important to have disputed questions settled, and, in general, there is no better way to get them settled than to let the majority view prevail. The majority is not always right, but it is more often right than the minority. In any event, it is better to let the majority prevail than to let the minority hold up any conclusion of the dispute.

STATE FORESTRY COMMISSION GIVES SOME VALUABLE ADVICE

The very important part played by forests and tree growth in building up the soil is often overlooked, according to a statement issued by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. The primary basis of soil, points out the Commission, is finely divided rock. Gravel, sand and clay are but the original rock surface of the earth broken up into small pieces chiefly by weather influences. These pieces become ground up finer and finer as they are washed about by rains and carried from point to point by streams or by the action of waves along the shore lines of lakes and seas. The surface of the earth is constantly changing through the centuries and what was an ocean bench thousands of years ago may now be in the center of a continent.

Mere sand and clay, however, possess very little fertility until they become mixed with decayed plant material. The simplest plants have no roots and obtain their nourishment from the water and the air. Higher forms of plant life with root systems secure additional nutriment through chemical changes in the sand and clay. After the plant growth has reached the point that there is a considerable amount of decayed vegetable material upon the surface of the earth, other plants including crop plants are able to take advantage of this old material and use it over again with the result that from all of these sources there is a constant increase in the total amount of decayed plant material in the soil. Much of this leaches downward to considerable depths and would be out of reach of cultivation were it not for deep-rooted plants, especially trees, which follow the nourishing elements downward and bring them back through the roots and stems in the leaves. The decay of the fallen leaves, twigs and other forest litter thus returns the fertile elements of the soil to the surface.

News Items As Published in The Banner in Its Issue of October 19, 1899

Mr. N. J. Calloway of Enid is moving his corn and fodder to his new place two miles south of Clanton.

School will commence at Pleasant Cherry, October 16th for a term of 8 months, taught by L. A. Calloway.

Mr. John Milton of Stanton has returned from a visit to relatives in Perry county.

Superintendent Judson Strock has moved to Clanton.

Married this week—Andrew J. Davis and Miss L. G. Cleckler; Thos. Burnett and Miss Martha Rasberry; J. R. Farmer and Miss Dolly J. Gray; R. E. Jones and Mrs. Exa Childress.

AN INEVTABLE RESULT

One of the inevitable evils of Government ownership of any sort of enterprise that could be operated by private concerns is that the enterprise will be turned to political and personal interest. Even under private ownership and Government operation we saw an illustration of this. When Mr. McAdoo was made Director of Railroads he proceeded to have his name printed on every railroad ticket and every time-table and every menu.

We have another illustration of it in the recently established public radio station in New York City. That station is owned and supported by the taxpayers, but it is evidently used chiefly as an agency for the dissemination of the views and the promotion of the political interests of Mayor Hylan. Here is what the New York Herald Tribune has to say about it:

"In return for the $50,000 which the taxpayers of greater New York involuntarily invested in a municipal radio station they were promised continuous and unlimited education and entertainment. They were led to believe that their taste would be improved and their souls uplifted by the streams of words and music which would radiate nightly from the summit of the second tallest building in New York—a building which, by the way, happens to be their own property.

"It appears that these promises were misleading. When the expectant citizens tune in after dinner what do they hear? Mr. Hylan denouncing the intrests; Mr. Hylan attacking the transit crowd; Mr. Hylan saying harsh things about George McAneny.

"Furthermore, there is reason to believe that the Mayor is just beginning a vocal campaign for a renomination and that from this time forward he will put out the same kind of propaganda three or four times a week."

If we had a government ownership of railroads we would soon have a demand for Government radio stations to use in connection with the transportation system. Then, under such Democrats as McAdoo and Hylan, we would see the radio system used to praise the administration of the railroads and to persuade the voters that those who are in power should be kept in.

The Road To Better Health

SOME COLD PREVENTIVES

BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

It is estimated that 12,000 deaths occur each year in the United States as result of bronchitis and its complications. So the common cold stands well up in the list of the causes of death and should be taken more seriously than it usually is.

While colds are due to infection, there are certain other factors which seem to act as predisposing causes. Among these are prolonged exposure to cold, getting wet and chilled, and breathing air that is too dry, overheated or impure. During the changeable weather of fall and spring, and during those seasons when we spend much time indoors, colds are most prevalent.

Efforts at prevention should begin during the fall and should include measures to protect ourselves against unfavorable weather conditions as well as take care to make indoor conditions as healthful as possible. Unless the weather is too disagreeable, spending as much time as possible out-of-doors in the fall, winter and spring helps to harden one and increase his resistance. But dress for it!

Right Clothing Important

By shivering through a cold fall afternoon while you are watching a football game you probably lower your resistance instead of raising it. You should wear an overcoat or sufficient wraps. Over dressing while indoors also makes you more susceptible to a chilling when you go out into the cold air. Remove your overcoat or out-door wraps while you are attending indoor amusements or athletic contests.

Houses and buildings should be well ventilated and cimfortably warm, and the air should contain sufficient moisture.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Fainting

L. H. S. writes: "My sister, who is nineteen years old, faints very easily. While she has never been real strong, she seems to be in fairly good health. What I want to know is what makes anyone faint to easily?"

Reply

The immediate cause of fainting is an anemia of the brain due to some temporary weakness in the action of the heart. The weakness of the heart action may be caused by emotion, by some abnormal condition in the heart itself or by some disturbance elsewhere in the body. Attacks of what looks like ordinary fainting may occur like some forms of epilepsy.

Have your sister examined to find out if she is anemic, has any functional or organic diseases of the heart, or has any disturbance elsewhere in the body. If these can be ruled out, she must educate herself to have better control of her emotions. Emotion is a very frequent cause of fainting in the young.

Curing Boils

R. A. B. writes: "I have been troubled with repeated crops of boils. I have had several on the back of the neck, one on my cheek, and some on my arms near the wrists. Nothing that I have tried seems to help me to get rid of them. Is there anything I can do to keep them from coming?"

Reply

You do not state just what you have done in your efforts to cure your boils.

Have your urine examined to find out if it contains any sugar. Avoid eating foods that contain too much starch or sugar.

Keep your skin clean by using plenty of soap and water.

As boils seem prone to develop where the skin is irritated, try to avoid such irritation.

Be careful not to contaminate the skin with the pus from boils which are discharging.

Cancer Cures

C. G. R. writes: "I have something on my face that a doctor here says is a skin cancer. There is a man here who claims to be able to cure skin cancers with a medicine that he makes. Is there any medicine that will do this?"

Reply

Ointments containing arsenic and zinc compounds, and solutions of nitrate of mercury have been used for this purpose. They all act as caustics, but cannot be called cures.

The accepted methods of treating cancer are surgery, the X-Ray, and radium.

It would seem to be folly to permit anyone to experiment on you with an unknown medicine. The usual result is loss of valuable time, even if positive harm does not result.

Place yourself in the care of some reputable doctor who will do something which experience has shown to be of benefit.

Avoid all quacks and nostrums.

Antiseptics for Wounds

C. H. F. asks: "Is iodin as good as any antiseptic to put on wounds?"

Reply

Tincture of iodin is a good antiseptic. But remember that the proper care of wounds often involves more than the application of an antiseptic to the surface.

Some wounds are dangerous on account of their nature and location, as well as the circumstances under which they occur. Wounds of any size or depth, stab or punctured wounds, and those in which there may be dirt or other foreign matter, are best treated by a physician.

POOR O

CHESTNUT CREEK

The singing society met Sunday afternoon in regular session. The attendance was good and the class did some real good singing. The writer has not had the privilege of attending the last two sessions prior to last Sunday, but many have said that this was the best singing we have had in several meetings. Everyone present seemed to enjoy the service very much.

There were several visitors prsent among whom we noted the Rev. J. S. Castlebury, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cagle of Mttchell Dam, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Renfroe Jones of Clanton and others from Walnut Creek whose names I cannot recall.

Remember, we extend a cordial invitation and welcome to all singers and lovers of music to attend any and all of the regular meetings of this society, which meets every first and third Sunday afternoon.

The following directed from one to three songs each: L. T. Grant, W. M. Devaughn, W. F. Gilliland, O. L. Devaughn, Ralph Grant, J. W. Cagle and S. M. Yates.

Organists for the afternoon were: Lee J. Grant, Lena Mae Devaughn, Mrs. Jesse Baker and Ralph Grant.

We also had three splendid quartettes rendered by the Cooper Quartette.

We thank you one and all for your presence and assistance in this service which, as I see it, is nothing more than your duty.

We invite all who can to meet with us on next first Sunday afternoon.

L. T. Grant, Chairman.
O. L. Devaughn, Sec'y.

FORESTALL DREADED CHILLS AND FEVER

No one need suffer the seasonal recurrence of Chills and Fever, with its terribly weakening effect. Wintersmith's Chill Tonic will kill your Chills and take all the Malaria out of your system. If you are subject to Malaria the best plan is to take Wintersmith's Chill Tonic beforehand. It will often prevent development of the disease. It puts rich, red blood into your veins, giving you the strength necessary to ward off Malaria.

Fifty six years of continued success have made this the standard tonic in thousands of homes throughout the malarial districts of the United States, Central and South America and elsewhere.

The system easily assimilates Wintersmith's Chill Tonic and there are no bad effects on the stomach or nerves. You should have a bottle in your home. Popular size, 60 cents; mammoth size, $1.00. All drug stores. Wintersmith Chemical Company, Inc. Louisville, Ky. ----Adv.

TWO MEN TAKEN UP BY THORSBY OFFICIALS

Guy Powell and Otto Roughton, two men working with the highway crew above Thorsby, were arrested by Thorsby officials Sunday afternoon. It is reported that the men were recklessly driving an automobile while intoxicated, and also they had a quantity of whiskey with them when arrested. The two men were turned over to the Sheriff of Chilton county and they were put in jail. They were released frim jail Tuesday moning.

NEGRO WOMAN FROM CRENSHAW TAKEN UP

Eula Wyatt, a negro woman, together with two children, were taken up by city officials of Clanton Saturday night. The woman was wanted in Crenshaw county to answer a charge of grand larceny. The Sheriff from Crenshaw came up for her Sunday.

OUR GUARANTEES OF LIBERTY

The apostles of discontent in America will find something worth their reading in that part of President Coolidge's recent address in Washington, in which he said, after reviewing the guarantees of liberty in the United States:

"The fame of the advantages which accrue to the inhabitants of our country has spread throughout the world. If we doubt the high esteem in which these opportunities are held by other peoples, it is only necessary to remember that they sought them in such numbers as to require our own protection by restrictive immigration."

This country is not yet perfect, but it is so far ahead of any other country that the perpetual complainers are merely making themselves ridiculous. The kind of people who have made this nation great are best able to carry it on.

NOTICE

To the Public:

I hereby give notice that I am no longer responsible in any way for the conduct of my wife. I shall not be responsible for anything she does in the future.

SQUIRREL SEASON OPENS SATURDAY, OCTOBER 1ST

The many sportsmen of Chilton County are looking forward to the opening of the squirrel season, which comes in Saturday of next week, October 1st. Sheriff Littlejohn asks us to urge those who intend to hunt to procure hunting license from the Probate Judge. A license is required of everyone hunting except on his own land. County license is $1.00, and State license is $3.00. If you intend to hunt any this season, it will be well for you to procure license, because this business is going to be looked after very closely this time. The Officers do not want to cause anyone any trouble, but they are going to see that the law is abided by to the best of their ability. So if you get caught hunting without license, you need not blame anyone except yourself.

RIGINAL

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Thorsby Institute will put on a course of three entertainments for the coming season. Season tickets will be $1.25 for adults and 75c for children under 12 years old. The first number will be "The Farnum Trio," Doris Farnum, contralto, reader-entertainer, pianist, harpist; Geoffrey Waddington, violinist; Evelyn Dalin, soprano, pianist and violinist. This troupe are due in Thorsby Nov. 10th. Get your season tickets in advance.

The second number will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul Clemens, featuring their Marionettes, similar to the once famous Punch and Judy shows, that were so attractive to old and young. The third number will be an Operetta by local talent. Notice of dates for the last two will be given later.

Sunday morning at the hour of morning service, 11 a.m., Oct. 26th, at the Congregational church, there will be a Missionary program, in charge of Miss Marian Fairbank, as follows:

Service of Worship

Scripture Lesson, illustrated by Chinese customs, Mrs. M. A. Williams. Chinese Conundrums. The Ways of the Chinese, by "The Class in the Corner." Extracts from letters of Miss Ethel Long, of Lintsing, China. Mrs. J. H. Goddard. A Trip Into the Gobi Desert, Mr. C. J. Tissall. Solo, "Heralds of Christ," Miss Ruth Turner. A Christian Chinese. Sixten Hall. Dramatization: "Teachers Wanted." Members of Queen Esther and Loyal Helpers Classes.

The Lutheran church in Thorsby, although at present without a pastor, is by no means a dead church. Their Ladies' Aid Society, at their meeting last Thursday, voted a donation of $10 to The Lutheran Old Folks Home at Minneapolis, and $25 to Foreign Missions. The Lutheran Sunday School gave about $10 more for Foreign Missions, and a canvass among members and friends of the church is expected to raise the fund for foreign missions between fifty and sixty dollars.

A letter from Mrs. Ella C. Dippery, mother-in-law of Rev. S. H. Herbert, formerly pator of Thorsby Congregational church and Principal of Thorsby Institute, reports that Rev. Herbert has recently moved to Arriba, Colorado, where he is pastor of a Congregational church.

Mr. Alfred Childress was in town last Tuesday morning and reports the very serious illness of Mrs. Ann Eiland at the home of her son, Terrence Eiland about two miles outhwest of Thorsby. Mrs. Eiland is also mother of Mr. Felix Eiland of Thorsby.

Mr. Robert Johnson has gone to a hospital at Selma for an operation.

The Parent Teachers Association will have a Social meeting at the home of Mrs. Charles S. Howard Thursday afternoon, October 30th.

Mr. Edward Howard of Tuscaloosa, was a visitor last Tuesday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis S. Howard.

A Card of Thanks

Mrs. Ida J. Bradford wishes to thank her many friends for their kindness and beautiful floral offerings at the death of her dearly beloved husband, Hal-Thompson Bradford.

Rev. H. H. Busbee of McCauley, Ala., will preach at the Baptist church in Thorsby at 7:45 p.m., Sunday, Oct. 26th. There will be no evening service in either of the other Thorsby churches and we trust Bro. Busbee will be greeted on his first meeting in Thorsby by a full house.

Rev. Joseph E. Each, Rev. E. W. Butler and wife, Mr. R. A. Turner, Miss Helen C. Jenkins, and Mrs. Hattie M. Gerald are expecting to go to Headland, Ala., Saturday of this week, to attend the Cingregational State Conference to be held there Oct. 25th to 29th, inclusive.

Mr. Ephriam Steiner, who has had a long and serious illness at his home in Thorsby, is now able to be out, but is still in a weak condition. A number of his friends gave him a surprise party Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Mr. [illegible]u Howard has sold the tract of land whereon his peach orchard is licated, to Mr. J. D. Cleckler, who has recently sold his home here.

Mrs. Anna S. Villadsen returned from a visit of two weeks to her sister in Birmingham, last week.

The Wright family of Blocton, Ala., are living in the Paramore house temporarily, and expect to locate permanently in Thorsby as soon as the home they want is vacated. It is expected one of the daughters will be a student in Thorsby Institute.

Mrs. Aaron Littleton is having a substantial improvement in the addition of two rooms to her Thorsby home.

Mr. John Stolkrantz and his brothin-law, Mr. Lindstrom, and John Stolkrantz, Jr., of Jamestown, N. Y., have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson the past week.

ROPER AND GRAY MAKE BOND ON WHISKEY CHARGE

Messrs. O. O. Roper and Joe Gray of Clanton have each been placed under bond of $500.00 charged with violating the prohibition laws in connection with the whiskey which the Sheriff took from the Reynolds building in Clanton last week. These two men got their bonds signed up the latter part of last week. Their case will come up in the fall term of Circuit Court.

BUSINESS MAN SINGS PRAISES

"I suffered for years with stomach trouble and gas continually. Doctors thought I had stomach ulcers or cancer. After last attack they advised going to Rochester, Minn., for an operation. A friend advised trying Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I did, and I cannot sing its raises too highly, as I now eat anything and everything." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will envince or money refunded. Sold by Alred Dg. Co., and all druggists.

CANE CREEK NEWS

The literary school at this place is progressing very nicely under the careful management of our teachers, Miss Julia Parrish, principal, and Miss Jewel Minor, assistant. We like them both very much and appreciate the good work that they are doing for the children and community.

Miss Claudia Mooneyham spent the week end with Miss Bertha Giles.

Mr. Alvin Lambert of Benton spent Sundy with home folks.

Misses Sara and Delene Lambert, who are attending school at Maplesville, spent the week end at home.

Several from this place attended the meeting at Lomax Sunday night.

Next Saturday and Sunday are our regular preaching days. Everybody is cordially invited to come.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

ELECTION NOTICE

The State of Alabama,
Chilton County.

I, T. J. Littlejohn, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, in conformity with Section 357, page 329, of the Political Code of Alabama, (1907), hereby give notice that a General Election of the qualified voters of Chilton County, Alabama, will be held in the several election precincts of said county on Tuesday, the 4th day of November, 1924, for the election of:—

Twelve Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States; one United States Senator from Alabama, two Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of Alabama, one Associate Judge Court of Appeals of Alabama; State Commissioner of Game and Fisheries of Alabama; President Alabama Public Service Commission; Representative in Congress from the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama; County Treasurer of Chilton County, Alabama; Commissioner from the Third District of Chilton County, Alabama; Commissioner from the Fourth District of Chilton County, Alabama; two members of the County Board of Education of Chilton County, Alabama; two Justices of the Peace for each precinct in Chilton County, Alabama; one Constable for each precinct in Chilton County, Alabama;

Also whether the following amendments to the Constitution of Alabama shall be adopted, viz:

Proposed Amndment No. 1.

Shall the following proposed amendment, Section 194 1-2 of the Constitution of Alabama, be adopted?

"No person who honorably served in the military or naval service of the United States, between January 1st, 1917 and November 11, 1918, shall be required to pay the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama; such persons shall be exempt from the payment of all poll taxes which have accrued or may hereafter accrue. This section shall be self-executing and retroactive. The Judges of Probate shall issue certificates of exemption from the payment of such poll taxes to the persons entitled thereto under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Governor."

Proposed Amendment No. 2.

Shall the following be adopted as Article XXI of the Constitution of Alabama?

Section 1. "The Legislature may form of provide for the formation of districts for establishing and maintaining a drainage system; for the building and maintaining of public roads, and for building and maintaining a seawall or other protection against waves, storm or flood therein; and provide for the assessment of the whole or part of the cost of such improvements against the land in such districts to the extent of the increased value of such land by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements, and may provide for the issuance of bonds by such district with or without any election. Provided the provisions as to road and seawall shall apply only to Mobile and Baldwin Counties."

Proposed Amendment No. 3.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

"The County of Mobile, through its constituted governing authorities, may levy and collect for public school purposes, a rate of taxation, on the property situated therein, not exceeding the total of any one year, one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum of the value of such property as assessed as provided by the Constitution of Alabama and the statutes now or hereafter enacted pursuant to the said Constitution of Alabama, which said one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum shall be in addition to taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to the authority of Section 215 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, which Article XIX was added to the said Constitution by Amendment; and existing laws attempting or purporting to authorize, empower and direct the said constituted authorities of the County of Mobile to levy and assess such a special tax in addition to the taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution as aforesaid and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution as aforesaid are hereby validated and confirmed."

Proposed Amendment No. 4.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of Alabama?

"The municipalities of Thorsby, Piedmont, and Greenville, and Roanoke, and Greensboro and Calera, Florala and Opp, Evergreen and Fayette, and Clayton and Clio in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for State taxation for the tax year ending on the thirteenth day of September next succeeding the levy; provided that for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness which may be issued or incurred after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected; provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1-2) per centum in any one year. Alabama City shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of three-quarters of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for State taxation. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, or authority or right of either of said municipal corporations to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them, under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of the city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law Number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337, each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For .....excess rate of taxation for the year (or years).....;" and "Against.....excess rate of taxation for the year (or years)....." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years.. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and such proposition is defeated no second election for the same shall be held in one year thereafter."

Proposed Amendment No. 5.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

Proposed Amendment No. 290. "Mobile County man become indebted and may issue bonds for the construction or improvement of concrete or better than concrete surfaced public roads, and concrete or better than concrete public bridges in said county, and for the construction of bridges and roadway necessary to provide a public road for vehicular travel between the highlands of Mobile and Baldwin Counties, in an amount not to exceed six ane one-half per centum of the assessed value of the property situated in Mobile County. To pay said indebtedness and the interest thereon, Mobile County may levy and collect an annual tax on said property not to exceed one-half of one per centum of said value. The indebtedness, the bonds and the tax authorized hereby shall be in addition to those authorized by the Constitution of Alabama prior to the adoption of this amendment. But no such additional indebtedness shall be created, and no such additional bonds shall be issued, and no such additional tax shall be levied, until each improvement or construction proposed to be built thereby, its approximate location, estimated cost and time of completion, and the amount of the proposed increase, shall have been determined upon and made public by the Board of Revenue and Road Commissioners of Mobile County, and the proposed increase of indebtedness or issue of bonds or tax therefor shall have been first authorized by a majority vote by ballot of the qualified voters of Mobile County voting upon such proposition."

Proposed Amendment No. 6

Shall the following be adopted as Article.....of the Constitution of Alabama?

Section 1. "The County of Walker, State of Alabama, shall have power to levy and collect a special road tax not exceeding fifty cents on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county in addition to that now authorized or that may hereafter be authorized for the erection, construction or maintenance of the necessary public roads, bridges or ferries and in addition to that now authorized under Section 215 of Article XI of the Constitution, which special county tax so levied and collected shall be applied exclusively to the purpose for which the same was so levied and collected; provided, that the rate of such tax, the time it is to continue and he purpose thereof shall have first been submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of the county, and voted for by a majority of those voting at such election." Section 2. "Twenty-five per centum of all moneys derived from property lying within the municipalities and arising from the tax proposed herein shall be paid to such municipality and shall, by it, be expended for upkeep of its streets." Section 3. "The Court of County Commissioners, Boards of Revenue, or other governing body of said county may, or upon written petition of ten per centum of the qualified voters of Walker County, shall call and submit said election provided for and authorized by Section 1 hereof to the qualified electors of Walker County either at the time of the general election or at a special election called for that purpose; proivded that said election shall be called and held in accordance with the law now or that may be enacted governing county bond elections, and in conformity with the general election laws of the State."

Proposed Amendment No. 7

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

"Town Creek School District No. 59, Landersville School District No. 23 and Moulton School District No. 28, in Lawrence County, Alabama, shall each have the right and power by vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such district at an election held fir that purpose to levy and collect for the purpose of acquiring, constructing or repairing of school buildings in such districts or paying for school buildings already built, a tax of not over five mills in any one year, in addition to all other taxes now authorized by law. The election in such district to determine whether or not such tax shall be levied shall be called, held and conducted as now provided by law for calling, holding and conducting of elections to determine whether or not a three-mill district school tax shall be levied and collected."

Dated at Clanton, Ala., this the 7th day of October, 1924.

Don't Throw the Boomerang of Oppressive Legislation at the Railroads

The boomerang is a dangerous weapon to use. It flies back and is likely to hit and damage the thrower.

A vast amount of legislation to "regulate" the railroads is being proposed. Most of it would not only be impracticable in operation but would actually destroy the satisfactory service the railroads are now giving to the public.

Thus, like the boomerang thrown by the untutored Australian native, this legislation would "Return to plague the inventor".

The instigators of this proposed legislation are largely selfish—they don't care if it is "boomerang stuff" to the people. However, a few honest, but unthinking, people have unconsciously been influenced to join in this attack on the railroads—without realizing that whatever hurts the railroads hurts the people as well.

Don't you be a boomeranger. Give a little honest and intelligent thought and study to the railroad situation; and you'll want to help prevent the dangerous, fly-back legislation now being proposed.

Since Jan. 1, 1922 more than one billion dollars has been saved to shippers thru reductions that the railroads have made in freight rates.

WELL-MERITED SUCCESS

A distinguished citizen, honored politically and professionally, Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, made a success few have equalled. His pure herbal remedies which have stood the test for fifty years are still among the "best sellers." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and stomach alterative. It clears the skin, beautifies it, increases the blood supply and the circulation, and pimples and eruptions vanish quickly. Beauty is but skin deep and good blood is beneath both. For your blood to be good, your stomach must be in condition, your liver active. This Discovery of Doctor Pierce's puts you in fine condition, with all the organs active. Ask your nearest druggist for Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, in tablet or liquid form, or send 10 cents for trial package of tablets to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y.

U. S. RECORDS GREATEST TRADE EXPANSION

Washington, Oct. 21.—The first nine months of the current year, ended September, compared with the corresponding period of 1923, indicates something of a decrease in imports, while the average rate of duty on all imports remains practically the same as it has been since the Fordney-McCumber tariff law was enacted in 1922, or about 15 per cent. Imports totaled $2,682,000,000, indicating a total for 1924 of about $3,600,000,000 or nearly twice the pre-war total, so it is evident there is nothing prohibitive about the present law. Customs revenues totaled $415,000,000, indicating about $550,000,000 for the full year, which is precisely the average for the two fiscal years of 1923 and 1924, ended June 30th. This shows a remarkable stability.

Exports for the 1924 period show $165,000,000 increase, animal products increasing slightly, and some increases in flour and other agricultural items, with a marked increase in fruits, nuts and vegetables. The total of exports was $3,105,000,000, the favorable balance being $423,000,000, or an average of $47,000,000 a month. A striking characteristic of the trade was that while imports of manufactures ready for consumption accounted for about 20 per cent of the total, exports of those products made up 41 per cent of the total sales abroad, and it is on this class of goods that the greatest amount of time, labor, and capital are expended. This means that the American laborer, manufacturer, miner, and producers generally of the raw materials get a chance at those materials all the way up the line, every man taking a profit in wages or sales in his contribution to the work represented by the finished materials. This, of course, is a very satisfactory condition of affairs. The tendency under free trade is for foreign capital, labor, etc., to work up crude materials purchased from us or elsewhere, and sell them in the American market, displacing domestic wares, thereby curtailing our own activities.

A steady increase has been recorded in our exports to Europe, notably to Germany, France, Italy, Spain, Russia, and the Netherlands. Sales to South America increased, particularly to Brazil, Columbia, Peru, Uraguay, and Venezuela, with decreases to Argentina and Chile. There was a large increase in sales to Asia and Oceania, every country listed being a better purchaser this year than last. To the African countries sales increased $5,000,000.

The Department of Commerce announces that "the expansion was the largest over the pre-war average of any country in the world," and that "the figures signified that the United States is taking a larger position in the wordl's foreign trade and is gaining a greater portion of new trade than any other nation."

Candidate Davis in his addresses has been making vague promises to agriculture and industry of better foreign markets. "We propose to search diligently for means to extend our trade with other nations," said he at Des Moines. But what need of promises when we now have performance twice as great as in pre-war days? And why authorize the Democratic party to search diligently, for what the Republican party has already found?

MOTOR VEHICLE OWNERS URGED TO BUY TAGS NOW

Up to the present time only about 350 automobile and truck tags have been purchased from the probate office in Clanton. There are in the neighborhood of 2,000 motor vehicles in Chilton County, so less than 20 per cent of the owners have purchased license tags yet, and the time allowed to buy tags is over half gone, November 14th being the last day. Those owning motor vehicles should not wait till near the close of the alloted time, since this will cause such a rush in the probate's office. All owners are urged to get tags before the last days, so as to avoid the excessive rush.

HAWK MEASURES 50 INCHES AND WEIGHS ONE POUND

A somewhat unusual story was brought to our office recently by Mr. Curtis Moore of Coopers regarding a hawk. He reports that his son, Charley Moore, recently shot and killed a hawk of very exceptional proportions, the bird measuring 50 inches from tip to tip of wings and it weighed exactly one pound. Judging from the weight of this hawk, there must not be many chickens around Mr. Moore's place, or else there are a lot of preachers down who have totally out-witted the hawks in getting the first whack at all the chickens. To say the least of it, that was some bird.

Sick Headache

"I have used Black-Draught when needed for the past 25 years," says Mrs. Emma Grimes, of Forbes, Mo. "I began taking it for a bad case of constipation. I would get constipated and feel just miserable—sluggish, tired, a bad taste in my mouth, . . . and soon my head would begin hurting and I would have a severe sick headache. I don't know just who started me to taking

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

but it did the work. It just seemed to cleanse the liver. Very soon I felt like new. When I found Black-Draught so easy to take and easy-acting, I began to use it in time and would not have sick headaches."

Constipation causes the system to re-absorb poisons that may cause great pain and much danger to your health. Take Thedford's Black-Draught. It will stimulate the liver and help to drive out the poisons.

Sold by all dealers. Costs only one cent a dose. E-104

DOWN IN ALABAMA

Editor The National Republican: "Straws show which way the wind blows." One night this week I attended one of the most prominent moving picture theaters in Montgomery, Ala. The introductory picture was the initation of Mr. Davis, Democratic candidate for the presidency, by a camp of Boy Scouts somewhere out west. The ceremony was very elaborate, including the lassoing and decorating of Mr. Davis, and showing him off to the best possible advantage for several minutes, evidently with the expectation of getting some recognition in the way of applause. To my utter surprise the audience was as silent as if a funeral procession had passed before them instead of the standard bearer of the Democratic party making a bid for public approval. There was not the faintest sign of a ripple of applause, not even a handclap. And this happened in Montgomery, Ala., the cradle of the Confederacy and the undisputed territory of rock ribbed Democracy—"Subscriber" in the National Republican.

FRIENDSHIP NEXT SUNDAY

Next Sunday is regular preaching day at this place. Rev. W. W. Robinson of Providence will preach at 11:00 o'clock a.m., and at 7:30, p.m. Sunday School at 10:00, a.m.

There will be singing in the afternoon, beginning at 2:00 o'clock. Prof. W. M. Devaughn and some other good singers will be present. Everybody come and help sing praises to God.

STILL CAPTURED IN STUMPS HILLS SUNDAY

Sheriff Littlejohn, with the assistance of Special Deputy Robinson, discovered and destroyed a small copper still in the Stumps Hills community last Sunday morning. A small quantity of beer was poured out by the officers. No whiskey was found.

A short distance from the still Steve Dutton was arrested for carrying a concealed weapon.

EVINS REPLIES TO DEBATE CHALLENGE; DECLINES MEETING

Tells Reynolds that Majority of Alabamians are Grounded in Democratic Faith.

"I do not think it necessary to debate before the people of Alabama the question that public officers must be honest and free from corruption, or that no class of the population is entitled to use the powers of government to levy tribute on the whole people."

Thus R. B. Evins, chairman of the state Democratic executive committee, replies to L. H. Reynolds, chairman of the state Republican campaign committee, who challenged the Democratic party in the state to a debate.

Mr. Evins made public his reply Friday in which he says:

"You suggest this debate because you say that the people are entitled to hear the issues of the campaign discussed.

"The great majority of the people of this state are firmly grounded in the sound principles of the Democratic faith, and are, I think, fully informed on the issues of the campaign. The humiliating betrayals of public trust which have occurred during the present administration are known by all men, and the vast increase in the cost of living, due, in large measures, to the existing tariff law, is a part of the daily experience of every individual.

"The major issues of this campaign arise out of these facts, and I do not think that it is necessary to debate before the people of Alabama the question that public officers must be honest and free from corruption or that no class of the population is entitled to use the powers of government to levy tribute on the whole people.

"I see no useful purpose that could be served by the debate which you suggest, and therefore, I respectfully decline your proposal."

Mr. Reynolds proposed a joint debate between party leaders at a meeting in Birmingham this week, a report of which was carried in last weeks Union-Banner.

GOOD MEETING AT THE COURT HOUSE SATURDAY

As announced before, Hon. C. B. Kennamer of Birmingham, spoke on the political issues of the day at the court house here last Saturday. There were a number of Republicans from all over the county present at this meeting, who enjoyed Mr. Kennamer's speech very much. It is a pity that every voter in the county could not attend this meeting and hear this fine speech. It would have been an eye-opener to some of our good citizens.

CHILTON HI VS. BIBB HI AT HIGH SCHOOL GROUNDS FRIDAY, OCT. 31, 3:00 P. M.

Next Friday afternoon at 3 p.m., Chilton County High School will meet the Bibb County aggregation on the former's ground in Clanton at 3 o'clock sharp. These teams have not met in several years, and have never scored on each other, when they have played. A good game is expected. Come and root for Chilton.

GOOD ROAD FROM PRATTVILLE TO CHILTON COUNTY LINE

The report comes to us that Autauga county has finished, with the exception of a few miles, its part of the road between Prattville and Clanton, they only lacking a little being to the Chilton county line. It is reported that this road through Autauga is mighty good—much better than the section of that road through Chilton. Citizens of Autauga county who travel this road a good deal are asking that Chilton county some across and build her part of this road. There is quite a bit of traveling over this road which goes over Greasy Ridge, on through White City and on into Prattville.

REYNOLDS WRITES LETTER TO VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

Clanton, Ala., Oct. 28, 1924.
Editor Union-Banner:

The campaign is about over, and it seems evident that Coolidge will be elected. If he is not, even the Democrats will be disappointed.

I have given all my time for the past several weeks to the State campaign that I could possibly spare from my office, and I have not been able to do anything in the county campaign.

I want to call to the attention of the voters a few things in reference to our county ticket. In the first place I want to say that we are all proud of the decent campaign which is being conducted, and I am glad to know that some Democrats who have been so bitter and who only a few months ago were heaping slander and abuse on the people's cause, have now become so fair (?) that they claim to be entirely non-partisan.

The Republican party held a primary election in our county and nominated a ticket, and a good one. Each and every one nominated in that primary is a citizen of the highest type and well deserving of a party honor. Mr. A. P. Vinson, one of our nominees for county commissioner, served four years in this capacity and made a record of which all of us should be proud. He saved the people's money. Whenever he passed on a bill he was sure that the county had received value for the same. If he is elected, and I am sure he will be, we all know that the county's business will be safe in his hands and he will foster road building and other forward-looking measures.

Mr. J. L. Burnett, our other nominee for Commissioner, has lived among us all his life. He is of the highest type of citizenship, has the interest of the people at heart, and while he has never held office, there is not a doubt that he will make a Commissioner of the highest order of efficiency and will always be responsive to the will of the people.

Mr. Baker and Mr. Smith, our nominees for county school board, are both vitally interested in our schools and both have had training and experience which peculiarly qualifies them for these important offices. Mr. Baker has taught a number of schools, and wherever he was given a fair chance he succeeded to the sat-

CAN PROHIBITION LAW BE ENFORCED SUBJECT OF DEBATE

Question will be Debated at Clanton Baptist Church Friday night at 7:30 O'clock.

Can the prohibition law be enforced? Advocates of prohibition say it can be and is being enforced. Wets declare it cannot be enforced. This question is clearly discussed in the dramatic debate on the subject which

JOHN W. LANGLEY

John W. Langley and Paul P. Kelser are putting on in a number of cities in Alabama.

This is called a dramatic debate and it really is dramatic. Mr. Langley as the good citizen boils over with wrath in discussing with Mr. Kelser, as county attorney, the failure of that official to close up certain places known to be violating the law.

Mr. Kelser, as county attorney, points out that the real trouble is not with the officials, but with the citizens, and then, after discussing the issue back and forth, rather heatedly, they both find that both are right and both are wrong, and end up with each accepting his responsibility and an agreement to see that the law is enforced.

During the debate, which lasts 48 minutes, there are many facts and statistics brought out in an interesting way, such a lot of them, indeed, that the debate is worth attending just for these. But it's entertaining, too, with a bit of humor now and then, and is the equal of the best Chautauqua attraction.

These debates are free to all and both men and women are invited. The debate will be conducted in the Baptist church at Clanton, Friday evening, October 31, at 7:30. Rev. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the church, is in charge of local arrangements, with the co-operation of Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, pastor of the Methodist church.

SQUIRREL SEASON OPENS SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 1ST

The many sportsmen of Chilton County are looking forward to the opening of the squirrel season, which comes in Saturday of next week, November 1st. Sheriff Littlejohn asks us to urge those who intend to hunt to procure hunting license from the Probate Judge. A license is required of everyone hunting except on his own land. County license is $1.00, and State license is $3.00. If you intend to hunt any this season, it will be well for you to procure license, because this business is going to be looked after very closely this time. The Officers do not want to cause anyone any trouble, but they are going to see that the law is abided by to the best of their ability. So if you get caught hunting without license, you need not blame anyone except yourself.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wells and children of Selma, were in Clanton Tuesday of this week visiting friends and relatives.

GO TO POLLS NEXT TUESDAY AND VOTE REPUBLICAN TICKET

Republicans of County Urged to Go to Polls Election Day and Vote For Republican Ticket.

In this election as in many previous ones, the main question before the Republican voters is that their people get out to the polls and vote. We have the qualified voters all right who are in line with the Republican principles of government and the Republican ticket, but unless they come to the polls and vote, their stand will do no good. Their vote is what counts.

The Democrats are going to keep their people stirred up and they are going to get them out on election day. A few Democrats of Chilton county (or as they would have themselves called, non-partisans) are working night and day and Sundays too, trying to arouse interest among their supporters, and they are going to use every means at their command to swell their vote just as much as possible. The Republicans cannot afford to sit idle and let their side of the question lie dormant. We have got to see that our people come out and vote.

Let all good Republicans awake to their duty now, and arouse your neighbors to a sense of their political duty. We want Chilton county to poll a good substantial vote for Calvin Coolidge and Col. Dawes. Our State ticket should have a good representation among the Republicans of the county. The county ticket is possibly the most important one to the people of Chilton county. This county ticket is composed of good clean men and women, and there is no reason that they should not have the undivided support of the Republicans of the county.

The Democrats of Chilton county are trying to trick the Republicans this year into voting for their men. They have out a Democratic ticket which they place at the disposal of the voters of the county and call it non-partisan. There is nothing non-partisan about it except the name, and there is virtually no name to it at all, so you see they have very little left to offer the people. They are calling themselves non-partisan for no other purpose in the world but to try to deceive some of the Republicans of the county to vote for them. They know that if they came out as Democrats that the people would not fall for it, hence the name non-partisan. It is really not non-partisan at all but Democratic if there ever was a Democratic ticket; the only difference is that they are ashamed to call it by its real name.

Some of our people assume the attitude that we will win without their vote. This is a mighty bad idea, because you must remember that while you are taking this view, there may be several more who are saying the same thing. We may win without you, but the greater vote we poll the better it will make our nominees feel, and the more it will make them feel like doing for the people after they get in office. And too, we want the Republican State vote to show up as favorably as possible this year. We need a strong Republican party in Alabama, and the only way to get it is for all the Republicans of the state to vote.

Let all of the Republicans of Chilton county go to your polls next Tuesday and vote, and see that your neighbors have a way to get there too. We need every Republican voter in the county.

WALTER GILLESPIE HELPS IN CAPTURING BIGGEST OUTFIT

All previous records in Alabama law enforcement annals were smashed when State and Federal officers, last Wednesday morning captured in Cross Roads beat, Pike County, a copper distilling outfit of 2,000 gallons capacity. The apparatus is said to be the largest all-copper "moonshine" plant ever taken in this State. It is estimated that fully $500 worth of sheet copper was used in its construction. The huge pant was taken to Troy after the bottom and top had been knocked out and it had otherwise been rendered useless as a potential source of "liquid corn." The worm, extending from the top of the still and through the barrel, was 55 feet in length.

The raiding party consisted of: Deputy State Law Enforcement Officer, E. Potter Smith, Federal Officer W. H. Gillepie, State Officer S. E. Tranum and State Officer A. L. Kimbrough. In connection with the raid in which the still was captured, the officers arrested two men on charges of distilling.

Clarksburg (W.Va.) Telegram.—The downtrodden masses, concerning whom Senator La Follette is making such a fuss, do not seem to be so terribly downtrodden when you go out on a walk and take a look at them.

TWO MORE SPEAKINGS BEFORE GENERAL ELECTION

On Friday night, October 31st. Col. J. Osmond Middleton will speak to the voters at Culp Schoolhouse on the issues of the present political campaign.

On Monday night, November 3rd the campaign in Chilton County will close with a speaking at Thorsby, which will be held at 7:00 o'clock in Bates Hall. Both Judge Reynolds and Mr. Middleton will address the voters at this meeting. A good crowd is expected to be at Thorsby Monday night. It is hoped that people from all over the county will come to this meeting and show the people of Thorsby and Beat 9 as well as the speakers that they have an interest in the success of our ticket and the triumphant vicory of the Republican party.

OFFICERS ACTIVE AGAINST VIOLATORS DURING PAST WEEK

On last Wednesday morning Deputy Culp went down to Andalusia and took charge of Roy Clayton, bringing him back to Clanton to answer a charge of carnal knowledge. Clayton had been arrested by Covington county officers at Florala, and had been carried to Andalusia for keeping. The preliminary trial was held at the court house in Clanton Tuesday of this week before Mr. Gulledge, Justice of the Peace. Clayton was bound over to the grand jury, his bond being set at $650.00.

On last Friday Sheriff Littlejohn, with the help of Deputy Easterling and Game Warden Napoleon Willis, caught Mitch Bates, Emmett Singleton and Newt Wyatt violating the game law, they having some squirrels in their possession. The men were caught down on Coosa river near the mouth of Walnut Creek. Mitch Bates and Newt Wyatt were tried before Mr. Gulledge, Justice of the Peace, Saturday, and were fined each $26.25. Singleton had not appeared for trial up to Tuesday of this week.

Benson Moncrief, negro from Deatsville, was arrested by Deputy Culp Monday, charged with assault with intent to murder, the crime having taken place in Clanton the same day of the arrest. Moncrief was placed in jail, where he still remains.

Officers here took up a 17-year-old negro boy who was wanted in Montgomery for stealing $500 from another negro down there, the arrest being made here Monday. A detective from Montgomery came up in a car and got the negro boy Monday afternoon.

COOKE PLAYERS IN CLANTON

The Cooke Players, who have visited Clanton every fall for the past four or five years, are playing in Clanton every night this week. These players are putting on some very good dramas as well as comic and vaudeville acts. Mr. and Mrs. Cooke and Mr. and Mrs. Barnes are well known to Clanton fans, all of whom welcome them back to play for us. The Cooke Players have a reputation of playing only clean and refined productions, and this week they are measuring up favorably to this criterion. The tent is located on the vacant lot below Lawrence's Garage on Sixth Street.

EDWARDS ESTATE CORPORATION TO SUE FOR BILLIONS

Corporation Formed to Sue for Vast Estate in New York Belonging to Heirs in Alabama.

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 28.—Truth, indeed, is stranger than fiction.

This fact was emphasized upon the minds of several of the wealthiest men in the United States during the past week, when they discovered that land, which they considered their property, might belong to other persons.

Fiction could never go back in history nearly 150 years to discover a 99-year contract that, with the passing of time, had come to be regarded as a deed; yet this took place when a document was filed in New York City, asserting the claim of the heirs of Thomas Edwards, who died about 1780, to the richest tract of land in the United States.

This property embraces Wall Street, the money center of the world, it includes acres of land, upon which is located the U. S. sub-treasury, the Trinity church, the Woolworth building, the tallest skyscraper in the world, as well as hundreds of other buildings.

And to prove this claim, which is stranger than the imaginings of any fiction writer, records of New York City, made shortly after the close of the Revolutionary War, are to be brought into use.

According to lineal descendants, Thomas Edwards, the Englishman refused to manage his holding in New York City after the close of the war, and his sons leased the tract of land in question for 99 years. Then came the war between the states and chaos. The land was never turned back to the rightful heirs, who, it now is estimated number 2,500.

The heirs drifted into the South and in Birmingham, Alabama, where was recently organized the Edwards Estate Corporation, with full powers to act for nearly 1,000 of the heirs in securing their heritage. The first step to secure the property, according to Joel F. Webb, legal adviser for the corporation, as well as heirs, was taken recently by the filing of a deed of ownership in New York. The next step is a recovery suit which is to be filed within a short time.

"The final step," according to T. C. McCain, chairman of the finance committee of the Corporation, "Will be the securing of a 150-year old heritage. Our claims are clear. Every day, additional heirs are writing our office, First National Bank building, Birmingham, and joining the battle and we expect to win.

"We want every rightful heir to share in the inheritance, but we can act only for those who authorize us to do so."

There are several people in Chilton county who believe they are the heirs to a part of this immense estate in New York City, and among these are Mr. George Edwards of near Clanton, who has in his possession papers dating back before the death of Thomas Edwards, showing close relationship to the said Thomas Edwards. He also has a book something like one hundred years old with Thomas Edwards' own signature signed in it.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their help during the sickness and death of our dear mother. Words can never express to you our appreciation for your help, and sweet words of sympathy. Such kindness goes so far in helping to lighten the sorrow of giving mother up. We feel that not one thing was left undone by you, to ease the pain of mother's suffering. May each and every one of you be shown such kindness in your hour of sorrow, as you showed us, is the prayer of her children.—Abbie Foshee, Billie Foshee, Walter Foshee, George Foshee, Dock Foshee, Mrs. Sallie Littlejohn.

BOX SUPPER AT MT. PISGAH

There will be a box supper at Mt. Pisgah school house on Nov. 1, 7:30 p.m., for benefit of school. Everybody invited.

FRIENDSHIP CHURCH

Rev. W. W. Robinson preached at Friendship at both the morning and evening services last Sunday. On Sunday morning the pastor spoke on the subject of discipline in the church, and the way he handled the subject was very complete and directly to the point. Rev. Robinson talked for about an hour and a quarter, and every minute was well used. The question of discipline in our churches today is sadly neglected, and it is done at a great expense to the welfare of the cause of Christ. In a great many instances where a church takes in thirty or forty new members, it would be much better off if it would expel forty or fifty. Our churches are becoming entirgely too contaminated with worldiness, and they tolerate entirely too much nonscriptural acts of their members. A church is better off with a dozen genuine Christians in it than it would be with fifty Christians and a hundred people who do not know and do not care anything about God.

The singing society met Sunday afternoon and had two hours of fine singing. The prominent singers present who directed the song service were: Prof. W. M. Devaughn, Prof. O. L. Devaughn, Prof. Beaird, T. G. Wyatt and Amie Boswell. Prof. W. M. Devaughn had some 1925 Showalter books with him, and they were used mostly in the singing.

After preaching Sunday night, the church was called into conference, and one member was excluded from the church roll. The church had some other cases against some members pending, but it was decided that no action be taken against them until next regular preaching day, when these cases will be taken up and disposed of. A movement was instituted to clean out Friendship church, and all the leaders present pledged themselves to stand by the pastor in this work. If this church cannot be run right and according to the teachings of the Bible, it will not be run at all. One brother said that he favored cleaning up the church if every member had to be expelled, which idea was sanctioned by the other members present.

A great service was held both morning and evening, and everyone present seemed to be pleased with the course the church had adopted.

Give her a chance she can't lay half an egg

Can a hen lay half an egg? Of course, not! Yet some folks still believe that hens will produce eggs profitably on Scratch feed alone. That's wrong! For Scratch feed produces twice as many egg yolks as egg whites. What then do they need? A balanced ration. These TWO feeds.

JAZZ SCRATCH FEED

makes the egg yolks

Jazz Scratch feed serves a triple need. It fills their "crop" and sustains them through the long Winter night. It keeps them in healthy, vigorous condition. And supplies the materials from which the egg yolks are made. But—get this. Along with the Scratch grains should be fed

JAZZ LAYING MASH

makes the egg whites

This appetizing dry mash has in it just the nutrients the hen needs to make the egg whites—and to turn out eggs during the Winter months in profitable quantities.

Jazz Laying Mash is the surest "egg getter" you can buy. Rich in amino acids and vitamines. Rich in those wonderful animal proteins—dried buttermilk and clean wholesome meat scrap. Get BOTH feeds now. And you'll get MORE eggs this Winter.

Get both feeds and get more eggs

Farrior - Spigener Wedding Pretty Event.

A pretty marriage was that of Miss Warrene Spigener and Mr. W. L. Farrior of Birmingham, which was solemnized Thursday evening at 4:00 o'clock at the First Baptist church of Clanton by Dr. Wilkeron, assisted by Dr. S. J. Ezell. The church was decorated in yellow chrysanthemums with palms and ferns, which were banked on the altar, where pale yellow tapers burned in candelabra. Before the ceremony a program of music was rendered by Mrs. Will Longshore, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Pitts, Mr. Saxon and Miss Madelyn Orr. The ushers and groomsmen were: Mr. C. Fenn Jones, Mr. Frank Thomas, an uncle of the bride, Mr. Bill Orr and Mr. Frank Mullins. The two bridemaids were: Miss Willodean Reynolds and Miss Ida Bell Lull, who were robed in burnt orange and crepe dresses with brown and gold lace hats.

Miss Marzelle Mullins, maid of honor, wore a beautiful dress of henna canton crepe and a picture hat of brown and gold. The matron of honor, Mrs. J. T. Darden, sister of the bridegroom, wore a burnt orange crepe dress with hat to match. All the attendants carried arm clusters of golden chrysanthemums tied with yellow tulle. The bride was preceded by two dainty little flower girls, Peggy Page and Iva Temmerman. The ring bearer, Mister Callen Alred, carried the ring in a huge chrysanthemum.

The bride entered with her father, Mr. W. D. Spigener, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Harvey King. Miss Spigener wore a going-away costume, which was a handsome fur-trimmed suit of brown material and blending tones and hat to match. Her bouquet was bride roses showered with valley lilies.

The bride is the accomplished and well known daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Spigener of Clanton. Mr. Farrior, the groom, is a prominent business man of Birmingham. They left on the southbound train for New Orleans and other southern points on a bridal tour. Mr. and Mrs. Farrior will be at home after the fifth of November, Highlands View Apartments, Birmingham, Ala.

Taylor-Kemp Wedding.

On last Wedesday, at the home of Mrs. Wayne Atkinson in East Lake, who is a cousin of the bride, Mr. Parker A. Taylor of Roanoke and Miss Agnes Kemp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kemp of Clanton, were happily married. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will make Roanoke their home.

Miss Ida Belle Lull of Wetumpka, who is now teaching in Birmingham, was one of the attendants in the Farrior-Spigener wedding last Thursday.

By all means cast your vote for whom you wish, but vote honestly and intelligently, is our slogan. — Civic Club.

Mrs. Joe Switzer, after an extended visit to Mrs. J. Q. Wade, left for her home in Augusta, Kansas last Wednesday. Mrs. Switzer is a sister to Col. F. B. Collier, who now resides in California, and who is well known here, he having lived in our town for bout five years.

Miss Sarah Mullins, who is in school a Montevallo, spent the week end with friends and relatives in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Levie of Sylacauga spent last Thursday in Clanton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Upchurch and Miss Della Latham motored to Anniston Sunday to see Jim Wade and Sam Upchurch, who are attending the military school there.

Mr. Frank Thomas of Talladega pent a couple of days in our town last week.

Mrs. Mae Gilbert and children of Atlanta, Ga., spent some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Curlee, in Clanton recently.

Mrs. Ezell, Mrs. Hayes and several others with the Young Women's Auxiliary went to Marbury Tuesday to attend the annual meeting of the Y. W. A. Societies.

Whether the vote is a right or a privilege, the citizen who has it ought to regard its use as a duty and a sacred one.—Civic Club.

Mr. Jasper Calloway and children visited friends in Talladega the latter part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Borland and children spent last Sunday with relatives and friends in Clanton.

Mrs. Upchurch, Mrs. Bama Cox, Mrs. W. I. Mullins, Mrs. Hester and quite a few other Baptist ladies attended the annual meet of the Y. W. A. at Marbury Tuesday.

In the presidential election of 1920 only 40 per cent of the voters went to the polls. In Alabama less than 30 per cent voted.—Civic Club.

Miss Bessie Thomas, an aunt of the recent bride, was in our town last Thursday.

GET OUT THE VOTE

These days of the sere, the melancholy falling leaf, herald the coming of the elections, and reopen an old debate: Is the vote a right or a privilege. By supposition, ours is a government of, for and by the people. If in its operation the actual government runs counter to the theory, one of the reasons may be found in the failure of a large number of citizens to vote honestly and intelligently.—Civic Club.

OAK HILL

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon with a good attendance. The society was called to order at 2 o'clock by the president, E. L. Glasscock, who sung the opening song, followed by prayer by W. C. Martin, after which the following directed from two to four songs each: Akins Collins, L.R. Cobb, E. H. Foshee and E. L. Glasscock, with E. H. Foshee and E. L. Glasscock directing the second time. Those who performed at the organ were Misses Esther Atkinson, Genie Collins, Flossie Cobb and Mrs. E. C. Cox. The singing was fine and enjoyed by all present. This was evident by the good order and attention given throughout the two hours of continuous singing. Almost everyone took part in the singing and seemed to enjoy it very much.

This was the first singing we have had since the second Sunday in June for we have been visiting and singing with other communities on our regular singing days since that time. Prof. Showalter would have been with us had he not heard the call to go and join the great choir above which he has sung, written and talked so much about during his earthly career. Prof. Devaughn and Prof. Weldon promised to be with us, but for some cause they failed to show up. Prof. A. H. Glasscock, who was attending the conference in Tarrant City as a lay delegate from this charge, was missed very much, both in Sunday School and in singing, but he is back on the job again.

Our new pastor, Rev. F. M. Weston, will be here to fill his first appointment Sunday morning, November 2, at 11 o'clock. Everyone who can is invited to come out and hear him. We invite all who can to come out and take part in the Sunday School and prayer meeting on Wednesday nights.

"Leaning on the Everlasting Arms" was used as the closing song Sunday afternoon in memory of Prof. Showalter, and prayer was offered by Calvin Wallace. Then the society adjourned to meet with Rehoboth class down near Lawley instead of Thorsby. We invite all who can to go, for we expect a good time and to hear some good singing. So go with us; it will do you good.

CARD OF THANKS

DR. S. J. EZELL SPEAKS AT TRAINING SCHOOL

Last Sunday evening at the Chilton County Training School (colored) the auditorium was filled to capacity. Many of the white citizens in and around Clanton were present. The occasion was the address by Dr. Ezell, pastor of the First Baptist Church (white) Clanton, and an educational rally. The choral club of the school rendered excellent music, directed by Celestine Kennedy, the music teacher. The principal made a few brief remarks on the purpose of the occasion. Then Mr. Atkinson, the Attendance Officer, presented to the audience the speaker of the hour, Dr. Ezell. The subject "Education a Factor in Progress," was very ably discussed. After the address was made, the Training School Quartet sang, "My Lord's Going to Move this Wicked Race." Dr. Ezell has the many thanks of the school for his wonderful address, which was inspiring to everyone present. Amount raised in the rally to date was eighty dollers.

BOX SUPPER AT MAPLESVILLE

There will be a box supper and cake contest at the Maplesville high school building Saturday night, Nov. 1st, for the benefit of the school. Everybody come.

The editor of The Union-Banner and Mr. K. M. Vinson had the pleasure of attending the political speaking at Union Grove last Thursday night. A good crowd of the citizens of that thriving community was present to hear Mr. Middleton speak in the interest of the Republican party. Mr. Middleton made a fine talk which everyone enjoyed. Mr. J. M. Smith also made a good talk.

Fourteen million Americans who have money in the savings banks are fourteen million who will not vote the bolshevik ticket.

Thirty-seven college professors have joined in a manifesto telling the Nation that the election of Davis and Bryan is the surest way of getting the United States into the League of Nations. Stuck under the fifth rib by his friends.

Our radical friends tell us that business knows no politics. But a prominent writer for a commercial page tells us that "at present a large volume of business in the aggregate is waiting on the election results. A good many orders have been placed contingent on the election of Coolidge." That means that business men know that prosperity goes with Republican policies.

One Democrat has figured out that we have had prosperity just as much of the time under Democratic Administrations as under Republican. But he neglected to remark that the only prosperity we had under the Wilson Administration was that due to the war, and we diden't have any at all under the Cleveland Administration. Surely the Democrats do not count on a war to save them every time they get into power.

At the end of any sort of contest, whether it be in sports, in business or in politics, one of the chief sources of satisfaction is the knowledge that the participant has conducted his part in it honestly and in accordance with the highest standard of ethics. Now, therefore, whether the Republicans win or lose, they will have the satisfaction of knowing that from start to finish they have conducted their part of the political contest honestly, frankly, courageously. They have appealed to no local or racial or religious prejudice. They have discussed issues, not personalities. The manager of the Republican campaign, Mr. William M. Butler, has earned the gratitude of the Republicans of the country and the respect of members of all parties.

AND HOW MUCH FROM RADICAL ORGANIZATIONS.

While raising the cry of "slush funds" against the Republican management, the Third Party leaders have been diligently scouring the country in search of financial aid. Chairman Butler of the Republican Committee is in posession of proof that the quota of La Follette money to be raised in Wisconsin was put at $500,000, apportioned among the Congressional district. That amount is much larger, proportionately, than the sum sought by the Republicans in Pennsylvania, about which Senator La Follette has seen fit to make such a commotion. No criticism attaches to the Third Party managers for legitimate efforts to raise campaign funds, provided they are subsequently used for proper purposes, but why should they complain if their opponents do likewise The truth is that the closing days of every campaign see the loser making slush fund charges against the winner. It is done purely for political effect, the organization making the charges well knowing that any evidence it may have of bribery or corruption can be placed before the courts and the guilty parties adequately punished.

THE GREATEST TRIBUTE YET PAID THEM

Press Clippings

Clarksburg, W. Va., Telegram.—The American share of the loan to Germany under the Dawes plan was oversubscribed a few minutes after the books were opened. And yet we hear some soured Democrats saying from the stump that the United States does nothing to help Europe.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.—Possibly some good from the Republican standpoint may come out of the La Follette clamor about "slush funds". It made an occasion for Chairman Butler to point out just how poorly financed the Republicans are this year.

Minneapolis Tribune. — Bryan would not win in the Senate without La Follette's aid, and that aid would not be given unconditionally. The only safe time to place the trust in Coolidge and have it count as paced is on election day.

Atlanta Constitution (Dem.)—There is no feature of the platform upon which Senator La Follette is running for President, as an independent, more dangerodsly radical than that seeking to undermine the paramountcy of the Supreme Court.

Boston Transcript — Governor Bryan, it is said, is not making speeches because the Democratic National Committee will not furnish a special train. Who will say that the Democratic National Committee is lacking in strategy?

Judge.—The people of this country like to laugh at New England, but a large part of them derive from it and in their hearts they love it. The thought of Coolidge to them suggests Old Home Week.

Los Angeles Times.—"There's billions in it" might be said of the La Follette scheme for government ownership of almost everything. Undoubtedly; but would the taxpayers stand the strain?

Clarksburg, W. Va., Telegram.—It is worth while being an American, observes an exchange. And, say, if you do not believe that, just get in touch with some citizen who has taken a trip abroad.

Fort Wayne Sentinel.—Advocates of the Democratic low tariff policy always manage to omit from their speeches the information that a low tariff makes low wages and unemployment.

Philadelphia North American.—La Follette asserts the party that has Calvin Coolidge has a huge campaign fund. He probably refers to the fact that silence is golden.

Boston Transcript.—The Presidency is sometimes called the most powerful office on earth, and its incumbent is making it about the most dignified.

Philadelphia North American.—Since the rapid rise in grain prices La Follette's addresses haven't leaned so heavily back to the farm.

Fort Wayne Sentinel.—A protective tariff has never closed a factory, lost a man a job nor put a mortgage on a farm.

Trenton (Mo.) Republican.—The Kansas Farm Bureau says: "Don't vote for a mudslinger."

YOU SHOULD VOTE FOR AMENDMENT NO. 2

Generally speaking, voters do not pay a great deal of attention to constitutional amendments. But we wish to call the attention of the voters of Chilton County especially to Amendment No. 2, on which we are to vote next Tuesday. This amendment deals with tthe drainage question of Alabama. This amendment, as most of the rest to be voted on this time, does not affect but a few people. The drainage law will affect only those who wish to take advantage of this provision.

As you no doubt know, Clanton has been working for a drainage movement for several years. This work would have been undertaken had the State law been clear on the matter, and the purpose of Amendment No. 2 is to clear up the question of drainage. Everyone should vote for this Amendment next Tuesday. It will not affect you unless you are interested in a drainage project, and the passage of the amendment will greately help those who are interested.

There are approximately 2,000,000 acres of land in Alabama to be benefitted by drainage. Much of the creek bottom land areas are now a menace to health and their overflow is a menace to public roads. If these lands are cultivated at all they produce a normal crop only about once in five or six years. If well drained and the cost distributed over a period of twenty years at a rate of interest not to exceed 6 percent, the increased production of these fertile acres per annum has been found by records furnished by the government to exceed the cost per annum many fold.

THE GREAT CONSPIRACY

"It is a great pity," complains Mr. McAdoo, "that the Progressives, led by La Follette and Wheeler, and the Democrats, led by Davis and Bryan, can not present a united front against the common enemy." What sort of a front does McAdoo call that which is being presented? Both Davis and La Follette are working with but a single object in view, namely, to prevent President Coolidge from getting a majority of the electoral vote, thereby throwing the election into Congress where they can fight it out between themselves. It's true that Davis is conducting his campaign and La-Follette is running his, but it is quite apparent that they have a tacit understanding. Davis is making no real effort to win electors from La Follette, neither is the Senator waging a determined fight against Davis. The two candidates are concentrating their energies on those states which appear to favor Mr. Coolidge.

DUDLEY, THE DUD

Dudley Field Malone, Collector of the Port of New York under President Wilson, and Louis F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor under Mr. Wilson, are actively campaigning in the interest of the La Follette candidacy. Doubtless numerous other attaches of former Democratic regime are now following in the La Follette column. They were radical then and are radical now. The fact that they are now working for La Follette shows how slight is the demarkation between Democracy and Third Partyism. Mr. McAdoo's firmest political friends are the leaders of the railroad brotherhoods, who are also among the chief supporters of La Follette. The record bears a significant lesson to every conservative.

IN REAL LIFE

In the dime novels and on the stage the poor inventor and the starving industrialist fall prey to the wealthy capitalist. But that is not usually the case in actual life. Two instances in the life of Andrew W. Mellon illustrate the falseness of the picture presented by the sensational novel and play. Mellon is the chief factor in the aluminum industry. Charles Hall, as a young experimentor in chemistry just after graduating from college, discovered the methods of economical manufacture of aluminum, enlisted the cooperation of the Mellons and was a large owner in the aluminum producing concern when he died. He acquired and expended in philanthropy a large fortune made out of aluminum and at his death left his fortune to educational enterprises. Another instance is related of the Mellon methods. A rival in manufacture of structural steel was about to go bankrupt and men familiar with the industry prophesied that a Mellon company would absort the plant at auction-sale prices. Instead, a Mellon bank offered increased loans that carried the rival over the crisis and saved it from ruin.

ASK SAM—HE KNOWS

After the people of Massachusetts had elected him governor and the people of the United States had elected him Vice Preident, largely on his sturdy character disclosed in his handling of the Boston police strike, the Democrtic National Committee discovers that Mr. Coolidge had nothing to do with settling that affair. If any testimony additional to that of Massachusetts voters were needed, we have it in telegrams to Governor Coolidge from Mr. Gompers and President Wilson, the one condeming him and the other congratulating him for his settlement of the strike.

Chairman Shaver of the Democratic Committee is hard put for something to do when he tries to manufacture campaign material out of such an issue.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER

Our Democratic friends told us that enactment of the Republican tariff law would destroy our foreign trade —particularly that it would destroy our export trade. They argued that unless we leave the tariff bars down and let in imports, we can not hope to keep up our exports. Well, let us see about that.

For the nine months ending September 30, 1924, we imported only $2,667,000,000 worth of goods as compared with $2,904,000,000 for the same period in the previous year. In the same period in 1924 we exported goods to the value of $3,124,000,000 as compared with $2,904,000,000 for the same period in the previous year. That is to say, we cut our imports to the extent of $184,000,000, or a total change of $420,000,000 in our favor. Now what do our Democratic friends have to say of foreign trade?

The Road To Better Health

SODIUM BICARBONATE AND DIAGNOSIS

BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

Several months ago one of the most widely circulated magazines contained an article in which a popular author told how much he enjoyed life at his particular age. Among other things, he said that he could enjoy eating. This is as it should be, and is probably not unusual. But he also said that he could overcome any distress suffered as the result of a good dinner by sending a dose of bicarbonate of soda down after the dinner. It was but a few weeks later that the newspapers contained an item stating that this author had undergone an operation for a very severe attack of appendicitis!

He had apparently been troubled with occasional sensations and discomfort in the abdomen, and had been in the habit of relieving that discomfort by means of bicarbonate of soda. We are very glad that he recovered, as he has afforded us much pleasure and entertainment, and hope that he will forgive this use of his misfortune for our present purpose.

Reasons Some Use It

There are many people who are in the habit of obtaining relief from pain or discomfort in the region of the stomach by the use of the aforementioned chemical. Some take it for gas on the stomach. Some take it for a burning sensation. Others take it because they feel nauseated or experience some other disagreeable sensation. Sometimes it gives more or less temporary relief, so when the discomfort or pain in the stomach is felt again the dose is repeated. Obtaining relief in this way may go on for considerable time.

Any uncomfortable sensation occurring in the region of the abdomen may or may not be due to serious trouble. The habits of living, particularly in regard to diet, may be at fault. Perhaps, the sufferer eats too much or eats too fast. Perhaps, he is not getting enough exercise. Correction of such faulty habits of living may cause the disappearance of the troublesome symptoms.

But—any persistent trouble in this region deserves a careful search for its cause. This should be particularly true if the distress is severe and persistent enough to cause the sufferer to resort to taking soda (or other medicine) for its relief.

The victim of any severe acute disturbance in the abdomen will usually seek the services of a physician. The victim of some less acute condition is too often inclined to put off seeking an accurate diagnosis until serious trouble has had a chance to develop.

Physicians Suspicious

The modern physician is usually suspicious of the patient who tells him that he has been in the habit of relieving his digestive disturbances by taking soda, and that these digestive disturbances are frequently repeated. The reason is that a certain number of such people are suffering from conditions that require careful attention.

Among some of the conditions commonly encountered are ulcers of the stomach and intestine, disease of the gall bladder, and appendicitis. There are a number of other disturbances of the digestive organs that may lead the sufferer to resort to the use of bicarbonate of soda for relief. These may or may not be serious. This can be determined only after an accurate diagnosis has been made.

It is not to be understood that bicarbonate of soda never has a use as a remedy. By many physicians it is considered to be very valuable in its proper place in the practice of medicine. Nor is it to be understood that no harm may result from taking this chemical aside from evading a diagnosis.

We know that its persistent use may upset the chemistry of digestion and start a whole chain of functional disorders. But the point that I desire to make is—that one may be wasting valuable time and heading for trouble when he is taking soda instead of trying to find out the cause of his trouble and have effective treatment instituted for its relief.

While bicarbonate of soda may relieve, at least temporarily, some of the troublesome sensations felt in the region of the stomach, the chances are that it will be entirely ineffective in relieving the underlying cause of those disagreeable sensations. It should never be a substitute for an exact diagnosis.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

W. L. S. writes: "What can be done to get rid of dandruff? I have quite a lot of it and believe that it is beginning to cause my hair to fall out."

Ans.—Dandruff is often a very stubborn condition to treat successfully. Shampoo once or twice a week with warm water and tincture of green soap. If the hair and scalp are too dry after shampooing, use a little clean grease on the scalp. Massage the scalp with the finger tips once a day. Do not wear a hat any more than is necessary, and avoid the use of tight and heavy hats.

The night before you shampoo, rub into the scalp the following ointment:

Salicylic acid, 10 grains,
Precipitated sulphur, 1 dram,
Petroleum, enough to make 1 ounce.

Even after the scalp is apparently clean, it is a good idea to give it an occasional treatment to avoid a recurrence.

Incubation Period of Whooping Cough

Mrs. G. W. H. asks: "How long after exposure does it take for a case of whooping cough to develop?"

Ans.—The cough will start in from seven to ten days after exposure and infection. It will probably be another week or ten days before the cough becomes convulsive and the characteristic whoop develops.

ISABELLA COMMUNITY FAIR

The Isabella Community farmers gave one of the most interesting programs at their Community Fair Friday, October 24th, that has ever been held in the county. The Fair was given under the auspices of the Vocational Agricultural Department of the Isabella Agricultural Junior High School.

These farmers were thoroughly up on their job for when one entered the Agricultural building and saw all those exhibits it was amazing for no one ever thought there could be that many good exhibits gotten together in the entire county of Chilton, but yet every exhibit, including cotton, corn, sugar cane, sorghum cane, potatoes, both Irish and sweet, soy beans, cowpeas, velvet beans, cornfield beans, watermelons, pumpkins, in fact all crops that one could think of nearly was there on exhibit and too, there was the ladies department with many kinds of fancy work and canned goods, and all of these were the products of the Isabella community.

One room of the Agricultural building was reserved for the farmers of the community for their farm produce while their wives were using the walls for fancy work and several tables were filled with jellies and canned fruits. The shop room was filled with fine chickens which the boys had raised in their poultry projects. In the main class room the boys had their cotton, corn, cane, and potatoes that was produced in their projects under the supervision of Dr. Caldwell. These boys were very enthusiastic and in many instances their exhibits were better than the older farmers.

The day was filled with something interesting besides the exhibits of the community. The program was opened in the morning by Mr. Howard L. Foshee, county superintendent of education, who presided over the morning exercises. Dr. Caldwell gave a brief statement of the purpose of the day's program. Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of the First Baptist church of Clanton, made a very interesting talk. Mr. J. S. Lambert of the State department of education also made a good talk. After these two talks came the barbecued dinner and such a dinner as was served—barbecued meats, cakes, pies, hot coffee and cold drinks. Then the judging began which was done by Mr. Stivers and Mr. Lambert.

The afternoon program was opened by a talk by Mr. J. L. Johnson of Clanton, who presided over the afternoon exercises, followed by Mr. E. D. Stivers, assistant State supervisor of agriculture, who made a very interesting talk. After this a sale of a pen of Duroc Jersey pigs was made, the prizes were read out and awarded and supper served.

The evening exercises were presided over by Mr. E. H. Reed, principal of the school, and Rev. J. W. Mitchell made an instructive talk to the people.

Dr. H. W. Caldwell deserves much credit for the program that day while the Isabella assistant teachers deserve credit for their co-operation in helping put over the day's program.

Many other communities of this county should follow the lead of the Isabella community and devote one day each fall to a community meeting and fair, as no better means can be had for stimulating community pride and co-operation. Such a day also is beneficial in helping to bring the parents in closer touch with the school.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the good people for their kindness in giving me such a nice bed, and I cannot thank Uncle Tom Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Poole enough for getting out and getting those good people to help them to fix me a good bed. I do hope God will bless each and every one for what they did for me. I wish them all good luck, and also the good old Union-Banner.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. ELIZA FOSHEE

On the night of October 16th, the solemn death reaper entered the home of Mrs. J. B. Littlejohn and climed our precious mother and grandmother, Mrs. Eliza Foshee, aged 77. She leaves five sons and one daughter to realize the loss of a devoted Christian mother.

For five weeks grandmother almost faced death, but all during her illness she seemed only to think in terms of faith and hope in a new life. She thought not of death as a horror, but seemed to realize that death could only claim her life and leave her soul and golden deeds to God to own and to crown. Through her loyal and devoted life to God she won the complete confidence of her children, grandchildren and a host of friends. Her life was a beautiful one to me and the more I think of it the stronger I believe in these lines:

"All who completely trust in Him,
In life's race will surely win."

We wish to thank the people for the beautiful floral offerings and kind sympathy shown during her illness and death. All the neighbors and friends were certainly faithful in doing everything they could to help in some way. Aunt Lucy Dunlap was just as loyal all during her illness as if it had been her own mother.

The remains were buried at Liberty Hill, Rev. J. D. Hughes conducting the funeral, assisted by Rev. A. L. Foshee. Mr. Mell Martin was in charge of the body.

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low;
Thou no more will join our number,
Thou no more our song will know.

Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled;
And in Heaven with joy to greet thee,
Where no farewell tears are shed.

Her granddaughter,
ERAZELLE FOSHEE.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

An item unintentionally omitted in last week's issue of the Union-Banner, was the death and funeral of Mrs. Lutricia Ward, aged 84, who lived near Pleasant Grove Church, Funeral services being held at the church Thursday, Oct. 16th, Rev. Lawrence of Marbury officiating. Mrs. Ward leaves three children, Mrs. W. E. Thomas of Sylacauga, Mr. J. M. Ward of Pleasant Grove, with whom she lived, and Mr. D. L. Ward of Thorsby.

Mr. Robert Johnson, Dead.

On Tuesday morning, Oct. 21st, Mr. Robert Johnson, a prominent citizen of Thorsby, with suitcase in hand, walked from his home to Thorsby depot. Neighbors who saw him thought he was going somewhere for a visit; In reality he was on his way to Selma with the intention of having an X-ray examination, and an operation if necessary. He refused to have anybody accompany him, saying it was not necessary. At Calera he was suddenly taken with a bad turn and completed his journey on a stretcher. After examination at a Selma infirmary, it was decided to operate for appendicitis, which had reached an advanced stage. He seemed to rally from the operation and was reported to be improving until Friday, when a message was received calling for Mrs. Johnson to come at once. Mr. A. E. Reagan and wife and Mrs. Chas. S. Howard accompanied her in Mr. Reagan's car. They arrived in Selma at 11 a.m., finding Mr. Johnson still conscious but very low. During the brief conversation they were able to have, and feeling that the end was near, Mr. Johnon faced the inevitable without fear and expressed himself as ready to go if it was God's will.

He passed away at 3:30 P. M. Friday, Oct. 24th, aged 68 years, 6 months and 10 days. Telegrams were immediately sent to his children in Nebraska. Knowing that days would elapse before any of them could reach Thorsby, Mrs. Johnson ordered the body embalmed and sent to Thorsby where is was received by Mell Martin and carried to the Johnson home Sunday night.

The ministers of Thorsby whom the family knew were temporarily absent attending a State Conference in Southeast Alabama, at a church so inaccesible they could not possibly be reached in time to return to officiate at the funeral which had been set for Monday afternoon. When this was explained to Mrs. Johnson she expressed a wish that she might have Rev. James W. Davenport, who was for five years pastor of Thorsby Congregational Church, now stationed at Robbins, Tenn. A few minutes conversation with Mr. Davenport by long distance telephone secured his promise to come. He arrived Monday morning, accompanied by two of Mr. Johnson's sons from Nebraska. A daughter, after much delay enroute, arrived on the evening train.

The funeral was held in the Congregational church at 2 P. M., Monday, Rev. Davenport officiating, who preached from the text, "Weep Not For Me." Six girls with Miss Parker at the organ, sang several selections, and Mr. Norton sang as a solo, "The Shining Shore."

The church was well filled and beautifully decorated and the floral offerings were numerous and very beautiful. The pall bearers were: Messrs. J. L. Foss, Martin Peterson, M. L. Dyrhovd, Carl C. Peterson, Chas. A. Peterson and J. P. Sorensen. At the grave in Thorsby cemetery the usual ceremonies were observed, and the hymn, "Abide With Me," was sung.

Knowing that the daughter was on the way, it was decided to postpone interment until after her arrival, the casket was carefully covered and left under guard until the daughter arrived and had an opportunity to see her father in the casket, after which interment was completed.

Mr. Johnson was a lifelong member of the Danish Lutheran Church. He was a quiet, friendly man, a good father and husband. He leaves besides his widow, two sons and two daughters, Albert E., Martin M., Martha E., and Esther G., all married and living in Nebraska. Mr. Johnson was for years a successful farmer in Nebraska, before coming to Thorsby.

In its efforts, an intelligent vote may be as bad as a corrupt one.—Civic Club.

Rev. James W. Davenport made good use of his time while in Thorsby, renewing old acquaintances and making new ones. He made addresses in Thorsby Institute and the Public School and preached at the Congregational Church Tuesday evening. Between times he hustled from place to place making brief calls; everybody seemed delighted to see him. He left for home Wednesday morning.

Prof. C. M. Williams and his mother went to Goodwater Wednesday to attend the funeral of J. D. Carmichael, a brother of Mrs. M. L. Williams. Prof. Williams expects to move into town at the end of this week and will occupy the Gulledge house.

Miss Ida F. Lockwood, an ordained Congregational minister, will arrive in Thorsby this week. She will room at the home of Prof. Williams, and visit churches in various parts of the state, under assignment by Mr. N. McQuarrie, Congregational Home Missionary Superintendent for Alabama, Georgia and West Florida. Miss Lockwood will be remembered by some as a former member of Thorsby Institute faculty.

At the business meeting of The Ladies' Guild Of Thorsby, held last Thursday, the following committees were appointed for their bazaar which will be held Saturday, Dec. 13: Dinner: Mrs. E. F. Mead, Chairman, Mesdames Clyde Mead, James Bosworth, Chas. A. Peterson, J. E. Each, Lewis Howard, John Johnson, J. O. Johnson, G. F. Harper and Ed Piper; Sales Committee: Mrs. E. W. Butler, Chairman, Mesdames H. M. Gerald, Robt. Davenport, Ben Davenport, Tom Burdett, C. M. Williams; Candy Committee: Miss Agnes Leary, Chairman, Mrs. S. C. Wood, Miss Marie Flummer; Stove Dishes Committee: Mrs. Carl C. Peterson, Chairman, Mrs. O. L. Jackson and Mrs. R. A. Turner; Decorating Committee: Mrs. Chas. E. Lucas, Chairman, Mrs. T. W. Robinson, Mrs. R. Johnson; Advertising and Posters: Mrs. S. E. Norton.

Mr. J. D. Cleckler and Mr. Carl C. Peterson are each building a new house.

Considerable excitement occurred last Sunday near the Congregational church, where Mr. R.L. Primm had hitched his mule while attending services. The animal was frightened in some way and in jumping about, broke a shaft on the wagon, a sharp end penetrating the side of the mule, which lost a lot of blood before the blood could be stopped. We are pleased to report the mule is now at home and doing well.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins, Principal of Thorsby Institute, has been in the Southern part of the state attending the State Conference of the Congregational Churches.

Mr. Butler and Mrs. Gerald have been missed around the Institute as they have been attending the same meeting.

Rev. James Davenport of Robbins, Tenn., formerly pastor of the Congregational Church, was in Thorsby, and Tuesday morning conducted the chapel exercises at the Institute.

The students and faculty, who knew him, were delighted to have him with them and he made many new friends.

Students have been heard to say, "I will never forget the helpful things he said to us."

Oct. 31, The Helen Keller Literary Society will meet at 3:15 and conduct the following program:

Song, "America," by all; Business; Devotional, Mr. Tisall. The program for this afternoon will be rendered by six members, three of which will represent the three men who are running for president, and the other three will represent the three parties for which they stand: Mr. Davis, Lorena Prim; Democrats, Gordon Sorrell; Mr. Coolidge, Ruth Turner; Republican party, Hosie Wood La Follette, Clyde McKee; Third party, Payne Bryan; Song, "Alma Mater."

CEDAR GROVE

The singing society met at this place Sunday afternoon. October 26, with a small crowd. The singing was good.

Directors for the afternoon were: Prof. J.W. Lowery, Leonard Culp and Miss Claudie Smith. A laides Quartett was sung by Misses Zemma Collins, Claudie Smith, Claudie and Onzell Eiland. A male Qaurtett by D. W. Ward, Alphus Littlejohn, J. W. Lowery and Leonard Culp. Also a song was sung by D. W. Ward, Alphus Littlejohn, Leonard Culp, J. W. Lowery, Myrtle Littlejohn and Claudie Smith. A duet by Claudie and Onzell Eiland; Organist Bonnie Littlejohn.

We were glad to have the visitors with us. We invite you to come any time we meet which will be the second and fourth Sunday afternoon in each month.

The members of this church are requested to meet at this place next Sunday November, 2nd at 10:30 for the purpose of voting for a pastor for the next year.

Sincerely,
BONNIE LITTLETON.

If the millions who call themselves Amerifan citizens do not trouble to go to the polls on election day, or to inform themselves upon the questions at issue and the merits of the candidates, the government under which they live cannot long be maintained in its integrity. VOTE! VOTE! VOTE!—Civic Club.

TO THE VOTERS OF CHILTON:

On account of me being employed at the court house it has been impossible for me to see you at your homes, and I take this means of reassuring you of my appreciation of your vote and support in the primary. I wish to assure you again that if you see fit to support me in the general election, and if I am elected, I shall make it a pleasure and opportunity to serve you in a way that will be pleasing and satisfactory to the extent of my ability.

Those who voted for my opponents, I want you to feel that I have nothing but the very kindest feeling toward you, because I agree with you that my opponents were worthy and deserving of the votes they got. Now that the general election is near, I ask you all to consider my case at the polls on next Tuesday, and accept my thanks should you feel disposed to vote for me.

Yours to serve,
GENIE COLLINS.

MR. THOMPSON URGES REPUBLICANS TO VOTE

To the Voters of Chilton County:

I think I have never known a time when it was more necessary for our party to get together than on November 4th. Prosperity hangs in the balance, and it is in our power to say whether we have prosperity in our homes or have panics.

We have a splendid county ticket, and it would be a reflection on our party not to roll up a big vote on November 4th. I have heard something said that indicated that becouse one of our candidates was a lady that some would not stand pat. My dear friends, stop and think, where is the justice in such an opinion. They are just as truly citizens as any man and certainly are just as deserving. I do not believe that anyone is going to fail to stand pat, but will rally to the cause on election day and give Miss Genie Collins, our only lady candidate, a vote that will make her proud of us in our county, and put to rest that idea that women should not have an equal chance with a man in politics.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

ELECTION NOTICE

The State of Alabama,
Chilton County.

I, T. J. Littlejohn, Sheriff of Chilton County, Alabama, in conformity with Section 357, page 329, of the Political Code of Alabama, (1907), hereby give notice that a General Election of the qualified voters of Chilton County, Alabama, will be held in the several election precincts of said county on Tuesday, the 4th day of November, 1924, for the election of:—

Twelve Electors for President and Vice-President of the United States; one United States Senator from Alabama, two Associate Justices of the Supreme Court of Alabama, one Associate Judge Court of Appeals of Alabama; State Commissioner of Game and Fisheries of Alabama; President Alabama Public Service Commission; Representative in Congress from the Fourth Congressional District of Alabama; County Treasurer of Chilton County, Alabama; Commissioner from the Third District of Chilton County, Alabama; Commissioner from the Fourth District of Chilton County, Alabama; two members of the County Board of Education of Chilton County, Alabama; two Justices of the Peace for each precinct in Chilton County, Alabama; one Constable for each precinct in Chilton County, Alabama;

Also whether the following amendments to the Constitution of Alabama shall be adopted, viz:

Proposed Amndment No. 1.

Shall the following proposed amendment, Section 194 1-2 of the Constitution of Alabama, be adopted?

"No person who honorably served in the military or naval service of the United States, between January 1st, 1917 and November 11, 1918, shall be required to pay the poll tax mentioned in the Constitution of Alabama; such persons shall be exempt from the payment of all poll taxes which have accrued or may hereafter accrue. This section shall be self-executing and retroactive. The Judges of Probate shall issue certificates of exemption from the payment of such poll taxes to the persons entitled thereto under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Governor."

Proposed Amendment No. 2.

Shall the following be adopted as Article XXI of the Constitution of Alabama?

Section 1. "The Legislature may form of provide for the formation of districts for establishing and maintaining a drainage system; for the building and maintaining of public roads, and for building and maintaining a seawall or other protection against waves, storm or flood therein; and provide for the assessment of the whole or part of the cost of such improvements against the land in such districts to the extent of the increased value of such land by reason of the special benefits derived from such improvements, and may provide for the issuance of bonds by such district with or without any election. Provided the provisions as to road and seawall shall apply only to Mobile and Baldwin Counties."

Proposed Amendment No. 3.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

"The County of Mobile, through its constituted governing authorities, may levy and collect for public school purposes, a rate of taxation, on the property situated therein, not exceeding the total of any one year, one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum of the value of such property as assessed as provided by the Constitution of Alabama and the statutes now or hereafter enacted pursuant to the said Constitution of Alabama, which said one-fifth (1-5) of one (1) per centum shall be in addition to taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to the authority of Section 215 of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution of Alabama of 1901, which Article XIX was added to the said Constitution by Amendment; and existing laws attempting or purporting to authorize, empower and direct the said constituted authorities of the County of Mobile to levy and assess such a special tax in addition to the taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Section 215 of the Constitution as aforesaid and taxes levied and collected under and pursuant to Article XIX of the Constitution as aforesaid are hereby validated and confirmed."

Proposed Amendment No. 4.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of Alabama?

"The municipalities of Thorsby, Piedmont, and Greenville, and Roanoke, and Greensboro and Calera, Florala and Opp, Evergreen and Fayette, and Clayton and Clio in the State of Alabama, shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of one-half of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for State taxation for the tax year ending on the thirteenth day of September next succeeding the levy; provided that for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness issued and outstanding at the time of the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, for the purpose of paying bonds or indebtedness which may be issued or incurred after the adoption of this amendment and the interest thereon, and an additional tax of one-half of one per centum may be levied and collected by said corporations; provided further that a majority of the qualified electors of any of said municipal corporations voting at an election called for that purpose may vote a special tax not to exceed one-half of one per centum in any one year for any special purpose or purposes, which tax shall be used only for the purpose or purposes for which same is levied and collected; provided, however, that the total tax to be levied by any of said municipal corporations shall not exceed one and one-half (1-2) per centum in any one year. Alabama City shall have the power and right to levy and collect a tax of three-quarters of one per centum in any one year on property situated therein, based on the valuation of such property as assessed for State taxation. Provided, further, that the adoption of this amendment shall in no wise affect, limit, modify, abridge or impair the power, or authority or right of either of said municipal corporations to levy and collect the special school taxes, now or hereafter vested in or conferred upon them, or any of them, under the Constitution or any amendment thereto; including the power of the city of Selma to levy and collect the taxes for schools and school purposes vested in and conferred upon said city of Selma by the amendment to the Constitution of Alabama adopted thereto at the general election held in November, 1916, and which was submitted under law Number 315, General Laws 1915, page 337, each election held under the provisions hereof shall be ordered, held, canvassed and may be contested in the same manner as is or may be provided by the law applicable to the municipal corporations for elections to authorize the issuance of municipal bonds. The ballots used at such election shall contain the words: "For .....excess rate of taxation for the year (or years).....;" and "Against.....excess rate of taxation for the year (or years)....." The rate of taxation proposed in excess of the rate of one (1) per centum to be shown in the blank space provided therefor and the year or years in which the proposed rate is to apply to be shown in the blank space provided therefor; and in the event different excess rates are proposed for different years the words mentioned shall be repeated as often as may be necessary to show separately the different rates proposed to be applied to the respective years.. And the voter shall record his choice, whether for or against the excess rate or rates shown by placing a cross mark before or after the words expressing his choice. Nothing herein contained shall in any wise change or affect the rights of any holder of bonds of municipal corporations heretofore issued. Elections to authorize the levy of such special tax may be held as often as ordered by the governing body of the municipality but when a proposition is submitted to the electors to levy a special tax for a specific purpose, and such proposition is defeated no second election for the same shall be held in one year thereafter."

Proposed Amendment No. 5.

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

Proposed Amendment No. 290. "Mobile County man become indebted and may issue bonds for the construction or improvement of concrete or better than concrete surfaced public roads, and concrete or better than concrete public bridges in said county, and for the construction of bridges and roadway necessary to provide a public road for vehicular travel between the highlands of Mobile and Baldwin Counties, in an amount not to exceed six ane one-half per centum of the assessed value of the property situated in Mobile County. To pay said indebtedness and the interest thereon, Mobile County may levy and collect an annual tax on said property not to exceed one-half of one per centum of said value. The indebtedness, the bonds and the tax authorized hereby shall be in addition to those authorized by the Constitution of Alabama prior to the adoption of this amendment. But no such additional indebtedness shall be created, and no such additional bonds shall be issued, and no such additional tax shall be levied, until each improvement or construction proposed to be built thereby, its approximate location, estimated cost and time of completion, and the amount of the proposed increase, shall have been determined upon and made public by the Board of Revenue and Road Commissioners of Mobile County, and the proposed increase of indebtedness or issue of bonds or tax therefor shall have been first authorized by a majority vote by ballot of the qualified voters of Mobile County voting upon such proposition."

Proposed Amendment No. 6

Shall the following be adopted as Article.....of the Constitution of Alabama?

Section 1. "The County of Walker, State of Alabama, shall have power to levy and collect a special road tax not exceeding fifty cents on each hundred dollars worth of taxable property in said county in addition to that now authorized or that may hereafter be authorized for the erection, construction or maintenance of the necessary public roads, bridges or ferries and in addition to that now authorized under Section 215 of Article XI of the Constitution, which special county tax so levied and collected shall be applied exclusively to the purpose for which the same was so levied and collected; provided, that the rate of such tax, the time it is to continue and he purpose thereof shall have first been submitted to the vote of the qualified electors of the county, and voted for by a majority of those voting at such election." Section 2. "Twenty-five per centum of all moneys derived from property lying within the municipalities and arising from the tax proposed herein shall be paid to such municipality and shall, by it, be expended for upkeep of its streets." Section 3. "The Court of County Commissioners, Boards of Revenue, or other governing body of said county may, or upon written petition of ten per centum of the qualified voters of Walker County, shall call and submit said election provided for and authorized by Section 1 hereof to the qualified electors of Walker County either at the time of the general election or at a special election called for that purpose; proivded that said election shall be called and held in accordance with the law now or that may be enacted governing county bond elections, and in conformity with the general election laws of the State."

Proposed Amendment No. 7

Shall the following be adopted as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Alabama?

"Town Creek School District No. 59, Landersville School District No. 23 and Moulton School District No. 28, in Lawrence County, Alabama, shall each have the right and power by vote of a majority of the qualified electors of such district at an election held fir that purpose to levy and collect for the purpose of acquiring, constructing or repairing of school buildings in such districts or paying for school buildings already built, a tax of not over five mills in any one year, in addition to all other taxes now authorized by law. The election in such district to determine whether or not such tax shall be levied shall be called, held and conducted as now provided by law for calling, holding and conducting of elections to determine whether or not a three-mill district school tax shall be levied and collected."

Dated at Clanton, Ala., this the 7th day of October, 1924.

How to meet the ever-increasing cost of operating our Government is a problem which confronts the American people today. Taxes "pay the piper"—from the smallest hamlet to the Nation as a whole—public expenses and salaries come from revenues derived from taxation.

When you hear a campaign orator advocating "Government Ownership" of the great transportation lines—stop and think what such a condition would bring about. Where will the Government get the million dollars a day that it is now receiving in taxes from the railroads? (Total taxes paid by railroads in United States approximates 365 million dollars a year.)

To bring the matter closer home, where will the various city, county, state, and National authorities get the Eighty Million Dollars a year that is now being paid in taxes by the railroads operating in states served by the L. & N.? (See the detailed statement in the panel on the left.)

There is but one answer — these taxes must be placed as an added burden on the farmer, the business man, the merchant, the professional man and all other American citizens.

Do you, people of the South, who are now receiving under private management unsurpassed railway service, believe that the questionable benefits of Government Ownership would justify you in assuming an additional burden of not less than $80,000,000 per year for the rest of your days?

REYNOLDS WRITES LETTER TO VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

isfaction of the patrons and the benefit of the pupils. Mr. Smith is an old school man, and has probably done more for the cause of education according to his opportunities than any man in the county. He has two or three children who are successful school teachers. For all his life he has been deeply interested in the development of our schools.

Miss Genie Collins, our nominee for county treasurer, is so well and favorably known to all the people of the county that she needs no commendation from me. Her long experience in the tax offices of the county has peculiarly qualified her to perform the duties of the county treasurer, and the uniform courtesy extended to our citizens who had business in the tax offices assures them of a continuation of courtesy and efficiency on her part, should she be elected treasurer. Aside from the personal worth of this fine young Republican woman I feel that we owe something to the womanhood of this county. We expect them to qualify as voters and to go to the polls and help elect our ticket, and now let us all show our appreciation of the Republican women of our county by electing Miss Collins treasurer by the largest majority ever given a candidate for office in this county.

Now, what about the other county ticket, and who nominated it? And who is responsibe for it? If by any adverse circumstances, this so called non-partisan ticket should be elected, to whom would it be responsible? The Union-Banner stated some weeks ago that Mr. J. L. Johnson had said that the reason the Democrats did not nominate a ticket in the primary was that a few of them in Canton could select a ticket better than the Democrats could in a primary election. We have had some experience in the past with a few here in Clanton running county affairs. Is there some peculiar condition existing in the county that J. L. Johnson can hand-pick a ticket better than all the Democrats in a primary election? What will be the policy of this non-partisan ticket? Should they be elected, will they not look to Mr. J. L. Johnson as their guiding star in public matters? It is unbelievable that the Republicans of Chilton County can be lead astray into voting a ticket which has been hand-picked by J. L. Johnson. Furthermore, I do not believe that the real Democrats of the county will repudiate their political convictions by voting for a set of men who are so devoid of political convictions as to run for office on a non-partisan ticket. For what does this secret non-partisan ticket stand? There have been no public expressions of the policy it will pursue if elected, and if they are to look to Mr. J. L. Johnson for their instructions, then God only knows what they will do. I believe that political campaigns should be fought out in the open. No candidate or ticket should keep anything secret from the public. The public has to pay the bills and they have a right to know what is going on behind the screens. The perpetuation of free government and the continuation of the liberties of the people depend on publicity in all public matters.

If our Republican ticket is elected, and it will be, there will be no guessing about what they will do. We know that road building will go right on and development along all lines will continue. Our commissioners have done the best that anyone could have done under the circumstances. They are trying to build roads all over the county, and even the remotest road in the county has been looked after as well as the roads near town. There has been no complaint or adverse criticism made against our county administration. So again, I ask, is there some secret motive in trying to defeat the Republican ticket by these mysterious non-partisan men?

Mr. Middleton and I will speak at Thorsby Monday night, November 3, at 7:00 o'clock. Let's have a great crowd, as I have some things I think the people ought to know and I trust that every beat in the county will be liberally represented.

In conclusion, let every Republican man and woman do their dead level best until the election is over. Let's see that all our people go to the polls and vote. If it rains provide some conveyance to get our women voters to the polls. We cannot stay at home and take it for granted that our ticket will be elected anyway. The tax payers of Chilton County are still paying interest on bonds because the voters of the county, many of them, stayed at home on one election day.

Sincerely,
L. H. REYNOLDS.

RAPID PROGRESS IS BEING MADE ON OUR CONCRETE ROAD

Three Carloads of Sand, Six Carloads of Slag and One and a Half Carloads of Cement are used Daily on Chilton Road.

Those who have not visited the scene of construction of the cement highway in the northern part of Chilton County and watched the progress of the work, cannot realize what an immense job it is and how fast the work is going on. We are publishing below a few clippings from the Montgomery Advertiser which will show our readers something of the magnitude of this work:

The contract for the portion of the highway let to J. R. & J. B. Miller will call for the use of 220,000 sacks of cement. This cement is purchased by the state and furnished to the contractor. The cement, sand and slag mixture which is being used on this section of the highway is known as 1-2 1-2-3. The slag comes from the Birmingham Slag Company, the sand from Montgomery and the cement from the Lehigh Cement Company.

As an example of how much material it took for the contractors to lay one mile of concrete on this road, it might be well to give figures. 12,572 sacks of cement are used in constructing a mile of the road. The specifications call for a roadway of concrete 18 feet wide with six inches of concrete in the roadway and nine inches on the shoulders, or sides, of the road to prevent breakage by vehicles which might get off the roadway. In one mile of road there is required 32,000 cubic feet of sand. There is approximately 38,000 cubic feet of slag required to lay one mile of the concrete.

The speed with which the work is being done by the contractors is again illustrated by the requirements each day for materials. The contractors have constructed a spur track at Wessington and on this spur, the L. & N. Railroad each day delivers 3 carloads of Montgomery sand, 6 carloads of Birmingham slag and 1 1-2 carloads of Lehigh cement. In other words ten and one half carloads of material are required each day in the construction of this 17 1-2 mile section of road.

When J. R. & J. B. Miller took the contract of pouring concrete on this 17 1-2 miles of the Montgomery-Birmingham highway, they found the grading work completed from one end to the other. The new work has had about three months to become settled. They also found all the bridges and culverts in. These are of concrete.

THOMPSON-FIQUETTE WEDDING

On last Saturday afternoon, at the home of Rev. G. B. Golden of Walnut Creek, occurred the marriage of Mr. Jim Thompson to Miss Mattie Fiquette, both of Clanton, Rev. Golden performing the ceremony. Jim Thompson is the young son of Mr. John Thompson of Clanton and his young bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fiquette of this place. Both the contracting parties have a host of friends in Chilton County, all of whom join in wishing them well.

CIRCUIT COURT CONVENED IN CLANTON MONDAY A. M.

The fall term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County is in session at the court house this week. Judge Smoot came up Monday morning and opened court. Only one case of importance tried Monday was that of W. C. Robinson against J. Bice & Sons, which resulted in jury and verdict for plaintiff for $170.64. This case has been on the docket for some time, and has heretofore been continued. No court was held Tuesday on account of the election.

A Grand Jury was empanelled Monday, and is making the usual investigations. Their report has not been released yet, but same will be published next week. Following is a list of those serving on the Grand Jury:—

BOX SUPPER

There will be a box supper at Baker Schoolhouse, Saturday night, Nov. 15. Everybody invited.

CLAUDIA MOONEYHAM.

We were glad to see Mr. Elbert Littlejohn able to be out in town last Wednesday. Mr. Littlejohn has been confined to his room for a number of weeks.

Coolidge Is Elected President By Over Ten Million Majority

CALVIN COOLIDGE

REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET ELECTED SAFELY TUESDAY

Non-Partisans Beaten Nearly 2 to 1; Nation Goes Republican with Overwhelming Majorities.

In the general election in Chilton County Tuesday every Republican Nominee was elected by a good majority over the non-partisan candidates, the result from nearly all the boxes Wednesday at noon giving the former almost two votes to the latter one. Up to Wednesday at noon all the boxes in the county had been heard from with the exception of two or three, and the unofficial figures for each candidate appeared as follows: A. P. Vinson, 1305; J. Monroe Parrish, 637; J. L. Burnett, 1211; R. L. Ousley, 589; Miss Genie Collins, 1196; W. A. Kemp, 615; J. M. Smith, 1194; J. C. Pattillo, 597; Wm. R. Baker, 1179; Howard R. Oden, 634. There were one or two Democratic Beats unheard from, which will likely cut the Republican majority some, probably one hundred votes, but not enough to make any change in the election.

Beat 11 Wins Medal.

Beat 11 at Cane Creek always goes right, but this time it broke all previous records in Chilton county. It voted 61 solid Republican votes, and no Democratic or non-partisan or split votes were cast at that box. It is safe to say that Beat 11 is Republican.

The County gave Coolidge a substantial majority over Davis and La Follette, the former running a little ahead of the county Republican ticket. The figures given above are not exact, but represent the trend of the vote very well. The official figures will be tabulated and printed in The Banner next week, after the official count is made.

Coolidge Wins by 10,000,000

Reports from Charles D. Hilles, vice chairman of the Republican National Committee, early Wednesday morning, said that the total popular vote of the three leading candidates for President were as follows: Coolidge, 18,000,000; Davis, 8,000,000; LaFollette, 4,000,000. Mr. Hilles declared that President Coolidge would have 350 electoral votes.

Unless unusual upsets are revealed in belated returns, President Coolidge will receive a substantial majority over the combined strength of John W. Davis and Robert M. LaFollette in the electoral college.

The President's lead may even rival that of Harding in the landslide of 1920, when the Republicans gathered in 404 of the 531 electoralu votes.

Early Wednesday Mr. Coolidge apparently had a commanding plurality in the following States: Connecticut 7; Delaware 3; Illinois 29; Iowa 13; Kansas 10; Kentucky 13; Maine 6; Maryland 8; Massachusetts 18; Michigan 15; Nebraska 8; New Hampshire 4; New Jersey 14; New York 45; Ohio 24; Oregon 5; Pennsylvania 38; Rhode Island 5; Utah 4; Vermont 4. Total 273.

This includes some States in which the returns are still far from complete, but in which the condition of the count or concessions of political leaders of the opposition point to a Coolidge victory.

In addition the Republican presidetial nominee was leading in totals compiled early today in Arizona with 3 electoral votes; California 13; Colorado 6; Idaho 4; Indiana 15; Minnesota 12; Montana 4; Nevada 3; North Dakota 5; South Dakota 5; Washington 7; West Virginia 8; and Wyoming 3. But in none of these States had a sufficient number of precincts reported to make the outcome certain.

The number of electoral votes necessary to elect is 266.

STUMPS HILL DISTILLER CAUGHT OPERATING STILL

On last Saturday afternoon Sheriff Littlejohn, with the assistance of Federal Officer W. H. Gillespie, Deputy Foshee and Special Deputy Robinson, located and captured a 65-gallon copper distilling outfit near the Bledsoe Cut in the northern part of the County. The officers lay hidden near the still and watched George Headley and his son, Marshal Headley operate it for 20 or 30 minutes, when they went in and interrupted the procedure. Both the Headleys were arrested and brought to Clanton and placed in jail. They made bond of $1,000 each and were released.

Besides the still the officers captured 3 quarts of whiskey and 200 gallons of beer. The operators had several barrels of meal there to make beer from, but on account of the scarcity of water it had never been "put up".

It is alleged that George Headley is one of the poineer distillers of Chilton County, he having bragged, it is said, that he had made whiskey all his life and has never been arrested or paid a fine.

ANOTHER NATURAL CURIOSITY

Did you ever see a limb grown to a tree at both ends? Well, the Union-Banner is in possession of just such a thing. Mr. Steve Blalock of Route 4 brought into our office a piece of bay tree with a small limb grown into the tree at both ends. Each end of the limb which is grown to the body of the tree, looks like a natural limb, and each end of the limb is larger than it is in the middle. Mr. Blalock said that this peculiar specimen was near the top of a large bay tree which he cut in the swamp near his home. The limb is about one inch in diameter.

The life of farm machines is more than doubled if kept protected from weather when not in use. The machines also work much more satisfactorily when well cared for.

MYSTERIOUS "RAINING" UNDER BLACKGUM TREE

A rather sensational and somewhat "spooky" story found its way into the public annals of this section the latter part of last week, the setting of the story being in a woodland on the place of Mr. Tommie Martin near Collins Chapel. The report had it, and it was according to several eye witnesses, that there was a blackgum tree on Mr. Martin's place, down through the boughs of which tree was continually falling a thick mist of rain. Those who visited the scene say that one could see the mist very plainly and could feel it falling in one's face. A place under the tree about four or five feet square was very well saturated from the moisture, the cupped up leaves on the ground being filled. One visitor reports that he tasted of the water from one of the leaves.

This mysterious fallong of rain under this one tree was heightened by the continued drouth which has been on here for the past several weeks, there being so little moisture in the atosphere, it was a hard problem for our "scientists" to unravel. However, the investigators have come to the conclusion that the "raining" was caused by numbers of some kind of insects drawing the sap from the body and limbs of the tree, allowing it to fall upon the ground. But even if this explanation is plausible, it is still a rather unique occurrence.

CONCORD SCHOOLHOUSE BURNS FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Concord Schoolhouse, located three miles east of Clanton on the Higgins Ferry Road, was completely destroyed by fire shortly after noon last Friday afternoon. School was going on at the time the fire was discovered. It is reported that some paper which had accumulated in the stove was fired, and a short while later a small blaze was dislovered on the roof near the stove flue. An effort was made by the boys and teachers to get up on the roof with water, but there being no ladder there and the roof being so steep, no one could get near the blaze. Nothing could be done but watch the building burn down. All of the desks and tables together with the windows and doors were taken out of the building and saved.

This building was a three-room structure and was made of the very best material. School was being taught there by Prof. Harmon Davis and Wm. J. Mims. It is reported that no insurance was carried on the building.

BOX SUPPER AT ENTERPRISE

Everybody come to the box supper at Enterprise schoolhouse on Friday night, November 7th at 7:15 o'clock. There will be fortune telling, a fish pond, pretty girl contest, ugliest man contest, and other interesting things for all fun lovers. Girls, bring your box and be ready to sit pretty, 'cause you want to win that cake. Boys, you had better come with your pockets full of money, or the goblins 'll get you sure.

Mr. W. W. Williams of Fairview was in Clanton last Friday.

Say what you will, but success in farming depends on the farmer. If he is indifferent and careless, he will receive small returns; if he is alert and follows modern methods, large returns will follow.

MODERN DANCE AND SWIMMING POOL ARE RAPPED BY CHURCH

North Alabama Methodists Also Score "Suspicious Parking" Of Autoes

Talladega, Ala., Nov. 1.—Special. Modern dance, mixed sexes in swimming pools, and parking of automobiles along the highways under suspicious circumstances, were roundly condemned by the North Alabama Methodists in annual conference here Saturday. This action was taken following the reading by Dr. J. C. Persinger, of Ensley, of resolutions prepared by the committee on temperance. The resolutions condemned the use of intoxicating beverages and endorsed the stand taken by Gov. Brandon and Senator J. M. Benner for the closing of all places of amusement on Sunday.

Support was pledged in the resolutions to Near East Relief. The women of Birmingham were commended for the establishment of the Eva Comer Home "where girls who work in the city may have a real home from the many evils that beset the lives of these girls."

Consulting the resolution provides "we warn our people against the dangers of the moving picture shows generally given, the modern dance, the mixing of sexes in swimming pools and the general menance of parking cars in suspicious places along the roadside.

"We urge our fathers and mothers, by precept and example, to encourage their daughters to entertain their company in the home rather than in doubtful places."

The resolution commends the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the world league against alcholism, the Anti-Saloon League of America and of Alabama, and urges all ministers to support these, and pledges co-operation to every institution whose object is genuine uplift of society and the christianization of the world.

The resolution was enthusiastically and unanimously adopted.

DR. CRUMPTON ATTENDS POST-GRADUATE COURSE

Dr. J. P. Crumpton went up to Birmingham last Monday to attend a post-graduate course in anaesthesia given by Dr. Nevin of Brooklyn, N. Y. This course dealt in the latest methods of nerve-bloiking aicordisg to the latest scientific methods, and the course, although lasting only one day, is calculated to be worth a great deal to the doctors of dentistry who availed themselves of the lourse. Dr. Crumpton came back well pleased with the information and late ideas which he received.

MALARIA LEAVES A HEAVY MARK

Malaria, unfortunately, does not end with the breaking of Chills and reducing of Fever. Even after the patient is free from actual illness, the marks on his system are plain to see. Vitality is weak, appetite poor, weight fallen off, spirits low. In such conditions Wintersmith's Chill Tonic, a reliable anti-malaria prescription is invaluable.

Wintersmith's Chill Tonic builds up and restores what the malarial fever has taken away. It enriches and purifies the blood, aids the appetite, tones up the system, hastens the return of health and strength.

Taken as you feel Chills and Fever coming on, Wintersmith's Chill Tonic gives prompt and certain relief; and a long siege of Malaria can often be avoided. Its beneficial effects have been proved in thousands of cases, over 56 years of continued use. At your drug store. Popular size, 60c; mammoth size, $1. Made only by the Wintersmith Chemical Co., Inc. FIRST CHRISTENING IN A CIRCUS RING

Funny-faced clowns became serious for a moment. Daring trapeze performers halted in their aerial stunts and came down to earth. The occasion was a serious one. Bareback riders gave their horses a rest. And all the animals kept an ominous silence. For, the first christening ever held in a circus ring, was about to be performed.

It all happened at Luna Park in New York City. Joseph Edward Hodgini, baby son of Joseph and Etta Hodgini, noted circus riders, was the principal of the momentous event. And he took it all good naturedly. The Rev. Thomas R. Lawler, rector of the Grace Reformed Episcopal Church of New York, officiated. The above photograph shows the christening party assembled for the ceremony.

EAST COX NEWS

Health of this community seems very good at present.

The people are almost done gathering their crops, a few stripping cane and plowing, this week

Mrs. Clark Lawley and daughter and Miss M. L. Smitherman spent a few enjoyable hours with Mrs. John Stough, Monday P. M.

Miss Mary Lee Smitherman spent Saturday night with her friend, Miss Thelma Scott.

Mr. James Arthur was the guest of Mr. D. C. Smitherman Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Scott and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Jake Stough.

Messrs. Willie Hayes, Cecil Glass and L. D. Atchison were the guests of Misses Mary Lee Smitherman and Thelma Scott, Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Buster Ferguson have as their guests now, Mr. Ferguson's mother, of Georgia.

ALPINE NEWS

Health of this community is good at present, and everybody is almost done gathering their crops; crops were short in this part of the county.

There was an election held in this beat, on Oct. 31st., on stock law and not over ten votes were cast by voters that reside in the precinct that did not already have stock law. That was in favor of stock law, and yet it was forced on us by voters that were already residents of precincts that had stock law. Now I want someone to tell me of what interest it was to those already residing in stock law, whether we ever had stock law or not.

We have a good school at this place, one of the best teachers we have ever had, and that is saying a lot, for we have had some good ones.

There will be a box supper at Alpine schoolhouse on Thanksgiving night, for the benefit of the school and church, so come one and all and help us in this good cause.

BIG SHOW IN CLANTON ON FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 14

Trained wild animals will be one of the big features of the Harris Bros., famous combined shows which exhibits in Clanton, Friday, Nov. 14.

Performing within an immense steel arena will be a group of black maned African lions, newly imported to America from the Carl Hagenbeck European Zoological Garden. In fact the zoo carried with the big shows this season will contain one of the largest collections of wild animals ever exhibited in this section of the State.

A magnificent pageant introducing intrepid arenic performers, famous athletes, men and women champions of Continental Europe and great America will inaugurate the performers of the Harris Bros. Shows. The big show is now in its 28th annual trans-continental tour, during which all sections of the United States and Canada will be visited. The talk of the times at home and abroad; lauded by the press; recognized by the Government and industrial captions for the marvelous system by which the stupendous tented city is transported from town to town. It is no wonder that without solicitation the schools are often dismissed that the children may enjoy the most wonderful of all days—circus day.

A special train of double-length railroad cars transports the Harris Bros. Shows. The great organization represents an investment of nearly $400,000.00 Three military bands are carried; 20 clowns; 30 intrepid aerialists; daring equestrians and 30 sensational acrobats. The Jordan family; the Jackson Sextete, the eight Micados, Japanese gymnasts; the Avalon Sisters, and scores of other famous performers will be on hand that day.

Remember the day and date is fixed; there can be no chances. Believe no false announcements to the contrary. A series of free exhibitions will be given on the show grounds at 12:30 p.m. Two performances will be given, the doors opening at 1 and 7 p.m. The big show beginning at 2 and 8 p.m. Nowhere else can so much be seen at so little cost; so bring the kiddies to see a performance that is clean, instructive and inspiring.

LOMAX

Health of our community is good at present.

Mr. Gant Robinson has begun the construction of a brick building in our little town.

Mrs. A. A. Jackson was hostess to her mother, sister and niece of Birmingham, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Birdie Honeycutt returned to her home in Birmingham Friday, after being the guest of Miss Edna Jackson for the past two weeks.

Mr. Shirley and wife, of our town, spent the week-end in Talladega, returning home last Sunday evening.

I want to congratulate the Chilton County High School for its discipline and knowledge. I have attended city schools all my life and it surpasses them all in both.

There will be an old Sacred Harp singing at the Lomax Baptist Church on next Sunday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 P. M. All lovers and singers of the old book are invited to attend. We extend a special invitation to the young people.

The Union-Banner is $1.50 a Year.

Children's Party Enjoyed.

About thirty invitations were distributed last week urging the host of little friends to ottend the birthday party of Bill Hodges, when he celebrated his fourth birthday at his home on Tuesday afternoon. The little guests were first invited to the punch table presided over by Miss Sarah Jones. The punch bowl, placed in the hall, was very attractive, where the color tone of white and yellow predominated. Numerous juvenile indoor and out-door games were enjoyed. Later in the afternoon the guests were invited into the dining room, which was pretty with cut flowers and pot plants. The color scheme of white and yellow made the table beautiful where the central ornament was the birthday cake holding the four yellow lighted tapers. The cutting of the birthday cake created much laughter, when Miss Ruth Gowan cut the thimble, Mary Calloway the button, Eloise Rasberry the heart, Cameron McDavid the dime. Favors for the little guests were balloons, squawkers of white and yellow. Cake and cream were served later by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. Irene Rasberry and Miss Sarah Jones. The happy little host was the recipient of numerous gifts.

A Pretty Party.

Mrs. T. C. McSwain entertained in honor of the Wednesday Card Club on last Friday afternoon. The Halloween decorations were very pretty throughout the apartments. After a series of games of bridge, the top score was held by Mrs. Victor Heard, and she was give a card table cover. Late in the afternoon a salad plate with the Halloween favors was served to the guests.

DAIRY COWS PAY IN GENERAL FARMING

Marion County farmers finds cows, hogs, and hens a fine combination.

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 6.—Special. Reports continue to reach Auburn from farmers as to the value of milking a few cows as part of a general farming systemn. They come from every section of the State but one of the best received recently came from J. J. Boyd of Hackleburg, Marion County.

Mr. Boyd is a general farmer who is a leader, cooperating with W. L. McArthur, County Agent. He refers to his dairying as a side-line. From May 7, 1922, to June 30, 1924, his cream sales totaled $1,280.84. He sold veal calves for $33, stock calves for $91, and values heifers on hand at $60, making a grand total of $1, 464.84 from a side-line business.

But this is not all. Mr. Boyd has a small herd of Poland-China hogs and a nice flock of Barred Rock chickens which consume the skim-milk and return another handsome profit which should be credited to his dairy cows.

Speaking of dairying Mr. Boyd said: "These valuable products, shipped in broken lots through the dairy barn, pig lot, and hen house, will bring results and put dollars in your pocket.

"Our feeds were all raised on the farm except a part of the concentrates which are paid for the sale of coarser feeds, such as hay, straw, etc. We have learned by experience that corn, cowpeas, wheat, oats, rye, and soybeans can be grown successfully in this county. We grow also clovers and vetches as winter cover crops and legumes.

"The growing of these cereals and legumes is a full brother to dairying. Pig and poultry raising are twin sisters, dependent on the brothers. Together they make up a progressive and successful family."

FARM FACTS

Tenant farming and soil depletion go han din hand.

When farmers exchange experiences about their work with each other and with the county agent, everybody benefits.

No agricultural college has as yet announced whether it is worse to give good feed to scrub cows, or to give scrub feed to good cows.

Nine times out of ten the farmer who has made a bale of cotton on an acre can tell you a lot about making cotton. Listen to him.

After crops are gathered is a good time to help save farm woman power by providing better home conveniences.

Why Utility Earnings Are Steady!

Do you read the stock and bond market reports?

They are a good barometer of business, recording constant fluctuations in business conditions and in the market value of industrial securities.

For many years, public utility corporations have maintained far more consistent earnings than general industries.

Theirs is an essential service, based upon a steady demand which remains practically unaffected by recurring periods of business depressions.

How To End a Cough Quickly

Specialists say to actually end a cough in the shortest possible time the medicine should not only soothe and heal the soreness and irritation, but should also loosen and remove the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. When this is done the worst cough quickly disappears.

This "double-action" method has been brought to perfection in the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. A few drops stop the coughing spells almost instantly, and people who have hardly been able to sleep at night for coughing usually get their full night's rest even after the first doses. It has been very successful, too, for children's spasmodic croup, for bronchitis, laryngitis, bronchial asthma and hoarseness. On sale at all good druggists. Ask for

PRESIDENTAL DUTY UNDER FLEXIBLE TARIFF

Washington, Nov. 3—(Special correspondence)—When Congress included in the Tariff Act of 1922 what is known as the Flexibility Clause, giving the President power to change tariff rates within a 50 per cent limit, some people assumed that this would be the agency for a frequent revision of tariff rates. This attitude was pretty generally taken by free trade advocates. They saw an opportunity to make innumerable demands for reduction of the tariff and they seemed to believe that their provision was put in for the purpose of making reductions but not increases.

Neither President Harding nor President Coolidge took this view. Neither, apparently, did Congress intend that any such view should be taken.

Since the Constitution vests in the legislative branch the power to enact law subject to the approval of the President, it would naturally be assumed that when Congress has enacted legislation any chances therein would be made only after showing of very clear inadequacy of the law. That this was the intention of Congress in providing for possible chances in the tariff law is indicated by the language of the statute. After fixing various rates of duty the Act of 1922 provides that,

"Whenever the President, upon investigation of the differences in costs of production shall find it thereby showing that the duties fixed in the Act do not equalize the said differences in cost of production in the United States and the principal competing country, he shall by such investigations ascertain said differences and determine and proclaim the changes in classification or increases or decreases in any rate of duty shown by said ascertained differences in such costs of production necessary to equalize the same."

It will thus be observed that Congress did not give the President power to change any tariff duty accoding to his own desire. The change must be based entirely upon an ascertainment of differences in cost of production. The Act also provided that:

"In accertaining the differences in cost of production, the President, in so far as he finds it practicable, shall take into consideration the differences in conditions in production including wages, costs of material, and other items in cost of production of such or similar articles in the United States and in competing foreign countries; the differences in the wholesale selling prices of domestic and foreign articles in the principla markets of the United States; advantages granted to a foreign government or by a person, partnership, corporation or association in a foreign country, and any other advantages or disadvantages in competition."

It is further provided in the tariff Act that: "Investigations to assist the President in ascertaining differences in costs of production, shall be made by he United States Tariff Commission, and no proclamation shall be issued under this section until such investigation shall have been made."

Although the President can not make the change in a tariff until after an investigation has been made by the Tariff Commission, he is not limited to the facts ascertained by the Commission. Investigations are merely "to assist the President."

The emphasis upon the difference in cost of production makes it perfectly clear that Congress intended that the tariff should be retained upon a protective principle.

THANKS FRIENDS FOR HELP

Mr. W. J. Morris of Clanton, R. 7, asks us to express through the columns of The Union-Banner, the appreciation of himself and family for the splendid help of their friends while Mr. Morris was confined in the hospital in Birmingham. Mr. Morris was unable to gather his crop and his good friends and neighbors went into hie fields and gathered his crop for him and took care of the things around his home while he was away. This was indeed an act of great kindness and compassion on the part of Mr. Morris' neighbors, and his gratefulness to them for their benevolence is beyond expression. This shows the most noble spirit of those good people who lent Mr. Morris their aid when he was unable to care for himself, and surely the Almighty will bless them for it.

GOSH, I'M GLAD THAT'S OVER!

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Loui L. Loveman was elected president of the Etowah County Tuberculosis Association. Other officers named were: Vice-president, Mrs. Olint Sibert; treasurer, Miss Bessie Hilton; secretary, Mrs. John Jackson; chairman of the Fresh Air Camp Executive Committee, J. W. Penn. Reports showed that patients are being maintained at the camp for an average of $30 a month each and that the camp is now $600 in debt. County Health Officer Murphree exhibited two patients to show types of tuberculosis. Fifteen-year-old Geneva Blackman told how her mother had been cured at the camp and how she hopes to be cured. City and county officials spoke and assured a continuance of their support.

Two unknown negroes are charged with robbing William Carden, farmer of Morrisville, as he was returning to his home from Anniston, after having disposed of a bale of cotton. The farmer's throat was slashed with a dull knife, and after $130 in cash had been taken from his pockets the negroes apparently left him for dead. The holdup occurred on a lonely stretch of road some distance from the city. The injured man was found by passersby and medical aid summoned. In a short while he had sufficiently recovered to describe the attack and later joined in the search for his assailants. He says he could identify both negroes.

Several plans for city government are occupying the attention of H. H. Frazier, secretary of the Selma Chamber of Commerce. One is the city manager idea, which plan is used by many progressive towns. Mr. Frazier has received 35 letters from towns governed by this plan which are all loud in its praise. Mr. Frazier will submit these letters to Mayor Rowell and the City Council at an early date and seek to work out some plan by which the matter may be presented to the people of Selma, if the council favors the plan.

Major General George C. Rickards, chief of the Military Bureau at Washington, has written a letter to Captain W. P. Gwin, of Gadsden, in which he states that the latter's command the service company of the One Hundred and Sixty-Seventh Regiment, had the best average drill attendance in the Alabama National Guard during 1923-24. The letter congratulates Captain Gwin and his men on the achievement.

Harry Whyel, of Uniontown, Pa who recently purchased a large lot in the business section of Florence, has asked the Florence Real Estate Board to make a survey of the city to ascertain how large an office building would be required to meet the present and future needs of the city. It is Mr. Whyel's intention, he states, to erect a large and modern office building on his lot which is across from the post office.

At a meeting of the Lauderdale County Board of Education, Professor A. R. Springer was elected Superintendent of Education to fill the vacancy created by the death of E. O. Warren which occurred a few days ago. His term will expire October 1, 1925. Professor Springer is a native of Lauderdale County, but for several years has been engaged in school work in Tennessee.

The Road To Better Health

SORE THROAT
BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

"If it isn't better tomorrow, we shall call the doctor." It would be much better to call him today—the first day of that sore throat. By tomorrow, there may be no question about the sore throat being diphtheritic. A day will have been lost. And, the loss of each day is serious in a case of diphtheria.

From 12,000 to 15,000 people die annually in the United States from diphtheria. Statistics show that almost all of the cases which are treated with adequate amounts of antitoxin on the first day of the disease, recover. The death rate increases with each day's antitoxin. So the necessity of an early recognition of this disease in order that effective treatment may be promptly intituted, is apparent.

Recognizing Diphtheria

The sore throat of diphtheria may easily be confused with less serious sore throats. Diphtheria is recognized by the general symptoms, the formation of a false membrane in the throat, and the examination of throat cultures. In some cases no membrane can be seen, but there is a sore throat and the germs of diphtheria are present. One form of croup is diphtheria. Spots or patches may form in the throat as a result of other infections.

It is among children that diphtheria takes a heavy toll. Between the ages of two and twelve is the period of greatest susceptibility. But it is possible for diphtheria to occur earlier than this, and older children and adults are often affected.

The severity of the symptoms are not always in proportion to the seriousness of the disease. On the first day of the disease, diphtheria patients usually do not appear to be in any more danger than those who have tonsilitis. What appears to be a trivial sore throat in the beginning may prove to be a dangerous case of diphtheria if neglected.

The nature of vedy sore throat should be determined without delay, particularly in the case of children!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Treament of Hernia

L. E. writes: "I have a hernia that developed three years ago. Since then I have been wearing a truss. The hernia never has caused me any trouble except when it started, but I have been advised to have an operation for it. Does a truss ever cure a hernia? Is it dangerous just to depend on a truss to keep the lump from coming down?

Reply

The most satisfactory treatment for hernia is an operation. A successful operation would free you from the necessity and inconvenience of wearing a truss. It would also make it safer for you to engage in any occupation or physical activity involving strain.

If you have any disease, or if for any reason, your condition is such that an operation would involve considerable risk, it probably should not be undertaken. That is, provided there is no immediate necessity of operating. Old age is also against operation.

A truss is not very likely to cure a hernia after the patient has attained his growth.

Many people with hernia depend to get along without trouble. They probably manage to live in such a manner that they avoid strain.

Some complications, such as strangulation, demand operation for their relief.

Bananas for Babies

Mrs. H. F. asks: "Are bananas suitabale food to give to a baby two years old?"

Reply

Bananas may be given to babies early in the second year, according to Hess. They should be scraped so that they can be given in finely divided particles.

Symptoms of Heart Disease

J. F. D. writes: "For a number of months I have been troubled with an occasional pain in the chest where the heart is located. At times I am afraid that I have something the matter with my heart. What are the symptoms of heart disease?"

Repiy.

A lot of worry, perhaps needless, would be saved if you would have an examination. A pain, such as you describe, may be caused by some trouble in the heart itself. Or, it may be due to something else.

Getting out of breath on moderate exertion, a rapid or irregular action of the heart, a tendency to faint or feel faint, cough and swelling of the ankles are symptoms of heart disease. But all of these smyptoms may come from other things. After you have been examined and the cause of your troble has been determined, your doctor will tell you what to do about it.

Has a Fat Tumor

B. N. writes: "There is a lump on the back of my right shoulder that a doctor has told me is a fat tumor. It seems to be gradually getting larger. I have been told that I should have it taken off. What I want to know is—if the tumor is dangerous and if there is any danger in having it cut off?"

Reply

These tumors are not regarded as dangerous, but they sometimes grow to considerable size.

It would probably be best to have it removed. This will be less of an operation while the tumor is small, than if you wait until it reaches such a size that its presence is considerable of a nuisance.

In the hands of a good surgeon the operation is not dangerous. It is often done under a local anaesthetic.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

An advertising club was recently organized in the School of Commerce and Business Administration at the State University. The purpose of the new club is to carry on research work in the field of advertising, and to undertake a scientific study of that subject.

According to reports the corn crop is very short in Wilcox County, and they are saving much hay. The dry summer made the hay crop short, until the late fall cutting. Sugar cane molasses also will be scarce this winter, as a great many planted will have to save all their cane for seed.

Alf Naro, now serving a 25-year sentence for killing Ralph J. Roberts, of Pratt City, two years ago, was denied a new trial by the State Supreme Court. Naro's wife, also sentenced to 25 years for participation in the murder, was granted an appeal. The shooting occurred in Naro's home.

Voicing the opinion that a large part of the accidents in Franklin County are due to reckless driving and speeding, Mayor W. W. Ramsey, of Russellville, has declared war on law violators.

The Federal Construction Company, of Birmingham, has been awarded the contract to build water mains connecting existing water systems in Mobile. The Birmingham company bid $90,296.65.

The Alabama Fox Hunters' Association will hold its annual fall meeting in Heflin November 4. Between one hundred one hundred and fifty sportsmen are expected to attend the event.

Proceeds from a half-acre of sweet potatoes will defray the expenses in school this year of Nathan Wood, of Centerville, who has realized $200 from his sales.

Ground has been broken for the new Methodist Church building at Lipscomb, which will be built in the near future.

The Alabama Public Service Commission has won a complete victory in its fight to obtain the restoration of its authority over intrastate rates on hay, cotton, clay, concrete and sand products and gravel, which it lost as a result of the decision of the interstate commerce commission in the famous Meridian rate case. Authority was returned by decision of the Federal Commission, a copy of which was received by the Public Service Commission. The immediate effect of the decision is to open a wide market for hay and other commodities produced in the Western section of Alabama, a market which was closed by the rupture of the rate fabric by the Meridian decision.

Frank Schwartz, a Gadsden boy, employed in the local steel mills, has just completed and patented an automatic electric fire alarm system for stores, factories and residences and all kinds of buildings where the fire hazard is great. The moment a fire breaks out anywhere in a building using the system, the alarm is instantly turned in, notifying watchmen and patrolmen on the outside that a fire is in progress. The system is connected with the fire department.

Dallas County fair attracted to Selma last week an immense crowd of farmers, community workers, as well as social leaders. In the large 276-foot tent were assembled the work of the home demonstration clubs, schools, community booths and the women's department. Communities having booths were Sardis, Burnsville, Pleasant Hill, Marion Junction, Plantersville, Casey, Section, Valley, Vallengrande, El Bethel, Safford, Tasso.

Warrior River traffic during September was reported heavy in the Government figures tabulated, despite the fact that the river was closed nine days while repairs were being made on Lock 13. Fifty-eight tow boats and 108 barges passed through Lock 10 during the month, the report states.

POOR OR

HOW'S THIS FOR A THRILLING EXPERIENCE?

OUTSIDE of the California Red-Woods, this gigantic Juniper Tree recently discovered near Logan, Utah, is said to be the oldest living object on this hemisphere. Experts examining it say it is, at least, 3,000 years old, with the more probable correct figures at 6,000.

Ordinarily, Juniper trees never grow with trunks more than six or seven feet around. But this one, as the party is indicating in this picture, measured twenty-eight feet in circumference. 'Tis truly, the Patriarch of trees.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Municipal license fees prescribed by the General Revenue Act of the State of Alabama and based upon population figures, must be assessed and collected, according to the Federal census, and not in accordance with any subsequent municipal census. The Supreme Court of Alabama has established this ruling in reversing the decision of the Alabama Court of Appeals and remanding the case of ex parte E. M. Jones. Original appeal in this case was from Barbour County, where the appellant made application for a license to sell cigarettes in Eufaula.

An illicit still hidden in the grass on Hall's Mill Creek in Mobile County has finally yielded to the efforts of the State and Federal law enforcement men. This still was searched for several times although the officers came within ten feet of it. The reason for the officers being baffled was that the still and all fixtures were painted green to resemble nearby grass and brush. The long worm of the still leading to the water was camouflaged also. The officers destroyed the still and 500 gallons of mash.

The attendance banner of the Russell County Baptist Association was awarded to the Westside Baptist Church of Phenix City by the association in convention at Oswichee, Ala. Mrs. L. G. Silas of Fort Mitchell was elected president and Miss Ruth Weekly of Phenix City was elected chairman for the young people's department when officers for the ensuing year were elected.

I. M. Gilbert lost his $10,000 damage suit against Etowah County because Judge Steele sustained demurrers of the defense in which it was claimed the county cannot be sued by an employe since it is a part of the State government. The court held that the county can be sued only in a few cases specified by law.

The total assessment of Pike County this year will amount to $9,850,510, not including the automobile values, which will not be definitely known until February, 1925. This is according to information given by V. A. Gibson, ax assessor, who has sent in the county report of tax assessments to the State Tax Commission.

Etowah County watermelons are still coming into Gadsden. They are much the finest seen here this season. The Humphrey brothers, of Sand Mountain, recently brought in three wagon loads. They were much larger than any others received here during the season.

Patrons of the White Oak School, near Leighton, recently gave a barbecue to raise funds to pay off the debt incurred by the erection of a modern three-room school building. A large crowd from many sections of the county was present and almost enough money raised to pay off the debt.

The Chamber of Commerce, at Gadsden, has been successful in securing a substantial reduction in scrap iron rates to Gadsden from points on the N. C. & St. L. Railway in Tennessee and Alabama. Rates now range from 79 cents to $2.82 per ton in minimum carload lots of 60,000 pounds.

Decatur people are happy in the belief that their new streets are to cost them only $250,000 instead of $300,000 as was at first expected, following an announcement by Superintendent Brownlee of the Independent Paving Company, of Birmingham, which has the contract for building all the new streets. Mr. Brownlee says that he did not expect to turn in a bill for over a quarter of a million when his street building contract is completed at the end of this year. The original bond issue for the streets was $300,000 Mr. Brownlee explained that efficient working men, reduced estimates of cast and also the fact that much of the machinery of his company was already here when he began work.

Ed Gewin, tax assessor of Hale County, is the banner farmer so far heard from. On a two-mule farm near Cedarville, he has made a wonderful crop of cotton, on which he expects to clear $3,000. He has rushed his work to take advantage of the clear weather, has picked and ginned his crop, plowed his land, and has a good stand of vetch already up on it.

T. C. Germain, owner and manager of a moving picture theatre in Talladega has been arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Pickard at Gadsden on the charge of not paying the theatre tax as required by the act of Congress on February 24, 1919. He pleaded guilty and his bond was fixed at $500.

When the Norwegian steamer Vera docked at Mobile from Peurta Castilla, Honduras, Joseph Barnes, member of the engine crew was removed to the marine hospital with serious injuries. Barnes fell into the hold of the vessel while the Vera was en route to this port and was seriously hurt.

Willie O'Neal, of Corona, near Jasper, is reported suffering from the effects of a flogging administered several nights ago by a band of masked men which ordered him to leave the vicinity. O'Neal is said to have been charged by the mob with an attack upon a small girl.

"A Sunny Road," a new book written by Dr. S. A. Steele, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Decatur, has been put on the market. Dr. Steele's book explains home life in Dixie during the war. The writer speaks as a Southerner of the Southerners.

Facilitating the large cotton movement which is being concentrated this fall for export and domestic shipment, the United States Shipping Board has announced the allocation of an additional vessel at Mobile to lift a cargo of staple for Bremen and Rotterdam, sailing October 28.

Officers of the State Law Enforcement Department made a total of 249 arrests during the month of September, as shown by the monthly report of Chief Walter K. McAdory. Stills to the number of 136 were destroyed during the month.

The City Council at Huntsville, added another street to the paving program when it adopted on its final reading an ordinance providing for the paving of Locust Street extension Bids for the work were opened October 14.

THE FARNUM TRIO

Miss Doris Farnum, who heads the Farnum Trio, is well known to Lyceum audiences everywhere. Miss Farnum possesses a contralto voice of rich quality. Her presentations of the folk songs of Ireland to her own accompaniment on the Irish harp are a notable part of the Trio's program. Another feature of her work is her miscellaneous readings consisting of cuttings from popular plays. She is also conspicuously successful in humorous pianologs and monologs, given in Scotch, Italian, Swedish and English dialects.

Geoffrey Waddington, violinist with the Trio, is a talented young Canadian who studied under Ferdinand Fillion of Toronto. He has won a number of medals and cups in musical festivals, and scored eminent successes throughout the Dominion of Canada.

Another member, Miss Evelyn Dalin, soprano, pianist and violinist, many Lyceum successes to her credit and completes an ensemble whose p grams of wide diversity and real entertainment are popularly acclaimed.

This troupe will open the three-number Lyceum Course for this season, put on by Thorsby Institute. They will appear Monday night, November 10th at 7:30. Course tickets, for three entertainments, $1.25 for adults, 75c for children under 12 years old. Single admissions 50c—25c for children. Secure your season tickets in advance, from soliciting students, Mr. Butler, or Miss Helen C. Jenkins. Don't fail to attend these high-grade entertainments.

The regular monthly praise service at the Congregational church last Sunday night was conducted with a good deal of spirit, under trying circumstances. Our electric lights were on strike, and such lamps as could be requisitioned at short notice had quite a contingent that appeared to be "sympathetic strikers" as one after another, they quit without notice, but so long as Miss Parker and Miss Lois Primm, leader and organist respectively, each had a lamp to themselves, the choir and audience bravely supported their efforts to keep going, and did not give up until the regular closing time.

We made a brief visit to Thorsby Gin on a recent morning, and found the machinery still humming, altho all available warehouse room in town is filled and several hundred bales of cotton were piled outside. We have heard that Chilton County has several thousand more bales than last year, thus keeping in line with every other cotton growing county in the State. While the price, as always at harvest time, is much lower than was paid for last year's crop, we believe those able to hold on a few months will find it profitable.

The students of Thorsby Institute had an opportunity Tuesday afternoon to record their presidenital preferences. The "election" was in the hands of a committee of the Literary Society, who fitted up to polling place on the stage in the assembly room with private booths and all the machinery for a secret ballot. The Banner goes to press toearly to be able to give the results of the voting.

Mrs. Louis Howard spent a couple of days in Tuscaloosa last week. She was accompanied home by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edwin Howard. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Howard will be located here for the present.

The Congregational Ladies Aid Society will meet at the new home of Mrs. C. M. Williams, known as the Gulledge House, Thursday afternoon, November 6th.

Rev. L. O. Dawson, teacher of Bible at Howard College, will preach at the Baptist church in Thorsby Sunday, November 9th, morning and evening.

Mrs. Ollice Yogg was a delightful hostess to a small gathering of friends Wednesday afternoon. A three-course luncheon was served at 5:00 o'clock.

Miss Clara Peterson and Miss Effie Donaldson were week end visitors at the home of Miss Peterson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peterson.

Miss Ethel Peterson gave a Hallowe'en party last Saturday night to the boarding students of T. I., and a few town young folks.

Mrs. Magne Anderson returned last Monday from a month's visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ivy Horn, at Boyles, Ala.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peterson and children spent the week end at the home of C. A. Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Meade motored to Sylacauga Sunday and spent the day with friends.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins spent Saturday in Montgomery.

CHILTON HI SWAMPS BIBB HI

Chilton County High School football team defeated the Bibb County eleven here Friday, Oct. 30. The game was a case of knowledge and experience of the game, against a lack of the same qualities. Chilton outplayed the visitors in every phase of the game, especially forward passes, of which several were completed, six going for touchdowns. Bibb could not break Chilton's wall-like line, making only three first downs, two of these coming in the last of the game after ten scrubs had gone in.

The first touchdown was scored by Chilton within the first thirty seconds of play, by a pass, Hayes to Jones, who ran 55 yards for the counter.

Of the seven touchdowns made by Chilton, only one was made other than by forward passes, an end run around left end by Jones.

Chilton plays Marion Institute Reserves next Friday, Oct. 7. Remember, Chilton's line has not been crossed this season.

50,000 IN LIFE-SAVING SERVICE OF RED CROSS

Additional 50,000 Water Safety Experts Probable Gain of Summer Campaign.

A boy watched an expert give a class a lesson in the way to revive a person unconscious from water immersion. The next day the boy tried it on a bathing companion and saved his life. Such a boy justifies all the effort and the cost of the Life-Saving Service, American Red Cross officials declare. The Red Cross method of restoring partly drowned persons is so simple that the continual large sacrifice of life must decrease as an informed public insists upon general instruction in prone pressure practice to induce respiration.

The Red Cross Life-Saving Service in every part of the country, summer and winter, is engaged in teaching this method as an integral part of swimming and life-saving. This service has grown from a single expert in 1914 to a corps of almost 50,000 active life-savers. In this tenth year of the work it is predicted that fully 50,000 more experts will be eligible for membership in the corps. This large accession in a single year is confidently expected as the result of the campaign among 22,000 troops of Boy Scouts under a plan to qualify at least two life-guards in each troop.

During the past year 4,746 men, 3,374 women, 9,731 boys and girls successfully passed the rigid tests of the Red Cross—an increase of 5,331 over 1923. Intensive instruction is developing hundreds of qualified examiners for the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps, who supplement the teaching staff maintained by the national organization. The cause of water safety is therefore penetrating to new sections and eventually will cover all American territory.

Recognition of this Red Cross service for humanity is growing apace. At the request of the War Department every military training camp had life-saving instruction last summer. Municipalities have adopted the Red Cross course, public and private schools are offering it to students, business, civic and athletic organizations are promoting campaigns, and police departments are making it a part of the conditioning process for their recruits.

Volunteer life-savers throughout the country, the American Red Cross reports, are eagerly advancing the cause of water safety, 388 volunteers receiving medals for giving from 200 to 300 hours' service in two or three years. In addition 36 rescue bars to medals were awarded members of the Red Cross Corps who saved one or more lives during the year.

It is for the work and extension of life-saving that continued support through memberships is sought, and the American Red Cross urges all persons to join or renew membership during the enrollment campaign opening Armistice Day, November 11.

Red Cross Invites All Into Neutral Army of Service

There are 3,089 counties in the United States and more than 3,500 Chapters of the American Red Cross. The Chapter is the local unit of the national organization, formed to carry out the program, services and policies of the Red Cross. The industry of these 3,500 local units is a voluntary and steady outpouring of well-doing and sympathy which softens human suffering and distress wherever it arises. This work is absolutely neutral, for the Red Cross knows no race, no creed, no color.

The strength of the American Red Cross being in its Chapters, the organization annually invites the people to join or renew their membership during a Roll Call which always begins on Armistice Day, November 11.

"It is this annual enlistment of millions of Americans under the banner of the American Red Cross which makes possible the continued work of this great and democratic legion of mercy," says Judge John Barton Payne, head of the national organization. "Membership in the Red Cross is a privilege within the reach of everyone. The need for service grows more insistent each year. To keep pace with the demands which come from every section of our country, we must have the people's loyal support. Our capacity for service in the year to come will be limited only by the extent to which we receive support for our work in the coming Roll Call."

The invitation of the American Red Cross is unlimited. The enrollment period, Armistice Day to Thanksgiving, is everyone's opportunity to join.

Annual Summons to Service

The annual nation-wide Roll Call of the American Red Cross to enroll members for 1925 will open on Nov. 11, the anniversary of that tense and never-to-be-forgoten Armistice Day six years ago, which silenced the crashing arms of the World War. The enrollment will continue for 17 days, through Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 27. Preliminary to the Roll Call period will come Red Cross Sunday, Nov. 9. During the 17 days set aside for the enrollment more than 3,500 Chapters of the Red Cross and their thousands of branches will invite the people to join the Red Cross or renew their membership.

D. M. Apperson of Maplesville was over in Clanton Wednesday to learn how the election went.

MT. PLEASANT—BEAT 12

Singing at this place Sunday afternoon was not so good, there being only a few present. Let everybody come out to our singing every first and third Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Harrell of Jemison spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Glass.

The singing at Mr. R. A. Barnett's Thursday night was enjoyed by all. Also the parched peanuts which were served the guests were fine.

We are indeed sorry to report that Mr. Leonard Martin was run over by a motor truck. He was not seriously hurt.

The Banner Print Show is working on the minutes for the Unity Baptist Association, and they will be finished within a few days.

The Halloween party given by the high school last Friday night was a decided success. The kids had a big time at the different games.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nausealess Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

MORTGAGE SALE

Whereas, default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness secured by that certain mortgage executed on the 23rd day of November, 1918, by G. G. Riggins, and due and payable to the undersigned, W. A. Wood, on November 20th, 1919, and which said mortgage is recorded in Mortgage Book 166, page 234, in the office of the Probate Judge of Chilton County, Alabama. I will proceed to sell, in front of the court house door, in Clanton, Alabama, during the legal hours of sale, on Monday, the 1st day of December, 1924, the following described real estate, situated in Chilton County, Alabama, to-wit:

South 1-2 of the Northwest 1-4 and North 1-2 of the Southwest 1-4, of Section 25, Township 22, Range 13, containing One Hundred and Sixty (160) Acres of land, more or less.

Said sale to be made under the powers contained in said mortgage and the proceeds of said sale are to be applied, first, to the expenses incident to this foreclosure sale, including a reasonable attorney's fee, and second, to the payment of the indebtedness due on said mortgage.

Witness my hand this 29th day of October, 1924.

W. A. WOOD, Mortgagee.
J. OSMOND MIDDLETON,
10-304t Attorney for Mortgagee.

TAX NOTICE — COLLECTOR'S AND ASSESSOR'S ROUND

We will attend at the following times and places for the purpose of collecting the State and County Taxes for Chilton County for the year 1924 and assessing taxes for the year 1925:

(Place)	(Beat)	(Date—1924)
Clanton,	4,	Oct. 27-Nov. 8

Take notice that under the 1923 Revenue Code, it is the duty of every person in each Election Precinct, to attend in person on the first day of the appointment in your Precinct, and then and there render the Assessor a full and complete list of all the property of which he or she was owner on the first day of October of that year. All taxes and assessments are delinquent after December 31, 1924.

J. T. ROCKETT, Tax Collector.
S. M. PATE, Tax Assessor.

Worst Coughs Yield Quickly to Good Old Pine Tar and Honey

One of the best cough medicines that was ever compounded, according to specialists, is good old pine tar and honey. It often stops a bad cough in 24 hours, and another advantage is that it can be given to young and old alike, as it contains no narcotics or opiates. Doctors say the pine tar quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, also healing soreness, while the honey both soothes irritation and gives a pleasant taste.

The kind that has been used in thousands of families for many years for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, spasmodic croup, etc., is Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey, which was the original compound. It has had many imitators, but still remains the best, as it is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in giving quick relief. If you want the best, get the original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey and no other. Only 30c. at any good druggists.

Is Your Tax Load Heavy Enough?

If Government Ownership of Railroads should ever be realized in this country, two additional tax burdens would inevitably be thrust upon the American people.

1. The Government would have to purchase the railroads at their present value of at least twenty billion dollars, because our constitutional guaranty provides against confiscation.
2. The taxes the railroads pay—a million dollars a day—would have to be assumed by the individual taxpayers, because government property is exempt from taxation.

Disregarding any assessment to pay off the stupendous debt of twenty billions, interest thereon at 4% would amount to $800,000,000 per year; this added to the $365,000,000 railway taxes would make a total of $1,165,000,000 that would be saddled on to the people for the questionable benefit of owning the railroads

The American people are now paying the overwhelming sum of seven billion, seven hundred million dollars in annual taxes. If the Government assumed control of the railroads, and the extra taxes required for their purchase and operation were levied, the annual tax bill of this country would run nearly ten billion dollars; an amount greater than any free people have ever been called upon to pay in the history of the world:

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Eptiomized Form.

The State Department of Archives and History is co-operating with citizens of Leighton, Colbert County, in plans for tableaux to be presented on the occasion of the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the town. The date of the celebration has been fixed for November 11. The first railroad west of the Alleghenians was built in Colbert County, according to information from the Department of Archives and History. Like a number of other early railroads, it was a horse-drawn affair. As part of the anniversary celebration citizens of Leighton plan to present an exhibit reproducing the first method of rail locomotion to be used in the county.

The Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Iron Company won an unexpected verdict in Judge Roger Snyder's court, in Birmingham. The company was defendant in a suit filed by W. S. Allen to recover alleged commissions. After hearing the evidence for several hours and after two hours' deliberation, the jury returned a verdict as follows: "We find for the defendant and assess the damages at $100." Under this verdict, Allen, the claimant, would have had to pay the Sloss-Sheffield Company $100, so the case was immediately declared a mistrial by Judge Snyder. Afterward, one of the jurors remarked that the jury had made a "slight mistake."

The Chalybeat District School will run seven months this term instead of five, as heretofore, because of co-operation of nine of the patrons. A common plot of ground was donated at the first of the year and proceeds of the cotton raised on this plot by the common labor of the men will go to lengthen the school term. An acre of cotton each has also been donated by the nine, who are R. L. Clark and J. L. Anderson, trustees; B. J. Mahela J. W. Cole, L. S. Thrasher, Ray Morris, Hubbard Morris, T. R. Smith and Henry Bobo.

Hearing of the petition of citizens of Greenville, Ala., seeking to require the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company to have its through, fast passenger trains take on and let off passengers at Greenville, has been postponed from October 28, to October 31, according to announcement by the Alabama Public Service Commission. The hearing will take place in Greenville.

A total of $898,325.13 has been spent for education in Bessemer in the past three years, according to a statement made by Dr. L. L. Vann.

The Tennessee Valley Laboratory is soon to start an experiment which is calculated to speed up the service of the bureau by some 12 to 14 hours, it is announced by Dr. A. J. Perolio, director. Mr. Perolio states that permission has been given by Dr. L. C. Havens, State Director, to put into operation at one or more points, substations of the Alabany-Decatur Laboratory.

Mrs. Carol Long, prominent club woman, has been appointed by Peter Brannon, of Montgomery, chairman to arrange for a celebration in Selma, in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the coming of LaFayette to Alabama. Mrs. Long is already planning for the celebration, which will be held in Selma from the 1st to the 5th of April.

The Baldwin County Kiwanians are continuing the campaign for $30,000 for the Daphne State Normal School. Concerts are being given throughout the county by local artists and other entertainments are being held to raise money. The county must raise $30,000 for the school to get $30,000 appropriated by the State.

Major General Mitchell B. Houghton, of Montgomery, was re-elected State Commander and Tuscaloosa was chosen for the next reunion by the Alabama Division of the United Confederate Veterans in reunion at Mobile. Captain Paul Sanguinetti, of Montgomery, was renamed State Adjutant.

At a meeting of the poultry raisers of Walker County the following officers were elected: E. E. Black, Jasper, president; W. B. Christopher, Cordova, general supervisor, and V. H. Tubbs, treasurer.

James Mallory, of Anniston, who graduated from Howard College last year, and two of his classmates, James Jarrell, of Lineville, and Erskine M. Braswell, of Demopolis, are en route to New York in a worn "Tin Lizzie." From the metropolis they expect to cross the Atlantic for a tour of England, France, Belgium and other countries.

Agnes Jewel Hardeman, nine, was suffocated to death, while playing in a pile of cotton on the front porch of her home at Gadsden. The child had burrowed deep in the cotton, which caved in. Her mother, returning from the cotton fields, found the girl buried head foremost in the cotton, her life smothered out.

A murder charge has been placed against Riley Cheatam, negro, following the drowning of four negroes in the Tennessee River. Cheatam and another negro, George King, had an altercation in a small boat in which they and six other negroes were riding. The boat overturned and four of the negroes drowned.

Permitting residents of Haleyville to amend their petition asking that the Northern Alabama Railway Company be required to provide them adequate freight and passenger depot facilities, the Public Service Commission set November 3 for taking further testimony in the case. The hearing will be held in Montgomery.

R. W. Barker, graduate of the Mississippi A. and M. College, has arrived in Gadsden to take charge of the new dairy being built by Hugh Agricola. The plant is to be one of the finest in the South. The equipment will cost in the neighborhood of forty-five thousand dollars. All machinery will be electrically driven.

An active campaign for beautification of highways through planting of trees, shrubs and flowers is being carried on by the Alabama Federation of Women's Clubs. It is recalled that California's beautiful highways were made so largely through the efforts of the women of the State, and it is hoped to accomplish a similar result in Alabama.

John F. Williams, of Anniston, has been appointed tax assessor of Calhoun County by the Governor, to fill the vacancy caused by former Tax Assessor C. W. Whiteside's failure to make bond in the required time, after a bonding company had filed a petition in court asking to be released.

OLD RESIDENT NEAR DEATH

"I had not eaten food for 10 days and was slowly starving to death. Given up by five doctors, I tried a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which gave relief at once. I am 75 years old and would have died but for your wonderful medicine. The jaundice is all gone and I am gaining appetite and strength every day."

It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

A few sheep can be made profitable on most farms. Little expensive feed is necessary as they live largely on pasture, eat many weeds, and utilize much of the otherwise wasted feed around the farm.

—to regain Strength

—brings joy to you and your friends.

EVERY man, woman and child wants to have strength and correct weight. It means the joy of living. To be minus strength and underweight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body.

More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. aids Nature in building them by the million! There are no unproven theories about S.S.S., the scientific results of each of its purely vegetable medicinal ingredients are admitted by authorities. Begin taking S.S.S. today. It will give you more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

MRS. LISHIE WARD

Died at her home near Jemison, October 29th, Mrs. Lishie Ward. She lived to extreme old age, more than eighty years. She was a very devout Christian lady, always ready to converse on spiritual subjects. Her pastor, church and community will miss her.

Her husband, Mr. A. C. Ward, was one of Chilton County's former officials. Her only living daughter is the wife of Hon. W. E. Thomas, one of Chilton County's former members of the Legislature. She raised a most interesting and intelligent family of children, the greater portion of whom preceded her to the grave. Mrs. Ward was one of the original number who, about 1872, organized Pleasant Grove church, and was the last surviving member of that original group.

Her body was laid away in Pleasant Grove cemetery in the presence of a large number of friends. Funeral by Rev. Lawrence, to which was added a few remarks of eulogy by Z. J. Jones. The floral offerings were a rich profusion and beautiful.

Though gone, she yet lives, by the influence of her long devoted life, the golden fruit of which will be gathered in the sweet over there. We have for her a cheering hope of eternal life.

"Who, who are these beside the chilly wave,
Just on the border of the silent grave,
Shouting Jesus' power to save,
Washed in the blood of the Lamb?"

CONCORD - BILLINGSLEY

Sunday was our regular evening for singing, but am sorry to say our crowd was small, yet this did not keep us from having a good singing. We only had three directors for the afteroon, Olin Williams, Furniss Shepard and Horace Williams. Organists were Hudson Williams and Jewell Williams. The quartet band sang two splendid selections.

Our Sunday School is still moving onward. Everybody come and help us keep up the work.

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Edwards were visitors to Sunday School and singing Sunday. We invite them back again.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Williams motored to preaching at Pleasant Grove Sunday.

We are sorry to learn that Mr. Jim Williams has moved his family to Adams, but hope he will like his new home.

Remember our singing evenings are the first Sundays, and Sunday School every Sunday afternoon.

MRS. EFFIE DAVENPORT

Died at her home in the eastern part of the county on October 31st, Mrs. Effie Gibson Davenport. She was raised in the Mulberry community, and was a descendent of one of the pioneer families of Chilton County. She was a good lady.

The remains were laid to rest in Macedonia cemetery, Beat 14. The floral offerings were beautiful. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Honeycutt.

Sad thought, she is gone, but she will live again,
"For those who weep and those who sleep,
Above the portals narrow,
The mansions rise beyond the skies,
We are going home tomorrow."

The Woman's Tonic

to me and I began using it. I certainly improved. I went through change of life without any trouble. I can highly recommend Cardui."

At the age of about 40 to 50 every woman has to pass through a critical time, which is called the Change of Life. At this time, great changes take place in her system, causing various painful and disagreeable symptoms.

If you are approaching this period, or are already suffering from any of its troubles or symptoms, take Cardui. It should help you, as it has helped others.

SECOND WEEK OF CIRCUIT COURT IS VERY BUSY ONE

Grand Jury Still In Session, Examining Hundreds of Witnesses This Week.

There have probably been more people from all over the county in attendance at Circuit Court here for the past week, than has been in several years. Most of the witnesses are here before the Grand Jury, which did not finish its business last week but was continued over into this week. The Circuit Court machinery is also in smooth working order, and many criminal cases have been disposed of this week.

Following are those serving on the Petit Jury and trying the criminal cases this week:

G. O. P. CLAIMS ELECTORAL VOTE FROM ALABAMA

A. A. Bingham, Republican, Elected By Mistake, Say Democrats.

Some Republican leaders claimed Tuesday that, for the first time since the Civil War, one of Alabama's votes in the country-wide electoral college will be cast for a G. O. P. candidate.

According to these letters, A. A. Bingham, a Talladega Republican, is 20,000 votes ahead of A. A. Shelley, democat, for presidential elector. Shelley's name was substituted at the last minute for G. C. Bates, who died after the ballots were printed, and this confused many voters.

The combined votes for Bates and Shelley gives the democrats a tremendous lead over the Republican candidate, but republicans are insisting that their votes cannot be consolidated, and that Bingham is entitled to the post.

Mr. A. R. Cooper, a former man of Clanton, was on our streets Tuesday. Mr. Cooper is now at Columbiana.

LOOK WHAT'S COMING NOW

MACEDONIA, BEAT 11.

Editor Union-Banner:

Please alow me a space in your paper to say a few words from Macedonia.

We met and organized a Sunday School here Sunday, and the school will meet every Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. Everybody is invited to come and take part in the service.

When the Baptists reorganized at this church and took it back under their charge, they made it the duty of the deacon to get a preacher. So, Rev. M. J. Parrish wil preach here on the first Saturday in December, and Rev. M. Lockhart will preah on the following Sunday. We are going to start regular meeting here on the above date. Everybody is invited to come out. It will be announced every Sunday, so nobody can have an excuse that they did not know about service. You are invited to come to preaching and Sunday school.

V. G. SMITH.

Our good old friend, Mr. S. R. Barnes of Planterville, was in to see us a while last Monday. We were sorry to learn that Mr. Barnes a few weeks ago got rather badly hurt while working in a cotton gin. A piece of steel flew off at a very high speed and hit him across the face, breaking his nose and right cheek bone. He is about to recover from the injuries now.

DIED FRIDAY NIGHT

The wife of Mr. E. F. Grant of Mt. Creek was called by death last Friday night, after a long and lingering illness of about a year. E. F. Grant is the telegraph operator at Mt. Creek and is the son of Mr. J. M. Grant of near Clanton.

SIX EARS IN ONE SHUCK

Mr. Jim Mitchell of Route 2 left in the Union-Banner's museum of natural freaks a funny specimen of corn. There are six ears all inside one shuck. This sample, however, is somewhat similar to the one which Mr. John Gore gave us last year.

MARCUS HOME BURNED

On Tuesday morning, the home of Mr. George Marcus on the corner of First Street and Second Avenue So., was destroyed by fire. The fire department got there in time to save the adjacent buidings from catching. A part of the contents of the building were saved.

UNION GROVE

Our Sunday School and prayer meeting are still progressing nicely. Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching days, and two very interesting sermons were delivered by our pastor, Rev. W. P. Lowery.

The United Singing Society met in regular session at this place with a large crowd Sunday and did some good singing. The new books were used altogether. Those directing were E. L. Glasscock, Enoch Foshee, O. B. Robinson and Prof. A. H. Glasscock. The closing song was sung by Mr. L. R. Cobb. A quartet was rendered by Messrs. Akins Collins, E. L. Glasscock, A. H. Glasscock and Enoch Foshee. Organists were Misses Flossie Cobb and Myrtle Dorminey. We were very glad to have the Oak Grove class with us and all other visitors. We welcome you back again.

Miss Myrtle Dorminey of Birmingham spent the week end with home folks, and we were glad to have her back with us.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Martin of Siluria spent Sunday with relatives of this community.

Misses Pearl Chandler, Eula Barnett and Carrie Mae Retherford spent Sunday with Misses Iris, Edna and Amy Robinson.

Messrs. Arthur and Bernie Chandler spent the week end with home folks.

Misses Rilla Dupriest and Lurline Martin dined with Misses Euna and Annice Davis Sunday.

Mrs. Greene Dorminey left Saturday morning for Wellsville, Ohio, where her husband holds a position, and will make it their future home.

Miss Amy Robinson spent a while with Miss Rebecca Dorminey Sunday evening.

The singing society will meet with Shady Grove, called "Black Jack." Everybody come. Shady Grove is a few miles out from Randolph, Ala.

PLEASANT GROVE

The singing society met in regular session Sunday afternoon with a full class and a large audience, which was very much appreciated. We were glad to have several visitors from Sardis and Shiloh communities.

The following directed: Albert Headley, Houston Traywick, Ruth H. Cox, Lucile Culp, Maggie Traywick, Jeanette Mims, Mrs. Eula and Collie Culp. Prof. F. I. Popwell presided at the organ.

NOW LET'S DRAIN OUR SWAMPS

Now that the amendment to the State Constitution giving districts the authority to tax adjacent property and carry on drainage programs, let Clanton folks get together and get our drainage program going in Clanton again. Of course, the proposition has not died, but we have merely been waiting to see what was done with the State law. Now that this matter has been settled, why not let's get busy and get something done before everybody forgets what we have already done. When shall we call the meeting of the interested land owners?

MRS. POPWELL DEAD

Mrs. Berter Papwell, age about 23, wife of Mr. Alphia Popwell, who lives on the Lock 12 road three and a half miles north of town, died Monday night, about 6:30 o'clock, after an illness of two weeks. The deceased leaves three children. She was the daughter of Mrs. S. E. Headley of Verbena.

The remains were buried in the Clanton Cemetery Wednesday morning.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. A. C. Pate, who has been in hospital a few days with pneumonia, is improving.

Mrs. Mattie Collins was admitted to the hospital Tuesday.

Tobe Missildine, who was operated on Thursday, is getting along well.

Dalton Bice, who sustained a broken leg, went home Wednesday.

Mrs. Mitchell Powell, who suffered an automobile accident Sunday is improving.

The baby of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Easterling was operated on Tuesday.

Bill Mahan went home Sunday.

Miss Lillie Mae Jones is improving, following a very serious operation.

Mr. Enfinger of Haynes, who is in the hospital, is better.

HENRY CABOT LODGE DIED LAST SUNDAY IN MASSACHUSETTS

Prominent National Leader for Thirty Years Succumbs to Protracted Illness After Operation.

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 9.—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge died at the Charles Gate hospital at 11:14 tonight. He suffered a stroke Wednesday of last week.

Stricken at noon last Wednesday, the senior senator from Massechusetts lingered for four and a half days, when the end came. During the latter part of the time he lay in a state of coma, but after nearly 16 hours of unconsciousness he aroused for a time to take a little nourishment and recognized persons in the room.

The hope that revived for a time faded, however, as he lapsed again into unconsciousness and gradually became weaker. Never from the outset did his physicians offer encouragement in their bulletins. They did, however, comment upon the vitality that despite his 74 years enabled him to live on for days when death was expected momentarily. The illness that led to death was similar to that of President Wilson, the original complaint being similar and the stroke that brought on the end much the same.

The senator had attended the Republican convention at Cleveland, at which his former leadership of the state forces was divided between Speaker Gillette and Governor Cox, but within a month suffered a condition that required an emergency operation July 27th. Recovery was surprisingly good and three months later a second operation was performed. Again the senator's stamina stood him in good stead and he was out of bed October 23rd, three days after the operation.

With the reopening of congress only three weeks ahead, Senator Lodge was planning to leave the hospital in a few days and get ready to take his seat when the stroke came. It left him unconscious and in a condition so critical that death was considered likely at any time.

Senator Lodge had four years still to serve in the senate, where he had represented his state continuously for 31 years. His place will be filled by appointment, Governor Cox having authority to name a successor until the next general election that will not take place until 1926.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO WRECK

On last Sunday morning Mr. Mitchell Powell while driving his car with his wife, ran into a buggy near Verbena, turning the car over and severely injuring Mrs. Powell. It is reported that in the accident Mrs. Powell sustained a broken arm and shoulder. Mr. Powell was not hurt but the windshield and top of the car were broken off.

Mr. Guy Deshazo from Fort Payne was in Clanton last Sunday. Guy left Clanton Sunday afternoon for Chattanooga, Tenn., where he was to be joined by W. M. Wyatt, the two going from there to Washington, D. C. Mack and Guy have accepted positions in the government printing office at Washington.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS, UNITY-CHILTON ASSOCIATIONS—NOTICE

At the recent meetings of our respective Associations, they passed a resolution, asking the Sunday Schools to continue the support of Rev. Toy Williams as our Sunday School missionary in Canton, China. The Associations also asked the moderators of the two Associations to apportion the salary to the schools, and to appoint a treasurer of the fund. We have made the following apportionment, and appointed Mr. Grady Harris, Clanton, as Treasurer.

Pastors and Superintendents will please take notice, and bring the matter to the attention of their schools. Clip this notice.

FROM FLORIDA

I wish all of my friends in Alabama to visit the sunny land of Florida, where the sun is always bright, the clouds ever blue, and see the beautiful flowers which grow here. I have made my home here for three years, and like it just fine. I am living in Lakeland, the most beautiful place in the state. You should come to see Florida now, for the golden oranges, grapefruit, lemons and other fruit are just getting ripe. The packing house has opened and I am sure that you would love to visit it and see the bands run the fruit up into the graters after it has been washed.

It is calm and nice down here in the Winter time, and the most beautiful night you ever saw. We have fine schools here. There are over two thousand that gies. We have a beautiful brick building. The people have fine homes and also beautiful ones.

My father owns seven places. I once lived in Alabama, I lived at Calera five years, I have just been back from there only three or four months. The people were all nice to me and I want to thank them very much. I am a girl of thirteen years of age, and I am sure you all know me, if you dont I am sure you know my father and mother;Mr. and Mrs. H. Honeycutt.

I would be glad if all could visit this beautiful land.

I will close with best wishes to my old home state.

Yours Truly,
WILLODINE HONEYCUTT.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

For eighteen years the Alabama River has not reached so low a stage at Selma as it did recently, says Charles Brislin, weather observer. One foot and one inch below zero is the record made lately, says Mr. Brislin. The lower river stage caught the United States river boat "Alabama" in Selma where she was taking on coal and cement destined for Mobile. Because of the low water mark much cotton which otherwise would be shipped by river has been sent to Mobile by rail. The water got so low that children waded across it. It has been many years if ever that this happened before.

A verdict was awarded to C. O. Bowers in Tuscaloosa Circuit Court against Officers Foster, Clements, Murray, R. Pate and L. C. Sims and the Union Indemnity company. The officers fired into an auto in which Bowers was riding, it was charged. The shooting occurred last September at Forrest Lake when the officers mistook the back firing of the engine for revolver shots and fired at the auto to stop what they thought to be a car transporting liquor.

The hog growers of the Brundidge territory met at Brundidge and reorganized their association for the coming year. The following officers were elected: J. E. Johnson, E. A. Jones and C. M. Bryan, executive committee; J. E. Johnson, manager; M. C. Bryan, weigher; Grady Caldwell, grader; R. L. King, county agent, was present and assisted in the meeting.

The Town of Valley Head was held by the Supreme Court in a decision to have been properly incorporated in the case of Nevil Cooper vs. the town of Valley Head. Existence of the town of Valley Head as a municipal corporation was brought in issue in the case, the court holding that it does exist as a municipality.

F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician for Alabama, was one of three members of the crop reporting board of the United States Department of Agriculture to give final approval to the cotton production report which was released in Washington, November 7. The report was the estimate for November 1.

The Alabama Public Service Commission has under advisement a petition of the Alabama Power Company for authority to extend the availability of its service classification "D," a joint electric cooking and lighting rate, so as to make it available to hotels, restaurants, barber shops and other establishments.

The long drouth is causing many cattle raisers to sacrifice their cattle at unheard of prices because pastures have burned up and creeks have gone dry. Many cattle growers have found themselves unable to care for their cattle and are sacrificing them rather than have them die of thirst or starvation.

The rate on fresh fruits from Mobile and New Orleans to Meridian, Jackson and other points in Mississippi, which was raised recently by the railroad by the cancellation of the less than carload rate has been restored to the original figure.

Higher prices than were paid last year for Thanksgiving turkeys is the forecast for this year by J. D. Pope, specialist in agricultural economics for the extension service at Auburn, after receiving information as to the turkey situation.

A posse led by Sheriff S. D. Kilgore came upon some wildcatters in the Pumpkin Center neighborhood of Walker County that were employing a novel method in distilling wildcat liquor. The men had 600 pounds of ice, which had been ordered from Jasper to be used in keeping the still worm cool.

The State Insurance Department is showing a big growth in receipts over last year, according to figures furnished by Superintendent Frank N. Julian. Receipts for 1924 to date have amounted to $717,831.21, while receipts for all of last year amounted to $617,700.36.

The three warehouses in Union Springs have received 7,151 bales of cotton thus far this season. The total ginnings of Bullock County last year up to November 1 were 6,788 bales. The indicated crop of this county for 1924 is approximately 10,000 bales.

The long drought has affected the operation of saw mills in Pickens County to such an extent that it has been found necessary to haul water for the boilers. Some mills have been forced to close down until arrangements could be made for a supply.

Ben Crumpton, Federal prohibition enforcement officer, was found not guilt of the charge of murder in connection with the shooting of Jess Coffee in Cleburne County last year by a jury in Federal District Court at Anniston.

The acreage of soy beans grown in Alabama increased 40 per cent, according to a bulletin issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Great flocks of wild geese have been flying over Alabama during the past few days. All of them are flying high and none have stopped according to hunters. The flocks are said to be unusually large.

Henry B. Chase, head of the Chase Nursery company, and former mayor of Huntsville, and Mrs. Chase have gone on a trip around the world.

A brick addition is being made to the Presbyterian Church of Sheffield to provide for a Sunday School room library room and study.

WE HAVE AN ARRANGEMENT WITH THE BONNET-BROWN COMPANY of CHICAGO, FOR THE FURNISHING OF CUTS FOR ADVERTISING PURPOSES ABSOLUTELY FREE. THIS SERVICE IS THE BEST IN AMERICA AND HAS AS CLIENTS SOME OF THE LARGEST NEWSPAPERS IN THE COUNTRY.

Never before has it been possible for a weekly paper to furnish this service without a considerable added outlay on the part of the advertiser, and even now it is only offered to the paper recognized by advertisers and readers as the leader in its section.

The Union-Banner buys the cuts; the advertiser pays for the space in the paper at the same rate as for other advertising—the price has not been advanced.

We will be glad to explain the matter more fully.

Some of our patrons have already taken advantage of this offer and others are invited to do so.

OAK GROVE

As this place has been vacant in the paper so long, we are writing to say that we are still here and donig fine.

Health here is very good at present; there has been a few cases of sickness, but we are glad to report that all are doing fine.

Last Saturday night and Sunday were our regular preaching dates. Two interesting sermons were delivered by the pastor, Rev. T. J. Deason. We received two members by letter, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Matthews.

Our Sunday School is doing fine. We have a large attendance every Sunday, and a fine school. Every class seems more interested than ever before. Come more of you all; let's make our Sunday School better.

The B. Y. P. U. is doing a good work with their good leaders, Mr. W. J. Northcutt, Junior Leader and Mrs. C. L. Martin, Senior Leader. Both groups had a fine program Sunday night and a nice crowd of visitors, which we are always glad to see.

Miss Myrtle Martin entertained her Sunday School class Friday Night. They played several games and reported a nice time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Martin, of Ensley have been spending a few days with friends and relatives here.

Miss Golda Williams of Jemison spent Sunday with Ivy Sutley.

Mr. Paul Wilson of Wylam spent a few days last week here.

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Rucker, Messrs. Sam, Ernest and Miss Velma Seals of Maplesville, spent a while Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Glass.

Mr. Earl Johnson of Dogwood spent Saturday night and Sunday here.

Miss Mildred Durbin spent last week-end here with Ollie Glass.

Misses Flossie and Jewell Cobb dined with Lola Mae Martin Sunday.

Mrs. L. R. Durbin and son Charles spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Glass.

Miss Leota Cobb dined with Myrtle Martin Sunday.

Several people from this place attended the singing at Union Grove Sunday P. M.

Next Sunday P. M. is our regular singing afternoon; everybody come and bring someone with you.

Mrs. W. M. Wyatt and children of Fort Payne came down Saturday, and will spend several days with Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Retherford.

REV. J. TOY WILLIAMS WRITES THE BANNER FROM CHINA

Rev. Rex Ray Wuchow Writes of His Experiences Among Bandits in Kwangsi Mountains.

The Union-Banner is in receipt of a very interesting communication from Rev. Toy Williams, who is now serving as a Baptist Missionary in China from the Southern Baptist Convention. Mr. Williams is a native Chilton County boy, and his many friends here will be glad to hear from him. Mr. Williams sends us Rev. Rex Ray's account of his experiences, a part of which we are publishing this week and which will be continued in next week's paper. Mr. William's letter follows:

Canton, China, Oct. 12, 1924.
The Union-Banner,
Clanton, Ala., U. S. A.

It has been just about one year since I wrote to you, and the people at home about things in China. It is my desire to write more often, but we get so busy out here that we find it hard to write more than just a few letters to the family at home.

Since writing last, I have had the management of the China Baptist Publication Society. We work about 75 men. The management of this business keeps one busy every hour of the day. Some time later I am going to write an article about the work of the Publication Society. I should like to see the people of my own home county the best informed in the State about the work that is being done in China. There are lots of Baptist people in the county who will be interested in knowing all about our work in China.

Perhaps some of your readers remember that one of our Baptist Missionaries was caught by the robbers last summer and taken to the mountains and held for ransom. I am sending you herewith a copy of Brother Rex Ray's write-up of his experiences while with the robbers. I think many people of Chilton County will enjoy reading it. It may be too long for one week, but you can continue it the next week.

The Union-Banner continues to come to me, and is always the first of a bunch of papers from America to be read. Out here so far from home, we are glad to get any papers from America, but when a lot of them reaches our home, the first one I read is the Union-Banner.

There are many things I might write about, but will stop for this time. During the coming months I hope to write more than I have been doing for the past year.

Best wishes to the Union-Banner and all of my friends back in old Chilton County.

J. TOY WILLIAMS.

"My Experiences Among Bandits in Kwangsi Mountains," by Rev. Rex Ray, Wuchow.

Knowing that the City of Kweilin had been under siege for many weeks, and hearing that Brother Bausum of the Baptist Mission and Brother Cunningham of the Missionary Alliance Mission had ben killed, we felt it our duty to try to get the other missionaries out of the city. It had been several weeks since any word had been received from our co-workers, and none of us knew of their condition. The last word received from them said the fighting was very heavy. (We know now that only Bro. Cunningham was killed.) The rumors of the Chinese said there was much suffering in the city. We, therefore, fitted out the Baptist launch "Roanoke" of the Stout Memorial Hospital, and started on the trip to Kweilin to aid our brethren who were more than 20 in number.

To be continued next week).

Bad Coughs Ended Quickly by Double-Action Remedy

Remarkable results in quickly clearing up the severest coughs have been obtained with a prescription by a well-known specialist that does two things at once. It not only soothes and heals the soreness and irritation, but it very quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. It is often astonishing how speedily the cough stops.

The prescription is known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. It is particularly valuable for night coughing. To promptly end this annoying and weakening scourge, simply before retiring take one teaspoonful of Dr. King's New Discovery and hold it in your throat 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing. People who have been unable to rest on account of continual coughing have often gotten their full 8 or 9 hours' sleep by this simple method.

Dr. King's is excellent, too, for children's spasmodic croup, bronchitis, laryngitis, bronchial asthma and hoarseness. On sale at all good druggists. Ask for

TRADE WITH YOUR FRIEND

The only thing that went wrong in the election last Tuesday was the gubernatorial race in the State of New-York. Al Smith beat young Teddy Roosevelt, which we think he should not have been permitted to do. Al's victory meant a victory for the Catholic and whiskey heads of New York City.

When the County Commissioners, Messrs. Dorminy, Mims, Walker and Littlejohn, got to Clanton for Commissioners Court Monday they heard about the fair in Montgomery, so they adjourned court and went to the fair. Or at least, that is what someone told on them.

A handful of peanut politicians in Clanton can carry off a municipal election in Clanton just like taking candy from a baby, but when they tackle old Chilton County, they find the thing different. Yes, indeed, that is a nut they haven't learned how to crack yet. The people out in the country—Beat 11 for example—are on to these Non-partisan, progressive-independent, hyphenated, Democratic maneuvers.

And again the people of Chilton County have declared themselves as being satisfied with the rule of the Republican party. It is a great mystery to the Democratic counties of Alabama and even to some Democrats in our own county why it is that Chilton County chooses to hold on to Republican government while practically all the rest of the State continues solidly Democratic. It is equally as perplexing to the people of Chilton County why the rest of the State continues to give its vote to a party which has been dead fifty years so far as efficient service to its constituents is concerned. The secret of the matter is simple. The people of Chilton County vote for service and for what they know from experience to be to their interest. The Republican party of Chilton County has given the people actual service for the taxes which they have to pay, and the Republican officials have fulfilled their campaign pledges. So long as this is done, our people cannot see for their lives what is the use of voting Democratic just for the sake of the name. The sooner Alabama goes to voting for efficient service instead of a dead tradition, the better it will be for our State government.

MIDDLETON AT THE WHEEL

Chilton County went Republican in last Tuesday's election with the safe and gratifying majority of about 600 votes, which result was due to the fact that the people of our county are interested and enlightened in the political problems of the day and are not ashamed to stand out in a Democratic State, vote their honest convictions and for what they know to be to their interest. Our good people are responsible for this victory, directly, but indirectly this victory, like those of the past in our county, was due to the untiring and vigilant efforts of the party leaders of the county. No party can stick together and succeed very long without the right kind of leadership—this fact accounts for the occasional failure of the other Republican counties of Alabama. But as the Birmingham News put it, "Chilton County, as usual, went decidedly Republican."

In the Republican campaign which has just closed, Judge Reynolds was not able to make but one speech in our county, but the "Little Colonel," Hon. J. O. Middleton, held the fort all right in the absence of the Judge. Col. Middleton went into practically every community of the county and spoke to the people on political questions, and even while he was about his duties in Clanton, he never lost an opportunity to talk in the interest of the Republican ticket. Of course, this is nothing new, because Mr. Middleton has been stump-speaking and working in other ways for the Republican party of Chilton County ever since he was old enough to vote, and he is still at the same wheel where he started. He has never side-tracked and taken off after imaginary butterflies, but has held fast to that which he knew to be right and good. In this campaign, as in all the rest for the past fifteen years, the people of Chilton County deservingly and rightfully extend to Mr. Middleton their highest appreciation for the splendid and unselfish service he has given the Republican party in Chilton County.

WHY IS IT—

UNFINISHED BUSINESS FOR NEXT CONGRESS

Washington, Nov. 10th.—President Coolidge's address to Congress next month will probably deal very largely with what might well be called "unfinished business" for as everybody knows, Congress did not give attention to all his recommendations submitted to the last session. During the recent campaign the charge was frequently made by opposition parties that President Coolidge had little legislation to his credit. The fact was that President Coolidge had made some very definite recommendations but, owing to a coalition between Democrats and radical Republicans some of these recommendations were ignored and others defeated by obstructive tactics.

It will be observed, however, that President Coolidge is not a believer in legislation as cure-all for economic needs. He did not make a very large number of recommendations for new legislation at this session, and some of these acted upon were provision for temporary operation of the merchant marine by the government until a plan for private operation can be adopted, the submission of the Labor Amendment, the strengthening of the immigration restriction law, reduction of taxes, and reduction of appropriations.

The President recommended continued independence from the League of Nations but entry into the World Court. The traditional policy on the League was continued, but no action was taken on the World Court. He recommended legislation for the reorganization of the Foreign service, and this was adopted, with prospect of great improvement through the brighter prospects offered for men who enter that service. He recommended provision for more effective enforcement of the prohibition law, and this was granted. He recommended enactment of the general features of a plan for reorganization of the executive departments, but no action was taken. He recommended that the Muscle Shoals property be ordered sold, but this recommendation was not followed.

One of the live subjects of discussion at the last session of Congress was the status of agriculture. President Coolidge opposed various paternalistic schemes that were being advanced, asserting that "No complicated scheme of relief, no plan for government fixing of prices, no resort to the public treasury, will be of any permanent value in establishing agriculture. Simple and direct methods put into operation by the farmer himself are the only real sources for restoration." He favored a reorganization of the freight rate structure, cooperative organizations, and more diversification, as a means of relief. The great improvement in the agricultural situation, without any paternalistic legislation having been enacted, seems to bear out the Coolidge view of a wise policy. It is not to be expected, therefore, that in his message to the next session he will vary that policy.

Among the other subjects concerning which President Coolidge recommended legislation but upon which no action was taken, were the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Waterway Improvement, placing of first, second and third class postmasters under the Civil Service Law, abolition of the right to issue tax-exempt securities, revision of the laws governing procedure of the Federal Trade Commission, revision of the laws regulating radio interference, and strengthening of the laws for the conservation if our Alaskan fisheries.

This review of the President's recommendation at the last session, and the action taken or not taken, will give some idea of the subjects that are likely to come up for discussion at the session beginning in December. It must be remembered, however, that this will be a short session, ending by expiration on March 4, and that the passage of the regular appropriation bills will occupy a large part of the time and attention of members of both Houses of Congress.

COOLIDGE ELECTED TO OFFICE TWENTY TIMES

Washington, Nov. 8.—Prior to the election of last Tuesday, the country, for some reason or other, had the impression that Calvin Coolidge didn't know much about politics. The country thought of him as more or less of a political foundling, a chance man of fate, a playing of destiny.

President Coolidge is the master politician. He has held political office oftener and longer than any man of his years now in Washington.

Calvin Coolidge has run for political office just 20 times. And 20 times he has been elected. If any man in politics today can match or beat that record, let him come forward at this time or forever after hold his peace. Certainly there is no one to match a path of political fortune which has run all the way from city councilman of Northampton, Mass., to the presidency of the United States, with only about five "lean" years intervening from the lowest office to the highest.

Won A Medal, Too

It might almost be said of the president that he has won 21 times, for in college he entered a national contest for a gold medal offered by the Sons of the Revolution for the best essay on the "Principles for which the colonies fought in the Revolutionary War."

The contest was open to all colleges. Young Coolidge, of Amherst, carried off the prize.

Within four years after his graduation, Coolidge had made his first political bid and won his first political victory. He was graduated in 1895. In 1899 he was in the city council of Northampton. Political victory number two came when he was elected city solicitor in 1900 for two years. In 1904 came political victory number three, clerk of courts.

Then the budding politician, who had after great deliberation, transplanted himself from Vermont to Massachusetts soil, began to warm up a bit and strike out for higher things.

Since 1909, Mr. Coolidge has never been out of public office, and he has just been elected to four more years in the White House from March 4, next. This will carry him to March 4, 1929—a stretch of 20 solid years of political preferment.

His Long Record

Mr. Coolidge's victories have come in this manner:

(1) City councilman, 1899.
(2) City solicitor, 1900.
(3) Clerk of Courts, 1904.
(4) House of Representatives, Massachusetts, 1906.
(5) Re-elected to huse, 1907.
(6) Mayor of Northampton, 1909.
(7) Reelected mayor, 1910.
(8) State senate, Massachusetts, 1911.
(9) Reelected, 1912.
(10) Reelected, 1913.
(11) Elected president of Senate, 1913.
(12) Reelected president of senate, 1914.
(13) Reelected to senate, 1914.
(14) Lieutenant governor of Massachusetts, 1915.
(15) Reelected, 1916.
(16) Reelected, 1917.
(17) Governor of Massachusetts, 1918.
(18) Reelected governor, 1919.
(19) Vice president of United States, 1920.
(20) President, 1924.

Mr. Coolidge never has made much fuss and feathers about his remarkable political record. That is why the public has known so little concerning it. He long ago adopted the theory that silence is golden and there has been no one to say him nay. Where other politicians would have been "pointing with pride," "Silent Cal" has merely gone ahead, sticking to the job, doing the day's work and reaping the harvest.

If he has lacked imagination, as some of his opponents have said, he certainly has not lacked the necessary essentials to success.

A DOUBLE TRIUMPH
(N. Y. Hearld Tribune)

The stupendous victory is in one aspect a triumph for a man. It declares a nation's faith in a great citizen, a great American, who by simplicity, by honor, by courage has gained the affection and admiration of his countrymen. It is no less a triumph for the Nation, for those principles of Americanism by loyalty to which this country has survived the tempest of not far from a century and a half.

The chief struggle of the campaign law between the Republican Party and the Socialist Party masquerading under the stolen title of the Progressive and led by a pretended Republican. The debate centered about three proposals—the effort to overturn the Supreme Court in favor of every passing Congressional majority, the demand for government ownership and operation of railroads in the spirit of communism and the surrender of all that America fought for in the great war to her enemies therein.

Upon these issues the verdict has been unmistakable. The people of America are overwhelmingly in favor of the steadfast Americanism of Calvin Coolidge. They would make haste slowly. Common sense is their guiding star. For reckless political experiment, as a vague, sentimental internationalism, they have neither sympathy nor patience.

WHAT THE BALLOT MEANS
(Phila. Public Ledger)

As plainly as ballots can reject, this Nation has rejected the bogus liberalism of Democracy and rebuked the straddling and evasions of that party. The radicalism of La Follette and the move to set up a powerful and dangerous class party in the United States have been repudiated.

Some of the lessons are so plain they cannot be mistaken. The verdict is an indorsement of Calvin Coolidge and the policies of his Administration. It is an approval of the program he charged in his first message to Congress in December, 1923. He declared then against the soldier bonus, against American entry to the League and for adhesion to the World Court. He urged the Mellon tax plan as the one fair, scientific ond enduring taxation policy for the Nation. He defended the Fordney-McCumber tariff, offered reason instead of hysteria in dealing with farm grievances and demanded national economy. There has been no White House wavering on these policies.

The Road To Better Health

Automobile Exhaust Gas Poisoning
BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

The danger of working on the car in a closed garage when the motor is running should be remembered at this time of year when the weather is likely to be cold and one is tempted to close the doors. The small one or two car garage is particularly dangerous, the relatively small air space permitting the rapid accumulation of a dangerous concentration of carbon-monoxide.

Carbon-monoxide poisoning caused by the inhalation of automobile exhaust gases seems to be increasing in frequency. It is estimated that each year there are several hundred deaths from this cause. Whether or not the health is affected by frequent exposure to this gas is a question that has not been definitely settled.

May be unaware of it.

The physical properties of carbon-monoxide are such that one may be unaware that he is inhaling it. It is colorless, odorless and tasteless. The occurrence of certain symptoms may be the first indication that the gas is being inhaled and that poisoning is taking place. Headache, dizziness, nausea, muscular weakness and twitching of the muscles are some of the symptoms. In those cases in which people have been found dead in garages, unconsciousness or death may have occured very rapidly or the victims may have ignored the earlier symptoms.

While all of these symptoms may arise from other causes, when any of them occur under circumstances in which one may have been exposed to carbon-monoxide gas, no time should be lost in getting to the fresh air. Anyone who has been overcome should be placed in the fresh air and given artificial respiration such as is used in cases of drowning. This should be kept up until the patient breathes normally.

Prevention of carbon-monoxide poisoning consists of plenty of ventilation to carry off the gas. And, in the avoidance of exposure to air known to contain it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Varicose Veins

L. M. writes: "I have varicose veins of the legs. They ache and cause my legs to feel heavy. Is there any way to cure them except by operation?"

Reply

You may get some relief by wearing an elastic bandage. This should be applied before you get out of bed in the morning. If you cannot use an elastic bandage, try wearing elastic stockings.

Keep off your feet as much as possible.

Surgery seems to be the only permanent relief.

To Replace Oil after Shampoo

P. H. T. asks: "What is a good oil to use aftr washing the head so that the hair and scalp will not be too dry?"

Reply

Use a little olive oil or petrolatum.

Ringing in the Ears

Mrs. S. R. asks: "What causes ringing in the ears? Can anything be done to relieve it?

Reply

This condition may be caused by wax or plugs of epidemics in the external ear canal; by diseases of the ear itself; or by general disease conditions such as arteriosclerosis, migraine, anemia, gout. It sometimes occurs in hysteria, neurasthenia, and as the aura, or warning, of an epileptic seizure. High blood pressure may be a cause. Treatment depends upon the cause.

Weight is Correct

W. F. W. writes: "I am seventeen years old, 5 feet 6 1|2 inches tall, and weigh 133 pounds. Is that the right weight for my age? How many hours of sleep should I need at my age?"

Reply

You are the right weight for your height and age. You should have 9 hours of sleep each night.

Gallstones

G. F. C. writes: "Please tell me if there is any medicine that will dissolve gallstones. I have had a few painful attacks which my doctor says are caused by gallstones. He says that I should be operated on. If there is any way of avoiding an operation, I would like to know it."

Reply

There is no medicine that will dissolve gallstones.

The accepted treatment of a diseased gall bladder is removal, whether stones are present or not. Your doctor has probably given you all possible treatment in the way of diet and medicine.

Operation offers your best chance of permanent relief.

Calories

S. F. Asks: "What is a calorie? Almost everything pertaining to food that one reads about says a lot about calories, so I would like to know what the exact meaning of the word is."

Reply

The calorie is a unit of energy. The energy supplied by foods is measured as heat-energy. So a calorie is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of a kilogram of water one degree, Centigrade. On combustion one gram of protein yields 2.1 calories; one gram of carbohydrate yields 4.1 calories; one gram of fat yields 9.3 calories.

You Were Wrong

M. C. S. writes:"Our seven-year-old daughter recently had an attack of sore throat. There were some patches on the throat and the doctor wanted to give diphtheria antotoxin. We objected to this because we have heard that antitoxin is harmful to the heart. Examination of cultures showed that it was not diphtheria. Were we wrong in believing that antitoxin may hurt the heart?"

Reply

You were wrong. The toxin or poison given off by the diphtheria bacilli and absorbed into the system is what damages the heart. The cases of this disease which do not receive antitoxin, receive it too late, or do not get enough of it, are the cases in which death due to heart failure occurs. Your doctor was following the safe course in proceeding to give antitoxin when he suspected diphtheria. Antitoxin is the antidote to the toxin of diphtheria and prevents heart damage.

GREAT CIVIL WAR MEMORIAL NEARING COMPLETION

NATIVES and tourists in the vicinity of Atlanta, Ga., are watching with keen interest the progress being made on the great Civil War Memorial which is being carved out of an almost vertical granite side of Stone Mountain. The work being done under the direction of Gutzon Borglum, the noted sculptor—has been speeded up lately. When completed, the wonderful memorial will be visible for miles around—so large is the area of granite through which Borglum and his assistants are cutting.

To get an idea of the gigantic undertaking, just glimpse the above photograph. Compare the figures of the men working on it with the head of Gen. Robert E. Lee which you see taking form in the side of the great wall. A plaster cast of the same head, which the men are following, is shown in the background. Mr. Borglum, the designer and its supervisor, can be seen in the center of the picture explaining to a visitor how the work is done.

In preparation for the cutting of other faces and figures in that massive mountain-side, much blasting is being done. That fact, too, reminds one of the enormity of the task still ahead of the great sculptor and talented assistants.

Peters Shells

A large measure of the pleasure is in the anticipation.

There's pleasure in carrying PETERS SHELLS to the traps because previous results prove that the shooter may expect the fullest co-operation from this ammunition.

You will have this advantage before you fire a shot and the results will show that in a pinch you can depend on PETERS SHELLS.

ECZEMA

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S.S.S. are really amazing!

MANY people imagine that eczema or tetter needs only some external application on the skin in order to get relief. This is because the attention of the sufferer is so violently directed to the intense burning and itching which accompanies this disease. Try as they may—permanent relief will never be theirs until the disease laden blood is thoroughly cleansed.

We know there is one thing that stops eczema and that is more red-blood-cells! S.S.S. builds them by the million! You can increase your red-blood-cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it. Skin eruptions, eczema, with all its fiery skin digging torture, and its soul-tearing, unreachable itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting giants of Nature! S.S.S. builds them by the million! It has been doing it since 1826.

S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body strengtheners known to us mortals! When you put these facts together,—then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs eczema, clears the skin, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, and gives you that more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

MARY LOIS MIMS

Mary Lois, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mims, died Nov. 9, 1924. She was sick only about 4 or 5 days with pneumonia and colitis. All was done that loving friends and faithful physicians could do, but God in His mercy, saw fit to call her to a better home of rest and love.

She was about 16 months old and leaves a father, mother, two brothers and two sisters and a host of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

Weep not, dear father and mother for we must all appear before the judgment seat of God.

CEDAR GROVE

The Liberty Hill and Cedar Grove singing society met at this place Sunday afternoon, November 9th. There was a large crowd present and a nice program was rendered. Directors for the afternoon were, J. W. Lowery, F. E. Mastin, Glover Smith, D. T. Melton, Claudie and Neacie Smith. A duet was sung by Claudie Smith and Onzell Eiland. Also a duet was sung by Glover Smith and Frank Mastin. We had a male quartet, a ladies quartet and a mixed quartet. Organists were, Lillie and Claudie Smith and Bonnie Littlejohn.

We will meet again on next Fourth Sunday afternoon. We invite one and all to come to our singings. If you can't sing, your presence will be appreciated just the same.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

The people of Thorsby and vicinity who attended the first entertainment of Thorsby Institute Lyceum Course for this season, given at Bates Hall last Monday night, were given a musical and dramatic feast seldom had outside large cities and towns.

The Doris Farnum Trio, a Redpath Lyceum Bureau organization consisting of Miss Doris Farnum, contralto-pianist, impersonator and harpist, Miss Evelyn Dalin, violinist, and Mr. Chas. Dalin, clarinet and saxophone artist, rendered which for versatility, technique and expression, would not fail to please the most discriminating audience.

Miss Farnum has a pleasing personality, a good voice and an efficiency in interpretation both in music and in character sketches, her reading completely absorbs the attention of her audience, whom she sways at will in whatever mood she assumes. Her genuine Irish harp is a novelty in America and is effectively used inn connection with the rendering of Irish Folk-Songs and Ballads in which each member of the company participates.

Miss Evelyn Dalin is a violinist whose work is of a superior quality, whether as accompanist or soloist. She seems to have the faculty to become so absorbed in her work that she becomes simply a part of the instrument.

Her brother, Chas. Dalin, manifested unusual skill in the use of clarinet and saxophone, his handling of the latter instrument was simply marvelous in tone quality and pleasing expression. His vocal solos in a rich baritone voice were particularly acceptable.

As a whole, as well as individually, the performance was most delightful. Probably the cap sheaf of the evening's performance was the playing of "Silent Night" as a duet, by harp and violin.

Such entertainments are pleasing breaks in the drab monotony of rural life. One lady was heard to remark, "I do not know when I have so thoroughly enjoyed all of an evening's entertainment." Another said," I was so afraid they were going to stop too soon."

Thorsby Institute is the only organization that attempts to put on such high grade entertainments for the people of this community. The next number in the course will be of a kind never enjoyed here. Something that will be of unusual interest to all classes of people, old or young. Announcement in detail will be made later.

Thorsby Institute faculty and students are very happy over a report recently recieved from the Association of Southern Colleges which says: "There are only five high schools in Alabama that are on the accredited list of this Association, meaning that all students of these five high schools who entered college last year passed their examinations, thus putting their respective Alma Maters in the 100 per cent class, and Thorsby Institute is one of the five.

When one of Thorsby Institute's graduates, who entered college this fall, received this information, he wrote, "I certainly was proud of T. I. and I said to myself that she could depend upon me to do my part to keep her there." This is the spirit that counts.

We are sorry to have the Champion family out of T. I. on account of sickness. One of the girls said to her teacher: "I had planned to be in school for five years and always be on the honor roll, and now my brother went and got sick."

Misses Palma Dahl and Gladys Flummer were week end visitors in their respective homes in Thorsby.

A few friends gathered at the home of Mrs. M. J. Soberg Monday afternoon in honor of her birthday anniversary.

Mr. E. F. Mead and wife, C. E. Mead and wife, and Mrs. Ollie Tagg, visited the Misses Simpson, in their home at Jemison last Sunday.

Parties were given at the homes of Emmett Billingsley and Clara Hayes last Saturday evening; those present report a good time.

Mr. William Neal, a farmer resident of Thorby, and his daughter, Mrs. Carrie E. Ikenbery, arrived from Indiana last Friday, and expect to spend the winter in Thorsby. They are domiciled in the house recently vacated by Clarence and Mrs. Bice.

Miss Pearl Carlson, who has spent more than a year past with friends in Chicago and Rockford, Ill., arrived in Thorsby last Wednesday evening to stay for an indefinite time with her father, John Carlson. Miss Pearl was accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Hulda Danielson, a sister of the late Mrs. John Carlson.

The Baptist Ladies Aid will entertain the Parent-Teachers Association Tuesday afternoon, November 18th, at her home, known as Teacher's Cottage.

Mrs. Reno S. Villadsen left Wednesday of this week for a visit at Jasper, Ala., where they are having a home coming celebration, and Mrs. Villadsen was formerly a Jasper girl.

Next Sunday, November 16th, will be "Home Coming" Sunday at the Congregational church. A special effort is being made to secure the presence of all resident members of the church as possible. Also all who consider this church as their home church and those not affiliated with any church, all are invited and will be welcome. It is also hoped to receive messages from absent members. Special music has been prepared for the occasion.

Rev. W. P. Lowery and G. F. Harper went to Anniston Tuesday to attend the Baptist State Conference being held there this week.

Several important real estate transfers have recently occurred in our town.

The old Wombein place west of town has been sold to Thomas Martin. The property known as the J. F. Peterson place has been sold to G. D. Thompson. Chas. A. Peterson has sold his home place to a party in Birmingham. Other sales are pending but not complete.

Albert Johnson, son of Mrs. Robert Johnson, left Monday night to attend to some important business at his home in Nebraska. He expects to return later bringing his wife and baby with him to spend the winter with his mother.

Don't deposit your money in an unusued stove, an old stocking or a tin can. People who have tried it have found it exceedingly expensive!

There are many advantages besides "Safety First" in having a bank account,—It stimulates self-respect. The man who pays his bills by check has a record of the transaction, and business men have respect for his methods.

Pine Tar and Honey Still Best for Chest Colds and Coughs

Our mothers and grandmothers would never be without pine tar syrup in the house for coughs, chest colds, etc. This was many years ago, but modern medicine has never been able to improve on this time-tested remedy. Doctors say the pine tar is hard to beat for quickly loosening and removing the phlegm and congestion that are the actual cause of the cough. At the same time pine tar and honey soon soothe and heal all irritation and soreness.

The kind that has been used with never-failing success in thousands of families for years is that known as Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. This is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in quick relief. It contains absolutely no opiates, narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to young children—fine for spasmodic croup. It tastes good, too. If you want the best, a medicine that often stops the severest cough overnight, be sure you get Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. It costs only 30c at any good druggist's.

NOW FOR A "CLEAN UP"

FOLKS, want you to meet "Ma" Ferguson, the governor—or should it be the "governess"—of Texas! The (Nov. 4) elections saw her attain that high office—and, she is the first woman to gain the title of governor in the United States—by a big plurality.

Mrs. Ferguson is just a plain, everyday housewife and mother but one who, it is said, has a keen sense of diplomacy yet a determination and initiative that is never daunted. Everybody in Texas believes that she will rule the state with equal justice to all and with malice toward none. This picture shows her already to start "cleaning house"—politically!

BAPTIST CHURCHES, UNITY ASSOCIATION—NOTICE

Beginning Sunday, Nov. 16th., Dr. J. E. Barnes, Field enlistment secretary, will spend a week among the churches of Unity Association. With two teams it is hoped to reach every church. This National Advertising Is Being Done For Your Benefit Inducing the right sort of people to move to the L. & N.-served South; pointing out attractions of the Southland to desirable citizens, rather than to those seeking the bonanza of quick profits and temporary residence—this has been the work of the L. & N. Railroad ever since it became one of the great trunk lines of the Nation.

Advertisements of the type shown here are running continously in the great farm magazines which circulate in the North, Northwest and East. They point out to the intelligent class of farmers the greater opportunities which prevail in the South, where weather, labor, and living conditions excel those of colder and more densely-populated sections.

These advertisements supplement the work of the Industrial and Immigration Department of the L. & N., and the results of this combined effort are apparent in every section of the South.

An airplane, making flights for hire is not a common carrier, Judge W. I Grubb, in Federal District Court at Anniston ruled, following hearing of evidence in the case of John W Brown, as executor of the estate of Hugh D. Brown, vs the Pacific Mutua Life Insurance Company. Brown sought to recover double indemnity from the company for a $7,500 policy held by Hugh Brown, who was accidentally killed when an airplane fell at Camp Walton, Fla., in August 1923. A clause in the policy called for double indemnity in case the insured person lost his life in an accident while on a common carrier.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has on its own motion initiated a general investigation into interstate fertilizer rates in southern territory according to notification received by the Alabama Public Service Commission. Alabama interstate fertilizer rates will be involved in the investigation, the carriers of this State having filed a petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission against the interstate rates prescribed by the Alabama commission.

At a meeting of the directors of the Gadsden Chamber of Commerce it was decided to send a committee before the council at its next meeting and urge that body to make some preparations to provide the city's share of the cost of the four hundred thousand dollar traffic bridge across Coosa river at Gadsden. It is said the city will have to hold an election to authorize bonds, probably to the amount of $35,000. The county will provide its fund from the sale of interest bearing warrants, it is said.

The act of the 1919 legislature which undertook to allow the Sheriff of Dallas County the sum of $600 per year for expenses of automobiles used by him in discharging his duty was held to be invalid by the Supreme Court. The act was passed as a general act providing that the compensation referred to should be paid to sheriffs of counties having a population not less than 53,410 or more than 58,501. The Supreme Court held that the act "in its conception and in its calculated operation was local in character."

Mayor R. A. Burns of Alabama City will abdicate his office Saturday, November 22, in favor of Boy Scouts who will run the city government for one day. An election will be held November 15 to determine who is to be mayor, aldermen, chief of police and city clerk. The Masons will support Tom Cantrell, the Woodman, Jack Isbell, the Knights of Pythias, Robert Burns, the I. O. O. F., Loui Adkins and the Red Men, Acton Machan.

Large amounts of freight are having to be refused by the Warrior river barge line due to lack of equipment to handle the shipments, and there are no prospects of an immediate improvement in this situation, according to a letter received at the traffic office of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce from R. A. Brown, of Birmingham, Ala., member of the advisory board of the Inland Waterways corporation.

Plans for the annual Mardi Gras celebration in February at Mobile is going forward at once as a result of the action taken by the executive committee of the retail department of the chamber of commerce. The committee gave its approval to the idea of the Mobile Carnival Association, and it was stated by the association will start plans at once for the Mardi Gras event.

Inspections were made during the month of October by the bureau of inspection of the State Board of Health in 37 communities in 15 counties of the State. A total of 421 inspections, exclusive of dairies and milk plants, was made. Three restaurants, one bottling plant and one soda fount were closed until sanitary conditions had been improved.

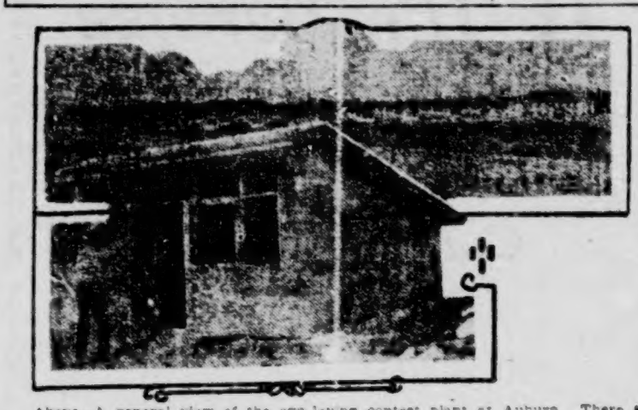
BETTER POULTRY FOR ALABAMA IS AIM OF AUBURN EGG-LAYING TEST



Above—A general view of the egg-laying contest plant at Auburn. There are 49 houses, each accommodating two pens of 10 hens each. Below—A close-up of one of the model houses.

Auburn, Ala.—Nine hundred and sixty hens—most of them Alabama hens—are busy minding their business here, which is laying eggs in Alabama's first national egg-laying contest.

The contest has been under way since November 1, when the event was formally inaugurated with a program of speech-making and a chicken barbecue dinner. There are ninety six pens in the contest, each of which accomodates ten hens, and each hen is identified by means of a leg band bearing the pen number and number of the individual hen in each pen.

The contest will last a year. At regular stated periods during the next twelve months, the progress of the contest will be announced, the standing of each pen and each individual hen being recorded by an official of the Auburn agricultural experiment station.

The purpose of the contest, as explained by John E. Ivey, head of the poultry department, is to stimulate a greater interest in poultry production and to impress on the minds of the people the importance of proper housing, feeding, breeding and management of poultry. It is not planned merely as an event for the awarding of prizes, but to increase the State's poultry industry and make it pay larger dividends.

Big Possibilities in It

"In our poultry work during the last several years," said Mr. Ivey, "we have found splendid conditions in Alabama for poultry and egg production. Natural conditions are favorable, and there is a demand within the State for hundreds of thousands of dozens of eggs more than the State annually produces. Therefore the opportunity is great, but we have problems to solve in our poultry industry. We have found more than 50 per cent of Alabama hens have been kept at a loss because of poor individuals, improper and insufficient feeding, and bad management, all of which we hope to help correct by the egg-laying contest. The contest will continue for one year, or until October 31, 1925, and on November 1 following the second annual egg-laying contest will start. We hope to make it an annual event thereafter."

All the hens in the contest are being kept under exactly the same conditions. Jazz Poultry Feed manufactured by the W. M. Cosby Flour and Grain Company, of Birmingham, has been adopted as the official feed for the contest.

The ninety-six pens in the contest contain hens that represent 56 of Alabama's counties, and counties from twelve other States. There are twelve breeds of hens that are being fed, managed and housed alike. On October 31, 1925, all the hens will be returned to their owners. A number of prizes have been offered by various concerns interested in promoting the poultry industry in Alabama, including several loving cups. The eggs secured during the contest will be sold to defray the cost of conducting it.

Plant is Worth $35,000

The splendid modern plant in which the egg-laying contest is being conducted was largely made possible by contributions of materials and supplies from firms and individuals. A conservative valuation of the plant is $35,000, but its actual cost will not exceed $17,000 because of these donations. There are forty-eight houses for housing the 96 pens, and one headquarters house for storing feed and supplies. The headquarters house contains two rooms which are being occupied by four students who are on scholarships provided by the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, and who will assist in the work of the contest.

There are some entries from the leading poultry farms of Alabama in the contest, but an effort was made by the management to attract entries from every county possible. For that reason, no extra entries from any one county were allowed to keep out possible entries from another county.

Some of the crack prize winning hens from the country's biggest poultry plants are entered in the contest, and, while it is not expected that many of Alabama's "amateur" hens will compare favorably with professional contest birds, it is felt that the contest will stimulate interest in poultry raising throughout the State.

"ENOUGH OF UPROAR"
(Washington Hearld, Dem.)

To an unprecedented degree this is a personal triumph and not a party triumph. The President has, in most States, run ahead of his ticket, leading the Republican candidates for Congress or for State and local offices. President Coolidge's cautions, conservative character has made an irresistible appeal to the American people in this conservative period of their history. They have had enough of uproar, turmoil and change. They want no chance of mistakes being made. They feel that conservative policies will enable business to restore the normal flow of prosperity.

MADDOX ATTENDS CHEVROLET TRAINING SCHOOL IN OHIO

Mr. W. L. (Fate) Maddox, chief mechanic and shop foreman for Polk Brothers, local Chevrolet dealers, has just returned from the Chevrolet factory at Norwood, Ohio, where he has been taking special course in servicing Chevrolet cars and trucks.

At this school the mechanics in training were required to take down and reassemble cars under the instructions of a Chevrolet factory expert. They were also taught the quickest and best way to correct any trouble the owners might have with Chevrolet cars.

If you are having any trouble with your Chevrolet, take it to Polk Bros., and let Mr. Maddox fix it.

Colonel R. S. Knox and Major A. M. Prentiss of the general staff of the United States army and C. G. Smith, of the department of agriculture, visited Anniston for a conference relative to the establishment of a forest reserve on that part of the army reservation at Camp McClellan which is not to be used for military purposes. The visitors went to Anniston from Washington, D. C., to make an inspection of the camp site prior to drawing up a report to submit to the war department on the adaptability of the land at the army post for forestry growth. The government has for several years been seriously considering the merger of the area at Camp McClellan which is not being used for training purposes into a forest reserve, it is said, and it is thought that the report of the committee will be the last step which will be taken prior to a recommendation to this effect by the war department to the President.

Because November 4 is election day the Supreme Court announced that the submission of cases appealed from courts in the fourth division will be made Wednesday, November 5. The call had been set for November 4 but attorneys and persons interested desired to vote before going to the capitol. Counties in the fourth division are Barbour, Bullock, Coffee, Covington, Crenshaw, Dale, Geneva, Henry, Houston, Pike and Russell.

A verdict of guilty of murder in the second degree was returned by a jury in the Madison Circuit Court in the case of Charles Byrd, Charles Peyton and Robert Limbaugh, tried jointly for the murder of Erskine Elmore, a farmer from Limestone County. The punishments were fixed as follows: Byrd, 25 years in the penitentiary; Peyton, 15 years and Limbaugh, 10 years. The defense claimed that Elmore and a companion had made themselves obnoxious to girl employes of a soft drink bottling plant and were beaten with no intention of seriously injurying them. Elmore died at the City Hospital of a fractured skull the night after he was injured. The attorneys gave notice of appeal.

CIRCUIT COURT CLOSES AFTER A VERY BUSY TERM

Many Cases Disposed of During the Session; Nine Prisoners Taken to Penitentiary Saturday.

The Fall term of the Circuit Court of Chilton county closed last Friday night, after one of the busiest two weeks ever held in the county. The last of the criminal cases were disposed of by the judge and jury Friday night. On last Saturday nine prisoners convicted last week were sent to the penitentiary. Four more were sent off Monday.

In last week's report of the court proceedings published in The Union-Banner, a number of cases, mostly whiskey cases, were written up as nol prossed, when merely this was a court action, in that the cases were taken up by the grand jury and re-indicted, and these parties will be tried under the grand jury indictment. There are some similar cases in this report.

Below is a list of the cases disposed of during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week:

Bob Clark, violating prohibition law; nol prossed on motion of solicitor.

Clyde Sims, embezzlement; nol prossed on payment of costs of sheriff, clerk and tax.

Henry Ratliff, failure to dip cattle; jury and verdict not guilty.

Manuel Harrell, public drunkenness; guilty, fined $5.00 and costs.

Annie Peavy, violating prohibition law; nol prossed.

Joseph Leonard, violating prohibition law; nol prossed.

Luke Avery, failure to work public road; jury and verdict not guilty.

Henry Barton, assault and battery; jury and verdict not guilty.

Alex Williams, grand larceny; jury and verdict not guilty.

Riley Adams, abusive language; nol prossed.

Oscar Giles, violating prohibition law; nol prossed.

Gus Wallace, manufacturing liquor and having still in possession; nol prossed.

Martin Harris, violating prohibition law; nol prossed.

T. S. Peavey, manufacturing liquor and possessing still; continued.

Harley Smith, manufacturing liquor and possessing still; found guilty, sentenced one year to 18 months; appealed, bond fixed at $1,000.00.

Harley Smith, manufacturing liquor; nol prossed.

Bob Clark, violating prohibition law; continued.

B. Igo, et als., defaulting bond; forfeiture made final in sum of $75.00 and costs.

Emmett Christian, failure to dip cattle; continued.

Joseph Leonard, driving motor without lights; nol prossed.

Oscar Giles, violating prihibition law; guilty, fined $250.00, sentenced to hard labor for county 90 days for sentence and 83 days for costs, and an additional term of six months as punishment imposed by court; appealed, bond fixed at $1000.00.

ARRESTS MADE ON MINOR CHARGES BY SHERIFF'S FORCE

On Monday morning county officers arrested in Clanton, a Greek by the name of Gus Machondy, who was wanted in Birmingham for stealing a Ford car from a drive-it-yourself concern in that city. Machondy was arrested in Clanton but the Ford car was found near Iron Ore Hill in Beat 16 with the license tag and one tire missing. The owners have called for the car and the Greek is being held in jail till Birmingham authorities come for him.

Earl Martin was brought down from Stumps Hills Sunday night by Speial Deputy Robinson, charged with violating the prohibition law. Martin was placed in jail, where he still remains.

Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee went out in the Easterling community east of Clanton Sunday night and got hot in after some whiskey traffickers. No one was arrested, but one man who has been arrested before threw down a jug and ran off. The officers got the jug and are on the trail of the man. They know who the man is.

Will Thompson, negro from near Maplesville was arrested Monday charged with grand larceny. He was lodged in jail.

Martin Harris from Stanton was arrested Monday under a grand jury indictment for making whiskey, and placed in jail.

CHILTON HIGH TRIMS MARION RESERVES

Friday afternoon, Nov. 7, the C. C. H. S. "Tigers" gave the Marion Institute Reserves from Marion, Ala., as neat a trimming as anyone who wants to see the under dog win, could ask for. The Marion crew, boasting an almost inpenetrable defense, came to Clanton, it seemed, to have a little practice at the expense of the Chilton boys, but they soon found that they must fight hard to stem the tide of the passing, plunging, sprinting Chilton backs. In the third quarter, a Marion man intercepted a Chilton pass and ran 85 yards to cross Chilton's goal line for the first time this season. Here Chilton began to fight in earnest. Five minutes before the final whistle the Chilton line, bucking a line that outweighed them 15 pounds to the man, opened a hole wide enough to drive a wagon through, through which Hayes went for the first Chilton touchdown. Hayes failed at goal, making the score, Marion 7, Chilton 6. With three minutes to play, Thompson, for Chilton, intercepted a short forward pass, Chilton taking the ball on her own 40-yard line. Here Chilton opened an air attack, dazzling and bewildering to the visitors. In two and a half minutes, they threw 10 passes, completing 7. Thirty seconds before the end of the game, a pass, Hayes to Thompson, standing behind Marion's goal line, netted the winning score.

The final score was, Chilton 12, Marion 7. This leaves Chilton with a clean slate so far as games are concerned. In the five games played so far, Chilton has made 128 points, while their opponents have scored 10.

FIDDLER'S CONTEST

There will be a Fiddler's Contest at Maplesville High School on Thanksgiving night, November 27th. Come and hear the fiddlers from Autauga, Bibb, Dallas and Chilton.

DAYS WE'LL NEVER FORGET

12,971 BALES GINNED IN CHILTON TO NOV. 1

The Department of Commerce at Washington recently issued a statement of the cotton ginned in all the counties of Alabama. Up to November 1, 1924, there were ginned in Chilton County 12,971 bales, against 6,909 up to the same date of last year. Up to November 1 this year there were ginned in the State of Alabama 815,597 bales as against 492,042 up to the same date last year. Jefferson county produced the smallest number of bales of any county in the State, it producing 230 bales this year and 398 bales last year. Note that Jefferson produced more cotton last year than it did this year. Every other county in the state about doubled this year what it had last year.

EDUCATION—THE CONNECTING LINK

Education

Yesterdays—We rode in wagons; plowed with oxen; harvested with the cradle; threshed with the frail; read by candle light.

Todays—Upheave the fields with tractors; harvest and thresh with the same operation; read and acquire knowledge by electric light and radio.

Eduration Has Developed Our Yesterday's Into Todays

If there are schools and communities which are still in their YESTERDAYS educationally because of lack of facilities, such as trained teachers, modern buildings, adequate equipment, improper safeguards and concern for health, morals, thrift, safety and citizenship, then these conditions exist because of lack of local initiative and sentiment.

Such handicap is unfair to the child, unnatural to the ambitions of parenthood nad un-American in its very existence.

In the gratitude of your prosperity, let your insuiring mind determine the educational opportunity of your community and pledge your influence and support to officials that your schools may be placed in the very today and todays and ready to meet the demand of the tomorows.

BAKER THANKS VOTERS

Clanton, Ala., Nov. 20, 1924.

I wish to thank the voters of Chilton County for the support which I received in the general election on November 4. I appreciate what you did for me all the more because you did it without one word of solicitation on my part since my name was petitioned to the Probate Judge to appear on the ballot.

I realize more than ever before the responsibility that is hanging on the County Board of Education, but I also realize that each parent and teacher must bear a part of the responsibility, and without the co-operation of all it is impossible to have good schools.

It shall be my policy to as nearly as possible to carry out the wishes of the majority of the voters of Chilton County in all important matters pertaining to education. I shall try to follow the example set by our great President Calvin Coolidge when my mind is not clear on any subject, "keep silent" until I know how to speak.

I welcome the advice and suggestions of anybody and everybody at all times. Again thanking you for your support, let me make one other request, "Put your shoulder to the wheel and let's have the best schools in old Chilton that are to be found anywhere."

Yours for better schools,
Wm. R. BAKER.

PEOPLE SHOULD NOT SET WOODS ON FIRE

Anywhere one may go, he sees the woods on fire. This is not only injurious to timber but it is very dangerous to property. The houses of lots of people are near the woods, and when the woods are on fire, the wind is liable to blow sparks into them and set them on fire. Everything is so dry now that most anything will burn very readily when fire is applied. Forest fires are very bad about burning bridges. We have heard of instances over the county where the bridges on the public roads were burned as a result of the woods being set on fire. People who own wooded land should use every precaution to keep the fire out of it, especially while the weather is so dry.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY, ALA.

Clanton, Ala., Nov. 8, 1924.

Editor Union-Banner:

Permit me by this means to partially express my thanks and appreciation for your loyal support in the general election held on November 4. I cannot command words to express my appreciation of your support, but I can to a great extent express it to you in service, and that is my intention. I shall strive to make you as good and if possible the best Commissioner you have ever had.

It is true that there is very small monetary value to the office to which you have elected me, but there is a great deal of responsibility to it and it is the trust and confidence that you have reposed in me that makes me appreciate it so much and desire to do you service. I promise you now as before the election that I will do everything in my power and to the utmost of my ability to serve the people and to serve in a way and manner to comply with the wishes and best interest of a majority of the people of the county as best I can know and find out.

I also feel very grateful to Hon. J. Osmond Middleton for his untiring efforts in behalf of the Republican ticket and party as a whole.

I intend to be Commissioner of the whole people without regard to politics. Politically, of course, I am a Republican, but officially I intend to be a servant. And if we can get the co-operation of the people, I feel and believe that there can and will be a great forward movement and a period of great prosperity for old Chilton County for the next several years.

Thanking you again for your support, and assuring you, one and all, that my aim is to serve you, I beg to remain,

Yours very truly,
A. P. VINSON.

VOTERS OF CHILTON COUNTY

I take this means of thanking you for your most generous support in the November election.

Not having words to express my full appreciation for your support, I can only repay you through my work and service in the office at the court house, and I assure you I shall consider it an act of kindness on your part to call upon me when I can be of service to you in any way.

Very respectfully,
GENIE COLLINS.

THIRTEEN MEN TAKEN TO PEN SATURDAY AND MONDAY

Last Saturday afternoon quite a bit of excitement was created when the Sheriff marched nine men down to the train bearing their transports to Kilby Prison. It was a spectacular sight. Some people were sorrowful because some of these prisoners were their loved ones, while others were there to rejiice because they were glad to see the solemn rites of the law meted out to those who had committed certain crimes against the law of the land and against their fellowmen. Following is a list of those sent to Kilby Prison:

Roy Clayton, convicted for carnal knowledge and sentenced for five years; Sam Cunningham, a negro, convicted for making whiskey and sentenced to one year to 14 months; Steve Dutton, manufacturing liquor, one year to 13 months; Robert Harris, negro, manslaughter, one year and one day; George Headley, making whiskey, two to three years; Marshall Headley, making whiskey, one year to 13 months; Calvin McNeil, negro, grand larceny, two to three years; Calup Smith, making whiskey, one year to 13 months; Frank Thomas, negro, grand larceny, two to three years.

On Monday the following were taken to Vredenburgh Lumber Camp to serve sentences: Will Gore, violating the prohibition law, three months; Joe Dees, petty larceny, 76 days; Chatman Trott, assault and battery, 93 days; Nathan Parrish, assault and battery, 106 days.

BUD HEADLEY KILLED BY FALLING TREE TUESDAY

Mr. Bud Headley of Greasy Ridge was instantly killed Tuesday afternoon about 3:00 o'clock, when some log-cutters felled a tree upon him. Mr. Headley was hauling logs, and the log cutters did not know that he was near. Mr. Headley's head was crushed, as well as a leg and some other parts of his body. He died almost instantly.

The tragedy happened on the old place of George Edwards on Greasy Ridge. Mr. Headley was about 35 years of age.

REPORT OF THE GRAND JURY OF CHILTON COUNTY

Examined 96 Cases and 530 Witnesses and Returned 60 True Bills

To the Hon. George F. Smoot, Judge of the 19th Judicial Circuit of the State of Alabama:

We, the Grand Jury empanneled at this the Fall Term of the Circuit Court of Chilton County, Alabama, beg leave to make this our final report.

We have examined 96 cases and 530 witnesses and have returned 60 true bills. We have examined the bonds of the county officials and find same with sufficient sureties to amply protect the county.

We have examined the books of the County Superintendent of Education and found them neatly and correctly kept so far as we could ascertain. We have examined the books of the County Treasurer and find them neatly and correctly kept and we attach his report and mark it Exhibit "B."

We find the fee book of the Probate Judge has been kept as provided for by law so far as we were able to ascertain. We have examined the Sheriff's feed book and found it neatly and correctly kept as far as we could ascertain. We have examined the Poor House and found it in good shape. There were 15 inmates, one negro woman. All of these people appeared to be well cared for; they told the Committee from the Grand Jury that they had plenty to eat. The houses are kept clean and at the present time the county is making some repairs looking forward to the better conditions of our poor. All of this we want to heartily endorse.

We find that the Jail of our county is in a neat and splendid condition. Our Sheriff is taking care of the prisoners in a way to meet the approval of the people of our county. We find the Court House in good condition, except the heating system appears to be out of order and we recommend that the county authorities whose duty it is to look after this will have it attended to. We noticed some of the moulding in the court room has fallen and we recommend that this be repaired and attended to. We recommend that the Court of County Commissioners re-adjust or re-arrange the doors at the entrance of the court room from the front—arrange them in such manner that they can be opened and closed without so much noise. We recommend that these doors be placed on spring hinges so that they may be opened from both ways so that the people can pass in and pass out of the court room without so much noise.

We have had no complaint to the Grand Jury regarding our public roads. The report is that the roads are in better condition than they have ever been before.

We want to thank your Honor for the able, clear and impressive charge delivered to us. It has been of much help to us in our deliberations. We want to express our appreciation for the able and efficient work of our Circuit Solicitor. He has aided and guided us in our deliberations in a

"MY EXPERIENCE AMONG BANDITS IN KWANGSI MTS.

By Rev. Rex Ray, Wuchow, Baptist Missionary to China.

When we were about four days' journey up the Foo river above Wuchow, our plans were broken up by our falling into the hands of bandits.

Our party consisted of Bros. Jaffray, Carne, and Miller of the Alliance Mission, and Rex Ray of the Southern Baptist Mission, together with some 18 Chinese. We also had an escort of 80 Chinese soldiers Some 75 of these felt that it was better for their health back over the mountains, when the bandits began firing upon us, and so they left us with the bandits without even bidding us "farewell." These soldiers seemed also to have a desire to keep their ammunition instead of sending it over the rifle-route towards the bandits.

As I waited in the pilot house, the bullets were whizzing all about our boat and some were whizzing into it. It was at this time the Lord fulfilled His promise in Psalm 91:4-5. I also remembered the words my mother spoke when my brothers and I were enlisting in the army to go to France. "The Lord can direct the bullets away from you."

When we left Wuchow, we thought we were going to take aid to those who were beseiged in Kweilin, but it seemed that God had other plans for us. We soon realized He was preparing us to preach the Gospel to lost souls in bandit camps.

The Bible means more to me now than it did before our experience with the bandits. Many times before, as I read the Bible, it seemed to apply to times and peoples of by-gone ages. But during our captivity, the Holy Spirit brought the dear old Book up to date for me. Many of its passages seemed to me had been prepared for pilgrims of old. But while we were in the hands of the enemy, and earthly means of help were far away, the Holy Spirit made the Blessed Word of God live again for me. The messages of Jesus brought peace and comfort to my soul.

Whether we were marching or resting, the promise of Jesus in John 14:26 was fulfilled, where He said the Holy Spirit would bring to our remembrance all things whatsoever He had said.

After the robbers quit firing at us, they crossed the river and ordered us over to their side of the river. They marched us up the river bank. Just as I reached the top, two of the robbers grabbed at my masonic ring. They kept pulling at it until they got it, while others kept me moving along. Then one fellow snatched my glasses off my nose, and someone grabbed my pith hat off my head, and in a short time others were going through my pockets. When they found my pocket book, I reached into my pocket and pulled it out. I opened one side of it, took out the money and handed it to them. The silver coins caught their eyes and I put the purse back into my pocket. A day or so later I was curious to know whether I was broke or not. I looked into the other side of the purse and found that I still had 60 cents. A few days later this 60 cents was just the amount I needed.

When the bandits finished picking my feathers, they gave me a chance to see my brethren. I found they wese picked even cleaner than I, as they didn't have a penny left, and were hatless too. The robbers then piled on the boat and sacked it from stem to stern, smashed the insides of it with axes, then poured kerosene over the upper deck and set it on fire. Through the heroic efforts of about three of the crew, who were left on the boat, the fire was extinguished. At this time we remembered the words of Jesus in Matt. 10:16—"Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves." As we heard these wild excited bandits tearing and smashing the boat, yelling and squalling over the loot, they sounded exactly like a pack of hungry wolves tearing a young lamb or calf to pieces. Truly we knew that we were in the midst of wolves.

We also remembered the last part of that same verse where Jesus said, "Be ye therefore, wise as serpents, and harmless as doves." When one is looking down several gun barrels at once, and sees dirk knives in the belts of excited bandits, I am quite sure it is wise to do as they say. When they said, "Hand things over, hit the trail, climb a ladder" up into a dark left that had only one small hole in the wall some 6x8 inches, for ventilation, it seemed wise to obey. At one end of the room we saw a big swarm of bees, and big piles of dirt and filth all about the room. We obeyed orders, and sat down on the filthy floor that had many of the very-much-alive bees crawling about on it, while we had to breathe the substitute for air which was composed of kerosene torch smoke, cigarette smoke and opium smoke. Some of our party forgot about the varieties of smoke in their efforts to pull out the bee stings. For pastime we looked at other prisoners who had been bound there in that filthy hole for days. As I looked at their beards, I wondered if we would be in there that long too, or whether the germs would devour us first.

The Lord also said, "Do good to them that despitefully use you." Just after the robbers set fire to the boat, the bandit chief came to me with a roll of my bandage and my bottle of mentholatum, and asked me to bind up his leg that got burned when they fired our boat. I gladly did his burns up, and then asked a little favor of him. I only asked him to let our boat crew go free; some fourteen men who were being taken away with us. The chief said, "Alright," and commanded his men to set them free to go back to the boat. His men hesitated to do so, but when he threatened them with sudden death, they quickly obeyed orders. So this little kindness to an enemy not only brought freedom to our boatmen, but caused them to marvel at the difference between the acts of Christianity and those of heathenism.

We felt we must heed this command of the Master—"As ye go, PREACH." Constantly, we were face to face with lost souls who heeded Jesus. At all times the Holy Spirit gave us a message for each wanderer who came our way. See Mark 13:11. We didn't have the opportunity to prepare sermons with points 1, 2 and 3 in them. Perhaps we would be asked to explain the use of some article that had been taken away from us. Sometimes it would be a tin of milk, a can of corn, charcoal tablets, a BVD suit, or my kodak. But the Lord always gave us a message for each one who spoke to us.

The Holy Spirit cared for the seed that was sown in the hearts of these poor fellows. He made them willing to listen to the story of Jesus and His love for them. Not only that but many of these men came back again and again to hear more about Jesus. Some were convicted of their sins and earnestly sought the way of Eternal Life. When the bandit chief heard about the love of Jesus, tears came into his eyes. One of the men said that he repented of his sins and at once trusted Jesus. What a sweet hour it was as we bowed in the headquarters of the bandits and prayed for the salvation of this poor young man. I trust that our Master will bring many of these lost souls into His Kingdom.

In all these trying days and weeks the Great Comforter carried on His work in our hearts. Many times we thought about the great eternity and wondered if the time of our departure from this earth was near at hand. On one occasion, after the bandits' plan had failed to bring them any money, the chiefs were disappointed and very angry. We didn't know what they would do to us. At this time one of our fellow Chinese prisoners, who is a fine Christian, said, "I don't think we are going back to Wuchow. I think we are going to our Heavenly Home." In hours like these, food and raiment for the body didn't amount to much. But the Holy Spirit brought us the words of the Master which were food to our souls, "Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid." One dark night I was debating the quetion whether or not I should try to escape, as it seemed the Chinese officials could not arrange for our release. While I lay there on my "bed boards" it seemed to me that I could hear a small voice speaking out of the darkness, "My grace is sufficient for thee." A few minutes later these words came out of the darkness, "Not to-night." So I felt the Lord didn't want me to leave that night. Our daily prayer was for the Lord to deliver us in His own way and in His own time, if it was His will that we should go free at all.

It was not very comforting to think that perhaps I had seen my wife and two dear little boys for the last time on earth, but when I looked toward my Father's Home on High, and prayed for His will to be done, His Spirit comforted my soul. Many times Bro. Carne and I sang and prayed together sitting there in robber dens at night. The Spirit of God overflowed our souls with joy and thankfulness to our Lord and Saviour. Then, as never before, I understood how happy Paul and Silas doubtless were as they sang and prayed in prison.

When we began marching with the bandits, I had to make a hat. I took a handkerchief and tied a knot in each corner and put it on my head. Then I took some letters that I had picked up out of the loot, and put them on my head, and still another handkerchief on top to hold them on. Each time we crossed a stream of water I reached down and put a few handfuls of water on my new handkerchief hat to keep it wet. I did my best to make it a sun-proof hat.

In ordinary times, if I am not very careful about wearing a pith hat in the sun, I get a pain in the back of my neck, and am very sick for a few hours. But during those days when I marched over the mountains with my handkerchief hat on, there was one promise of God that kept ringing in my soul, "The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night." Ps. 121:6. How true this promise is, for not once did I feel a touch of the sun.

"HEY! SEE THIS? THANKSGIVING'S COMING!"

PRETTY soon you'll be hearing the youngsters on the street delightedly chinning about—"Oh, boy! We're goin' to have a big turkey at our house. An' cranberries, an' punkin pie, an' sweet potatoes, an' everything. H-m-m-m, wish Thanksgivin' was to-morrer!" And that same line of talk holds good for every town and hamlet in the land, for Thanksgiving is a big day for kiddies and grown folks alike.

In the meantime, many a farmer's son will be disporting about the farmyard somewhat in the manner of the above youngster. Showing Mr. Gobbler what he's soon due to "get in the neck."

On the afternoon of Thanksgiving, the W. O. W. will give a public supper at the Lodge Hall in Thorsby at 5 o'clock sharp. Everyone is most cordially invited to come out and bring a good fat basket. One does not have to belong to the order to be welcome. Come and lets have a good time together.

AN ORDINANCE

To levy a tax of five Mills on each dollar's worth of taxable property and on all subjects of taxation, liable therefor, within the corporate limits of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, for the tax year of 1924, and to provide for the assessing and collecting of said taxes.

Be it ordained by the Town Council of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, as follows:

Section 1.—There is hereby levied a tax of five (5) mills on each dollar's worth of property and on all subjects of taxation within the corporate limits of the Town of Clanton, Alabama, for the tax year, 1924, which are not by law exempt from taxation. Said tax is levied for the purpose of raising revenue with which to pay legal obligations and expenses heretofore created or which may be hereafter created by said Town of Clanton, Alabama.

Section 2.—The Town Clerk of the Town of Clanton, Ala., be and hereby is directed to make the assessment of said taxes. Said assessment to be made as provided by Article 31 of the Political Code of Alabama, 1923. Upon the completion of the assessment, the clerk of said town is hereby directed to return the assessment to the town council, which shall thereupon give ten days notice, by publication in some newspaper published in Clanton, Alabama, that the assessment has been completed and that the council will hear and determine objections thereto upon a day not more than thirty days from the date on which said notice was directed to be made.

Read, adopted and approved finally, on this the 18th day of November, 1924.

V. J. GRAGG, Mayor.

Attest:
ADA M. ATKINSON,

La Follette says the Third party is here to stay—to stay in third place.

Judging by the results, what the so-called "Progressive" party needed was a better set of candidates. The ones they had certainly did not prove to be very good vote-getters.

While Davis was picking a running-mate he should have picked one who could carry his own state. But, at that, Bryan did as well as Davis.

The newspapers of nearly all large European nations are pleased with the outcome of the election in the United States because the result means that we shall continue a policy of friendly helpfulness without mixing in their affairs. The good effects of the Dawes plan have already proven the wisdom of the Republican policy.

Whenever the Democrats can offer issues that appeal to a large part of our successful men of affairs they can command a campaign money chest comparable to that of the Republicans this year. Men with comfortable incomes have made their money because of their ability to discriminate between good and bad investments. That is the reason they contributed to the Republican funds and voted the Republiran ticket.

Judging from recent procedures, Judge Smoot as well as Sheriff Littlejohn and his deputies, are tired of fooling around with the law violators of Chilton county. It looks mighty bad for people to have to be sent off to the penitentiary, leaving their loved ones, but the laws of the land must be recognized. If folks dislike punishment and suffering and privation, they ought to take the second thought and stay out of the way of the law.

The Union-Banner wishes o heartily commend the courts of the county and Sheriff Littlejohn and his force of wide-awake deputies for the splendid work they are doing to enforce the laws of our county, state and nation. We believe the law is being enforced in Chilton county today better than it has ever been before, and all good citizens should be thankful for this fact.

Of course not all of the people who voted for Coolidge believe in all of the things that Coolidge stands for. Quite likely the majority of people who voted for him disagree with him on some feature of governmental policy. But those who marked their ballots for him indicated that they agree with his most important policies and that on the whole they find themselves in nearer agreement with him than with any other candidate who was running.

Mr. La Follette describes the result of the election as "the loss of one battle in the age-long struggle of the masses against the privileged few." The Senator is seeing things upside down again. With the vote 14,000,000 for Coolidge to 4,000,000 for LaFollette it looks as though the masses won, instead of lost, their battle. It is barely possible the masses look upon the Senator and his friends as the "few" who are seeking to exploit them.

"HOW SHARPER THAN A SERPENT'S TOOTH"

The basest ingratitude that has been anywhere displayed since the results of the election became known, was in the following remark of the New York "World," the leader of the Democratic press:

"If the Democratic party is to wage a successfol campaign in 1928 or any subsequent year, it must be done forever with Mr. Bryan, his family and his platforms."

That comment was based upon a statement by William Jennings Bryan to the effect that the Democrats must begin at once on the campaign of 1928.

Now look at the facts.

The Democratic convention, with the approval and connivance of the "World," had nominated John W. Davis for President, and Mr. Davis dictated the nomination of Charles W. Bryan, manifestly for the sole purpose of getting the benefit of the prestige and influence of Bryan, his family and his platforms. If not, what earthly reason was there for the election?

And Mr. Bryan came through as desired. He had made the statement publicly that Davis was impossible—that he could not carry a single Western state. Nevertheless, William J. Bryan swallowed his words in abject humility and went out on the stump to stultify in the hope that Davis might win. No man in American political history ever made such a sacrifice for the benefit of his party.

"Who steals my purse steals trash—but he who filches from me my good name robs me of that which not enriches him but makes me poor indeed."

Davis and the "World" and the Democratic party did not take Bryan's purse, but they asked him for his good name, and he gave it—and today he stands before the American people "poor indeed," shorn of that high honor that was accorded him as a man who stood for principle above all else.

And if Mr. Bryan stultified himself by his support of Davis, so did the "World" in equal degree stultify itself by supporting Charles W. Bryan. If the "World" had been honest with itself and with its readers, it would have denounced Bryan, on the morning after the convention as it now denounces him after the election. It did not do so. It was willing to conceal its real opinions in the hope that party success might thereby be attained.

The Democratic party may need to get rid of the Bryan family, as the "World" says, but, if so, it also needs to get rid of the "World" as well.

THE ANNUAL VICTIM

PECAN GROWING IN ALABAMA VALUABLE AS FOREST TREES

Montgomery, Ala., Nov. 17.—Wild pecan trees have recently been found in the vicinity of Uniontown, Ala., meauring approvimately four feet in diameter. One fallen trunk measured considerably over this figure. Men who have lived in the vicinity for over seventy years stated that when they were small children trees equally as large as these were very abundant.

The native pecan is among the most valuable forest trees. Everyone is familiar with the cultivated varities derived from this stock, and the people of the various sections in which the native tree flourishes have good reason to be proud of this item of their natural resources.

Of late years there has been a question raised as to whether the wild pecan was native to Alabama. Early botanists included the tree among those indigenous to the State, but the latest books on the distribution of forest trees omit reference to the pecan in the forests of Alabama, leaving the impression that the apparently wild specimens were really planted by human agency.

To settle this question, Dr. Roland M. Harper of the Alabama Geological Survey and Major Page S. Bunker, State Forester, made a field examination through the sections of the State where the pecan had been reported as existing in a natural wild state. The large specimens discovered and the testimny of the old inhabitants indicate beyond a doubt that the wild pecan existed in Alabama long before any probability of its being introduced into this State from other regions. Thi most interesting and valuable tree has therefore been officially entered in the list of native Alabama trees.

Uncle Abe says the men who talk the least and do the most not only get the most results, but have more to talk about when they're all done.

SANCTUM SIFTINGS

Boston News Bureau.—In a broader view the growth of the country, but in a nearer range the comparatively quick recovery from a brief and partial eclipse of prosperity chiefly due to politics, are recorded by one of the most accurate physical measurements of American business—volume of railroad freight tariff. It signalizes the second week of October with an absolute new high record. The total of 1,102,336 cars moved in the week ended Oct. 18 was nearly 5000 cars greater than the former high, reached n the last week of September a year ago.

Dubuke Times-Journal —Eight hundred thousand farmers of Russia were murdered and executed by Trotzky and Lenine because they hesitated to surrender their farms and their savings to the scoundrels at the head of the revolutionary government of that unhappy country. And yet some of our reformers tell us that Russia today has a better government than America.

Los Angeles Times.—Neither the American producer nor the American consumer can afford to put all his lemons in a Mediterranean basket. Yet, if we destroy our protective tariff, we shall have to take what Europe chooses to send us at its own price or to revive a late song and make it refer to lemons instead of to bananas.

Omaha Bee.—Only one interpretation can be put on the result of the election. Americans are content with Coolidge and have confidence in Dawes.

Washington Post.—Miss America is sitting petty . Values in stock, grain and cotton markets rise $324,000,000 in one day, which looks like rubbing salt into Bob La Follette's wounds.

Philadesphia North American.—If LaFollette was right that the election was being bought he must be wrong in having such abounding faith in the peepul.

Wall Street Journal.—Dawes can make even a Vice Presidency interesting, and it is certain that the Senate will have a presiding officer who is not afraid of it.

Columbia Record.—When you can force your enemy to lend you money, you may boast of being as efficient ts the Germans.

Boston Transcript.—Don't worry about Mr. Davis. The tax returns indicate that he can practice law.

Fort Wayne Sentinel.— If there's anything the overwhelming majority of the American people do NOT want, it is American participation in the Geneva super-state.

New York Hearld.—Even the most alert news-reel photographers did not succeed in photographing William Jennings Bryan in the act of making a speech for Davis.

Jersey City Journal.—You never hear a man yelling for liberty if the paying teller stands in awe of him.

FARM FACTS

Dairy farming is cash farming.

Baldwin county won first place at the recent State Fair in Montgomery.

When it comes to dollars and cents, the cow, sow, and hen make a running team.

Cleaning out the corn crib well before the new crop is put in will help keep down weevil injury.

Farm boys and girls are entitled to every day of schooling they can get. A day missed is a day lost.

Before killing hogs write to Extension Service, Auburn, Alabama, for a copy of bulletin No. 56, entitled "Curing Pork on the Farm."

Uncle Ab says the men who talk the least and do the most not only get the most results but have more to talk about after they're all done.

A good permanent pasture with a few livestock will show the greatest per cent profit of any investment at the end of each year.

Too many farmers still do not realize that the experiment stations and agricultural colleges exist largely to save costly mistakes and long experience through struggles by farmers.

The scrub sire is a luxury that few farmers can afford; his first cost is only a small part of the entire cost, for each one of his offspring is worth at least a dollar less than that of a purebred ram.

Cooperative organizations are rapidly making good business men out of thousands of farmers who formerly believed that there were no profits to be made farming.

Fall is soil improvement time as well as harvest time. Sow cover crops, stop washes; build terraces. The farmer who does not do these things loses the full benefit of the high-priced fertilizers he put on the land during the spring and summer.

Weevils are no respector of owners when it comes to eating corn. Ask your county agent for information about how to kill them with carbon disulphide.

Terraces are not needed in dry weaher but it is a mistake to wait until winter rains begin to construct them.

The "rule of thumb" measures that were good enough for our fathers are not good enough today, else there would be no progress.

The farmer who finds the best market for the products of his farm is the one who produces the best products.

Every home should have a kitchen high stool; a satisfactory one may be bought for two or three dollars or made from a child's high chair by removing the arms and back.

When farm work was not pushing last winter farmers of Lauderdale County, Alabama, staged a telephone repair week and put their telephones in order. They repaired old lines, built new lines, and made many other improvements. E. L. Deal, County Agent, was leader of the movement.

The Road To Better Health

EFFECTS OF OVER-EATING
BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

What will happen to the one who overeats on a single occasion?

We can speculate to some extent on what may happen, our speculations being based on the condition of the individual at the time he commits t heoffense.

If he has sound digestive organs, a sound heart, healthy arteries and kidneys, a normal blood pressure, is not over-weight and has no tendency to diabetes, perhaps nothing will happen. There may be some feeling of discomfort or a slight digestive upset. But, this person is not a regular offender, so he suffers no serious results.

When the digestive organs are less healthy, one may not get off so easily. An acute and somewhat severe digestive disturbance may be the penalty.

Hard to Predict Effect

What any one indulgence in too much dinner will do to those who have diseased hearts or kidneys, hardened arteries or high blood pressure, is difficult to predict. Nothing may happen. Excessive eating would add to the strain on the organ of circulation. The large amount of protein likely to be consumed may place an additional burden of work on the already diseased kidneys. Digestive disturbances may result and prove serious in those whose hearts are badly diseased.

Victims of angina pectoris (neuralgia of the heart) have often eaten too heartily a short time previous to one of the attacks. In the presence of a high blood pressure and brittle, hardened arteries, a heavy meal has been followed by an apoplectic stroke.

Those who are over-weight add to their burden of fat. The large amount of carbohydrates likely to be consumed in the course of a big dinner may cause the appearance of sugar in the urine in the case of those who are on the verge of diabetes. The diabetic patient lessens his chance of recovery.

And, everyone knows that food of the wrong kind and in excessive amounts often causes digestive disturbances in children.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Sore Mouth

W. F. G. writes: "During the past two years, I have frequently been troubled with a sore mouth and tongue. I try to keep my teeth clean and use some mouth wash. Sometimes my appetite is not good. I would like to know what causes such frequent sore mouth and what can be done for it?"

Reply

Foods that are too hot or irritating, smoking, infections of the mouth, digestive disturbances, anemia and other debilitating conditions may cause the soreness.

Avoid all sources of irritation to the mouth. Have an examination to determine the condition of your general health. As a sore tongue is sometimes present in certain kinds of anemia, have a blood examination.

Clean Teeth Twice a Day

T. L. F. asks: "What is the best time to clean the teeth, morning or night?"

Reply

If you clean your teeth but once a day, clean them at bed time. It seems to be the accepted idea that teeth should be cleaned both morning and night. Some authorities have recommended brushing the teeth after each meal.

His Temperature Varies

A. K. writes: "In the morning my temperature is sometimes only 97.8 degrees Fahrenheit. Later in the day it often rises a high as 99.0 degrees. What wiuld cause my temperature to go up and down like that? There does not seem to be anything the matter with me."

Reply

While the average normal temperature of the human body is 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit, it probably varies within certain narrow limits. One authority gives the minimum and maximum normal temperatures of the adult as 97.2 degrees and 99.5 degrees Fahrenheit respectively. (These temperatures are determined by placing the thermometer under the tongue).

Why do you take your temperature so often? If you have any doubt as to your general health, you should be examined.

Infantile Paralysis

Mrs. A. L. W. writes: "There have been some cases of infantile paralysis near where we live. We would like to know if this disease is contagious, what the symptoms are, and whether adults ever get it?"

Reply

The name of infantile paralysis is acute anterior poliomyelitis. The disease is contagious but, apparently mildly so. It is transmitted from one person to another either by direct contact or by means of carriers. The virus seems to be present in the secretions of the nose, throat and mouth of those suffering from the disease and those who are carriers. Infection results from contamination wtih these secretions.

The symptoms are fever, pain in the head, pain and stiffness in the back of the neck and often down the spine and in the legs. The patient may be either drowsy or irritable. The throat and eyes may be reddened. There may be vomiting. In many cases paralysis of some groups of muscles of the legs, arms, and even of the trunk rapidly develops. The muscles of the legs are most often affected. Not all cases of acute anterior poliomyelitis develop paralysis.

The disease occurs most frequently in children under six years of age. It is uncommon among adults.

Infection With Round Worms

Mrs. H. S. asks: "How do round worms get into the bowels?"

Reply

The eggs (ova) are conveyed to the mouth by drinking water, vegetables, fruits, and dirty hands. Flies may possibly convey the ova to food.

REASONS ASSIGNED FOR GIVING THANKS

"Farmers Have Received Many Blessings," Declares Director of Extension Service.

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 17.—With many blesings for which to be thankful, Alabama farmers are approaching another Thanksgiving season. Although they have been confronted with big problems during the year, Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director of the Alabama Extension Service, declares that the year has been successful and that definite progress has been made along many lines.

Taken as a whole, the crops produced in Alabama this year have been large. The cotton crop is the largest in many years and the price is considerably above a ten-year average. A much larger number of Alabama cotton growers are pooling their cotton for co-operative marketing which is having its effect on the price. The same is true in all other states where cotton is grown.

Records of the year will show that Alabama farmers have made outstanding improvements in the production of crops. By demonstrations conducted in co-operation with county agents they have become better acquainted with fertilizers and how to use them, and by buying co-operatively the right kind of fertilizer was obtained at a lower price. Literally, thousands of farmers mixed their fertilizer at home last pring and as a result they have gathered larger crops of cotton this fall.

Due to a severe drouth which has lasted since late summer, the winter legume crop is late in being planted. It will be approximately double the acreage of 1923, which exceeded all previous year.

Outstanding in the development of the year, Prof. Duncan refers to the growth of co-operative marketing, of organization among farmers, and to closer co-operation among the farmers, bankers, merchants, and professional men for mutual good.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Lande Sunday night a baby boy. Mrs. Lande and son will return home from Montgomery within a few days. Needless to say, Maurice is exceedingly proud of the young visitor.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water,—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

JAZZ DAIRY FEED

Roughage and JAZZ
---a balanced ration that makes more milk

To produce milk profitably your cow must get a balanced ration.
There are two parts to a balanced ration.
And what are they?
Plenty of roughage (such as legume hay, corn silage, etc.)
And Jazz Dairy Feed—a pure concentrate which supplies the additional quickly digested nutrients necessary to heavy production.

There are no bulky cereal by-products in JAZZ. No screenings or cleanings.

Every ounce in the 100-lb. bag is pure, palatable food.
Feed rich in protein, carbohydrates and fat, the materials from which milk is made.
Jazz has no match as a milk producer. From the standpoint of RESULTS it is the best feed you can buy—and the cheapest. Ask your dealer.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Reagan motored to Selma last Wednesday to be present at the wedding of a friend. On Monday of this week Mr. Reagan made a business trip to Mirmingham.

Martin Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nelson left for Bessemer last week, where he will remain for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Reno S. Villadsen motored to Jasper Thursday evening and took with them Miss Nellie Werness as far as Birmingham. The special occasion at Jasper was "home coming" to celebrate the 100th anniversary of the organization of the city. Mr. and Mr. Villadsen returned Sunday evening.

Mrs. Wm. Bean of Birmingham visited her niece, Mrs. Clyde Mead last Tuesday. Mr. Earl Mead spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Mead.

The Lutehran Ladies Aid Society will meet Thursday afternoon, Nov. 20th, at the home of Mrs. James Bosworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Littleton of Birmingham were week end visitors in Thorsby.

Mrs. T. W. Robinson and children, Henry and Mary Sue, were visitors in Montgomery Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. G. D. Thompson made a business trip to Birmingham Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Carter returned Sunday from a two weeks visit in Birmingham.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby will meet at the home of Mrs. Chas. A. Peterson Friday afternoon, Nov. 28. This meeting will be held on Friday instead of Thursday, which is Thanksgiving day.

The annual Ladies Bazaar will be held Saturday, December 13th at Thorsby Restaurant, which has been rented for the day for this purpose. Dinner will be served at 12 o'clock, noon. Fancy and useful articles will be on sale during the day.

Mrs. J. E. Each and little Mary Marie left Tuesday, the 11th, for a month's visit with her parents in Oklahoma, where she will also meet all her brothers and sisters at a family reunion Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Henning and family motored to Montgomery on Saturday.

Last Sunday was "home coming" day at the Thorsby Congregational church. The house was well filled with a very attentive audience. Rev. Joseph E. Each, pastor of the church, delivered an interesting sermon. The singing was mostly familiar hymns, in which all joined heartily. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns, vines and flowers.

For several years Thorsby Institute has had one program a year given by classes. The students have popularly called it "stunt nite." Each class is allowed about 20 minutes during which time they give a sketch, debate, farce, pantomine, music or some form of entertainment. In the past these programs have given many surprises and afforded an evening of wholesome laughter, fun and pleasure. This year each class is sure they are going to out-do anything that has ever been given. Will you not be a judge by coming to Bates Hall Saturday, November 22 at 7:30?

The school week of Nov. 17-21 is being observed as American Education week in our morning chapel exercises. The programs already given on the Constitution, Patriotism, and School and Teacher, have been well planned and executed.

The Christian Endeavor Society gave a very interesting program Sunday evening, November 16th, at the Congregational church. The leader was Miss Boona Lee Wood. The topic was "Our Money for Christ." The first part of the program was very well rendered by the Junior Endeavors. Their topic was "The Meaning of the Pledge and why we keep it." The meeting was continued by the Senior Endeavors, and several of the young people took part. We also had the installation of new officers by Rev. Each, as follows: President, Bernice Williams; Vice-president, Lewis Kelly; Treasurer, Harris Turner. We have added several new members to our society since the first of September.

Patterson-Burnett Wedding.

Before a circle of friends, beautiful was the wedding on Sunday evening of Mr. Tommie Patterson and Miss Flossie Burnett, daughter of Mrs. Martha Burnett at her home in Thorsby. The home was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers of yellow and white. The bride was exquisite in a traveling gown of tan crepe Romaine with accessories to match. The vows were read by E. R. Piper. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will be at home in Columbus, Ga. The out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Judge Culver, Mr. Robert Culver of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Wyatt of Clanton, Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson of Verbena.

Night Coughing—How to Stop It

Night coughing which, through loss of valuable sleep, often makes you feel utterly worn-out and useless during the day, and by quickly weakening the system lays you open to the most dangerous infections, can now be promptly checked by a very simple treatment. People who have hardly been able to rest on account of coughing spells have found that they can sleep the whole night through undisturbed often after the very first trial.

The treatment is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery. You simply take a teaspoonful at night before retiring and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals the soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which is the real cause of the cough. The result is that you usually sleep as soundly as a babe the very first night, and the cough goes in a very short time.

The prescription contains no opiates or harmful drugs. Excellent for children as well as grown-ups. For coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, sore throat, spasmodic croup, bronchitis, laryngitis and bronchial asthma. At all good druggists. Ask for for Steady Nerves!

Riding a girder is not a job for a nervous man.

BUT no one is nervous by choice. There is a way that you may so strengthen your body that the nervous system will be cushioned on sound muscles and flesh. But this condition will not come about unless you have rich red-blood-cells. Red-blood-cells are the most important thing in all the world to each of us. More red-blood-cells! That's what you need when your nerves give way and you cannot control yourself.

S.S.S. will prove to you its "Why" and "How" reason. Since 1826 S.S.S. has helped thousands. Because S.S.S. does build blood-power, it builds you up when you are run-down, clears the system of blood impurities; routs so-called skin disorders—and stops rheumatism, too.

This is why S.S.S. is accepted as the greatest of all blood purifiers, blood builders and system strengtheners. Start taking S.S.S. today. Its medicinal ingredients are purely vegetable. Your nerves will become stronger, you will have more energy, vitality and vigor and a more up and going appearance.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

AGRICULTURAL CENSUS TO BE TAKEN SOON

Auburn, Ala., Nov. 17.—F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician, will supervise the enumeration of the agricultural census in the fifth district of Alabama comprising the counties of Autauga, Chilton, Chambers, Coosa, Elmore, Lee, Lowndes, Montgomery, Russell, and Tallapoosa. Upon being requested by the Census Bureau to serve in this capacity, he has consented to do so, conducting this work along with his regular agricultural statistical work.

In assuming the responsibilities Mr. Gist said that with the co-operation of the county demonstration agents, enumerators are now being selected and that they should begin work not later than December 1 and complete it by January 1, if not before.

The census will be as complete as any other agricultural census ever taken, covering in all more than 100 subjects pertaining to every phase of agriculture. Heretofore an agricultural census has been taken only each decade along with the general census, but leaders in the work have maintained that an agricultural census should be taken every five years.

Alabama is divided for this work into seven districts. Two of them will be supervised by trained men from the Census Bureau in Washington while four will be covered by local men, leaving the fifth to Mr. Gist who has had long experience in census and other statistical work.

Co-operating with Mr. Gist, Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director of the Alabama Extension Service, has called a conference of the county agents in the counties concerned to meet in Auburn, November 21, concerning ways and means of enumerating the census, the main object of the conference being to select the personnel of the enumerators.

Give The Railroads A Chance To Make Good Under The Transportation Act

Of the large number of legislative measures which will be considered at the coming session of Congress, there are none of more importance to the American people than those affecting the operation of the so-called "Transportation Act".

This act, commonly known as the Esch-Cummins Bill, became a law on February 28, 1920, and the railroads had barely begun to adjust themselves to its regulations when criticisms were directed at the measure and politicians started tinkering with its provisions.

There are many bills pending in Congress designed to repeal or modify important parts of this act, notably Section 15 (a).

In this much-discussed section of the law Congress prescribes what the courts had already decided, that since the Government had taken from the railroads the power to make rates, the Government must itself make rates that would produce a fair return upon the value of the property used for transportation purposes. Anything short of this would be confiscation, and hence unconstitutional. Under this arrangement the Commission fixes the value of the property, fixes what is a fair return (at present 5½ percent has been designated) and fixes the rates themselves. How else could the interest of the public be more perfectly protected?

So far under this law, the railroads have not in any year earned as much as the rate of return fixed by the Commission. They are desirous, however, of giving the law a fair trial; but the political agitators, never satisfied, are not willing to do this.

Will Undo Much Evil

By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analyses and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "An-uric" (anti-uric-acid) Tablets, which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney backache, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from excess of uric acid in the blood.

"An-uric" can be had now at all the drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and a little "An-uric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be watched for and quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

way very satisfactory to us.

We want to express our appreciation to the efficient service the Sheriff of our county is rendering. We feel that the people of the county should feel proud and are to be congratulated upon the efficient and earnest work which our Sheriff is doing toward the enforcement of all laws. We feel that as a result of his work we have a cleaner county, and a better and a more law-abiding citizenship.

We want to thank the Bailiff for his prompt attention to his duties.

Now having completed our duty, we await the further orders of the Court.

DEATH OF MR. HARDY GILES

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow us space in your dear old paper to thank the good people of this community for their loving kindness shown us during the sickness and death of our dear father and husband, Hardy Giles, who was called from our home Tuesday morning, November 11, 1924. May God's richest blessings rest upon each and every one who lent a helping hand, a word of sympathy, during the illness of one that had been with us for many years and had been afflicted for over 20 years with a chronic sore leg.

Hardy Giles was 74 years old, and he leaves to mourn his loss ten children, all living, a wife, 22 grand children, two brothers, and a host of other near relatives and friends. The wife and all children were by the bed side, and he knew them all, giving them good advice. We will make a great mistake if we do not obey and take his good advice. We are determined by the help of our Father in heaven to do our best at any and all times. Father leaves a vacant chair in his home here in the world, where he has lived, which can never be filled. We miss him every where we go, though we know by his parting words that he is gone to a Home beyond this veil of tears, where sorrow he shall see no more.

A great consolation to his loved ones and friends is that he did not fear death. He was ready and willing to pay the debt we all must pay.

The remains were laid to rest at Mt. Carmel Church November 12th, Rev. C. Taylor having charge of the service. Bro. Taylor delivered words that all the family was pleased with, his favorite song being sung by Mrs. Gladys Short and others, "Beautiful Home," and "When the Angels Come for me."

We thank the people for their continuation of help and words of sympathy to us lonely ones that are left at home. Only four must bear the burden at the old home place—wife, two daughters and one son. We are friends to all until death calls us to meet Him.

THE HOME FOLKS.

Practical Nurse Tells

Mrs. N. E. Snow, of Route 1, near Paris, Tenn., tells the story of her experience as follows:

"I am 62 years old and I have been a practical nurse for more than 20 years, taking mostly maternity cases. One of my daughters suffered from cramping at . . . She would just bend double and have to go to bed.

CARDUI

was recommended to her and she only had to take about two bottles, when she hardly knew that it was . . . she suffered so little pain.

"My youngest daughter was run-down, weak and nervous, and looked like she didn't have a bit of blood left—just a walking skeleton, no appetite and tired all the time. I gave her two bottles of Cardui. It built her up and she began eating and soon gained in weight and has been so well since."

Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, has helped suffering women for over forty years. Try it. At all druggists'. E-100

MRS. WARREN G. HARDING IS LAID BESIDE HUSBAND

Hundreds Pay Tribute to Wife of Late President; Flowers Cover Casket.

Marion, Ohio, Nov. 24.—Under a leaden November sky, Florence Kling Harding was laid to eternal rest in Marion cemetery today beside the mortal remains of her husband whom she helped rise from a country editor to the presidency of the United States.

Grouped around the gray vault with heads bared to the chill wind that carried a flurry of snow flakes, hundreds paid a last tribute to the widow of Warren G. Harding, twenty-ninth chief executive of the nation.

Inside a small vault, the few relatives and the friends who were with her in the last days of her life, listened to the brief services that preceded the final commitment of her body.

The casket, a veritable mass of flowers, was carried into the narrow room. The Rev. Jesse Swank, pastor of the Epworth Episcopal church, read the regular burial service of his church. Rev. Geo. M. Landis, who had been President Harding's pastor, pronounced the benediction, and hardly had his words ceased when softly on the air swelled the refrain of "The End of a Perfect Day" from two-score male throats. The brazen tone of bugles sounding taps rung through the cemetery and as the final notes ended, the vault doors were gently closed and the silent crowd turned away.

Mrs. Harding's body will rest beside that of her husband in the receiving vault at the cemetery until the proposed Harding Memorial, which will be erected on a high bit of land outside the city limits, is competed, when they both will be moved there.

BIG AUDITORIUM AT SOLDIERS HOME BURNED LAST WEEK

The big auditorium at the old Soldiers Home at Mt. Creek was destroyed by fire Tuesday of last week. The large building with practically all of its contents was destroyed, together with the old soldiers' library. Also a lot of the old soldiers' clothes were burned up in the fire. The building, belonging to the State, cost about $20,000, and was only partially covered with insurance. The structure was made of logs, stone and lumber.

SINGING SOCIETY TO MEET AT NEW SALEM CHURCH

The United Singing Society will meet next Sunday afternoon, Nov. 30 at New Salem Church. Mr. Elijah and Archie Glass will be there to conduct the singing as usual. Mr. Duff Devaughn is expected to be there. Everybody is invited to come.

OLD HENRY MAHAN PLACE BURNED DOWN SUNDAY

The old home place of Henry Mahan on Yellow Leaf Creek was destroyed by fire last Sunday morning. The building belonged to Mr. Jim Mims of Collins Chapel, and Mr. Archie Traywick was living at the place.

THREE MEN AND ONE WOMAN ARRESTED THE PAST WEEK

On last Wednesday Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Easterling raided the place of Reese Blewster a few miles above Jemison, and found buried in the edge of his yard a five-gallon can containing about three gallons of whiskey. Blewster was arrested and brought to jail, later making bond.

Clifford Culp and Senie Culp af Bear Creek community were arrested Saturday, charged with grand larceny. The two were brought to jail. Mrs. Culp was released on bond, but Clifford Culp has failed to make his bond.

Oscar Miner of near Refuge was arrested and put in jail Sunday evening, charged with violating the prohibition laws. The arrest was made in connection with the raid made by the officers last week in the Easterling community. Mined made bond Sunday night and was released from jail.

REVIEW OF 1924 FOOTBALL SEASON AT CHILTON HIGH

Closes Most Satisfactory Season of Athletics in History of the High School.

By defeating University High last Friday, 13 to 12, the Chilton County High School football squad closed a satisfactory football season.

The first game resulted, C. C. H. S. 21, F. D. A. S. at Sylacauga, 0. Next, Marbury bowed to a 20 to 0 defeat. Then the tie with Prattville which is in the hands of the Association executives for settlement, Chilton putting the ball on Prattville's goal line, but a touchdown was not allowed. The Aviation Repair Depot, a Montgomery team, was next defeated, 23 to 3. This was the first score to be made on Chilton for the season. Playing outside the association, the next game was lost, 41 to 0. In this game the Chilton boys were outweighed to such a degree that football critics wondered how the light Chilton team held them so well. Next, Bibb County Hi was defeated 45 to 0, this being the easiest game of the season, the first touchdown coming 30 seconds after the opening whistle. And the final game last Friday, the hardest of the season was won. Chilton supporters are very well pleased with the 1924 football record, it being one of the best, if not the best in the history of Chilton County High School athletics.

Vann, at center, has shown that he has the makings of a good man when he enters college, a bad pass not being chalked up againht him for the season. The DeLonch brothers are as good as could be wished for, they being, with Vann the center of the impregnable wall that held University High on the one-yard line for four successive downs. Gragg has played with the best of high school tackles and has not yet found his better. Arant, alternating with Parrish and Grant at left tackle, all have done well. Collie and Rutland have played stellar roles at the ends, running good interference and at times snagging long passes that were great factors in the winning of games. Hayes has played the game; a better honor could not be bestowed on any man. He has a peculiar knack of using the right play at the right time, keeping the enemy guessing all of the time, besides being a good ground gainer. Jones and Littlejohn have done well, Jones being one of the mainstays in Chilton's fine forward passing game, besides being good around the ends and through the line. Littlejohn is a dependable man on line plunging. Thompson, at full, has been a consistent ground gainer, he being another great factor in the passing game. It may be a long time before a Chilton team does as well as the present one, and so every Chilton athletic supporter should appreciate the work that has been done by our High School aggregation this year in making Chilton a feared name in nearby football circles.

Today Is Thanksgiving!

—o—

"Your Bounty is beyond my speaking. But if my mouth is dumb, my heart shall thank you."

—o—

Old Father Time has rolled us around again to Thanksgiving Day---the great occasion set aside for us all to give Thanks for the bounties that have been bestowed upon us by Our Great Creator during the past year. We are also grateful at this season for the many courtesies and considerations extended us by our neighbors and fellow-citizens.

On this day we try to imitate the Plymouth Colony, which, after the first dreadful Winter of 1621, was blessed with bountiful crops. In the Fall, Governor Bradford set aside a day for giving thanks. On this first such day more than four score Indians were invited to attend, and they supplied venison and wild turkeys as their share of the feast which marked the celebration. Since that time America has observed the day annually.

Among the numerous things for which we are now thankful, the Goodwill and Friendship of our neighbors hold first place. And to show our thankfulness and appreciation for all these blessings, let us all strive to be faithful in the future as we have in the past, and exert every effort to make life for others happy, healthful and successful.

NOTICE TO ALL RURAL PATRONS OF CLANTON POSTOFFICE

Clanton, Ala., Nov. 24, 1924.

To the Farmers Living On Rural Routes From Clanton, Alabama:

The Act of Congress, approved March 3, 1919, directs that there shall be a census of agriculture for the year 1924. This postoffice has been furnished a supply of blank schedules and has been directed to have the rural letter carriers from Clanton, Ala., place one copy of the schedule in the mail box of each farmer or in some way see that the schedule is delivered to the farmers on rural free delivery mail routes from Clanton Ala.

Within a few days there will be placed in each box on each rural mail route from Clanton, Ala., a blank form sent out by the Bureau of the Census. Patrons receiving the blank forms will please read them carefully that each one may be prepared to give the information desired when an enumerator calls at the homes to take the census. The blank must not be mailed or returned to the carrier. The persons receiving the forms may prepare them and have them ready when the enumerator calls, if they will.

I am giving this notice that the farmers may be prepared when an enumerator calls, and I hope each farmer receiving the blanks to be filled out and given to an enumerator will give his co-operation in this matter.

Very truly,
W. M. BEAN, Postmaster.

IN MEMORY

On last Monday morning the angel visited the home of Mrs. Magg Parve and took their dear father away. He has been in bad health for quite a while. He was brought to Jemison last Wednesday from Texas to the home of his doughter, Mrs. John Glass. He leaves a host of friends and relatives to mourn his loss. He will be greatly missed by his friends and relatives, but we hope to meet him again some day where we will never have to say good bye.

Bro. T. J. Ellison leaves one son, Genie Ellison of Texas, and four daughters, Mrs. Magg Parve of Texas, Mrs. Annis Thomas of Birmingham, Mrs. Maude Ellison of Gantts Quarry, Mrs. Mae Glass of Jemison. He was about 70 years of age.

We have separated here, but not forever. A FRIEND.

OAK GROVE

Everybody is well and enjoying themselves after the nice little rain.

Our Sunday School is doing a splendid work. We have such a large crowd every Sunday, which we are very proud of. The B. Y. P. U. is doing fine work. The Juniors had a good program Sunday night. The Seniors had a real good play, "Facing the Fact" Sunday night. The house was crowded with people. We were very glad to have all the visitors with us and ask them to come again next Sunday night.

Quite a crowd from here went to singing at Oak Hill Sunday, and reported a nice time.

Mrs. C. L. Martin gave her Sunday School class a social Saturday night. They enjoyed several games and pulling candy.

Mrs. Jim Cobb and children are spending a few days here. They are moving from Gadsden to Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Glass are visiting relatives at Gantts Quarry this week.

Mr. Ernest Durbin of Gadsden spent last Sunuday here.

Mr. Vollie Glass of Wylam spent a few days at home last week.

Miss Flossie Ellison of Bessemer was here last week and attended the funeral of her grandfather.

Mr. C. L. Martin of Wylam spent Sunday at home.

Miss Ollie Glass spent a few days last week in Birmingham.

Misses Lola Mae Martin, Mattie Lea and Ola Glass dined with Lesta Cobb Sunday.

Miss Mildred Durbin is staying with Ollie Glass a few days.

Mrs. D. W. Cobb was called to Helena recently on account of the illness of her daughter.

Messrs. Henry Cobb and Almond Glass have purchased them a new Ford.

NEW BUILDING GOING UP IN CLANTON

Some towns grow and some towns don't, but Clanton keeps on growing. A few days ago Mr. Wess Danforth began laying the brick for a big new building on Mr. J. Q. Wade's lot on Second Avenue just above Mr. Tom Kemp's store. Wess says that if the brick and mud hold out he is going to slap them together, and the fact that Mr. Wade is behind it is assurance that material will come forth. The building will extend from the new store now occupied by Mr. Hugh Jones to the alley above Tom Kemp'h, which makes a frontage of about fifty feet. It extends back about sixty feet. The building will be one story high and will be divided into two sections. We understand that the lower section will be occupied by Mr. Durwood Broadhead with a meat market. The upper half has not been rented yet.

ALABAMA POWER CO. TO EXTEND ITS LINES TO MISS.

Martin Heads New Company Formed By Joining Alabama with the Mississippi Power Co.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 25.—That Alabama hydro-electric developments were being made with the view of furnishing power to neighboring states from Alabama sources was indicated Monday, when it developed that the Mississippi Power Company, officered by officials of the Alabama Power Company, had been formed..

The formation of the Mississippi Power Company, which has been manged quietly, is for the purpose of running transmission lines from the Alabama plants to Mississippi points. Thomas W. Martin, president of the Alabama Power Company, is head of the new company, with J. M. Berry as vice-president. The officials are hesitant about giving out information, saying that the plans are progressed to the point where complete details are available. However when it was learned that a party of 30 persons from Aberdeen, Miss., was en route to Birmingham and would be shown over the properties, the officials admitted that the Mississippi Power Company, owned by the Alabama organization or its holding company, had plans to run lines into the neighboring states. He said that the power sold in Mississippi would be developed from the Alabama stations.

This expansion of the Alabama Power Company into the adjoining state will involve a large appropriation for transmission lines, substations and other equipment, it is stated. Except the fact that the company had been formed; that it is under the same management as the Alabama Power Company; that it was entertaining the visitors from Aberdeen, and that its power would be transmitted from Alabama developments, company officials have made no statement as to costs, time of entrance into the neighboring state or how much power would be offered to Mississippi.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Smith of Birmingham were visitors to relatives and friends in Clanton last Sunday. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

EDWARDS HEIRS COMBINE TO PUSH CLAIM TO ESTATE

Three Major Branches of Noted Thomas Edwards Family Consolidate

Consolidation of the three major organizations of the heirs of Thomas Edwards, who are seeking to secure an heritage composed of the richest tract of land in the United States, was effected at a meeting held in Birmingham during the past week, it was announced Saturday.

The three organizations, the Edwards Estate Corporation of Birmingham, the Mid-West Heirs association of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Edwards Heirs Incorporation of Greenville, S. C., have enrolled more than 2,000 heirs of Thomas Edwards. Through the action taken recently, it has been decided to prosecute their claims to the New York City land, which included the Wall Street district, the famous Trinity church, the Woolworth building and scores of other skyscrapers, at one time.

Board Elected

The board of governors elected consists of John F. Edwards, Collinsville, Ill., F. Elwood Leonard, Indianapolis, Ind., W. T. Edwards and Felix W. Carlisle, both of Greenville, S. C., and P. M. Carlisle and T. C. McCain, of Birmingham.

Under the new organization, which plans to push the claims in New York rapidly, P. M. Carlisle was chosen secretary of the board of governors and chairman of the legal committee, and Mr. McCain is treasurer. W. T. Edwards was chosen chairman of the genealogy committee with headquarters in Greenville.

Organized Recently

The Birmingham organization, incorporated two months ago, and already enrolling a large number of direct descendants of the wealthy Tory who died about 1790, made a great step in pushing its claims to the property in New York City when deeds, asserting ownership in question was filed in the New York City recorder's office several weeks ago.

These deeds assert ownership on the grounds that the property was leased for 99 years by the sons of Thomas Edwards, and, although they did not revert to the heirs at the expiration of the lease, they have never relinquished their claims.

There are several people living in Chilton county who believe they are descendants of Thomas Edwards, and who will be interested in learning that progress is being made toward the recovery of this vast estate to its rightful owners.

"MY EXPERIENCE AMONG BANDITS IN KWANGSI MTS.

By Rev. Rex Rey, Wuchow, Baptist Missionary to China.

Many times as we were traveling at night, we passed through very dangerous places. Sometimes we would be climbing around a mountain on a ledge of rock only a few inches wide. On one side of us there would be a perpendicular wall of rock while on the other there would be a steep precipice below. One misstep and perhaps we would have fallen hundreds of feet into the dark canyons below. But when we were in these dangerous places, there was another promise that cheered us along, "He shall give His angels charge over thee, lest thou dash thy foot against a stone." Whether we were wading streams, walking slippery trails, climbing through brush in the darkness, or crossing over a deep ditch or gorge on a few unsteady little poles, we knew that our Master was with us and would keep us.

We met other dangers too. We had to eat out of the same rice bowls, and use the same wash basins, etc., which the robbers used. The majority of them had some form of loathsome disease. At times some of the fellows who were covered with syphilitic sores would get into our bunk and roll up in our two precious blankets which we had managed to keep back. Under these circumstances, it was easy to imagine that some of the loathsome disease germs would get us, unless the Lord delivered us. He kept us safely.

The robbers were ever on the watch for soldiers who might be trying to catch them. Bandits certainly do as the Bible says, "The wicked fleeth when no man pursueth." Many times they got scared at nothing, and ordered us to march at once. Our entire band could pack and be on the march in ten minutes.

As an illustration of some of our marches, I will describe one. About midnight Bro. Carne and I were ordered to get up and pack for marching. We started from an old fortified farm house, down the mountains following a water course. We waded across it several times with our shoes on, as they never gave us time to pull off our shoes to wade. About daylight we came down into the foothills. When we started across these, the robbers wanted us to almost run, lest the soldiers would see them. About sunrise we came to a large stream. Here they captured a boat some 30 feet long and put us into it together with several of the guards and some of the women. The owners of the boat were commanded to take us down stream. For some three miles we shot the rapids. This was a thrilling ride. Sometimes it was like riding a runaway Ford on a rocky road. Then we came to the Foo river, crossed it and went ashore. We walked along the river bank for several miles and then turned back into the mountains.

When we started on this trip at midnight, they gave us a bowl of rice water with a little rice in it. We got nothing more to eat until about noon the next day when we were given two hot sweet potatoes each to eat. We were commanded to eat these in a hurry and hasten on our way up into the mountains. About 3 p. m. we stopped to eat some rice, but I didn't care for any, as the bitter weeds and DOG meat that I ate for supper the night before hadn't agreed with me very well. About 4 p. m. as I was slowly climbing the mountain, a tin of milk which the robbers had taken off our boat was given me to drink. I surely drank it and felt better. A little later we reached the robbers' den. And there we rejoiced with Bros. Jaffray and Miller, from whom we were separated a few days before. It was a very happy reunion. There is one promise of Jesus that came into my soul very often. "Whatsoever ye ask in my name, I will do it." Now if I asked Jesus to make a way of escape for me, would He really do it? I believed Him, and began praying to that end.

Many times I was tempted to take up one of the rifles and a belt of cartridges, get the drop on my captors and take them away with me, but the Holy Spirit always caused me to remember these words of my Master, "All they that take the sword shall perish with the sword." I always replied, "Alright, Lord, I know that you can deliver me just as easily without a rifle, and I want to follow your plan."

After we had been with the bandits nearly three weeks, I got real tired of robber life and desired to go home. That day about noon we set out on the march over the mountains towards the north, but I wanted to go south. I wasn't feeling very well in the region of my belt, as the spoiled pork that I ate the night before had upset me. However, they said, "March" and I hit the trail, but was rather stubborn about moving on. But I set my own pace ond stopped to gaze over the beantifu modntains whenever I desired.

About 5 p.m. we reached the top of a mountain, and my guard pointed out another robber den in the canyon, a distance of half a mile or more below, and said that was to be our stopping place. It was about the 9th we had occupied since we took up bandit life. Somehow, it looked about as attractive to me as my own coffin would have. My soul absolutely refused to go any further. So I sat down and began to pray to my Lord and Master. I prayed, "Lord Jesus, I feel that a great number of people are praying for you to set me free, and if it is your will that I set out over these mountains and travel for days without food, in order that you may answer their prayers, I am willing and glad to make the journey."

All the food that I had with me was a dried persimmon and a handful of burned rice. This seemed to be a small amount of food for what I thought would be a four-nights' journey.

As I sat there by the side of the trail and prayed, I thought of how Jesus refused to talk to His persecutors on one occasion. So I refused to speak another word to my guard who kept urging me to move on down the trail. I set my eyes upon him and never took them off until the Lord answered my prayer.

into camp, and this one rough-neck into ramp, and this one rough-nelk band:t was left to bring me in. As I sat there and looked at him, I thought of seizing his rifle and taking him along with me a part of the way. But I said, "Lord, you can handle this fellow in a better way. You put the fear of God into his heart, and make h'm go down the trail and leave me here on the mountain top alone, and you shall have all the glory." I continued to gaze at my guard, and silently prayed on, even though my guard was throwing the bolt of his gun as though he was preparing to shoot me if I didn't obey his orders. After a bit, he began to try to sing, and glanced at me now and then. I saw that he realized my eyes were fastened upon him. He continued to get more restless, and I knew the Lord was working upon him.

Just at this time a man from camp brought me a rain hat. In a little while a heavy rainstorm came and drenched me to the skin. My guard had me bested in this as he had a good umbrella. As I began to shiver with cold, I wondered just for a moment whether or not the robber was going to get the best of me in this test. But I kept praying for the Lord to move him away. The storm passed and another came. But this time the Lord had moved my man some thirty yards down the mountain, and I felt sure that my Father in heaven was going to remove him from my sight. I kept praying and my captor kept moving. When he was about out of rifle-range, I begged the Lord to send a cloud to cover up my guard and the entire camp in the canyon below, so that no one could see me. In a few seconds, the Lord sent a cloud over the mountain tops, and it floated down into the valley and buried from my sight, not only my bandit guard, but the entire robber den. When I saw that God had answered my prayer, and that now the bandits could not see me, I turned my face homeward.

It was now about 6 p.m. or later. I ran as fast as I could for miles, as I wanted to cover as much ground as possible before dark. After I had gone some distance, I realized the Lord had led me into a new trail. Just before dark, I came to the head of a deep canyon. Here the trail played out. Then I walked, climbed, and slid down the grassy mountain side into the jungles below. By the time I reached the brush and trees towards the bottom of the canyon, it was so dark thot I could scarcely see. I was praying every step of the way, begging Jesus to show me the path and guide my footsteps. Finally, I got across this first smaller canyon that led into the big one. Just as I was crawling out of the brush at the top of the embankment, I discovered that I was within fifteen feet of a house. Lest I should arouse the natives, I crawled back into the brush and went around to the front yard. I looked for lights and listened for sounds of voices. There being none, I got up and ran across the yard and into the brush, briars, bamboo thickets, steep bluffs, etc., that I was about to wear myself out without getting anywhere. Hence, I decided to turn back a short distance and hit the water course, even though it was a roaring torrent. I had not gone more than thirty feet when I came out into a plain trail. Out of the depths of my soul I thanked Jesus, and ran down the trail as fast as my feet would take me, for I was fighting hard to keep ahead of the news of my escape.

Quite often the trail was hard to keep in the darkness. Many times it led through tall grass, over barren rocks and around on narrow ledges of rock. At times it led me into cold mountain streams that slid and tumbled down the canyon. The difficult part of this was to find where the trail was on the opposite bank. But we traveled on, Jesus and I. He was very near me all that night, and not once did He leave me.

My plan was to follow the water course regardless of direction. I knew that in the end it would lead to either the Foo or the North River, both of which led south to where I wanted to go. I planned to follow the stream until it was smooth enough for me to ride a log or something that would float down stream. I hoped to do this by night and hide by day. I thought that it would take me some four days to get out of the robber country, but Jesus had better plans for me.

By following this course, I knew that somewhere I would have to cross the robber trail over which Bro. Carne and I had already gone. Far into the night I came to a village that I recognized as the head robber village, where the bandit chiefs were then stopping. This village looked about as encouraging to me as did the Red Sea and the Egyptians to the Israeljtes. If I should try to go around the village over the mountains, I would lose much precious time and would still be at the very doors of the robbers. So I felt that Jesus could lead me through the village as well as around it. I passed some of the houses and came to the real test at the most dangerous place, as the trail led right under the eaves of a house. I said, "Alright," Lord Jesus, You lead me by safely, for I know you can." I passed along within two or three feet of the open front door, but didn't stop to tell the folks that I was leaving them. I thanked the Lord when I had passed the last house. But I was not to be at peace for long.

I crossed a small stream, and was rounding a hill when I saw lights in the village behind me and a number of robber torches on the trail some thirty or forty yards just ahead of me. I thought they must have heard of my escape and were setting out to hunt for me. I did not faint with fear, nor sit down to weep over hard times, but decided on the spot to hit the trail in some other direction. So I turned and fled back up the gorge on another trail that Bro. Carne and I had traveled over when we left the village a few nights before. I now called upon Jesus as never before in my life, "Lord Jesus, SAVE me, or the bandits will surely get me." I don't know, but I feel that I was more in earnest about it than Peter was when he found himself wading in the deep sea.

The trail soon led straight up a slippery, wet, clay mountain. Some times I was on my feet, then on my knees, and other times when my feet and knees were out from under me, my hands were digging into the mud and grass. Finally, the Lord got me up that, and how my heart and soul thanked Him when I saw the robbers' torches still at the bottom. The other side of the mountain was just as slippery as the side I had just ascended. I went down the trail "in high." Some times I was up and sometimes down, but I was going fast and that was all I wanted.

Once more I came back to my water course, which by this time was so deep and swift that I could hardly cross it. I now reached the farm villages along the valley. In order to get around the villages, I had to wade and bog through many rice fields. Many times I had to go into such dark places that I couldn't see a hand before me. Each time that I started into one of these dark places or holes, this message from God's Book always came to me and kept my soul calm. "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil, for thy rod and thy staff, they comfort me."

Whenever the ground was smooth enough, I continued to run, and only halted long enough to dip up a few handfuls of water as I crossed the streams.

A little while before day I came out to a big sand bar covered with bushes, along a stream of water. I couldn't see how wide the stream was on account of the darkness, and neither could I find anything that looked like a trail. So not being able to make any progress, I felt that my Master wanted me to stop and rest my engine for awhile. I had been on the march since about noon of the day before, and during the past ten hours I had been either walking fast or running continuously. About three o'clock in the morning, while on the go, I ate my dried persimmon and a few bites of my burned rice. Here on the sand bar I bent down a little bush and used it for my bed. The heavy rains and dripping trees had kept my clothes soaking wet. So when I lay down, it wasn't long before I was quite cool. I hugged my wet clothes to me, and took deep breaths of air to get warm, as I didn't care to take any more exercise just to get warm. As I rested there on that bush and watched the lightning bugs, I saw one a few feet away that didn't go out. But I soon realized that it wasn't a bug, for just then I heard voices. I felt that I was being overtaken by the robbers. Just then a man and a woman walked within two or three feet of me, but never saw me, as my clothes were about the same color of the sand. After they passed by, I quickly arose and followed them a little way to find out whether or not they were looking for me. And too, I wanted to see to it that no one should get so close to me again.

As soon as it was light enough to see a little, I crossed this new stream and hit the trail again. It led along the bank of the main stream which had grown to be almost a river. Soon the trail left the river and led over the mountain. Here I came back to my big stream again at a ferry. I soon aroused the ferryman, and rested in his boat as he rowed me across.

You remember how the Lord let me keep sixty cents when the bandits captured us. I had given twenty cents of this to buy a stamp and some extra food. Now I gave twenty cents to the ferryman and hastened on. About 7 a.m. I arrived at the ferry on the Foo river at Chiu Ping. Hiring this second ferryman to put me across this final river, I gave him my LAST twenty cents, and stepped off this ferry boat on to the big motor boat that took me safely to my "Home, sweet home" in Wuchow. So the Lord had provided all the finances that were needed. He does that always, if we trust Him.

I afterwards learned that the first river I crossed on the ferry boat was the only place where it was possible to have gotten through to Chiu Ping. The crossing of this river was almost like the "Red Sea" experience, since it was only about thirty minutes after I crossed until the robbers came there to intercept me, but they were too late. The Lord didn't drown them in the river, but had they followed me any further, the Chiu Ping soldiers would have put them to death. So the bandits dared not follow me any longer.

In this experience we see how the Lord Jesus delivered His unworthy servant from the hands of the enemy. The fact that he led me over those wild, rugged mountains, through jungles and streams, in an unknown country, and that during a cloudy night, at a speed faster than the bandits could travel their own familiar trails, is to be one of the miracles which our Lord Jesus is working in present times. Praise His name now and forever more.

"Sorry, Mr. Turk, But Your Time Has Come!"

MIGHT title this picture "The End of a Perfect—Turkey" or "A Mid-November Ceremony." For such it is. The big feast day—Thanksgiving—is here.

While little Jane bewails and sobs over the loss of her friend, Daddy and Grandpa select the best looking turkey if the flock and lead it to the chopping block. It's every turkey's fate, for, who would know it was Thanksgiviny without a nice, biv fat turkey—roasted nice and crisp and brown and stuffed, maybe, with chestnuts—pracing that dining room table?

On last Friday afternoon the Philathia S. S. class held a very interesting meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. Jones.

The living room was beautiful with pot plants and vases of white roses. The meeting was called to order and presided over by Mrs. J. C. Jones. A very appropriate program was rendered by Mrs. T. H. Neighbors, who had an interesting paper on "The first Thanksgiving in America."

Mrs. J. O. Middleton gave an interesting talk on "What the women of America have to be Thankful for."

Mrs. M. L. White talked on the subject, "Showing we are Thankful for Church Loyalty."

Late in the afternoon delicious refreshments were served to the guests.

POPLAR SPRINGS

Our Sunday school is still progressing nicely. We have large attendance, and great deal of interest manifest, which we feel very proud of.

Next Sunday morning we will have singing here at 9 o'clock. Bro. Ocie Devaughn and Bro. Duff Devaughn are expected to be with us. We invite everybody to come out and bring your new song books, and I'm sure you'll hear some real interesting, good old-time singing, which we all enjoy.

Giles - Shirk Wedding Solemnized

The marriage of Miss Mildred Leone Shirk and Mr. Yancey Lee Giles was quietly solemnized in the presence of the immediate families at the home of the bride in Norwood, Birmingham, at Eight-thirty o'clock, Saturday evening, November Fifteenth.

Mr. and Mrs. Giles left immediately after the ceremony for an extended trip in the East and will be at home to their friends after November 30th at 1304 North 25th Street.

Mr. Giles has a number of friends in Clanton and Chilton County, who will learn with interest of his marriage.

OAK HILL

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon with a full house. The society was called to order promptly at 2 o'clock by our faithful president, who sung as the opening song, No. 3 in the new Showalter book. Prayer was offered by Bro. T. L. Matthews, who invoked the divine blessings of God upon us all and especially our great society, which has united together to sing praises and thanksgiving in honor of our great Creator who doeth all things well.

Those who directed were E.L. Glasscock, W. M. Devaughn, J. A. W. Mims, O. L. Devaughn, E. H. Foshee, A. H. Glasscock, O. B. Robinson, with Profs. O. L. and W. M, Devaughn directing the second time. Those who presided at the organ were Misses Flossie Cobb, Emma Campbell and Mrs. E. C. Cox.

The singing was fine and enjoyed by all present. This was evidenced by the good order and attention given by all. Throughout the two hours of almost continuous singing, our hearts were made to rejoice with exceeding great joy, as we listened to that great class singing so sweetly those beautiful songs. We said in our hearts, like one of old, "It is good to be here."

We had many visitors with us including the Oak Grove class, who did their part in making the occasion the great success that is was, which we appreciated very much. The closing song, No. 59, in the new Vaughan book, was directed by O. B. Robinson, followed with prayer by A. H. Glasscock. The society adjourned to meet with New Salem next Sunday afternoon, November 30th. All who are interested are urged to attend. Both Showalter and Vaughan books will be used. Visitors are always welcome.

THE UNION-BANNER A DAY EARLY THIS WEEK

The Union-Banner is coming to you a day early this week. We are getting the paper out early in order that our subscribers getting mail on the rural routes may get them before Thanksgiving, since the mail carriers do not go on the routes Thursday. The paper either had to be a day early or a day late, so by doing a lot of extra work the force has managed to get the paper out a day in advance of the regular publication day.

FARMERS UNION AT JEMISON

There will be a County Union of the Farmers Educational and Cooperative Union of America on the 29th of November. We earnestly urge that all locals in the county be represented and all who have once been in the Union are especially invited. Business of importance will be attended to. There will be speakers of interest there on that day.

NURSE SAVES TWO PEOPLE FROM AN OPERATION

"I had two patients that the doctors seemed unable to reach with their medicines, and in both cases advised the knife. A friend who had tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy for stomach trouble proposed that I recommend it to my patients, which I did. Both are now entirely well. I am very glad that I was able to recommend it." It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflamation which is the cause of practically all stomach and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at Alred Drug Company and all druggists everywhere.

Messrs. J. M. Wyatt, Cary Robinson and Napoleon Willis left Monday afternoon on a Ford truck for Fort Payne. They were going to bring the household goods of Mack Wyatt back to Clanton. Mr. G. D. Retherford went through in his car.

Dr. V. J. Gragg is in New Orleans this week attending the American Medical Association. He left Clanton Sunday and will return the latter part of this week.

Old-Time Cough Remedy—Pine Tar and Honey—Still Best

According to specialists, there is really nothing better or quicker-acting for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup and throat irritation than good old pine tar and honey. No matter whether the cough is dry and tight, or loose with much mucus, the pine tar quickly aids in the removal of the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing, also relieving soreness, while the honey both soothes irritation and gives a pleasant taste.

The original compound, which has been used in thousands of families for many years, is Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. It has had many imitators, but still remains the best, as it is scientifically compounded of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in giving quick relief. It contains absolutely no narcotics or harmful drugs, so can be given to young and old alike. If you want the best, be sure you get the original Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey and no other. Only 30c. at any good druggists.

Politics in Chilton County is running at a mighty low ebb now. We wonder why somebody doesn't start a contest or something.

Now the beneficiaries of "special privilege" under the Republican protective tariff can reap their unholy profits for four years more—and incidentally give employment to hundreds of thousands of workers at good wages who would find themselves without a job if the protective system should be abolished.

Supporters of the publicity section of the income tax law are about as numerous as supporters of the radical Third Party. The provision serves no good purpose whatever, and only satisfies the radical craving to put every possible obstacle in the way of legitimate business. There probably will be little difficulty in repealing the offensive legislation.

The Union-Banner is carrying this week an advertisement for bids for the construction of the southern portion of the State Highway through Chilton County. The State highway commission is getting down to real business now in building roads over the State. The concrete will be laid on the northern portion of the road in Chilton in about two or three more months.

The matter of which street the highway will take through Clanton is still pending. It appears to us that by far the most advantageous route would be through Sixth Street by the court house. In the first place, Sixth Street is about 20 feet wider than Seventh, and in the next place, there is already a fill across the creek at the south end of Sixth street and there is none at Seventh Street. And too, the highway certainly ought to pass by our court house. We believe that Sixth Street will eventually be selected for the highway.

The attempt to prevent the sinking of the uncompleted battlehhip Washington was defeated, as it should have been. There are no facts to substantiate the claim that England and Japan are not living up to their obligations under the treaty, but even if they were not, that would not excuse the United States from following its provisions. The time has not yet arrived when this country can consider a solemn treaty a mere scrap of paper, and so long as the present administration at Washington is in power our international agreements will be scrupulously observed.

There will be no change in the American attitude toward Russia for at least four years more. Meanwhile we can watch developments in that unfortunate country. According to all accounts the condition of the Russian People has been growing steadily worse since the death of Lenine last January. He at least had the good sense to acknowledge the failure of Bolshevism, and the courage to make changes in government policy that would benefit the peasants. But extreme communists are again in power, and are rapidly reducing the country to the same helplessness that existed during the terrible years immediately following the revolution. Private property rights have all but disappeared, and imprisonment and death await any who dispute the prior rights of the government to everything.

George Wyatt, Winston Mims, Jodie Lansford, Bud Parrish, and Wibb Parrish are over in Coosa this week hunting squirrels and birds.

Peters Shells

A large measure of the pleasure is in the anticipation.

There's pleasure in carrying PETERS SHELLS to the traps because previous results prove that the shooter may expect the fullest co-operation from this ammunition.

THANKFUL

THE UNGRATEFUL SOUTH

Although the South has been one of the chief beneficiaries of the protective tariff policy, the returns of the recent election show that that section is still unwilling to support the political party that maintains the protective tariff. Because of that attitude, it is interesting to review the cotton trade record.

From 1856 to 1861 Great Britian took over half of our raw cotton production—53.45 per cent, in fact; France took 12.78 percent; North Europe, which included Germany, took 6.89 per cent; other ports 5 per cent. The total sold abroad amounted to over 78 per cent of our production, while at home we consumed less than 22 per cent. This was at a time when the South was a very powerful factor in Congress and the Southern Representatives believed with Senator Hayne, of South Carolina, that it was better to sell our raw cotton abroad and buy from Great Britain the goods made from it. According to the U. S. Statistical Abstract for 1922, our exports of raw cotton totaled something over a billion pounds in 1855, and 1,768,000,000 in 1861. Then the Civil War broke out, Southern cotton was blockaded, and in 1865 but 8,894,000 pounds was exported.

Following the Civil War a rigid policy of protection to the Cotton textile industry was inaugurated and continued, with two exceptions down to 1913, when the Democratic tariff law was passed. That law was in real effect less than one year, when the European War began and reduced competition far below that ever existing under the protective policy. Following the War competition from abroad in cotton textiles began to grow rapidly until it reached $137,000,000 in value in 1920. But a balance was put on it by the passage of the Republican law of 1922, though large opportunity is still afforded foreign textiles in this market, and is being taken advantage of.

From 1905 to 1910, under protection, Great Britian took 25.22 per cent of our raw cotton production; France 7.46 per cent; North Europe 19.14 per cent; and the total sent abroad was 59.75 per cent, leaving a little over 40 per cent to be consumed at home. From 1910 to 1915, the period affected by the year of the Democratic law, the amount taken by Great Britain showed a slfight percentage of increase, as did that sent out to the rest of the world. Our own consumption fell below 40 per cent.

From 1920 to 1924, two years under protection, British purchases fell to 13.83 per cent of our total production; and our world exports were 46.65 per cent. We consumed in our own factories 53.35 per cent of all the cotton raised in this country, a remarkable evidence of a growing industry, and one which has been expanding far more rapidly in the South than in the North, notwithstanding Southern support of free trade with one hand and the acceptance of the benefits of protection with the other.

In 1860 this country counted 5,236,000 spindles, of which only 324,000 were in the cotton growing states. In 1922 we counted 35,708,000, of which nearly 16,000,000 were in those States. In 1923 there were above 37,600,000 spindles in the land, and the South was ahead of the North on the count. The South is now producer and manufacturer of cotton, but its attitude toward the protective policy is provincial. It will take all it can get, but it will not help itself in getting any. In 1924 the South voted for a "competitive" tariff law.

Dixie Auto Week Will Attract Many Visitors To Birmingham

Official emblem of the Dixie Automobile Show, Birmingham's first all Southern automobile exposition, which is to be held during the first week of December.

Birmingham.—Alabama's first all-Southern motor exposition—the Dixie Automobile Show—will be held at Birmingham's new Municipal Auditorium the first week in December, and is expected to attract visitors from all parts of Alabama and adjoining States.

It will be an interesting week for the visitors. In the first place, the Birmingham Motor Trade Association, which is sponsoring the automobile show, is negotiating with the railroads for reduced railroad rates to Birmingham for this occasion. Many Birmingham merchants, also, are interested in this plan, for it is proposed to have special shopping week attractions that will make it worth while for visitors to come to Birmingham to make Christmas purchases. The stores will make a special feature of automobile togs and like merchandise, and this will be the keynote of many window displays.

While the automobile show is sponsored by the local dealers having membership in the Motor Trade Association, it will be national in scope. National manufacturers of automobiles and automobile accessories are co-operating to the extent that handsome and interesting exhibits prepared for some of the national automobile shows, like those of Chicago and New York are to be seen at the Birmingham exposition.

50 Motor Car Exhibits

There will be 50 automobile exhibits, and the present car owners and the person who expects to own a car in the future, will have an opportunity to learn the relative merits of 50 different motor cars. It will be the first formal showing of 1925 models of these cars, and they will be exhibited under such conditions that the person not versed in technical motor matters can learn something about them. For instance, there will be mounted chasses that will demonstrate the inner workings of a car—specially constructed with glass windowed apertures to show just what is going on inside. It will be an educational exhibit—that is the only purpose of the Motor Trade Association in putting it on—and every person who owns or expects to own an automobile will learn something interesting and helpful.

In the accessories exhibits, of which there will be 30, space will be provided for a number of displays and demonstrations of radio apparatus since several automobile dealers of Birmingham now handle radio supplies, too. This feature of the show is expected to appeal to the radio fan as well as the car owner. In the accessories exhibits, also, there will be complete displays of all the latest and improved automobile appliances—details in which every car owner is interested.

Nappi and His Orchestra

There will be entertainment features, besides, that will attract thousands. Music will be furnished continuously by William Nappi and his famous jazz orchestra, there will be vaudeville entertainers, valuable souvenirs will be given away at the various exhibitors' booths, and there will be other attractive features. In addition the visitor will have a chance to weigh the relative merits of all leading makes of automobiles, and to learn all about them at one opportunity.

G. P. Caldwell, secretary-manager of the Birmingham Motor Trade Association has been appointed managing director of the Dixie Automobile Show, and a committee of well-known Birmingham automobile dealers is in charge of arrangements for "the motor event of Dixie."

Following is the complete list of exhibitors in the motor car division:

Bissell Motor Company, three booths, Reo car.
Brownell Auto Company, four booths, Dodge car.
Crawford's Auto Shop, three booths, Ford.
Cruse-Crawford Manufacturing Company, four booths, Studebaker.
Willys-Knight-Overland Company, two booths, Willys-Knight and Overland.
Drennen Motor Car Company, eight booths, Cadillac and Buick.
Detroit Motor Car Company, four booths, Paige and Jewett.
Edwards Motor Company, and Stevens Motor Company, three booths, Chevrolet.
McCarty-Greene Motor Company, two booths, Chandler.
McCormick Bros. Motor Company, eight booths, Pierce-Arrow and Nash.
Packard Motors Company, of Alabama, seven booths, Packard and Hupmobile.
Pryor Motor Company, two booths, Hudson and Essex.

The Alabama Public Service Commission in an order dismissed the petition of citizens of Greenville against the Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company, at request of petitioners, an agreement having been reached between the citizens and the railroad. The petition sought to have certain Louisville & Nashville trains receive passengers at Greenville.

Deputy Sheriff H. E. Badger lodged in the Jefferson County jail George Bailey, negro, wanted for the murder of Tom Trust, negro, at Loivicy, Ala., in June. The negro was arrested in Akron, Ohio, on information furnished by Chief Deputy Henry Hill. The negro confessed to the killing, Mr. Hill said.

Twenty-five hundred dollars worth of material has been placed by the Twin Cities Wholesale Grain Company to be used in the construction of the new $10,000 concrete building on Sixth Avenue, near the Louisville & Nashville freight tracks. The new structure will have a basement floor and one above the ground.

John Harkins, 17, and Cecil Alexander, 21, were indicted for highway robbery by the recent Ettowa County grand jury and will be tried for their lives at an early date. It is alleged they held up and robbed Charles Kimball, negro, in Gadsden last month, relieving him of $1 in money after a terrific struggle.

A. G. Patterson, president of the Alabama Public Service Commission, was elected first vice-president of the National Association of Railway and Utility Commissioners at the recent meeting of the association held at Phoenix, Arizona. Mr. Patterson held the post of second vice-president last year.

The case of Police Sergeant C. M. Riggins, who was arrested in Birmingham by Chief Fred H. McDuff on a liquor charge and sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $100 and $10 costs in Recorder's Court by Judge Henry Martin, threatens to become a test case, as Riggins has appealed to the higher courts.

A carnival showing in Ensley under an arrangement whereby part of its receipts were to go to the Loyal Order of Moose, was closed down by city officials after the Ensley Merchants' Association had complained that gambling and other forms of lewlessness were in evidence.

Early construction of the State highway connecting Boaz and Attalla was urged on the Alabama Highway Commission at Montgomery by O. D. Dupre and R. O. Noojin, who constituted a special committee appointed for that purpose by the Attalla Rotary Club.

CANCER
BY DR. W. J. SCHOLES

The hope of the victim of cancer lies in an early diagnosis and prompt and efficient treatment. As someone has put it, "In order to cure cancer, it must be destroyed before it gets fairly started!"

Whether or not an early diagnosis can be made is often within the control of the patient. If an early diagnosis is to be made, it is necessary that the patient lose no time in having the nature of all doubtful conditions determined.

Lumps, swellings, ulcers and sores that fail to heal readily, and the tendency of bleeding to occur from any part of the body without apparent cause, are among the conditions that deserve careful investigation. Pain is frequently absent until the growth is far advanced.

Symptoms Often Absent.

It is unfortunate that many internal cancers are not suspected during their early stages. Symptoms may be absent until the working of some organ is interfered with. But vague ailments occurring in the abdominal or pelvic organs should lead one to search for the cause.

In the course of his examination, the physician may wish to remove a small piece of tissue so that a microscopic examination can be made. This is often extremely necessary for an early diagnosis.

Surgery, the X-Ray and radium are the accepted means of treating cancer. The method of treatment to be used in any individual case is determined by the location, extent and nature of the growth, and is best decided by the physician or surgeon who is treating the case.

From the patient's standpoint, the essential thing is that he or she should submit to an examination soon enough to permit of an early diagnosis. If the suspected condition is not cancerous, one will be pleased to know. If it proves to be cancerous, one is in position to have it treated without delay.

Valuable time and money should not be wasted in experimenting with unknown and unusual methods of treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

He Puts Gas Into The Stomach.

R. G. B. writes: "I am often troubled with gas on the stomach. On the advice of one of my neighbors, I have been taking baking soda and vinegar and seem to get some relief. Is it a good remedy?"

Reply.—Among the products formed by the inter-action of baking soda and vinegar is carbon dioxide, a gas. So if you do not have an uncomfortable amount of gas in your stomach before taking this "cure," there is a good chance that you will after.

If you put the soda and vinegar together before you take them, you may swallow the carbon dioxide gas. If you swallow the soda and vinegar separately, they will inter-act in your stomach to form gas.

The remedy is not a good one. Find out just what the trouble is. The sensation that you assume to be caused by gas may arise from some other disturbance. Your habits may be faulty. You may "swallow air." Or your diet may contain too much sugar and starch.

Treatment of Birthmark.

Mrs. J. I. H. writes: "My 8-year old daughter has a birthmark on her cheek and is becoming sensitive about it. The birthmark is the kind called a "port wine" mark. Is there any satisfactory way of removing them?"

Reply.—Freezing with carbon dioxide or liquid air, is highly recommended by leading skin specialists. Radium has given excellent results. Surgery, the X-Ray and electrolysis have also been used.

If your doctor does not do this kind of work, he will be glad to refer you to some skin specialist. It is best to let the doctor who has charge of the case select the method of treatment.

At Six Years

Mrs. L. W. asks: "How much sleep does a child six years old require? How many meals a day should it have, and should the heaviest meal be given at noon or in the evening?"

Reply.—At six years of age the child reruires about eleven hours of sleep. It should have three meals a day, the heaviest meal being given at noon.

Incubation of Infantile Paralysis

Mrs. H. T. asks: "How long after exposure dos it take for infantile paralysis to develop?"

Reply.—The disease occurs from 3 days to two weeks after exposure.

Raynaud's Disease

Miss E. S. writes: "When the weather is cold, one of my fingers gets dead near the end. It tinges and feels numb, then gets white and cold from the last joint to the tip. What would cause it to do that? It only happens to one finger."

Reply.—It sounds like a mild case of Raynaud's disease. A spasm of the arteries supplying the end of the finger causes the numb and bloodless condition. The effect is the same as though a string were tied tightly around the finger so as to shut off the blood supply.

Raynaud's disease is uncommon, occurs most frequently in young women, and is apparently caused by some lack of stability in the nerves which govern the blood vessels.

Massage and care to keep the fingers warm may help. Your general health may require attention.

"Hearld of Peace" Arrives Safely in U. S.

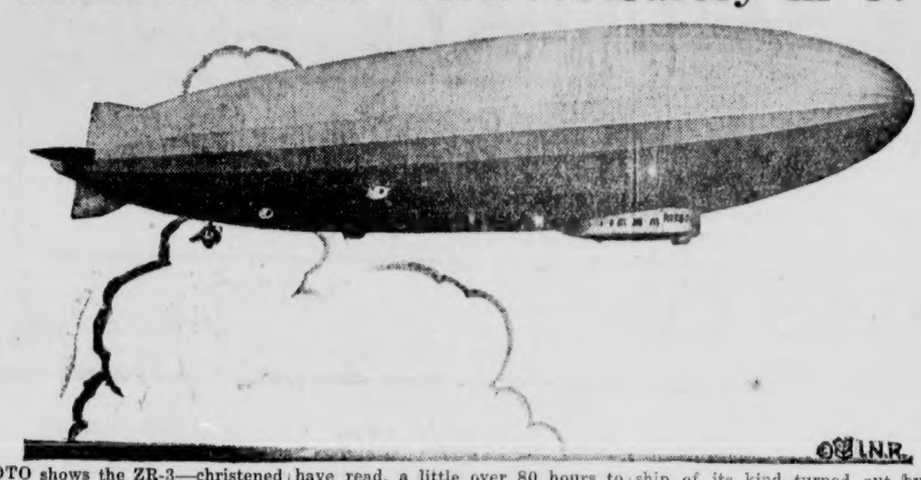

PHOTO shows the ZR-3—christened the "Los Angeles" by Secretary of the Navy Wilbur—arriving at Lakehurst, N. J., after her successful flight from the Zeppelin works at Friedrichshafen, Germany. It took the giant dirigible, as you perhaps have read, a little over 80 hours to make the trip across the Atlantic—or twice as fast as the speediest steamship afloat. The feat was heralded as the most brilliant chapter in the history of lighter-than-air aircraft.

The "Los Angeles" is the 126th ship of its kind turned out by the Zeppelin company and came to this country as a reparations payment. According to the terms of the armistice, the Germans will not be allowed to build any more like it—the work of dismantling the company's plants in Germany now being under way.

Men who do not pay their debts cannot remain in the employ of the City of Gadsden, Mayor Wier told policeman, fireman, sanitary inspectors, clerks, engineers, street workers and others who gathered at the city hall at his call. He told them they were believed to be gentlemen and honest and they would have to live up to that reputation.

Five freight cars, loaded with cotton from Fort Payne and two with lumber from Louisiana were burned in the Southern yards at Attalla, the loss being estimated at $20,000. The blaze was discovered in one of the lumber cars. Two switch engines were forced to work at great speed to save the trains.

Congressman W. B. Bankhead has received communication from the acting first assistant postmaster general advising that a post office inspector will be sent to Carbon Hill to see about establishing free city mail delivery there. The matter was taken up with Congressman W. B. Bankhead by the Kiwanis Club three weeks ago.

HOW DOCTORS TREAT COLDS AND THE FLU

To break up a cold over night or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza or sore throat, physicians and druggists are now recommending Calotabs, the nauseless Calomel tablet, that is purified from dangerous and sickening effects. Those who have tried it say that it acts like magic, by far more effective and certain than the old style calomel, heretofore recommended by physicians.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water.—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with eating, work or pleasures. Next morning your cold has vanished and your system feels refreshed and purified. Calotabs are sold only in original sealed packages, price ten cents for the vest-pocket size; thirty-five cents for the large family package. Recommended and guaranteed by druggists. Your money back if you are not delighted.—adv.

NOTES OF TRAVEL

Concluded

(By S. E. Norton)

This final letter descriptive of the delights we experienced in our visit to Wshington, D. C., which came somewhat unexpected, as a fitting climax to about four months of continuous pleasure, previously detailed in the numerous letters published in The Union-Banner each week during our absence, has been delayed until this time, in order to gather data and definite informatiin worthy to assist in giving descriptions of so many attractions encountered in two days, in order that the reader may better visualize what we saw in this unique city.

A man in a motor boat approached a battleship of the U. S. Navy, standing at anchor, and shouted "I want to come aboard." An officer inquired, "Who are you." The man in the boat replied, "I am one of the owners of this craft." In the same sense every citizen of these United States is part owner of the District of Columbia comprising 100 square miles of territory originally carved out of the eastern edge of both Maryland and Virginia, together with its great and costly buildings, parks, highways and other improvements pertaining to this area known as the Nation's Capital. The whole comprising a district, whose citizens have no vote in affairs of local control" whose government is vested in the Congress of the United States, through commissioners whom the Congress appoint.

Here in 1789 Major Pierre Charles L'Enfant, a 35-year-old French engineer, who had served in the Revolutionary war under General Washington, but at that time President Washington, applied to Washington for a commission to design the federal city and district. Having received the appointment he began the work and finally submitted a design so beautiful, symmetrical and comprehensive, that it was adopted, and the generations which have come and gone since that day have never been able to make any modifications that would improve it, although it has often been tried, and today whatever of improvements are contemplated or accomplished must conform to the original design. Hence Washington is fast becoming one of the most beautiful cities of the world. There still remains a good deal of space occupied by mean and shabby structures, built as a temporary makeshift, but they are all slated for removal as fast as the ground is needed for more substantial and permanent structures. For a striking example of how difficult it is to get things done under government ownership, one need but to read the history of Washington where for a century and a quarter the U. S. government has been in complete control.

Many readers of The Union-Banner will remember Mrs. T. O. Swan, who for several years had charge of Thorsby local telephone central, also her daughters, Mabel and Harriet. After leaving Thorsby they joined the throng called for government service in Washington, where Mrs. Swan died last May, at the home of her daughter, Mabel Swan Walden at Mount Ranier, Maryland, a suburb about five miles from the capitol building at Washington. Harriet was married to Mr. Lee Taylor last June, and they being room renters, are not permanently located. Mr. Walden is employed in a bank. Mr. Taylor is a machinist. Both appear to be fine young men, ambitious and energetic.

Our decision to return from New Jersey, via Washington was based on an earnest invitation from these young people to do so and become their guests while in Washington. They met us when the train arrived at the union station in Washington and planned for and helped us to see as much as it was possible to crowd into the time we stayed, from Friday night to Monday noon.

There are two objects within this city of 450 inhabitants, mostly government employees, that no matter where you go, are always visible. First is the Capitol building, and second the Washington Monument. Neither of them, except when seen close up, enables one to form any conception of their collossal size. Both have been pronounced perfect specimens of their respective styles of architecture. The monument standing more than 500 feet high, exclusive of its foundations, is a simple unornamented shaft of exceeding grace and dignity, a fitting tribute to him for whom it stands.

The Capitol building stands at the intersection of numerous radiating avenues. Being set on a hill one never looks down at it.

Situated thus, it simply dominates the whole landscape. Its great wings which house the Senate and House of Representatives respectively, although of mammoth size as structures, appear dwarfed in height by the great central portion surmounted by the collossal and exquisitely beautiful dome, always a delight to the eye whether seen by day under the light of the heavens or at night with its myriads of electric lights. As one walks beneath it he wonders what supports the nine million pounds of material woven into its construction. Sometimes the exterior of this dome needs a coat of paint, in fact so many times has it been done that the superintendent knows that it takes exactly 4300 lbs. of paint, and requires a force of 35 men for three months to put it on. As we entered this massive structure we noticed half a dozen men in uniform; one of them stepped forward and asked if we wanted a guide. Mrs. Walden being with us we replied that we already had one. However as we strolled about from place to place we sometimes met this guide followed by a company of probably 100 or more sight-seers, each of whom we suppose paid the reuired quarter for a guide. Once or twice we stopped and listened to the information he was giving his "Personally Conducted" audience, and we concluded had we been alone the specific information he gave them would be well worth the money.

By the time we had visited the most important rooms and scenes in the building, though neither the Supreme Court nor Congress were in session, we were ready for dinner. Our "guide" took us to a spacious, neat and moderate priced restaurant. There are a few such even in Washington. We were then conducted to a street corner where we met (Harriet), Mrs. Lee Taylor, who was our hostess for a visit to Mount Vernon, about fifteen miles south of the city and across the Potomac river in Virginia, a historic place where George Washington lived, died and is buried. The Tomb is a simple stone structure built above ground with an iron grating across the front. The vault is about 12 feet square and contains two marble Sarcophagi, one for Washington and the other for Martha Washington who sleeps beside him. All are in plain view and it is evident that the vault may be opened, as there were fresh flowers within.

The Mount Vernon Ladies Association purchased a portion of the estate from one of the heirs of Washington, in 1858 and later acquired more of it so that today they hold title to 237 1-2 acres, including the Tomb, original residence, outbuildings, gardens, servants quarters and wharf. The Potomac river flows adjacent to the property and adds much to its scenic beauty. Many trees and shrubs planted by Washington and his friends LaFayette are still growing and the flower gardens are preserved in their original form. Since organization these ladies have assiduously sought out and collected much of the original furnishings of the residence and by a charge of 25c for admission to the grounds ample funds are provided to furnish caretakers and keep the property in good repair. The day we were there we estimated there were a thousand visitors, and there was no unusual attraction. They come and go in a constant stream by auto, trolley and steamer on the river. We felt well repaid, and like many others would go again if opportunity offers.

Sunday, the young ladies planned to take us to the First Congregational church to see the President, who happened to remain in the city that day. We were most fortunate in being shown to a pew just across the aisle from the President and Mrs. Coolidge. After dinner, Mr. Walden secured a "Drive-It-Yourself" taxi, and took us to all points of interest throughout the city, even out to Arlington, Virginia cemetery where thousands of United States soldiers and marines are buried, giving one a lively understanding of the cost in human life to maintain this land of liberty and opportunity. Here we saw the Arlington Memorial Amphitheater, built entirely of marble even to the benches providing seats for many thousands. At the front of this artistic structure we saw the widely heralded grave of the "Unknown Soldier."

Returning to the city, we visited "The Lincoln Memorial" recently finished, a marvelously beautfiul structure, portraying in all its lines greatness with simple dignity. We also saw the White House and many of the department buildings. Passed the home of Herbert Hoover and near by it the home of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, and later saw the unfinished cathedral where her illustrious husband was given his final resting place. Potomac Park, along the banks of the Potomac river, the Agricultural Departments Botanical gardens, the Soldiers Home, Rock Creek Park with its remarkable Zoo, and other places of interest, made a moving panorama never to be forgotten. Just as the shades of night began to gather we visited the Library of Congress, one of the most ornate buildings in all the world; said to be surpassingly grand in conception, and so replete with expensive detailé in construction that one could spend a week within its walls and still not see it all. We simply took passing glimpses and yet retained a sort of kalidascopic picture of most of it.

Having finished our sight seeing for the day, another great pleasure awaited us by accepting an invitation to dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Henderson (nee Clara Soberg) another Thorsby girl, who not only invited us but also Mr. and Mrs. Walden and Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, for the dinner guests, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herbert, who came later to meet us. Mrs. Herbert was formerly Miss Delia Holmes, one of our Thorsby Institute students. Thus we found quite a colony of Thorsby Young people, and we understand Miss Mae Parnell and some others are there, but did not meet them. But with those present we certainly had a most delightful visit, and many reminisences of former days in Thorsby. Mesdames Walden, Taylor, Henderson and Herbert are all in the employ of the government, as are many thousands of other young people of that great official hive.

If anybody tells you that our Thorsby girls have been in any degree spoiled by life in Washington, don't you believe it! One could never hope to meet a finer quartette of girls, and so far as we could judge on short acquaintance, each of them has made a wise choice in selecting a life-mate.

Monday morning found us turning our faces homeward. Mrs. Walden and her brother, Harry Swan, who lives with her, and is engaged in brick making, accompanied us to the Union Station, where all trains arrive and depart in Washington, where they saw us safely aboard the one train we wanted, out of some 400 that arrive and depart there daily. Here we bid them farewell, but shall long cherish the kindly and courteous attentions we received from this group of splendid young people.

New Way to Stop Night Coughing

Those who have suffered the tortures of sleeplessness due to continual coughing at night, and who as a result often feel utterly worn-out and useless during the day, need no longer permit their systems to be weakened and their vitality sapped by this distressing ailment. For through a very simple treatment the trouble can be stopped almost at once, and people often get their full night's rest undisturbed after the very first trial.

Here is the method: Simply get a bottle of the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery from any good drug store. Then to-night before retiring take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. This prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals the soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which is the real cause of the cough. So your throat is left wonderfully soothed and cleared of irritating gatherings, you can sleep soundly and restfully, and the cough is usually gone in a very short time.

Dr. King's New Discovery is a remarkable remedy for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, sore throat, spasmodic croup, bronchitis, laryngitis and bronchial asthma. At all good druggists. Ask for

CHILTON COUNTY MINUTES READY

The Union-Banner has just finished printing the 1924 minutes of the Chilton County Baptist Association. Mr. Billingsley, the Clerk of the Association, wishes the church clerks to call at The Union-Banner office within the next few days and get their pro-rata share of the minutes for their churches. We hope that the clerks or some other members of the churches will call for their minutes at once, so that they may be taken out of our way.

SOUTH CALERA

Sunday was the regular preaching day at Shiloh. The new pastor, Bro. Weston preached in the morning and there was singing in the afternoon. Bro. Morton, the former pastor, was also in the community Sunday and assisted in the services.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Busby of Pelham were visitors to the community last Sunday.

Mr. Brown of Birmingham spent the week-end with his home-folks in South Calera.

Mrs. Boyer of Calera was the guest of Mrs. G. S. Tate Sunday.

Mr. Edd Haynes has moved to South Calera in the house formerly occupied by Mr Rogers.

Mrs. Oscar Martin and children of Calera were the guests of her sister, Mrs. Cecil Martin Saturday.

A few friends were entertained at the home of Miss Hazel Cox last Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Williams of Bessemer were the week-end guests of Mrs. Williams' mother, Mrs. Richard Busby of South Calera. They also visited Mr. Williams' parents near Jemison.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds Chism of Florida are spending a while with Mr. Chism's parents near Calera.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Evans spent Sunday in South Calera as the guest of relatives there.

SUPPER AT CHESTNUT CREEK

I would like to say a few words in regard to our tea supper we had Saturday night, the 22nd, at Chestnut Creek church. Everybody seemed to enjoy it very much. We had the best of order. Profs. W. M. Devaughn, Archie, Mack, Lena, Bonnie, Floy Devaughn rendered two of the best quartets I ever heard. The title of the songs were: "Is your necktie up behind," and "Good-night ladies." Everybody should have been there and heard them. You missed it all by not being present.

Prof. W. M. Devaughn has promised to get up a concert, the purpose of which will be to help get money to finish our church. Will announce just where and when it will be held later.

We have a Grant quartet band and a Devaughn quartet band. No one will regret their money to just come hear them.

Perhaps some one would like to know how much we took in—$29.50. We had seven boxes there to sell also. Mr. Cecil Smith auctioned them off for us.

Rheumatism

"Good-bye old crutch!"

THERE IS positively no longer any excuse for suffering the agonies of rheumatism! Especially in the autumn of your life, when the vital organs weaken, impurities multiply and linger in the muscles and joints, as never before. It is now, just now, when you cannot afford to guess. No day returns!

Here is a joyous fact which can mean to you a fond farewell forever to all the miseries, the tortures, the body-twisting pains that you have suffered from the demon of rheumatism. It is a fact that rheumatism means "blood poverty." It is a fact with the increase of red-cells in your blood, impurities are destroyed. It is a fact that S.S.S. will help Nature build these red-blood-cells! S.S.S. is one of the most powerful blood cleansers in existence. Its results in thousands of rheumatic cases have been nothing short of amazing! The medicinal ingredients of S.S.S. are purely vegetable. This is very important to remember! What can be more inspiring, more wonderful than to see the shackles of pain released from your struggling body, swellings, lingering pains, stiffness of joints and muscles all disappear; your stomach made strong; your face pink with the old sweetheart glow, your blood enriched and your cheeks more plump as they used to be. You can do it! Take S.S.S., the great destroyer of rheumatic impurities.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

ALABAMA FUNERAL DIRECTORS' ASSOCIATION ORGANIZED

Leading funeral directors from practically every section of the state met in Birmingham Tuesday, Dec. 18, and formed an organization to be known as the Alabama Funeral Directors' Association. For the past five or six years there has been very little done in the way of association work in the profession, but judging from the plans formulated at the meeting the new organization will function on an unusually active basis in bringing about a higher standard of service and improved business methods.

The principal address at the meeting was made by Joseph N. Sletton, of Chicago, Ill., executive secretary, National Funeral Directors' Association, Inc. Mr. Sletton spoke at length on the advantages of organized effort. The Alabama Assiciation voted to affiliate with the national body.

Officers elected at the meeting are as follows: E. J. Duncan, president, Alexander City; O. L. McLaughlin, 1st vice-president, Carbon Hill; Tom Roach, 2nd vice-president, Mobile; F. H. Sorrow, secretary-treasurer, Atlanta, Ga. The 1925 annual meeting will be held in Birmingham the 2nd Tuesday in May.

NOTICE—TELEPHONE MEETING

The regular meeting of the People's Telephone Company will be held at the court house, the second Monday in December, Dec. 8. The directors of eah line are requested to call a meeting of the stockholders of their line, Monday, Dec. 1, and elect directors for the coming year and it shall be the duty of these directors elected from each line to meet at the court house on Monday, Dec. 8,1924, at 10 a. m., for the purpose of electing a President, Vice-president, Secretary and Treasurer and a board of 5 directors and to transact all other business that might come before the meeting.

Railroads Don't Make Their Own Rates

What the railroads charge for their passenger and freight service is a matter of extreme importance to every citizen of the United States. Every fair-minded man and woman believes that the owners of the railroads (nearly two million Americans are directly interested in railroad securities) should receive a fair return on their money invested. For many years this condition has not prevailed.

Contrary to general opinion, the railroads do not make their own rates, this being the principal duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission, a governmental bureau which has for many years established and controlled the making of all interstate rates and supervised the work of various State Railroad Commissions in making intra-state rates. The only thing new about rate making is the designation on the part of Congress, through the Esch-Cummins bill, (Sec. 15-A of the Interstate Commerce Act) of what is considered by Congress as "a fair return".

This figure was fixed on March 1, 1922 at 5½%—at which it now stands. The Government does not guarantee any return to the railroads, but simply says that for rate-making purposes the roads are permitted to earn 5½% upon their aggregate property value. This is the particular section of the so-called "Transportation Act" that is being so much discussed by politicians and will receive so much of the attention of Congress.

The railroads believe that they should be given the opportunity to operate under this act until there is a demonstrated need for its revision. Great improvements have been made in railroad service during the past two years—the roads are handling the largest volume of business in their history and are rendering outstandingly good service to the American people—yet, they have never earned the permitted "fair return" of 5½%. Does this look like rates are too high?

Why tamper with the Transportation Act? Give it a chance.

Auto Chassis of Gold Planned As Feature of Dixie Auto Show

To Furnish Music For The Auto Show

SIGNOR WILLIAM NAPPI

Nappi and his famous jazz orchestra have been engaged to furnish the music for the Dixie Automobile Show, which will be held at the new Birmingham auditorium the first week in December. Signor Nappi last year was featured on the leading vaudeville circuit, in association with the Clyde Doerr Orchestra from the fashionable Congress Hotel, Chicago. His orchestra will furnish continuous music during the Automobile Show, and there will be other entertainment features.

Birmingham.—Co-operation of automobile manufacturers with local dealers will make the Dixie Automobile Show, Birmingham, December 1 to 6, an event that will vie in interest with the big shows at New York and Chicago. It is announced by G. P. Caldwell, managing director of the exposition to be held here the first week in December at the Auditorium, that Birmingham exhibitors have been promised factory assistance in presenting unusual and interesting features.

The cut-out chasses displaying the inner workings of motor cars, and perhaps a gold-plated chassis displayed at the big national shows, will be secured for Birmingham's event if the efforts of dealers here are successful. In addition there will be special "paint jobs," showing the progress made in decorative improvement, and other instructive features.

Continuous music will be furnished during the show by Nappi's jazz orchestra, and Manager Caldwell is negotiating for other entertainment features.

Radio fans, as well as present and prospective automobile owners, will find the show of special interest, inasmuch as there will be a number of radio exhibits displaying up-to-the-minute improvements in wireless accessories.

Fifty Types of Autos

All space has been contracted for in the motor car division of the show, in which more than 50 types of automobiles will be displayed, and Manager Caldwell is busy now accepting reservations for the accessories section, in which there will be over thirty booths.

Birmingham will have a clear field in the South this year with her first interstate automobile show, it is said, for the reason that there will be no Southeastern Show at Atlanta. Reports from Alabama towns, as well as from other States, indicate that there will be many out-of-town motorists in Birmingham for the occasion. It will also be an opportunity for visitors to do some early Christmas shopping in Birmingham, and merchants are planning to offer special shopping week attractions.

Alabama's 154,000 automobile owners and her hundreds of thousands of prospective automobile owners will assure the success of the Dixie Automobile Show, but it is proposed to make it something bigger than a State event, according to T. B. McCarty, president of the Birmingham Motor Trade Association, which is sponsoring the exposition.

Alabama Leads All States

"The figures recently published showing that Alabama leads all States of the Union in increase of automobile ownership during the past 12 months, indicate that this State should be second to none as far as interest in automobiles is concerned," said Mr. McCarty. "We are confident that the Dixie automobile Show is going to be as big and as successful as some of the best that Atlanta has had—and some of the 'Southeastern' shows held there have been good ones.

"We have every reason to believe that the 'Motor Event of Dixie' will be entirely successful, from the standpoint of attendance, excellence of exhibits and every other angle."

Mr. McCarty is chairman of the Motor Trade Association Committee, cooperating with G. P. Caldwell, secretary-manager, in arrangements for the show. His associates on the committee are H. E. Bissell, P. R. McCormack, C. W. Drennen, Ted Brownell, A. R. Pryor, W. S. Edwards and Douglas Kirkpatrick.

While superintending the clearing of the debris caused by eight freight cars leaving the track at Conecuh River near Troy, Roadmaster E. W. Beck was injured. He fell and his left leg was broken above the ankle and two ribs fractured.

RED CROSS YEAR'S COST $21,366,255

Nearly $12,000,000 Devoted to Helping Victims of Great Japanese Earthquake.

OVER 3,000 BUSY CHAPTERS

Aid to Disabled War Veterans Paramount and Reaches Nearly $4,000,000.

Washington.—More than $21,000,000 was the total of funds expended in all activities of the American Red Cross during the last fiscal year ended June 30, says a statement issued by the National organization. This expenditure was almost one sixth of the amount of money disbursed by the Red Cross in the war year, July, 1917, to June, 1918. Of this extraordinary sum $11,631,303 was America's contribution to the Red Cross for relief of the Japanese earthquake victims. This was increased to $11,768,803 by appropriations from general funds of the Red Cross and it represented probably the largest spontaneous outpouring of beneficence of a single nation in the history of the world.

Over 3,000 active Chapters expended during the year $4,869,000, the National organization disbursed $16,497,255.35, making the total $21,366,255.35—all for humanitarian work which reached practically around the world.

In announcing the year's record of American Red Cross industry the executive officials at Washington emphasize the fact that the extensive and never-halting work of the Red Cross depends almost wholly upon the nation-wide support of the organization from the memberships enrolled during the annual roll call which this year will be in progress from Nov. 11 to 27, when everyone is asked to join or renew their membership in the American Red Cross.

Soldier Service Paramount

Service in behalf of the disabled veterans of the World War and their families is a paramount obligation of the Red Cross. The organization, through its Chapters, is constantly in touch with this duty in 2,639 communities throughout the United States—the Chapters alone during the year expending in service for veterans about $2,000,000. The National organization expended $1,735,825—a total of $3,735,825 applied to assisting war sufferers toward recovery from disability and distress.

This work is constant in hospitals, sanitariums, camps, soldiers' homes, in the community. For example, in helping disabled men and women in places where they were transient residents $173,076 from national funds alone was required to help solve their problems. Every Red Cross service is ever at hand ready to meet the individual need of these men and women.

The enlisted men in the Regular Army, the Navy, and the Marine Corps, with their home ties, mean a never-ending Red Cross service which figures cannot fully interpret. In this work a total of $685,285 was applied in meeting an obligation under the Red Cross charter which has been fulfilled for over 20 years.

Domestic Operations Extensive

In the past year Red Cross operations were almost wholly confined to continental United States and the insular possessions. Relief work following disasters called for immediate activities in 192 places and a total of $737,603.87 was spent in this service alone. In 33 major disasters trained workers were kept at the work of rehabilitation for many months.

In carrying on the health activities a total of $444,886.66 from Red Cross national funds, and $808,000 from Chapter treasuries—appropximately $1,252,886 in all—was applied, giving some idea of the extent of Red Cross service in the fields of public health nursing, nutrition instruction, and spreading knowledge of personal hygiene and care of the sick in the home.

For advancing the cause of human safety, the First Aid instruction, locally by Chapters and over extensive national territory by the Red Cross instruction car covering trunk line railroads, and in teaching water safety and increasing the membership of the Red Cross Life-Saving Corps the total cost was $288,234.71, of which $216,234.71 came out of national funds.

Army of Over 5,500,000

The Junior Red Cross in the schools—with over 5,500,000 in its "I Serve" ranks—was aided with $233,510.78 to which it is estimated the Chapters added some $277,000—a total of $510,510.78. In various other domestic activities the Red Cross spent $283,473.19, and the Chapters, in their numerous voluntary services expended an additional $1,048,000 during the year.

Foreign obligations, aside from Japan, were met with national funds as follows: Relief of refugees in Greece, $200,887.18; Junior Red Cross projects, $99,579.75; League of Red Cross Societies, $165,000; other insular and foreign work, $221,855.31. The American Red Cross budget for 1924-25 is $4,647,790.85, or $868,286.99 less than the budget for the year ended last June 30.

In good deeds for all peoples in time of distress the American Red Cross never rests. Help this work with your membership dollar—join on Armistice Day.

Coolidge Makes Big Cut in 1925 Budget

In Reduction of More than Fifty-Nine Million From Estimated Expenditures of Current Year.

The estimates of six major departments of other agencies of the government—Interior, Navy, War, Treasury, Shipping Board and Veterans Bureau—were reduced in the new budget, while there was only one noticable increase—that for the Department of Agriculture.

Practically all of the $26,000,000 reduction in the Interior Department total was one of the smaller allotment for the Pension Bureau. That department's outlay was cut from $210,000,000 for the current year to $190,114,000 for next year, largely because of the decreasing pension roll resulting from the death of pensioners.

The cut of $33,000,000 in the Navy was scattered over many items of expenditure, but a large part of it was due to a reduction of the fund appropriated under the heading of "Increase of the Navy." It is understood supplemental estimates for needed construction will go to Congress later. The Budget Director's report to the President declared that under the total allowed the Navy can continue at its present enlisted strength of 86,000 men; the Marine Corps will have provision for 18,000 men instead of the present 16,000; the present aircraft force will continue [illegible] to increase the average [illegible] range of battleships from [illegible] miles to 28,700; two more of the submarines authorized in 1916 can be laid down; new aircraft can be purchased and it will be possible to continue work "at a normal rate of speed" on all new ships under construction within the limitation of number and cost.

There were scattered reductions totalling $8,600,000 in the War Department's allowance, but no particular branch of the military service was singled out for reduced appropriations. Under the total authorized the Budget Bureau declared, the regular army can continue on its present basis of 12,000 officers and an average enlisted strength of 118,000; the number of reserve officers who can be trained will remain about the same; attendance at the citizen's training camps must be limited to 29,000 instead of 33,900 in the current year, and the Militia Bureau will be able to maintain an average strength of 173,500, a reduction of 3,500 from the present authorization. The Air Service allotment was increased from $14,900,000 for the current year to $17,000,000 during the coming year to "enable the Air Service to make reasonable progress toward cutting down its present shortage in heavier-than-air craft and at the same time assist in keeping alive the aircraft industry for use in time of emergency." The total fixed for rivers and harbors improvement—$59,277,990—is practically the same as for the present year.

It was in the Veteran's Bureau estimate that the Budget Director made his biggest cut under the figures submitted a year ago. A net total of $79,000,000 was lopped off, in spite of increases in some departments of the Bureau's activities. The factors which more than offset these increases included a drop from $89,000,000 to $38,000,000 for vocational training to men wounded in the war; a reduction from $127,800,000 which the Budget Director estimated would be sufficient to carry the payments through next year if applications continue to come in at their present slow rate; and a $7,000,000 reduction in the amount set aside for hospital construction.

The Treasury Department's reduction of $16,810,000 under the total for the present year was largely accounted for by the fact that tax refunds amounting to $16,140,000, resulting from the 25 percent reduction voted by Congress at the last session, were included in the expenditures of the current year and no like item was necessary in the new budget. The Coast Guard allotment was increased by $1,650,000, as a part of the drive against rum-runners, while the total given the Customs Service was cut $712,000—a reduction declared by the Budget Director to be due to decreased activities and an estimated falling off in refunds.

COUNTY BOARD OF EDUCATION FAILS TO RECOGNIZE BAKER

At the regular monthly meeting of the County Board of Education last Monday, the matter of who would be recognized and seated as member of the Board to fill the vacancy of L. A. Calloway came up, and the Board decided in favor of seating Mr. C. C. Conway, the man who was elected by the County Board, in preference to Wm. R. Baker, who was elected by the people of the County to fill the vacancy.

This action of the County Board will necessitate a ruling of the Circuit Court on the matter. Of course, Mr. Conway is a good man and a qualified person for the position, and we know of little, if any opposition to him among the people of the County, but the fact that Mr. Baker was seated according to law, will make it necessary for a court ruling on the matter. According to all information, however, the suit will be a friendly one among the advocates of both parties, but it will be instituted merely to determine who is the legal incumbent of the office.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION

The next regular Examination for teachers' will be held at the Courthouse on December 15, 16, and 17th. All applicants not known to me must be properly identified and no applicant will be permitted to take who does not live or teach in this County, or who does not present a permit from the State Dept. of Education, if living in some other County to be transferred to this County.

No one will be permitted to take for Second who had not finished at least two years of High School or its equivalent and no one will be permitted to take for First who has not had the equivalent of a full High School course.

On Monday, December 15., an examination for certificates to teach piano and public school music will be given.

All applicants should be present at 9 a.m. on Monday except thise who turn in valid certificates to take for a higher certificate. Those turning in Third to take for Second should report at 3 o'clock Monday p.m. those taking for First and submitting valid Seconds need not report until 1 o'clock Tuesday p.m.

Respectfully,
HOWARD L. FOSHEE,
County Supt. Education.

THREE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR $3.00

From now until January 1st, The Union-Banner will be sold in clubs of three or more subscriptions for one dollar each. This is under the condition, however, that not more than one third of the club be renewals. For instance, if three subscriptions are brought in two of them must be new subscribers and the other may be a renewal. However, if they are all new subscribers, it would be better. This club rate will run only through the month of December, so if you want the paper for one dollar, you had better work fast.

By the way, if you have trouble in deciding on what to give your friends for Christmas, just send three or four of them The Union-Banner. You could not give them a present that would be more appreciated. If you send them The Union-Banner for a Christmas present your friends will be reminded of your yuletide gratuity every week during the coming year. Send in your club today.

EVENTFUL DAYS AT METHODIST PARSONAGE

Friday, 28th. inst,, was an eventful day at the Methodist parsonage. Earl Gore, one of our young men, conveyed to the parsonage two ladies who, when leaving the car, filled their arms with various and sundry things to eat; just such as the preacher and his wife likes most, and deposited them on the dining table with the explanation: "This is for you, which is an expression of the love and friendship of the members of your church and your friends in Clanton." Then in their characteristic way, Mesdames Gore and Kicker welcomed us back and express a joy in having us another year for their pastor.

Others came or sent throughout the after-noon at intervals and brought their packages that failed to get in the first lot. Finally when dark had come, like Nicodemus coming to Christ, several others came and they too like the wise men of the East brought their gifts and added to the occasion by sitting around the fireside with us and enjoying a social evening like our fathers in the days of yore did.

These are the things that hearten the ministry and makes the preacher and family feel that there is no other place in life like theirs.

May God bless each one of you and may there not be a stone unturned this coming year that will add to God's Kingdom in this country.

Your pastor and friend
C. C. WILKERSON.

The Commissioners of Chilton County were in regular monthly session at the court house last Monday. They were attending only to road matters at this session.

HIGHWAY THROUGH CLANTON TO BE BID ON SEPERATELY

By a recent ruling of the State Highway Commission, that portion of the State Highway passing through Clanton will not be handled together with the bids for Section "B" as advertised last week in The Union-Banner, but this section will be advertised seperately as section "C." This change in the plans was made known Tuesday of this week.

CHRISTMAS TREE WILL BE GIVEN PEOPLE OF BEAT ELEVEN

To somewhat show their appreciation to the good people of Beat 11 for the splendid vote given the Republican ticket in the last general election, the Republican leaders of the County are arranging to give the people of that Beat a Christmas tree one night during the coming holidays. The arrangements are not complete yet, but it is far enough advanced to be stated a certainty. The full announcement of the affair will be made in the near future. Look for it.

MRS. CHARLES LITTLETON DEAD

Mrs. Charles Littleton, who was formerly a descendant of the New Salem community, but who was living in Bessemer, died there last Friday.

The remains were brought back and buried at the New Salem cemetery, Rev. S. M. Adams, officiating.

MRS. MOLLIE GOLDEN DIES

The many friends and the relatives of Mrs. Mollie Golden, who lived about four miles north of town, are saddened by the death of this good woman, which occurred at the home of her daughter in Bessemer last Sunday morning. She was 62 years of age.

The remains were brought and buried at Lomax last Monday.

UNCLE JUNIUS DEAD

Old Uncle Junious Winfield, the oldest negro in Chilton County, died at his little cabin home on First Street near the cemetery last Saturday night. Uncle Junius had been sick for two or three days before the end came.

No one knows the exact age of Uncle Junius, but old settlers say that he was over a hundred, and judging from his appearance, this estimate is very conservative.

This old darky will be greatly missed in Clanton by the white people as well as the black, as he has been jogging his old bended form over the streets of Clanton as long as most people here can remember. Everybody in this neighborhood knew Uncle Junius, and his friends were numbered no less. He was buried in the Clanton cemetery Monday of this week.

Uncle Junius, as a liberated slave, came to Chilton County shorty after the Civil War. When Clanton was being settled, he acquired a small lot in Clanton on which he built him a cabin. He has lived there ever since. His trusty old feminine companion, Aunt Mary, died three or four years ago. They were the parents of no children.

MRS. SUSAN B. THACKER DEAD

This most estimable lady died in Birmingham last Thursday and was buried in the City Cemetery here on the following day.

She was the last living charter member of the First Baptist church of Clanton and had been a member for 72 years.

She was for many years a citizen of our town and was remembered and loved by all of the older citizens here. She was always a most devoted and earnest Christian, ever ready and anxious to do her utmost for the cause of Christ and the upbuilding of her church; was noted for her efforts in the interest of all who suffered or needed assistance.

The remains were followed to their last resting place by a great throng of sorrowing friends. Dr. Ezell officiated at the service in most solemn and affecting eulogy of the dear good old lady.

KNIGHT TEMPLAR BANQUET

On the night of Thanksgiving Day the local commandery of the Knights Templar pulled off their annual banquet at their hall on Eighth street.

They also put through the largest class of applicants in the history of the local Lodge. Under the direction of Dr. P. T. Hinkle, one is not surprised to learn that a proper amount of pep and push exists in this splendid organization.

Dr. T. J. Marcus represented, by special request and appointment, the Grand lodge of the State of Nevada, at the Grand Lodge Convocation in Montgomery this week.

Clanton is proud of its Masonic strength. It embraces a very large number of the best citizens in this vicinity and is always alive and ready to act when any occasion arises that demands their attention.

Mr. G. F. M. Easterling, R. S. Easterling, W. E. Easterling, J. H. Johnson and Will Cox left in a Ford, Monday, for Florida, where they will spend a few days.

Highway Settled on Seventh St. Route

Two Delegations Go Before State Highway Commission In Montgomery Tuesday.

The question of whether the State highway passing through Clanton shall go through Sixth street instead of Seventh street was definitely settled Tuesday by the State Highway Commission in session in Montgomery. The highway will go through Clanton on Seventh street by Maddox's gin and the postoffice, according to the ruling of the Highway Commission.

The highway commission, through Judge Reynolds, notified the people of Clanton Monday that the matter would be heard and settled by them Tuesday at 10 o'clock. After Judge Reynolds made public this fact, delegations representing the merits of each route began to get together and make arrangements to present their pleas to the commission. When the highway commission met at 10 o'clock the room was packed with Clanton people, about an equal number representing each proposal. About an hour was allowed each delegation to present its argument, and in about thirty seconds after the argument ceased a vote was taken by the commission and it registered unanimous for the Seventh street route.

So, be it advantageous or unadvantageous, the highway will pass thru the street by Maddox's gin and the postoffice; that is, so far as this particular skirmish is concerned, but of course, it would be very presumptuous to say that the highway will go in any specified place until after the cement is placed, as these things are often changed overnight and without the least warning so far as the public is concerned.

Due to the fact that the highway remains where it was formerly surveyed, no one has been benefitted by the skirmish in mention except Chilton county. But by the wide-awake and cautious management of Judge Reynolds and the County Commissioners, all of whom went before the State Commission, Chilton county will not have to purchase the right-of-way for the highway through Clanton, but same will be cared for by the citizens owning property on the route. Judge Reynolds went before the Highway Commission with a petition from the property owners on Sixth street guaranteeing the county the right-of-way without cost to the county,and before the discussion went very far the representatives of the Seventh street route were smoked out and forced to make the same offer. Therefore, Chilton county was safe whichever way the highway went. So by the skillful management of Judge Reynolds and the Commissioners the county was saved two or three thousand dollars, which otherwise they would have been forced to pay for the right-of-way. So the trip to Montgomery was not altogether in vain, even if there was no change made in the right-of-way.

The most noticeable and noble thing in the whole scramble was the good humor manifest by both delegations. Although every fellow was contending with all his might for his route, yet it was all done with smiles and good feeling among everybody.

CORN ALONE FOUND POOR HOG RATION

Experiments Show That Grains Are Cheaper When Protection Ration Is Fed With Corn.

Auburn, Ala., Dec. 4.—Special—Corn alone is a poor and very expensive for growing and fattening pigs and hogs, according to Prof. F. W. Burns, of the Agricultural College at Auburn. Corn contains only a small amount of protein and when fed alone growth of animals is slow, requiring much more feed per pound of grain.

In seven feeding trials conducted by agricultural experiment stations, Prof. Burns reports that when corn alone was used an average of 642 pounds were required to produce 100 pounds gain. When corn was supplemented with tankage, 100 pounds gain was made on 387 pounds of corn and 42 pounds of tankage. Thus 265 pounds of corn was replaced by 42 pounds of tankage. Taking these two feeds at their present price it can be seen that $1.47 worth of tankage replaced $5.67 worth of corn, saving $4.20 per hundred pounds gain. When tankage was used the daily grain was approximately doubled.

A feeding test now in progress at the Experiment Station here is giving the same market results. It shows that farmers who are using corn alone as a feed for hogs can well afford to sell part of their corn and buy some tankage or some other good protein supplement. Fish meal, skimmilk and buttermilk will give the same good results as tankage.

Legume pastures contain much protein, and are especially good for growing pigs. These crops also contain much calcium, a mineral content much needed for rapid growth. A mineral mixture of equal parts, by weight, of charcoal, lime, and salt should be kept before growing pigs all the time.

MALARIA LEAVES A HEAVY MARK

Malaria, unfortunately, does not end with the breaking of Chills and reducing of Fever. Even after the patient is free from actual illness, the marks on his system are plain to see. Vitality is weak, appetite poor, weight fallen off, spirits low. In such conditions Wintersmith's Chill Tonic, a reliable anti-malaria prescription is invaluable.

Wintersmith's Chill Tonic builds up and restores what the malarial fever has taken away. It enriches and purifies the blood, aids the appetite, tones up the system, hastens the return of health and strength.

Taken as you feel Chills and Fever coming on, Wintersmith's Chill Tonic gives prompt and certain relief; and a long siege of Malaria can often be avoided. Its beneficial effects have been proved in thousands of cases, over 56 years of continued use. At your drug store. Popular size, 60c; mammoth size, $1. Made only by the Wintersmith Chemical Co., Inc. BUSINESS DEALS

Yesterday we learned that Mr. Joe Ben Downs had purchased the entire outfit and business of the Powell Pressing Club and the Sanford Barber shop which adjoins it.

Mr. Downs will assume control next week and continue both businesses as at present.

He is a young man who is well known and liked here and will, no doubt, carry a strong patronage in both. He invites his friends to call and try him out. He will also conduct a general watch and gun repair shop down there.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Late last evening, as Mr. W. H. Sartor was returning from a trip to the country in his Buick car, the little daughter of Mr. J. A. Hester, Julia Ruth, was playing in the street and by some ill fortune, got in the way of the car and before Mr. Sartor could avoid it, she was knocked down and the car passed over her chest.

At a late hour last night she was resting well and great hopes were entertained that she was not seriously hurt.

Both families are prominent in Clanton, are near neighbors and lifelong friends, and this accident is doubly sad on that account.

We learn that Dr. Gragg is the attending physician but we failed to catch him on the phone and get his diagnosis.

The manw friends of both families will rejoice if they can learn today that all danger is passed and no serious results are to be feared.

Miss Mary Lowe and Mrs. Clenna Sorrell were the charming guests of Mr. and Mrs. Enoch Cox of Thorsby, for the past week end.

The action of the National Grange in asking that the Government conduct cost-of-production inquiries recalls the fact that it was a Democratic Administration that put a stop to such an inquiry and a Republican Administration that renewed it.

Whatever may be the official outcome of the contest over the election of Senator Brookhart in Iowa, the people of the country will be interested in seeing how many votes were marked against his opponent but not counted because of a technicality. If a plurality of the ballots were marked for his opponent, the people will not be satisfied until the real winner takes his seat.

Our people are using 25 per cent more soap for bathing purposes, according to reports of manufacturers. Five years ago the average family used 40 cakes a year. Now 50 cakes are used. In the same period the country has changed from a Democratic to a Republican government. The two facts are closely related. One is symbolic of the other. As a man's Prosperity increases so does his self-respect. Whenever Republicans gain the ascendency over the party of "the great unwashed," soap sales ascend. Upon examination one will discover that the curves of soap production and well-being of the Republican Party have been intimately associated.

Entrance into the League of Nations is about as dead in the United States as any issue could be; nevertheless, events in Europe sometimes arouse American interest in League affairs. The League was wholly ignored in the controversy between Great Britain and Egypt, although the situation was precisely such as the League was intended to handle and as each of its members is obligated to refer to it. Imagine the position of the United States were it a member. Unless we were to treat the covenant as a scrap of paper, American warships would be rushed to the Mediterranean to protect Egypt against warlike British aggression, thereby forfeiting friendship with Great Britain. Happily we are free from such entanglements, and intend to remain so.

BUSY ALL YEAR 'ROUND

"When winter comes," as it is proceeding to do in regular order, the people of the country will appreciate the importance of regular railroad service as compared with the highway bus and truck lines which operate on schedule in good weather. When ice forms on the highways and the snow begins to drift, the bus and truck lines suspend operations or operate when they feel like it. They let their customers turn to the railroads for service temporarily.

Just imagine what would happen if the railroads adopted the same policy as the motor lines. Suppose the tables were turned about. Suppose that when the snow forms in drifts the railroad companies ordered all their engines into the roundhouses and directed travelers and shippers to utilize the motor buses and trucks. Of course the public would not stand for it for a minute. Yet that same public gives the motor buses the cream of the traffic in good weather and offers no criticism whatever when they suspend operations in bad weather.

Hardly fair, do you think?

ABLE LEADER SHIP ASSURED

Washington, Dec., 1—The selection of Senator Chardes Curtis, of Kansas, as leader of the Republicans in the Senate, to succeed the late Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, was a move that will expedite business, promote harmony and insure a wise legislative program. His long legislative experience makes Curtis a master of legislative procedure—something that is highly essential in getting measures through the Congressional mill. He is personnally popular among Senator regardless of party or faction, which makes it easier for him to adjust difference. He comes from the Moddle West and fully understands the problems of agriculture, but is not of the radical type so numerous among political leaders in that section of the country.

The selectoin of Curtis as Senator leader was made possible by the voluntary withdrawal of Senator Francis E. Warren, of Wyoming, who would have been entitled to the position by virture of seniority. Warren declined the honor, probably on account of his age, although that need not have barred him, for he is an exceedingly vigorous legislator despite his 80 years. Warren has a remarkable record. He was born in Massachusetts and at the age of 18 enlisted in a Massachusetts infantry company for service in the Civil War. He practiced in many engagements, among them the bloody battle at Port Hudson, and was awarded the Congressional medal of honor for gallantry on the fied in that battle. Upon the restoration of peace Warren returned to Massachusttts and engaged in farming for a short time and in 1868 went to Wyoming where he has since been known as one of the most extensive sheep-owners in the world.

So great has been the confidence of the people of Wyoming in their great agricultural leader that they have kept him almost continuously in some office of trust since 1873. He has been mayor, member of the State Senate, State Treasurer, Governor and U. S. Senator. He has been a Senator for 32 years. During this career in public life, he has been many times made the object of bitter attacks by political rivals but the high regard his constituents have for his ability, his integrity and his willingness to work always brought him a victory at the polls. He is aquiet man, making few speeches, but always to the point. In regularity of attendance and close attention to the business before the Senate he forms one of a well known group which long included Smoot of Utah, Gallinger of New Hampshire, and Lodge of Massachusetts. The latter two have passed on, but Smoot is still one of the recognized ever-present and ever-dependable Senate members.

Senator Curtis, the new Republican leader, olso has a long and highly creditable record in public life. He was born in Topeka, and has spent his entire life as a resident of that city. He was elected county attorney when 24 years of age and sent to Congress at the age of 33. He served seven terms in the House and was elected to the Senate in 1907. Near the expiration of that term he received the popular vote for re-nomination but lost the nomination under a district plan of selection. When the legislature enacted a law for the nomination of candidates by direct vote, he again won and returned to the Senate as a result of the election of 1914.

Like Senator Warren, Curtis is of the quiet type, making few speeches and those of the style expected of a business man rather than an orator. He talks only when there is something important before the Senate, and then briefly but directly to the point. His most effective work is in personal conferences with Senators, and in planning and putting through a program of legislation. His selection as leader is a forecast of a satisfactory record in Senate procedure.

UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA WINS 1924 FOOTBALL TITLE

By defeating the University of Georgia last Thursday, the "Crimson Tide" of Alabama earned the right to be called the champions of the South during 1924.

Showing a brilliant offensive, the "Tide" swept the "Bulldogs" off their feet, beating them 33 to 0.

The Georgia team saw what they were up against, early in the game, and resorted to a defensive method of play, seeming to be trying to keep Alabama from scoring rather than to score themselves.

DECEMBER PEN-O-GRAMS

RED CROSS DUTY TO AID VETERANS

Spends Nearly Four Millions in Year to Lessen Burdens of Disabled Soldiers.

SERVES 63,700 IN HOSPITALS

Every Case Is Given Individual Service—Assists Families of These Men Everywhere.

Washington.—The need of individual assistance by ex-service men and their families from the Red Cross is as pressing today as it was immediately after the end of the World War. For six years this work has been foremost of all Red Cross services, and in emphasizing the steady public support of this work the Red Cross National Headquarters urges the largest enrollment this year during the membership campaign opening on Armistice Day, November 11.

Nearly four million dollars of Red Cross funds spent for disabled veterans and their dependents during the year ended June 30 last presents some idea of the magnitude of this work. The current year, it is estimated, will call for still further disbursements of funds for the reason that the Red Cross, through more than 3,500 Chapters in as many communities in the United States, has been called upon to help the ex-service men in making out their applications for the adjusted compensation granted in the so-called bonus law.

58,767 Soldier Cases a Month

The Red Cross work for the disabled soldier is designated "home service," for it gives individual attention to the man and his family approximating the interest and loving care of the home. Such service in the hospitals, camps, soldiers' homes and sanatoria, averaged 33,951 cases a month during the year. Assistance to ex-service men and their dependents averaged 58,767 cases a month. In addition, the Red Cross in the last twelve months provided 32,000 recreation and entertainment events in the hospitals and camps.

Thus the Red Cross, symbolized as the "Greatest Mother," still watches over these many thousands of men, comforts them, helps to lighten the tedium of their physical reconstruction, and in their homes lifts some of the burdens from their "own people."

Work in Communities Increases

The home service of the Red Cross was the most pressing duty of 2,609 Chapters, an increase of 182 communities where problems affected by the war veteran's condition required solution through immediate and intelligent assistance. The Chapters alone expended some $2,000,000 in this work.

The transient disabled soldier, usually suffering from disability or tuberculosis, is almost everywhere a grave problem. From national funds the past year $173,976.36 was expended in helping the Chapters to care for these wandering men.

According to government report there are 4,800 veterans in civilian institutions, and in the national homes for soldiers the complications are increasing. The large groups of patients whose claims have been disallowed, of veterans of foreign wars, and the great number of men permanently resident in these institutions call for Red Cross work which cannot be avoided nor denied.

Definite Service to 73,700

Of a total of 84,500 ex-service men in hospitals and other institutions 73,700 were rendered a definite and specialized service by the Red Cross. In a single month 4,185 new cases were presented and a total of 20,125 was acted upon—figures which serve to illustrate the magnitude of the information and claims service engaging the attention of Red Cross workers. New veteran legislation amending the War Risk act which extends many additional rights to disabled ex-service men will reopen thousands of cases and require still greater Red Cross service.

When Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross it charged the organization with the duty to act as "the medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy." This responsibility to the enlisted men and their families is met every year without restriction.

Serves Men on Active Service

The extent of this Red Cross activity during the last year embraced a total of 195,246 cases. There were 36,995 separate soldiers' and sailors' claims; 20,316 investigations of home conditions; 11,421 cases related to discharges, furloughs, etc. Assistance was given in 39,688 instances for personal, business or family problems; 744,220 visits were made to the sick or disabled, and nearly 40,000 letters and telegrams dispatched to the homes of enlisted men.

From June to September at the numerous military training camps the Red Cross provided information and home service to the trainees, also instruction in First Aid and Life-Saving. The entertainment and recreation events at the various Army and Navy hospitals reached nearly 9,500 during the year, and occupational therapy in nine Naval hospitals gave constructive and beneficial results and occupied the time of patients in the making of useful and ornamental things.

FARM FACTS

It really means something to name your farm and you will appreciate it more each year.

Exposure to the weather conditions is to take its annual toll in thousands of dollars as the bales of cotton lie exposed.

A balanced ration for livestock is good evidence of a balanced brain and a good farmer.

It is your privilege to plant seed "by the moon" but if you forget to do so you will not lose by it.

If you want to be certain about the variety of fruit trees you buy you should join with your neighbors and buy co-operatively. You can get better trees at a lower price by doing so.

Present indications are that the average per acre yield of corn in Alabama this year is 13 1-2 bushels.

Alabama's sweet potato crop this year is about two-thirds of the 1923 crop, the reduction being 4,550,000 bushels.

A CORRECTION

In last week's issue we gave a review of the 1924 football season at C. C. H. S. In this review, by mistake we left out a victory over the Marion Institute Reserves, 12 to 7. This makes the standing of the team, out of 8 games played, 1 lost, 1 tied and 6, instead of 5, won.

FRENCH TURPENTINING PLAN APPLIED TO LONG LEAF PINE

Under our present destructive method of obtaining gum naval stores (turpentine, rosin etc.) from our forests of the south, that industry faces a hazardous future. Indeed it is regarded by many as in a dying condition at the present time. Why is this so and what is the remedy?

The answers to these questions are to be found in the Department Circular 327 of the United States Department of Agriculture, The French Turpentining System Applied to Longleaf Pine, just off the press.

In that publication the results of years, experimental work with different methods of obtaining turpentine from the long leaf pine in the Florida National Forest are set forth. Especial emphasis is laid on the comparison between the method used in France and the Government method used in America.

The tests indicated that the American method is the best for the mature trees, can thus be worked 14 years without damage, but that for the second-growth, trees which have not the saw-timber size, the French method is superior.

The importance of this information is shown in this: whereas since 1820 America has led the world in naval stores production and even now produces 70 per cent of the world supply, our virgin timber is being rapidly exhausted. Hence we shall have to depend more and more upon second growth timber for our turpentine supply. But our destructive turpentining methods used on the smaller trees render them incapable of the further production, after the very short period of 3 to 6 years. The French system, on the other hand, can be used on trees of that size for much longer periods without injury. In fact, France has been turpentining second-growth areas for 80 years and the supply, instead of decreasing is increasing, and it has been found that for periods of 30 to 50 years such areas can be profitably worked without materially reducing the saw-timber value of the trees.

In that situation the lesson is indicated for American operation. It is believed that it will apply not only to longleaf pine but to slash pine as well. Hope thus rises anew in the permanence of our great American turpentine industry.

Copies of this circular may be obtained free of charge from the Forest Service, Washington, D. C., as long as the supply lasts.

Power in the Blood!

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S. S. S. are really amazing!

MAN'S GLORY is his strength—yet how few there are who are really as strong as they should be. The blood thins, gets weaker, blood cells wear out—general weakness and a gradual break-down of the system results.

We know there is one thing that puts power in the blood, and that is more red-blood-cells! S.S.S. builds them by the million! We know that as blood cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! But have you ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought of it. So-called skin eruptions—pimples, boils, blackheads, eczema all pack up and go when the tide of blood cells begins to roll in. Blood cells are the fighting giants of Nature. S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood cell builders, blood cleansers and body builders known to us mortals. Here is your opportunity! S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red-blood-cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down.

Start taking S.S.S. today and get back that power in your blood!

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

A remarkable record of convictions secured for law violations was found in the report of Chief Walter K. McAdory, of the State Law Enforcement Department, for the month of October. Of cases made by state officers which were tried during the month, a majority of which were prohibition cases, convictions were secured in 337 instances, while only six defendants were acquitted. Twenty-four cases were nol prossed, and two abated by death. Thirty-seven penitentiary sentences ranging from a year and a day to 20 years were imposed from the above cases, and cash fines assessed during the month reached the record figure of $23,452.19. Expenses of the department for the month were only $9,646.53. The figures, as to the number of arrests, convictions and fines assessed for the month were the highest in the history of the department.

Under the terms of an order made by Judge William M. Walker, in the Chancery Division of the Jefferson County Circuit Court, A. B. Aldridge, receiver of the Ensley Southern Railroad Company, is authorized and directed to pay to the Mississippi (Mississippi-Warrior barge line) $16,404.08. This is the amount due the Mississippi Service, according to a statement filed by Mr. Aldridge, on joint business handled by the railroad and the barge line during his receivership. A claim of the railroad company against the barge line for several thousand dollars alleged to be due for business jointly handled prior to the receivership, is not affected by the order.

A company of Illinois Congressmen is expected to reach Florence this week for a visit to Muscle Shoals for the purpose of gathering data and making recommendations to Congress in December as to the disposition of the Shoals project. The Albany-Decatur Chamber of Commerce has wired members of the party to pay visits to the Twin Cities on their way to and from the Shoals. The party comes under the auspices of the Illinois manufacturers.

Grover Tucker, poet, inventor and ex-preacher, was found guilty in Tuscaloosa Circuit Court, second hearing, on the charge of statutory offense and sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He gave notice of appeal and was freed on a $1,500 bail. The case was first brought to court last February, when the first verdict of guilty was returned and Tucker appealed. The case attracted considerable attention at the time.

The construction volume in Birmingham for the first 10 months of 1924 is 67 per cent greater than the entire year of 1923, according to figures given out by the F. W. Dodge Construction Corporation. In the announcement it is pointed out that in Birmingham the construction increase for the 10 months has been 91 per cent greater than the same period of 1923, amounting to $24,607,200.

Methodists of Alabama will raise $200,000 for hospital purposes. This plan was consummated by adoption by the Alabama Methodist Conference in session at Ozark, of a report and recommendation by the hospital board. The Alabama Conference agreed to raise $125,000 of the total sum, the North Alabama Conference having already taken action in regard to its part.

Children of 29,942 Schools Now Enrolled in Movement of Service to Humanity.

The American Junior Red Cross, which was organized as a children's auxiliary during war-times especially to help the young refugees in Europe, and to exemplify in peace-time the Red Cross ideal of service, has now a membership of 5,596,663 in the schools of the United States and the insular possessions.

This Junior movement gives opportunity for the children to share in Red Cross effort parallel to that of the parent organization. Juniors are therefore identified in varying degree with the health services, disaster relief work, salvage and other suitable activities of value to the operations of the Red Cross.

It is a valiant host marching on under its "I Serve" banner in the cause of happier childhood everywhere and particularly wherever the American flag flies. The enrollment embraces 29,942 schools and 147,486 school rooms, a gain over 1923 of 5,655 schools and 22,414 school rooms. The year's gain in membership was 769,402 children, or nearly 80,000 for each month of the school year.

The educational and social values of the Junior Red Cross movement is thus evidencing the firm and cordial endorsement of school authorities. The government has added the weight of recognition by extending the Junior Red Cross in the schools for American Indian children. The American Red Cross is also planning to develop the Junior program in 600 rural schools in isolated sections.

There is no abatement of the exchange of correspondence between schools in the United States and schools in the insular possessions and foreign lands. During the year the Junior Red Cross in part supported operations in twelve European countries. It is a potent influence for the cultivation of international goodwill and its example has been the means of stimulating the formation of Junior Red Cross societies in more than thirty countries.

RED CROSS RAISES $10,000,000 IN 21 DAYS FOR RELIEF

Terrible catastrophes, such as the Japanese earthquake, prove the wisdom of the people in maintaining the American Red Cross as their national and international relief agency. The readiness of the Red Cross for duty in the greatest of emergencies was also proved by test.

The record shows: Sept. 3, President Coolidge assigns the duty of raising $5,000,000 to the American Red Cross; Sept. 4, Red Cross Chapters in over 3,500 communities given fund allotments; Sept. 12, fund totals $5,563,000; Sept. 17, fund nearly $8,000,000 and President announces formal closing of campaign; Sept. 27, fund passes $10,000,000 mark.

In 21 business days the Red Cross doubly performed the duty entrusted to it—all the while keeping a steady flow of relief supplies going out from many Pacific ports to the stricken areas in Japan. Thus was the confidence of the American people in their Red Cross justified and the wisdom of Red Cross preparedness to cope with an unprecedented relief emergency confirmed.

COMMON SENSE AT GRADE CROSSINGS

"Not least among the problems encountered in the effort to reduce automobile accidents is that of the railroad grade crossing with its annual toll of approximately 2,000 lives and some 6,000 non-fatal casualties," says Insurance Field.

Common sense would counsel that a man stop and look before crosaing a railroad track. As automobile drivers will not do this voluntarily, why not make it unawful to cross a track without coming to a dead stop. This would certainly be a humanitarian piece of legislation and would be no expense to the taxpayers. As a matter of fact it would be a money maker for public treasuries due to fines collected for failure to obey the law. Most of all, the lives of many persons would be saved who would otherwise cross the track.

STATE COMMISSION OF FORESTRY

Two hundred hunters recently spent two days on approximately a township of woodland and started not a single forest fire, according to the State Commission of Forestry. This was notwithstanding that the present drought is said to be the most serious that has occured in the history of the State.

The occasion of this splendid example of using but not abusing the woodlands was the annual hunt on the forest holding of the Allison Lumber Company near Bellamy. Hunters were present from over the entire State and many of them engaged freely in smoking. The woods were exceedingly dry and a single lighted match or cigarette stub dropped without being extinguished might easily have resulted in a disastrous forest fire. This was particularly true of the second day of the hunt when the entire State was swept by heavy winds. Most of the visitors were members of the Alabama Wild Life Conservation League and the security of the woods during their presence was concrete evidence of the ability of the association to put into effect its high standards of sportsmanship.

Forestry employees, both of the State Commission of Forestry and of the Allison Lumber Company, scoured the vicinity lest through some accident fires should occur. While fires were found and extinguished in the general locality, none occurred on the area covered by the hunt.

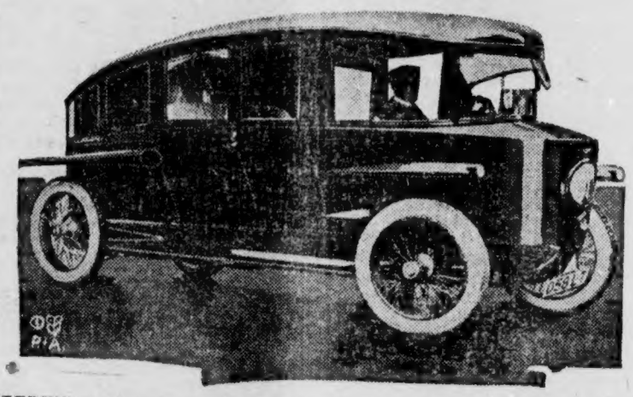
YOU CAN'T TELL WHETHER IT'S "COMING" OR "GOING"



HERE'S the largest speed freak to appear on the streets of London—an automobile that might well be termed the "pedestrian's nightmare!"

It's shaped and constructed so that you can't tell whether it's coming or going. At first glance, it looks as if it's moving backward when it's going forward and vice versa. You hardly know which end to believe.

The engine in it is placed over the rear axle and the body lines are those of an aeroplane fusilage. It has a 16 horsepower motor which, its makers declare, can develop a speed of 85 miles an hour. That's going some.

Cough Remedy Mother Gave Us Still Best

Pine Tar and Honey Beat All Modern Drugs

In thousands of families it has been the custom for many years to keep pine tar and honey always on hand for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, and throat irritations. Our mothers knew that it was good, that it often broke up the worst cough in 24 hours, and that it could be given to young and old alike, as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs.

And now we are told that in spite of modern medical discoveries there is still no better or quicker cough remedy. Doctors say the pine tar quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion that cause the coughing, also healing soreness, while the honey not only gives a pleasant taste, but helps soothe irritation.

The original compound, made up many years ago and used by millions of people, was Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey. This is scientifically composed of just the right proportions of pine tar, honey and other quick-acting, healing ingredients which the best doctors have found to aid in quick relief. If you want the original and the best, be sure you get Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey and no other. Only 30c. at any good druggists.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Bessemer people entered joyfully into the Thanksgiving holiday, and the entire city laid aside business and worry and made joyous occasion out of the day. Many of the stores closed in the morning. In the forenoon a record crowd attended the Bessemer-Hueytown football game, and saw Bessemer come home with a 13 to 0 score in her pocket. Even the boarders at the city bastile profited by the spirit of the day, for the warden fed them royally on turkey meat, dressing, cranberry sauce and other Thanksgiving trimmings.

Birmingham firemen at stations nine and thirteen declare they picked up both England and France the eve of the international radio test between Europe and America. A Liverpool orchestra was tuned in at 10:25 o'clock and at 10:45 o'clock. London was picked up. Aberdeen, Scotland, was picked up a few minutes later, according to men at station thirteen when a 20-minute piano recital was plainly heard. Both radios are three-tube sets.

An entirely new complaint is being lodged against the old Attalla depot, which has been under fire of the cities of Gadsden, Attalla and Alabama City for six years. It is that rats are actually eating small mail packages thrown off at the station. The complaint has been officially made to the postoffice department because so many damaged packages have been found, particularly in late mails for Gadsden that remain over night in the depot. It is said that many valuable parcels have recently been ruined by maurauding rodents.

The Mayor and aldermen of Tuscumbia will meet with the dairymen supplying the city with milk and decide on the proposed unemployment of a milk inspector for Tuscumbia. This decision was reached at a meeting when the dairymen of the district met with the city officials and discussed the need for milk inspection. A representative of the State Health Department addressed the assemblage and explained the need of rigid inspection of milk and milk products offered for sale to the public.

Plans for organizing a Junior Chamber of Commerce at Gadsden is scheduled to be discussed at the regular monthly membership luncheon of the Chamber of Commerce. E. B. New Method Heals Pyorrhea

Ten Years Bad Case Completely Healed in a Short Time Writes Florida Woman.

Faced with the lohs of her teeth, after 10 years' suffering, Mrs. M. J. Travis, an esteemed residence of Jacksonville, declares she finally saved her teeth by a simple home treatment: "worth ias weight in gold." using her own words: "After having pyorrhea for 10 years my mouth is now healed. Before I found out different, I was told there was no relief and had yielded to the loss of six fine solid teeth. Then I discovered Moore's pyorrhea treatment. Three days after starting its use, the soreness left my gums; my teeth began to tighten. Now my teeth are clean, my breath sweet, and my mouth completely healed."

The experience of Mrs. Travis is duplicated in hundreds of other cases. If you have pyorrhea—or threatened with pyorrhea your teeth are in danger. Quick and effective treatment is necessary. You can test, without money risk, the treatment used by Mrs. Travis. Simply write the Moreham Co., 1928 Gateway Station Kansas City, Mo. Under their guarantee of refund send two dollars. Or pay postmaster the $2 with few cents postage. Use the treatment 7 days Then if you are not wholly satisfied, write to that effect and your $2 will be returned at once.

Her brothers are; John William, Robert, Oscar, Elbert and Jadie Bean. The By-Product Plant at Tarrant City, The Bessemer Rolling Mill and many others sent floral offerings.

Miss Althea Parker, director of Thorsby Institute music department, will present a number of her girl students in eight hands music recital. This means there will be four players, using two pianos playing the same piece, a sort of piano choral society. This is a novelty in piano performance and is likely to prove well worth attending. This recital will be given in the music room and the one adjoining, on the first floor of Bates Hall. Friends and all interested are cordially invited to be present at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Dec. 6th.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Barrett of Selma formely residents of Thorsby were week end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Mead. They made brief visits to the homes of several other of their Thorsby friends, and there are still many more who would have been glad to entertain them had there been opportunity to do so. They returned to their home Sunday evening.

Thorsby Institute will close Dec. 18 for ten days of holiday vacation.

Misses Jennye and Edith Robinson, who are attending college in Lebanon, Tennessee, spent Thanksgiving holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson in Thorsby.

Herbert and Mrs. Peterson of Jemison were the week end visitors at the home of their parents, Charles A. and Mrs. Peterson and Wm. H. Goodgame. They were accompanied by their two children, Herbert Jr., and the baby girl.

Mr. M. J. Soberg has recently rented his farm to a Mr. Pounds, who last year lived on Felix Eiland's farm southeast of Thorsby. Mr. Soberg and family are now settled in the home in Thorsby which they bought from F. E. Gronquist, and Mr. Pounds and family are installed at the Soberg place.

The Congregational Ladies Aid Society will be entertained at the home of Mrs. C. E. Lucas Thursday afternoon December 4th.

At a short business session of the Ladies Guild of Thorsby, held during their social at the home of Mrs. Chas. A. Peterson Friday, November 28th, it was voted that the sale of articles at their bazaar, to be held at Thorsby Restaurant, Saturday, Dec. 13th, begin promptly at 10, a.m., and the serving of dinner will begin at 11 a.m., the same day.

Thanksgiving day was very generally observed in Thorsby. Union services were held at the Baptist church at 11 a.m., and the church was well filled, a large choir of young people led the singing and a special choir of children sang "Bringing In The Sheaves"', Miss Lois Prim played the piano as accompanist. Rev. Joseph E. Each officiated, assisted by Rev. J. P. Lowery and Rev. E. W. Butler. A $15 collection was received for the children of The Near East Relief.

The annual custom of collecting good things to send to the poor, who are wards of the county, was carried out in a generous manner, and directly after dinner at the Dormitory, wagons were loaded with about fifty young people, together with members of the Thorsby Institute faculty and Rev. Joseph E. Each, and all went out to the Poor Farm to give the folks a short service of song. On the return trip they stopped for supper by a camp fire, which was very carefully guarded and entirely extinguished before leaving it. All came in about 7:30 p.m., having greatly enjoyed the outing.

The only preaching service in Thorsby last Sunday was at the Congregational church, Rev. J. E. Each, pastor, both the Baptist and Lutheran churches having no pastor at present. The church was well filled and a very interesting sermon preached. In the evening, after the Christian Endeavor meeting, Rev. Each put on a Stereoptican lecture on China, showing some phases of missionary work there, together with landscapes, architecture, and costumes of the oldest nation on earth.

Next Sunday night, Dec. 7th, there will be held the regular monthly praise service, under direction of Miss Althea Parker. Everybody come and enjoy the singing.

Mr. George Garrick, 65, died at Senoya, Georgia, at 5 p.m., Monday, Dec. 1st. He leaves a wife, one son, and six daughters. Howard Garrick, Mrs. Chas. M. Williams, and Mrs. Tom Burdett, all of Thorsby, left Tuesday morning to attend the funeral of their father, Wednesday. The wife of Dr. Ollie Wilson, a former resident of Thorsby, was also one of the daughters. Two more married daughters live in the vicinity of Senoya and an unmarried daughter lives in the family at their homestead.

Miss Helen C. Jenkins entertained her "Queen Esther" Sunday school class at her home in Campus Cottage Saturday night, Nov. 29th. This is a large class of young ladies who, under direction of Miss Jenkins, are capable of getting a lot of enjoyment out of an evening of entertainment which they produce.

Within the next six days citizens of Thorsby may expect to be visited by sales agents from Spark Plug, Barney Google or Scissy Susie divisions of the Helen Keller Literary Society. They have a splendid suggestion for a Christmas present for a friend that will continue throughout the year if you subscribe for the Country Gentleman.

Thursday and Friday, Dec. 4th and 5th are test days for the second term of six weeks at Thorsby Institute. We hope honor rolls will have many new names added to them.

Saturday, Dec. 13th, at 7:30 p.m., in Bates Hall, members of the student body will present three scenes from Kate Douglas Wiggins, "Birds Christmas Carol." All nine of the Ruggles children may be seen in their home with their mother. Come and see this happy family. Admission 10c.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Leary and family had as their guests for the past week Mr. Leary's nephew, Harry J. Leary of Birmingham and his wife, a bride of Sept. 16th, who was the attractive Miss Ruth Landers of York, Ala. Mr. Leary holds a responsible position in the First National Bank at Birmingham. The time sped gaily and only too rapidly for both entertainers and guests.

New Way to Quickly Stop Worst Cough

A remarkable new and simple method for treating a cough gives relief with the first doses and usually breaks a severe cough in 24 hours.

The treatment is based on the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. People have been astonished how quickly the coughing stopped with this new treatment, and the whole cough condition goes in a very short time.

The prescription is for coughs, chest colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. It is excellent for children as well as grownups—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for Coming as an unexpected bombshell in the testimony being presented in the sensational murder trial at Anniston of Bud Thompson and his son, Irvin Thompson, charged with the death of Lawrence Curd, young Ragland business man, the 18-year-old youth took the stand and absolved his father of all blame in connection with the fatal shot and admitted shooting Curd, as the man was alleged to have been reaching for a gun with which to shoot the elder Thompson.

Dr. S. W. Welch, State health officer, has been notified that the Jackson County Court of County Commissioners has voted unanimously to establish a county health unit with an all-time county health officer effective January 1. An appropriation of $5,000 has been made by the county for the purpose. Jackson County will be the twenty-fifth county in the State to organize with an all-time county health officer.

The Farley W. Moody post of the American Legion at Tuscaloosa recommended to the executive committee that the likeness of General Gorgas, chief of ordinance of the Confederate Army for four years, be placed on the Stone Mountain memorial at a recent meeting. The matter will now be taken up by the committee for consideration.

The State Department of Archives and History at Montgomery has acquired under the will of Mrs. J. S. Johnson, of Talladega, paintings comprising copies of old world masters, the value of which is estimated at several thousand dollars. The paintings will be placed in the capitol, to await the erection of a memorial building, which it is hoped will be built later.

State law enforcement officer, Kyle Young, believes he and officers Gilbert and Gee broke all records, in the size and contents of distilling outfits captured, when they raided and destroped three mammoth stills nine miles south of Gilard, in Russell County last week. Two of the stills were of 2,500 gallon capacity each, and the other was of 1,800 gallon capacity.

W. E. Meyers, former Mobile court bailiff, convicted last March in the Circuit Court of attempting to bribe a juror in the first trial of the murder case of Thomas W. Cleveland, and sentenced to a term of not less than four years or more than five, must begin his term within fifteen days. Notice that the Supreme Court had affirmed the decision of the lower court has been received in Mobile.

Riley Cheatham, negro, accused of having caused the death of George McCain, another negro, in a fight in a boat in the Tennessee River, near Finley's Island, when the boat turned over and several negro occupants were drowned, was found guilty of second degree murder in Circuit Court at Decatur and given 25 years in the penitentiary.

Speaking at the National Educational Week program of the Auburn Lions Club, Dr. Spright Dowell, president of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, declared that despite Alabama's high rank in potential natural resources she stands almost at the bottom of the list of States in the support of public education, and in the percentage of illiteracy.

With colors flying and cheering madly, patrons of an impromptu platform, elevated so they could obtain a birds-eye view of the football classic from outside Rickwood's farthest fence between Alabama and Georgia, crashed to the ground from their lofty perch during the height of the contest. The accident cost R. H. Brill, 561 Main Street, Bessemer, a broken leg. Another patron fell on top of his hip pocket and the bottle was broken. A check up revealed numerous cuts and bruises. The proprietor of the stand, who was gathering in two-bit pieces for standing room, disappeared.

A statement showing receipts and disbursements of the state treasury for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1924, was made public by State Treasurer George W. Ellis. Receipts for the year totaled $24,131,663.21 and disbursements, $24,446,182.84. The disbursements included $1,029,186.95 of warrants issued during previous years and paid during the year ending September 30, 1924.

Thomas H. Stephens and associates have taken up options on a "paint mine" in Cherokee County which has attracted much attention recently. The clay is said to be fine material for commercial paints containing as it does, an oil base. The clay has no grit and when dissolved in water forms an excellent ink and dye. Chemists are now making tests to see just what is in the claim of the promoters.

Dr. G. B. Stewart had just finished marketing a 5,000-bushel apple crop from his orchard near Manchester, in Walker County. Dr. Stewart says he could have sold 500,000 bushels of such apples if he had them. He did not retail any of them himself, but some of his choice ones sold at retail for $4 per bushel. It is estimated that he sold $10,000 worth of his apples from his 1924 crop.

Arrests of all persons found setting woods and grass afire has been ordered by Sheriff Paul Cazalas, of Mobile County, who instructed deputies to urge hunters to use caution in the use of matches and fire in the woods. The sheriff's order followed a disastrous fire which swept the territory between Dog River and Deer River, south of Mobile.

Governor Brandon has been informed by telegram of the death of George L. Lambert, judge of probate for Baldwin County. Judge Lambert, it is stated, had been in bad health for several months. He was a physician until elected judge four years ago. His home was at Bay Minette. Among the relatives of the deceased judge is Prof. J. S. Lambert, of the State Department of Education.

The University of Alabama sits on top of the world, the undisputed champion of the Southern Conference by virtue of the crushing 33 to 0 blow its hard-hitting eleven dealt the University of Georgia Bulldogs at Rickwood Field, in Birmingham, Thanksgiving Day, before the largest and most colorful crowd that ever saw a game of football in Alabama.

Postmaster Thomas H. Stephens, of Gadsden, and associates are preparing to develop a "paint mine" which they recently acquired in Cherokee County. They claim to have discovered a clay deposit which forms the base of an excellent paint, one that has all ingredients of the ordinary commercial article.

R. E. Smith, of Mt. Pinson, and a member of the legislature from Jefferson County, has been elected president of the Alabama Motor Bus Operators' Association, which was formed at the Tutwiler Hotel at Birmingham. V. C. Hicks, of Kellerman, was selected as secretary.

The undisputed South Alabama prep school championship was won by Butler High at Greenville when Butler defeated Brewton High by a lopsided score of 55 to 0.

Moved by statements that building costs are mounting because mechanics are scarce, the Ensley Realty Board voted approval of proposals for establishing a trades school at its semi-monthly meeting.

OPPOSED TO AUTOMATIC SHOTGUNS

"I hope to see the next legislature pass a law forbidding the sale or use of an automatic shotgun in Alabama," said H. Key Milner. "And I hope those misguided sportsmen who own them will get rid of them. I don't think it is sportsmanlike to use a pump gun, even. And when we get down to bedrock as to the scarcity of game here in Alabama, you can charge a lot of that scarcity up to the use of automatic and pump guns. They ought to be abolished—that is, if we are going ahead to try to restore our game."—B'ham News.

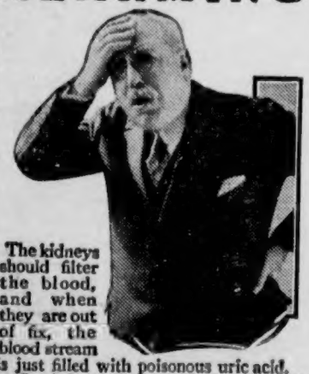
ALARMING!



The kidneys should filter the blood, and when they are out of fix, the blood stream is just filled with poisonous uric acid.

Carried to all parts of the body, this poison causes backaches, headaches, rheumatic pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability or depression and distressing bladder troubles.

But that isn't the worst of it. In chronic neglected cases, the excess uric acid is apt to form into gravel or kidney stones, and to cause gout, sciatica, dropsy and even Bright's disease.

Let the first pain in the back be your warning. Get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's new An-uric tablets (anti-uric-acid). Your druggist can tell you about this new discovery for bad kidneys. Or, send 10c for a trial package to Dr. Pierce, Pres., Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

There Is No Transportation Problem —

When Congress convenes this week, it will consider many issues more deserving of serious discussion than the various bills affecting the rail transportation lines of the Nation. "The Transportation Problem" has always been a subject for political haranguing but, during the past two years, while stump speakers and radical editors have been talking and writing—the railroads have been solving the so-called problem.

Look at the figures for yourself—during the week that ended October 25, 1924, more than one million one hundred thousand loaded freight cars were handled by the railroads of the United States (1,112,345)—the greatest tonnage ever handled in their history.

If you are neither a shipper nor a receiver of freight, ask some of your friends who are in business whether or not the railroads are doing their part towards increasing prosperity.

Congress should give the "Transportation Act" a fair test and the railroads should not be annoyed by useless changing of rules and regulations governing their operation.

GETTING AROUND—THE HIGH COST OF TRANSPORTATION

OVER in Germany, people have quite a problem in trying to solve the high cost of transporation. And many are the ignenious methods they pursue in beating it.

The picture here shows how one Berliner worked out the problem. He built himself the semi-tandem bicycle and semi-automobile contrivance on which you see him taking his youngesters for a ride. And they all seem to be enjoying it.

No gasoline bills to pay for running it. Father and the eldest son just do the pedaling while the rest of the family hop on behind in that comfortable-looking basket seat arrangement you see in the photograph. Quite an idea at that.

Pressing Shop Changes Hands

I wish to state to the people of Clanton and Chilton county that I have recently purchased the Pressing Shop formerly owned by Mr. W. L. Powell, known as the Powell Pressing Company, located on Seventh St., and will operate same in the future.

I have retained the services of Mr. O. J. Powell as operator of the pressing machines who has held this job for several years, and can assure you the same prompt and efficient service in the future as in the past.

Next week I shall open up in connection with the pressing shop a Watch, Clock and Gun Repair Shop. An expert in this line will be in charge, and I ask you to give us a trial when in need of any work in this regard.

Old Folks' Ailments

"I began taking Black-Draught over fifty years ago and my experience with it stretches over a good long time," says Mr. Joe A. Blakemore, a Civil War veteran and former Virginian, who is now a prominent citizen of Floyd, Texas. "It is the best laxative I know of for old people. . . A good many years ago, in Virginia, I used to get bilious and I found that was the best and quickest relief I could get. Since I came to Texas I have these bilious attacks every now and then—a man will get bilious anywhere, you know—and I find that a little Black-Draught soon straightens me out. After a few doses, in little or no time I'm all right again."

Thedford's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable liver medicine, used in America for over eighty years. It acts on the stomach, liver and bowels in a gentle, natural way, assisting digestion and relieving constipation. Sold everywhere.

COOLIDGE MESSAGE STIMULATES TRADE

Possibility of More Tax Reduction and Economy Causes Cheerful Tone in Industry, but Cotton Prices Slump Slightly.

Washington, Dec. 8.—With the markets still buoyant and with industrial news still encouraging, a cheerful tone persisted throughout financial and commercial quarterh last week. The President's message to congress, by drawing attention afresh to the possibilities of further tax reduction, added to optimistic feeling.

A further moderate tightening of money rates was considered a natural result of the expansion in credit demands occasioned by reviving industry and active markets. The federal reserve statements showed that these banks are still helping to furnish additional credit. A sizable increase in discounts for member banks was accompanied by another substantial addition to the volume of bankers' acceptances purchased by the reserve banks in the open market. Part of the enlargement of earning assets was attributed to the special demands that centered around the first of the month. It was thought, however, that more than merely transient influences were at work.

Two large exportations of gold toward the end of the week were a reminder of the importance that the international gold movement now carries. Although the influx of the metal slackened during the fall, a definite excess of gold exports has yet to be established. Bankers realize that fundamental economic forces favor an export movement and are watching closely for a turn in the tide.

While railroad car loadings now are showing the normal seasonal decline, they are continuing to set new high records for this time of year. The loadings for the week ended November 22, the latest for which figures are available, amounted to 1,010,000 cars.

With the traffic movement at such levels it was not considered surprising that the railroads' October earnings were excellent. The class one records were able to show net of $127,000,000 which is equivalent to 5.6 per cent on the Interstate Commerce Commission valuation.

Cotton prices sagged off slightly with the January future losing about 45 points at 22.95 cents. The loss was attributed to expectations that tomorrow's government crop report would show an increase over the 12,992,000 bales estimated in the last official report. Average figures indicated that the trade has been coming to expect a crop of about 13,250,000 bales. The exceptionally favorable fall weather which increased the yield, has helped to solve the problems of the textile trade.

The grain markets have been quiet with values generally well maintained. Rains and snows in the west have helped the winter wheat crop.

Our good friend, Mr. J. P. Rushing of Verbena, Route 1, was a visitor to our office Tuesday. We are always glad to see Mr. Rushing, because he is a fine old man, but we were especially elated over his visit this time since he brought us a club of sevel subscriptions. The Union-Banner thanks Mr. Rushing very tenderly for this favor and for his interest in the success of the "Dear Old Union-Banner."

OFFICERS GET FIVE STILLS DURING THE PAST WEEK

On last Wednesday, Sheriff Littlejohn, Deputy Foshee and Deputy Easterling destroyed a small box-still with three barrels of mash made of meal and shorts 2 miles east of Stanton on Mulberry Creek. On Thursday, Littlejohn and Foshee destroyed a 75-gallon box still two miles south of Stanton, together with three barrels of mash. The same day a 100 gallon still with two barrels of mash were destroyed 4 miles west of Stanton. Also a 100-gallon box still with three barrels of mash were destroyed two miles north of Stanton. No arrests were made in these raids.

On Monday of this week Deputy Foshee with the assistance of W. H. Gillespie, Mr. Gardner and Mr. Baker, State officers, destroyed a 150-gallon copper still near White City. There were ten barrels of beer at this still, which the officers also confiscated. No arrests were made in this raid.

THREE SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR $3.00

From now until January 1st, The Union-Banner will be sold in clubs of three or more subscriptions for one dollar each. This is under the condition, however, that not more than one third of the club be renewals. For instance, if three subscriptions are brought in two of them must be new subscribers and the other may be a renewal. However, if they are all new subscribers, it would be better. This club rate will run only through the month of December, so if you want the paper for one dollar, you had better work fast.

By the way, if you have trouble in deciding on what to give your friends for Christmas, just send three or four of them The Union-Banner. You could not give them a present that would be more appreciated. If you send them The Union-Banner for a Christmas present your friends will be reminded of your yuletide gratuity every week during the coming year. Send in your club today.

WORLD WAR VETERANS EXEMPT FROM PAYING ANY POLL TAX

In the last general election an amendment to the State Constitution of Alabama was voted upon and carried exempting World War veterans from paying poll tax in Alabama.

The probate judge of Chilton County has received from Governor Brandon instructions to this effect, and also an order to issue certificates of exemption to such voters. Below is the letter from the Governor of Alabama to Judge Reynolds:

"The amendment to the Constitution exempting World War veterans from the payment of poll tax, having been adopted, I beg to advise that any person who honorably served in the Military or Naval service of the United States between January 1, 1917 and November 11, 1918, upon proper proof to you of such service, shall be exempt from poll taxes, which have accrued or which may hereafter accrue, and you are authorized to issue a certificate of such exemption to such person.

"In my opinion, Section one of the Act is self-executing and anyone who had such service would be exempt even without certificate, but for the convenience of such veteran, Probate Judges will issue such certificates upon satisfactory proof to him of such service.

"Yours very truly,
"Wm. W. BRANDON, Governor.
"December 2, 1924."

MERCHANTS OF CLANTON PREPARING FOR CHRISTMAS

We believe that everybody who reads The Union-Banner this week will realize that Christmas is somewhere in the near future. This fact will be made clear by all of the Christmas advertising we are carrying for the merchants of Clanton.

The Christmas season is a season of good cheer among all people, and the merchants and business men of Clanton want their friends and customers to know that they haven't forgotten them. So, come to Clanton to do your Christmas shopping where the merchants have issued an invitation to you. They want your trade and will appreciate it.

The Union-Banner joins with all those carrying advertising this week in wishing everybody in Chilton county a merry Christmas. We hope that your enjoyment and good feeling will be bounded only by the extent of your own desires, and that you may have everything you may wish for.

To the children of our county, we hope that old Santa will fill your stockings so full of toys, apples and candy that you will have much trouble in emptying it on Christmas morning.

So, read every word of advertising in The Union-Banner this week and do your Christmas trading with those who have invited you by putting an advertisement in your home paper.

JAMES M. DAVIS DIED NEAR COOPERS SUNDAY NIGHT

Mr. James M. Davis, age 72, died last Sunday night. The remains were buried at Mountain Springs Monday, The deceased was the father of Mrs. Rev. C. C. Wilkerson officiating. at his home two miles east of Coopers Moses Bates of Friendship community, John Davis of Clanton Route 5, Tom Davis, Lucian Davis and Marion Davis. He is survived by some more daughters.

GRADY REYNOLDS' NAME SENT TO THE SENATE

The nomination of Grady Reynolds, of Clanton, to be United States Attorney for the middle district of Alabama, and which was sent to the senate last Monday by President Coolidge, will probably be considered this week by the judiciary committee to which it was referred. Inasmuch as the Alabama senators have not received any protests against this nomination, the chances are that Mr. Reynolds will be confirmed.

EXPERIMENT STATION'S LETTER TO FARMERS

Auburn, Ala., Dec. 10.—That Alabama land is capable of producing a bale of cotton or more to the acre is shown conclusively by results at the Experiment Station here this year. They are reported by Prof. M. J. Funchess, Director, who delares that high yields of cotton are possible if conditions are right.

In a two-year rotation of cotton and corn with hairy vetch as a winter legume planted each fall, a yield of 1,347 pounds of seed cotton per acre was made, which was enough to make more than 500 pounds of lint cotton. This rotation has been running 29 years, or since 1896, and the yield this year was the largest ever made. Prof. Funchess attributes this increase to a better crop of hairy vetch which was caused by applying acid phosphate in the fall. It is fertilized each year with 160 pounds of acid phosphate and 160 pounds of kainit. No nitrogen fertilizer is used, it being supplied by legumes just as farmers are urged to do.

The yield on a two year plot of cotton and cowpeas was 1,504 pounds of seed cotton per acre. This rotation has been running 29 years also and the yield this year was the largest ever made. The peas were cut for hay, making over a ton to the acre, and the land planted in hairy vetch, giving it a winter cover. It has received 160 pounds of acid phosphate and 160 pounds of kainit annually.

A test plot started this year on land bought last year by the Experiment Station shows that a bale to the acre can be made by using enough commercial fertilizer of the right kind. Check plots receiving no fertilizer yielded a little over 100 pounds of seed cotton per acre but the same kind of land produced a bale to the acre where 2,000 pounds of commercial fertilizer was applied.

AGRICULTURAL CENSUS ENUMERATOR AT CLANTON

Mr. J. M. Grant, who has been selected as Agricultural Census Enumerator for Beat 4, asks us to announce that he will be upstairs at the court house every Saturday from now until the last of January for the purpose of taking the Agricultural Census of this Beat. All farmers are asked to go to Mr. Grant's office and make a report of their farm productions and conditions.

REV. A. L. FOSHEE TO PREACH AT CANE CREEK

Messrs. J. A. Cleckler and J. N. Miner of Cane Creek ask for the announcement through our paper that Rev. A. L. Foshee will preach at Cane Creek church the third Sunday in December, 21st. Everybody is invited to attend, and especially the members of Cane Creek, since a pastor for the church will be called. The church is now without a pastor, Rev. Parrish having resigned. The members are all urgently asked to attend.

NEW YORK TO HAVE 88-STORY BUILDING

New York, Dec. 9.—New York is to have an 88-story office building, according to real estate circles.

A test to determine whether the 51-story Woolworth Tower sways in the wind is planned in contemplation of the new skyscraper.

The new mammoth structure will occupy an entire block in downtown Broadway, it is said.

SHAREHOLDERS MEETING

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the First National Bank of Clanton, will be held in the directors room of the bank at 8 o'clock p.m., on Tuesday, January 13th, 1925, for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them.

This, December 8, 1924.

POWER COMPANY REJOICES MONDAY OVER DOWNPOUR

The longest drought the Alabama Power Company has ever experienced in their 12 years operation was broken Sunday night and Monday by the general rainfall over the state which filled the reservoirs of the company and placed their operating conditions back to normal. Hydro-electric power replaces the expensive process of operating under steam power and the company's excessive expense on this account is now at an end.

For the past 65 days the power company has burned coal in its plants over the state. Approximately 2,500 tons of coal per day was consumed during this period in maintaining separate plants and power stations. This has cost the power company a tremendous sum of money, executives said Monday.

Now that the drought is broken the plants will return to operation under hydro power, it was said.

"SIN" AS VIEWED BY A YOUNG MAN

I shall take as my subject one that concerns all of us, "Sin." Sin is the blackest, meanest, dirtiest thing this side of hell. Sin is a deceiver, a betrayer, and it is a curse to humanity. Sin goes to the limit and stops for nothing. Sin took Adam and Eve from the Garden of Eden and gave to them and their seed a life of toil and sorrow. Sin brought a flood upon a cursed world and destroyed all people on it except Noah and his family. Sin caused the hands and feet of our Savior to be nailed to the cruel cross of Calvary. Sin goes into the home and wrecks it. It causes the parents to neglect their children, and causes the wife to fail to do her duty as a wife and mother. It causes the husband and father to neglect his family. Sin causes sharp and cruel works, wicked and evil thoughts. Sin drives the boy or girl from their home and sends the boy on a wayward road to hell. Sin takes the girl from a beautiful home, a loving father and mother—all things that are pure and clean—to a life of ruin and shame. Sin causes the poor little children to shiver in the cold, barefooted and hungry. Sin causes a man (or boy) to slowly burn his life out with liquid hellfire called whiskey. Sin causes the sad clank, clank, clank of a chain as it is bound to some man's legs, and still echoes the clank, clank, clank. It is awful. Sin places the black cap on the murderer's head and the rope around his neck. Sin causes the heart-broken mother to listen for the knock of the door, for a wayward boy. Sin causes the wayward boy to ruin the purity and holiness of some girl. Sin causes so many divorces in our land and so many heart-broken mothers and wives. Sin is a curse to all humanity. Thank God! there is a curse for this demon sin. It is the blood of Jesus Christ. May this discourse inspire you boys and girls to right living, and may it cause you to think and "come and join the host of the Lord against the mighty" demon. Then let me say:

Awake, begin no fear;
Let joy thy work endow;
No where so good as here,
No when so good as now.
—Exchange.

Mr. John W. Lett of Verbena, Route 1, was in Clanton Tuesday. John is fondly remembered by the editor of The Union-Banner as a fellow-soldier at Camp Pike during the war.

CHILTON COUNTY WINS LOVING CUP

Largest Percentage of Chilton Citizens Voted of any County in the State.

When arrangements were being made for the general election in last November, the League of Women voters of Alabama put on a State-wide campaign for the purpose of getting out as large a vote as possible. This movement was sponsored through the local women's organizations of the towns and cities of the State, and in connection with this campaign, the League offered to the county polling the greatest percentage of its voting strength a beautiful loving cup.

As bhown by statistics recently compiled, Chilton County ih the proud winner of this loving cup, it having voted in the last election 84.1 per cent of all its qualified voters. The next highest county to Chilton was Franklin, which polled 81 per cent.

Chilton County and its voters have a right to and will feel proud of this splendid record, since, in this repsect, it is the highest in the whole State, not excepting Jefferson and Montgomery counties.

Several agencies in Chilton claim the credit for this record, and no doubt, more than one cause had something to do with it, but the main reason is that there are two strong political parties in this county. In looking over the list of the counties, one can readily see that the counties with a Republican and Democratic party are ahead, hence, the reason is conclusive.

But, be the cause whatever it may, Chilton made a splendid showing, and we are all justly proud of it.

HIGGINS-REYNOLDS WEDDING

The following announcement has been distributed:

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Alred request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Miss Willie Dolores Higgins, to Mr. Omar L. Reynolds, on Thursday, the eighteenth of December, Nineteen hundred and twenty-four at eight o'clock in the evening. First Baptist Church, Clanton, Ala.

This announcement will be of interest to many, as both parties have many friends, here and elsewhere.

The charming bride-to-be is the daughter of Mrs. D. C. Alred. The groom is the son of Judge L. H. Reynolds. Omar is a promising young attorney of Clanton who, since his admission to the bar a short time ago, has shown that he is to be one of Clanton's influential citizens.

The Union-Banner joins with their many other friends in wishing them a long and happy life together.

W. B. GREEN DEAD

Mr. W. B. Green, who lived near County Line, died November 15th. Mr. Green was 59 years old at the time of his death. He is survived by a widow, four sons and one daughter.

Mr. Green had long been active in the business and political life of his section. He was known and numbered by friends by the score, and was a neighbor to everybody who needed a favor.

The remains were buried at Mt. Olive cemetery, Rev. Arthur Blake officiating.

JESSE BAKER — CLANTON, ALABAMA — R. W. TAYLOR

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Mrs. J. H. Goddard left Wednesday evening December 3, for Columbus, Ohio to attend the funeral of her mother who died Tuesday December 2, aged 86. Mrs. Goddard herself had been quite ill for several days.

Mrs. Parker's eight hand piano recital last Saturday night was a complete refutation of the opinion expressed by a music teacher friend, to whom she wrote, of what she was trying to do. Her friend replied," You can never do it with high school girls."

People sometimes accomplish the impossible, but we never heard of anyone doing that, who says "It can't be done." Miss Parker with seven High School girls namely; Misses Dorothy Butler, Bernice Williams, Iola Gerald, Pearl Steiner, Lois Prim, Althea Johnson and Irene Benson, made two sets of four players, with two pianos in concert. The scores were written in first and second part, each instrument being considered as a part, and each player had a part like no other, the same as instruments in an orchestra. The selections were not dinky amateur stuff but difficult music.

Miss Geraldine Dobson read a history of the Opera of Romeo and Juliet, and Miss Eva Mae Lynch sketches of the life and writing of Rossini.

There were a number of people in the audience who at some time in their life have been familiar with high class vocal and instrumental music, from these we heard most enthusiastic congratulations to Miss Parker and commendation of the skill and technique of the young ladies. We did not notice any lack of appreciation on the part of any, in an audience much larger than usually attended a piano recital, in a small town.

The copious rains of the past week have broken the longest and hottest dry season ever experienced in Alabama, for 163 days, from June 25 to December the 5, inclusive. Thorsby has had less than two inches of rainfall. Cotton made a good crop, but food crops for man or beast were far below normal and the ground has been so dry and hard that little fall plowing has been done. A normal rainfall for the time mentioned would be at least 20 inches.

On account of the heavy rain last Sunday night, the usual monthly praise service at the Congregational church was omitted.

Rev. J. R. Stodghell of Chambersburg, Ala., will preach at Thorsby Baptist church at 11 a.m., and 7:30 p.m., Sunday, December 14th.

The Baptist Ladies Aid Society Social will be held Thursday afternoon, December 11th at the home of Mrs. G. F. Harper.

Mrs. C. E. Lucas celebrated her birthday anniversary by entertaining the Congregational Ladies Aid Society last Thursday. If any more of our Thorsby ladies have such an anniversary falling on any Thursday in the year and want to have an "honest to goodness" celebration, there is always one or other of our ladies societies which may be induced to help make up a genial assembly.

We want to call the attention of our new Town Council to the fact that there is, or was, an ordinance prohibiting sweeping dirt and litter out on the sidewalks or into the streets. Anyone taking a walk along our main thoroughfare at 7 a.m., can see how well this it NOT observed. As a consequence, this street is abominably dirty. This is bad for our reputation and decidedly unfair to those who try to keep clean. If there is no ordinance, there should be one, and rigorously enforced, to stop the disgusting and unsanitary habit of spitting on our sidewalks. Such practices are not permitted in well ordered communities.

Mrs. Magne Anderson went to Birmingham Monday to visit her daughter, Mrs. Ivy Horn.

Mr. and Mrs. John Primm of Birmingham were visitors in Thorsby Monday, while motoring home from Montfomery. Mrs. Primm was formerly Miss Hazel Woolley, and lived in Thorsby for several years. She seemed delighted to meet old friends and see Thorsby again.

M. J. Soberg and wife spent the week end visiting their daughter and family, Mrs. Walter L. Morgan at Ensley.

Saturday evening, December 13, at 7:30 o'clock, in Bates Hall, the Helen Keller Literary Society will give their annual Christmas program. This year the entertainment will consist of Carols by a boys' chorus, selection by girls' chorus, and three scenes from "The Bird's Christmas Carol."

Mrs. W. L. Batson of Birmingham, formerly Miss Emma Patton of Tuscaloosa, spent the week end with her husband, who is boarding at the home of W. L. Leary in Thorsby. Mr. A. W. Smith and family of Birmingham, also have rooms at the Leary home. Mr. Smith and Mr. Batson are employed by the Southern States Laboratories, making tests of all material used in the Chilton County section of the State highway.

The time is at hand! Saturday, December 13th, the Ladies Guild of Thorsby will have their annual Bazaar at Thorsby Restaurant, secured for the day. Sale of useful and fancy articles begins at 10 a.m., sharp. Dinner at 25c will be served, beginning at 11 a.m.

In the race of the races to secure adequate facilities for housing both white and colored public school children, it looks very much as though the colored people of Thorsby would "Go over the top" first. They are working like beavers to raise the required amount to secure such aid, as will be furnished to enable them to erect a centrally located modern school house, suitable for their needs, and at last reports they had secured three-quarters of the amount they must raise, and were pushing on with determination to get the balance, and we believe they will do it.

Quick Way To Break Heavy Cough

Many have been astonished how quickly a bad cough disappears when treated with a new double-action treatment that is simple but wonderfully effective.

Here is the method, which is based on a remarkable prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs: You simply take one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing, without following with water. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and inflammation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the direct cause of the coughing. When the cause is removed, the severest cough quickly disappears.

This treatment is for coughs, chest colds, tickling, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Recommended for children as well as grown folks—no narcotics or opiates. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

'TWAS THE NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

HUSH! Not a sound! Santa's just come in and he's peeping over the bedside to see if these little darlings are asleep before he starts unpacking the toys in his bag.

But wait a minute there, Santa. We've got a hunch that two of these little angels—the tiny miss in the middle and the youngster at the right—are not as fast asleep as you may think. That "squeezed-up" look around their eyes, tells us that the minute you turn your back they're going to watch the performance. Better come back later.

Will this old familiar scene be enacted in your home this Christmas, folks?

HELP FOR THE HELPLESS

In pursuance to the understanding at their last meetings that the Unity and Chilton County Baptist Associations would ship some produce to the orphan children in the Baptist Orphanage at Troy, Ala., the plans have been set for making a Christmas offering from at least the churches that are in reach of Clanton. I understand that some of the churches gave a thanksgiving offering. It was first thought that arrangements could be made so that the churches could all ship together and send at least a car load some time this fall, but it was found that the car could not be stopped along the route, so that necessitates local shipments. I will not take the time and space to argue the importance of giving to the children, we all know they are helpless, absolutely dependent upon us and that God made it so and that God blesses a cheerful giver. These children are not so fortunate as we, some of them have never known and will never know what father's or mother's love is, but we can make their little hearts glad one time during the year by sharing with them our material blessings. We are not asking for money, but just the ordinary things of life; anything that you can and do use in your home for your children will be good enough for the children at the Home, and it will be appreciated.

I have mapped out the following churches as those whose shipping point would be at Clanton: Clanton, Friendship, Cane Creek, Concord, Providence, Refuge, Poplar Springs, Maple Springs, Samaria, Highland, Shiloh and Liberty Hill. Now brethren, I feel that these twelve churches could easily give a car load of the necessities of life and I believe they will if they are properly canvassed. There are probably other churches or communities that would like to ship from Clanton; if so, we will be more than glad for you to ship with us.

I have appointed some in the various parts of the county to look after the collections, but I now take the authority to appoint the Superintendents of the Sunday Schools in the various churches who ship with us from Clanton, as Chairman of a committee of his officers and teachers and others whom they may see fit to appoint to canvass their respective communities and to assist in the collection and bringing to the depot, the donations.

The shipment will be made on the 23rd day of December. The thing for the collectors in each community to do is to collect the donations, label them to J. O. Colley, Troy, Ala., and bring them to town. If you bring it in before December the 21st, you will unload it in the back part of Bro. D. A. Wingard's store, just north of the depot. If you bring it in on the 22nd or 23rd, you will unload it in the rear of the depot for immediate loading. Do not bring anything after 1 or 11 o'clock on the 23rd, because we want to ship on that day. You Sunday School workers, I am counting on you practicing some of your preaching in this gift. May God greatly bless your efforts.

I hope that the churches at the other shipping points who have not done so will get busy and send an offering to the Home.

I understand Jemison has already shipped her donation. We are praying for one from Thorsby, Cooper, Verbena, Mt. Creek, and Marbury. I feel that the brethren in the west side of the county will do their duty. The agent here informs me that we can ship produce in small shipments at the same rate as in car lots, so if we cannot get but a small shipment at a place, send it in and keep an account of the amount shipped.

Bro. Colley said that the Home would pay the freight on car lots and I suppose they would on smaller lots. Anyway, if you get a shipment and do not feel like paying the freight, just send it on anyway.

If there is any other information that I can give any of you, I will be pleased to do so. Just write or call at my office.

Yours very truly,
J. Z. MIMS, Mod. Unity Asso.

APPEAL FROM ORPHANAGE TO CHILTON PEOPLE

Troy, Ala., Nov. 7,1924.

To the Baptists and Friends of the Baptist Orphanage in Chilton Co.:

I have just learned through Mr. J. Z. Mims, that you are planning to give a car of produce to the Children in our Institution. I want to assure you that you could not attempt a more worthy task. You may wonder what you can give; just anything that you can use in your own home for your children. I would urge not only the farmers, but the merchants throughout the county as well, to make contributions. Whatever you do will be wisely used to make the children in the home more comfortable.

Thanking you for your co-operation, I am

Very sincerely,
J. O. COLLEY, Sup't.

Why Not Close The Book On Law Making

Too many laws and too stringent regulations are just as detrimental to the public welfare as too few. The greatest problem which confronts the American railroads to-day is not one of transporting freight and passengers, or of its dealings with the public or its employees.

The real transportation problem is the never-ceasing activity on the part of politicians and lawmakers in suggesting changes in present laws and substitutes for those railroad regulatory measures which are working satisfactorily. In addition to suggested changes, new laws affecting the railroads are being proposed in many states, in the National Congress.

Why not give the railroads a legislative holiday? Why not close the book on lawmaking until there is a well-demonstrated need for new or different regulatory measures; and permit the carriers to operate efficiently and satisfactorily; continuing to afford to the people of the United States the best transportation facilities on the face of the globe, and at the lowest cost to the people?

Just at this time, it is interesting to know that the actual Governmental expenditures on account of railroad regulation during the year of 1923, totaled $5,293,444.00.

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Illiteracy campaigns will be waged in 14 Alabama counties next summer, Miss Clutie Bloodworth, director of the division of exceptional education of the State Education Department, made this announcement, following a conference of county superintendents of education, supervisors and teachers experienced in schools for adults. Counties to be included in the campaign are: Butler, Calhoun, Choctaw, Covington, DeKalb, Elmore, Marshall, Pickens, Randolph, Shelby, St. Clair, Tallapoosa, Tuscaloosa, and Washington. Most of these schools which will hereafter be known as "opportunity schools," will not open until crops are "laid by," it is stated. The work of preparation, and the selection of teachers has already begun, however.

Work has been started on the necessary excavation for the approach to Wilson Dam over which three highways will be brought together across the Tennessee river. Steam shovels and other necessary equipment are busily engaged in preparing the road bed which will connect the giant dam with the Shoals. It is expected the work of connecting the dam with the roadways which are near the banks of the river, will begin at an early date. Work on the 58-foot gates which will regulate the flow of the river, above the spillway sections of the dam has been going forward at a rapid rate and the superstructure is rapdily taking shape.

The Ensley Steel plant is the only one in America now ahead of its 1923 record, according to information. Following the smashing of all November records at the steel plant and blast furnace, it was stated that the plant will have a record for 1924 surpassing any in this country. The prevailing opinion is that the open hearth furnace produced over 2,000 more tons of steel during November than ever before in one month. The Ensley works during the present year has assumed gratifying proportions and there is wide interest among industrial men in the knowledge that the Ensley steel works will lead all plants in the country for 1924.

Residents of Coming entertained members of the Tuscaloosa county board of Revenue and members of the construction crews to a chicken dinner in celebration of the completion of the gravel road through that section. The thoroughfare is 20 miles long and runs to the county line from Tuscaloosa. The folks in that section were so pleased in getting this good road that they got together and entertained those responsible for it.

Action in connection with the citation of the Northern Alabama railroad and the Southern railroad to show cause why they should not furnish adequate depot facilities at Parrish, Ala., was deferred by the Alabama Public Service Commission, until the call of the January docket.

Two Morgan County deputies reported that they had found a still which they were informed was being operated on a community plan. Customers were permitted to use the still to make their own liquor, and the owner of the outfit took a share of the output for pay.

The Confederate Square in Greenville is being beautified by the Daughters of the Confederacy. Walks in the Square are being paved, and when completed an experienced gardenor will plant flowers, evergreens and grass.

The Birmingham Water Works Company has filed in the Jefferson probate office a mortgage on all of its properties and its franchise, to secure $5,500,000 of gold bonds dated October 1, 1924, and due October 1, 1954.

Grading of the State highway between Fayette and Winfield is now under way, and is to be completed by next June first.

Jim Hany and Bob Hany, brothers were sentenced to 12 months hard labor, by the Etowah County court charged with decoying 16-year-old Myrtle Bland from her home in Attalla. An appeal was taken.

Captain Thomas Craig died in a Selma hospital of gunshot wounds accidentally received the day before Thanksgiving.

G. L. Duncan was killed in an automobile near Tuscumbia, when he lost control of the machine while going down Russellville mountain.

The third day the weather turned colder and the moist snow crusted enough to bear one's weight. The snow changed to a bitter, driving sleet.

It was much harder traveling, but the crust enabled one to go more swiftly. This day Holden completed his delivery, and returned to the post office with the mail he had collected on the way.

Mrs. John Batly, of Oxford, turned over to the Anniston Salvation Army post a fruit jar filled with pennies which she had saved since January 1, 1924. There were 1,450 pennies in the jar.

Sale of the weed known as "marithuana" from which a species of cigarettes called "muggles" are made, was prohibited by ordinance adopted by the City of Mobile. The ordinance also forbids the growing of the weed.

Mrs. Susie Hodd, of Mobile, when she discovered J. F. Lowrey peering into her window at night, rushed into the yard and held him at bey with a pair of scissors until officers arrived and placed him under arrest.

L. M. Harris has been reappointed Chairman of the Etowah County Board of Registrars, and N. C. Bond has been named to succeed N. E. Jelks as a member of that body.

The State Docks Commission has authorized the purchase of a $270,000 suction dredge to be used in connection with the building of the State docks at Mobile.

A new corporation known as the East Alabama Hatchery, has been organized at Opelika. The purpose of the organization is to do custom hatching of eggs.

A negro laborer, while cutting timber at the Mills Lumber camp near Loachapoka, was instantly killed by a falling tree.

Organization of a platoon of the national guard at Birmingham Southern college will take place soon, according to recent announcement.

Robert M. Chambliss, charged with killing Alonzo H. Graves, was acquitted by a jury in the Montgomery circuit court.

M. J. Bray and wife, of Montgomery, were killed when their automobile was struck by a Central of Georgia train at Kenyon's Crossing.

G. W. Russell, of Morgan County, killed a hog weighing 592 pounds. The meat brought $52.

Pupils of the negro high school at Decatur donated $15 to the poor of their race on Thanksgiving Day.

The girl's dormitory of the Eldridge Academy at Eldrige, was destroyed by fire.

Alabama City will sell $50,000 worth of bonds to retire a floating debt.

Robinson Brown, of Tuscaloosa, has been appointed land agent of the University of Alabama.

The jitneys have been barred from Huntsville streets by the Alabama Public Service Commission.

Dr. Robert A. Lovelady, of Birmingham, was elected junior grand warden of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Alabama, at the concluding session of the grand lodge in Montgomery. He fills the vacancy created by the death of Albert L. Reese, of Birmingham.

Co-operation is the keystone of success.

Alabama farmers produce only half the hay consumed in the State; yet it is the easiest of all crops grown.

Our foreign loan will run well over a billion dollars in 1924, and 1925 will see many more big issues of foreign bonds sold here. Largely because of American financial aid, European recovery is becoming increasingly rapid. For a nation accused of adopting a policy of "isolation" we seem to be doing pretty well.

BEWARE OF CATTLE QUARANTINE

During the past few weeks some people of Chilton County have unthoughtedly or otherwise transported cattle from Chilton into an adjoining county which was not under cattle quarantine and were arrested for violating the law. Our people should be very careful when they go ti haul cattle from this county into a tick-free county, since this is a violation of the law. If you want to carry cattle out of Chilton County, you should first get a permit from the county supervisor, Mr. H. B. Roper, or from some of the local inspectors. This will save the carrier lots of trouble and expense.

DOLE DEMORALIZATION

A British writer has called attention to the double effect of doles. Says he, "The moment the reward in money for unproductive energy exceeds its proper proportion to that paid to productive energy, the reward to both is debased, the increase in money being set off by a greater decrease in the value of that money and its purchasing power." That is a generalization that may be better understood if stated in more specific language. If the Government of Great Britain, or of any other country, adopts the policy of paying doles to be unemployed, whenever those doles reach a scale that begins to be tempting to a workman, the workman loses interest in his work and his job, because he feels that if poor work results in his losing his job he can get along on the dole he will receive as one of the unemployed. Thus the dole system not only keeps men from seeking jobs, but it tends to reduce the productiveness of men who are usefully employed. And, of course, reduced productiveness means a smaller supply of goods and correspondingly higher prices. The dole of today will be inadequate to next year because the dole has tended to make cost of living higher. It is an endless chain. As a temporary expedient a system of doles may be necessary, but if it is more than temporary, it will become disastrous.

THE PEOPLE PAY

A New York State farmer writes to a city paper that he does not find his name or the names of his farmer neighbors in the published lists of income-tax payers, but he surmises that they pay the tax nevertheless. He is absolutely right, and probably he and his neighbors recognized the fact that they went to the polls and voted for Coolidge. The Democrats and Third Party candidates tried to fool the people into beleiving that they could escape part of the tax burden by putting the tax on the operators of large enterprises. But the manager of a large enterprise includes the tax in his costs of doing business, and it figures in the price of the commodity. The consumer pays.

President Coolidge put this fact clearly before the voters in his speech of acceptance when he said: "Only about 3,500,000 people pay direct income taxes. The remainder pay, but pay indirectly, in the cost of all purchases, from a pair of shoes to a railroad ticket. Whatever cry the demagogue may make about his ability to tax the rich, at the end of the year it will always be found that the people as a whole paid the taxes."

That utterance is a fair sample of the "common sense" President Coolidge put into the recent campaign, and it is that sort of common sense doctrine that appealed to the people and sent them to the polls in such large numbers to vote for Coolidge and Dawes.

Coolidge stood for tax reduction all along the line, but, even more important, he stood for the reduction in expenditures which must precede any tax reduction.

HIS ANNUAL VISIT

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORY

A cold, sharp whistle rang through the still night. It continued with force added upon force until it seemed that a thousand steam engines were having a gathering just outside the house. As a matter of fact it was nothing more nor less than Jack Frost and his big army of wind that had been kept away for so long a time by the good old warm weather that he wanted to have a good time and get himself noticed once more.

"It sure is cold outside tonight," said Jack.

"I'll say it is cold," answered Ruth. "Yet you wanted to go running around the neighborhood and would, too, if mother had let you."

"Of course any girl would say that," was Jack's retort. "I guess you'd curl up and freeze to death if you were out two minutes tonight."

"Now, Jack, remember your sister is a lady and gentlemen don't talk like that," said Uncle Ted. "As a matter of fact it is very cold outside tonight and I told your mother I did not think you should go out. You know you must keep well these days. Christmas is only just around the corner and we have so much to look forward to. If you want me to, I will tell you a story tonight and then you can forget about freezing outside and all those things you wanted to do."

"Sure we want a story, Uncle Ted, you know we always do," said Jack.

"First of all, kiddies, this old year is almost over. Christmas with its message of peace and good-will is nearly here and the New Year will be showing on the calendar in a very few weeks. I cannot help but think how much has happened to us and to this country of ours during the past twelve months. How much we have for which to be thankful. A campaign year is not always the best time for general business conditions. Yet we have gone through a period of rather unusual anxiety and have come out without a scratch. In fact our Government is safer and sounder today than it has been in many years. During the past year we have had a quiet sane administration. The man at the head of our Government was selected by his party as the candidate for the same position. He did not go out and spend his time campaigning throughout the country. He did not attack those men running against him. He stayed on the job, a job that was brought to him through the death of Warren G. Harding. He said that was his duty first, last and all the time.

"This naturally kept the Government on its feet, for no business whether it be small or large, can long run without a head, an interested, working head. So we can first of all be thankful for that situation.

"Then the election came along with the worry in many minds as to just how far the radical element would go in gaining a foothold on Governmental affairs. The answer came in an overwhelming vote for Calvin Coolidge, with the radical element running far behind on the national ticket and on the state and municipal tickets. The result was to place added confidence in the minds of every true American citizen. It has made us stand a bit straighter, walk more proudly and feel certainly more happy that "Government of the people, for the people and by the people" has not perished and we know it never shall.

"Congress is again in session. The first act of the Republican leaders of the Senate was to bar those men from party meetings who had declared against Republican principles. This action, it seems to me, was the only thing that could have been done. We find in the place of the great Henry Cabot Lodge (a splendid statesman who had been the Senate leader for years and who died only a short time ago) a man who has long been the close friend of the President. Senator Butler is that man, the same man who was Chairman of the Republican National Committee, brought the campaign to a successful close and with an expenditure of less money than had been spent in many a campaign.

"Senator Butler, while new to the highest law-making body, will be a big figure throughout this session of Congress. He will help to bring harmony between the White House and the Capitol so that the best may be accomplished for all of the people. Not much has been known about him heretofore except that he is a successful business man and a proved executive, a man of few words like the President, but a deep thinker and a man of action.

"Already, as usual, the question of saving more money is the big issue of the Republican Administration. The national budget, a creation of a Republican Administration, was submitted to Congress on December 2, by President Coolidge, and its contents is a credit to the Director of the Budget. After a year of listening to the various departmental and bureau heads and with the advice of President Coolidge, the Director prepared a budget which, if approved by Congress, will bring even greater reductions in national taxes. This will be accomplished without hurting any of the necessary work of the Government.

"It is interesting to note in connection with the budget system that every now and then a Government official returns a balance to the Treasury—money over and above what was needed for the year. Before the budget system was put into effect this was never done. Each one of us could take this budget idea right unto ourselves and stop a lot of personal extravagance. I know, I have found that it works and works well. If you only allow yourself so much money for certain things you find you can get along. Now run along to bed and there will be more next time. Good night!"

FARM FACTS

Government can do little for us—help yourself.

Farm premises are not attractive by accident. What are you doing this fall toward shrubbery, flowers, fruit and nut trees?

As a mere house is not a home, so a tract of land is not necessarily a farm. "Thar's more in the man than thar is in the land."

A chicken doesn't shrink very much at a time, but that's no sign that it doesn't need any water.

Many farmers are friendly enough to the weeds to give them the choice parts of the field, the terraces. There they can produce a bountiful supply of seed for the next season and also serve as ideal winter quarters for harmful insects.

Reducing the cost of farm operations is the surest way the farmer has of making increased profits. The production of larger yields on fewer acres by the enrichment of the soil, the breeding and production of good quality livestock, which means the use of only good purebred sires, are good steps in this direction.

SUBSCRIBERS GET ADVANTAGE OF REDUCED SUBSCRIPTION RATE

In order to boost their subscription lists, most papers over the country put on a big free-prize contest in which automobiles and other costly articles are given away to the person who happens to be lucky. In this kind of a contest, no reduction is made in the subscription price of the paper, but a big portion of the profit from the subscriptions sold is taken up by the cost of the prizes and the big salary paid to an experienced contest manager.

The Union-Banner believes in giving this profit to its subscribers instead of paying it out for prizes and to contest managers who live in the big cities. This is the idea The Union-Banner has in mind every year in putting on its reduced club rate. Our subscribers are the ones who reap the benefit of the reduction.

From now until the first of January we are selling the Union-Banner in clubs of three or more subscriptions for one dollar each for one whole year. Of course you know the regular price of the paper is $1.50 per year, and we honestly believe it is worth every cent of it. But in order to boost business and get up a little money to spend for Christmas we are making this special offer.

So, if you want The Union-Banner a year for an even dollar, now is your chance, and it will positively close on December 31, 1924. In making up your club, be sure to bear in mind that at least two out of every three subscriptions must be new ones—that is, people who are not now on our mailing list. Also remember that this rate applies to any number of subscriptions above three. It will be an accommodation to your friends to tell them about this special offer and let them get the advantage of the reduced price.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLES

In this week's issue of the Union-Banner we are giving the first of a series of cross-word puzzles. In the issue containing the second puzzle, we will give the solution of the one of the week before, and so on until the series is completed.

Cross-word puzzles are interesting and really instructive. By solving them, one learns new words and their meaning as well as cultivate their sense of constructive imagination. These puzzles are not hard to work, as one word suggests another, but the average man's vocabulary will be enlarged greatly by studying out the different angles and forms which make them up.

Cross-word puzzles are the rage now, everywhere that people match their wits against some problem all of the time, so get your dictionary before you and everybody you can think of around you, for it will take several to think 'em all out.

Our good old friend, Mr. C. C. Crumpton of Centreville, was in our office a while Monday. He came to see about his Union-Banner, but to his delightful surprise his subscription was paid up for six more months. Mr. Crumpton was here spending a few days with his son Pink.

Can't you just picture what a "jolly bit o' fun" the Londonites would have watching the Prince hold up a big parade in his honor—just because his nickel-plated Henry "went dead" and he had to get out and crank it?

BLEED THROUGH

POOR O

"WELL, you can't go no furder," old Farmer Benson yelled, curving his mittened hands to his mouth so the words would reach the mail carrier, five or six feet on the other side of the fence. At the same time he nodded significantly toward the road farther on, where the snow had drifted entirely across, covering the fence on either side. "Five foot deep an' still driftin', an' plenty more places on ahead jest like it. Don't see how you got this fur. Well, we'll shovel out the gate, an' then you can drive in under my shed. It's three miles back to town, an' you can't return any more than you can go ahead. I never see snow fly so fast. Mebbe it'll ease up by tomorrow so we can start to plow the roads out, but 't ain't likely you'll get the mail round under two or three days, or perhaps a week. You'll drive right in."

It was trying, for this was the last day of rural free delivery No. 3. The route had been started as an experiment, but now was thought to hardly be worth while, and was to be dropped. John Holden had been one of the strongest advocates for it, and had obtained the route, leaving his oldest boy to look after the farm. The salary was not large, but in a year or so would enable him to stock the farm as he had wanted to stock it all his life.

At length the snow was cleared from sufficient space for the gate to be opened and swung back. Holden led his horse through the shed, then unharnessed and took him to the stable, where he fed him generously with the hay which Benson threw down from the mow. Then the two men returned to the wagon, and Holden quickly arranged his mail into a compact package.

"We'll take it right into the house," said Benson. "It'll be safe there till you're able to go on."

Holden smiled and shook his head. "I shall go right on now," he said. "Mail mustn't be delayed, you know. Besides, a lot of this is Christmas mail."

"But, man alive, you can't do it!" expostulated Benson, incredulously. "It's half a mile to the next house, and that drift right ahead is up to your armpits, an' too soft to stand on an' too deep to push through. You're crazy!"

"Mebbe," laconically, "but it's got to be done."

All this time he had been fastening the package securely upon his shoulders. Now he straightened up, taking the broken half of a rake handle he saw near.

"Look Here, Holden, Don't Try It," He Said.

"If you don't mind, I'll take this along," he said. "It will help steady some."

Benson placed his hand upon his shoulder.

"Look here, Holden," he said, earnestly, "don't you try it. The thing's nothing more nor less than suicide, and you know it."

Holden met his neighbor's look squarely and smiled. "I don't think so," he answered. "I shall try to creep along the fences where it's bad, and stick mostly to the high, windy ground across lots, where the snow will be less deep. I wouldn't wonder if I could make it all right. It's only a half mile to the next house, an' not more than that between any two places, an' only fourteen miles round the whole route. Then there's another thing, the main one," his face becoming grave; "you forget the folks who are waitin' for their mail, especially a Christmas one. The ones away are writin' to their folks then. What will it mean to them if I don't get 'round? Of course I don't know much about what's in the mail, but there's the Widow Cross, livin' alone, an' her son workin' up country in a mill. I've got a little for her this mornin'. Mebbe 't ain't the one, but I wouldn't be surprised if she was without wood or coal to keep her warm an' a scrap to eat, an' that this letter will fix her up all right. Then there's Johnson an' his wife, who have a sick son off in China. They're out to the box every mornin' waitin' for me. I've got a letter for them, an' it's from China. An' there's Almy Rose, whose husband is off to sea, an' little Nina Clark, whose fellow is up to the mines workin' hard to earn enough to start housekeepin'. I've got letters for both of them. An' 't ain't all the mail, either. I do errands for a good many. You know the Watts', whose boy is so awful sick. They ain't nobody to send for a doctor. What mightn't it mean if I didn't get there in two or three days? No, no, Benson, I wouldn't dare to stay if I wanted to. I'm only one, an' they're a good many. Good-by."

Usually it required less than five minutes to drive between the houses, but it was two hours later when Holden struggled up on the plazza and knocked on the door, looking more like a crudely made snowman than anything human.

"For the land sake!" cried the woman who opened the door, "if it isn't Mr. Holden! How'd you ever manage to get through? But come right in. You can't go on any more today. My folks are almost scared to go to the barn.

It Was Still Snowing and the Drifts Much Deeper.

Come," throwing wide the door, "don't stand there in the cold. Take your wraps right off and set right up to the fire and warm."

"I haven't time now, thank you," Holden replied, as soon as he could interpose a word. "I must get on to Watts'. I have some medicine for the sick boy, an' he may need it. Here's your mail. Merry Christmas, speaking ahead." And once more he went out into the storm, disappearing in its blinding whirl almost instantly.

It was scarcely half a mile to Watts', but it took him twice the time to reach it. And when finally he stumbled up the steps, he had to pause to catch his breath before he could summon strength to knock.

"M-merry Christmas, an' here's your mail, an' medicine," he gasped, as the door was opened. "No, I can't stop. I'm a good deal behind-time, an' must reach the widow's tonight, an' Johnson's, an' Rose's an' others. They all ain't much over a quarter of a mile. The storm's something terrible. Good-by."

When he reached the Widow Cross' it was she who heard him fumbling about the door, and opened it, thinking it was a cat or dog wanting shelter.

At first he could not speak, but held out her letter.

"If it's the right one," he whispered presently, "I'll take it down to the store an' get your supplies in a few minutes, soon as I'm rested. It's only a few rods. An'—I hope you'll have a Merry Christmas."

"You'll stay all night, of course," she said anxiously. "You're completely used up an' it won't be safe to attempt going any farther."

"Only to Johnson's an' Rose's an' one or two more, just beyond the store," he answered. "I have letters for them which I want to deliver tonight."

The next day it was still snowing, and the drifts much deeper. Although he started early and struggled through the snow until after dark, he made little more than a mile. It was Christmas day, when mail was not supposed to be delivered, but Holden did not even think of that. He had letters to leave, and anxious people were waiting for them. So Christmas went by.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "vertical" defines a word which will fill the white squares to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE No. 1
"STEPPING STONES"

If you like them easy this one will suit you, for the interlock helps you over the stickers. If you're in the expert class you can find an unusual word or two. This puzzle contains every letter in the alphabet except "k".

The Old Reliable
Dr. BELL'S PINE-TAR HONEY FOR COUGHS
FOR COUGHS DUE TO COLDS 25

FOR quick, sure cough relief there is nothing like the pine-tar and honey, which our parents and grandparents relied on. But be sure you get the genuine Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar Honey, the original compound which has been used in thousands of families for years. It has had many imitators, but still remains the best. Often stops a bad cough in 24 hours. Perfectly safe for children as well as grown-ups. Insist on Dr. Bell's and no other. Only 30c at any good druggist's.

Quick and Sure

Last week I told you I would tell you somethin of my boyhood days, but as the holiday season is so near I will leave that off for this week, at least. We are trying to stock to take care of any order of candy, fruit or nuts. In short, anything in the line of GOOD EATS.

We are also closing out the last half car of good flour. In this we can please any customer. Rosco, (the hustler), will be back with me for the holiday trade, as chief clerk.

We invite you to come in and give us a trial at your order. We sell goods that don't come back, but the customer does. Once tried, never denied. We adhere to our motto: "HONEST WEIGHT, AND A SQUARE DEAL TO ALL."

STATE COMMISSION OF FORESTRY

The few scattered rains that recently have occurred in the State do not end the severe fire season, according to a statement issued by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. Rains check forest fires, continues the statement, but in many cases they leave stumps, logs and snags still burning. After a day or two of drying winds, or even after a few hours, these burning materials begin throwing sparks down the wind, thus igniting new fires outside the original fire line.

In other cases the trains merely dam pen the surface burning, while deep down in the peat, moss and leaf layers fire continues to smoulder Ground fires of this character may break out to the surface and start burning briskly many days or even several weeks after they have been thought to be completely extinguished. During the present season conditions have been such that complete extinction of fires has been very difficult for both of the reasons cited.

Stumps and snags have been known to start burning sharply two months after the rain fire was completely extinguished around the edges. Swamp and bog fires have been known to burn under ground all winter and break out anew in the spring.

Under conditions existing in the Southern Pine Region, however, it is extremely unlikely that the longevity record for a forest fire will ever approximate that held in the Old World where a fire on the island of Crete started in the year 1400 and burned for seven years before entirely extinguished.

MACEDONIA

There was preaching at this place Saturday and Sunday. Rev. M. J. Parrish filled the pulpit with a fine sermon on Saturday. It was the kind you have often heard people say would do to live and die by.

On Sunday, Bro. M. Lockhart preached. If you missed this, you missed something fine.

I am very sorry that we could not have Sunday school but we will have it next Sunday, and want everyone to come out and help. We thank Bro. Parrish and Bro. Lockhart for coming and preaching for us and want them back again.

MRS. J. J. McFARLAND DEAD

On last Friday morning, Dec. 5th, after a few days of illness, the death angel visited the Woodlawn Hospital in Birmingham and bore away the wife of Mr. J. J. McFarland home to the peaceful shore.

She was Miss Toy Mullins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mullins, before her marriage. She leaves her husband, two sons, four sisters, one brother and seven step-children to mourn her loss, with a host of friends and relatives. She was forty-nine years of age, had been a member of the church and lived a Christian life for thirty-two years.

The remains were laid to rest in Rehobeth cemetery after the funeral ceremony, led by Rev. W. Blake.

May God bless and comfort all of the bereaved ones.

Mrs. Mamie Smith of Clanton announces the engagement of her daughter, Mamie Clifford, to Mr. Robert Flemmon Higgins, the marriage to be solemnized at the home of the bride December 21st.

Study Club Meets.

On last Friday afternoon the Study club met at the home of Mrs. John Page.

Mrs. N. S. Johnson, president, called the meeting to order. The usual business was attended to. This being the close of the year's study "On the short story," a very interesting paper was read by Mrs. P. D. Wilson, on French criticism.

Late in the afternoon delicious refreshments was served the members and guests: Mesdames Ruth Gowan, P. D. Wilson, John VanDerveer, Willis Lyman, Grady Reynolds, Victor Heard, Barney Roberts, N. S. Johnson, Hugh Jones, Jessie Chandler, Thad McSwain, Bessie Harris, J. P. Hayes. The guests were Mrs. E. E. Upchurch, Mrs. M. L. White, Mrs. Guy Roberts, Mrs. Hance Alred and Mrs. V. J. Elmore.

Old-Time Party.

The Parent-Teachers' Association gave an old-time party at the home of Mrs. N. S. Johnson last Friday evening.

Everybody stemed to enjoy the old-time plays as it brought back the good times they had "when you and I were young."

The old-time play of walking across the room with the most peas on a knife was played, Mr. John VanDerveer winning the prize.

Everybody had a lovely time. Delicious refreshments were served to the guests.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Mrs. Frank Callen gave a miscellaneous shower on last Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 9th, in honor of Miss Mamie Clifford Smith, a bride-elect. The home was beautifully decorated in growing plants and pink and white carnations. The color scheme of pink and white predominated throughout the entire apartments. As the guests entered the living room they were introduced to the bride-to-be, who was robed in a pretty blue brocaded Faille frock, trimmed in real lace. The numerous and useful gifts were presented to Mamie which were arranged on a table in the living room. Mrs. Milton Smith kept the bride's book where the guests registered. Then the guests were invited into the dining room where sandwiches and tea were served by Mrs. Hance Alred and Miss Kathleen Mullins.

Miss Lois Taylor Entertains.

On last Wednesday afternoon Miss Lois Taylor entertained in honor of the Y. W. A. The home was made beautiful with roses and chrysanthemums, which were effectively arranged in the living room. After the business meeting, there was a splendid program rendered on "Snap-shot" of foreign girls worship. Then the members and guests were served a salad plate, who were: Pearl Miner, Frances Moore, Pearl Harris, Elizabeth Duncan, Jewel Miner, Era Mims, Jettie Popwell, Virgie White, Annie Bell White, Mary Bess Sims, Marjorine Alred, Erine Danforth and Mrs. Ruth Gowan.

On Thursday, Dec. 11, (today), there will be a Bazaar at the Chilton Hardware store, given by the Methodist ladies.

Card Club.

Mrs. N. S. Johnson entertained the members of the Wednesday Card club and a few other friends on last Wednesday afternoon. Carnations and growing pot plants were attactively arranged throughout the apartments. After several games of bridge was played the top score was held by Mrs. Hance Alred, who was given two dainty Maderia linen handkerchiefs.

Late in the afternoon fruit salad and cake were served to members and goests who were: Mrs. Hance Alred, Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. Arthur Johnson, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. Willis Lyman, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mrs. Frank Callen, Mrs. Watts Moore, Mrs. T. C. McSwain and Miss Kathleen Mullins.

MIKE'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

It was five years ago on the fourth instant, when Joseph Michael Pickens made his advent into the world.

So the anniversory of that occasion was duly celebrated on last Thursday afternoon at his grandmother's home. The Downs' home had been prettily decorated for the occasion in Xmas tones; and all details had been arranged to insure much gladness for each guest.

A list of Mike's friends had been fowarded to his mother in Colorada, who took delight in providing the attractive invitations.

Before the appointed hour however, the fifty or more pleasure-bent tots were already at the Downs home and the entire afternoon was spent in festivity and merry making.

Mike, having dispensed appropriate favors to his happy guests, who will very likely remember for a long time that anniversary upon which Joseph Michael Pickens became five years old.

A SNAKE IN AN EGG

Every now and then some unusually freakish find comes to light, but the latest and most unique is that of a live snake found in the yolk of a fresh country egg opened by J. L. Simmons, proprietor of a local barbecue stand. The reptile measured about four inches and had apparently been kept alive on the nourishment of the egg.

The egg was taken from a case of country eggs opened last Friday night when he had a call for an order of scrambled eggs. It was normal and the outward appearance failed to indicate that it was abnormal or any ways freakish.—Sheffield Standard.

WOMAN SURPRISES FRIENDS

"After a spell of Typhoid Fever 7 years ago, I began to suffer from indigestion and gas in my stomach and colic attacks. This gradually became so bad that my doctor advised an operation for gall stones. A friend advised me to try Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I did with spendid results. My friends were astonished at my rapid improvement. I have no more bloating, and can eat anything I wish." It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflamation which causes all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at Alred Drug Co., and all druggists.

ALABAMA COTTON OUTPUT UP TWENTY MILLION OVER 1923

Average Value per Bale Fixed at $128 By Federal Statistician F. W. Gist In Estimate on Dec. 1st Price.

Auburn, Dec. 13—The value of Alabama's cotton crop of 1924 is about mas's cotton crop of 1924 is about $20,000,000 greater than that of 1913, according to a statement issued by F. W. Gist, agricultural statistician. Based on the December 1 price of 22.1 cents per pound for lint and $36 per ton for seed, the average value per bale is $128. With an estimated crop of 990,000 bales, the total value is approximately $127,000,000. Last year the production of 587,000 bales was valued at about $107,000,00. The price a year ago was 31.8 per pound for lint and $50 per ton for seed.

This year's crop is the largest for Alabama since 1915, Mr. Gist points out, but was grown from practically the same picked acreage as last year. Final estimate is 3,142,000 acres planted and 3,073,000 acres picked, with an average acre, yield of 154 pounds of lint. Last year the acre yield for the state was only 91 pounds, on 3,079,000 acres picked.

While this year was not a perfect one for cotton growing, Mr. Gist says, it was on the whole a very favorable one, all things considered. The weather just following planting time was very unfavorable for awhile, and caused some difficulties in connection with chopping and cultivating. Cotton soon became quite grassy but with a clearing up of weather over the state and hard work on part of the farmers the grass was soon cleared from the fields, and the crop grew off well and fruited heavily.

The heavy freezes of last winter left a lighter infestation of weevils than usual, and the hot, dry weather kept them from multiplying to their usual numbers. Almost perfect control of the weevil was experienced, except in a few scattered localities, until a good crop had been matured.

One of the chief causes contributing to the good yield was the increased amount of plant food contained in the fertilizers used this year. Farmers used a greater tonnage of fertilizers, and very many more of them were careful in using better grades of fertilizers and in applying them in a more intelligent manner.

Had Good Weather.

Less than the usual amount of money was expended for employing extra cotton pickers. The splendid weather which lasted till the end of harvest enabled farmers to pick their crops with their own labor. This saved to their pockets the wages which sometimes goes to extra pickers.

Notwithstanding the picking of a large crop with their own labor, the crop wos almost completely picked by the first of December, only 37,000 bales being left to be ginned after that date to make the total estimated.

The plant continued green and blooms were noted until near the end of November. This gave weevils an opportunity to go into hibernation in numbers quite sufficient to prove damaging next season with favorable weather for propagation. Farmers will do well, therefore, to remember that they still have a fight on their hands with their most active enemy in the future.

The 1924 crop by counties will be published by Mr. Gist together with county figures for other crops, toward the latter part of the month. It is stated at this time, however, that the increased production for this year has been fairly well distributed over the state. The south half increased its production some more than the north half, some counties in the southern half making almost double the crop of last year.

DOYLE NIBLET IS HELD IN SLAYING IN COOSA COUNTY

Defendant Denied Bail at Preliminary Trial; Court Room Crowded

Goodwater, Ala., Dec. 13.—Doyle Niblet was bound over to the grand jury Saturday in his preliminary hearing at Rockford for killing Ellis Thomas, who was shot from ambush December 5. Niblet was denied bail. The trial brought one of the largest crowds together at Rockford on yesterday that has witnessed a preliminary hearing in many a day.

The evidence developed that Thomas and Niblet had a fight on the afternoon before the shooting, growing out of liquor dealings, in which difficulty Thomas beat up Niblet considerably. Niblet was seen just before the shooting going toward Kellyton with a gun, and on being asked by a party what the trouble was, Niblet is said to have said, "Wait until morning and you will know." Thomas was shot in the back at close range shortly thereafter with a rung shell, dying instantly.

Blood hounds of the state were procured and took up the trail at the point where the shooting took place and ran direct to the home of Niblet. When arrested that night Niblet made the statement that he would have killed him that afternoon if he had had a gun.

The preliminary hearing was heard before Justice of the Peace W. F. Robinson and W. A. Corley. The state was represented by former circuit Solicitor W. W. Wallace and John A. Darden, county solicitor for Coosa County. The defendant was represented by Henry A. Teel, of Rockford, and S. J. Darby, of Alexander City.

There were reports of a special term of the circuit court to investigate the killing but just what steps will be taken is not known.

Abe White, Maxie Bell and two Gaddises, all negroes, being held on warrants for the killing of Thomas, were discharged, there being no evidence against some of them and very little against White, but White was held on charge of violating the prohibition laws, two bottles of liquor being found in his home when the arrest was made, officers charge.

AGRICULTURAL CENSUS ENUMERATOR AT CLANTON

Mr. J. M. Grant, who has been selected as Agricultural Census Enumerator for Beat 4, asks us to announce that he will be upstairs at the court house every Saturday from now until the last of January for the purpose of taking the Agricultural Census of this Beat. All farmers are asked to go to Mr. Grant's office and make a report of their farm productions and conditions.

CHRISTMAS TREE FOR BEAT 11

On Thursday night, December 25th, Christmas night, the local Republican leaders will give an old-fashioned Christmas Tree at Cane Creek, to the boys and girls of Beat 11 up to eighteen years of age. This tree is given in appreciation of the 100 per cent loyalty of the Republicans of Beat 11, when in the last election every vote cast in that Precinct was in behalf of the Republican ticket. Not only did they vote solidly for the Republican ticket, but they all voted in unanimity on each of the amendments submitted. This is a nice tribute on the part of the local leaders to the spirit of Republicanism of Beat 11.

We are authorized to state that the tree will be open to the entire public, and anyone who wishes to place a present on the tree for a friend is cordially invited to do so. All the people of the Precinct are urged to be present as it is expected that Santa Claus will remember the voters as well as the boys and girls.

The Union-Banner extends its hearty greetings to the good people of Beat 11, and urges that they all attend. Make it an occasion long to be remembered, and let nothing be said or done that will in any way mar the pleasure of the occasion. Leave behind those things which have a tendency to disturb the joy of such occasions as this one will be.

Remember that Santa Claus will arrive promptly at 6:00 o'clock, p.m., and will immediately begin the distribution of presents. Be on time and thus be certain to get your present.

WE WISH OUR FRIENDS A MERRY CHRISTMAS

Lest some of our friends may fail to get another issue of The Union-Banner before Christmas, we will take this opportunity to express the Yuletide greeting to our friends and readers of Chilton County and elsewhere. The Christmas season is a time for peace and good will among men. This spirit is more often made manifest by and between people by the exchange of gifts. The Union-Banner is not able even to give a small present to all its readers and friends for a Christmas present, but we can and will say to all of you that you have not been forgotten but that you hold a place in our heart that is completely bound around with love, grace and good will.

When we cast a retrospective view of Bethlehem, we do not wonder that all that is grand crowds around the Cradle-Manager. The idea is worthy of it all, and we want the Star to shine in the lives of all our present-day friends. Let the angel face flash out from the great canopies of heaven and let the Shepherds worship. Let the organs and strings of the sacred harps join with our voices in the common air of praise. Let Christmas carols roll over this wide earth and even echo among the stars. Let the great universe of Godjubilate and the creatures of earth shout together; "Hosanna to the Son of David; blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord; Hosanna in the highest."

ECLIPSE OF THE SUN WILL BE VISIBLE IN ALABAMA AT 8 A. M., JANUARY 24.

The Eclipse in Alabama will be only A Partial One.

Washington, Dec. 15.—The total eclipse of the sun on Saturday, January 24, 1925, will be visible in the eastern section of the United States if the weather is favorable, in a shadow path stretching from Minnesota, just east of Red Lake, extending over Michigan, part of Canada, New York, Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

Naval observatory scientists say it will be the first time the east has been able to witness a total solar eclipse for many years. The central path of the eclipse will run very nearly thru such centers of population as Buffalo, N. Y. and New Haven, Conn. The eclipse will terminate in the Atlantic Ocean north of the British Isles. Communities outside the shadow path will witness the eclipse as partial.

In the Hudson River area the shadow path will be about 110 miles long. In Minnesota it will be about 85 miles.

In Alabama, it will show as a partial eclipse, and will be about 8 a. m.

OFFICERS GET ONE 100 GALLON STILL AND THREE SMALLER OUTFITS

Deputies Culp and Foshee, with the assistance of Federal Tfficer W. H. Gillespie, located and destroyed a 100-gallon copper distilling outfit two miles west of Pletcher last Saturday. The still was located in a field in a big gulley. After the big still was torn up, the officers went a few steps up the gulley and found a small still which they also destroyed.

A small tin-can apparatus of 30-gallon capacity was destroyed one mile north of Stanton Wednesday. There were 30 gallons of beer at this still.

Just beyond Watley Town, a few miles north of Stanton, a 50-gallon still was located and destroyed Monday. This was a box-type still. Officers report that the operators had just moved the beer from the still when they found it.

Sheriff Littlejohn and his deputies are continually grinding away at their task of breaking up the whiskey traffic in our country. It is a big and hard job, and is especially so when the people of a community do not back the officers up in the work. Our good people should help the officers in eradicating this monster evil.

STRAWBERRY GROWERS TO MEET HERE ON NEXT SATURDAY

Best Methods of Handling Crop to Be Discussed By Experienced Men on the Subject.

The Union-Banner has been instructed to announce through the paper that a meeting of all those interested in the growing of strawberries will be held at the court house in Clanton on next Saturday, Dec. 20th. The purpose of this meeting is to get the farmers interested in this truck to all get together and get lined up to work together to the betterment of the industry here. The best methods to handle the crop will be discussed, and good and bad methods will be spoken of by those with experience. It is expected that several of the old growers of strawberries of Thorsby will be at this meeting to give their experience in the work.

The Union-Banner wishes to stress the importance of this meeting. The business of growing strawberries, when properly managed, is one of the best paying crops to be raised in Chilton county. This fact has been thoroughly demonstrated in most every section of the country, and especially around Thorsby. Some of the more progressive farmers around Clanton have put the strawberry business to a test and have been very successful with it. It has been proven that more money can be derived from the acre in strawberries than from any other kind of crop in this section. And the most appealing thing about it is that this crop comes off right at the season of the year when farmers are most in need of a little ready cash. By planting a few acres of strawberries, a farmer can get up enough money in the spring from this crop to finish running him while he is making his cotton and corn.

Everyone who possibly can, come out to this meeting Saturday and no doubt you will learn something you had not before thought of. Come whether you are interested in strawberries or not.

NEGRO MINSTREL AT HIGH SCHOOL ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Beginning at 8:00 o'clock, a Negro Minstrel will be staged at the Chilton County High School auditorium next Friday night, Dec. 19th. The minstrel will be put on by the students of the high school, and promises to be the funniest stage performance ever put on in Clanton. The proceeds from the sale of tickets will go to the Atheletic Association of the High School.

The people of Clanton are asked to help out the boys and girls in this play. They need some money, and they are going to furnish you a good time in exchange for it. So, be sure and come out to the high school Friday night and see what they have in store for you.

CHILTON ASSESSMENTS MORE THAN DOUBLE IN TWO YEARS

In 1922 the tax assessments in Chilton County amounted to $7,127,790. This year, 1924, the assessments as filed by Tax Assessor, S. M. Pate, amount to $14,633,664, or an increase of about 105 per cent. The increase in dollars for the two years is $7,505,874. Chilton leads every county in Alabama in percentage increase, the average inertase of all counties being only about 6 per cent.

This phenominal growth in the tax assessments of Chilton County is due largely to the assessment of the Alabama power Company's property on the Coosa River, the greater part of which isin this county. The increase in Coosa County's assessment was also considerably boomed, due to this same fact.

PEOPLES TELEPHONE MEETING HELD HERE ON LAST MONDAY

Seventy-Four Lines Represented; About 125 Present; Same Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the Peoples Telephone Company was held at the court house in Clanton Monday of this week, the meeting being called to order at 10 o'clock by the president, W. W. Fox. Mr. G. C. Armstrong, secretary of the company, was there and made his report of the company's business for the past year. The Secretary's report was adopted by the meeting. The election of officers resulted in the re-election of all the old officers for another year, as follows: President, W. W. Fox; Secretary, G. C. Armstrong; Board of Directors, Rev. W. S. Cox, Dr. W. L. Parrish, J. M. Robinson, Jno. E. Littlejohn, and J. W. P. Murphy. The complete report of the Secretary will be found elsewhere in this issue of The Banner.

There were seventy-four lines represented at the meeting, there being obout 125 people present at the meeting. The re-election of the same officers was practically unanimous, and several from different lines expressed themselves as being mighty well pleased with the management of the company's business during the past year. The service as a whole, has been above the average for this year, and the central office is in good repair. Some of the lines outside the corporate limits of Clanton are in bad shape, and this accounts for practicaly all of the bad service. The company keeps up the lines in Clanton, and the phone-holders in the country ought to get their lines in shape outside of town. If this is done, we will get splendid service during the coming year.

The meeting unanimously voted that the post right and central fee remain the same as for the past year.

At 1:00 o'clock Monday afternoon, the Board of Directors met and opened the bids for the operator for the coming year. This job was again awarded Mr. G. W. Culp, who will operate the central office and maintain the lines within the corporate limits of Clanton.

The Secretary is now ready to issue receipts for next year's post right and central service. The arrangement is the same as last year, in that all the post rights on any line must be paid before anyone on that line is allowed to pay central service. All phone-holders are urged to pay up as early as possible, so as to get the business in shape for operation for the coming year.

BAKER & TAYLOR

JESSE BAKER CLANTON, ALABAMA R. W. TAYLOR

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Mr. Chas A. Peterson, who recently sold his farm and homestead, has begun the erection of a new house on one of the finest building sites in Thorsby, located directly south and adjoining the Butler home and across the street from Lewis Howard home.

Mr. Carl C. Peterson has nearly finished his new house and will probably occupy it in the near future.

Nat Bently, of Thorsby Garage, is making preparation to be on hand to catch the early traffic on the new highway. He is building at the corner of Jones Street and the said highway, a new "Filling Station" of a unique design. He is using for pillars and exterior walls cobblestones laid in cement so that a portion of each stone stands out individually the face of the structure, the effort is new in Thorsby and with all quite pleasing. Nat seems to be a sort of an "Early Bird" when it comes to getting ready for business. He built the first building in Thorsby that was put up specifically for a Garage and is evidently making a success of his business. Such improvements are the indications of a good business man and make for improvement in the appearance of our town.

Miss Rosa Forsman, from Georgia, arrived in Thorsby recently to spend the Christmas vacation with her mother, Mrs. Marie Forsman.

Mrs. G. L. Wilder, came home Saturday night after spending several weeks in a Birmingham infirmary and a few weeks with a sister there.

Rev. Johnson of Silver Hill, occupied the pulpit of Thorsby Lutheran Church last Sunday morning and evening, and spent several days here during the following week.

Mr. Mage Anderson went to Birmingham last Saturday, to spend a few days with his daughter Mrs. Ivy Horn.

The Public School will have two weeks and two days vacation this year, closing this week and opening January 5th.

Summer, Ruth and Mary Ella Gerald, Margaret Butler and Esther Johnson will return to their Thorsby homes this week, all from Piedmont college at Demodest, Ga., to spend the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. J. H. Goddard arrived home from Ohio, Tuesday evening, where she went several days ago to attend the funeral of her mother.

Mrs. Josheph E. Each returned Wednesday, from a five weeks visit to her parents and other relatives in Oklahoma.

"White Gifts for the King"is the title of the Christmas Service of the Congregational Sunday School, to be held Sunday Dec. 21st at 7:30 p.m. in the church.

Dr. and Mrs. S. C. Wood left last week for an extended vacation in Texas where some of the Doctor's relatives reside. They are making the trip by motor.

Owing to the prevalence of some cases of Smallpox in the territory around Thorsby and in other communities of the State, Dr. McNeil of Jemison was secured by Thorsby Institute to do a wholesale job of vaccinating twenty-four people pdesented themselves for the operation. So far as we know, there are and have been no cases of Smallpox in Thorsby. The Vaccination was done wholly as a preventive measure.

Thorsby Institute will close December 18th for the holiday season, and Tuesday, December 30th is the day for re-opening.

UNION GROVE

The United Singing Society met in regular session here Sunday afternoon, with a large crowd in attendance and did some real good singing, as usual. Song No. 18 in the Showalter book was used as the opening song, followed with prayer by Mr. Henderson Hayes, after which the following directors were called, and directed three songs each—O. B. Robinson, A. H. Glasscock, E. H. Foshee, and E. L. Glasscock. A quartet composed of Prof. A. H. Glasscock, O. B. Robinson, E. H. Foshee, E. L. Glasscock rendered a beautiful selection between eaih direitor, which brought forth notes of praise and added much pleasure to the occasion. A solo was nicely rendered by Prof. A. H. Glasscock which also brought forth notes of praise from almost all who heard him.

Organists for the afternoon were: Misses Inez Hays and Emma Campbell, who like all the other singers, did a good part in making the occasion the great success that it was. After singing No. 49 in the Vaughan book, followed with prayer by Mr. Guss Glasscock, the society adjourned to meet with Collins Chapel next Sunday afternoon. All who are interested are urged to attend. Visitors are always welcome. Both Vaughn and Showalter books will be used.

POPWELL SCHOOL

We are going to have a school entertainment and box supper at this place Saturday night, December 20, a most interesting play, "The Birth of Peace," will be presented. Everybody invited to come.

National Republican.—Those who believe that the harboring of renegades in a poltiical party increases the size of the party would be capable of believing that coaxing a polecat to a Sunday school picnic would heighten the popularity of the picnic.

Continued progress in the negotiations for the settlement of foreign war debts to the United States was indicated by the introduction of bills by Senator Smoot. a member of the Debt Commission authorizing the settlement of the debts of Poland and Lithuania. A tentative plan of settlement arrived at by the Commission requires an authorization by Congress before being put into affect.

President Coolidge's decision to make his recent journey to Chicago in one of the regular pullman cars of a regular passenger train was in keeping with the policy of economy he has practiced ever since he has been in Washington. He has cut expenditures at the White Nouse and is very limited in his use of automobiles. His daily recreation is in the form of a walk early in the morning on streets near the White Hoose. The use of a regular car at a considerable saving as compared with a special train attracted particular public attention for the reason that the journey began on the day after his economy message to Congress and two days after he had submitted a retrenchment budget.

An interesting sidelight was thrown on the fertilizer problem while Senator Norris of Nebraska was discussing the Muscle Shoals bill. He asserted that the sort of fertilizer in most common use contains 2 per cent of nitrogen,8 per cent of phosphorus and 2 per cent of ammonia, the remainder, more than 80 per cent, being made up of waste material necessary as a carrier of the chemicals above mentioned. Said he, "Scientists have been unable to devise a combination of fertilizer ingredients without putting with them a lot of unnecessary material which must be used as a carrier of the fertilizer ingredients; and the ultimate cost to the consumer consists mostly in the mixing, the handling, and the freight cost of this material having no fertilizer value." Senator Norris also asserted that even if the nitrogen portion of the mixture could be reduced one-half in cost, the saving would be only $2.40 per ton of the completed fertilizer.

BRIGHTER SKIES IN EUROPE

President Coolidge.—"We look with great gratification at the hopeful prospect of recuperation in Europe through the Dawes plan. Such assistance as can be given through the action of the public authoities and of our private citizens, through friendly counsel and co-operation, and through economic and financial support, not for any warlike effort but for reproductive enterprise, not to provide means for unsound government financing, but to establish sound business administration, should be unhesitatingly provided."

NOT BOWING TO LEAGUE

The British government has sent none other than its foreign minister to be its delegate at the meeting of the League of Nations council in Rome. Austen Chamberlain is there, we suspect not so much to lend helpful aid to the League as effectually to squelch any attempt on the part of that body to interfere in Egypt. The covenant was a fine ideal to which to subscribe, but when British home interests are menaced there is an instant reversion to independent action. Americans would follow a similar course, with the added satisfaction that they have no league entanglements to embarrass them.

TIRED AFTER EATING? TRY THIS SIMPLE MIXTURE

If you feel tired after eating, it is often a sign of gas and undigested matter in your stomach or bowels. Simple buckthorn bark, magnesium sulph. e. p., glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adlerika, helps any case gas on the stomach, unless due to deepseated causes. TheQUICK action will surprise you. Adlerika is wonderful for constipation—it often works in one hour and never gripes.

DAYS WE'LL NEVER FORGET

Press Clippings

Debuque Times Journal.—People once complained of hard times when they did not know from whence the next meal or last month's rent was to come. Today "hard times" mean those brief and infrequent periods when the working man cannot afford to buy a new automobile and has to figure a little to pay the next installment on the radio or overstuffed living room suite.

Fort Wayne Sentinel.—We agree with President Coolidge that it would be helpful if some plan could be adopted for the regulation of American railways which, while retaining the principle of systematic collective bargaining with conciliation and voluntary arbitration of labor differences, could also "provide simplicity in relations and more direct local responsibility of employees and managers."

New Orleans Times - Picayune (Dem.)—"Forget La Follette" was adopted as a slogan at the El Paso labor convention. Would not "Remember La Follette" be a better watchword? He and what he stands for should be remembered as things and ideas to be avoided. We are entirely too quick at forgetting hard-earned lessons.

Lynchburg News (Dem.)—President Coolidge's message to the last session of the present Congress merits the careful attention of the public. The message, in most respects, rings true to the tests of straight thinking and wise conclusion.

Washington Post.—Mr. Mellon's prediction of prosperity such as followed the election of 1896 is based on the basic economic theory that every time a member if the Bryan family is licked business goes on a joyride.

Los Angeles Times.—All just and desirable citizens wish their country well aond it is unanimously agreed that it is prospering in a higher degree than it possibly could with any suggested political change.

Marion Star.—There is in the United States only one soldier for each 1,000 inhabitants, and yet the pacificists continue their yapping about "militarism!"

Atlanta Constitution (Dem.)—The message of President Coolidge is characteristically terse and strong. On the whole it is a common sense review of domestic problems and situations.

New York World (Dem.)—The President's message to Congress—the first in his elected statue—is sound for the occasion, comprehensive and vigilant.

Boston Transcript. — President Coolidge makes it plain that he does not look on a railroad journey as a royal progress.

Troy (N. Y.) Times.—The President's message is praised by every Republican, and by every Democrat who is able to resist the power of habit.

Salamanca (N. Y.) The crying need of American county and city governments at present is for municipal Coolidges.

FOREIGN TRADE FOR TEN MONTHS

Washington, D. C. Dec. 15.—With the exception of North America, our exports by grand divisions increased in every instance during the ten months period ended October 31st, last. Imports by divisions showed decreases without exception, ranging from $98,000,000 in the case of Asia to $1,000,000 in the case of North America. A falling in world prices was undoubtedly chiefly responsible for this and the volume of imports was not greatly changed. Exports for the ten months period totaled $3,339,000,000 in 1923 and $3,652,000,000 in 1924. Imports totaled $3,212,000,000 and $2,981,000,000 for the two periods, respectively.

Expressed in millions of dollars, our exports to Europe, the two periods compared, increased from 1,628 to 1,866; to North America (decrease) 921 to 920; to South America 227 to 258; to Asia 391 to 418; to Oceania 121 to 132; and to Africa 51 to 58.

Imports from Europe decreased from 971 to 888; from North America 860 to 855; from South America 395 to 380; from Asia 857 to 758; from Oceania 55 to 43; and from Africa 74 to 57.

Selecting one of the larger nations with which we do business, expressed in millions of dollars, the figures for the 1923 and 1924 periods, respectively, show exports to the United Kingdom to have been 658 and 740; imports from that country 347 and 291. This shows an increase of $82,000,000 in our exports to Great Britain and a decrease of $56,000,000 in our imports from that nation.

A similar trend is shown in our trade with France with which our trade for the two ten-month periods, 1923 and 1924, expressed in millions of dollars was, exports 211 and 217. Imports 124 and 119. Italy, exports 129 and 140; imports 73 and 58; Belgium, exports 81 and 91; imports 57 and 56.

It is particularly noteworthy that exports to Germany increased from 256 to 331; imports showing a decline from 134 to 115. Trade with Russia picked up a bit, exports increasing from under 3.5 to 40 millions; imports from a little over 1 to nearly 6. The Scandinavian and Dutch trade showed exports 176 and 202; imports 108 and 116.

North America: Canada, exports, 561 and 532; imports, 342 and 328; Mexico, exports, 100 and 111; imports, 113 and 137; Cuba, exports, 161 and 169; imports, 348 and 332, depreciated sugar prices mainly accountable for the decrease. Central America, exports, 46 and 54; imports, 33 and 33.

South America: Argentina, exports, 97 and 96; imports, 107 and 64. Brazil, exports, 37 and 52; imports, 110 and 137. Chile, exports, 26 and 26; imports, 82 and 82. Colombia, exports, 19 and 22; imports, 36 and 51. Peru, exports, 16 and 20; imports, 16 and 19, about balancing both years. Venezuela, exports, 9 and 15; imports, 11 and 14, considerable industrial machinery going to this country.

The Far Eastern Trade: China, exports, 87 and 96; imports, 158 and 95. This country has been hampered by political troubles. Japan, exports, 191 and 192; imports, 285 and 272, silk prices falling off. British and Dutch East Indies and Straits Settlements, aggregate, exports, 30 and 48; imports, 285 and 252. Australia and New Zealand, exports, 119 and 130; imports, 53 and 41. Exports to Egypt remained at 4.8; imports were 32 and 22.

LETTER TO FARMERS FROM EXPERIMENT STATION

Auburn, Ala., Dec. 15—To make a study of results obtained in 1924 and a program of work for 1925, county agents, home demonstration agents, farmers, and farm women will hold their annual winter conference here, December 29-January 3. It will be attended by the county agents, men and women, in each county, and the State Farm Bureau has requested each county Farm Bureau to send a man delegate and a woman delegate which most counties will do.

Although those who attend the winter conference in Auburn each year come with an open mind, seeking suggestions and information as to how improvements will be made, it is known that the chief object of the approaching conference will be to outline ways and means for continuing the safe farming program for Alabama which was worked out and adopted at the conference a year ago. Rural home improvement, boys' and girls' agricultural and home economics club work, economical production, better farm living, and efficient or co-operative marketing will be among the important subjects considered during the meeting this year.

In announcing it Prof. L. N. Duncan, Director of the Extension Service, says that the dates are convenient for practically all those who should attend. The students will be away for the holidays and the visitors will occupy the dormitories which will provide ample and comfortable quarters for all. Representatives of organizations of business men, bankers, the press, woman's organizations, and others interested in agricultural development in Alabama have been invited to be present and take part in the proceedings.

FARM FACTS

Whoso leaveth his farm implements scattered in the field in winter loseth much.

Many men could regain some of friend wife's tender love by putting running water in the home. The cost is small and the results great. Try it.

"The improved acre must yield not only corn but civilization, not only potatoes but culture, not only wheat but effective manhood."—Kenyon L. Butterfield.

The farmer has been slow to realie the value of organization.

Farmers are awakening; they begin to catch the idea of co-operation.

It is hard to admit but it is true that most of the land in cultivation in Alabama is too poor to be cultivated at a profit.

We can't get around the fact that "rich land means rich farmers, while poor land means poor farmers."

The farmer who thinks that he can make good fruit without spraying thinks wrong. It is about as impossible as it is to make cotton without cultivation.

With cotton at present prices farmers can make money producing it if they will produce enough food and feed for home needs and take care of their soil.

Bless their loving hearts! May their Christmas wish come true, be they rich or poor, of high or low degree, and in whatever place they bless with their sweet presence.

Christmas was surely meant to be a season of joy and laughter, as well as one in which we glorify the birth of the blessed Savior. Throughout the centuries a spirit of revelry has marked the tide of Yule. The observance of an annual season of merrymaking dates back even farther than the advent of Christianity. It is said that long ere the birth of the Babe of Bethlehem the ancient pagans celebrated a yearly feast near the winter solstice. Romans called this the Saturnalia. It was marked with much wine-drinking, dancing and eating.

In the ancient countries of the North huge fires were kindled and as their leaping flames shot skyward human beings were sacrificed upon the altars to Thor and Oden. The Goths and Saxons called this the festival of Yule.

The Teutons selected a huge tree which they raised amid much chanting and shouting, in honor of the god of the sun. Bright objects and lights were placed in its branches to represent the light of day, the moon and stars. Animals were fastened to the branches, historians say, that the pagan gods might be propitiated in favor of their savage worshipers.

So we know that the Christmas celebrations were not in the beginning of religious significance. But with Christianity's dawn the many old customs that remained were given a religious symbolism. There are a number of our present-day customs that are picturesque and interesting because of their great antiquity.

When we tramp into the winter woods and bring home loads of scarlet-berried holly and mistletoe we are merely following in the footsteps of our pagan ancestors. When we wreathe our doorsills and windows with the beautiful, waxy white clusters of mistletoe, when we ornament the mantle above the bright fire with its dark-green clusters we are but unconsciously repeating the pagan custom of old when the Druids, the ancient priests, performed their mystical rites upon their forest altars.

The cutting and burning of the Yule log is, today, as important as a feature of the Christmas celebrations of the manor homes of "Merrie England" as it was before the world knew the meaning of a true Christian observance of the season. The cheery, heart-ening salutation "Merry Christmas!" originated in England. This greeting has never been known to fail in bringing a smile to even the most woe-begone countenance.

And an English Christmas is, indeed, a wonderful thing to experience. Even the very tales of the Englishman's Yuletide make our hearts beat faster and our imaginations run riot. The time has not yet arrived when Dickens' "Christmas Carol" with its descriptions of the Christmas market stalls with their long rows of hanging geese decorated with bunches of sage and onions, of tarts, puddings and sweetmeats will lose its delicious charm and mouth-watering powers.

And who can write about Christmas without thinking of the humble, though none the less delectable dinner presided over by proud Bob Cratchet—and Tiny Tim seated at the board with his frail, small fingers clasping his spoon and repeating honest Bob's blessing as he gazed upon his adoring family—"God bless us, every one!" Poor little Tim with his crutch across his knee!

Some authorities state that the Christmas tree as we know it originated in Scandinavia. Others claim that the Germans first made use of it. Certain it is that we, in our own land, did not have our brightly decorated trees until after the German immigrant arrived.

Christmas carols are sung in many lands; in England, in France where they are called "noels," in Wales, Ireland and Italy and in many other countries. In Italy, at the season of Advent, the Calabrian shepherds troop down from their hills and chant their unusual mountain songs in the cities. The word "carol" is derived from "contare," meaning to sing and "rola," an interjection of joy; therefore it is not a musical form peculiarly belonging to Christmas, although it is usually associated with this season. One of the most ancient, if not the very oldest carol of a religious nature is the exquisite, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night." It was written by Nahum Tate, England's poet laureate in 1692.

Quaint old English carols that are still sung are: "God Rest You, Merry Gentlemen," "Good King Wenceslas" and "The Holly and Ivy." These were sung by the waits who went from house to house in the old days. A whole book could be made interesting by recounting the customs of the ancient carol singers of the different lands.

In connection with the Christmas candle which has been used as a beautiful symbol in many countries from ancient days to the present it is interesting to know that even the gypsies, those wandering, mysterious vagabonds of unknown origin and self-confessed paganism, have a legend about a burning candle that was set at a certain season to light the way of a mother and child across the darkness of a desert land. This legend is to be found somewhere in an old book—perhaps it was recounted by George Borrow—but the writer of these lines has been unable to locate it again.

After all, it is the spirit of any observance that truly counts.

His Nimble Brush Gives "Personality" to Dolls

DOLLS, to be alluring and real happiness makers for little girls, must have "personality" in their makeup. So says Harry Polgnar, who claims the distinction of being the only doll artist in Maryland and one of the few in America.

Polgnar loves his work of painting and, as he terms it, giving "personality" to hundreds of dolls each week. Eyebrows, carmine lips, rosy cheeks—these are his artistry. They make the doll attractive—just like the real girls of to-day dress up their eyebrows, lips and cheeks.

STATE COMMISSION OF FORESTRY

Less than four per cent of the territory included in the organized forestry districts of the State was burned over during the recent prolonged drought. The State Commission of Forestry regards this as conclusive evidence of the practicability of forest fire prevention.

Up to the time that general rains greately abated the fire hazard, approximately two million avres were comprised within the eight range district that had been established. These districts included parts of fourteen counties. Each district is laid out according to the character of the forest growth, the degree of fire hazard and the availability of suitable natural or artificial boundries. Thus there may be more than one district wholly within a single county, or parts of two or more counties included in a single district.

In the unorganized portions of the State outsde the estabished territory, a separate and detailed report upon each fire is prepared by the State forestry employees. For the outside areas slower and more difficult statistical methods are necessary; consequently a close estimate is not yet aviable. It is evident, however, that the proportion of area burned is in neighborhood of six to eight times higher than in the protected districts.

The consideration thus far in the establishment of forestry district have been the possibility of damage to young timber and the assurance of cooperation on the part of the local community. Additional districts are in progress of organization, and ultimately it is hoped to have most of the timber growing areas of the State covered by the forest fire prevention system.

OLIVER MULLINS WRITES

Editor The Union-Banner:

As I have been shut in for some time with severe colds, among other things, I have been thinking of the state of Chilton County. Having past my 83rd year, I am assured that the time that remains for me is short, and so I desire to express myself as feeling glad that our country has made the improvement that it has, though much remains to be done, as I see it. All citizens should stand by our sheriff in the discharge of his duties in the enforcement of the law. I feel that he is doing his whole duty.

If the prayers and tears of mithers will not suffice, to what can we look but the strict enforcement of the law, that we may have peaceful homes.

BIBLE LECTURE

Dr. Arthur Edwards of Birmingham will deliver two Bible lectures at Mars Hill school building, 5 miles west of Jemison, the first Sunday in January at 10:45 a. m. and 2 p. m. The Doctor is a Chilton County boy, an able and fluent speaker. All invited.

GETS PLEASANT SURPRISE

"About 6 months ago my father was very sick with his stomach, which had been troubling him for several years. Three doctors said he had cancer and one said it was gall stones—all agreed an operation necessary, but on account of his age I was afraid to risk it. I told a friend about it who said his wife had been through the same trouble and had been cured by taking Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I at once bought a bottle for father and he is now as strong as a bear and can eat more ham and cabbage than any 3 men." It removes the catarrhal mucous from the intestinal tract, and allays the inflamation which causes practically all stomach liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded at Aired Drug Co., and all druggists everywhere.

SWIFT CREEK NEWS

I am coming again after a long time. Everybody seems to be enjoying the wet weather. I want to let the people know, through your paper, that there will be a Fruit Supper at Mr. Bud Chadwick's home on Saturday night, December 20. All invited to come for a good time. Mr. Chadwick lives on the Gaines Silas place. I will close for this time, looking for a good crowd out Saturday night. Come and enjoy life!

President Coolidge not only advocates economy for the government, but he practices it as well. The country is very fortunate in having a man at its head who cares for the national treasury. Some presidents have failed to do this.

POOR OR

SOCIETY and Club

Mrs. W. Z. HODGES, Editor.

Shower for Mrs. Marcus.

One of the interesting social events of the season was the miscellaneous shower given by the young people's class of the Methodist Sunday school on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. C. McDavid.

The Christmas idea was artistically carried out throughout the rooms in decorations of holly, bells and cedar.

The bride's book was presided over by Miss. Inez Kittrell.

After two interesting contests the French doors to the dining room opened just as a miniature Santa Claus (impersonated by Olive Rainer Elmore) entered with a huge sack of gifts thrown over her shoulder. The gifts were presented to the bride who sat by a fireplace which represented a typical Christmas scene. The bright red brick was offset by tiny Christmas trees on each side of the hearth. Two red candles burned on the mantle where the center piece was snow tipped cedar and holly. The scene was completed by Christmas bells hanging from each end of the mantle and a huge red stocking bulging with gifts.

A delicious salad course was served at the conclusion of the party.

The invited guests were friends of the bride among the younger set and the teachers of the Methodist Sunday school.

Mrs. P. D. Wilson Entertains.

Mrs. P. D. Wilson entertained last Friday afternoon at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Willie Higgins, bride-elect.

Mrs. Arthur Johnson greeted the guests and presented them to the receiving line composed of Mrs. P. D. Wilson, Miss Willie Higgins,, Mrs. D. C. Alred, Mrs. L. H. Reynolds and Miss Josephine Pattillo. The guests were then ushered by Mrs. Wilbur Hayes and Mrs. Harvie Chandler into private dining room where they were served punch by Miss Exa Jones and Miss Mary Sims. Then the guests were shown into the library where Mrs. Hance Alred had charge of the bride's register.

Mrs. L. C. Ross sang "Love Nest," accompanied by Mrs. Percy Pitts, while Little Mary Wallace and Jane Pitts, dressed as fairies, led the bride down matrimony road to Happy Town and seated her under a beautiful holly tree which contained a large bird's nest. A cage of birds were turned loose and "Go Feather Your Nest" was sung, while the two little fairies presented the gifts to the bride.

The home was decorated in red and green. The dining room was especially beautiful, the columns being entwined with smilax and the lights showered with mistletoe and moss.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Guy Roberts, Mrs. Grady Broadhead, Mrs. J. E. Gowan and Mrs. Penton served charlotte and cake to seventy-five guests.

Mrs. J. P. Hayes will entertain the Y. W. A. on next Wednesday afternoon.

Wednesday Card Club.

On last Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Willis Lyman entertained the members of the Wednesday Card club and a few other friends. The home wah beautiful with growing plants and carnations. After several games of bridge were played the top score was held by Mrs. Grady Reynolds, who was given two linen handkerchiefs. At a late hour a salad plate was served members and guests who were: Mrs. Hance Alred, Mrs. Victor Heard, Mrs. John Browder, Mrs. Hugh Simpson, Mrs. N. S. Johnson, Mrs. L. F. Gerald, Mrs. Frank Callen, Mrs. Arthur Johnson and Miss Kathleen Mullins. The guests were: Mrs. Elizabeth Higgins, Mrs. John VanDerveer, Mrs. Rockwell and Miss Madelyn Orr.

Y. W. A. Meets.

Miss Sarah Cox entertained the Y. W. A. Society on last Wednesday afternoon. There being no special business the afternoon was spent in having a good time. Delicious refreshments were served late in the afternoon.

Miss Alee Stewart of Jacksonville, Fla., is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

Mr. S. C. Matthews will leave Friday for his home in Florence, S. C., where he will spend the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. Dr. Hayes and Mrs. Dick Hayes motored to Montgimery Tuesday.

Mrs. John Browder and Mrs. Hugh Simpson motored to Montgomery on last Tuesday.

Mrs. Clint Jones and two sons from Asheville N. C., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A. Curry.

Mrs. Lee Smith and Mrs. Rhuben Lowe spent Tuesday in Montgomery shopping.

Mesdames Frank Callen and Hugh Jones visited the Capital City Tuesday.

MULBERRY NEWS

We are going to give a short program and a Christmas tree at Mulberry Tuesday night, December 23rd beginning at 5:00 o'clock hanging the presents on the tree, and the program begins at 7:30 o'clock. Be sure and have your presents there before 7:30 o'clock if you want them on the tree. Come and surprise your friends by having a present on the tree for them.

There will be a committee at the door to receive your presents and hang them on the tree for you.

Sideache Backache

"I have been taking Cardui," says Mrs. Lillie Bolton, of Lake Providence, La. "I got down in bad health and lost in weight until I only weighed 120 pounds. I had bad pains in my sides and back and my legs hurt me until I couldn't walk. I stayed in bed half the time. I tried all kinds of medicine, but it did me no good. Finally I tried

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"It seems like it did me good from the very first. After I had taken half a bottle I noticed an improvement. I continued its use and I got better and better. The pains in my legs and sides disappeared and I began to gain in weight until now I weigh 155 pounds and feel better than I ever did in my life. I am perfectly well and strong. I have given it to my girls, too."

Cardui has relieved many kinds of pains and distressing symptoms caused by female trouble. It should help you, too, in the same way. Why not give it a fair trial? E 103

CHILTON CASES AFFIRMED BY SUPREME COURT TUESDAY

The following cases appealed to the Supreme Court from the Circuit Court of Chilton County were passed upon by the Supreme Court of Alabama the first of this week:

T. S. Peavey vs. State, Affirmed.
Esco Smith vs. State, Affirmed.
Lum Rasberry vs. State, Affirmed.
Millard Ratliff vs. State, Affirmed.
Benjamin Easterling vs. State, Affirmed.
Albert Barnett vs. State, Affirmed.

COUNTY'S LOVING CUP TO BE DISPLAYED OVER THE COUNTY

The lovng cup recently awarded Chilton County by the League of Women Voters of Alabama, for having polled the greatest percentage of its votes in the general election, will be sent to different parts of the county and put on display in some public place, so as to give everybody in the county a chance to see it. The cup is now on display at the Upchurch Drug Company, where it will remain for a few days. After this, it will be sent to other towns of the county and kept at each place for a few days. All the voters of the county should make it a point to see this cup, since it belongs to every citizen of the county. It is a very beautiful gift, and the county should feel proud of it, and especially we should feel proud of the record which won the cup.

CONCORD PEOPLE WILL REBUILD SCHOOL HOUSE

Shortly after the Concord School House burned two months ago, the citizens of that community pitched in and went to work toward the rebuilding of the house. The plans are not complete yet, but their untiring efforts have awarded them great progress along the line of financing the scheme. It is hoped that all the money will be raised within the next week or so.

The new building will cost a total of $2,900, and will consist of four or five rooms. The blue print of the building has not been furnished by the State yet, so it is not known exactly what style of building it will be. The new house will not be built where the old one was but will be located about a quarter of a mile east of where the old building was and on the opposite side of the Higgins Ferry Road.

The good people of Concord community have had a mighty hard pull raising this money on such short notice but they got togethed and wirked out a plan to go by and have been working their plan, so their success has been noticeable. The Uunion-Banner commends the work these people have done for the education of their children, and we bespeak for the help and co-operation of the neighboring communities.

UNION-BANNER BARGAIN PERIOD OVER HALF GONE

The dollar-a-year rate for The Union-Banner in clubs of three or more is over half gone. We have received very gratifying results from this special offer, but there are others who ought to take advantage of it. If you want the paper for one dollar, don't wait till after the first of the year and expect to get it, because this offer positively closes after this month. After January 1st, 1925, the price will be strictly $1.50, as heretofore So don't sleep over your rights, but take advantage of this opportunity while it is passing

You should read The Union-Banner whether you are a Republican or a Democrat, or whatever you are. Although this paper is Republican through and through yet we are publishing a NEWS paper, and we do our best to make it interesting and worth while, even if politics is altogether disregarded. We do our best to carry all the news of the county whether it be political or otherwise. We believe that even a dollar and a half a year is dirt cheap for the class paper we are getting out, and you should grab at the chance of getting it for one dollar even in clubs of three or more.

In getting up your club remember that at least two-thirds of the names must be new subscribers

LIVED 18 DAYS WITH ITS HEAD CUT OFF

Some may not believe this report, but if you are in doubt about it ask H. C. Johnson for he kept watch every day and will vouch for it.

A turtle after having its head completely cut off with an axe would move and stand on its feet for eighteen days. This turtle was dug from under the mud in a branch near where Thompson was running a little saw mill on J. W. Mims' land. Its head was cut off on the 20th day of November and the end of its life finally came on the 8th day of December. There were also several other witnesses to this.

Mr. Green Retherford went to Birmingham Monday on business.

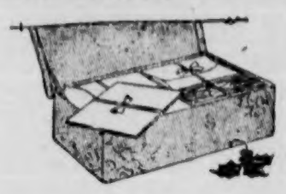
WHAT WILL I GIVE FOR CHRISTMAS?

[HERE IS LIGHT ON THE DARK QUESTION]

Many a holiday present might just as well bear the tag, "Forget it." Something to wear is the gift in 1924 that isn't forgotten in 1925. How can a person put out of their mind what they put on their back, neck, hands or feet? It unites the essential elements of the perfect purchase. There is unlimited usefulness to the one who receives and a limited price to the one who gives. The waste that is shocking to the good old Christmas stocking is the cash squandered on trash. This year, where you be a man buying for a man, or whether you be the head of the house—women—in quest of a rememberance for the head of the house, chooses Gifts To Wear. They will raise one in their own respect and you in theirs and will make them subscribe all the more resolutely to the creed— "DRESS WELL AND SUCCEED"

YOUR wishes encased in a pretty Sweater are doubly warm and welcome.

SHIRTS are Old Bosom Friends of the Holiday Gift seeker. We have a complete assortment.



HANDKERCHIEFS will brighten up his breast pocket and disposition. COLORFUL SCARFS are the closest Christmas Tie-up. Get his here.

WIDE-AWAKE Christmas shoppers choose Pajamas first of all.

Strawberry Meeting Held Here Saturday

Several Attended Meeting and Agree to Try Out Raising of Strawberries on Farms.

As announced in The Union-Banner last week, the people of the County interested in the raising of strawberries met together at the court house last Saturday and discussed among themselves the best methods and plans for raising the crop in this section. Quite a number of farmers from over the county attended the meeting.

Messrs. J. M. Benson, J. M. Smith and Lee Smith, who have had experience in growing strawberries attended, and each expressed himself as being very enthusiastic toward the planting of from one to three acres of strawberries on the farm next year. Of those present, J. M. Willis, J. C. Connell, J. B. Gillespie, I. Leslie, Ben Jones, Arthur S. Gwathney, L. Dewitt Easterling, N. G. Carroll, W. S. Willis, J. Hardy Jones, R. E. Jones, W. B. Cox, W. C. Moore and J. N. Dennis each expressed himself as expecting to put out new plants for from one-fourth acre to three acres each this coming year.

Arrangements have been made by J. N. Dennis, O. H. Mastin, and J. M. Smith to handle orders for plans, so anyone wanting plants should place their orders with one of these gentlemen before January 1st, so that the plants will be ready for delivery by February 1st or 15th.

Last year Mr. Elijah Headley, who lives on the Lock 12 Road out a few miles from town raised on a little less than an acre enough strawberries to net him 423.50. This figure is equavalent to about four bales of cotton, and the crop matures much earlier and with a great deal less work. There are other instances which we could mention which are similar in production to this, and there could be lots more if our people would only break away from so much cotton and try strawberries.

It is reported that over 50,000 plants have been ordered already, and it is hoped that before February 1st there will be at least that many more. If you want plants, see one of the gentlemen named above and get them to put your order in for them.

As expresed in the meeting Saturday and as shown by actual experience, strawberries can be grown in this section very advantageously. People have already succeeded with small patches of them, and the same can be done with larger areas of them. It is hoped that our farmers will try out this crop and see for themselves that it is a very paying proposition, and the growing of them is very easy and cheap.

A full share of Happiness, a contented heart, a cup running over with joy, is our wish to everyone, on this, the anniversary of the day which gave man his only redemption from a life of turmoil and strife, to one of tranquility. Let each and every one remember that the term "Christmas" does not mean rioting, which might bring suffering, but rather suggests an era of peace quiet, and good feeling, as was suggested in the anthem of rejoicing on that memorable night nineteen hundred twenty-four years ago, "Peace on earth, good will toward men." Though the Christmas seasons you have numbered in the past be great or small, it is our hope that the future holds many for each and every one. Though each Christmas season in the past may have been better and brighter than the last, we hope that this one may be remembered as the best and brightest of them all. As the years fade into the past, may you come to love and esteem each of your fellow-men more, as age and experience come to bring judgment and respect. So, with hearts overflowing with thankfulness for any friends we may have made, and with regret for, and forgiveness of any enemies we may have made, on this the one thousand nine hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the greatest epoch in the history of the world, we bid you "A MERRY CHRISTMAS."

CHRISTMAS TREE FOR BEAT 11

On Thursday night, December 25th., Christmas night, the local Republican leaders will give an old fashion Christmas tree at Cane Creek to the boys and girls of Beat 11 up to eighteen years of age. This tree is given by the Republican leaders in appreciation of the 100 per cent loyalty of the Republicans of Beat 11, when in the last election every vote cast in that precinct was in behalf of the Republican ticket. Not only did they vote solid for the Republican ticket, but they all voted in unanimity on each of the amendments submitted. This is a nice tribute on the part of local leaders to the spirit of Republicanism of Beat 11.

We are authorized to state that the tree will be open to the entire public and anyone who wishes to place a present on the tree for a friend is cordially invited to do so. All the people of the precinct are urged to be present as it is expected that Santa Claus will remember the voters as well as the boys and girls.

The Union-Banner extends it's hearty greetings to the people of Beat 11, and urge that they attend. Make it an occasion long to be remembered and let nothing be said or done that will in any way mar the pleasure of the occasion. Leave behind those things which have a tendency to disturb the joy of such occasions as this will be.

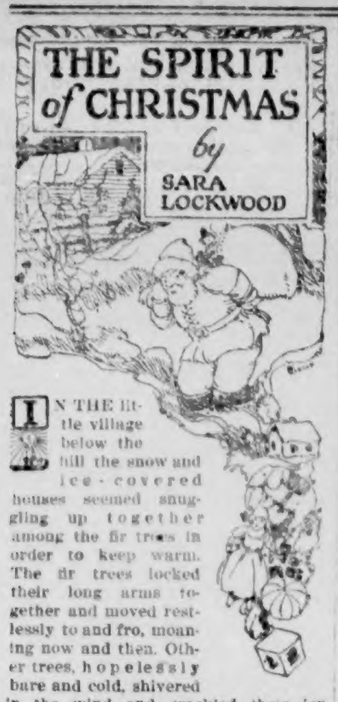
THE SPIRIT of CHRISTMAS

by SARA LOCKWOOD



IN THE little village below the hill the snow and ice-covered houses seemed snuggling up together among the fir trees in order to keep warm. The fir trees locked their long arms together and moved restlessly to and fro, moaning now and then. Other trees, hopelessly bare and cold, shivered in the wind and crackled their icy branches. The beautiful Lady of the Snow with all her Snowflake Imps in attendance flitted about the village street, sliding gayly down the shop windows and flirting with the passers-by.

The Man and the Child made their way through the drifts toward the group of houses. The Child ran and danced about, now in front, now behind the Man, shouting and laughing. She loved the white old Winter and in return Winter had commanded all his subjects to be kind to her. So the Snow Lady kissed and caressed her and the Snowflakes played about her merrily, touching her cheeks softly and making them rosy.

But the Man hated Winter and now he hurried along, giving no heed to the beauties about him, wishing only for the warm fire in his cottage. The Snow Lady tried all her charms on him, but he only pulled his muffler tighter about his throat and his cap more firmly upon his head and went on. Then the Snowflake Imps flew at him furiously. They stung his face and buried themselves inside his muffler. The North Wind tormented him, too, blowing up his sleeves and twisting his great coat about his knees until he stumbled and muttered under his breath. When the Child laughed at him and would have thrown snow in his face, he reproved her gruffly.

The Man was threshing over in his mind a question he had discussed with the Woman only the week before. They had decided to have no Christmas this year. It was foolish, very foolish to wear one's self out thinking and planning presents for all one's relatives and friends for months before, and then perhaps not be ready when Christmas came. They would not allow their child to keep her belief in the foolish Santa Clause myth which they had told her so long ago.

This was the hardest part, for both the Man and the Woman dreaded to tell the Child, and they put off the task as long as possible. Now it was Christmas Eve and the Man had promised to tell the Child as they visited the shops. But she had been so delighted with the array of toys heaped in windows and on counters, so happy in thinking Santa would bring her some of these wonderful playthings, that he could not bring himself to tell her Santa would never visit her again. And yet he must. She would soon get over the disappointment and be happier than ever, he told himself. Yes, it was the sensible thing to do, but he would wait and let the Woman tell her.

The Child Ran and Danced About, Shouting and Laughing.

As they neared the cottages the Child threw out her arms joyously as though she would embrace the whole world of Snowflakes before she left them. And they, wild with delight, fought for a place upon her little hood and shoulders that she might carry them away with her.

"Oh, Mother, Mother, the Snowflakes have played with me and have told me the prettiest stories," cried the Child as she drew the Woman's hand across her cold, damp cheek. "And I have seen Santa Claus. He is visiting the shops now but he promised to come here tonight." She stood on her toes and clapped her hands in her excitement, and the words tumbled over one another as she tried to tell of all the beautiful toys she had seen.

The Woman sighed and looked reproachfully at the Man. So he had not told the Child. Why did he always put it off and leave it for her to do? The long discussions on the subject, the dread of spoiling the Child's happiness and the arguments as to which should tell her, had unsettled the Woman, usually so gentle and even tempered. She was vexed. She turned to the Child wearily, a little impatiently. She would tell her now.

"Dear, haven't you learned yet that there is no Santa Claus? You will not hang up your stockings tonight, for he isn't coming to fill them."

Then as the Child stood looking at her with wild, wondering eyes, she exclaimed, "Why do you stare at me so? Don't you see we have been playing make-believe with you all these years? There is no Santa Claus, and you are old enough now to forget such foolish stories. It is expensive and tiresome to keep up this farce and we have decided never to have Christmas again."

To the Child it was all a strange muddle. Something dreadful had happened, but as yet she could not understand what it was.

"No Santa— But I have just seen him, Mother. He talked to me this afternoon at the shops."

Wrought up as she was, the Woman's voice sounded cold and unfeeling. "Go to bed now. You will understand better in the morning."

The Child obeyed silently. All her joyousness was gone. The laughter had died out of her eyes and in its place

"I Wish We Had Never Heard of Christmas!"

there was wonder and hurt. But she could not talk about it now.

When the Woman left her in the white bed by the window, she cautiously opened it so the Snowflakes could come in. And then, with a great sob, she told them her troubles.

In the big room with the bay window, the Man paced restlessly back and forth and the Woman sat by the table with workbasket and mending. But her hands lay listlessly in her lap and she gazed into the fire.

Once her face brightened and she murmured aloud, "But Father and Mother never forgot us, and of course they will send something for the Child—"

The Man wheeled about with a scowl. "We won't receive anything from them. Do you think we would accept presents, when we are not sending any? I have written them that we are not to have any more Christmas celebrations."

"Oh," gasped the Woman. "You do not mean we must send back everything we get?"

The Man hesitated. Then, as though he were sick of the subject, "I don't know. It is all your doing. It is you who has nervous prostration at Christmas after worrying about presents."

"I do not," she denied hotly. "And you suggested this anyway. I wish we had never heard of Christmas!"

Their Christmas Eve was spent in quarreling, and that night they dreamed of horrible plots that Santa was planning against them.

A pale moon with icicles on his whiskers watched over the little village. The Snow Lady was asleep and the Snowflake Imps had settled down to rest. One cottage gleamed colder and whiter than the others and seemed to stand apart as though not of them. The Spirit of Christmas tried the door softly.

"Why, it is barred against me!" he murmured sadly. "This will never do."

So he walked about looking for a place to get in until he came to the window where the Child slept. Tenderly he sprinkled happiness and joy upon her until her lips parted in a smile. Then he flew past her to where the Man and the Woman slept. To them he gave of all his essences.

The Woman wakened first, and with strange new feelings, she called the Man. They gazed long at each other.

"Merry Christmas," whispered the Woman.

And with wonder and joy, peace and good will all mingled together, the Man took her in his arms.

"We must have Christmas, after all," he said. And the Woman nodded, her eyes beaming with happiness. "I must go to the shops and bring Santa Claus for the Child before she wakes."

"Wait," cried the Woman, and laughing, she brought from their hiding place an assortment of beautiful toys. "Mother and Father sent them and I just couldn't send them back."

With shining faces and happy hearts, the Man and the Woman hung stockings by the fireplace and heaped them with playthings.

"We will tell her she had a bad dream," said the Man.

"No," said the Woman softly. "We will tell her that Santa is the good Christmas fairy, who will always be welcome here."

The "Water Cure" for Volstead Law Violators

THIS is a new kind of "penalty" meted out to men who can't leave intoxicating beverages alone. It was tried out in Cleveland, Ohio, recently when Police Judge Samuel Silbert offered six fellows—who had been arrested for not being able to walk a chalk line—the alternative of 30 days in the workhouse or drinking 20 glasses of water a day.

The unlucky half a dozen didn't know what a job they had on their hands when they elected the water. The first ten glasses were all right, but the second ten "seemed sorter unnecessary"—as one of them put it.

The photo shows Probation Officer Filocco supplying the water to two of the recalcitrants.

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

Talladega's new $500,000 water system was put out of commission when the bottom literally dropped out of the 2,000,000 gallon storage reservoir. As a result the water in the big container was emptied in about three minutes. Cost of the big concrete bowl alone is estimated at $100,000. The hole in the bottom of the reservoir is large enough to place a two-story residence. Cause of the bottom giving away is a puzzle to citizens of the city. The reservoir is located on a hill four miles from the city. Oldest citizens know nothing of any cavern that existed there. Where the water went after the cave-in is a mystery.

The Colbert County Medical society elected officers for the ensuing year at a meeting held in the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce. Dr. G. F. Littlepage was chosen president, Dr. E. W. Gray, vice president, Dr. J. P. Long secretary-treasurer, and Dr. D. T. Boozer, censor, all of Sheffield. At this meeting the medical society expressed themselves as being desirous of having an adequate hospital erected in the Muscle Shoals district and pledged themselves to sponsor a movement looking to its erection.

Barney Hood, of Whorton Bend, won the first prize, a gold watch, for the best farm work among the 71 members of the Etowah County Boys' Pig, Cow, Poultry, Cotton and Corn Club. Disque Daniel, of Webb; Clemon Naylon, of Sand Valley; Tom Lowe, of Coats Bend; R. C. McLain, of Hokes Bluff; Edwin Powell, of Webb, and Cecil Baugh, of Smokneck, were the other winners. Young Hood raised cotton and pigs and is said to have made a wonderful showing.

The following enumerators have been appointed in Marion County to take the agricultural census among the farmers: L. D. Nichols, T. M. Carter, W. W. Watts, W. R. Orbirn, W. S. Tidwell, J. D. Gregg, Ira L. Hughes and M. B. Shirey. These men will complete the work under the direction of M. H. Laws, supervisor of Birmingham, within the next two months.

A joint brief to be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission against the tentative report of the examiner in recommending that the Interstate Commerce Commission raise the state rates on iron and steel from Birmingham to Mobile to correct alleged discrimination against Pensacola, has been prepared by R. G. Cobb, Traffic Manager of the Mobile Chamber of Commerce, and Hugh White, special counsel to the Alabama Public Service Commission. This is the first step in the fight against the proposed cancellation of the state rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

ROAD BUILDING IN ALABAMA

The one important problem before the people of Alabama today is the need of providing ways and means to continue the road building program for the people of Alabama. The $25,000,000.00 Bond Issue will be all allotted in the year of 1925 and 1926. Then the building of roads would have to cease for the want of ways and means. Many of our good friends, when the $25,000,000.00 Bond Issue was being submitted to the people, were skeptical that the money would be a charge and an obligation on the real and personal property. The automobile license pays the interest on this issue and creates a sinking fund to retire the bonds and there has been $1,400,000.00 of this issue already retired, which is the first evidence that this will not be a charge on the personal or real property of the people of Alabama.

There are 160,000 automobiles and trucks in Alabama and due to the roads and bridges over which they travel, they pay $48,000,000.00 a year more than they should. How do I show this gigantic sum of money? The answer is the consumption of gas and lubricating oil is 40 per cent more than it should be. There are three repair bills due to the road conditions. With better roads, we could save two of these repair bills. The destruction of the tire and tube is 40 per cent more than it should be and the wear and tear and life of the car and truck and those four items make an average of $300.00 per annum per car. You multiply that by 160,000 cars and it makes the sum of $48,000,000.00. This is a larger tax that these 160,000 tax and license payers pay than it takes to run the combined State government, county and city government, including the income tax to the federal government.

My idea is that a $75,000,000.00 Bond Issue should be financed by a gasoline tax. The gasoline tax is the cheapest way to collect. There can be no escape like the automobile license or other personal property and the man that uses the roads ought to pay for them and he cannot travel any further than the amount of gas he buys. Besides, we have 40,000 or 50,000 automobiles and trucks come from other states and use our roads and they pay nothing to the wear and tear of the roads and they cannot travel over our roads any further than the amount of gas they buy. Thereby you get revenue from that source.

We must approach this problem with vision and courage. The horse drawn vehicle was a local proposition calling out statute labor and local taxation to build local roads. The coming of the automobile and the auto truck has changed these conditions. It is no longer a neighborhood road problem. The roads are used from every county in the State and from every state in the Union and many from Canada. Good roads have created business for the railroads, as well as every other social and commercial activity for the people of Alabama.

In 1912, when President Finley of the Southern & Mobile & Ohio Railroads, addressed the Good Roads Convention at Birmimngham, that I had the honor of being chairman of, he said in part that he accepted my invitation to address the Convention because Good Roads would be feeders to the railroads and it was cheaper for them to become interested than for them to build ap railways. This railroad prophet's statemen has come true. There are 15,000,000 automobiles and trucks in the United States and the railroads are the most prosperous in their history.

I have no personal interest other than the help to take the people of Alabama out of the mud and that I might travel on roads that are profitable and save $275.00 a year on my car and I am willing to pay gasoline tax as user of the roads.

Please give this publicity.

Yours truly,
JOHN CRAFT.

The new bridge over the Tallapoosa River in Tallapoosa County, on the Florida short route between Alexandor City and Dadeville, will be opened for traffic about January 15, according to information from the state highway department. The cost of the bridge was given at approximately $210,000.

Service on the Alabama River has resumed its regularity with a 16-foot rise of the river due to the recent rains, as reported by Charles Brislin, weather clerk. There is congestion of cotton, cotton-seed and other produce at the landings down river and freight can now be promptly moved.

Carrollton Pen of F. A. Rew Is First In The Auburn Egg-Laying Test

Auburn, Alabama.—With the pen of F. A. Rew, of Carrollton, Ala., in the lead, closely followed by that of Hollywood Poultry Farm, Woodenville, Washington, Alabama's first national egg-laying contest closed its fifth week here with a total production of 6,700 eggs, an average of 19.94 per cent production.

F. A. Rew, of Carrollton, came into first place with a production of 196 eggs to date—a lead of 15 eggs over Hollywood Farm pen, which totaled 181 eggs.

An outbreak of chicken pox which swept over the contest during the last two weeks hit the highest producing pens the hardest, and this accounts for the low production. The disease, it is believed, has done its worst damage. The birds, as a flock, look better than they did a week ago, and it is believed the second month will show a good increase in production.

The first Alabama egg-laying demonstration is being conducted by poultrymen, county agents, home demonstration agents, poultry specialists and many others who are interested in developing a bigger and more profitable poultry business. The objects are to stimulate a greater interest in economic poultry production and to impress upon the minds of the people the value of proper feeding, housing, breeding and management of poultry. All the 960 hens in the contest are being housed and fed alike, Jazz poultry feed, manufactured by W. M. Crosby Flour & Grain Company, being the official feed adopted for the contest.

W. J. Hagood, Third

W. J. Hagood, of Town Creek, Ala., has come third with a production of 80 eggs for the week, and 171 to date.

Mrs. Alice T. Peart, of Loxley, Ala., owner of pen No. 16, holds fourth place. Mrs. Peart has some wonderful birds, but like several other good pens, her birds had a very severe case of pox. If they come back she will yet make it a hot race.

W. E. Pyles, of Maysville, Ky., and Happy Poultry Yards, of Memphis, Tenn., occupy fifth and sixth place, with a production of 151 and 154, respectively.

The Ancona pen owned by the Evergreen Poultry Yards made a good record for the week. A count of 37 for the seven-day period, with a total of 118 to date.

Mr. Gullatt, of Dothan, Ala., owner of the 10 Reds in pen No. 86, still holds the lead in his class, with a production of 132 eggs to date.

Hats off to Judge Sam High, of Asheville, Ala., owner of pen No. 95; 10 Buff Orpington pullets, with a production of 29 eggs for the week, a total of 149 to date.

Total production to date ..... 6,700 eggs
Production for fourth week ..... 1,107 eggs

Surprise Shower.

On last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Q. Wade, the Y.W.A. girls gave Miss Mayme Smith a surprise shower. Mayme was called by Mrs. Wade to go to ride, and when she walked into the living room there were many and useful gifts presented to her by the Y. W. A. society. Late in the afternoon the hostess served a plate luncheon to the guests.

Y. W. A. Meets.

On last Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Hayes entertained in honor of the Y. W. A. society. The handsome home was beautifully decorated in growing plants and carnations. The usual business was discussed after which a very interesting program was rendered by Miss Mary Wise and Miss Pearl Miner, on "Christian Meditation." After a late hour, refreshments were served the members and guests.

Smith-Higgins Wedding.

On Sunday morning, Dec. 21, 1924, the marriage of Miss Mamie Clifford Smith and Mr. Robert Flemmon Higgins was quietly solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Mamie Smith. The ceremony was performed by Dr. S. J. Ezell, pastor of 1st Baptist church and was witnessed by only a few relatives and close friends of the bride and groom.

The bride was attired in a brown crepe dress with accessories to match. She wore a corsage of bride's roses and valley lillies.

The happy couple left on No. 2 for Birmingham and other points. They will be at home in Clanton after the 25th.

Higgins-Reynolds Wedding.

A marriage of unusual interest to their many friends was that of Miss Willie Higgins and Mr. Omar Reynolds, which was solemnized at the First Baptist church on last Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, Dec. 18, 1924.

The marriage ceremony, with the impressive ring service, was performed by Rev. C. C. Wilkerson, assisted by Dr. S. J. Ezell.

The church was decorated in Woodland greenery with emblems of snow and ferns banked on the altar with numerous white tapers interspersed.

A program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. L. C. Ross, Mr. Percy Pitts and Mrs. Pitts at the piano.

The ushers and groomsmen were: Grover Walker, Claud Reynolds, a brother of the groom, Clay Marcus, Otto Jones, John Deramus and Frank Mullins. The bridesmaids were: Miss Willodean Reynolds and Miss Josephine Allen. Miss Eugenia, Etta and Frances Reynolds were gowned in pastel crepe dresses trimmed with silver lace.

The maid of honor, Hazel Moore, wore a flesh chiffon dress with silver lace trimmings.

All the attendants carried arm clusters of pink Killarney roses tied with silver shades of tulle. The bride was preceded by two dainty flower girls, Olive Rainer Elmore and Helen Newell. The ring bearer, Master Callen Alred carried the ring in a huge white rose.

The bride entered with her uncle, Mr. R. A. Guy of Montgomery, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. John Newell, brother-in-law of the groom. Miss Higgins was beautiful in white duchess satin trimmed with pearls and rhinestones. The bride's veil of tulle was showered with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and valley lillies.

The bride is the accomplished and well known daughter of Mrs. D. C. Alred of Clanton. The groom, Mr. Reynolds, is a prominent young attorney of Clanton.

Immediately after the marriage, Mrs. Harvie Chandler gave a reception for the bridal party, after which Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds went to their new home on Eighth Steet.

Mr. S. C. Matthews left last Friday for Florence, S. C., where he will spend Christmas with parents.

Miss Jack Stevens left Friday for Greenville, where she will spend the holidays with friends.

Mr. Tom Jones of Montgomery, who is a cotton buyer for Weil Bros., will be home Wednesday to spend several days with relatives and friends.

Sam Upchurch came home Friday from Anniston to spend Xmas.

Miss Eugenia Etter of Warrior, attended the Higgins-Reynolds wedding here last Thursday.

Miss Josephine Allen of Gainsville, Ga., was one of the bridal party of Miss Willie Higgins' wedding.

Miss Willodean Reynolds is home for the holidays from Montevallo, where she is attending school.

Miss Irene Jones, who is teaching at Bessemer, will spend Xmas with relatives and friends in Clanton.

Miss Sarah Mullins from Montevallo will spend Christmas with relatives and friends in Clanton.

Jim Wade came home from Anniston last Friday to spend the holidays.

Miss Mary Upchurch is home from New Orleans to spend the holidays.

Miss Lurline Harper, who is teaching at Munford, is home to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Harper.

Prof. Stevens left Friday for Atlanta, where he will spend two weeks.

Miss Sophia Mullins is home from the University at Madison, Wisconsin, where she is attending school.

Mrs. Jake Shephard and daughter, Ruth, of Birmingham, are visiting relatives and friends in Clanton.

Dr. S. J. Ezell and family left Sunday afternoon for South Carolina to spend Christmas with his father and mother.

Mrs. J. M. Potts returned Sunday, after a week's visit with her sister in Hartselle.

Miss Sallye Johnson, who has been in school at Randolph-Macon, Va., will spend the Xmas. holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. N. S. Johnson.

TO ALL MY PATRONS:---

I wish to express my sincere thanks for the most loyal patronage given me during the cotton season just closed, and rejoice with you, that, taken as a whole, this has been one of the best years since the World War.

Let's all be truly thankful for the many blessings enjoyed in 1924, and pledge our best efforts towards co-operating with each other in the interest of our homes, schools, churches and our County in 1925.

Again thanking you, one and all, for past evidences of your co-operation and patronage, and with the hope that I have merited a continuation of same in the future, I wish for each of you a Merry Christmas and success during the year 1925.

Yours to serve,

J. N. DENNIS

ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS

A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Theo Lacey, former state employe, now serving a second sentence for embezzlement of state funds, was affected by a ruling of the supreme court which holds that time off for good behavior where a prisoner is serving more than one sentence should be deducted from each sentence and not on the basis of the aggregate sentences. The decision was made in the case of Ben Jones, Montgomery county convict. The supreme court holds that each sentence is begun separately and that time off cannot be considered until a sentence had been started.

The population of Anniston at the opening of 1925, five years after the last federal census, is 22,168, an increase of 4,434, or 25 per cent over the 17,734 shown by the United States enumeration of January, 1920, according to a survey just completed for The Anniston Star. The public school enrollment shows an increase of 1,063 over 1920, when 2,581 pupils were enrolled compared to the 3,644 at the close of 1924. The number of dwellings as given in the recent survey is 4,229 compared to the 3,383 of the 1920 census.

The citizens of Sulligent have organized a Chamber of Commerce.

State Senator John Craft, of Mobile, has foun danother argument for use in favor of hard surfaced roads. According to Senator Craft, 75 per cent of the engine trouble in automobiles charged ot carbon is caused by sand, dust and grit, which is sucked up by the motor on sand, clay and gravel roads. This conclusion has been reached as a result of investigations of automobile engineers, Senator Craft stated.

Lee County School Journal is the name of a new 16-page monthly magazine. This periodical is published by the schools of Lee county, and has as editor and business manager, W. Y. Fleming, county superintendent of education. The purpose of the new journal is to enable the schools of the county to get acquainted with each other, and to co-operate in all educational programs for the good of the county.

A dramatic story of how highly recommended oil wells turned out to be dry and how glowing prospects of financial success were snatched away during the "1921 period of depression," was told to a jury in United States court at Birmingham by A. W. Walker, president of the bankrupt Walker Consolidated Petroleum Company, who is being tried jointly with three other officers of the company on charges of misuse of the mails in the sales of $3,000,000 of worthless stock.

The freight rate on asphalt and composition roofing from the Ohio and Mississippi points to Albany and Decatur will soon be reduced about 13 per cent, it was announced by J. H. Smith, traffic expert of the Decatur Cornice & Roofing Company, who attended a hearing in Atlanta in November of the Southern Freight Association.

Marvin Hanvel, George Dutton and Ned Reams were bound over to the grand jury when tried before Recorder Phil Whiteside, of Anniston, on the charge of larceny of a car. Lee Dutton was also bound over to the grand jury on the charge of larceny in connection with stripping the car after it had been stolen. Bond was set at $300 for the four young men.

Shoplifters have been so active in Gadsden during the Christmas shopping that Chief Littlefield stationed five special plainclothes officers in the business district, with orders to keep a sharp lookout for store robberies. Most of the business houses have special officers of their own, but it is said that shoplifting is more pronounced than ever before.

A proposed change in the form of Huntsville's city government from the aldermanic to the commission form was defeated in a special election by a vote of 744 to 142.

The Alabama Public Service Commission in an order granted the petition of the Columbus Electric and Power Company, a Georgia corporation serving a number of east Alabama towns, for authority to issue bonds and notes to a total value of $4,000,000.

Dr. Charles Thigpen, prominent physician of Anniston, has accepted the position as chief of the bureau of food control of the Colbert county health department. He will take up his duties on January 1.

Members of the Auburn Lions turned their semi-annual election officers into a gridiron affair, creating it was freely admitted by students, a standard of mirth seldom equalled by the students in their various "stunt" and initiation parties.

Celebration of the hundredth anniversary of the organization of Helion Lodge, No. 1, Ancient, Free and Accepted Masons, Huntsville, first lodge of the order in Alabama, was held in that city on the evening of December 17.

A DAY EARLY AGAIN

The Union-Banner is coming out early again this week, on account of Christmas comimng on Thursday, our regular publication day. No rural carriers go on Christmas day, so we are getting out all the routes possible Wednesday. And too, the Banner force wanted to get a few days to take Christmas, so we managed to get the paper off our hands as early as possible. If you find anything short about the paper this week or any letters up-side down, just lay the blame on Santa Claus, for you know, Christmas comes only once a year.

The County Commissioners met the first of this week to attend to the County's road business. This session was held a few days early this time in order to get the hands paid off before Christmas.

Philadelphia Ledger—Until the League of Nations shakes off the control of its sordid politicians, forgets selfish nationalisms and puts its faith in justice instead of expediency, we can have neither lot nor part in it.

With some of our Presidents the taking of a trip to Chicago in an ordinary Pululman would have been regarded as a bit of sensationalism and as a bid for support of the "common people." But the act fits in so well with the known Coolidge character that it aroused little comment. The President has always been a frugal liver and is impressing economy on the National Government in a way that has never been brought home to them before. His spurning of special trains and private cars is strictly in keeping with his private and offical life.

"America must constantly be ready to help both at home and abroad where American aid is desired and will be effective," said President Coolidge at Chicago. This is but a restatement of Republican policy from the beginning. America has always stood ready to aid, but it is the Republican belief that American aid can be most effective whtn applied by ourselves independently of any league of nations. Had American strength been dissipated in attempting to carry into execution the various obligations of the league covenant, we would be little better off today than the countries of the Old World and in no position to give no aid of any sort.

This was a lean year for the Democratic rampaign chest. Despite the most frantic appeals by the Davis managers, the flow of contributions was mostly in the direction of the Republican organiations. What more natural, therefore, that the Democrats should seek to have their future campaigns financed by all the taxpayers, be they Republicans, Democrats, Third Party followers, or what not? Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, has drafted this ingenious scheme into the form of a bill which directs appropriations from the National Treasury to defray all future costs of campaigns. With rare naivete he places a limit of $1,000,000 on Presidential campaign expenses, which was considerably more than his party was able to collect in the last contest.

Secretary Davis has curtailed his trip to South America and will return to Washington ten days earlier than he had originally intended. His change of plan may indictate a reconsideration of his decision to retire from the Cabinet on March, 4. It is understood that President Coolidge has urged Mr. Davis to remain at the head of the Labor Department. That Department has never had a chief who took such a keen interest in its affairs or who was actuated by a higher patriotism. Just now, when immigration problems are so pressing, it is especially important that an expert like Mr. Davis should be kept in charge of those matters. By personal inspection of immigrant centers in Europe and of the methods of handling the problem by South American countries, Secretary Davis has acquired a first hand acquaintance of the subject probably possessed by no other citizen.

FREE SPEECH VICTORY

Freedom of speech won a great victory in both England and the United States in the recent elections in both countries. In the campaign in England the radicals sought every opportunity and adopted every means short of murder to break up public meetings where their opponents were trying to discuss the issues with the voters. Even women speakers were made the objects of insults, abuse and assaults. In this country a similar policy was pursued although the violence was not so marked. In one case where the radicals had asked for a joint debtte with a Republican, and this had been granted, the radical speaker was listened to with respect but when the Republican arose to talk his voice was drowned out by radical shouts, hisses, ond other forms of noisy disturbance.

The people of America, like the people of England, believe in freedom of speech, and their disaproval of radical suppression of free speech when they marked their ballots.

'Cause You Must Go Down For Gas

ELI TUCKER'S LETTER

Huckleberry Knob, N. C.,
December 1, 1924.

Edtor The Yellow Jacket,

My dear Sir:—Now that the Ku Klux Klan and other American organizations have rallied to the flag and saved the country from the Catholic Smiths and Near-Catholic Davises for another four years, Mr. Editor, I have been thinking that as a Godfearing man with a normal being's hunger and thirst after righteosness, you would do well to give a little of your valuable space to consideration of the country's real present vital need. You have seen enough of the world to understand that no nation ever long survives its loss of faith. You have read history, well and wisely, and you know that no empire has existed after its reverence for Divine Grace has been supplanted by material wealth and search for the things that perish with the using. Nations, as you well now, Mr. Editor, have existed with imperfect ideals in things spiritual—they have groped darkly but after the true light—but so long as they followed their spiritual ideals faithfully and with their best lights, they have prospered; when they have ignored spiritual supremacy and gone after selfish ends, making greed and gold and glory their gods, they have "perished with all the nations that forgot God." Assyria followed its priests with fervent zeal, and ruled the race. When it began to sneer at divine things, it went the way of all the world. Greece sent her priests chanting in front of her armies as they sang their anthems of praise, and victory crowned their conquests. When her poets and singers began to sneer at national dependence on any higher power than Might, Greece saw her armies beaten and her glories departed. Rome was mistress of the then known world as long as her temples were reared on every hill; when she sent the statue of Caesar to displace that of the lowly Nazarene, she went to wreckage. Spain's galleons pressed their prows against the shores of every seashore on the map, and she claimed them all as her own. But when she lost faith in an Overruling Hand, she became the plaything of weaker nations and a third-rate empire. France reigned the undisputed mistress of the world until she set up the goddess of Reason as her only Higher Authority, and down her tri-colors went, trailing in the dust of defeat. Once Germany was the most religious nation in the world—and the mightiest—but she waxed fat like Jeshurun, and supplanted Luther's Open Bible with the military maxims of Kaiser Bill, and today Germany is the despised and abject object of pity of the world, covered with the dust of her own shame.

I write thus, Mr. Editor, because I have just heard a series of sermons, so-called, by a modern interpreter of the Bible, and it seems to me from this man's popularity that his is a sample of what is being proclaimed from many of the leading pulpits of the country. This government, as President Coolidge has rfequently said, cannot survive on law alone; government is powerless without religion, and religion comes only from hearing the simple Gospel of Jesus Christ preached by saintly and inspired men. If America is to survivie the wreck of nations and the ruin of worlds, it must be because it hears and heeds the Book of books. What is being dished out from many pulpits is not preaching; it is ferbal froth; phrasy nothing; inane twaddle on topics alien to the simple World of Truth. There is a significant warning in the New Testament: I wonder if many preachers remember it, as my faithful wife and I hitch our old horse and buggy and drive miles thru the mountains to listen to one of these widely-advertised spiritual experts as he exhorts from the sacred desk. "How can they be saved without they hear the Word, and how can they hear the Word without a preacher, and how can one preach unless he is sent?" That is the substance of the text. I don't believe, Mr. Editor, that a lot of these newfangled preachers have been sent at all. We need a revival in the pulpits of this land. We need an abject and honest confession from the lips of the "unctious sanctified" that their experiments in theories and dogmas and dissertations is a plain fizzle in effecting the salvation of the world. We need a contrite return of the prophets to the unadorned maxims of Jesus Christ.

It seems to me, Mr. Editor, that there is a specific and very defined purpose and duty for every preacher. How he can msunderstand his divine mission, I don't understand. It is as plain as the people's decision at the polls. The wayfaring man, though a fool, much less a minister, need not err therein. There is but one direct military command from the Commander-General of the forces of Righteousness, and He issued that command as his final edict before returning to heaven. "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature; he that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; and he that believeth not shall be damned." I sometimes wonder as I listen impatiently to these modern praters of dogmas and doubts and dissertations if they have ever received their orders. The instruction is plain. Go where? "Into all the world." For what? "To preach the Gospel." To whom? Everybody in general and nobody in particular? Not on your life. The Greek text is direct: "To every creature." This modern method of preaching to everybody in general and nobody in particular doesn't seem to get anywhere. We need today, preaching that hits tse spot; preaching that strikes at particular sins and sinners; that doesn't shoot over everybody's head, but that brings down high and low until they fall on their marrow-bones and cry as of old, "Lord, what must we do to be saved?" There is nothing said in the Commander-General's final commission about lecturing on modern science, evolution, higher education, "Biblical Historicity," or the hundred and one phrasy topics one hears debated in the average pulpit. It says "Preach the Gospel." The results are assured. "He that believeth and is baptized shall be saved; he that believeth not shall be damned." That is to the point. Belief suggests baptism, and a man who won't accept the test of his Faith by submission to an outward expression of his inner belief in the ordinance of Baptism does not know the meaning of belief. I have no confidence in the Republicanism of a man who says that he believes in Coolidge and then votes for Davis or La Follette or someone else. And that's the way about Faith in Christ. If a man honestly believes, he is going to accept the ordinances that test his faith. And no preacher, bishop, high-priest, pope or anybody else in the world has a right to say more or less than what the Commander-General has implied. Jesus Christ never commissioned anybody to tell me that I must kneel when I pray, stand up when I sing, lie down when I shout, or roll over when I am happy. If I believe and obey by outward conduct, nobody of religious over-lords has any warrant to tell me that I must have feast days and fast days, do penance, pay for Purgatorial prayers, worship saints or do anything else except what the New Testament, the Military Ritual of the Commander-General, tells me that I must do. I have been reading through the Old Book by the winter lamp with my faithful companion, and we have been impressed as we studied God's Word, of one thing especially, and that is that everywhere He has commissioned any man to preach, He has given him the message to deliver. He told Moses exactly what to say to the King of Egypt; He instructed Jonah what to tell the wicked Ninevites, and when Jonah tried to cut bait and duck the issue, you remember what he got for his pains. Isaiah and Elijah and the whole list of sacred preachers of the Old Dispensation had their messages cut to fit their crowd, and they didn't side-step with long, wordy phrases about "Man's Evolution," "Society's Call for the League of Nations," or any other such twaddle. Mr. Editor, the reason that Christianity is not hitting on all six these days of million dollar churches and cathedrals ih because the preachers are not telling the direct Word to the hearers; they are side-stepping the issue and trying to pussyfoot and palaver to tickle the popular ears. What is the Gospel that must be preached? Paul hits it on the head with a whack: "Now I make known unto you the Gospel," And He says first of all, that, "Christ died for our sins, and that He was buried and that He hath been raised from the dead." I went to hear a Unitarian Unicorn rear up on his hind legs in his pulpit the last time I took the old woman on a vacation to Boston, and I thought surely there in the educational hub of the universe we would hear a powerful sermon. But the long-eared ass declared that the physical resurrection of Jesus Christ was a scientific impossibility; that it was no longer forward-looking to believe in it; but that Christ's death and his vicarious suffering on the Cross were sufficient to teach all men to look up, not down, forward, not backward, and press on to a higher and more humane civilization, and all that rot. I don't know what else the bewhiskered boob said, for I reached for my hat and told the old woman she could do as she pleased about it, being a woman she would do it anyway, but that I wasn't going to waste any more valuable time listening to such spluttermush. I was real proud of my wife when she grabbed her umbrella and followed me out of the church. And when I am informed that there is an army of such pulpit dynamiters every Lord's Day blasting down the Rock of Salvation, it makes me long to put on my old Jim Swinger that I used to wear when I was a deacon and took up the collection in Pinhook Hollow church, and go out and do what the Commander-General said, "Preach the Gospel."

Mr. Editor, I didn't mean to preach a sermon, and I'll do better next time and get back into the political harness if you print this. But seeing so many divisions and sects and warring factions in the Church makes me tired. There is one verse I want to leave with the readers; it is as eternal as the sun: "All flesh is as grass, and all the glory thereof as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower falleth, but the Word of God abideth forever." "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but My Word shall not pass away."

As we draw into the Christmas anniversary that celebrates the world's greatest event, the Birth of the Lord of human Salvation, let us also get nearer to the specific purpose of the Lord's Birth and Life and Death. Let us stop dividing into creeds and cults and man-made sects, and have only the Word of the Lord.

Yours Reverently,
ELI TUCKER.
(From The Yellow Jacket)

F. F. V. THANKS GOD FOR COOLIDGE

Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett is a leader of Virginia aristocracy. She is equally priminent in Democratic politics in the Old Dominion. She was a delegate from Virginia to the Democratic Convention, and made a notable speech seconding the nomination of Senator Glass for the Presidency. She is representative of the clearest thought and the best intelligence of the Solid South. The other day Mrs. Barrett delivered an address before a Washington audience in the course of which she made this illuminating remark. "I am a Democrat and I voted for Davis but I thank God President Coolidge was re-elected."

Mrs. Barrett spoke the minds of many thousands of loyal Southern Democrats who are intelligent citizens. They approve of the Coolidge standards of government, they know that Republican protection is necessary to the industrial welfare of their section of the country, and they believe that American independence should be preserved from European entanglements. Yet the tradition of generations has laid hold upon them so strongly that they would no more think of deserting the Democratic ticket than of refusing homage to Jefferson Davis and Robert E. Lee.

Some Southern negroes are Republicans, and the White Democrats have a legitimate objection to voting for colored men for local office, but the race question does not enter at all into national politics. It would be perfectly simple for the Southern voter to cast his local vote according to the color of the candidates if he chose to do so, but his Presidential ballot ought to be determined by sound judgement as to the fitness of the men and their platforms.

But, instead, Democracy in the South has become a special form of fanaticism. Emotional reverence for the past controls to almost complete exclusion of intelligent appraisal of national issues. Ancestor worship by the Chinese has nothing on worship of the Democratic fetich by most of the Southern voters. Having laid their votes as a sacrifice upon their political altars, they await the result with bated breath. When reason triumphs, as it did last month, they join with Mrs. Barrett in laying unction to their own South as devout Democrats, but all "thank God that President Coolidge was reelected."

WORK OF ORGANIZED BANKING TO PROMOTE BETTER FARMING

By D. H. OTIS

Agricultural Director American Bankers Association.

The Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association has adopted and encourages the following general projects in its national program:

D. H. Otis

1. Boys and girls club work.
2. Diversified farming.
3. Increased appropriations for agricultural research.

With the state bankers' associations, the agricultural colleges and hosts of farmers' organizations uniting in all parts of the country, the Commission has held conferences in forty-seven states. The different individual projects approved number 195. Plans are now under way for follow-up work in making these programs effective.

These banker-farmer conferences have resulted not only in definite programs, but they have been the means of greatly increasing interest on the part of bankers. At the beginning there were a number of states that had no agricultural committees. Others were inactive. We now have agricultural committees for each state with the exception of two, and these have promised to appoint committees soon.

Banker Influence

The attitude of the bankers is not that of attempting to tell the farmers how to farm, but rather to aid in bringing about conditions that will help the farmer to help himself. The farmer who produces, the agricultural college that is attempting to improve the quality of farm products, and the banker who furnishes the capital are endeavoring to put their heads together and perform team work. A representative of one of the colleges of agriculture recently made the statement that the bankers could do more than the colleges for the advancement of agriculture. The banker is in position to influence the type of agriculture practiced by the farmer patrons. A county agent comes in contact with only 15 to 20 per cent of the farmers of his county, while the bankers come in contact with at least 75 per cent.

In some localities farmers seem to be prejudiced against bankers, due largely to misunderstanding. There is no better way for relieving this strained relationship than by getting the banker and farmer pulling together for their mutual interests and for the community.

If agriculture is to develop it is necessary to maintain on the soil men and women who will put as much intelligence into their business as is put into other lines of business. It is hard to change the attitude of mind of an old farmer. The great hope is in developing boys and girls into men and women who will be interested in improving the conditions on our farms. Out of forty-seven programs adopted at the banker-farmer conferences, thirty-six included boys' and girls' club work as one of their leading projects.

Farm Accounting

A large number of bankers are recognizing the importance of inventories, financial statements and farm accounts and are encouraging the keeping of records among their farmer patrons. Not a few insist on a financial statement from the farmer before making a loan, just as is required of other business men. Such a statement not only acquaints the banker with the financial status of the farmer but also brings the farmer face to face with conditions on his farm and calls attention to opportunities for improvement.

In many states county bankers' associations are being organized with agricultural committees. In New Jersey every county is thus organized. Ohio has a representative of the agricultural committee in every county in the state. Wisconsin has added thirteen agricultural committees to its county organizations. In Arkansas educational trains have been run in cooperation with the railroads, the College of Agriculture, and others for stimulating interests in better farming methods. In Oregon the Bankers Association employs a field secretary to devote his entire time to carrying on educational and agricultural programs. In Kentucky special plans have been developed for coordinating the various organizations interested in agricultural development. Key men, bankers, have been appointed in sixty-five counties. An annual income of $6,000 is provided and field secretary employed.

It will be seen that the efforts of the Agricultural Commission and the committees of the various states, in cooperation with the colleges of agriculture, have been to formulate workable programs. The field for work appears unlimited. The spirit of the bankers and the colleges is superb and effective results will be accomplished.

OPPOSES FEDERAL RAIL OWNERSHIP

Government Operation Would Mean Increased Taxation for General Public, Says Rail Head.

Opposition to Government ownership of the railroads, not because of the interests of the present owners but rather because of the burdens and disadvantages the change would impose upon the people as a whole, was expressed by C. H. Markham, president of the Illinois Central Railroad, in an address before the recent convention of the American Bankers Association.

"We have never favored Government ownership as a national policy," Mr. Markham said. "If the railroads are taken over by the Government, we must face the fact that the big step in reversing our old and settled policy will be taken. If there is no particular reason why the Government should not own and run the railroads, is there any reason why it should not take over also the banks, the stores, the factories, the farms, until all of us are Government employees and the ideal of the soviet is attained? The railroads are the first line of defense against those who would make this country a second Russia.

"The railroads have about 2,000,000 employees, approximately as many employees as there are in all the Government services—Federal, State, county and municipal—put together. If the railroads are taken over by the Government, there will be one Government employee out of every ten wage earners in the country, instead of one out of every twenty as at present.

Doubling Taxation

"Then, too, there is the matter of taxation. The railroads, under private ownership, are among our heaviest taxpayers. Last year they paid taxes amounting to $3 for every man, woman and child in the country. In some counties, particularly in the Middle West, the railroads pay from 10 per cent to nearly 50 per cent of the taxes collected. Under Government ownership, the railroads would be no more subject to taxation than the post offices now are. In some way the Government would have to make up the difference of $3 a head for every person in the country. In many counties the taxes on the remaining property would have to be nearly doubled. The result would be an unbearable burden that might force many of our local governments to stop payments on their bonds and go into bankruptcy. The tax problem would be a great deal more vexatious than it is today.

"Then, too, the acquisition of the railroads would add more than twenty billion dollars to our national debt. If Government railroads in this country were no more successful than they are elsewhere today in the world, the interest on that twenty billions of purchase price would be the cause for additional burdens on the taxpayers left to carry it. As the tax burden developed, it would not be surprising to see other industries welcoming Government ownership for themselves. They would gain immunity from taxation in turn, and their owners probably would be protected from loss. The Constitution prevents the confiscation of private property, and Government ownership can be accomplished only by paying a fair price for the properties taken over.

Bad for Public

"I do not oppose Government ownership of the railroads on behalf of the present owners of the railroads, many of whom would obtain safety in Government bonds in return for securities which have not paid a return in years. I oppose Government ownership of the railroads because I believe that it would be bad for our people as a whole. It would open the way to Government ownership of everything, and at the same time it would certainly lead to the wrecking of our highly essential railway service, if the lessons of experience offered by other nations mean anything at all to us."

Youngsters Exhibit 290 Pigs

Fourteen banks in Lee County, Iowa, recently co-operated with the Breeders' Association in conducting a boys' and girls' club rally. The boys and girls brought in the best pigs that they were raising and exhibited them for $150 in cash prizes which the banks contributed.

Quincy, Illinois, bankers are offering pure bred boars and high grade seed corn to the value of $500 to farmers who attend the Adams County Fair. These prizes will be distributed by lot to farmers of each township, the amount to be based on the township attendance at the fair.

The Missouri Bankers Association inter-county contest for boys' and girls' clubs is the result of action taken at the annual convention, when $1,600 was provided for premiums. The premiums, not less than $25 each, are to be awarded to counties to pay the expenses of club winners to junior farmers' week at the Missouri College of Agriculture; $100 is to be used to pay the expenses of the state champion demonstration team to the meeting of the Banker Association, where the team will present its winning demonstration.

Hall's Catarrh Medicine

Those who are in a "run-down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a Combined Treatment, both local and internal, and has been successful in the treatment of Catarrh for over forty years.

DEVELOPING ALABAMA EXPORTS

Extending Southern commerce in Latin-America, the French line Transatlantic Steamship "LaFayette" will be at Mobile on Mardi Gras Day, February 24, and sail on the following day, taking a party of Alabama and Texas people to the tropical countries and islands to the southward. She will stop at Miami, the Bahama Islands, Haiti, Porto Rico Martinique, South American ports, Panama, Honduras ports and Havana, Cuba, making the entire voyage in about twenty-five days.

The commercial men and interests behind this expedition are anxious to have the state and industries of Alabama well represented, it is stated by the Mobile Chamber of Commerce, and are urging that the number of passengers sailing from Mobile be made sufficiently large to justify the return of the "Lafayette" by way of the Alabama seaport.

Page & Jones, Mobile agents for the liner, give the information that the pleasures features of the voyage will not be allowed to overshadow its commercial importance; that business meetings as well as excursions will be arranged at each important port visited. Numerous inquiries for reservations on the "Lafayette" are reported from the Birmingham district.

On previous tours, the liner has only visited Mobile to take coal. There is not at present a passenger line from Mobile to the Latin-American countries and the "Lafayette" has been induced with promises of co-operation to try the experiment of developing a trade expansion and excursion business out of the Alabama port.

NO MORE BEGINNERS AT CLANTON GRAMMAR SCHOOL

I understand that several persons are planning to start their children to school who have become six years of age since Oct. 1. The law provides that a child's age on Oct. 1 shall be considered as his age during tat scholastic year. You can see from that that there would be no law to permit a child to enter school who was six years of age on Oct. 1. If the school were not so badly crowded there would be no objections to allowing a class of beginners on Jan. 1, as has been customary. We regret very much that we cannot accommodate these children, but we are unable at present to improve the conditions, and we sincerely hope that you will not blame us for not accepting a new class at this time.

THORSBY SECTION

(S. E. NORTON, Manager).

Thorsby Institute closed for the Christmas holidays Thursday the 18th and will reopen Tuesday, Dec. 30th. Miss Jenkins has gone to Demorest, Ga., for a visit with her parents. Miss Nell Shannon, who has been at Battle Creek, Mich., for several weeks, has returned much improved in health and is spending the holidays with her folks at West Point, Ga. Miss Althea Parker with two of T. I. students are visiting the Wood family in Butler county. They are expected to return before Christmas, when the girls will be guests of Miss Dorothy Butler until school opens.

Mrs. Ethel Wright Loveland and Miss Lois Leech, will remain in Thorsby during the holidays, except for short trips to nearby places. Miss Marian Farbank and Mr. and Mrs. Carlissall, with two T. I. boy students will spend vacation at the boys dormitory. Those who in any way are connected with the faculty or student body of Thorsby Institute, whose home is not in or near Thorsby, are designated as left overs, if they stay here during the vacation.

For many years it has been the custom for the Butler, Gerald and Norton families to unite in entertaining these left overs, in one or other of their homes on Christmas night. This year it falls to the Norton family.

The Congregational Sunday School Christmas service held at the church last Sunday night, under the title of "White Gifts for the King" was a beautiful and impressive occasion. The pulpit, organ and rosturm were decorated in white, with greens for trimmings, a manger and a star, electrically lighted, were provded to emphasize the story. Mrs. Reno S. Villadsen took the part of a Madonna, singing a lullaby over the manger. Rev. Joseph E. Each, the pastor read the story of The Nativity as recorded in Luke 2:8-21. Rev. E. W. Butler offered prayer. A chorus Choir of mixed voices came in singing as a processional, "O Come all Ye Faithful" and took seats provided in a corner of the auditorium. During the services they sang, "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night," It Came Upon a Midnight Clear," "Angels, From the Reals of Glory," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," Hark the Herald Angels Sing." The singing was good.

The idea which prevailed throughout the program was conveyed in the title, not only were there gifts of praise but each class in the Sunday school and Junior Christian Endeavor, through a chosen representative made gifts in money for one benevolent object which they had selected. The gifts in cash totaled $42.30.

Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson of Thorsby announce the engagement of their daughter, Beatrice, to Mr. J. W. Stolkrantz, Jr., of Jamestown, N. Y. The wedding date to be announced later.

Mr. Walter Johnson and wife of Birmingham are visitors at the home of Mr. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson in Thorsby.

Misses Jennye and Edith Robinson, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Robinson, college students at Lebanon, Tenn., are spending the holidays with their parents in Thorsby.

Miss Alma Lefstead is spending christmas vacation with her mother at their Thorsby home. Miss Lefstead is teaching at Myrtlewood, Tenn.

Miss Agnes Gerald, who is teaching mathematics and history in High School, at Abbeville, is a vacation visitor at the home of her mother, where she also meets her brother, Sumner, and sisters Ruth and Mary Ella, from Demorest, Ga., who arrived Saturday night, after much delay of trains. There is still another sister, Iola, living at home and attending Thorsby Institute.

Misses Margaret Butler and Esther Johnson also of Piedmont College at Demorest, came with the tardily arriving Geralds, to spend the holidays with their parents in Thorsby.

Rev. Bokke of Deer Lodge, Tenn., will be a Thorsby visitor during the holidays at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Dryhood. Mr. Bokke will conduct a "Juliotta" service in the Lutheran Church at 5 a. m. on Christmas day. He will also conduct services at that church Sunday, Dec. 28th, at the regular hours for morning and evening service.

The Lutheran Sunday School will hold their annual Christmas entertainment in their church at 7 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 27th.

The Baptist Sunday School of Thorsby will hold a White Christmas service, under the title of "The Light That Ne'er Goes Out." Time, Sunday, Dec. 28, 7:30 p. m. Place the Baptist church. You are invited.

The Ladies Guild of Thorsby will meet at the home of Mrs. C. E. Lucas at 2 o'clock p. m. Frday, instead of Thursday, Dec. 26th. Don't forget the change to Friday for this week only.

Mrs. Ethel Loveland spent the week-end in Birmingham, returning Monday night.

The Town Council of Thorsby have issued a notice for a special election to be held Friday, January 16th, when the qualified voters of Thorsby shall decide if the council shall be authorized to issue bonds in the sum of $10,000 for public school building purposes.

ALABAMA DAY AT THORSBY PUBLIC SCHOOL

(Received too late for last week)

The pupils of Thorsby Jr. High School paid tribute to their beloved state, Alabama, by rendering a very inspiring patriotic program Friday, Dec. 12, 1924.

The following program was rendered:

"America."

Scripture reading, "Isa. 92"—Roma Lee Pate.

Prayer.

Recitation, "Alabama" (Hamilton) Edna Childress.

"Resolutions for the admission of Alabama into the Union"—Eugene Littleton.

"Alabama's Capitals" — Kathryn Foss.

"Indians who influenced Alabama History"—Wallace Vickers.

"Alabama's Part in Wars"—Loyd Howard.

Song, "Glory to Alabama."

"Makers of Alabama History."

1. "Wm. R. King"—James Nelson.
2. "Wm. Yancey"—Lester Pate.
3. "Daniel Pratt"—Hugh Sorrell.
4. "Joseph Wheeler"—Cecil Cleckler.
5. "Admiral Semmes" — Andrew Sorrell.
6. "Emma Sansom"—Hilma Collins.
7. "Dr. Henry Tutwiler"—Howard Henning.
8. "Miss Julia Tutwiler"—Mable Johnson.
9. "Gen. Lee Bullard"—Hershell Hayes.

Song, "Alabama"—Miss Julia Tutwiler.

Salute to the Flag.

Alabama's creed.

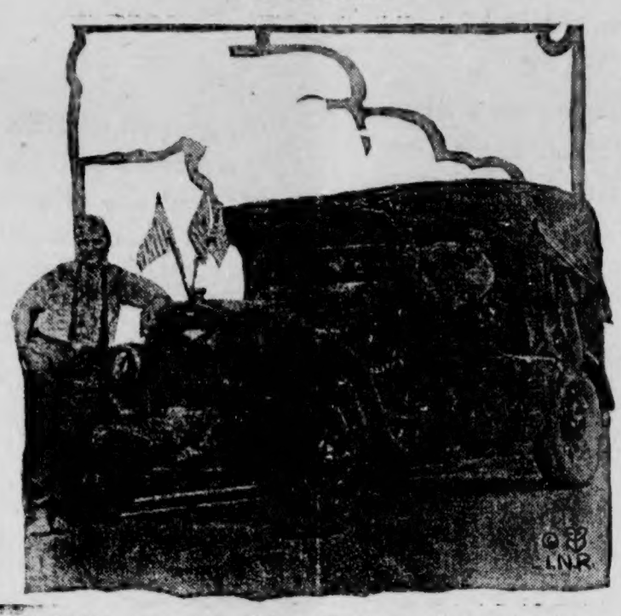
Each pupil on the program seemed to be filled with that patriotic enthusiasm which made them feel proud of Alabama and glad to tell of her History.

We once heard a lady say "An Apple is an Apple to me" meaning that to her one seemed about as good as another, she evidently did not exercise those niceties in discrimination of quality and flavor, size and appearance that have much to do with the real enjoyment of our food.

This incident was brought forcibly to mind recently by a controversy that arose over comparative values in Roasted Peanuts, as between the Jumbo variety and the small White Spanish. A customer was indignant that he was offered less than a bag full of the small variety for a nickel, saying he got a bag full elsewhere for that price. He undoubtedly did. But even at that he did not know that he was getting from 15 to 20 per cent less of edible nut, that he could eat, and that of an inferior quality. These big goobers take up a lot of room and make a big show, but weigh far less for equal bulk, and a big part of what they do weigh is made up of the thick shells which nobody wants to eat. For nearly 100 years, since an Italian discovered the fact that Spanish Peanuts roasted, were a distinct addition to human food which no substitute could satisfy, and having made the discovery, secured of the worlds greatest showman, T. P. Barnum, the exclusive right to sell them at all shows and entertainments which Barnum controlled, and so taught the American people what they had and how to use it.

Every since that day, an ordinary tumblerfull of White Spanish Peanuts roasted has been considered everywhere a fair equivalent for five cents, and they have held their own against all comers. These paper shell little goobers are so completely filled with one of the richest and most delightfull foods known to man, and it is simply astonishing to note the size of kernels one gets from these small shells, also the weight of the nut meat one gets from a given weight of unshelled nuts, then take the same weight of Jumbo Goobers and note that they yield far less in actual weight of the kernels, which she as food of inferior quality. Bulk is not all that a dscriminating person requires in his food, but when he takes bulk which yields lesh than is due him for his money he is cheating himsef.

Plans "See America" Tours For Kiddies



JEFF DAVIS, king of the hoboes and a leading knight of the road, is out to help the nation's children. He believes that in every state there are ever so many spots of historic interest that would materially aid in the yiungster's education—where each state government to furnish sufficient traveling expenses for taking the kiddies to such places.

Firmly convinced that it can be done, Davis recently journeyed to Washington, D. C. and called on the president his plan for "Seeing America Tours" for school children. To date, no definite action has been taken on the matter, but Davis asserts he will continue to press the plan for individual action in the different states.

In the above photograph the hobo king is shown standing by his tourng car in which he has been traveling all over the country. Quite an outfit he has there, isn't it?

STATE NEWS HAPPENINGS

An official investigation into the death of Jesse Kirkland, member of the crew of the government dredge Blackwater, who was drowned when a launch he was in went over the dam at Lock Number 1 on the Tombigbee River has been started by United States Engineer T. H. Emmerson.

O. C. Wilson, employe of Dendy Lumber Company, of Thomasville, suffered a peculiar accident. The belt threw a peavy against him with such force that his leg was broken. He was taken to a Selma hospital for treatment.

The Alabama Fishermen's and Hunters' Association received from the Government Fish Hatchery at Warm Springs, Ga., 5,000 blue-nosed bream, which were placed in the Warrior in the vicinity of Camp Oliver.

Thieves broke into the plant of the American Cleaning Company, of Decatur, and escaped with clothes belonging to customers valued at $300.

S. H. Evans, well-known merchant of Hartselle, was found dead in his bed by members of the family with whom he was boarding.

Over $1,000,000 in new construction has been spent in the Ensley district during the past 12 months, according to estimates.

H. G. Dowling, Secretary of the Alabama Education Association, has recently established a publicity office for the Alabama Educational Association in Montgomery, to help enlighten the people of the State on what has been accomplished in education, and future nedes.

J. B. Hobdy, director of the Division of Vocational Education of the Alabama State Education Department, has been elected President of the National Association of State Directors of Vocational Education.

A resolution requesting "close investigation of all applications coming before them" was passed at a meeting in Birmingham of the board of trustees of the Anti-Saloon League of Alabama following a spirited discussion of alleged laxity in the policy of the governor and board of pardons in granting pardons and paroles to persons convicted of violation of the prohibition laws.

Drainage district development in Alabama must await the enactment by the legislature of suitable enabling legislation under the constitutional amendment adopted at the November election, as a result of the decision of the supreme court, overruling an application for rehearing in the case in which the old drainage act of 1915 had been declared unconstitutional.

Chairman W. F. Jeffers of the Etowah County board of commissioners has asked the charitably inclined people of the county to contribute pictures and rugs to the new $25,000 county almshouse, just completed and opened. He says the inmates have to face blank walls and bare floors, although the home is one of the finest in the country.

Income tax forms for reporting to the commissioner of internal revenue, all salaries, rents, interest and other items paid out during the calendar year of 1924 have been released at the collector's office, in the federal building, according to announcement by W. E. Snead, internal revenue collector for the Birmingham District.

Montgomery County farmers have found turkey raising sufficiently profitable to produce and ship a solid carload of the birds, a carload of 1,000 turkeys moved from the Capital City bound for Atlanta markets, 27 turkey producers having pooled their output for the shipment. The price received was 27 cents a pound.

Felix E. Blackburn, former prominent Birmingham attorney, now judge advocate in the army and stationed at Fort MsKinley, Rizal, Philippine Islands, has been promoted by the War Department to the rank of lieutenant colonel, effective as of October 23.

The first sale of the Troy Co-Operative Hog Sales Association was held and one car of hogs was sold to A. B. Boutwell, of Greenville. Tops brought $8.35 pe rhundred. Atlanta and Montgomery stock yards had buyers at the sale.

W. T. Norman, for many years a citizen of Sheffield, died at the home of his son, J. C. Norman. "Square" Norman, as he was familiarly known, had passed his 70 years. He was a Confederate veteran and had many friends throughout the state.

The Colbert County Boosters Club was organized at a meeting of some 40 prominent citizens of the county at Sheffield.

The Alabama Highway Commission has authorized immediate construction of the 15-mile road between Attalla and Boaz.

Gen. R. E. Steiner has accepted the chairmanship of the membership drive of the Montgomery American Legion Post for 1925.

A play festival will be given by the county schools at Denny field at the University of Alabama on February 14. A demonstration of the play activities of the school the past year will be one of the features of the festival. Children of different ages will take part in the various stunts and plays to be put on during the day.

According to reports of the county health authorities only 16 per cent of the 460 children in the Attalla public schools have deficient teeth, eyes or tonsils.

Last week I told you I would tell you somethin of my boyhood days, but as the holiday season is so near I will leave that off for this week, at least. We are trying to stock to take care of any order of candy, fruit or nuts. In short, anything in the line of GOOD EATS.

We are also closing out the last half car of good flour. In this we can please any customer. Rosco, (the hustler), will be back with me for the holiday trade, as chief clerk.

We invite you to come in and give us a trial at your order. We sell goods that don't come back, but the customer does. Once tried, never denied. We adhere to our motto: "HONEST WEIGHT, AND A SQUARE DEAL TO ALL."

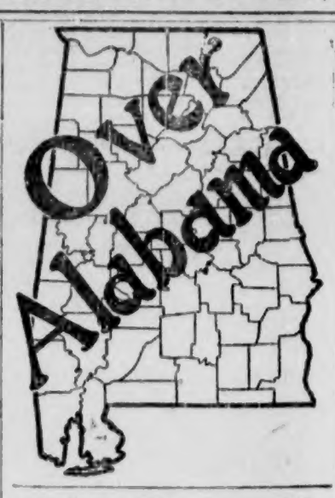
Fifty thousand men and women, comprising the L. & N. family, take this opportunity to thank the readers of this newspaper and all other patrons for the privilege of serving them during the year just drawing to a close, and to express the belief and the wish that 1925 will be a banner year for every citizen of the L. & N.-served South.



ALABAMA NEWS HAPPENINGS
A Resume of the More Important Events of Interest Condensed To An Epitomized Form.

Some residents of the Twin-Cities are chuckling over the reported activity of a smooth working rum "salesman" in Albany-Decatur a few days ago, while a few prominent citizens are looking for a gentleman of good appearance and keen insight into human nature, who told them a story which sounded too good to be true—and was. The "salesman" called on a number of citizens, it is said, and to a few he sold quotas of Canadian and Scotch whisky, or "extra dry," for cash and to others similar quotas to be paid for when delivered. The buyers still are waiting for the deliveries. Those who were sold C. O. D. were said to have occupied many strategic positions at prearranged rendezvous on one night recently until, like "snipe" hunters, they grew weary of waiting and departed. One report states the "salesman" phoned his customers on the night he was to meet them, reminding them of the engagement, and while his customers waited, he invested his profits in a railroad ticket.

Organization of two auxiliary corporations to carry out a program of proposed expansion is under way at Anniston by the Federal Phosphorous Company and the Southern Manganese Corporation. One of the branch concerns will manufacture carbides and has already been organized under the name of the Federal Carbide Company. The other, to be known as the Federal Abrasive Company, will be formed this month to manufacture abrasive products and silicon carbide, it is said. All of the concerns will operate in Anniston.

A new transit arrangement, covering storage in transit of pears at Birmingham, has been secured by the Birmingham Traffic Association through the co-operation of produce jobbers and dealers of the city. Under the new arrangement pears may be stored in Birmingham and reshipped to destination, based upon a through rate; plus a storage charge. This, it is stated, will bring about a material reduction in the total charges ultimately assessed on these movements and is expected to further enlarge the possibilities of Birmingham as a storage point.

The State Tax Commission has granted banks and domestic corporations a 30-day extension in which to make returns of their stock for assessments for the tax year beginning October 1, 1924. Banks and domestic corporations are required under the State law, to make returns of real estate, personal property and stocks before December 21 and provides a penalty of 10 per cent in addition to an additional penalty of $5 a day for delinquency. The order received by Mr. Dillon extends the time until the first Monday in February.

One hundred farm boys, members of the Boys' Corn, Pig, Poultry, Cotton and Cow Clubs of Etowa County, will plant two acres each in cotton next spring with the expectation of producing 300 bales. They will fertilize and cultivate their plots under the direction of County Demonstrator C. E. Stapp and will use the Auburn methods. Most of them on experimental plots during the past season produced a bale and a half to the acre, and it is believed they will be able to raise 300 bales on 200 acres next year.

The Alabama Power Company has begun surveys for building the second high power transmission line to Selma. This line will be built from Lock No. 16 on the Coosa River and be pushed to completion. Right of way in the majority of cases has already been obtained and a large number of surveyors have begun operations at the other end of the line.

Strict enforcement of the ordinance prohibiting the burning of leaves on the city street pavement has been announced by Anniston police officials. It is pointed out that the top coat of asphalt is damaged easily by fire and officials announce that all who are found guilty will be prosecuted.

After a trip on the Warrior River and to Birmingport, members of the Advisory Committee of the Inland Waterways Corporation have returned to Washington to formulate recommendations, which it is declared, will give the Warrior whatever is necessary to make it 100 per cent efficient and productive.

Edgar C. Taylor, manager of the Gay-Teague Hotel, Montgomery, was elected President of the Alabama Hotel Men's Association at the annual meeting held in Montgomery.

The first Conecuh co-operative hog sale of the season was held at the stock pens of the Conecuh Live Stock Association, Evergreen, H. R. Pettis, County Demonstration Agent in charge, assisted by C. S. Gantt. A total of 138 hogs were brought in representing 20,500 pounds, which were contributed by 15 farmers throughout the county. M. B. Boutwell, of Greenville, was the successful bidder and paid 8.40 cents for No. 1s; 7.40 for No. 2s, 6.65 for No. 3s and 5.65 for No. 4s, amounting to $1,662.71. The next sale will be held early in January.

Nine forest ranger districts have been established in Alabama, according to Major Page S. Bunker, State Forester. A tenth district will soon be organized, embracing southeastern Covington County. Forest ranger work has already demonstrated its worth, during the recent drouth, Major Bunker stated. Inter territory organized in forest ranger districts, comprising about 2,000,000 acres, less than 4 per cent was burned over during the drought, while in unorganized forest territory the percentage burned over was seven to eight times as great, Major Bunker stated.

Country-wide stock sales of the Walker Consolidated Petroleum Company reached approximately $3,000,000, of which Alabamians invested $2,000,000, including $1,000,000 in the City of Birmingham alone. This disclosure came from prosecutors in the trial in Federal Court of A. W. and Harold Walker, Sidney Mensco and Hudmon Hopson, officials of the bankrupt company, on charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with the sale of stock.

After being idle for 13 years the Etowah Iron Mines, just north of Gadsden, will resume operation about January 5, according to announcement. Employment will be given to 200 men at the start, but the force will be gradually increased until production reaches 800 tons of ore daily. The Sloss Sheffield Steel and Iron Company which recently took over the property will also blow in one of the Alabama's company furnaces January 1, it is stated.

Birth registration in Alabama during October, 1924, indicated an encouraging improvement over the corresponding month in 1923, according to Dr. W. T. Fales, director of the bureau of vital statistics of the State Health Department. The death rate for October was the lowest this year. Number of births reported for October, 1924, was 4,997, and of deaths, 1,927.

Sick Headache

"I have used Black-Draught when needed for the past 25 years," says Mrs. Emma Grimes, of Forbes, Mo. "I began taking it for a bad case of constipation. I would get constipated and feel just miserable—sluggish, tired, a bad taste in my mouth, . . . and soon my head would begin hurting and I would have a severe sick headache. I don't know just who started me to taking

Thedford's BLACK-DRAUGHT

but it did the work. It just seemed to cleanse the liver. Very soon I felt like new. When I found Black-Draught so easy to take and easy-acting, I began to use it in time and would not have sick headaches."

Constipation causes the system to re-absorb poisons that may cause great pain and much danger to your health. Take Thedford's Black-Draught. It will stimulate the liver and help to drive out the poisons.

Sold by all dealers. Costs only one cent a dose.

WHY BANKS?

LESSON XII

By J. H. PUELICHER, Chairman
Public Education Commission, American Bankers Association

What is a Trust Company? Technically defined it is a bank that specializes in investment and fiduciary services in addition to general banking services. Humanly speaking, it is what its name implie —a place of trust.

J. H. Puelicher

INVESTMENT—lending money for income or profit to business and governments to "carry on." Such lending is often done through the purchase by investors of bonds selected by a bank or a trust company as safe and desirable.

FIDUCIARY—held in trust and confidence. For example, a trustee holds a man's estate for the benefit of his widow or children, cares for it faithfully, invests it prudently and uses it for their welfare in accordance with his wishes.

TRUST COMPANIES are able to fulfill these functions because of their experience in investments, because of their trained officers, and because of their continuous existence while an individual often knows nothing of investments, usually lacks experience and training, and may die during the life of the trust.

BACK TO NORMAL

In no period since the war has greater progress in the return to normal business conditions been made by industry, commerce and finance than during the past year. This re-establishment of normal conditions has been brought about by the working of purely economic influences. These influences and this result completely refute the arguments and pretensions of opportunist politicians and radical demagogues who have sought to bring about readjustment by political measures. These measures were aimed to give gratuitous advantages to the special interests and classes which the proposers assumed to represent, to the detriment of the general good.

The virtual disappearance, by natural economic processes, of the abnormalities that have persisted, as the long drawn out aftermath of the war, has removed whatever justification their presence seemed to give for governmental paternalism and for special measures of relief for particularly distressed classes. At best these measures were merely sedatives for psychological conditions and no real remedies for economic conditions. To that extent they served a purpose, but there is no further public good that they can serve. With normal conditions once more established it should be the resolute determination of all business men to resist any further effort at political interference with economic processes.

The time is at hand for a thorough going return to a free play of private enterprise and private initiative under unhampered competitive conditions. Government influence and political interference in respect to business should be reduced to an absolute minimum. We as bankers ask no special privileges for ourselves. Equally we are opposed to special privileges for other groups at the expense of the general welfare. The experience of the past few years has been one of the greatest demonstrations in history of the validity of the view that the community interests of a people are best served by the maximum degree of private enterprise and private initiative with the mmimum of government regulation.—Declaration of the American Bankers Association.

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION AT REFUGE SCHOOL HOUSE

Editor Union-Banner:

Please allow me a space to say a few words in regard to the Christmas celebration which was so nicely observed Friday afternoon, December 19th at Refuge School House. The writer wishes to congratulate the teachers for their patience toward the children. The program rendered was interesting and very inspiring—it was so nicely and orderly carried out.

Our blessed Savior says, "Let all things be done decently and in order." Some folks continue to argue that time spent in this way is lost, but I say not, because exercises of this kind are so good to help children overcome embarassment. I will admit that we should not let our children endulge in things that would mar their Christian character. Jesus also teaches to "Rejoice not in enquity, but rejoice in the truth." So a Christian cannot enjoy himself, whether it be man or woman, girl or boy, by indulging in things contrary to God's will, for the sinner can rejoice in things in which a Christian can see no pleasure, and a Christian can rejoice in things that a sinner would frown upon. This why Paul tells us in Gal. 5:17, that "The spirit lusteth against the flesh and the flesh against the spirit, for they are contrarry one to the other."

Christ's birthday is known to come on December 25th. If so that is the day in which the angel announced Peace on Earth and good will toward all men, and there is not a day ever comes during the year wherein there is as much jubilation as there is on Christ's birthday. Such rejoicing is good, provided it is sacred, but nine-tenths of it is carried on never thinking that there was one of the greatest births that we have any history of, which was Christ's birthday. There is a class of people who think that Christmas never comes unles they have a jug of "white lightning". I want to say just here to you boys who use this filthy drug, that it is not a help to your character. I am sure that you boys, also men, who indulge in it, will agree with me that it will make a boy feel rich, when he can't show you a red cent.

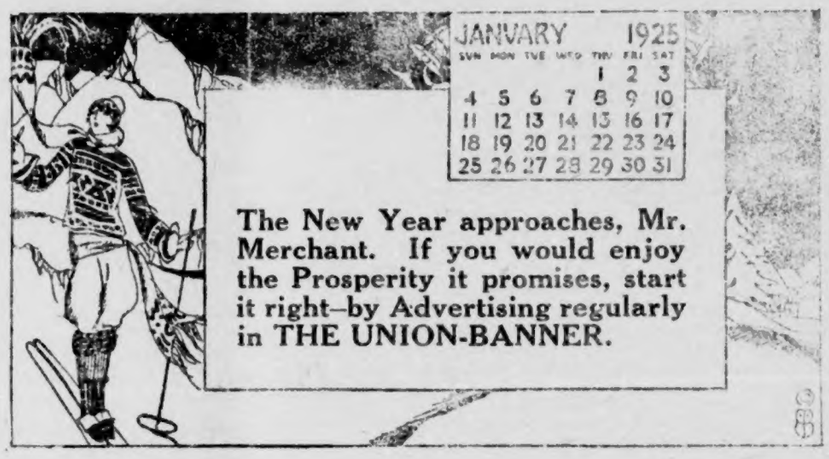
I'm just warning you for your own good and not mine. Boys, I would honestly have more respect for myself and especially for nice young girls than to indulge in such filthy stuff called whiskey. And also, will you agree with me that a boy that laps just such stuff is not fit to be in company with nice young girls? I have nothing against you boys who use the bottle, but it is because I love you and try to persuade you that you may quit such habit and make a man out of yourself. Otherwise, you will never bt worth anything to yourself or anybody else.

It is easy to distinguish a drunkard from another, for the true prophet says "It will cause redness of eyes, and wounds without cause," etc. So I say again, boys, just see if you can enjoy yourselves one Christmas without the bottle neck in your mouth.

I will say here that I think the work of Sheriff Littlejohn regarding the whiskey traffic is very successful, and it would be more successful if we would do our duty to help him out in the work which he is carrying on. The biggest trouble is, some are too impulsive and will never let the key be turned on the drunkard when he can't tell what a great good it would do the other boys or men for him to spend a few hours behind the bars.

So I will close, hoping that a Merry Christmas and a Heppy New Year may greet you all.

M. LOCKHART.



OFFICERS BREAK INTO CHRISTMAS MERRYMAKERS

When it gets so tight that fellow can't have a little "dram" for Christmas without being molested by the cruel officers, it is awful bad on some of the "old heads," but it is getting so that it is not at all safe to have the "good spirits" even in sight of you. Sheriff Littlejohn and his deputies are on to their wits this Christmas, and if they haven't already caught you, they will if you don't watch out.

On last Saturday night there was a dance up near Mineral Springs at the home of Mr. Mun Collins, so Mr. Littlejohn and Mr. Culp thought this might be a pretty good place to hang out their net, and they went up there or thereabouts. Four young fellows were on the scene pretty well "stewed" with C. C. (Christmas Corn), but the officers succeeded in dragging in only one of the four—Mr. William Barnett by name. Barnett was not brought to jail, but he appeared on Monday and made his bond, pleading guilty to the charge to await his trial.

The Sheriff, Deputy Culp and Deputy Easterling went out to the home of Mr. John H. Gore near Friendship last Monday evening and broke into the latter's annual Christmas intoxication celebration. Mr. Gore, the officers report, was drunk and beating up everything that got in his path and raising a general commotion. While the Deputies were entertaining Mr. Gore, Sheriff Littlejohn began looking around the premises for the rest of it. A diligent search revealed a gallon jug with about a pint of whiskey buried in a stall. By this time the Deputies had the hand-cuffs on Mr. Gore, and he and his "dram" were brought to Clanton and locked up in jail, where they will spend at least a part of the holiday season. Mr. Gore's whiskey is in jail with him, but the trouble is that they are each in a different cell.

On Friday of last week Sheriff Littlejohn and Deputy Foshee went out to Watley Town west of Stanton and raided a couple of small distilling outfits. The stills were torn up and a quantity of beer was poured out. No arrests were made.

LETTER FROM THE FORESTRY COMMISSION

The cutting of Christmas trees is a proper use of the forest, says a statement issued by the Alabama Commission of Forestry. It is estimated that about ten million trees are used for this purpose in the United States each year. By managing the woodlands so that there will be a continuous production of forest growth of proper size, and by not over-cutting during any year, many farmers and other owners of small tracts can realize a substantial income from this source. It is estimated that throughout the country between two and three million dollars per annum is earned in this manner.

Forests are for use, and the uses to which they may be put depend upon the wants of the people. A Christmas tree adding to the joys of the holiday season fills a human need as well as does the wood burning in the fire place.

The owner of forest land can often benefit his growing timber by thinning out the dense stands, which contain many trees that would die anyway through being crowded out by the more dominant growth. Indiscriminate cutting can be almost entirely avoided, since by doing the thinning work at the holiday season the young evergreens removed to allow for the greater growth of the other trees may well be used for Christmas tree purposes.

9,000 MILES OF ROAD BUILT IN 1924

proved road during the year. States independently built about the same mileage while counties improved between 20,000 and 25,000 miles.

Forty state legislators meeting next month are expected to take long steps to further the 171,000 mile improved federal-state road system contemplated under the federal aid act. The act authorized federal aid totaling $540,000,000 and every state is forging ahead with state appropriations to match the federal fund.

In his message to congress President Coolidge announced his opposition to continual federal aid.

The improvement of main through highways in almost every state has created a demand from other sections of states that the improvement be continued, these officials say, and therefore they expect the present accelerated constitution to continue until the country is covered with a network of good roads serving practically every community.

State and county road building may take a big jump in 1925, it is believed, because of easier financial conditions and the gradual elimation of the old argument that the taxpayers cannot afford good roads.

Meanwhile the $1,000,000,000 annual tax burden for roads is being shifted largely to the automobile owner, the figures for 1924 and estimates for 1925 show.

Motor vehicles are increasing at the rate of 2,000,000 a year and next year will see a total registration of 17,500,000 is is predicted. Under the motor registration system, these vehicles will pay $300,000,000 or nearly one-third of the entire road building cost, into the state treasury. Gasoline taxes also contribute to the state building funds in many states.

Uncle Dock Gentry, who has been looking after the poor house for the past year, was in Clanton a while Monday. Mr. Gentry has rebuilt his home near Collins Chapel and will move back there the first of the year.

Mr. Ruben E. Wyatt, who has been living on the Daniel Wyatt place across the creek from town, rented the house of Jean Wyatt on Second Avenue and First Street and has already moved in.
